[illegible] New York State.

SPEAKER CHAPIN has announced his committees. Mr. Potter is chairman of the judiciary committee the same chairmanship he held last session. Smith of Herkimer is chairman of the canal committee.

GENERAL CHANZY died suddenly in Paris Saturday. His death and Gambetta's has removed from France her greatest soldier and her ablest statesman. The whole French Republic is in mourning and La France, a leading Paris journal, asks in sorrowful lines, "What has France done to Death?"

DR. TANNER, the great faster, has lost his wife. He had a theory that French beans induce great irritability of the temper, while turnips, produce extreme amiability. He laid a heavy wager on the beans, and tried it on his wife, giving her to eat about three pounds of them a day. Pretty soon Mrs. Tanner threw a jug at the doctor's head; and he won his bet. Then he tried to bring her around with the turnips. But here the theory failed, and Mrs. Tanner sued for divorce and got it, and the other day she sailed for France.

A REMARKABLE epidemic disease is prevailing in Binghamton. There are said to be 2,000 cases but none fatal. Fifteen persons in one manufactory were stricken down in a single day. Travellers and visitors in the city have been attacked almost as soon as they arrived. The first symptoms are nausea and lassitude followed by purging, exhaustion, headache and pains in the back. They have been attributed to impurities of the city water but this theory does not seem correct as persons living outside the city have been attacked.

GOV. BUTLER of Massachusetts is anxious that women should be allowed to vote. Our own "large majority" governor is as silent on the question as the positive Butler is noisy. The Utica Observer says it is time for the advocates of women's rights to vigorously speak their minds. The President and Senator Davis, acting-Vice-President, are widowers, and the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of the greatest State in the Union are bachelors. The absorbing problem now is, which of this distinguished quartette will first break the ice?

THE New Year festivities at the White House were brought to sad and sudden termination by the death, on its very portal, of Mr. Allen, the Hawaiian minister, while hundreds of the elite of the nation were in adjoining rooms waiting to pay their respects to the Chief Magistrate, and look at the handsomely decorated and renovated rooms. Nearly all of the Cabinet receptions were abandoned, following the example of the President in closing his doors. Mr. Allen died in the cloak-room adjoining the vestibule, and many ladies and gentlemen were kept waiting, while he slowly passed away before they could get their wraps and leave the White House.

TENNESSEE is not to be behind in the mania and furnishes a good sized defalcation. Marsh T. Polk, State treasurer, and nephew of ex-president Polk, is a defaulter in the sum of over $400,000,000. He is credited, as is usually the case, "with holding a high social position and being esteemed as an exemplary man." He was an officer in the Confederate service and lost a limb in the battle of Shiloh. He went into office in 1877 and he gave bonds in the sum of $100,000. He was arrested in San Antonio, Texas, Saturday, while trying to make his way to Mexico. He was released upon a writ of habeas corpus and fled to Mexico. He undoubtedly wishes the people of Tennessee a Happy New Year.

DO YOU WANT!

DO YOU WANT!

dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
[illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] will probably [illegible] known. If indicted the atrocity of his crime will possibly prompt him to plead insanity. Below will be found a summary of the evidence before the coroner and also before Justice W. W. Palmer.

The inquest commenced at the school house near South Granby station Wednesday morning before Coroner R. A. Hall of Fulton. The following gentlemen composed the coroner's jury: P. F. Conger, foreman, Ebenezer Hopkins, George White, Elmer E. Fisher, Clarence E. Lake, Rupert C. Cook, Aaron Blakeman, Nathaniel Stewart and John A. Blakeman.

The first witness sworn was Elizabeth Fink, a daughter of deceased, who resides in Baldwinsville. She said her mother was in Baldwinsville Monday afternoon. She came to my house in the morning and spent the day with me; she said she did not think much about coming until he urged her, telling her he wanted her to do an errand to Mr. Greenfield, a Baldwinsville lawyer; she said that Gifford told her to go to Mr. Greenfield's and settle some business matters for him—that he could not go, and whatever arrangements she could make would be satisfactory to him. The mother told the daughter that he had no business with Gifford but that he was to come Tuesday himself. The daughter said her mother complained that Mr. Gifford had told neighbors she was of bad character. Gifford was in the habit of choking his wife; choked her once till she was black and blue and also struck her with a dipper and at another time choked her to such an extent that her teeth fell from her mouth. The mother had frequently told the daughter that she was afraid Gifford would kill her; Gifford and wife lived unhappily and frequently parted.

MRS. KATE OTIS

wife of the station agent of South Granby took the stand and said Mrs. Gifford called on her return from Baldwinsville Monday afternoon and talked about her husband; said he accused her of being intimate with men in the neighborhood and that he had a habit of getting up in the night and roaming over the house and barn and that she locked the door of her room for fear he would kill her. Mrs Gifford left for home about 8:30.

Mrs Otis was recalled. [It will be remembered that Mr. Gifford claimed his wife slashed him with knives on on his face while he was defending himself from her assaults and his face bears seven or eight scratches.] Mrs Otis testified: I have seen Mr Gifford to-day; I noticed that his face was scratched; it looked about the same last Friday afternoon when he came down to the station after his mail; noticed that it was scratched.

DR. E. FRANK MARSH

of Oswego Falls was called. He held the post mortem examination assisted by Dr. Wells. There was a bruise on the back of the left shoulder; found blood under the left eyelid; in examining the head we found upon the left side, well toward the front, five cuts varying from one half to two inches long; upon the right side of the head there were three cuts, and what appeared to be shorter cuts running into this one; one about one inch long and one about one and one-half inches long; these cuts extended through the scalp and two or three of them through the bone; over the right temple there was a bruise; under this bruise there was a depressed fracture (the witness exhibited a piece of skull which he had found crushed in); we found this fracture to extend upward, backward and diagonally across the base of the skull; a radiated fracture from this depressed portion; this fracture was across the base of the skull I should think it was five inches long; found hemorrhage from nose and ears, also under the eye. The doctor thought the cuts were produced with a blunt instrument and each one represented a distinct blow, and the fracture [illegible]

[illegible] the main door to show in what position he was when she attacked him; I then left; I was in the house about half an hour; Gifford said the fuss commenced about the revolver; the knife I picked up had no blood upon it, but the one on the other side had blood on the blade yesterday morning; I noticed blood on the wrist.

MRS. SOPHIA MCCASLIN

testified as follows: live about half a mile from Gifford and knew the parties; last saw Mrs. Gifford on Monday evening between four and five o'clock; I was then at Mrs Wilcox's; as she was passing by, I walked along with her; I asked her where she was going; she said she didn't know; she said she would like to tell me her troubles; she said she wished she could find a friend for to-night; she lifted up her shawl and said, "Look what I found in my house;" she showed me a revolver; she wanted to know if she could put it in my barn; I told her to put it under the school house; she went down to the school house, came back and went on towards home; I saw Thomas Gifford just before Mrs. Gifford went by; he was going from his father's home; I saw him go back to his father's home after Mrs Gifford went home; he soon drove home again.

Inquest here adjourned until Thursday at 9:30 a. m.

CHARLES ADSIT

was first called. He keeps a store at Little Utica. Joshua Gifford came to him Monday and wanted to borrow a revolver and told him it was at home. He said he wanted it to kill dogs that were barking around his house nights. I sent him to my house and he got one and I have not seen it since.

FRANCIS BUTLER

was at Andrew Blakeman's Monday evening when Joshua Gifford came and said he wanted some one to go down to his house; that Mrs. Gifford had come at him with two butcher knives and he had knocked her down and didn't know but he had killed her; John Blakeman and I went down with Gifford; Gifford said he hit her twice with a poker but it didn't seem to do any good, and the third time he struck her with a stick of wood; as we came to the corner of the road, Mrs Wilcox stood on the front stoop and hollered "For God's sake hurry up"; Gifford told us that he had borrowed a revolver and intended to end his life that night; I entered the house and saw Mrs Gifford lying on her back on the floor between the stove and the pantry with her feet touching the wall; I stepped over her feet and took up her left hand to feel her pulse, but felt none; I saw a knife under the hand, Blakeman said she had another knife in the other hand, but I did not see it; Gifford said "that is my sticking knife"; I did not place the knife in her hand or shut her fingers around it.

MARCUS J. GEER

was at the house after the coroner's jury had been empanelled and saw a knife in Mrs Gifford's left hand and also saw one lying by the right hand.

ANDREW J. BLAKEMAN

resides about eighty rods from Gifford's and knew that Gifford and wife had frequent rows. About three years ago Mrs Gifford came to his house and said that she had been choked, that her husband had choked and kicked her. She stayed there from Saturday until Sunday; I don't think Mr. Gifford came there during her stay. I have heard both tell about their trouble.

Mrs. Andrew Blakeman testified substantially the same as her husband.

MORGAN BUTLER

took the stand and said he had worked a portion of Gifford's farm the past two years and heard Mr and Mrs Gifford quarrel frequently. Gifford told me that he thought his wife was intimate [illegible] [illegible] you and the boy will come as you promised.

Yours Truly,
D. C. G[illegible]

THOMAS GIFFORD

Continued: I went and saw Squire Dunham and returned to my father's house between 4 and 5 p. m.; after staying a few minutes I left him in the barn doing chores and went home reaching there some time after five; the first time I was at father's house Mrs. Gifford came out on the steps at the same time as my father; she said to me "Thomas your father has been to Baldwinsville and swore that he is crazy and I want you to be careful what you say to him or I will make you trouble; I will make you trouble any way." I replied that I would not be disappointed as she was in the habit of making us trouble; she then went into the house; when I went to my father's house the second time, I do not know whether Mrs Gifford was at home or not; I did not meet Mrs Gifford on the road or pass her or see her again that night; the last time I went home I stayed and hitched my horse and then drove to Little Utica; I met Mr Blakeman and another gentleman and they told me what had happened and I came immediately back and reached there about 8 p m; I found there my father and saw Mrs Gifford lying on the floor; she appeared to be dead; I saw two butcher knives; one of them being I think in the left hand; I don't think the knife was in the right hand; I touched neither knife that night; my father said she had come at him with a butcher knife and that he had struck her with a poker; afterward with a stick of wood; I think he said nothing further of how the fuss started; I stayed there all night; I think her daughter came that night; my oldest boy came with me and went to telegraph for her daughter; my father had previously told me that he had a pistol and that his wife had found it and would not give it up to him; I never had any particular difficulty with Mrs Gifford; my father told me he had got the pistol to end his days.

CLARENCE VAULT

Resides at South Granby and saw Thomas Gifford Monday night between 4 and 5 o'clock; I was a half a mile north of Little Utica; I was going south; he was going north alone; he was going slow; turned out and stopped till we passed; did not notice him more; am positive as to the time.

The evidence colsed and the case given to the jury who returned in a few minutes with

THE VERDICT.

We find that the deceased came to her death by reason of injuries inflicted upon her person on the first day of January, 1883, between 5 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. These injuries were occasioned by criminal means; and we charge Joseph Gifford and Thomas Gifford with the commission thereof.

Coroner Hall issued warrants for the arrest of the accused parties.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral of the murdered woman was held in the Presbyterian church in Baldwinsville Thursday afternoon and was largely attended. The husband was at the house where the tragedy was enacted at 11 o'clock a. m., when the body left for Baldwinsville, in charge of constable Fuller but did not express a desire to attend the services. Rev. Dr Parsons officiated. There was but one mourner, the daughter of deceased.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS

About 10 o'clock Friday morning Sheriff Huntington District Attorney Smith, Architect Hopkins of Oswego, Deputy Sheriff Hulett of Fulton, S. H. Wandell clerk of the district attorney, went to Constable Fuller's residence, where Sheriff Huntington took the elder Gifford in his own custody, and the entire party went to Justice W. W. Palmer's, where an examination was to be held under the provisions of the new Penal Code. Mr C. W. Avery, of Phoenix, the prisoner's counsel was there. The case was immediately called. District Attorney Smith presented a formal complaint introducing the minutes of the coroner's jury to sustain the charge. This course of procedure was in accordance with an arrangement between him and the prisoner's counsel. In answer to the usual inquiry a plea of "not guilty" was put in. [illegible] [illegible] box containing [illegible] of blood from large [illegible] fingers as they would naturally be found in picking up a knife.

THE HOUSE AND APPEARANCES

The Oswego Times-Express says the house stands on a road running east and west, on the south side of the road. It is a story and a half building, with a veranda on the east side. The house is 20x34 feet. In the center of the house is an old fashioned chimney with a fireplace on three sides. The house is plainly furnished. The kitchen floor is covered with a common carpet, on which is seen marks of pools of blood. It was in this room the woman met her death. On the stairway door, against which Gifford claims his wife forced him when she made her attack upon him, was found a small quantity of hair, evidently from the head of the murdered woman. Blood marks are also observable on the wall.

Last evening's Oswego Palladium says:—

District attorney's clerk Wandell, under sheriff Van Buren and architect Hopkins went to South Granby to-day to make a further examination of the scene of the Gifford murder. It is said that the district attorney has strong evidence to prove that Thomas Gifford was at his father's house between 5 and 6 o'clock on the night of the murder, or about the time it was committed. Evidence connecting him with participation in the crime is purely circumstantial. It is thought that the visit to-day will disclose evidence of great importance to the prosecution.

The case will be presented to the grand jury to-day.

*When the fountains of life are not corrupted and embittered by suffering; when the functions of womanhood are strictly normal, women's life is like music, with no discord to jar her delicate sensibilities and break the vital and organic harmony. But many who suffer from vital and functional disorders have found immediate relief and a permanent cure by using Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For all Diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Urinary Organs, Malaria and Bright's Disease.

SAFE

The Best Blood Purifier.

The black engraved portion of the label is a fac-simile of the wrapper.

WARNER'S

Beware of Fraud.

Unscrupulous parties have tried to imitate our Remedy and deceive the public by using SIMILAR NAMES, but do not be deceived; see that the word SAFE with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY SURGEON.
(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.)

Has opened an office in Fulton. Mr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

All kinds of Domestic Animals Treated. Office and Residence over Pruyne's Harness Shop on First Street.
C. A. HILL.
Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

[illegible]

JAMES COLE,
The Old Reliable
UNDERTAKER,
AND
FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St. the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 5tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS
Cured Without Pain,
and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,
of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 8 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:
OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store.
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.
Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., box 17[illegible]
Those desiring can be waited on at their residence.
Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's mill depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cayuga street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.
Jan. 8, '83 1 yr.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	9.00	4.30	......	[illegible]
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	8.00	3.30	......	[illegible]
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.15	12.20	[illegible]
Winterton	12.00	7.35	12.52	[illegible]
Bloomingburgh	12.06	7.46	1.00	[illegible]
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	[illegible]
SUMMITVILLE	12.20	8.00	2.55	[illegible]
Fallsburg	1.00	....	4.03	[illegible]
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	[illegible]
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	[illegible]
Liberty	1.25	....	4.45	[illegible]
Parksville	1.40	....	5.05	[illegible]
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	[illegible]
Rockland	2.27	....	5.45	[illegible]
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	[illegible]
East Branch	3.00		6.2[illegible]	[illegible]
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.50	[illegible]
WALTON	4.05	6.50	8.00	15
Franklin	4.33	7.43	8.50	[illegible]
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.30	[illegible]
Guilford	5.21	9.30	......	[illegible]
Oxford	5.43	10.00	......	[illegible]
NORWICH......Arrive	6.00	10.40	......	[illegible]
	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	M.
NORWICH	6.05	2.05	6.55	[illegible]
North Norwich	6.17	2.25	7.07	[illegible]
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.22	[illegible]
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	[illegible]
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.50	7.40	[illegible]
Eaton	7.05	3.59	7.51	[illegible]
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	[illegible]
Munnsville	7.25	4.29	8.13	[illegible]
Community	7.38	5.02	8.28	[illegible]
ONEIDA	7.50	5.15	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fish Creek	8.06	......	9.34	[illegible]
North Bay	8.14	......	9.44	[illegible]
Cleveland	8.30	......	10.05	[illegible]
Bernhards Bay	8.36	......	10.13	[illegible]
Constantia	8.[illegible]5	......	10.27	[illegible]
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.12	......	10.59	[illegible]
Fulton	9.35	......	11.33	[illegible]
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.[illegible]5	[illegible]
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	[illegible]

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.
New York, Erie R'y.Ar	8.25	10.50	[illegible]	....
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	9.10	......	[illegible]	....
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	[illegible]	5.50
Winterton	5.02	7.52	[illegible]	5.19
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.45	[illegible]	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.48	7.39	[illegible]	4.53
Summitville	4.40	7.30	[illegible]	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.03	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hurley	3.53	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty Falls	3.40	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty	3.35	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Parksville	3.22	....	[illegible]	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.08	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rockland	2.53	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	[illegible]	[illegible]
East Branch	2.19	[illegible]	[illegible]	10.07
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	[illegible]	9.00
Walton	1.12	2.50	[illegible]	7.30
Franklin	12.39	2.42	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sidney	11.50	1.55	[illegible]	[illegible]
Guilford	11.29	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oxford	11.14	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
NORWICH	10.55	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
NORWICH	10.50	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Norwich	10.33	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Smyrna	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Earlville	10.17	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Randallsville	10.03	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Eaton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Morrisville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Munnsville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Community	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oneida	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fish Creek	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Bay	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cleveland	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bernhard's Bay	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Constantia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Central Square	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fulton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
	a. m.	a. m.	p. m.	[illegible]

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

[illegible]

[illegible] Worsted Dress Goods, [illegible] former prices 18 and [illegible]

[illegible] Gingham, 10c. former price [illegible]

[illegible] Everything Cheap at

FAY'S NEW CASH STORE.
E. B. FAY.

ROSENBLOOM

Is offering Extra Inducements on their large stock of Clothing. Bargains in Every Department. Call and See Them.

IT BOOMS AT

THE BAZAA[illegible]

HOLIDAY GO[illegible]

Are Going like Hot Cak[illegible] Early and Avoid the [illegible]

It would be useless to try [illegible] merate the many Beaut[illegible] ents and Useful Goo[illegible] young and old at [illegible]

BAZAA[illegible]

Come and [illegible]

I. J. WR[illegible]

the employ of and engines his this announce- to all who are es in readiness when he calls. Hamlin & Co.

is in Schuyler will remove to Oswego of Zion church con- another play.

Ward and wife of Corbin, Fulton for a few days.

the thermometer degrees below zero.

who is employed in N. Y., was in town over Sun-at Opera House next Sabbath welcome—Theme—"After and wife of Richfield Y., are guests at the resi- Edick.

Register has entered upon century of existence. to enter upon several social met J. V. evening. It was made by singing, sandwiches and McCulloch of Bundys of a pair of bright They made the Keenan's concentrated extract the Kitchen" is meeting with Fulton large quantities of it.

Kirke at Stephen's opera house row evening. Seats may be ob- at Watson's drug store. Fifty all parts of the house.

Church, who has been in Cedar Florida, since he went from fall, left Friday for Hot Arkansas. His health has not improved.

letter to THE TIMES from Ward, who resides in Denver, of Fulton people he occa- among whom are Frank William C. Francis.

Baldwinsville Gazette has an addi and will hereafter be called and Farmers' Journal. The newspaper and deserves patronage it receives in its Kenyon Jones presided at the M. E. church Sunday morn- He again demonstrat- that he is an artist and his nothing but favorable second page will be found a of the New York Mercury. that contains a vast reading matter to suit various fireman's news correspond- place of im- Send for Cauldwell, city.

The road Woodward's Syracuse Northern road bed of the old passing the Oneida river River Point, and there leaving Onondaga county and coming into Oswego county and running through the towns of Schroeppel and Volney and leaving the old road bed on the farm of C. S. Osgood enters Fulton at the intersection of First and Fourth streets near the residence of Wm. Dexter. The road will pass through the centre of block bounded by First, Fourth and Fay streets, and strikes Second street a few rods south of the residence of Charles Easton. It will then run on the west side and parallel with the Midland to block 119, the vacant lot between State street and Broadway, known as the "Circus Lot;" thence to the river which it crosses on a bridge laid diagonally across below the upper river bridge; thence through the village of Oswego Falls, passing Wright's saw mill, and crossing the outlet of lake Como at Schenck street. From this point it runs on a line of the D. L. & W. to the city limits which it reaches at a point near the Kingsford farm and enters the city.

The line is already staked as far as Woodwards and work on the rest of the line will be commenced early in the spring under the direction of Chief Engineer C. K. Moore, whose headquarters will be in Syracuse.

The following gentlemen are the directors: Augustus Kountz, Henry B. Hammond, Cyrus J. Lawrence, Robt. B. Minturn, Daniel B. Hatch, Wm. Foster, jr., of New York city; Samuel Avery, C. W. Avery, B. Merry of Phoenix; Willard Johnson of Fulton; Max B. Richardson of Oswego; A. A. Howlett, I. N. Ames of Oswego.

Electing Officers.

Geo. M. Case was elected president, John H. Case vice-president, and Solon F. Case cashier of the Citizens' National Bank at their annual meeting yesterday.

At the First National Bank yesterday the following officers were elected: D. W. Gardner, pres.; A. Emerick, vice-pres.; Amos Youman, cashier, and Langdon C. Foster book-keeper.

At a meeting held in their banking house Monday the following officers elected to manage the affairs of the Fulton Savings Bank for the ensuing year: President, Sands N. Kenyon; Secretary and Treasurer, A. Howe; 1st Vice President, Chas. G. Bacon; 2d Arvin Rice; 3d, Geo. M. Case; attorney Giles M. Piper. The deposits in this bank Saturday December 30th were $154,105.57 with a surplus of $11,159.23.

At a regular meeting of Fulton Division S. of T. held Friday evening the following officers were installed for the ensuing quarter:

W. P.—Mrs. W. H. Henderson.
W. A.—G. C. Bartley.
R. S.—Fremont Perry.
A. R. S.—Lizzie Miller.
F. S. William Hill.
Treas.—Frank Dilts.
Chaplain—Mrs. Jas. L. Parker.
Con.—Mrs. Fred. Parker.
Asst Con.—James Buck.
I. S.—George Perry.
O. S.—F. E. Stone.
P. W. P.—A. L. Hatch.
Organist—Mrs. L. Divingston.
Trustees—William Waugh, Frank Dilts and William Hill.

At a meeting of Neahtawanta lodge of Odd Fellows held in their rooms in the Dexter block Wednesday evening the following officers were duly installed by District Deputy Grand [illegible] George Hale:

David Campbell—N. G.
James Pearsall—V. G.
Dudley K. Harris—Rec. Secretary.
James Stevens—Permanent Sec'y.
James L. Parker—Treas.
Harvey Buck—Warden.
Charles D. Branch—Conductor.
J. Blin Birdsall—O. G.
John C. Lang—I. C.
Charles S. Rust—R. S. S.
Eli DeRushe—R. S. of N. G.
Lewis Sherman—L. S. of N. G.

Cole.

may be found Howe & Dexter's in Oswego Falls.

Mr. S. K. Wooden was taken to the Utica asylum yesterday by his son E. M. Wooden and W. S. Wright.

A. R. Stoddard of Oswego Falls has in his possession and carefully preserved an almanac for each year since 1830.

Young wives, young husbands, stern fathers, and indulgent mothers have all a lesson, a beautiful lesson, to learn in "Hazel Kirke" to-morrow night.

Quarterly meeting commences at the Free Methodist church to-morrow and will continue over the Sabbath. Several clergymen from abroad will be present.

Prof. A. Boothby will give a talk on temperance with illustrations in the M. E. church Sunday evening. Appropriate temperance music will also be rendered.

The meeting of the lower Oswego Falls reading circle which was to have been held at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Swan last evening was postponed on account of the week of prayer.

Yesterday was Mr. Reuben Bradshaw's sixtieth birthday. He looks younger, feels younger and is as active as many men at forty. May he live to enjoy the return of innumerable anniversaries.

LOST—Sabbath evening a mink boa, between the Lewis house and the residence of H. S. Gardner. The finder will be rewarded by leaving it at Miller & Whitaker's grocery No. 10 Oneida St.

A term of the circuit court of oyer and terminer is being held in Oswego, Judge Vann presiding. The Oswego Post says there are 92 cases on the calendar. There are four libel suits and two murder cases besides.

James Cooper, instructor in school district No. 2, lower Oswego Falls, wishes to inform those who desire to join a singing school which is being organized by him that he will be ready to meet them at the school house next Tuesday evening.

Next Tuesday evening there will be a debate in the G. A. R. rooms by members of the Post; Subject: Resolved, That the military school at West Point should be abandoned." Comrade Palmer will be the leading affirmative disputant and comrade Wells the negative.

Sunday afternoon a Christmas tree groaning with presents was made the centre of attraction of the Sunday school scholars of the church of the Immacu- Conception. Not a scholar left empty handed and the beautiful and useful presents carried joy to many a young heart.

Yesterday was the sixtieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shepard's marriage. Uncle Norman told a TIMES man that sixty years ago Tuesday the good old ferryman ferried them over from the state of Single Blessedness into the state of Matrimony and only charged one dollar. He said that among all the learned and traveled people he has met in his day none could lucidly or thoroughly define the borders of the above States or where they are located. Mr Shepard is in his 82d year and his wife in her 80th.

The body of Charles K. Howe, who died in Weathersford, Texas, Jan. 1. arrived in Fulton Sunday morning and funeral services were held from the family residence on First street at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. There were present many relatives and a large number of old friends and citizens. Rev. O. C. C. Cole, now of Constantia, N. Y., officiated assisted by Rev. Dr. Bruce of the M. E. church, Rev. James S. Riggs of the Presbyterian church and Rev. Charles E. Smith of Syracuse. Music was rendered by a choir composed of the following ladies and gentlemen: Mrs C. [illegible], Mrs. G. V. [illegible] [illegible] merits than the usual.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Jan. 10, 1883.

Miss Carry Fulton, Miss Stella Burcham, Mrs. Alice Myers, Miss Emma Robbins, E. Martin Johnson, Miss Bridget Gough, Miss Marietta Eggleston, James Ellis.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

Mrs. Laura Dermott, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

Friday Night's Fire.

About 12:30 Friday night a house on Second street situated between the residences of Perry Calkins and Rev. L. Golden was destroyed by fire. The house was occupied by George Lester and wife, an aged and infirm couple. The interior of the building was in flames when the fire was discovered, and the inmates narrowly escaped with their lives, the old gentleman escaping in his night garments alone. Everything in the building was completely destroyed. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective stove pipe. The house was owned by Mrs. Albert Graves of Palermo. There was no insurance on either house or contents.

A Suit Ended.

The action of Caroline Burcham as administratrix against Luman Richardardson and Orville Jennings for $5,000 damages for the drowning of Martin Herrick by the sinking of the Tip Top in Oswego harbor last summer was called in Oswego Monday. A. Hathway appeared for plaintiff and H. C. Benedict for defendants. Mr. Benedict asked for a non-suit on the ground that the intestate voluntarily met the danger, and knew that the canal boat was not strong enough to withstand the waves at the mouth of the harbor. After a long argument the court decided to take the evidence. Judge Vann after hearing the evidence granted a non-suit on the ground that the plaintiff failed to prove negligence on the part of the defendants.

Week of Prayer.

This is the week of prayer and it is being observed by various Fulton churches. At 7 o'clock p. m., Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings and Saturday at 1 p. m., prayer meeting will be held in the Baptist church and at 7½ p. m. in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. For this evening the subject is: "Prayer for families.—For parents, children and the household—that all connected with the training and education of the young may be deeply impressed with the vital importance of scripture instruction, and that the absolute need of the power of the Holy Spirit in all departments of this great work may be realized; for the cultivation of every moral virtue, for integrity, purity, and piety in the home life; and for a special blessing upon Sunday schools. Prov. viii: 17, 21, 32, 35; Acts ii: 16, 21."

An Old Paper.

A friend hands in to THE TIMES a copy of the Oswego Daily Advertiser of April 17, 1845. Thirty-seven years has wrought a great change in Oswego newspapers. In this number but one local item appears:—

First arrival by the canal.—The Packet boat St. Lawrence, Capt. Stewart, arrived yesterday from Syracuse with the Eastern mail, and passengers. She leaves this morning for Syracuse. This is the commencement of a daily line of packets on the Oswego canal.

It required several days to receive news from the outside world as the following will prove:

Cincinnati Election.—At the election for Charter officers in Cincinnati on the 3d of April, the Whigs elected their Mayor, and a majority of the Common Council, over Loco, Native and Abolition tickets.

Weather Predictions for the Year 1883.

N. Y. is a guest of Rev. D. E. Lee.

The case of [illegible] against the village of Fulton for $10,000 damages for the drowning of her husband in the hydraulic race was called in Oswego yesterday and put over.

Copies of THE TIMES of the following dates are wanted at this office for which good prices will be paid. Dec. 2[illegible], 1881, Jan. 4, 11, 18, and 25, 1882, Feb. 1, 15 and 22, March 1, and 8, April 19, June 7.

John Boardman appears in this week's TIMES with an advertisement. People who use tobacco and especially those who enjoy a good cigar will find just what they want at his place. Read his advertisement.

Olive, wife of Levi Rudd died in Hannibal yesterday, aged 92 years. Funeral at Armstrong school house 11 o'clock a. m., to-morrow. Will be interred at Fairdale. Her husband of the same age is very low.

The Youngs' Bros. are arranging for a grand social party to be given in the opera house ball room next Wednesday evening. Tickets fifty cents. Good music has been secured and the management insure all who attend a pleasant time.

Among the soldiers head stones sent to Fulton is one marked G. H. Fisk, Company "H" 81st Infantry. If any one knows where Company "H" was raised or know where G. H. Fisk is buried they will confer a favor by notifying Post Daniel F. Schenck, G. A. R. Fulton.

The Fulton Lyceum sent a challenge to the G. A. R. debating club to meet them on the rostrum in open debate. The G. A. R. has accepted and a subject is being looked up. The G. A. R. boys have belonged to one winning side, and if the Fulton Lyceum don't look to their laurels they will meet a sad and inglorious defeat.

One week from next Monday Hon. Schuyler Colfax ex-vice-president of the United States will deliver his famous lecture "Our Martyr Presidents" in Stephens opera house under the auspices of Post Daniel F. Schenck G. A. R. The object of these lectures is understood and no one should fail to give their mite.

Monday evening the Presbyterian society went to the session room of the old church to hold prayer meeting and found a sentinel guarding the door. The Sons of Temperance had secured the room in advance and were in executive session. The members of the Presbyterian society repaired to the new church and improvising seats held a highly enjoyable meeting.

THE TIMES is in receipt of a letter from Carlon Church, dated Cedar Keys, Florida, in which he rehearses at length the trouble existing between him and his brother Warren. THE TIMES is unable to discover wherein the public will be interested or benefitted by a reproduction of Carlon and Warren's trouble and think Mr. Church will upon reflection see the wisdom of our respectful refusal to publish his communication.

A subscriber to THE TIMES has a complete file of the New York Herald from May 8th, 1882, to December 1, 1883, which is offered for sale. It contains the finale of the great Guiteau tragedy; the complete history of the Egyptian war; the celebrated Malley trial; the great political war of 1882; history of the Jeneatte and crew and a thousand more important events of current history that make a history interesting, entertaining and for reference invaluable. Will be sold reasonable. Enquire at TIMES office.

Annual Meeting.

The Oswego Falls Agricultural Society held their annual meeting to-day. The same officers as last year were elected with the exception of L. L. Kenyon of Oswego a trustee in place of Walpole.

Resolutions were passed prohibiting the sale of intoxicants on the grounds hereafter.

We have the largest assortment of robes and horse blankets in Oswego county at McCully & Cole.

There are now pending in Philadelphia five hundred and fifty divorce cases.

pins.

Oswego Post—Judge Vann, in his charge to the Grand Jury yesterday [illegible] in the county jail. The grand jury a year ago reported that the jail was insecure, but he understood repairs had since been made. He said it was the duty of the grand jury to look into the matter, and if the board of supervisors had neglected it, after having their attention called to the matter, they should be looked after.

Four well dressed men entered Selter Bros. saloon in Syracuse a few days ago and played a rather slick game. They called for refreshments and while enjoying them one of the party stepped into a room behind the bar and fell heavily to the floor and pretended to be in a fit. He frothed and foamed and writhed. The bar keeper and attendants rushed to his assistance while the men at the bar robbed the money drawer of $250, and decamped. It is a game played successfully in many cities but proved a failure in Syracuse as the whole gang were arrested and placed in the penitentiary to await the action of the grand jury.

Syracuse Herald:—Calvin H. Gilbert, of No. 103 Turtle street died Sunday afternoon. About 3 p. m., Mrs. Gilbert detected a peculiar odor and upon going into the sitting-room found Mr. Gilbert lying upon the stove, with his face and clothing badly burned. She removed him from that position, and made an effort to resuscitate him without avail. Dr. Baker was called, but life was extinct. In the opinion of physicians Mr. Gilbert died in an apopletic fit and fel upon the stove afterward. He had been in ill health for years and after removing the snow from the sidewalk in the forenoon complained of pain in his stomach.

Mr. Gilbert was quite well known in Fulton and has many relatives living in this vicinity. He was 67 years of age.

South Hannibal.

SOUTH HANNIBAL, Jan. 8—The South Hannibal cheese factory have elected the following trustees for the ensuing year:—David Wells, L. D. Gardner, Orrin Henderson, G. E. Osborn, and Wm Wells. The salesman was not named. During the past year milk from 300 cows was furnished; 1199 cheese manufactured; 84,962 pounds of cheese made and the average price per pound received was $1.09. It required 10 3-10 pounds of milk for one pound of cheese. J. Nash has been cheese maker for the past six years and is an excellent man at the business.

Harry Goodell, a three year old son of Osceola Goodell, formerly of Fulton slipped and fell into a pail of boiling water Friday. Dr Sinclair is attending him but entertains slight hopes of being able to save him.

South Scriba.

SOUTH SCRIBA, Jan. 8—Mr Thomas Haynes an old and respected resident passed peacefully to rest Saturday morning, aged about seventy. Funeral will be held to-day at St Pauls church, Oswego.

Abram Lewis who about six weeks ago sold his farm and goods and went west is back again. He says in Dakota where a man has to sit at the table with his overcoat and hat on to eat is to much for him. He prefers the mild climate of Oswego county, where the mercury never goes below the bottom of the thermometer.

Messrs. Clinton and Eugene Bartlett who went to Dakota last spring speak very much in favor of the place.

George Sheffield is to be called father by another boy.

Mrs George Sheffield is very low but hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Mr David Dewey has moved into his new house which is an ornament to the place.

Q.

Palermo.

PALERMO, Jan. 9.—W. B. Ellsworth, while visiting at John Wellwood's of South Mexico last Thursday, met with quite a loss. Upon going to get his horse to return home he found him dead.

S. G. Ball and wife, and Hendrick Hunt and wife, of Oswego, are visiting friends in town.

Boylston [illegible]; Orwell, 14.96; [illegible] Redfield, 66; Sandy Creek [illegible]; Williamstown, 13 70;

Fulton, Jan. 10. JAMES STEVENS.

CLAIRVOYANT PHYSICIAN.

Mrs. Susan C. King, healing and seeing clairvoyant will be at the residence of Albert Cole on East Utica street for a few days. Will heal the sick and peer into the future for all callers.

Fulton, Jan. 10. SUSAN C. KING.

"LINCOLN and GARFIELD."

—:o:—

G EAT LECTUE,

—ON—

"Our Martyr Presidents."

—AT THE—

OPERA HOUSE, FULTON,

Monday, Jan. 22d, 1883.

Hon. SCHUYLER COLFAX

Ex-Vice President and for many years Speaker of the House of Representatives —one of the most eloquent orators on the continent, will deliver his Famous Lecture on "OUR MARTYR PRESIDENTS— LINCOLN AND GARFIELD," in this village at the Opera House, Jan. 22d, 1883. The proceeds of the lecture will be devoted to the building of a

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT!

in this village. This will be the

GREATEST LECTURE

ever delivered in this part of the State, and every man, woman and child in Fulton and vicinity should listen to it.

Tickets to all parts of the house 50cts.

By Order Com. G. A. R.

NEW YORK MERCURY FOR 1883.

Fully equipped with the finest printing machinery of the world, capable of working off 30,000 copies per hour, the New York Mercury will enter upon its commencing January 6, 1883, with a determination to more than ever merit the liberal patronage which has marked its career for nearly half a century. Arrangements have been consummated both at home and in Europe, to secure for the ensuing year many sterling novelties to increase the already incomparable variety of literary attractions which have always made the New York Mercury a welcome guest in every home circle.

FORTY-FIFTH VOLUME,

REDUCED RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

But in order to enhance the already widespread circulation of the New York Mercury, the proprietor has determined to reduce the annual subscription rate for 1883 from $3 00 to $2.50 per annum, thus making it the largest, handsomest, cheapest and best family paper in the United States. Each subscriber will get comprising more than 15,000 lines of choice literature in each issue—equalizing the contents of a 35 cent magazine!

1,800 SQUARE INCHES OF READING MATTER 52 TIMES A YEAR FOR $2.50

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

will be mailed, postage free for six months for $1.25, or three months for 75 cents. Sample copies sent when requested. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 8 Park Row, New York City

Report of The Condition

OF THE

CITIZENS' NATIONAL BANK

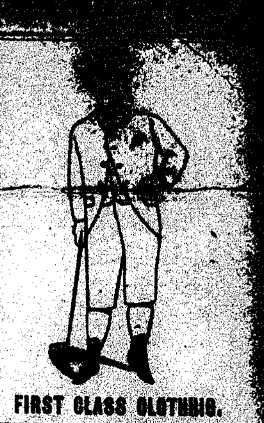
At Fulton, in the State of New York, at the close of business Dec. 30, 1882.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$602,387 09
Overdrafts	4,260 58
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	163,100 00
U. S. Bonds on hand	300 00
Other stocks bonds and mortgages	10,0,6 00
Due from approved reserve agents	5,387 24
Due from other National Banks
Due from State Banks and bankers	24 00
Real estate, furniture and fixtures,
Current expenses and taxes paid	4,257 58
Premiums paid
Checks and other cash items	2,874 66
Bills of other Banks	1,796 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels & pennies,	94 45
Specie	1,000 00
Legal tender notes	6,000 00
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer 5 per cent of circulation	7,478 50
Total	$476,781 53

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$165,100 00
Surplus fund	48,000 00
Undivided profits	[illegible]
National bank notes outstanding	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	4,789 51
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	$476,781 53



FIRST CLASS CLOTHING.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street

Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

UNDERTAKING!

Mr. D. Hendrick is now prepared to do undertaking for the public. His store is one door south of Fay's dry goods store. Night bell on store door.

23tf

—IF YOU WANT THE—

BEST BRANDS OF CIGARS,

Cigarettes, Common and Fancy

SMOKING TOBACCO

SMOKING PLUG,
FINE CUT CHEWING,
PLUG CHEWING,
BLACK AND FRENCH SNUFFS,

PIPES AND SMOKERS' ARTICLES,

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN'S,

The Old Established Tobacco Store,

NEXT DOOR TO CITIZENS' BANK.

Jobber and Retailer.

A PLEASANT ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

"Had sour stomach and miserable appetite for months and grew thin every day. I used Burdock Blood Bitters with the most marvelous results; feel splendid." Mrs Joseph Johnson, Pittsburgh, Pa.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON, N. H., Feb. 15, [illegible]

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now taking the second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.

Yours truly,
T. C. CHURCHILL,
(Firm of Carter & Churchill.)

Gained 15 Pounds

A gentleman who has been suffering from the Debility and Languor peculiar to this season, says: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is putting new life right into me. I have gained 15 pounds since I began to take it."

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by druggists. Price $1 per bottle, six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to [illegible] of all human activity, a storehouse of the [illegible] of common sense and imagination, [illegible] the cause of honest government, [illegible] genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, [illegible] wickedness of every species, and [illegible] good investment for the coming year.

[illegible] to Mail Subscribers.

[illegible] of The Sun are sent by mail, [illegible] month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday [illegible] a year.

[illegible] pages of the best [illegible] agricultural [illegible] market reports, [illegible] intelligence [illegible] paper for the [illegible] with $10 an [illegible]

I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

[illegible]ER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

[illegible] begins its sixty-sixth volume [illegible] It is not only the [illegible] periodical in America and [illegible]

[illegible]'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

[illegible]	$4 00
[illegible]	4 00
[illegible]	4 00
[illegible] above publications	10 00
[illegible]	7 00
[illegible]	1 50
[illegible]	5 00
[illegible] SQUARE LIBRARY	10 00

[illegible] to all Subscribers in the United [illegible]

[illegible] Lackawanna [illegible]

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Respectfully Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN.

CATARRH [illegible] ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses [illegible]

[illegible] youth understanding [illegible] with [illegible] his [illegible] the manner threatening [illegible] ing, and with a face of [illegible] down with folded arms and [illegible] verdict which he supposed they dare not refuse to render. The young prosecutor was mad. He felt he would like to thrash the imported counsel out of his boots. He rose to his feet, uncertain for a moment what to do. A happy thought struck him, and throwing his head back, he thrust his left hand behind him and thrust his right hand in the breast of his vest, while under overarching eyebrows he scowled out at the jury. The jury "dropped on it" in an instant. So did the judge, so did the spectators. There was the familiar pose of the imported counsel, perfect in its imitation. Then the young prosecutor began, and, without opening his lips, proceeded to copy the gesticulations and movements of the eminent attorney who had preceded him. He snorted and cavorted and stamped and rolled his eyes. He strode up and down in front of the judge and jury, following in his gesticulations precisely those of which they had just seen the copy. He shook his finger menacingly under the nose of the eminent gentleman, and then, assuming the statesman-like pose he looked down upon him disdainfully. Then he would stop and twirl on his finger a martingale ring, which he had drawn from his pocket, and which was intended to represent the large seal ring on the small finger of the left hand of the opposing counsel. It was too much. The eminent attorney appealed to the court for protection, while the judge laughed until the tears rolled down his cheeks, and the jury and spectators chuckled audibly. The judge replied that the young man had done nothing, and said nothing to him, and he did not feel called upon to interfere with the argument. That settled it. The imported counsel broke for the door, and the jury, after fifteen minutes' absence brought in a verdict of guilty.—Columbus, O., Times.

The New York Evening Telegram says: Tony Pastor was cured of rheumatic pains by St Jacobs Oil. He praises its efficacy.

The Prettiest Woman in Paris.

The prettiest woman in Paris has returned to Paris, says Lucy Hooper's Letter. Anybody who has ever seen the fair and famous Madame [illegible], the celebrated [illegible] beauty, will know at [illegible]

Try [illegible] To-Day!

[illegible] A. N. [illegible] Co., Boston, Mass.

[illegible] Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

[illegible]'S [illegible] BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. [illegible] materials [illegible] that are beneficial to the scalp and hair [illegible]

[illegible] Restoring the [illegible] Hair [illegible] Co., N.Y.

G[illegible] TONIC

[illegible]

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, [illegible] Parker's Ginger Tonic [illegible] Blood Purifier [illegible] Cure ever Used.

[illegible]

"[illegible] what do you know about [illegible]?"

"Nothing, sir—nothing. I was in the Sandwich Islands all through the [illegible]. Cooler this time?"

"But I hauled you up to draw you out."

"Just so. Shall we smoke or go back to beer?"

"And you don't draw worth a cent."

"I don't? Young man, did you think I knew anything of the late fuss?"

"I did."

"And were you trying to draw information from me?"

"I was."

"Then I beg your pardon. I thought you wanted to see how often I could mix drinks and keep sober, and I have been wondering ever since we sat down why you didn't ask for the services of an extra bar-tender. Well, well! I'm sorry, too, as I had another engagement at this hour and broke it, simply to oblige you. Good day—hope you'll like the country—s'more that whisky?"

The Man and the Goat.

There was a man on the North Side. He lived there. He had a goat named Billy. Billy knew more than the man did, for Billy was an educated goat, and the man was not an educated goat. Billy knew how to read and write in a way of his own, always sat at table with the family, and chewed tobacco just like a Christian. Billy had a shaggy coat, and was a playful goat. That was the reason his master loved him. Billy sometimes played roots on the old man. One day when the man was leaning out the window up stairs, Billy butted him. He fell out and hit on a baby carriage, killing a pair of valuable twins belonging to a neighbor. The Coroner's jury held Billy over, but the man fixed it and got him off. But the man was sore where Billy had butted him. Real sore. But he told Billy it would be all right for him. He wanted revenge. When Billy asked for some soup at supper that night, the man put some dynamite in, stead of meat. Billy ate it. It exploded. Billy is dead now. The man was blown galleywest and crooked. He is dead now. They are both dead. This is a true story.—Chicago Herald.

A dead-lock—The fastening of cemetery gate.

WHAT IS IT GOOD FOR?

Let us tell you what Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil is good for. It is death to rheumatism and neuralgia. It will cure a burn, bite, or pain, and is equally good for sprains.

They Can't Be Beat.

At Charleston I met a man from Binghampton, N. Y., who was agent for some sort of cotton machinery, and almost the first thing he asked me was:

"How do you manage with the hotel waiters?"

"Why, I have to fee them, of course."

"That shows how green you are. I am going to stop here four days, and [illegible] pay 'em a cent."

"Then you won't get much service."

"I won't, eh! Well, you just watch me and learn a thing or two. See that?"

[illegible] a [illegible] dollar, neatly covered [illegible] first glance [illegible] When [illegible] up [illegible] around for [illegible] got to-day. I'll see [illegible]

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
[illegible] Rochester, N. Y.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, [illegible] Irregular and [illegible] Inflammation and [illegible] of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, [illegible] tone and strength to the system, [illegible] as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham [illegible] Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜

BEST COAL.

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

FOOLER & WILSON.

9m6

[illegible] DAILY [illegible]

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego [illegible]

ELDER'S. ELDER'S.

[illegible]

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos431 to 439 West 14th Street,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding [illegible], Drugs, Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

VETERINARY SURGEON.

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY.

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College) has by request of Fulton [illegible] made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 2 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicines on Hand. Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. [illegible]

☞ Telegrams and [illegible] addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to.

P[illegible]

Ginger [illegible]

An Invigorating [illegible]

WASHINGTON [illegible]
NEW YORK [illegible]

40

—Insurance—

C. W. [illegible]

The following [illegible] Companies [illegible]

ÆTNA
PHENIX
CONNECTICUT
[illegible]
NIAGARA
[illegible]

Office C[illegible]

SP[illegible]

NEW A[illegible]

In Great [illegible]

[illegible]

FALLEY S[illegible]

Fulton, [illegible]

Falle[illegible]

[illegible] that in its [illegible] The Sun makes [illegible] the same [illegible] days in the year, before election as well as after, about the [illegible] as well as about the good [illegible] of [illegible] as when supported by [illegible]. The Sun has absolutely no [illegible] to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

[illegible] a year. Eight pages of the best [illegible] daily [illegible] Agricultural Department [illegible] unequalled, market reports, [illegible] scientific, and [illegible] intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humerous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in [illegible] binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, [illegible] 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for [illegible] each—by mail, postpaid.

[illegible] Harper's Magazine Alphabetical Analytical [illegible] for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, [illegible] 8vo. cloth $4 00.

[illegible] by post-office money [illegible] chance of loss.

[illegible] this advertisement [illegible] of HARPER & BROTHERS.

[illegible] HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

[illegible] York Weekly Herald.

[illegible] A YEAR.

[illegible] newspaper is con[illegible] all the leading [illegible] arranged in handy [illegible]

The Foreign News

[illegible] from all quarters of [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] of the week [illegible] feature alone

[illegible]

[illegible]
[illegible] Family Syringe, $1.00.
Ladies, read pages [illegible] of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.
[illegible]
POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

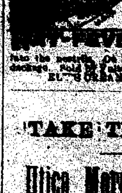
OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.
Very Resp'ly Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM



Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.
ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

[illegible]

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

[illegible] by the imported counsel, and so when he came to make his opening speech, he [illegible] a little to bombast himself. He expected to be torn up somewhat by the imported counsel, but was utterly unprepared for the simoon that swept through the court-room when the imported counsel got fairly under way. He paced up and down in front of the judge, he sawed the air in front of the jurors; he shook his finger in the face of the young prosecutor and shivered in imaginary horror at the thought of so youthful a youth undertaking to measure swords with him. The voice was loud and bitter in its denunciation; the gesticulations were violent and demonstrative; the manner threatening and awe-inspiring, and with a face of scorn he sat down with folded arms and awaited the verdict which he supposed they dare not refuse to render. The young prosecutor was mad. He felt he would like to thrash the imported counsel out of his boots. He arose to his feet, uncertain for a moment what to do. A happy thought struck him, and throwing his head back, he cast his left arm behind him and thrust his right hand in the breast of his vest, while under overarching eyebrows he scowled out at the jury. The jury "dropped on it" in an instant. So did the judge, so did the spectators. There was the familiar pose of the imported counsel, perfect in its imitation. Then the young prosecutor began, and, without opening his lips, proceeded to copy the gesticulations and movements of the eminent attorney who had preceded him. He snorted and cavorted and stamped and rolled his eyes. He strode up and down in front of the judge and jury, following in his gesticulations precisely those of which they had just seen the copy. He shook his finger menacingly under the nose of the eminent gentleman, and then, assuming the statesman-like pose, he looked down upon him disdainfully. Then he would stop and twirl on his finger a martingale ring, which he had drawn from his pocket, and which was intended to represent the large seal ring on the small finger of the left hand of the opposing counsel. It was too much. The eminent attorney appealed to the court for protection, while the judge laughed until the tears rolled down his cheeks, and the jury and spectators chuckled audibly. The judge replied that the young man had done nothing, and said nothing to him, and he did not feel called upon to interfere with the argument. That settled it. The imported counsel broke for the door, and the jury, after fifteen minutes' absence brought in a verdict of guilty.—Columbus, O., Times.

The New York Evening Telegram says: Tony Pastor was cured of rheumatic pains by St Jacobs Oil. He praises its effiency.

The Prettiest Woman in Paris.

The prettiest woman in Paris has returned to Paris, says Lucy Hooper's Letter. Anybody who has ever seen the fair and famous Madame Bernadaki, the celebrated Russian beauty, will know at once who I mean without any further description. I saw her in her box at the opera the other night, looking the very type of perfect, if soulless loveliness. In feature she resembles greatly the portraits of Madame Recamier. The eyes are of a deep lovely blue, the nose aquiline, the mouth small and shaped like Cupid's bow. The exquisitely shaped head is set to perfection on the white, rounded throat, and the shoulders in mold and in coloring would put to shame the most artistic form that ever was sculptured in marble. If her face were only expressive it would be divine. In her superb toilette of white satin the other night she was simply dazzling. She does not altogether understand how to set off her own marvelous beauty. She breaks the lines of her exquisite form by wearing great masses of flowers on her corsage, and she mars the outline of her shapely head by [illegible] to her coiffure. It is said [illegible] one of the [illegible] society. Some [illegible] had [illegible] on her [illegible] will [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible] ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, [illegible], Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters.

Is Your [illegible] Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back. Use SULPHUR BITTERS [illegible] get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend.

[illegible] copy, cloudy or high-colored? [illegible]

IT IS [illegible]

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

PARKER'S

HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S

GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.

LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

[illegible] You may hand me [illegible]

[illegible] was directed to the [illegible] who promptly responded.

"I presume there was great excitement here when the war broke out?"

"I presume so. You may mix me a gin cocktail."

It was mixed and swallowed, and then I asked:

"How soon did you take the field, Colonel?"

"I didn't take it at all, sir. I believe I'll try some more of that whisky."

"Weren't you in the war at all?"

"No, sir—no, sir. Suppose we take beer this time?"

He took beer, and I asked:

"Colonel, what do you know about the war, anyhow?"

"Nothing, sir—nothing. I was in the Sandwich Islands all through the muss. Cognac this time!"

"But I hunted you up to draw you out."

"Just so. Shall we smoke or go back to beer?"

"And you don't draw worth a cent."

"I don't? Young man, did you think I knew anything of the late fuss?"

"I did."

"And were you trying to draw information from me?"

"I was."

"Then I beg your pardon. I thought you wanted to see how often I could mix drinks and keep sober, and I have been wondering ever since we sat down why you didn't ask for the services of an extra bar-tender. Well, well! I'm sorry, too, as I had another engagement at this hour and broke it, simply to oblige you. Good day—hope you'll like the country—s'more that whisky?"

The Man and the Goat.

There was a man on the North Side. He lived there. He had a goat named Billy. Billy knew more than the man did, for Billy was an educated goat, and the man was not an educated goat. Billy knew how to read and write in a way of his own, always sat at table with the family, and chewed tobacco just like a Christian. Billy had a shaggy coat, and was a playful goat. That was the reason his master loved him. Billy sometimes played roots on the old man. One day when the man was leaning out the window up stairs, Billy butted him. He fell out and lit on a baby carriage, killing a pair of valuable twins belonging to a neighbor. The Coroner's jury held Billy over, but the man fixed it and got him off. But the man was sore where Billy had butted him. Real sore. But he told Billy it would be all right for him. He wanted revenge. When Billy asked for some soup at supper that night, the man put some dynamite, instead of meat. Billy ate it. It exploded. Billy is dead now. The man was blown galleywest and crooked. He is dead now. They are both dead. This is a true story.—Chicago Herald.

A dead-lock—The fastening of cemetery gate.

WHAT IS IT GOOD FOR?

Let us tell you what Dr Thomas Eclectric Oil is good for. It is death to rheumatism and neuralgia. It will cure a burn, bite, or pain, and is equally good for sprains.

They Can't Be Beat.

At Charleston I met a man from Binghampton, N. Y., who was agent for some sort of cotton machinery, and almost the first thing he asked me was:

"How do you manage with the hotel waiters?"

"Why, I have to fee them, of course."

"That shows how green you are. I am going to stop here four days, and I won't pay 'em a cent."

"Then you won't get much service."

"I won't eh! Well, you just watch me and learn a thing or two. See that?"

It was a lead half-dollar, neatly covered with gold foil, and at first glance it seemed to be a $20 gold piece. When the New Yorker's trunk came up stairs and the two darkies lingered around for a quarter apiece that "twenty" appeared to view, and he said:

"Smallest I've got to-day. I'll see you before I go."

The same thing was worked on the table-waiter, on the waiter who brought up ice-water, and on several other colored individuals, and when we were all ready to take the train for Savannah the trunks went down on the wagon and we walked to the depot. Two minutes before the train pulled out the New Yorker turned to the African with [illegible] and said:

"George, will you take this coin and square up with the boys for me?"

"Place it carefully in your pocket and don't lose it."

"Yes, sah, an' [illegible] millyuns o' thanks obleeged to you."

"Never mind that. Well, we are off."

On the way down to Savannah that [illegible] my companion chuckled over [illegible]

---

95 per Cent.

of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. [illegible] by placing them in a healthy condition, drives disease and pain from the system. For [illegible] caused by unhealthy Kidney, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical troubles generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good. For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. (3)

BEST COAL.

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

PURE CLEAN COAL

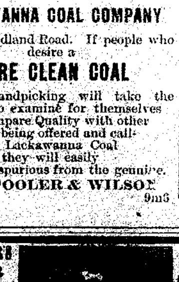
POOLER & WILSON
9m5

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect dressing, elegantly perfumed and [illegible]. Removes dandruff, [illegible]

Floreston COLOGNE



Parker's

Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

[illegible] for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic or a failure to help or cure. Try it [illegible] from [illegible]

[illegible] & Co., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSON'S,

ONEIDA [illegible]

[illegible] Square), New York [illegible]

[illegible]

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. [illegible] together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address.
DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

BROWN McALLISTER & CO.,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street,

NEW YORK.

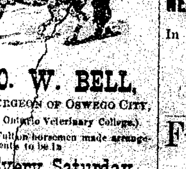
Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

VETERINARY SURGEON.



DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 3tf

---

[illegible] and P. O. address [illegible] County Judge [illegible] of Oswego [illegible] Dated [illegible]

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID,

[illegible]

CONNECTICUT [illegible]

New York [illegible]

New York [illegible]

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets, over [illegible]

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over [illegible]

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE [illegible]
NEW YORK. Assets [illegible]
Each company with large [illegible]

MANUFACTURERS'
FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASS.
Assets, $1,[illegible]
C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. ST [illegible]

The following [illegible] and [illegible] Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of [illegible]
PHŒNIX " [illegible]
CONNECTICUT " [illegible]
FIRE ASSOCIATION of [illegible]
NIAGARA " New [illegible]
Liverpool, London and Globe of [illegible]
COMMERCIAL UNION of [illegible]
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN [illegible]
LONDON and LANCASHIRE [illegible]
HAMBURG, BREMEN [illegible]
Office Cor. Second and Oneida [illegible]

PAPER HANGINGS

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

FALLEY SEMINARY.

Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

Falley Seminary.

EXPENSES PER [illegible]

Board and Tuition [illegible]
Board and Tuition [illegible]
Other branches [illegible]

Boarding and [illegible] School for Ladies [illegible]

Next term of [illegible]

REV. JAS. GI[illegible]

N TIMES.

Y WEDNESDAY.

[illegible] Block, First [illegible] House.

WHEELER & CO.,

Proprietors.

[illegible] EDITOR.

[illegible] Seventy-five Cents a Year in [illegible] of fifteen cents for post- [illegible] of Oswego county. [illegible]

[illegible] Advertising made known on [illegible] up by letter. [illegible] kinds attended to promptly [illegible]

[illegible] Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as [illegible]

e Price of a Drink.

[illegible] POLLARD.

glass!" Does any one think ally the price of a drink?
glass," I hear you say,
n't very much to pay."
'tis a very small sum
g over 'twixt finger and thumb;
re all you gave away,
very much to pay drink? Let him decide his courage and lost his pride, veling heap of clay,

ed from a beast to-day.

drink? Let that one tell night in a murderer's cell, in him the fires of hell.
ue, love and truth,
and pride of youth,
ood, the wreath of fame,
and noble aim,
treasures thrown away
f a drink from day to day.

glass!" How Satan laughed, r the young man quaffed nor; for the demon knew ork that drink would do; oroing the victim lay ood swiftly ebbing away:
ne price he paid, alas!
e of taking a social glass.

drink! If you want to know willing to pay for it, go wretched tenement over there, ndows and broken stair, ase like a vampire, crawls hed wings o'er the mouldy walls, dwells with her hungry brood, mons for lack of food;
s a corner crouches low;
deals its cruel blow;
nor are thus accursed
e of [illegible] thirst.

s-s!" Oh, if that were all, ould, indeed, be small!
s worth is the least amount hoever will keep account rible waste and blight e ruinous appetite.

—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Farm Notes.

lo are having a "boom" in l England, owing to the d demand from this coun-ne Gazette points out that using tar for roofing pure same time economical and gricultural buildings.

choice breed fetch from 000 in Australia, while first-sells in Adelaide and Sid-cents the stone — fourteen es Kelso, of the Kelso farm

toba Railroad, Minnesota, res in wheat this year, and profit of $40,000 from his successful breeders of sheep find that good—yes even -feed keeps their sheep in health than when they are ared for.

aw tree is hardy and pron many parts of Canada. It t it could be cultivated to n all Western States and Most persons prefer paw-anas.
ses are being made at Dr.
ory at Whitesborough, N.
eigh a "long ton," 2,200
They are to be shipped Scotland, and will be put et in time for the Christmas n Farmer boasts of a sweet h weighs five pounds. It dently formed by the grow-of several smaller ones, held the compact clay soil in grow till they united. n of co-operation in France tending among farmers for of seeds, manures, and of the first quality. The the society bind themselves to guarantee the payment given.

crop of Missouri was un-this season, and will do supplying the scarcity pro-e partial failure in New her large apple-producing e quantities of apples are from Missouri to Texas Territories.
the cheapest and best way common hard wood stumps, tical Farmer, is to work with a shovel plow, sow plant corn until seeded to rd grass and clover, and [illegible] so far decay
[illegible] out by hitching
[illegible] when the ground
[illegible] Spring.
[illegible] in the world
[illegible] is at Bergin,
[illegible] of Nurnberg,
[illegible] north of the Polar
[illegible] spot
[illegible] at [illegible],
[illegible] of the
[illegible]

In the [illegible] Review for December [illegible] in which the "Health of [illegible] Women" is discussed in a [illegible] and instructive [illegible] Dio Lewis, Elizabeth [illegible] and Dr. James Read Chadwick. It is a subject which every one has at [illegible] or less, and the wider correct intelligence in respect to it is spread the better for all of us and for the coming generations. The chief point of attack on the part of Dr. Lewis is the corset. He is perfectly satisfied of the fact that it causes great injury through the displacement of abdominal parts, and tends to render those kinds of exercise impracticable or unprofitable which conduce to health. It is his claim that naturally woman is a healthy being, and the equal, or very nearly so, in size and strength to man.

He has prosecuted his investigations far and wide, and he finds marked physical inferiority only where the corset prevails. He has inquired of numerous missionaries with respect to savages, and he has used his own eyes with respect to others. He finds, if anything, the uncorseted woman is the stronger animal of the two, the man being somewhat weakened by vices. An Indian woman is about as tough and strong as a pony, and a Dahomey Amazon considers herself the equal of two men. The women of the poorer classes in Ireland and Germany, Dr. Lewis claims, are as healthy as the men and can do as much hard work of the same kind. He cites many examples of weak women restored to health and strength by right dressing and living. The errors in woman's dress are: "1. The corset, which reduces the waist from three to fifteen inches, and pushes the organs within downward. 2. Unequal distribution. While her chest and hips are often overloaded, her arms and legs are so thinly clad that their imperfect circulation compels congestion of the trunk and head. 3. Long, heavy skirts, which drag upon the body and impede the movement of the legs. 4. Tight shoes, which arrest circulation and make walking difficult; high heels, which increase the difficulties in walking, and so change the center of gravity in the body as to produce dislocation in the pelvic viscera.' He quotes from a professor in a prominent medical college, who says: "I am sure, without being able to demonstrate it, that ninety per cent. of so-called female weaknesses have their origin in corsets and heavy skirts. They not only depress the pelvic organs by their pressure and weight, but weaken all of their normal efforts."

Mrs. Stanton is inclined to lay considerable stress on the proposition that the health of American women is impaired because she is denied her mental and physical rights as compared with those of men. The girl takes to her needle while the boy develops his muscle and mind in advantageous employment. Men have a diversity of callings adapted to their individual predilections; most women simply keep house, no matter what their predilections are. The world of one is larger than that of the other. She calls for equality, for co-education of the sexes, and a wider sphere for woman in order to give her capacities a fair show, and also that she may have something else to think about than the coming husband, and something else to do than to dance and flirt. She must dress sensible and lead a fuller life in every way if she would fulfill her physical as well as other possibilities.

Dr. Chadwick makes a combination of the two kinds of criticism given above, though he is not so specifically vindictive about the corsets. They are bad enough, however. He enters into the physiological field rather more minutely than Dr. Lewis, and does what he can to explode the error that the woman needs rest during certain periods of the month. When nature is not abused it takes care of its processes, and there is no more exhaustion at one time than another. If she needs it, it is only because she has injured herself. Her education is defective, according to Dr. Chadwick, very much as Mrs. Stanton points out. She permits our climate to confine her to the house more than women in other civilized countries do. Her food and drink are not what they ought to be, and he makes the somewhat remarkable statement that he thinks more injury is done to women by tea, in the United States, than to men by alcohol. But he does not take a very discouraging view of the situation, and has "seen so vast an improvement in their physical and mental vigor during the few years over which (his) personal observation extends that (he) feels encouraged to predict for them in the near future as great pre-eminence in physical and mental strength as is now, universally accorded to them for physical beauty." It is rather nice in the Doctor to say this. It sounds more pleasant than the words of Dr. Lewis to the effect that "while we are so proud of our telegraphs and railroads and grand inventions and magnificent improvements and large corn crops, that we run our printing presses all night to proclaim our glory to the rising sun, our doctors, standing in the midst of a nation of men sucking tobacco, caution a nation of corseted women to go slow and lie flat on their backs three months in the year."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says; Mr. Chas. Reis, No. 1611 Second Carondelet avenue, this city, was cured by St. Jacobs Oil after sixteen years suffering with rheumatism.

Some Tall People.

A Belgian preacher recently lamented in his sermon the increasing degeneracy of the human race. Adam and Eve were respectively 123 feet 9 inches and 118 feet 9¾ inches high; but Noah was only 103 feet high, and Abraham only 72, and Moses only 13, and Herod just 10 feet. The Talmudists differ. But this decrease of stature in all mythologies is represented as in direct ratio to the [illegible] of time; each of the twenty-four Buddhas had a different stature, the [illegible] being the tallest [illegible]

A [illegible]
[illegible] I say,
[illegible]

A lowland—a mortgaged farm.

Top-heavy—Landlord's head.

The board of trust [illegible]—the grocer's slate.

The proudest day in a woman's life is her first son day.

A tale of the sea—The sea serpent's tail.

True this is an off year, but President Arthur did not expect it to be quite so far off.

Phosphorus is the striking name of a new color. It will be worn by match-making mammas.

Children are like boils. Everybody knows how to take care of those that belong to other people.

Why does a young lady resemble a rifle? Because she has to be charged with powder before the ball.

Kussum is the name of a Maryland judge. He is particularly well fixed for swearing in witnesses.

Girls are more courageous then men. They are ready to make a match with a fellow twice their size.

A modern philosopher thinks that early rising is well enough as far as bread is concerned.

Children are like boils. Everybody knows how to take care of those that belong to other people.

My first supports the ministers, my second the doctors, my whole the schoolmaster.—Pupil (pew-pill).

The difference between a sugar plum and a fat woman on roller skates is one that slips down easy, while the other slips down hard.

Mince-pie season is here, and those who can afford it will now dream of elephants with four trunks and mules with illuminated heads.

Herbert Spencer's version of the popular phrase, "Give us a rest"—"It is time to preach the gospel of relaxation."

There are twenty-four systems of short-hand, but the short-handedest man nowadays is the republican who has paid his debts.

A French physician says that raw oysters and chicken soup will nourish any girl through at least six disappointments in love.

A jeweler advertises that he has some precious stones for disposal, adding that "they sparkle like the tears of a young widow."

It is perfectly safe to compliment a woman upon her chiselled features, but she would hardly like it to be told that her head was turned.

If the fire of love should consume a maiden's heart, we presume the average insurance agent would account for it on the ground of a "defective flue."

We are glad that the ladies are learning so generally to play the violin, because in that case they are liable to use a chin-rest.

The Englishman who said that liquor had been the horrid-gin of all his troubles has been spirited away, as he richly deserves to have been.

The reason that æsthetics so admire the stork is that he can stand for hours on one leg and look as though he didn't know anything and didn't want to.

A juryman was asked if the judge had charged him. "Faith," said he, "the man lectured us a good deal, but I don't believe he meant to charge for it."

Upon a writer exclaiming that his works contained much "food for thought," a friend remarked: "That may be so; but it is wretchedly cooked."

Gov. Stevens wants to be called "Mister." Thomas Jefferson wanted to be called "Tom." Colonel Mooney wants to called when he has four sevens.

Abdul Kerim Pasha, who is coming to America to make arrangements for the emigration or some of Arabi Pacha's followers, is one of the most famous oriental scholars. He is a graduate of Cambridge University and an eloquent lecturer. He has translated "Homer" into Arabic, and several works into English, and has been decorated by Italy, Russia, France and Turkey.

Three million acres of Texas lands have been sold to a syndicate said to represent capitalists who have amassed large fortunes by land speculations in the northwest. The price was 50 cents an acre, and all the large solid blocks in the Texas land market remaining unsold were taken. The names of St. Paul and Minneapolis men are mentioned as being in the syndicate, and it is certain that a Minneapolis man was the agent who completed the negotiations.

Spurgeon is sometimes more blunt than polite. For instance, in his recent answer to a neighbor who asked him to support a certain candidate for election to the School Board on the ground of his belonging to the Blue Ribbon Army, he replied: "Do you think I am going to support a donkey just because he has a bit of blue ribbon tied to [illegible]

Another step forward has been taken by China in the improvement of her naval defences. In addition to her new European war ships, she has recently adopted the German system of ordnance and torpedoes, and she intends now, it is reported from Berlin, to introduce the new German system of plated fortifications for the defence of her new naval forts. Krupp guns will be employed exclusively in mounting these forts.

The death is announced at 66 years of [illegible]

[illegible] ing [illegible] should be [illegible] veloping a tendency [illegible] either in [illegible] or adipose tissue, or so as to establish in the end [illegible] which the [illegible] faculty except milk-producing. I would not advocate a deficiency of food for young dairy stock, but I would argue against an excess of articles of a highly stimulating quality. The plan of the Scotch farmer is undoubtedly a good one—to take their calves early from the dam, feed them from the dish, and bring them to solid food or pasture as soon as the conditions of the young stomach will allow. Instead of linseed meal they use a great quantity of oatmeal—an article of food much less predisposing to fat and keeping up a vigorous growth. We have in this country a good quality of hay, everywhere a basis of feeding; and after the calf is weaned, or after she has had milk enough to give her a fair introduction into life, hay in the form of hay-tea, and afterward of rowen, is undoubtedly the best food the animal can have, especially when aided by a few roots, such as turnips or carrots. In such cases milk is abundant at a very early age, and skimmed milk is advantageously used as a substitute. I should not recommed the use of grain, especially that containing a superabundance of oily matter, as Indian corn and linseed, for young dairy stock, or even for dairy cows when in the flush of milk. Perhaps corn meal, sparingly, or barley, or oatmeal may be used in Winter should the animal seem not to thrive well. But a calf that is properly weaned and properly fed after weaning, and furnished with a good pasture, will be carried through the first Winter most satisfactorily on good, sweet hay, especially rowen, with roots. In this way can a uniform and well-balanced animal be produced, which put to dairy service, will not become coarse and raw-boned in appearance, nor take on flesh at the expense of the milk-pail."

OVER THE HILLS TO THE POOR HOUSE."

A person with impaired or impoverished blood is on the road to physical bankruptcy. Burdock Blood Bitters strengthen and enrich the circulation, repair the tissues, and build up the entire system.

Fashion Notes.

Green and red form a fashionable contrast for house toilets.

Black silk house dresses are brightened by red satin or velvet.

Velvet of red and olive green is used for ladies' fanciful muffs.

Flounces of white lace are used across the petticoat front of trained dresses.

Dark India red cashmere makes pretty dresses for little girls at holiday parties.

Pretty yellow dresses of bright buttercup or jonquil shades are worn by young ladies.

Elegant dresses for young ladies are made of white satin, with silver brocade rose buds.

Thick silk Spanish laces with cords edging with figures, are used for trimming black silks.

Youthful dancers' dresses are made of rose pink gauze with silver stripes, or else mere threads and dashes of silver.

Short-waisted coats of plush with two great boxpleats behind, holding all the fullness of the skirt, are the comfortable loooking outside garments worn by very small children of three or four years.

White ottoman silk dresses for bridesmaids and for balls have the drapery on the bust and hips made of the silvered tulle, while a wide band of white marabout feathers trims the foot of the short skirt.

The favorite panier drapery for the hips of trained dresses is a reverse scarf that is caught back in pleats on the hips and either becomes the outer breadths of the train or else serves as the facing of these breadths.

Beaded brocades, embroideries of gold and silver threads, with the garniture of colored pearls—bronze, pink, gray and brown—on net and forming fringes, are the rich accessories says the Bazaar, of dinner and reception dresses that are made of satin or velvet.

Ladies are wearing dog-skin gloves with wide stitching on the back. These gloves are doubled-stitched on the fingers, like those worn by gentlemen, and are used with close wrists fastened by four buttons, also with the loose wrinkled mousquetaire wrists.

☞ The wonders of modern chemistry are apparent in in the beautiful Diamond Dyes. All kinds and colors of Ink can be made from them.

J. L. Shirley, of Dalas county, Tex., is probably the only man in the United States who has used greenbacks for gun-wadding. He went duck hunting with $300 in currency in his pocket, and not having any gun-wads he used paper in loading. He became so engrossed with the sport that he forgot all about his currency, and had shot away about $50 of his wad before he discovered his mistake. He, however, killed thirty-seven ducks, which cost him a trifle over $1.25 each.

Miss Mary J. Windle, once a popular Southern writer and a Washington correspondent of considerable reputation, is now living in poverty in Philadelphia. Almost any bleak day she is to be seen on Chestnut street, laboriously trudging along eating a slice of bread and butter. Her [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] in a second, but a Rhode Island [illegible] girl [illegible] can give it three laps and beat it.

A Danville, Ky., preacher is endeavoring to get up a boom in the matrimonial market by offering to marry couples from the rural districts at two bushels of corn per knot tied.

"Are churches practical?" asks the New York Tribune. Well, they seem to be. They contrive to get money out of the tight-fisted old curmudgeons who dodge the tax collector.

The Spencerian mode of expression is very fashionable just now, and you must not speak of a person as lazy; you must simply insinuate that he is "contitutionally inert."

Said the rich and quiet-loving citizen; "If a man bores me and I don't like him and want him to keep away from me, I don't snub him. I just lend him five dollars."

"Feed Me With Your Eyes" is the title of a new song. Rather a light diet for a man who works sixteen hours a day and amuses the baby the remainder of the time.

"American women are dying off for want of exercise. Can anything be done?" asked an exchange. Yes; make it illegal to have more than one millinery store on one block.

The average American workman is not much of a snob, but if he chances to invent some valuable piece of machinery he is apt to pay a good deal of attention to "royalty."

Among the amusements in some of the Paris salons is to bet upon the color of the neckties, waistcoats, mustaches and dresses of those entering the room. One youth is stated to have lost four hundred dollars on dark moustaches.

England has statistics showing that out of 139.143 of her people engaged in literary pursuits only 12 became lunatics. We presume the others were given the benefit of the doubt and called poets.

A Vermont lawyer has printed a book to prove that the world is fifty million years old, and there is no reason why people shouldn't live a thousand years. Probably they don't just out of sheer idleness.

An illiterate California millionaire visited Europe. A travelled friend asked him what he had seen, mentioning all the noted sights; among other places he inquired if he had seen the Dardanelles. "Oh, yes," replied old money bags; "they dined with us the last night we were in Paris!"

Police Commissioner Nichols has a curious finger-ring with the ten commandments engraved on it in such small characters that they can only be read with the aid of a microscope. People who know him well are of the opinion that he has lost his microscope.

The London Lancet says that the people who sneeze often are healthiest. A sneeze sets the blood circulating and throws off a cold which is trying to settle. This medical opinion is evidently made in the interest of snuff, and the public is not yet up to it.

The counsel for the railroad company has been settling with the widows of two guards who had been killed in the company's service. "Oh, sir," says one widow, "it seems to me you could allow me more than that!" "We cannot, madam. Your husband was guard, like the other, and he came to his death under similar circumstances; they were both run over and instantly killed." "I know; but he was killed by the lightning express, and the other man was run over by a way-freight!"—Railway Review.

Go to your druggist for Mrs. Freeman's New National Dyes. For brightness and durability of color, are unequaled. Color from 2 to 5 pounds. Directions in English and German. Price 15 cents.
6y1

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address.
DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, N. Y.

GRAND
MUSICAL FESTIVAL!
—AT—
State Arsenal, Syracuse, N. Y.
COMMENCING
Monday Evening, Feb. 5,
And Continuing Through The Week.
CONCERTS EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING.
The Attractions will be
Gilmore's Famous Military Band,
Of New York, comprising 60 instruments.
A CHORUS OF 500 VOICES,
And the following Celebrated Vocalists:
[illegible]

RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT
IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER
It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.
Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.
In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.
KIDNEY-WORT

Fulton Business Cards

F. R. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 85

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 88

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 92 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 84 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 8 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

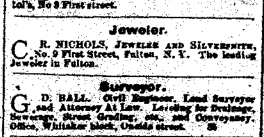
Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 26

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES [illegible], dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Produce, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE.
TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for [illegible]



[illegible]
Under The Electric Light
Every evening at
New Dry Goods House of
BARNEY, WEST & SMITH
Tremendous Bargains in Every Department
The largest and most complete line of Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods, Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.
BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,
14 South Salina Street.
Our Low Poeris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED
An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That onr garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S
ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE,
13 and 15 North Salina Street,
A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE,

EMENY & GRIDLEY
(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)
General Jobbers in Wood.
PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,
And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.
Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,
Manufactured to Order.
Estimates Given on Buildings.
Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.
Fulton Sept 6. GEO. J. EMENY, H. H. GRIDLEY.

We are Receiving
LARGE QUANTITIES OF
Fresh Mined Coal
And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.
Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg
☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading
SCHENCK & FOSTER,

BERZEE'S GROCRY.
Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything
NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.
Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls
—A First-Class line of—
TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.
An Inspection of Stock is asked.
GEO. A. BERZEE.

Will You
HAVE AN
M. BRAG[illegible]?
BAILEY & SON, Fulton, N. Y.

[illegible] state who are alleged to [illegible] with him. [illegible] Congress has appropriated $35,000, [illegible] military pensions for the next year. Representative Blackburn says by 1885 the amount will have increased to $150,-000,000 after which a reduction will take place as all cases now in will have been decided upon. Does any one say this is good common government?

A [illegible] of business failures in every section of the country is reported to be apparent, and especially at the West and South. A careless and almost reckless extension of credit is set as the cause, coupled with a disposition of people to live far in excess of their means.

MASSACHUSETTS is legislating on the English sparrow and offers a bounty for their extermination. The man who imported the English sparrow must have been a near relative of the individual who sowed Canada thistle seed. The object of the importation of sparrows must have been to provide a new industry for those without occupation.

THE governor on Wednesday nominated John D. Kernan of Utica, (son of ex-Senator Kernan), Dem., Wm. E. Rogers of Putnam Co., Rep., and John O'Donnell, of Lowville Anti-Monopolist, to be railroad commissioners. They have not been confirmed yet and the nomination of O'Donnell is meeting with considerable opposition. The general opinion is that the three gentlemen will be confirmed.

THE demand that the pension list be published increases. At the pension agency in Syracuse a list of the names are being compiled under instructions from Washington. The amount of pension received and the nature of the disability and how and where sustained will be given, too. This is a step due to honest pensioners that those who are drawing unlawful bounty from Uncle Sam's crib may be cut off.

SECTION 544 of the new code provides that if any person shall make false pretenses with reference to his ability to pay for goods, he shall not be held criminally liable unless said pretenses shall be made in writing. Merchants and others should make a note of this and protect themselves from the wild sophistries of their debtors by extracting from them written documents. Then if they do not pay, the consequences will be the same as before.

Two banks in Jersey City went under last week. The president in each instance proved a defaulter. Something must be done to protect people from dishonest servants and a law to string up bank officials who violate the trust imposed in them by patrons would be heartily seconded by the people. Some Senator or Assemblyman who is casting about for some topic to grasp with which to make himself popular with the people can find the groundwork for a lasting reputation if he gives the proper attention to this subject.

SENATOR TRENOR introduced a bill in Albany Monday that deserves to become a law. It provides that every building in the State used or occupied as a hotel, and every building hereafter built or altered for such use, of three or more stories in height, shall be provided with at least one and where the construction of the building will admit of it, two or more fire escapes accessible from the halls of each story above the first and also from the roof. A night watch must also be maintained in the building a violation to be punished by a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $1000.

A BILL passed the U. S. Senate last week to reinstate Fitz John Porter in the army. He was cashiered twenty years ago for disobedience of orders and he has persevered in his attempt for restoration to the army since with undiminished zeal. The bill will not pass the House at this session it is thought. An amendment was tacked on before its passage in the Senate which precludes him from receiving any pay prior to the passage of the bill. If he is fully [illegible] to a fat position in the regular [illegible] will be a [illegible] of the forgetfulness and [illegible] of some of our prominent [illegible] [illegible] of each other's interests. [illegible] tied and why not labor? [illegible] of labor [illegible] workingman is being taught that by organization and effort he can make his rights be respected and [illegible] amenable to laws that govern him. In Kansas, Missouri, Texas and several of the northern states cooperative stores are in successful operation. There is no creature so noble as an honest workingman.

[illegible] Sun does not like Gov- [illegible]

GOVERNOR Cleveland has nominated [illegible] Shanahan of Tribes Hill, Montgomery county, to succeed [illegible] B. Dutcher as Superintendent of Public Works. It is a wise selection and his confirmation by the Senate is regarded as assured. He is a contractor and is said to have been appointed because of his knowledge of the canals. He is 55 years of age. Was Member of Assembly in 1869. On February 9, 1878, he was appointed superintendent of the eastern division of the Erie canal and held over one year under Mr. Dutcher. Mr. Shanahan takes the responsibility of managing the canals on the eve of a new departure, free canals, and his success will in a great measure depend upon who he selects to fill the responsible subordinate offices within his gift.

DR. SAMUEL A. MUDD, who dressed John Wilkes Booth's injuries the night of the assassination of President Lincoln April 14, 1865, died in Bryanstown, South Carolina, last Wednesday. After the assassination Booth rode to Dr. Mudd's home, and he dressed his injuries. He found that Booth's right leg was fractured, the bone being broken clear through just above the ankle, caused by his jumping from the box in which Lincoln was seated to the stage below. Booth was tracked to Dr. Mudd's house but he denied having seen him or of having dressed his wounds. When Dr. Mudd found that they were going to search the house he whispered to his wife, and she went up stairs and brought down a cavalry boot slit down the leg on the inside of which was written in ink "J. Wilkes." Although at that time Dr. Mudd still asserted that Booth was a stranger to him, later in the day he acknowledged that it was Booth. Dr. Mudd was at once arrested. He was defended by Mr. Robert J. Brent of Baltimore. Dr. Mudd was sentenced by the court to be confined for life at hard labor, and President Johnson and others ordered him to be sent to the Albany penitentiary. He was subsequently sent to Dry Tortugas, where, during a yellow fever epidemic, he rendered such valuable services, that after a few years he was released. About a year ago he brought a claim for these services before Congress but it was not allowed.

Loss of hair and grayness, which often mar the prettiest face, are prevented by Parker's Hair Balsam. 32w4

You can get Macrame twine by the pound at F. E. BACON'S

The grand musical festival to be held in Syracuse from February 5th to 10th will be one of the affairs of the season.

There will be a donation at the cheese factory at Bowen's Corners this evening for the benefit of Rev. Mr. Forbes. Oysters and an excellent supper will be served. Everybody invited.

Mr. George North has resigned his position as manager of the Oswego Falls co-operative store and Thomas McGuire for some time bookkeeper for the society assumes the duties of manager.

Died, in Fulton, January 1st, Miss Amanda Cook, daughter of Wm. H. Cook, aged 26 years. Funeral was held Saturday at 10 o'clock at the church at Mt. Pleasant, Rev. Mr. Golden officiating.

The Good Templar lodge at East Palermo, will hold a debate on Friday evening of this week. Subject: "Resolved, That the drinker of intoxicating liquors is more to blame than the manufacturer or seller."

Jame Gilhooley of Granby, present Highway Commissioner, is making a bold push for canal superintendent. Mr. Gilhooley informed a representative of THE TIMES this morning that his chances were good and that he is already entertaining applications for locks.

The New York Evening Telegram says: Tony Pastor was cured of rheumatic pains by St Jacobs Oil. He praises its efficacy.

HOTEL CLARENDON,

Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the [illegible] & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for its guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.

[illegible]

[illegible] Ireland with copies of our Declaration of Independence and Federal Constitution. This is better than the use of dynamite.

—The First Presbyterian church at Cincinnati, O., burned Sunday night. The congregation had been dismissed only a quarter of an hour when flames were discovered ascending from the roof. The loss is [illegible].

—A St. Louis concern advertised "swallow tail coats to rent for New Year's calls," and it seems that a regular business is done in New York and Philadelphia. Men who cannot afford to own dress suits patronize the shops upon the few necessary occasions, and nobody is a bit the wiser.

—Tweddle Hall, Albany, burned yesterday morning. The building was six stories high, of brown stone, and was erected in 1860 by the late John Tweddle. It was valued at $250,000. The loss on building and contents is nearly $500,000.

—Another terrible loss of life is reported from Berdicheff, Russia. A fire broke out Saturday evening in a building in which a circus was exhibiting and 150 persons burned. Eye witnesses state that when the doors were opened a mass of burning persons was visible within.

—A fire broke out Sunday morning in the kitchen department and servants' rooms in the Planter's hotel, St. Louis, and three lives were lost. Following so closely the great Milwaukee holocaust the most intense excitement pervaded the guests of the hotel. The hotel proper was not injured. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

—Another route across the continent is completed. The railroad from San Francisco to New Orleans is open. The last spike connecting the Mexican Pacific road with the Southern Pacific on the one hand and the Galveston, Harrisburg, and San Antonio on the other, has been driven, and the Pacific Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico are wedded waters.

—The Newhall house, one of the largest hotels in the country, located at Milwaukee, Wis, burned last Wednesday morning and the loss of life occasioned is appalling. The hotel was a mammoth five-story building and there were 118 guests and 75 employees in the building, 113 of which are thought to have perished in the flames or died from injuries inflicted by jumping from the window to the pavement below. The fire originated in the basement, and shot rapidly with the air current up the shaft to the roof. Thus the flames made their appearance on every floor almost simultaneously. As the elevator shaft was situated near the south staircase, this was also soon in a blaze, cutting off the retreat of those on the second and third floors also. There were no fire escapes and men and women insane with fright jumped from windows and were dashed to pieces or horribly injured. Many of those who had been aroused from a deep slumber were awakened to find their rooms filled with smoke and were at once driven to the windows for relief from suffocation. On partially recovering, the flames had so far spread through the hallways that only one of two alternatives remained—to stay in their rooms and be burned to death, or to jump to the pavement below and meet certain, perhaps instantaneous death.

The idea that the fire was of incendiary origin is gaining ground. There is a substantial rumor that the Newhall House has been fired five times in the past year. On four occasions piles of inflammable stuff were placed near the elevator on the lower floor and ignited. Each incendiary attempt was made at night, but fortunately the incipient blaze was extinguished. The regular boarders believed that some one had a spite against the building. The work of removing the debris is progressing and bodies unrecognizable and charred are being removed from the ruins.

F. E. Bacon has gone way below any of the merchant's in the price of dry goods. Now is the time to buy goods cheap.

Please Don't Forget

THAT

WATERMAN is closing out

SEWING MACHINES

at prices that cannot fail to suit the most economical. All NEW Machines and Warranted.

[illegible] to a gurgling in Miss Lewis's throat by Mrs. Elder. Dr. William Taylor, the coroner, says the wound would not have certainly produced death; that he went to the house about five p. m. with a jury, where he found Mrs. Dr. Elder just sewing up an incision made in the body of Miss Lewis. There is great indignation in Canastota concerning Dr. Elder's unwarranted course and an investigation will be held.

"The doctor must have made a complete post mortem examination," said Mrs. Castle at whose house the tragedy occurred, "as there was an incision made nearly the whole length of the body. All of Miss Lewis's underclothes were soaked in blood, and blood ran all over the oil cloth on the floor. A pail was used for some purpose, and where it was emptied pieces of flesh were found by Mr. Castle. His attention was drawn to them by the cats' having pieces of them which they were devouring. There were also pieces of flesh in the clothing which was sent to Mrs. Barber, who washed them. The whole affair is too sickening for words and I dislike to talk about it but the public seem to demand the disgusting affair be made known."

Gray hairs often cause annoyance, which Parker's Hair Balsam prevents by restoring the youthful color. 35t4

"No lady who is a lover of rich, light cake and biscuit should fail to try the Tip Top Baking Powder. It is made only of Pure Grape Cream of tartar finest bicarbonate of soda and white of eggs. 35

To Mexican Pensioners.

The Mexican War Service Pension Bill is about to become a law; therefore the names and addresses of such soldiers and the widows of those who have died should be sent us on postal cards or otherwise at once by the persons entitled or by friends of such who may see this notice.

In order to keep these claims separate from our other business, mention "Mexican War."

Address, N. W. FITZGERALD & Co., Box 588. Washington, D. C.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, Jan. 9, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, President, and Trustees Cavanaugh, [illegible] Herrick, Johnson and LaLonde.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The finance committee reported the following bills correct.

J. J. Stephens, rent of court room	$ 13 00
John White, gas for streets	100 10
" " jail	8 05
Fire Department,	200 00
R. R. Dodge, cross walk	11 41
" highway	36 64
Miller & Whitaker, oil for office	99
G. & H. Patterson, rent of jail	200 00
W C Stephens, costs Dodgson case	80 32
Geo Johnston, for office	1 40
C. C. Fuller, board health	2 00
L. H Patterson, Salary	25 50
John Cavanaugh, lamps	41 19
R. R. Dodge, highway	15 13
James Sweet, janitor	4 00
Joseph LaLonde, highway	3 45
FULTON TIMES, printing	25 00

Board adjourned to Jan. 23, 1883, at 7:30 p. m.

L. H. PATTERSON, clerk.

DO YOU WANT!

DO YOU WANT!

IF YOU WANT

dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards,
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
calling cards,
address cards,
shipping tags,
business cards,
wedding cards,
invitation cards,
business circulars,
pamphlets printed,

If you want job printing of any description, done in a most satisfactory manner, you can satisfy your wants by calling at THE FULTON TIMES printing office

C. A. HILL,

VETERINARY SURGEON.

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experirience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Boarding AND Livery Stables

:o:

ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S.

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.

Horses and Carriages at all times.
Trusty Drivers when desired.
Hacks, Hearses and Carriages For Funerals.

35 N. ROWLEE.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors. PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.

ARCTIC EXPEDITION

Get the best, don't be humbugged by Imitations.

20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agency to ALVORD & SLEIGHT, publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse. Mention this paper.

MUTUAL LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY

—OF—

NEW YORK.

:o:

This Company was Chartered in 1842.

Assets - - $94,702,957.92

:o:

Premium rates lower than any other Company.

W. C. WHEELER, Agent,
Fulton Times Office,
Fulton, N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

[illegible]

[illegible] muslin at cost, [illegible] quality never sold in Fulton less than 10 to 11cts.

25 Pieces figured Worsted Dress Goods 12½c, former prices 18 and 15c.

25 Pieces Gingham, 10c. former price 12½c.

Ladies' Gossimers $1.45.

Ladies Black Coney Fur Collars $1.00.

FAY'S NEW YORK CASH STORE,

FULTON, N. Y.

E. B. FAY.

JAMES COLE,

The old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 5t1

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS

Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:

OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store.
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.

Or address by mail, care either of the above Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174

Those desiring can be waited on at their residence Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Wort's bakery, West Cayuga street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.

Jan. 3. 83 1 yr.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	0.00	4.30	......	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	8.00	3.30	......	......
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.15	12 20	6.00
Winterton	12.00	7.33	12.52	6.43
Bloomingburgh	12.08	7.46	1.00	6.53
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	7.07
SUMMITVILLE	12.20	8.00	2.55	7.35
Fallsburg	1.00	....	4.08	9.00
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	9.20
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	9. 0
Liberty	1.25	....	4.45	10.10
Parksville	1.40	....	5.05	10.45
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	11.18
Rockland	2 27	....	5.45	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	12.35
East Branch	3.00		6.28	1.40
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.55	3.25
WALTON	4.05	6.50	8.00	5.15
Franklin	4.38	7.45	8.50	......
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.30	6.30
Guilford	5.20	9.30	......	......
Oxford	5.43	10.00	......	......
NORWICH ......Arrive	6.00	10.40	......	10.00
	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.
NORWICH	6.05	2.05	6.55	8.25
North Norwich	6.17	2.25	7.07	8.47
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.23	9.15
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	9.38
RANDALLSVILLE	6 47	3.30	7.40	10.06
Eaton	7.05	3.53	7.51	10.30
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	10.50
Munnsville	7.25	4.38	8.13	11.23
Community	7.38	5.12	8.26	11.55
ONEIDA	7.50	5.15	9.10	1.10
Fish Creek	*8.06	......	*9.34	1.58
North Bay	8.14	......	9.43	2.12
Cleveland	8.30	......	10.05	2.50
Bernhards Bay	*8.36	......	10.13	3.03
Constantia	8.45	......	10.27	3.25
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.02	......	10.50	4.10
Fulton	9.35	......	11.38	5.38
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.10	6.20
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y. Ar	8.25	10.50	10.00	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	9.10	......	11.50	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	6.10	5.50
Winterton	5.02	7.52	5.40	5.19
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.45	5.32	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.48	7.39	5.22	4.58
Summitville	4.40	7.30	5.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.03	....	4.30	3.09
Hurley	3.53	....	4.18	2.54
Liberty Falls	3.40	....	2.25	2.33
Liberty	3.36	....	3.27	2.21
Parksville	3.22	....	3.09	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.06	....	2.48	12.48
Rockland	2.53	....	2.27	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.20
East Branch	2.18		1.40	10.07
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	9.00
Walton	1.12	3.59	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.30	2.42	10.55	......
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	......
Guilford	11.29	12.55	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.55	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	7.55	6.05
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.43
Smyrna	10.26	10.50	7.33	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.21	5.05
Randallsville	10.05	10.05	7.15	4.46
Eaton	9.56	9.35	7.06	4.35
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.58	4.10
Munnsville	9.33	8.35	6.40	[illegible]
Community	9.17	7.55	6.22	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	5.21	12.40
North Bay	8.37	......	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	4.47	[illegible]
Constantia	8.07	......	[illegible]	10.27
Central Square	7.48	......	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	7.30
	a. m.	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	6.40	1.35	7.30	2.45
[illegible]	6.09	1.39	7.20	2.36
[illegible]	[illegible]	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	[illegible]	[illegible]	7.05	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	[illegible]	a. m.
WALTON	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

[illegible]

ROSENBLOOM

Is offering Extra Inducements on their large stock of Clothing. Bargains in Every Department.

Call and See Them.

WE OFFER AT

THE BAZAAR

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French brnze worth $4 for only 2.62.
Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40.
Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less thon any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.

CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

[illegible]

[illegible] WESTERN R. R.

W. B. [illegible], Supt.

NOTICE.

. M. Sabin is in the employ of TIMES as collector and assumes his -day. We trust this announce-will be a warning to all who are to put themselves in readiness respond satisfactorily when he calls.
W. C. WHEELER & CO.
Jan. 8, 1883.

y of snow.

ary half gone.

is no danger of an ice famine.

is the fiftieth day of good sleigh-fail to attend the concert Saturing in the opera house by Kings-

Lawrence has returned to after a pleasant visit with his and friends.

Good Templars have moved and occupy rooms in the Kenyon block,
G. S. Piper's law office.

Presbyterian society will com-holding services next Sunday in session room of their new church.

rumor that the fire alarm bell is to removed to the tower of the new terian church is without founda-

Callen and Wm. Dexter are receivsupplies of western beef from the house of Herman Michels in rendition of "Hazel Kirke" by the Square theatre company, in opera house Thursday evening factory and pleasing.

is a delegate from Assembly Knights of Labor to a convention of workingmen to be in Troy, commencing next Tuesday.

Long of Utica, son-in-law of Londe of this village, fell on an in Utica a day or two ago and his right leg in two places below

A. B. Wolcott wishes to return to those who so kindly aided her her recent affliction and to ladies and gentlemen who render-at the funeral of her daughter,
Jennie Miller.

Dexter, the collector of the of Granby, has received his war-for the collection of taxes until the February he will receive at 1 per at the store of Howe & Dexter in Oswego Falls.

Friday evening, January 26th, the "Trial by Jury," by Gilbert & will be produced by the Thes-Society. It will be remembered this is the same society which so produced "Esmeralda" last

Schuyler Colfax will deliver his
"Our Martyr Presidents" in Opera House next Monday
This lecture is given under of Post Daniel F. Schenck and the object is to raise funds soldiers monument in our vil-object is worthy, the lecture and everybody is requested to the noble undertaking.

of advertising, as to whether what fabulous prices are by the following named
The Chicago Tribune, it is column a year receives $26,-
New York Herald receives for column, $39,723, and highest, $148,000. The New for its lowest $29,722, and $85,648, and these papers a loss to fill their columns.
comes not from any dethe respective papers, but men, who find it profitafrom Saturday's Syra-announces the advance-Palladium:

[illegible]

J. C. [illegible] the following resolution [illegible] was passed with but one dissenting voice:

Whereas, Complaints have been made in this community, and petitions presented to this Agricultural Society that gambling devices have been allowed and spirituous liquors have been sold on the fair ground for years past, to the detriment of public morals and perverting the use of the fair grounds from what they were originally intended, therefore.

Resolved, That the officers of this society are hereby instructed to refuse to grant any permits in the future, and to use all honorable means for the suppression of the sale of all spirituous liquors, fermented beverages and gambling devices on our fair grounds the coming season.

The following officers were then elected:

President—H. H. Merriam, Granby,

1st Vice-President—W. B. Phelps, Oswego.

2d Vice-President—Willard Johnson, Fulton.

Treasurer—C. R. Nichols, Fulton.

Secretary—Arvin Rice, Fulton.

Trustees—L. L. Kinyon, Oswego, and Fred Vant, Volney.

Closing his Pastorate.

The Fulton correspondent of the Syracuse Journal writes the following to that paper:—

The week of prayer was observed in the different churches, and at the Baptist church, Sunday, the exercises were of a highly interesting character. In the morning Rev Mr Golden preached his farewell sermon, reviewing his four years pastorate with all its pleasant associations and God's merciful dealings with the church. During this period thirty-three have been added by baptism and twenty-three by letter and experience, without any special revival season. The expenses of the church have been met and more contributed for benevolent objects than any four years in the history of the church. Rev Mr Golden and wife have been very efficient workers in the Sunday school, and at the close of its morning session they, with the teachers were requested to remain for a short time. Immediately Miss Etta Bisnett, in behalf of Mr Golden's Bible class and the teachers, presented him with two large handsomely bound poetical works, entitled "Fireside Encyclopedia of Poetry," and "Library of Religious Poetry." Rev Mr Golden replied in a very touching manner, and Mrs Golden rose and said she would like to acknowledge a beautiful gift which had been quietly placed in her hands by her class of young boys before leaving school, with a request not to open the box until they were gone. The gift proved to be a handsome silver and glass pickle castor and fork Two little boys then approached Rev Mr Golden and handed him a little box containing two dollars and twenty-eight cents to pay for his Baptist paper, the Examiner and Chronicle. The two lads are alone in a class, and have saved the amount from their own earnings for this purpose. A clergyman and his wife so efficient in every department of Christian labor is rarely found, and a large majority of the church feel that their place can never be filled. At the close of the evening service three young ladies received the ordinance of baptism and the right hand of fellowship. Meetings will be held during the week, and Rev Mr Golden has consented to remain to take charge of them.

A Change in Management.

[From last evening's Palladium.]

To-day's Syracuse papers state that persons interested in the West Shore road have bought the Burt interest in the Chenango road and the syndicate interests. The sale was consummated on Saturday. In addition to the Chenango road, the West Shore representatives have also bought the newly organized Syracuse, Phœnix & Ontario road. It being generally understood that the N. Y. O. & W. road is owned by the persons controlling the Buffalo & West Shore road, a Palladium reporter to-day called upon Max B. Richardson to ascertain what effect this new move would have upon the future of the proposed Syracuse, Phœnix & Ontario road. Mr. Richardson said he was not quite satisfied of the truth of the statement, but he had no doubt the road would be built—at least as far as Fulton where it will intersect the Midland. At present the sum of $100,000 is being expended in Syracuse to purchase the right of way, but he was not sure yet that a road would be built from Fulton here as he thought the Midland tracks might be used instead.

Jennie A. Miller died in Jersey City the 11th inst of typhoid fever. Her remains were brought to Fulton Saturday evening and taken to the residence of her grandfather, Cyrus Fox, and funeral was held from the M. E. church Monday at 3 p. m., Rev. E. C. Bruce officiating. Miss Miller was sixteen years of age and was a general favorite among her young friends in Fulton where she spent nearly all her life and was an honored member of the M. E. Sunday school. The following gentlemen acted as bearers: Justin Hamilton, William Cone, Hiram Barnes, and George Campbell.

The G. A. R. State encampment will be held at Troy, beginning on January 24th. Three hundred and twenty-six posts will be represented. Among the leading candidates for Commander are [illegible]

Theodore [illegible] and wife of [illegible], N. Y., are in town.

George Chauncey and wife of Suspension Bridge spent the Sabbath in Fulton.

Go and hear Colfax next Monday evening in the Opera House. Tickets 50 cents.

Birney Taylor, who has been in Milwaukee, Wis., for some time, is home for a visit.

Remember that Hon Schuyler Colfax lectures at the Opera House next Monday evening.

Stuart Rogers, who appeared in Fulton last winter, gave an exhibition in Sandy Creek last week.

Chas. P. Tucker has purchased the Peter Althouse farm, north of the village known as the "railroad farm."

J. R. O'Gorman of Oswego has been appointed clerk of the Assembly judiciary committee of which Wm A. Poucher is chairman.

The Highway Commissioner of Granby is removing the snow from the Granby side of the river bridges to-day. The Volney sides should be served the same.

The Billy Rice minstrel troupe, which gave a poor performance in Fulton a couple of weeks ago, have disbanded on account of poor business.

The A. S. C. will give another social hop in the Opera House ball room on the evening of Thursday, Jan. 25th. Music will be furnished by F. K. Jones and Oscar Parker.

It ought to be the business of some one in Fulton to see that No. 2 school house is provided with fire escapes. What would be the result if a fire should break out on the lower floor during school hours?

About twenty hands have been discharged from Herrick & Emerick's box factory. The firm are unable to procure the necessary quality of lumber, just at present, required for the manufacture of boxes.

Mr. C. J. Rappole will form a class in writing at No. 1 school house next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. One dollar will pay for twelve lessons. All wishing instruction in this branch are requested to meet him.

THE TIMES may be found on sale at Ney's news room. Last week 65 extra copies were sold at that place and the previous week 72. A person in this community that does not read THE FULTON TIMES every week would, indeed, be a curiosity.

Mr. E. E. Schenck & Co., who own a lumber yard on North First street, have added to their business the Mason planing mill and took possession this morning. Jobbing will be a specialty and they will be pleased to execute any job given them.

Rev. Dr. R. Fisk of Syracuse, will lecture in the Universalist church Phœnix, Wednesday evening Jan. 24th. Subject, "The greatest instrument of modern knowledge." The Doctor gives his services, and the proceeds are to be applied to the carpeting of the church.

Andrew Hanna jr, was injured in Gridley's saw mill Friday morning while engaged in working at a saw. His left hand came in contact with the saw and was badly lacerated in the palm between the thumb and fore finger. The thumb and fore finger was somewhat injured also. Dr Lake dressed the wounds.

Joseph R. Roblin, of the senior class of Canton theological school will spend his vacation of four Sundays, commencing Jan. 28th, with the Universalist society at Phœnix with a view of settlement at his graduation in June. The work will be carried on under the charge of Rev. A. U. Hutchins until the graduation of Mr. Roblin.

We are happy to announce that there is a rare treat in store for the ladies of Fulton. The Syracuse baking powder company will give a series of practical tests in the art of baking by a skillful compounder of toothsome dainties at the store of Miller & Whitaker commencing Jan. 23d, from 1 p. m. until 5 p. m. No lady who has a taste for delicate baking should fail to profit by this opportunity and learn the superiority of the Tip Top Baking Powder over all other kinds.

SELLING at cost is high prices this week. Frank Bacon is protecting his customers with goods at LESS THAN COST for a few yads. The people seem to be appreciating the bargains if we can judge by the way they are carrying them away.

Hemlock Wood Wanted!

Will pay highest market price for 200 Cords

OF

Hemlock Wood,

[illegible]

[illegible]

This society will hold a ball Friday evening in the armory. Refreshments will be served.

Good Templars Attention!

The meeting of the Good Templars will not be held next Monday evening it having been decided to postpone it until Wednesday evening. This is done to give all an opportunity to attend Schuyler Colfax' lecture. The next meeting will be held in the society's new rooms in the Kenyon block, 3d floor.

Joshua Gifford Indicted.

Last evening's Syracuse Herald contains a dispatch from Oswego reading:—

OSWEGO, Jan. 16—The grand jury have indicted Joshua Gifford of Granby for murder in the first degree, for the killing of his wife.

As the grand jury were not to report any indictments until to-day it seems the Herald keeps pretty well informed of what occurs in Oswego county's Grand Jury room.

A Rare Treat.

The Kingsford band of Oswego assisted by the Concordia Singing Society of Oswego, will give a grand concert in Stephen's opera house Saturday evening of this week, Jan. 20th. The Oswego papers guarantee the people of this vicinity that this is to be one of the best concerts ever produced in Fulton. The programme to be rendered is a fine one Don't fail to attend. Tickets to all parts of the house 35 cents. For sale at Watson's drug store.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Jan. 17, 1883.

Miss Julia Appleby,
Miss Lillian I. Bixby,
Mrs. E. Chappel,
Miss Ettie Hall,
W. M. Jones,
E. Marion Johnson,
Frank Heughes,
Robert Marsden,
Capt. Stephen J. Scriber,
Chas. A. Taylor,
Mrs. James O. Williams,

HELD FOR POSTAGE

Phillip Mothersill, 81 Elm St., Detroit, Mich,

E. A. Bocemsdes, New Haven, Conn.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

A Fulton Lady Wins a Prize.

The Syracuse Baking Powder Co. offered a prize of a service of silver valued at $100 to the person who best answered the question: "Why is 'Tip Top' the best name for a baking powder." A gentleman from each of the Syracuse papers was selected and the whole acted as judges. About two hundred answers which had had been sent in were read and passed upon, Some of them were very brief, and others were in rhyme, many of them having little or no reference to the question while they sang praises to the "Tip Top" powder, and related experiences in its use in many households. The committee endeavored to discharge its duties faithfully, and finally unanimously concluded that the author of the following, Mrs David Ramsden, of Fulton, was honestly entitled to the prize:—

The name "Tip Top" must win the prize,
For nought on earth can higher rise,
"Excelsior" lags far behind,
"Acme" by "top" is well defined.
At "Ne Plus Ultra" some would stop,
But we go higher with "Tip Top"
Give best of Powders best of names—
"'Tip Top' has won" the world exclaims.

Syracuse Journal:—A deed from Joshua Gifford, the Granby wife murderer, to his son, Thomas Gifford, for twenty-five acres off and on lot No 38 in the town of Lysander this county, was recorded in the clerk's office to-day. The deed was executed yesterday, and the consideration expressed is "the agreement hereinafter contained and the sum of one dollar." The agreement is as follows: "The said Thomas Gifford is to pay all my lawful debts and C. W. Avery for services performed and hereafter to be performed and all expenses and disbursements made and incurred by him in my defense or in defending me upon any indictment that may hereafter be found against me, and such counsel as may be associated with him in my defense; which indebtedness heretofore accrued and hereafter to be accrued as aforesaid, the said Thomas Gifford assumes and agrees to pay, and this conveyance is made subject to the same."

The Oswego Times-Express of Wednesday has the following to say of the Kingsford band and Concordia singing society who are to give an entertainment in the opera house Saturday evening:—There was a fine audience at the academy of music last evening to listen to the concert by the Kingsford band, and they enjoyed a musical feast. The band seemed to be at their best and the citizens of Oswego are justly proud of this organization. The program rendered last evening was a fine one and the band was heartily applauded. The Concordia singing society [illegible] out several times. It was a thoroughly enjoyable performance throughout.

[illegible]

[illegible] at the Opera House Saturday evening of this week.

Wm. C. Stephens has removed his law office to the west end of the opera house building, 2d story.

Go to Miller & Whitaker's next Tuesday and sample a warm biscuit fresh from the oven manufactured from "Tip Top" baking powder.

LOST—A large, black New Foundland dog, with a white breast and dark grey feet; answers to the name of Nero. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving him at THE TIMES office, Fulton, N. Y.

Mrs. Lovica Ferguson, mother of Barney Ferguson, of this village, died at her home in Wilna, Jefferson county Jan. 2d, aged 88 years. She had resided in that immediate neighborhood for over sixty years.

About sixty friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Fuller surprised them last evening at their residence on Rochester street. "Good music inspired the nimble foot," and there was not one of the company but what was made happy by the event.

About two feet of snow fell during Sunday night and the week so far has been consumed in shoveling out the roads. The storm did not extend south as far as South Granby and appears to have been confined exclusively to this immediate neighborhood on all sides.

Bayard Monk who is employed as a traveling salesman with the hardware firm of Wyeth & Co., St. Joseph, Mo., received a fine gift from the firm New Year's and had his salary raised to $1200 per annum. Mr. Monk's sales for 1882 was unprecedented, for a man of his experience, and consequently his services are thoroughly appreciated.

Missionary Day will be properly observed at the M. E. church Sunday. In the morning the pastor, Rev Dr E. C. Bruce will deliver a sermon appropriate to the occasion. In the evening the exercises will consist of short addresses, essays and recications interspersed with music. The public are invited to attend.

Wednesday evening was the twenty-seventh anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miller and a multitude of their friends determined upon a surprise for them. Mrs. Miller was out in the early part of the evening returning to find her home in the possession of an army of happy friends. The invaders brought with them music which with a most excellent repast assisted in whiling away a most agreeable time.

The N. Y. O. & W. Ry. Co. are getting together the material for their "Summer Homes" for 1883. Those in Fulton who propose taking city boarders during the coming summer and desire their names to appear in the pamphlet should send to J. C. Anderson, Gen'l. Pass. Agt., Middletown, N. Y., for the necessary blanks. Last year the company printed and distributed 25,000 copies in New York, Jersey City and Brooklyn among those classes who are seeking board in the country.

The push for canal superintendent of section No. 2 Oswego canal progresses in a quiet but active manner. Among the names we have heard mentioned as being possible candidates are Luman T. Richardson, James Caldwell, Porter W. Hyde, R. R. Dodge and Francis M. Wilson. THE TIMES does not know of its own knowledge that any of the above named gentlemen are candidates but is pretty well satisfied that one of them will receive the appointment.

R. Bradshaw has rented the store occupied by J. Bailey & Son to Syrcuse parties named Amdursky who will take possesion, April 1st, with a stock of ready made clothing. J. Bailey & Son will not go out of business but will build a substantial brick block opposite their present location between Farrell's tailor shop and Cole's furniture store and be ready for business as soon after the 1st of April as possible. Work will be commenced upon the new building as soon as the weather will permit.

J. C. W. of Granby writes to the Times-Express and gives an inkling of canal superintendent Jennings' forthcoming report. He says Mr. Jennings will recommend the abandonment of the Oneida river improvement, taking out the lock-gates, letting the side walls remain as so little canal business is done contiguous to the lake. And further near Brewerton cut through one or two bars drain the lake to that extent that one million acres of land can be reclaimed, valuable in fertility [illegible] in production. As the state [illegible] for damages by reason of overflow of waters to restore these lands to their normal condition, and have palatial residences where frogs and fogs abound is starting a boom with better climate influences in the right direction.

[illegible]

[illegible] from which they are printed consisting of a thin piece of steel. They are then heated for a short time with a gas jet, and afterwards inked by a [illegible], or; most of the ink is now cleaned off with a cloth and the remainder with the palm of the hand—except where it is engraved, nothing else having yet been found that would answer the purpose. The sheet is now laid on evenly and run through an iron roller by hand—four plates in each press which now finishes the first impression. Each one is carefully looked over after being printed to detect imperfections. It is now laid between two sheets of strawboard and passed on to the next printer, who takes another impression but of a different part, in the same manner. After having been printed on both sides—the number of the impressions depending upon the denomination—they are heated for a few minutes, which leaves them in a rough condition. They are now put under a heavy pressure and left until the next morning, when they are taken out and found to be very smooth as you see them. The seal is now printed on and they are numbered, the latter being done on the surface of a small wheel, and as fast as one number is printed a new stamp turns up in its place and inked. Lastly, after having been carefully counted over fifty-two times by different persons in different departments, they are done up in packages of two thousand and are now ready to be sent to the treasurer of the United States. If there is a mistake found it can be traced back to the very beginning. It requires from twenty to thirty days before a bill is finished. Every night each person has to make his or her report and everything must be found right before they are allowed to leave the building.

The plates, bills, etc. are put in a large vault and locked with two combination locks and by two different persons, neither of whom knows the other's combination.

There are some twelve hundred hands employed—and what strikes one as somewhat singular is that there are more females than males in the whole building, there being about four hundred in the printing department alone. A large number are constantly engraving new plates, as they wear out after about fifty thousand impressions. One man, now eighty-two years old, is working in this department.

It would require a volume to go into all the details of the manufacture of money but I think that all will acknowledge this to be the best way of making money if not the easiest.

For genuine wholesome conceit the wife of a raw congressman cannot be surpassed. Besides there is an element here which is rapidly becoming influential—the people who have winter homes at Washington, just as they have summer homes at Newport—people who know New York and Paris and London, and never heard of Kalamazoo and Fulton. These are coming to the front, giving beautiful dinners and pleasant parties, and don't care a fig for a representative from anywhere. If Washington develops during the next decade as it has during the last, it will be truly a capital. The putting down and shelving away of the purely political and official part of society, not ought of sight but simply in its proper place, is a re form that will reform.

SHOOTING STICK.

"He who is ready to buy up his enemies will never want a supply of them." It is cheaper to buy a friend in Kidney Wort who will drive the away those miserable enemies, a torpid liver, constipation, diabetes, diseased kidneys bowels. This remedy is now prepared in liquid as well as dry form.

OUR LOST EXPLORERS.

Messrs Alvord & Sleight of Syracuse, announce through their advertisement in another column the publication of an attractive book under the above title; being an account of the late Jeannette Arctic Expedition. Mr. Raymond L. Newcomb one of the returned surviving officers of the Expedition having had the revision of the work, it may be considered as a correct and valuable record of the most important Arctic Expedition that ever sailed from the U. S. No more exciting tale of the sea has ever been written than the account of this Arctic Expedition with its sad ending. Mr. Newcomb's Narrative of his travels and sojourn among the Natives, Exiles, and Russians of the Lena valley, and of his winter journey of 6,000 miles to St Petersburg, is both unique and fascinating, and introduces us to novel scene and interesting people of whom little is known.

J. Bailey & Son offer great bargains in Clothing. They propose to fill up their new store with fresh goods and if you want a grand bargain drop in and see them.

Weather Predictions for the Year 1883.

January will be mild with light falls of snow. February generally cold with [illegible]

[illegible] and E. D. [illegible] have been [illegible]

Richard F. Rice who has been in the dry goods business in Syracuse for about thirty years has sold his business to Dey Brothers & Co., of Elmira, who will take possession of the store to-day.

Thomas McKittrick, an old and respected citizen of Oswego, died Saturday aged 82. He had resided in that city since 1838, and was for many years an engineer on different lake propellers.

George W. Matthews, late Midland agent at Morrisville has left the country owing everybody he could borrow of. B. P. Todd of Morrisville and the bank at that place are the principal losers. His railroad accounts with the N. Y. O. & W. are square. He leaves a wife and one small child.

Joseph Woods lost his life in Oswego yesterday at the D. L. & W. trestle in the New Harbor. He was carrying a keg of nails across a plank on the top of the trestle when the staging gave way and the poor man was hurled to the ground, a distance of about twenty-five feet, striking on his head and fracturing the skull. He died Friday. He leaves a wife and five children.

Oswego Post—Hon. Charles North for many years has kept several valuable hounds, which he used during the winter months for running foxes. He has lent his dogs at various times to persons throughout the county, who have failed to return them until he has but one left out of twenty. The other day he let a gentleman in Oswego Town have a hound valued at $100, to run a fox and Tuesday received notice that some scamp had poisoned the dog.

Phœnix Register:—At the rendition of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," at Windsor opera House, Thursday evening, where the dissipated son of the hotel proprietor hits his father on the head with a bottle, the rubber imitation of a bottle had been mislaid, and one of genuine glass was employed. The blow was so hard as to resound throughout the hall, and besides knocking the old man down in reality, laying the head open to the bone. A physician was summoned who dressed the injury, bringing the sides of the wound together and retaining them in their place with plasters.

About two o'clock Monday morning a fire broke out in Mrs. Allen's millinery shop next to the Seneca hotel, Baldwinsville. Mrs. Allen's entire stock, including a box containing silver money, was consumed, together with the hotel and its contents, with the exception of a small quantity of furniture, which was taken out in a badly damaged condition. The hotel, an old structure three stories high, was owned and occupied by Samuel Wells. The loss on the building is about $4,000. It was insured for $2,500. The insurance on stock and furniture, which is nearly a total loss, is $1,600. Mrs. Allen's loss is about $2,000 on good and furniture, with an insurance of $800 on stock and $300 on furniture. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

CLAIRVOYANT PHYSICIAN.

Mrs. Susan C. King, healing and seeing clairvoyant will be at the residence of Albert Cole on East Utica street for a few days. Will heal the sick and peer into the future for all callers.

Fulton, Jan. 10. SUSAN C. KING.

"LINCOLN and GARFIELD."

GREAT LECTURE,

—ON—

"Our Martyr Presidents."

—AT THE—

OPERA HOUSE, FULTON,

Monday, Jan. 22d, 1883.

Hon. SCHUYLER COLFAX

Ex-Vice President and for many years Speaker of the House of Representatives —one of the most eloquent orators on the continent, will deliver his Famous Lecture on "OUR MARTYR PRESIDENTS—LINCOLN AND GARFIELD," in this village at the Opera House, Jan. 22d, 1883. The proceeds of the lecture will be devoted to the building of a

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT!

in this village. This will be the

GREATEST LECTURE

ever delivered in this part of the State, and every man, woman and child in Fulton and vicinity should listen to it.

Tickets to all parts of the house 50cts.

By Order Com. G. A. R.

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the taxable inhabitants of the town of Volney, Oswego county, N. Y., that I, the undersigned, collector of taxes in and for the said town, have received the warrant for the collection of taxes for the present year, and that I will attend at the

Brigg's Hotel, Seneca Hill, on Jan 16, '83

Drakes Corners Jan 25, and at the store of J. Bailey & Son, First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

[illegible]

[illegible]

FIRST CLASS CLOTHING.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street

Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

UNDERTAKING!

Mr. D. Hendrick is now prepared to do undertaking for the public. His store is one door south of Fay's dry goods store. Night bell on store door.

23tf

—IF YOU WANT THE—

BEST BRANDS OF CIGARS,

Cigarettes, Common and Fancy

SMOKING TOBACCO

SMOKING PLUG,
FINE CUT CHEWING,
PLUG CHEWING,
BLACK AND SCOTCH SNUFFS,

PIPES AND SMOKERS' ARTICLES,

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN'S,

The Old Established Tobacco Store,

NEXT DOOR TO CITIZENS' BANK.

Jobber and Retailer.

A PLEASANT ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

"Had sour stomach and miserable appetite for months and grew thin every day. I used Burdock Blood Bitters with the most marvelous results; feel splendid." Mrs Joseph Johnson, Pittsburgh, Pa.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON, N. H., Feb. 19, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now using the second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.

Yours truly,
F. C. CHURCHILL,
(Firm of Carter & Churchill.)

A gentleman who has been suffering from the Debility and Languor peculiar to this season, says: "HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA is putting new life right into me. I have gained ten pounds since I began to take it." Has taken two bottles.

Gained 10 Pounds

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA is sold by all druggists. Price $1 per bottle; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Lewis House Livery & Boarding Stable

I would announce to the people of Fulton and vicinity that I have taken possession of the Lewis House livery and shall keep it first class in every respect. I respectfully invite those in need of anything in my line to give me a call. Office and stable in rear of Lewis House.

50tf R. LEONARD.

[illegible]

[illegible] CAV[illegible], Proprietor,
[illegible] New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1888.

[illegible] read The Sun during the year [illegible] published on this [illegible] and read in any [illegible]

[illegible] that people buy, read, [illegible] reasons, among [illegible]

[illegible] column present in attractive [illegible] accuracy whatever [illegible] for mankind, the events, the [illegible] the wisdom, the philosophy, [illegible] the improving [illegible] of the busiest world at present [illegible]

[illegible] in its remarks [illegible] The Sun makes a [illegible] truth to the best [illegible] sixty-five days in [illegible] as well as after, about the [illegible] in the face of [illegible] absolutely no [illegible] of its readers [illegible] good.

[illegible] everybody's newspaper. No man is [illegible] The Sun is indifferent to his [illegible] powerful enough to be exempt [illegible] of its principles of right [illegible]

[illegible] in politics it has fought for a dozen years, [illegible] and some times almost alone [illegible] the fight that has resulted in [illegible] overwhelming popular verdict against [illegible] for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the [illegible] the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity [illegible] Another holds that it is the best [illegible] newspaper printed, because it has [illegible] half of the rascals out of that party [illegible] against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1888 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best [illegible] of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make The Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1888.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
[illegible] publications	10 00
[illegible]	7 00
[illegible] PEOPLE	1 50
[illegible] YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
[illegible] FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, [illegible]	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United [illegible]

The Volumes of the Magazine begin with the [illegible] and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current [illegible]

[illegible] Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in [illegible] will be sent by mail post-paid, [illegible]

[illegible]

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

[illegible] Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

[illegible] is condensed [illegible] and is arranged in handy [illegible]

[illegible] News

[illegible] from all quarters of [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

It is never sold in bulk [illegible]

POND'S EXTRACT	[illegible] $1.75
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	[illegible]	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	[illegible]	20
Ointment	50	[illegible]	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

[illegible] our New Pamphlet which accompanies each Bottle. [illegible]

POND'S EXTRACT CO., 14 West 14th St., New York.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

Is a Positive Cure

For all those Painful Complaints and Weaknesses so common to our best female population.

A Medicine for Women. Invented by a Woman. Prepared by a Woman.

The Greatest Medical Discovery Since the Dawn of History.

☞ It revives the drooping spirits, invigorates and harmonizes the organic functions, gives elasticity and firmness to the step, restores the natural lustre to the eye, and plants on the pale cheek of woman the fresh roses of life's spring and early summer time.

☞ Physicians Use It and Prescribe It Freely. ☜

It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach.

That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. For the cure of Kidney Complaints of either sex this Compound is unsurpassed.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, and give tone and strength to the system, of man woman or child. Insist on having it.

Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. Sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3ct. stamp. Send for pamphlet.

No family should be without LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS. They cure constipation, biliousness, and torpidity of the liver. 25 cents per box.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (1)

[illegible]

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1889.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been [illegible]

[illegible]

"[illegible] that it seemed to be please [illegible]

[illegible] I [illegible] and [illegible] with my back plumb against the wall and responded:

"What was the matter?"

"Well, you see, I had been in the saddle constantly for several weeks. I had only one pair of breeches, and no tailor in the regiment. An army saddle is very wearing. And—to be brief, I had the most obvious reasons for presenting only my front to the fair company that gave us that day the best dinner of the war."

False.

The traitor is used in war and then despised. London society never treated Benedict Arnold as a soldier and a gentleman. A Mexican officer, speaking of Col. Lopez, who betrayed Maximillian the Austrian, said, "People like him are made use of and then kicked out."

Lopez was Maximillian's bosom friend and counsellor. Maximillian was godfather to one of Lopez's children. Yet for ten thousand dollars this false friend opened at night the gate of Queretaro, where Maximillian was besieged, to the Republican army.

"And I decorated that man on that very night with the medal of valor," said Maximillian, with bitterness, on learning of Lopez's treachery.

Even those who used the traitor, as the quickest way of ending the war, did not conceal their contempt for him.

A Little Draft.

"My father," said Gilhooly, solemnly, "was more sensitive to colds than anybody I ever knew. The slightest exposure gave him a cold." "That must have been very disagreeable." "Indeed it was. He never could sit near a draft for a minute without catching cold. I remember on one occasion he was sitting in the office of a friend, when all at once my father began to sneeze. He insisted that there was a draft in the room. Every effort was made to discover where the draft was, but in vain. The doors and windows were closed and there was no fire-place, but my father kept on sneezing and insisting there must be a draft in the room, and so there was." "Where was it?" "In an envelope on the table, and it was only a little draft for three dollars and forty cents.—Texas Siftings.

The Boston Globe brings this item: Chas. S. Strickland, Esq., this city, was cured of rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil.

Interesting Facts About Hair.

Whether the hair should be cut I never could quite satisfy myself. As a physiological practice, I seriously doubt the propriety. Every cutting is a wounding, and there is some sort of bleeding in consequence, and waste of vital force. I think it will be found that long-lived persons most frequently wear the hair long.

The cutting of the hair stimulates to a new growth to supply the waste. Thus the energy required to maintain the vigor of the body is drawn off to make good the wanton destruction. It is said, I know, that after the hair has grown to a certain length it loses its vitality at the extremity, and splits or "brooms up." Whether this would be the case if the hair should never be cut I would like to know. When it is cut a fluid exudes, and forms a scab or cicatrix at each wounded extremity, indicating that there has been injury.

Women and priests have generally worn long hair. I never could imagine why this distinction was made. The ancient priest was very often unsexed or devoted to a vow of celibacy, but I cannot surmise whether that had anything to do with it. Kings wore their hair long in imitation of Samson, and the golden Sun-God Mithras. I suspect from this that the first men shorn were slaves and laborers; the freemen wore their hair unmutilated, as the crown of a perfect manhood and manliness. If this be correct, the [illegible] will be characterized by [illegible] as well as women [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

[illegible] old before [illegible]

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

[illegible]

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

IT IS [illegible]

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Don't Wait

Send two 2c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S
GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier

And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.

LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

[illegible] GREAT CURE [illegible]

RHEUMATISM

[illegible]

[illegible] the little old mother [illegible] German, [illegible] we [illegible] "O, the big man was so kind to her." The big man bustled out, we gave the rocking-chair to the little old mother, and presently the man came in with a baggageman, and to him he spoke English. He said: "This is my mother, and she does not speak English. She is going to Iowa, and I have got to go back on the next train, but I want you to attend to her baggage, and see her on the right car, the rear car, with a good seat near the center, and tell the conductor she's my mother. And here is a dollar for you, and I will do as much for your mother some time." The baggageman grasped the dollar with one hand and grasped the big man's hand with the other and looked at the little German with an expression that showed that he had a mother, too, and we almost know the old lady was well treated. Then we put the sleeping mind-reader on a bench and went out on the platform and got acquainted with the big German, and he talked of horse-trading, buying and selling and everything that showed he was a live business man, ready for any speculation, from buying a yearling colt to a crop of hops or barley, and that his life was a busy one and at times full of hard work, disappointment, hard roads; but with all of his hurry and excitement he was kind to his mother, and we loved him just a little, and when, after a few minutes' talk about business, he said: "You must excuse me; I must go in the depot and see if my mother wants anything," we felt like taking his fat red hand and kissing it. Oh! the love of the mother is the same in any language, and it is good in all languages.—Burlington Hawkeye.

LET US TELL YOU.

Let us tell you that a person who is bilious or constipated is not a well person, and further, that nearly every one is subject to these irregularities. Let us tell you also that Burdock Blood Bitters are one of the finest duretics ever yet devised.

A Maddened Barber.

A man with a long white robe hanging down in front of him, a towel around his neck and spouting lather, dashed out of a C street barber's shop yesterday morning. He was chasing the barber, and his countenance was inflamed with fury. He was too angry to interview, and the Chronicle reporter sought an explanation elsewhere. The man keeps a saloon and drinks a good deal. He likewise has a fondness for cheese and onions. Several days ago the barber, whose face had suddenly blanched, said to this patron, as he paused in his occupation of lathering him:

"Meeshtah, Vilkins, oof you don'd shtop talkin', I can'd shafe you?"

"Why not?" demanded Mr. Wilkins.

"Pecause you hef a breath vot vould a horse knock down."

There was silence after this, but yesterday Mr. Wilkins went again, notwithstanding, and as he lay back in the chair he chatted affably to the barber. That artist turned pale again, and his eyes began to glitter with a baleful light.

"Don'd I hef told you, Meeshtah Vilkins, dot I can't shtand dot breath?"

"Oh, go on, go on," said Mr. Wilkins goodhumoredly; "don't bother about my breath."

"Don'd shpeak den," growled the barber, who resumed the lathering.

"Say!" recommenced the recumbent saloonster.

"Vot?"

"Did you read that diff Postmaster Adkinson gave the Dutch the other day?"

"Don'd I told you to keep shtill?" cried the barber, reeling as the soggy breath hit him.

"Pretty tough on the Dutch," continued Mr. Wilkins. "Now, if I was a Dutchman, and anybody—"

"Dem id, take dot!" yelled the barber, jabbing his loaded lather-brush square into the open mouth of his customer and rushing from the shop.

When the chase referred to occurred, Wilkins, hampered by his heavy breath, was unable to catch the barber, who got away safely, and now goes heeled with a razor and nostril stopper.—Virginia City, Nev., Chronicle.

MOTHERS SHOULD KNOW IT.

Fretful babies cannot help disturbing everybody, and mothers should know how soothing Parker's Ginger Tonic is. It stops babies pains, make them healthy, relieves their own anxiety and is safe to use.—Journal. 35w4

To Save Burial Expenses.

One day in the latter part of October a sea captain called at a boarding house for sailors in Oregon to ship any new hands whom he could find. The boarding house master said that there was a sailor named Anderson up-stairs who wished to ship, adding carelessly that as the fellow was drunk he would send him aboard the ship tied up in his bunk. When Anderson was lifted into the forecastle none of the ship's crew saw him. The next morning when the ship was clear of the Columbia River bar, the captain sent for Anderson, saying that the man must have slept off his stupor. Anderson was dead, and clearly had been dead for more than a day. The body was sewed up in canvas and given to the fishes. During the investigation the boarding house master admitted that the man was dead when [illegible] that his trick was [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] be sure that [illegible] do [illegible] received; [illegible] that the word with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper with white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

SAFE

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

Britain's Wealth.

In a single generation Great Britain has risen in the scale of national wealth and greatness as much as in the interval of 150 years from the fall of the Stuarts to the date of her majesty's accession. Commerce has quintupled since 1840, the ratio per inhabitant being now £17, which is three times the present ratio for the United States and double that of France. In shipping the increase is no less remarkable, our flag representing 2 per cent. of the carrying trade of the seas, while the mercantile navies of the United States, France, and Italy are on the decline. Manufactures continue to form our chief industry, and herein it is easy to mark the progress of forty years:

	1840.	1880.
Staton'y engines, horse power	600,000	2,200,000
Produc. of pig-iron, tons	1,396,400	8,326,003
Produc. of coal, tons	35,000,000	147,000,000
Consumption of cotton, pounds	437,000,000	1,404,000,000
Consump. of wool, p'nds	121,000,000	401,000,000
Value of cotton manufactures	26,000,000	95,000,000
Produc. of linen, yards	186,000,000	429,000,000

Comparing the above figures with population, we find that in 1810 each inhabitant stood for 1 cwt. of iron and 1¼ tons of coal, and in 1880 for 5 cwt. of the former and 4½ tons of the latter, in cotton goods there is a similar increase, the output from our mills averaging nearly $3 per inhabitant, or three times the ratio for 1840. As for linen, there is a popular delusion that the production has fallen since the abolition of the "bounties," whereas it has, on the contrary become threefold greater. On the whole, our manufactures have increased in about equal ratio with the output of coal—that is, they have quadrupled, while our population has risen but 33 per cent.

So striking a development of industry has brought with it an enormous increase of national wealth, the estimates for 1880 showing an average of £249 per inhabitant, against £158 at the beginning of the present reign. The increase appears chiefly in seven items, viz.:

	Million pounds.	Million pounds.	Million pounds.
Railways	26	729	703
Houses	771	2,142	1,371
Capital abroad	180	1,260	1,080
Shipping	22	123	101
Bullion	56	115	59
Furniture	310	850	540
Merchandise	100	360	260
Totals	1,465	5,579	4,114

Nor has this newly-created wealth gone to enrich a few, but rather to multiply the numbers of those who are above the reach of want. We find, in effect, from the probate return that the proportion of persons leaving property to the total number of deaths was as one in sixteen in 1877, compared with one in thirty in the year of 1840.

In the meantime the national debt has been reduced £10,000,000 (from £788,000,000 in 1837 to £769,000,000 in 1881) a reduction that has no wise done any service to the country. As if to rebuke the wisdom of those financiers who would ask us to pay taxes merely to reduce the debt, the course of events has come gradually to lighten the debt by one third, or rather by one-half, thanks to the increase of population and wealth. In 1840 the debt averaged £32 per inhabitant, and amounted to 19¼ per cent. of national wealth; in 1880 the average cost was only £22 per head, and the amount less than 9 per cent. (say 8.8) of the public wealth.—St. Jame's Gazette.

Corn Canning.

Over sixty corn canneries in the State of Maine annually put up 12,000,000 cans. An exchange has made an estimate of the cost at which corn is so prepared for the market. The farmer is said to receive 3 cents for the corn contained in the can, the tin and solder cost 3 cents, and the remainder, four or five cents, goes to the manufacturer for putting up and marketing. The cans contain twenty-six ounces of corn, so that farmers raise from 1,000 to 3,000 cans per acre, the average being about 1,500, giving a cash value of $45. There are several factories in Massachusetts, but Maine is said to put up one-third of the corn canned in the country.

HEARTILY RECOMMENDED.

Don't condemn a good thing because you have been deceived by worthless nostrums. Parker's Ginger Tonic has cured many in this section of nervous disorders, and we recommend it heartily to such sufferers.—News. 35w4

A San Francisco [illegible]

[illegible] of Lackawanna Coal [illegible]
Select the [illegible] goods.
POOLER & WILSON.

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp't'y Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAM

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Foucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 35tf

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c. [illegible]

[illegible]
Dated, Jan'y 30 1888.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

[illegible] Oswego county [illegible] Volney [illegible] the 10th day of July 1888 [illegible]

Dated, Jan. 15, 1888. [illegible]

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF [illegible] Minnie Ovey vs. Peter Ovey [illegible] action for a divorce. [illegible] named defendant; You are hereby [illegible] answer the complaint in this action, [illegible] copy of your answer on the plaintiff [illegible] within twenty days after the service [illegible] exclusive of the day of service [illegible] of your failure to appear or answer [illegible] will be taken against you by default [illegible] demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of [illegible]

Dated this 10th day of December [illegible]

Howe & Rice, [illegible]

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, [illegible]

To the defendant Peter Ovey: The [illegible] summons is served upon you by [illegible] pursuant to an order of Hon. [illegible] Oswego county Judge, dated December [illegible] and filed with the complaint in the [illegible] clerk of the county of Oswego, at the [illegible] wego N. Y.

31w6 Howe & Rice, [illegible]

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY,

New York Safety Fund,

New York. Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York. Assets, over $4,000,000.

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,032,385.19

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.

NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS'

FIRE AND MARINE

INSURANCE COMPANY

Of Boston, Mass.

Assets, $1,271,[illegible]

C. H. DAVID, Agent

40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER

The following Old and Reli[illegible]
Companies Represented.

ÆTNA	of	HART[illegible]
PHŒNIX	"	[illegible]
CONNECTICUT	"	[illegible]
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

FALLEY SEMINARY.

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.

Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition [illegible]
Board and Tuition (short week) [illegible]
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday [illegible] 4th. The branches taught will be those [illegible] taught in a first class boarding school. The [illegible] be a corps of well qualified teachers [illegible] the best instruction. Common and Higher [illegible] Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German [illegible] will form part of the course. Five day [illegible] special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those [illegible] make rapid progress in their classes. [illegible] classes are small, so that each pupil may [illegible] vidual attention. No student is [illegible] on another but passes from one class [illegible] as soon as qualified. Small schools [illegible] character, and a great advantage [illegible] want pupils. The charges are low [illegible] are offered. Boarders [illegible] of the Principal at moderate charges. [illegible]

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

NOVELTY [illegible]

Custom [illegible]

[illegible] & CO.
[illegible] Cents a Year in [illegible] for postage [illegible] county.
[illegible] Entered at the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as [illegible]

LOVE FOR A DAY.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A DEAD HEART," "TWO KISSES," "THE FATAL LILIES," ETC.

CHAPTER I.

Everywhere at Gracedieu was the scent of lilacs. In no other place did they grow in such luxuriant profusion. People came to see the lilacs at Gracedieu as they go to look at the beeches at Burnham and the chestnuts at Hampton Court. They were the great attraction for many weeks, and all the country round was sweet with their [illegible]. In well-laid-out grounds, in cottage-gardens, in the long green lanes, every corner of the pretty streets, in every nook where there was room for a tree to grow, on the path by the river, [illegible] the road to the woods, in the meadows and orchards where they had [illegible] to be, by the brookside, nodding over the iron railings of the old churchyard, were the beautiful tall [illegible] lilacs. It would be difficult to say whether they were sweeter in the morning, in the sunlight, wet with dew, or stirred by the wind; from the time they began to bud until the last leaf [illegible] from the trees, they made Gracedieu a garden of Eden, a land of [illegible]. The children called them "The Prince of Wales's feathers." The older folk dated from them; they would say, "Before the lilacs were out," "When the lilacs were in bloom," or, "After the lilacs had faded." The days they were in flower was a time of pleasure to all.

This pretty town of Gracedieu, where I lived my happy young life, is in the [illegible] part of Devonshire—where the land is green and fertile, although it borders on the sea—where the green lanes are like gardens, and the hedgerows full of bloom. My father, the Reverend John Chester, was Rector of Gracedieu for more than forty years. The church, an old Norman building, was very dear to him. He did not marry until late in life, and I was his only child. I remember but little of him. His name was held in great honor by the townspeople. My dear mother, whom I lost [illegible] eighteen years old, was a quiet, gentle, unobtrusive woman; she had a small life annuity. My father had not been able to leave her anything; he had insured his life for a trifling sum, which was invested for my benefit, and which brought me in a modest income of twenty pounds per annum.

In those days the gold of the laburnum and the buttercup was more to me than the glitter of coin. My mother and I thought but little of money. Our expenditure was quite within our income—the true secret of content. I remember no sordid cares, no "bills," no [illegible] as quarter-day came round; I remember no undue extravagance.

We had many friends and acquaintances in the town. In the summer afternoons it was a pleasant walk to our house; and, though we could not afford to entertain grandly, as some of our wealthy neighbors did, tea in our pretty gardens, with home-made cakes and ripe fruit, was pleasant enough. My mother was a lover of nature and she taught me all she knew. I was acquainted with the name of every bird; I knew their haunts and their habits. I was familiar with the trees and the various grasses, the wild-flowers, the reeds by the river, the cresses in the brook; every secret of the sweet country-side was known to and loved by me. Looking back, I see a simple-hearted [illegible] child, whose life was a poem.

As the opening of a tragedy is almost [illegible] quiet, so my life, that was to [illegible] a tragedy, began calmly, like the opening bars of some sweet musical [illegible]. From my infancy until I was [illegible] I had passed a peaceful, calm, [illegible]ful existence.

My mother, when her husband died, went to live at a pretty little villa outside Gracedieu, and built just on the [illegible] of the Gracedieu woods. When [illegible] child, I used to lie for long hours [illegible] to the wind amongst the trees [illegible] and while I live no music [illegible] so grand or so sweet to me as [illegible] then made.

[illegible] were well filled. I remember [illegible] hours. Those which I [illegible] the woods and by the river [illegible] to me. I was storing my [illegible] with pictures that lasted [illegible] years when with my [illegible] no longer. It [illegible] my seventeenth birthday, and [illegible] of May, that a [illegible] to me. On that [illegible] of the happiest [illegible] that ever drew [illegible] or thought save [illegible]. With a [illegible] the dew on the [illegible]

[illegible] father upon behalf of Mrs. and Miss Chester."

"I am much obliged to you," I said. "It is my birthday, and I had set my heart on that particular spray of lilac. How beautiful it is!"

"They are my favorite flowers," he said.

"How strange! I prefer them to any others," I remarked, glancing up at him.

"I wish you many happy returns of the day," he said, smiling; "and I hope every wish of yours to-day may be gratified as easily as this has been"—touching the branch of lilac as he spoke.

And so, by that one incident, my fate was sealed on the bright May morning when Mark Upton passed our house on his way to the woods.

It was not a very great surprise to me when, three days afterwards, on returning from my favorite haunt by the river, I found Mr. Upton talking to my mother. His dark face flushed when he saw me, and he rose from his chair.

"Miss Chester," he said, "I have taken the liberty of bringing you these,"—and he held out a mass of beautiful flowers, chiefly white lilacs of a rare kind with very sweet perfume. "I was at Oakton Hall this morning," he continued, "and I thought of you as I rode through the park. The lilacs are in full bloom; these white ones are the finest I have ever seen. I could not resist bringing them to you. The park [illegible] beautiful now. Not only are the lilacs out, but the laburnums are also, and the hawthorn-trees are magnificent. You would enjoy seeing them."

I said something about the Gracedieu woods—I never remembered w[illegible]. He came nearer to me, and held out white lilacs that I might inhale t[illegible] fragrance. How can I describe the vague feeling of happiness, of new-born delight, of pleasure that was almost pain when he approached? I remember how we were half afraid to look at each other; then one, stealing a glance, would meet the other's eyes, and dire confusion would result. I remember that while we both examined the lilacs our hands met—and that first touch of his hand was a new revelation to me. Presently the figure of my gentle, silent mother, who was knitting busily at the window, disappeared, and we were alone—two young, loving, passionate hearts alone with the glamor of first love over us.

I had thought of nothing but the dark handsome face since I had seen it first under the lilac-boughs. I dreamed of it; wherever I looked, there it was. I could see it in the flowers, in the shadowy river, in the blue of the sky, in the gold of the sunlight; glance where I would, it was there—always there.

I was a romantic girl, full of poetry and dreams. He was the first handsome young man I had seen, and fate had brought us together. When I awoke to the reality of the present, my mother was saying—

"Nellie, show Mr. Upton our trees. I think they are the finest in Gracedieu."

Presently we were standing in the glory of the golden sunshine, but I did not see it. I did not see the ripple of the foliage, the dark woods, the lilac-trees, or the garden. I saw nothing but the face that was more beautiful to me than all the world beside.

There was a shady arbor under the great lilacs, and we were sitting there. Mr. Upton was telling me of his life, his position, and his future.

"I shall always thank Heaven," he said, "that I made my way to Gracedieu woods on the tenth of May."

I dared not ask why. I knew.

"What small events rule our lives!" he went on. "If I had been one hour later or sooner, I should not have seen you, and then——" He stopped.

"And then?" I interrogated.

"There could be no 'then,'" he said, hastily. "The world would be quite different if I had never seen you. I shall love May; I shall love the lilacs as long as I live."

The weight of happiness seemed almost more than I could bear. It seemed to me as if the birds singing around us had guessed our secret.

It was evening when I recovered my composure. I was sitting with some work in my hand. My mother began to talk about Mark Upton, and I grew alarmed—alarmed at the tumult of happiness in my heart, wondering what that same gentle mother would say if she knew that all the world was changed for me.

Mark was at the cottage again the next morning, with the excuse of a message from his father. I see him now as I saw him then, with the May sunlight all about him, a smile lighting up his dark, handsome face, standing near the lilac-bushes, crying out in his cheery voice, "May I come in and see how you are this morning, Mrs. Chester?"

On that same afternoon I went for my usual stroll through the woods and down by the river. My heart and thoughts were full of him. It was hardly a surprise when I saw him crossing the little rustic bridge that spanned the river Way to join me. I was sitting in a nest of violets and forget-me-nots that grew down to the edge of the water.

Ah, me, it all comes back to me—the song of the birds, the sound of the wind in the great trees, the odor of the lilacs, and my lover's dark, handsome face bending over me, his warm, strong hand clasping mine! It would have been well, I sometimes think, had I died then and there with that full sunlight of happiness upon me. For, when I realized what was passing, when above the music of the birds and the wind and the rush of the river, I heard every word, Mark Upton was telling me that he loved me, and asking me to be his wife [illegible] was only a child. Oh, happy [illegible] the lilac-bloom, which [illegible] a lover so good and so true [illegible]

[illegible] laughing. [illegible] twenty. [illegible]

Then he [illegible] to me, taking [illegible] and [illegible] me as he said—

"I love you, Nellie; and while I live I shall love no other woman! If you will be my wife I will live and die for you; if you will not, I will call no other woman wife."

The [illegible] river and the singing birds seemed to repeat the words. I was dazed with happiness as I sat with my head on my lover's breast, wondering why such perfect bliss should be mine, content with knowing that I belonged to him, that my life and my love were his, that in the future we should always be together, glad to know that the dark, handsome face would never smile on another woman, glad to think that no other woman's hand would caress the clusters of dark hair, no other woman's lips kiss the face that was mine, all mine.

Oh, foolish, trusting, loving heart! I did not remember that in the depths of the dark, strong river lay shifting sands, that the wind never told the same story twice. To me my lover's dark eyes were true and tender as the stars. I forgot that the stars are not all fixed. I was very young, very loving, full of faith, but not very wise.

So, while the May sunshine shone around us, he kissed me and claimed me for his wife; and we walked back to the cottage as the "Sleeping Beauty" and the "Fairy Prince" walked, from the old world to a new.

CHAPTER II.

The old proverb states that the course of true love never runs smooth. Ours ran smoothly enough. The Doctor laughed when Mark told him of our engagement. My mother was delighted; she had liked Mark from the first. The one great drawback was that he was compelled to go to India for four years. He was a civil engineer by profession, and a lucrative appointment had been offered to him on a railway which was being extended. The advantages that would accrue to him were great. He would gain immensely in experience and knowledge and he would make money. The Doctor considered his son most fortunate. My mother agreed with him, but added that it would be sad for us to part. The Doctor replied that nothing better could have happened for us. We were too young to marry—too young, in his opinion, to know our own minds; and we could have no better test than four years' absence and trial of constancy.

But during the first few happy weeks we did not think much of the parting. It was a dark cloud ahead of us, a cloud that had a silver lining; for when the four years were ended Mark was to return home and we were to be married. I should, he promised me, always have a home in the country. He would never ask me to live in the town. It was in the month of May that we met, and in July we parted; but during the interval we spent the greater part of the time together. Other summer days have dawned for me, but none like those on which my young lover came early in the morning, while the dew sparkled on the grass, when we walked through the woods and down by the river, noting with loving eyes all that was so fair and beautiful around us, returning from our long rambles, our hands filled with wild flowers, to find my mother waiting breakfast for us, the table set out on the lawn. Then Mark would linger and pass the morning with me. He came back in the afternoon, and stayed with us until the moon rose.

How I loved him! Then I saw only the beauty of a great passion; now I see its pain and its pathos; now I know that the mighty power of love has not been given us to be centred in any creature. Then I had one idol, and, alas, I worshipped it! I had no life apart from my young lover's. I had no life, no love, no care, no thought apart from him. I read the love stories of others, written in poetry and prose; but no love was like mine. Surely wise people, while they laughed, would have wept over it! If he had asked for my life, I should have given it to him, as I had given my love, freely and with a smile. I felt something like pity for those he did not love; I felt that every girl living must envy me.

Mark Upton cared for me quite as much as I loved him. We spent those few weeks in a land into which no care, no sorrow came—the fairyland of love and hope. Every hour brought us closer together, bound us by newer and sweeter ties, while the summer flowers bloomed, the corn grew up in the fields, and the lilacs withered. I do not know what comes into other lives, but I hope that Heaven gives such a glimpse of happiness as mine to all.

On one occasion I heard the Doctor laughing as he talked to my mother. He asked her if she knew that in some parts of England the beautiful fragrant shrub known as southernwood was called "lad's love." My mother replied that she had never heard it so called, and asked why it was named "lad's love." I [illegible] curiously for the answer. "Because," he said, "it dies in a year, as lad's love often does." He looked at me as he spoke, but I know he was thinking of [illegible]

[illegible] your faith, to [illegible] your trust, [illegible] to warn you. Love with caution."

"There need be no caution where Mark is concerned, mother," I replied.

"I am old," she continued. "I have seen a great deal of life. I do not say—Heaven forbid—that all men are false, or all women; I do not say that one sex is more false than the other; but I have seen love betrayed, trust misplaced. I have known the bravest heart of a man broken because a woman deserted him; and I have known a [illegible] girl die because her lover left her."

I raised my face to the stars shining in their calm, eternal beauty. Strong in my youth, ignorance and faith, I said lightly—

"Nothing of that kind can ever happen between Mark and me."

"Some loves," said my mother, "last for ever, some for a day; and oh, my dear Nellie, it seems to me that this last is, in these prosaic times, the commonest form of love."

"Love for a day!" I echoed. "Ah, thank Heaven, that is not Mark's love."

My mother looked at me anxiously; I wonder how many mothers have given to their daughters just the same sensible advice, and just as much in vain?

"Do you quite understand, Nellie?" asked my gentle, loving mother, "what I mean, what I want you to do? Mark is to be absent four years. I do not say that his love will change or grow less; but I beg of you to leave yourself one chance. Do not give him such entire love that, if he should die or forget you, or any circumstance should part you, your whole life would be ruined. Love with caution, Nellie."

"There is no need for caution with Mark!" cried my happy heart. To Mark, my handsome lover, I might give in superabundance the lavish love that filled my heart; and the words of my mother's warning fell on heedless ears.

I can remember a warm day in June, when Mark and I sought the shade of the tall trees that grew by the river. A refreshing breeze came over the water, and the birds were silent in the great heat. We were talking of our marriage, of that bright future which, like the June sunshine, had no shadow. Suddenly Mark asked me—

"Have you any relatives, Nellie? You and your mother seem to be quite alone in the world."

I told him that my father was an only child, my mother also, and that I was the same. The only relatives I had ever heard of were some distant ones in America; but I had none in England.

"It must have been lonely for you, my darling, before I came," he said.

I told him how my home-duties, and my love of nature, of flowers, trees, and birds, had filled my life. I had lived then in the gray of the twilight; I lived now in the light of the glorious sun.

"How little I dreamed that morning, that fair May morning, that I was to meet my fate," said Mark. "Nellie, I shall never forget how your hair gleamed in the sunshine."

I looked at him with happy eyes; his praise was sweet to me.

"We were talking about relatives, Mark," I said. "Have you many?"

"Ours is a very peculiar family," he said, laughing. "We have some relatives on my mother's side who are very poor; they live in London. On my father's side we have some distant relatives who are very rich; but we do not correspond with either. These rich people have a title too; but I shall never trouble them. If ever I have a title, it shall be through winning it, if ever I have a fortune, I shall have made it, Nellie."

My noble Mark! My whole heart bowed down before him; he was so brave, so gallant, so independent, as all true men are.

I never recalled that conversation, those few words, until I knew who Mark Upton's relatives were.

CHAPTER III.

When the corn was cut down, and the ripe fruit gathered in from the orchards; when the "free and happy barley" lay under the scythe, Mark had gone.

When the hour of parting came, I believe Mark would have given up the appointment, with all its advantages, rather than leave me. Twenty times he kissed me with despairing passion and love, left me, and returned. He could not leave me; I could not let him go. My mother said that it was useless to prolong the agony of parting.

Mark looked at her with a white, set face.

"I cannot go," he said, hoarsely.

He had to leave Gracedieu by the last train that evening, and sail from Southampton on the morrow. He had spent the whole of the previous day with us, and he was at the cottage early on this the morning of his last day. Outside the very glory of summer lay over the land. We stood watching the golden sunshine, with the chill of our parting upon us, a chill more bitter than the chill of death. Mark had loosened my hair, and had cut off a long, shining tress.

"That shall lie next my heart, Nell, even when I am dead," he said. "Promise me that no hand but mine shall touch these golden curls [illegible] while I am away. You are [illegible], Nell, though you do not seem to know anything about it, and men will admire you; but you must not listen to them. You are mine, all mine—only mine!"

I told him truthfully that all other men were to me like shadows. [illegible]

[illegible] Then clouds began to gather. Doctor Upton, who, although he had smiled at us as young lovers, had always been very kind to me, died suddenly. He fell down in the street, and was carried home senseless. He never spoke again. He died the same evening, to the grief and distress of every one who knew him. A chill of fear crept into my heart; I could not tell why, but his father's death seemed to take me farther from Mark. The lawyers managed everything. The Doctor's practice was sold, also his house, and furniture; and the sum of money realized was sent to Mark in far-off India. The good Doctor was buried at Gracedieu, a new practitioner came, and the world about us went on as of old; but whenever I passed the empty house a great pain seized me.

Mark felt his father's death keenly. He wrote to me more lovingly than ever. He said that I was all that he had in the world now, and that he must, if he could, love me even more.

It was in May that the Doctor died, and for one year afterward everything went on as of old. I had but two years more to wait. Time passed more quickly. Only two years! My mother had ceased to warn me. She said no more to me about caution in love.

Three years had passed. I reminded myself every hour in the day that I had but one more year to wait. Mark's letters were full of love, full of eagerness and hope. He had been prosperous beyond expectation. He had never missed writing to me, until a day came when the Indian mail brought me nothing from him—not one word, not one line. It was the first time such a thing had occurred, and my mother tried to comfort me. The next mail brought me a letter, but the one after that did not, and my confidence was gone—I no longer felt sure that by every mail I should have news from my lover. Like the sharp thrust of a sword, an idea came to me one day, that the letters were shorter and colder. I hated myself for my miserable fancy. How dared I think such treason of my lover Mark? Then in the month of October my mother died, and after that the Indian mail brought me no more news of Mark—not a single line.

My mother never knew that a great cloud had overshadowed me. She did not know that my heart was breaking because I had no news from Mark.

Let me tell it quickly. My dear mother was buried, and I was alone in the world, save for my lover, so far away—alone, save for him; and, when July of the next year should come, the four years would be ended and he would return.

I thought deeply over my plans. It seemed useless now to leave the cottage; it was best for me to remain there until Mark came home again. Our old and faithful servant, Dorothy Clarke, was sufficient protection for me. I had money enough for one year, and I had my little income of twenty pounds per annum also. I had thought once of going away; but whither should I go—what could I do? And I must be here when Mark returned.

When Christmas came, I was still waiting, in dry-eyed, mute anguish, for the letter that I was never to receive. I wondered often that the golden hair of which my lover had been so proud had not turned gray. I was helpless in my great grief. I wrote to Mark. I told him that my mother was dead, and that I was alone in the cottage, waiting for him—that neither his silence nor his absence shook my faith. He might be ill; an accident might have happened to him—anything, everything would I believe, except that he had forgotten me. I never thought of that; it never occurred to me as a solution of the mystery of his silence. There was no one to whom I could appeal for news of Mark. His father was dead; the Rector of Gracedieu had not heard from him for many months; the lawyers who had forwarded the money realized by the sale of his father's property had not received any communication from him since he had sent the formal receipt for it. There was no one in Gracedieu who knew his present address. Mark had not seen much of Gracedieu. When the Doctor had bought his practice there, Mark was at school. He had made few acquaintances, and none of these had kept up a correspondence with him since he had left for India.

There was nothing to be done but to wait in patience as best I could. Every morning hope revived in my heart; every evening it died. Every morning I rose, praying wildly to Heaven that I might hear from Mark that day; every night I lay down to sleep with bitter tears because a letter had not come. Every morning, week after week, month after month, I went to the gate to meet the postman. He never had anything for me. He knew I wanted an Indian letter, and he would look at me with a pitiful shake of the head, and pass on. But one morning, when the snow lay [illegible]

[illegible] I should know that he was dead. So, in desolation and anguish of heart, I counted the days. I dreaded at times to look in the mirror; I was so afraid my hair had grown gray. The color had left my face, the light had died from my eyes; but July was coming.

Ah, me, can I ever forget the slow torture of that month? Every day I went to the group of trees where we had parted, to wait as I had promised. One by one the sultry days went by, and then I felt sure that he was dead. He would have come to me had he been living. My handsome, brave, true young lover was dead.

I could only pray to Heaven with weeping eyes that I might die too. During those long months of suspense I had lived through the suffering of a lifetime.

When the month of August came, I saw that part of my life was ended. I put on mourning for my lover. The sun of my life had set; I would mourn for Mark as wives sorrow for a beloved husband. I never thought of another lover, or of future comfort, or hope, or happiness. Wherever he lay dead, there my heart was buried with him. The realities of life came upon me, and I believe, saved me from going mad. I sold all my furniture and books, every thing I possessed; I gave liberally to Dorothy, and bade farewell to my old home. I was twenty-one when I went to London to seek my fortune. The first post I obtained was that of teacher of English in a boarding-school in France. I did not like it, and through the influence of one of the elder pupils I obtained an engagement in England—not as governess this time, but as companion to Lady Yorke, who lived at a grand old place called Westwood, in Kent. I was glad enough to return to England. Before going to Westwood, I went to Gracedieu, with perhaps a forlorn hope that I might hear some news of Mark—of how he had died.

I went the old round—from the Rector to the lawyer, and from him to Mark's acquaintances. No one had heard one word. He was dead—Mark, my darling!—dead, and I was alone. There was but one thing before me—to live my life and pray that I might join him in Heaven.

The phase of feeling that came to me was a strange one. There were times when it seemed to me as if I hardly lived in this world. I could see very often that people looked at me as though they did not quite understand me. How could they, when my heart and my senses were always with Mark in another world?

It was whispered from one to another that my lover was dead; and then to those who cared most for me there came a gleam of pity for one who had no earthly ties.

It was in the month of July that I went to Westwood. Lady Yorke was very candid with me. She told me that the one complaint she suffered from was ennui. She was lonely; she wanted amusement; she needed a cheerful companion. She should require me to spend the greater part of my time with her. I must read to her, answer her letters, send out her invitations. She would expect me to spend my evenings in the drawing-room, to sing when needed, take a hand at whist. She wrote most unreservedly to me. The life would be tedious, she owned; but then I should have a large salary and a comfortable home. It mattered little to me how I passed the remaining years of my life; as well might it be with Lady Yorke as with any one else. If the lady were ill, were really an invalid, I could perhaps help to cheer her.

On the second of July—I shall never forget the date—I found myself at the pretty station of Woodheaton, the nearest town to Westwood. A luxurious carriage awaited me, and I enjoyed the drive. Every one knows how the sea washes the fair Kentish coast. Even amidst the odor of the flowers, the scent of the rich clover meadows, and the fragrance of the rose-covered hedges, I distinguished the sea-breeze. The park was a beautiful undulating expanse, full of fine old trees of every variety of form, and carpeted with wild flowers. The house was a grand old mansion that had been built in the reign of Queen Elizabeth. The sunlight fell on the great gables and the large windows. My courage almost failed me when I saw what a magnificent home mine was to be. I felt some little curiosity as to what Lady Yorke was like. I pictured her an invalid—pale, delicate, quiet. Before long I was in her presence, and I perceived my mistake. I saw at once that her chief malady was due to having had all she wanted all her life. She had never known trouble or care. She was a slender woman, with dark blue eyes and dark hair. An expression of languid discontent marred the beauty of her face. There was a line across her white brow that betokened temper, and something in the expression of her lips told the same story. The room was beautifully decorated and furnished. The lady herself was lying on a couch, doing nothing, neither reading nor working. She looked up with a glance of relief as I entered.

"Miss Chester," she exclaimed, with something of surprise, "I am glad to see you! I was just feeling as though I did not know what to do with myself. Pray sit down."

Lady Yorke did not look like a person who was [illegible]. I took a seat as requested.

[illegible]

[To be continued.]

A POSTAL CARD

From Mrs. Dennis Smith, Louisville, Ky., says: "For blood [illegible] Use all the time."

[illegible] REMEDY.

RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE

for all diseases of the Kidneys and

—LIVER—

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. [illegible]

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6.
GEO. J. EMENY,
H. H. GRIDLEY.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. C. [illegible] & Co., Dealers in Wagons, [illegible] and all kinds of Agricultural Implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MERRILL BROS., Fine Job Printers, First Street, over [illegible] Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. [illegible], Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. [illegible] 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 8:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

BERZEE'S GROCRY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fult or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

SCHENCK & FOSTER.

TO-DAY Y.U WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter [illegible] for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is [illegible] dimensions, and all that is desirable in [illegible]

[illegible] the opinion of [illegible] people to-day.

[illegible], as an example [illegible] argument is [illegible] something [illegible] by a kind of [illegible] known as revival preaching, [illegible] of intemperate language and [illegible] congregation, has a tendency to rouse and so produce a spiritual temper resembling scene.

[illegible] southern blacks, in the decade between the last censuses, increased [illegible] per cent., while the southern whites in the same time increased but [illegible] per cent. Future prosperity promises to give them even a greater advantage. It is estimated that, by the end of another century, the blacks will outnumber the whites two to one.

FRIDAY morning the steamer Cimbria of the Hamburg American line bound for New York from Hamburg collided with the British steamer Sultan in a dense fog in the German ocean. The Cimbria had on board 350 steerage passengers, 50 cabin passengers, and carried a crew numbering 110. Latest accounts say only about 65 souls were saved.

CINCINNATI has 204 churches, or one to 1,[illegible] inhabitants; Philadelphia 596, one to 1,427; Boston 216, one to 1,778; Chicago 266, one to 1,973; Brooklyn 285, one to 1,966; San Francisco 95, one to 2,462; New York 489, one to 2,468; New Orleans 55, one to 4,938. It will be seen that Cincinnati, and not Brooklyn, is entitled to be known as the "City of Churches."

U. S. SENATOR GARLAND of Arkansas (Dem.) was re-elected on Tuesday. Frye (Rep.) was re-elected from Maine. Cullom (Rep.) is elected to succeed Davis (Ind.) from Illinois. Ransom (Dem.) is returned from North Carolina. Kenna (Dem.) succeeds Davis (Dem.) from West Virginia. Saulsbury (Dem.) is returned from Delaware. Harris (Dem.) from Tennessee and Hoar (Rep.) from Massachusetts.

EX-VICE PRESIDENT COLFAX in a recent interview with a newspaper correspondent, said:—"There are three men I know of who would receive the support of the whole Republican party for the Presidency—Ben Harrison, of Indiana, who, you know, was recently endorsed by Mr. Blaine; Mr. Lincoln, of Illinois, and Mr. Windom, of Minnesota. There are others, but any one of these could get the nomination, and, I believe, be elected.

A TERRIBLE story of misery and despair comes from Ireland. The inhabitants of the North of the Green Isle are said to be in a pitiable condition and many people are actually suffering for the necessaries of life. In the southern part the famine, though not so extensive, is equally painful. On the north and west coasts, where the soil is either mostly composed of rocks or mud, special destitution prevails at present owing to the complete destruction of grain crops last September. The unsettled condition of the people of Ireland resulting from the land agitation aggravates the terrible suffering.

PHILADELPHIA has a co-operative store with a present capital of $56,650 and real estate worth $90,000. It pays an annual dividend to its shareholders of six per cent. and returns quarterly to customers from four to nine per cent. on their purchases. The manager says that the whole secret of success in co-operation is to start on a small scale and extend the business slowly. It was begun eight years ago by several men who worked in a factory, and thought it would be a good idea to cheapen provisions by buying in lots and then dividing. They formed a little society, and kept their stock in a room of a member's residence. Next they hired a small store, and from that the business has grown to annual sales aggregating $[illegible].

[illegible] many of the public schools throughout the country there is a disposition to [illegible] what is termed "higher education" [illegible] time in teaching the classics and polite literature. It is [illegible] impracticable. After [illegible] the [illegible] school children [illegible] studies will [illegible] should be thoroughly [illegible] before anything [illegible] "education" is attempted. [illegible]

[illegible] of $2,000 [illegible]

—Milwaukee came very near having another holocaust Tuesday night. During a performance in the opera house a calcium light machine exploded injuring stage hands, four having since died. The audience were nervous from the Newhall house disaster, and a panic ensued which was fortunately quieted without injury to any one. The audience was dismissed.

—The employees of E. H. Arnold & Co., Cohoes, have attached the knitting mill of the firm in order to secure the payment of their wages. Arnold's whereabouts are unknown, and no member of the firm is in the city. The firm employed about 175 hands, and turned out about 65 dozen shirts and drawers a day, besides a large quantity of cotton yarn. The amount due the employees is about $2500.

—Thursday night Harvey Layton a retired farmer aged 65, of Richfield Springs, N. Y., killed his wife aged 40 and mother-in-law aged 70, and then hung himself. The bodies were discovered Friday afternoon by Layton's son-in-law. The women had their heads crushed in. They were regularly laid out on the floor, with their hands crossed and feet tied. Layton was found hanging in the cellar. He was deranged.

—John V. Peacock, a prominent citizen and owner of the Peacock Opera House, while adjusting a belt in the Moravia machine shops Friday morning was caught in a shaft which was making one hundred and fifty revolutions a minute. He was beaten against the timber overhead. His left arm and legs were terribly broken and lacerated, and he was otherwise badly injured. He made one hundred revolutions. It is doubtful if he lives.

—Friday morning a train on the Southern Pacific railroad consisting of two express cars, a mail, baggage, two sleepers and one passenger coach was standing at the summit of a long and steep grade of 120 feet to the mile. The engine was detached from the train engaged in shifting cars. The brakes became loosened and down the grade the train flew at a frightful rate of speed until it jumped the track, the cars taking fire. Twelve persons were either burned to death or killed by the collision.

THE TIMES is the recipient of a handsome book containing a meritorious poem on "Thoughts on Life," written by David Maclure of Newark, N. J., who is a brother-in-law of Mr. A. Foster of this village.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging irritation, inflammation, all Kidney and Urinary Complaints, cured by "Buchu-paiba." $1.

Goods sold at private sale every day at the aution prices of the previous evening sale at the first door west of the opera house. 36

☞ Mrs. D. E. Mason and Miss Emma Watson say that they were troubled with bad corns. Dr. J. D. Perkins removed them without injury. Office over Goodjon's shoe store, Fulton, N. Y. 36

F. E. Bacon has gone way below any of the merchant's in the price of dry goods. Now is the time to buy goods cheap.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. WHEELER, 36tf Fulton Times Office.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustee Proceedings.

FULTON, Jan. 23, 1883.

Adjournment. Present, President, and Trustee Hart.

Board adjourned to Jan. 30, 1883, at 7:30 p. m.
L. H. PATTERSON, clerk.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—Myron A. Howe vs. Annie L. Howe, action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear, or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint. Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this [illegible] day of January 1883.
[illegible], Plaintiff's Att'y.
Office and Post Office address, Fulton, N. Y.

To Annie L. Howe: The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon. [illegible], Justice of the Supreme Court dated the [illegible] day of January, 1883, and filed [illegible] in the office of the Clerk of Oswego county, at the city of Oswego, N. Y.
[illegible], Plaintiff's Attorney.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—[illegible]

[illegible] advantage of his customers. He said it must have been a mistake of the boy that delivers groceries. "Then you must hire the boy to make mistakes, for it has been so every time that we have had sweet potatoes for five years," said the boy. "And about green corn. You have a few ears stripped down to show how nice and plump it is, and if we order a dozen ears there are only two that have got any corn on at all, and pa and ma gets them and the rest of us have to chew cobs. Do you hope to wear the crown of glory on that kind of corn?" "O, such things will happen" said the grocery man, with a laugh. "But don't let's talk Heaven. Talk about the other place. How's things over to your house? And say, what's the matter with you? You are all dressed up and have got a clean shirt on, and your shoes blacked, and I notice your pants are not ravelled out so on the bottoms of the legs behind. You are not in love are you?" "Well I should smile" answered the boy as he looked into a small mirror over the counter covered with fly specks. "A girl got mashed on me, and ma says it is good for a boy who hain't got no sister to be in love with a girl, and so I kind of tumbled to it myself, and she don't go nowhere without I go with her. I take her to dancing school and everywhere and she loves me like a house afire. Say, was you ever in love? Makes a fellow feel queer, don't it? Well, sir, the first time I went home with her I put my arm around her, and honest, it scared me. It was like when you take hold of the handles of a 'lectric battery and you can't let go until the man turns the knob. Honest, I was just as weak as a cat. I thought she had needles in her belt and was going to take my arm away. but it was just like it was glued on. I asked her if she felt that way too, and she said she used to, but it was nothing when you got used to it. That made me mad. But she is older than me and knows more about it. When I was going to leave her at the gate she kissed me, and that was worse than putting my arms around her. By gosh, I trembled all over, just like I had the chills, but I was as warm as toast. She wouldn't let go for as much as a minute, and I was as tired as though I had been carrying coal up stairs. I didn't want to go home at all, but she said it would be the best way for me to go home and come again the next day; and the next morning I went to her house before any of them were up, and her pa came out to let the cat in, and I asked him what time his girl got up and he laffed and said I had got it bad and that I had better go home and not be picked until I was ripe. Say, how much does it cost to get married?" "Well, I should say you had got it bad," said the groceryman as he set out a basket of beets. "Your getting in love will be a great thing for your pa. You won't have any time to play any more jokes on him." "Oh I guess we can find time to keep pa from being lonesome. Have you seen him this morning? You ought to have seen him last night. You see my chum's pa has got a setter dog stuffed. It was one that died two years ago and he had it stuffed for ornament. Well, my chum and me took the dog and put it on our front steps, and took some cotton and fastened it to the dog's mouth, so it looked just like froth, and we got behind the door and waited for pa to come home from the theatre. When pa started to come up the steps I growled, and pa said 'Mad, by Crimus,' and started down the sidewalk, and my chum barked like a dog and kiyi'd and I growled like a dog that gets licked, and you ought to have seen pa run. He went around in the alley and was going to get in the basement window, and my chum had a revolver with some blank cartridges, and he went down in the basement, and when pa was trying to open the window my chum began to fire toward pa. Pa hollered that it was only him, and not a burglar, but after my chum fired four shots pa run, climbed over a fence and then we took the dog and I stayed with my chum all night, and this morning ma said pa didn't get home till four o'clock, and then a policeman came with him and then pa talked about mad dogs and being taken for a burglar and nearly killed, and she said she was afraid pa had took to drinking again, and asked if I heard any firing of guns, and said no, and then she put a wet rag on pa's head." "You ought to be ashamed" said the groceryman. "How does your pa like your being in love with the girl? Does he seem to encourage you in it?" "She was over to our house after some tea, and [illegible] her on the clock, and hugged her and said she was a dear little thing, and wanted her to sit on his lap, but when I wanted him to give me fifty cents to buy her some ice cream, he said it was all nonsense. [illegible]

[illegible]

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 100 acres, in the town of Volney, [illegible] one mile [illegible]. About [illegible] acres of tillable land the balance in a high state of cultivation. One hundred apple trees, one hundred pear trees, and a sugar bush making one hundred pounds of sugar per year. Plenty of water and good buildings. A good bargain. Terms easy. Inquire on the premises or address
tf FREDERICK FOSTER, Fulton, N Y

To Mexican Pensioners.

The Mexican War Service Pension Bill is about to become a law; therefore the names and addresses of such soldiers and the widows of those who have died should be sent us on postal cards or otherwise at once by the persons entitled or, by friends of such who may see this notice.

In order to keep these claims separate from our other business, mention "Mexican War."

Address, N. W. FITZGERALD & Co.,
Box 588. Washington, D. C.

GRAND
MUSICAL FESTIVAL!

—AT—

State Arsenal, Syracuse, N. Y.

COMMENCING

Monday Evening, Feb. 5,

And Continuing Through The Week.

CONCERTS EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

The Attractions will be

Gilmore's Famous Military Band,

Of New York, comprising 60 instruments.

A CHORUS OF 600 VOICES, and the following Celebrated Vocalists:

THE TEMPLE QUARTETTE,............	of Boston
MISS EMILY WINANT, Contralto....	New York
MISS HENRIETTA BEEBE, Soprano....	New York
MISS IDA V. HUBBELL, Soprano.....	New York
MADAME NALENNI, Soprano,.........	Boston
MR. THEODORE TOEDT, Tenor,.......	New York
MR. FRANZ REMMERTZ, Baritone,....	New York

These Concerts to be given at popular prices:

Admission, 20c. Reserved Seats, 50c.

Special Rates on all the Railroads.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY SURGEON.

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at h's office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

[illegible]

DO YOU WANT!

IF YOU WANT

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] tax labels,
dodgers,
show cards,
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
calling cards,
address cards,
shipping tags,
business cards,
wedding cards,
invitation cards,
business circulars,
pamphlets printed,

If you want job printing of any description, done in a most satisfactory manner, you can satisfy your wants by calling at THE FULTON TIMES printing office

Lathrop's Christmas Song.

I, Santa Claus hereby proclaim
To every people, tongue and name,
To high and low, to rich and poor,
I'm now at G. C. Lathrop's store,
Who has now on hand a very Large stock of confectionery.
Dolls and baskets, whips and toys,
Hand sleds for your girls and boys,
Iron savings banks, tin flutes,
Foreign and domestic fruits,
China tea sets, cups and vases,
Many masks with funny faces,
Choicest candies fresh and new,
All kinds of fishing tackle too;
Pocket knives and tops with strings,
And a thousand other things.
This greeting Santa sends to you
December 1st, year '82.

29 G. C. LATHROP.

Boarding AND Livery Stables

—:O:—

ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S.

—o—

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.

Horses and Carriages at all times,
Trusty Drivers when desired.
Hacks, Hearses and Carriages For Funerals.

35 N. ROWLEE.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS, ARCTIC 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.

Get the best, don't be humbugged by imitations.

EXPEDITION

20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agency to ALVORD & SLEIGHT, publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

Mention this paper.

MUTUAL LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY
—OF—
NEW YORK.

—:O:—

This Company was Chartered in 1842.

Assets - - $94,702,957.92

—:O:—

Premium rates lower than any other Company.

W. C. WHEELER, Agent,
Fulton Times Office,
Fulton, N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

[illegible]

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 5lt

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS
Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:

OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store.
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.

Or address by mail, care either of the above address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174

Those desiring can be waited on at their residence

Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cayuga street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.

Jan, 3, '83 1 yr.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	a. M.	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	9.00	4.30	......	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	8.00	3.30	......	......
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.15	12.20	6.00
Winterton	12.00	7.33	12.52	6.43
Bloomingburgh	12.06	7.46	1.00	6.56
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	7.07
SUMMITVILLE	12.20	8.00	2.55	7.35
Fallsburg	1.00	....	4.03	9.00
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	9.20
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	9.40
Liberty	1.28	....	4.45	10.10
Parksville	1.40	....	5.05	10.45
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	11.15
Rockland	2.27	....	5.45	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	12.35
East Branch	3.00		6.28	1.40
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.55	2.25
WALTON	4.05	6.50	8.00	5.15
Franklin	4.38	7.43	8.50	......
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.30	8.30
Guilford	5.22	9.20	......	......
Oxford	5.48	10.00	......	......
NORWICH......Arrive	6.00	10.40	......	10.00
	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.
NORWICH	6.05	2.06	6.55	8.25
North Norwich	6.17	2.25	*7.07	8.47
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.22	9.15
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	9.36
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.30	7.40	10.08
Eaton	7.06	3.55	7.51	10.30
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	10.50
Munnsville	7.26	4.38	8.18	11.23
Community	7.38	[illegible]	8.36	11.55
ONEIDA	7.50	5.15	9.10	1.10
Fish Creek	*8.06	......	*9.34	1.55
North Bay	8.14	......	9.43	2.12
Cleveland	8.26	......	10.05	2.50
Bernhards Bay	*8.36	......	10.18	3.05
Constantia	8.45	......	10.27	3.25
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.02	......	10.50	4.10
Fulton	9.25	......	11.28	4.58
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.10	[illegible]
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y.Ar	8.25	10.50	10.00	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	9.10	......	11.50	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	4.16	8.50
Winterton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bloomingburgh	[illegible]	7.43	[illegible]	[illegible]
Wurtsboro	[illegible]	7.30	[illegible]	[illegible]
Summitville	4.40	7.20	[illegible]	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.02	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hurley	[illegible]	....	4.19	[illegible]
Liberty Falls	[illegible]	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty	[illegible]	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Parksville	[illegible]	....	[illegible]	1.56
Livingston Manor	[illegible]	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rockland	[illegible]	....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cook's Falls	[illegible]	a. m.	[illegible]	[illegible]
East Branch	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Hancock	[illegible]	p. m.	[illegible]	[illegible]
Walton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	7.30
Franklin	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	......
Sidney	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	......
Guilford	[illegible]	[illegible]	......	......
Oxford	[illegible]	[illegible]	......	......
NORWICH	[illegible]	[illegible]	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] BRANCH.

[illegible]

[illegible] Figured Worsted Dress Goods 12½c. former prices 16 and 20c.

[illegible] Gingham, 10c. former price 12½c.

Ladies' Gossimers $1.45.

Ladies' Black Coney Fur Collars $1.49.

FAY'S NEW YORK CASH STORE,
FULTON, N. Y.
E. B. FAY.

ROSENBLOOM

Is offering Extra Inducements on their large stock of Clothing. Bargains in Every Department.

Call and See Them.

WE OFFER AT
THE BAZAAR

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62.

Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40.

Come and get one before they are all gone. We will so give away one large size cake of stove polish to any chaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frame per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Fr made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 [illegible]

CHARLES [illegible]

J. J. WRIGH[illegible]

Successor to [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] R. R.

[illegible]

[illegible] Night Express [illegible]

[illegible] Supt.

[illegible] Wednesday, February 7.

[illegible] Fort of Norwich is a guest [illegible] Herrick.

[illegible]rkirk is said to be editing a [illegible]orth Carolina town.

[illegible]haw, of Chicago, well known [illegible] was in this locality last [illegible]

[illegible] of Auburn, was in town [illegible] Ford is connected with [illegible]era house.

[illegible] wants to know why it is [illegible]ts who always sell below [illegible]late a competency.

[illegible]hy Brothers' notice. They [illegible] fine and palatable meats, [illegible] sample their Western beef.

[illegible] of the Oswego Post was in [illegible]ay. The Post is a bright [illegible]nd is walking with favor [illegible]

[illegible] meeting at the M. E. church [illegible] In the morning a sermon [illegible]ered by the presiding elder [illegible] Mead.

[illegible]y with his famous minstrel [illegible] give an entertainment in [illegible]era house, Saturday even[illegible]7. Some time yet.

[illegible]t page of to-days paper will [illegible] first chapters of a serial [illegible] For a Day." It is an inter[illegible] written story and its perus[illegible] any one.

[illegible]e in the Omaha Bee that [illegible]aker, a former Fulton boy, [illegible]ompleted a fine business [illegible]ncil Bluffs, Iowa, opposite [illegible] the Missouri river from [illegible]

[illegible] has commenced an [illegible] his wife Annie L. Howe [illegible]nd serves notice on her by [illegible] The Times to-day. The [illegible]ed in the Upper Landing [illegible]ars where the plaintiff now [illegible]

[illegible], a barber well known in [illegible] indicted last week for steal[illegible]atch in Oswego. He plead[illegible] and will lay in jail until [illegible]m of court being unable to [illegible] willing to go his bail which [illegible] $1,000.

[illegible]ngs of Fulton was indicted [illegible]with intent to kill John Alt[illegible]ember 6, 1882. He plead[illegible] and case put over. His [illegible]d at $1000, which he will [illegible] be unable to obtain. Alt[illegible] to appear before the grand [illegible]tify and was taken to Oswe[illegible] on an attachment issued by [illegible] who held him in $200 bail [illegible]arance at the trial.

[illegible] man gave a mortgage of [illegible] house in 1877 to a widow [illegible] a few months his wife died [illegible]ow became the possessor of [illegible] This Fulton man worked a [illegible]hemes in his mind to recov[illegible] and finally struck a bright [illegible]ried it to a successful con[illegible] knew if he wooed and won [illegible]ant he would find a home [illegible]ay. This he did and is the [illegible]ortal in this section of the [illegible]

[illegible] Miss Lottie Poole against [illegible]son, a Phoenix dentist, to [illegible]ent for services rendered [illegible] a bird cage, was tried be[illegible] of the Peace Arvin Rice, in [illegible] & and judgment rendered [illegible] paid. In the suit of Mr. [illegible] Miss Poole, for profession[illegible] the 13th inst for $1 and costs. [illegible] before N. C. Alvord esq. in [illegible] Mason secured a judgment [illegible] and costs against Miss [illegible] has been taken by [illegible] that judgment to the [illegible]

[illegible] editor of the [illegible] of the edi[illegible] John A. Berry, [illegible] after an ill[illegible] of peritonitis [illegible] young journal[illegible] connection with var[illegible]

[illegible] gency.

"Yes, sir, I am [illegible] quoted; I did say a season of stagnation is about to overtake us and people should put themselves in readiness to meet it without suffering."

"What reasons can you give for such a forbidding prediction?" queried The Times.

"There are four leading reasons a study of which will hardly fail to convince the readers of your paper that I am right:—

1st—The change in the balance of trade, which is now against us.

2d—The low prices we are getting for our crops.

3d—The extravagance of the people last year.

4th—The reckless and very expensive building of railroads last year.

"Money put into railroads," Mr. Colfax continued, "is not like money invested in manufactures, which, if the investment does not prove profitable can be reinvested elsewhere. Railroads once built have to remain, whether they prove profitable or not."

"People in this town will agree with you," remarked The Times "when you say railroads once built have to remain whether they prove profitable or not."

"Yes; I believe you have the Midland yet," calmly remarked the ex-president. "I would say" he continued, "in connection with my prediction, that there will be a financial stringency in the fall, that the reasons causing it are, of course, very plain; but this is a dividend paying season and the money thus forced into the country is giving a temporary relief which will certainly pass away in a few months"

The G. A. R. Lecture.

The lecture delivered by Hon. Shuyler Colfax in Stephens Opera House Monday evening was not very well attended owing to the severity of the weather and the icy and almost impassable condition of the streets. About two hundred and fifty people were present. The proceeds were barely sufficient to meet expenses.

The speaker was introduced by Mr Pentelow and prefaced his lecture by eulogizing the soldiers of the late war and referring to the noble effort Post Daniel F. Schenck had undertaken in securing funds to erect a monument to the fallen heroes.

Those who expected to find in Mr Colfax a fiery and impassioned orator were somewhat disappointed. His lecture was delivered in a commom place manner, and at no time during his talk di dhe evince oratorial powers of a character beyond ordinary speakers. His language was of course assorted for the occassion and he was rapid in his delivery. The lecture gave general satisfaction. The fact of the speaker's exalted position in American politics in trying times; his long public career and his intimacy with Lincoln and Garfield lent a certain reality to his lecture that made it fascinating. He was listened to attentively and his anecdotes were interesting

At the conclusion of the lecture a quartette composed of James Hoff, M. C. Highriter, James F. Cooper and F. E. Goodjon rendered an appropriate selection in a finished and pleasing manner.

Meeting To-night.

The Good Templars will meet in their new rooms in the Kenyon block this evening.

Finished Musicians.

The Kingsford band and Concordia singing society of Oswego gave a concert in Stephens opera house Saturday evening. The weather was unpropitious but a fair sized audience was present. Kingsford band is as complete as musical talent can make it and the selections rendered in Stephens opera house were of the very highest order and elicited boundless complimentary remarks. So musically perfect is every member of the band that we would do an injustice to the organization in trying to individualize. Should they return to Fulton a rousing house awaits them. The Concordia society is composed of Germans who rendered really fine music.

☞ An elegant line of ladies' and gents' Jewelry at auction every eve this week. Next door to Stephens opera house. 36

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Jan. 24, 1883.

Edward F. Butler,
Mrs Alvina DeLong,
R. R. Duke,
Frank Keller,
Mrs. C. H. Lewis,
Miss Mary [illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible]

A [illegible] Helio?

Mrs. James [illegible] Mich., are guests of the lady's father Mr. S. L. [illegible]

Norman Fuller left Monday morning for Reedsburgh, Sauk Co., Wisconsin, and will be [illegible]

The management of the Thespian Society wish it understood that the opera house will be warm and comfortable Friday night.

Syracuse papers announce that Reuben L. Youngs of Fulton has escaped from the O. P. Reuben is not a resident of Fulton.

Lost—Four keys, last Wednesday in the postoffice or on First street. Were fastened to steel ring. Will finder please leave at Times office?

If you would see a pleasing operetta rendered in an excellent manner attend the "Trial by Jury." in Stephens Opera House Friday evening.

Mrs. Almon Mason died at her home near Gilberts Mills Thursday morning. Funeral was held from the Baptist church, Gilberts Mills, Sunday.

Levi Rude of Oswego Falls and Miss Emily C. Corey of Fulton, were married last Wednesday by Rev. Wm. R. Stone at the parsonage, Bristol Hill.

The parties who were looking over Fulton for a location for a gun factory have decided to locate in Ithaca. It is said ex-governor Cornell gave the company a site.

The A. S. C. will hold another dancing party in the opera house ball room to-morrow evening. These parties are becoming popular and the attendance is always good.

Robert Gordon of Oswego will open a branch store in Fulton in the Nelson building on Oneida street to-morrow and continue it for the next thirty days. He promises great bargains in dry goods.

There will be a camp fire at the rooms of Post Schenck next Tuesday evening for members and their families. There will be a particularly good time and every member is requested to be present.

About six o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the porters' room in the Lewis house. It was squelched without any serious damage. It is thought it originated by the explosion of a lamp.

The grand musical jubilee in Syracuse one week from next Monday. On the 6th and 10th of February the D. L. & W. road will run an train extra to Oswego after the concert. Tickets will be sold at half fare.

James T. Smith, who has been in Colorado, Idaho and the far west for the past two years is home for a short visit. Mr. Smith furnished The Times with several valuable and interesting letters during his absence. He is delighted with the western country.

Last Wednesday afternoon Ransom B. True of Syracuse, a partner in the milling firm in this village of Gilbert Bros., was married to Miss Frances E. Smith at the home of D. W. Smith, the bride's father, in West Farmington, Ontario county. They were married by the Friend's ceremony by Margaret Hathaway of the Society of Friends. Mr. True is manager of th[illegible]table life assurance company in Syracuse. The bride was educated at Keble school in Syracuse.

You can get Macrame twine by the pound at F. E. BACON'S

Chauncey Newton, one of the pioneers of this section died at his home in the eastern part of the town the 15th inst. aged 85 years. Mr. Newton was born in Connecticut and moved into the town in 1831 where he resided uninterruptedly till his death. Something over a year ago Mr. Mewton was stricken with paralysis rendering his left side useless. On the 10th of the present month he suffered another shock which resulted in death. His wife aged 79 survives him. Funeral was held last Wednesday Rev. T. Griffin of Gilberts Mills officiating.

Ladies and gents gold and silver watches at auction next to Stephens' opera house. 36

For sale.—House and lot on First street, opposite [illegible] grocery. Will be sold reasonable. Enquire on premises. [illegible]

☞ Japanese goods of all kinds [illegible] at less than one half the usual [illegible] Fulton and Oswego Falls stores. 36tf

[illegible]

[illegible] of my extensive [illegible] States to California I can say this is the most beautiful, complete and [illegible] opera house I have seen; and I congratulate the people of Fulton on having so fine a building." The ex-vice-president was warmly applauded.

The Requirements Given.

To The Fulton Times:

Can you inform a reader of your paper the requirements and to whom I must apply for admission to the West Point military school? R.

The Congressman from the district in which you reside has the appointing power. Competitive examinations are sometimes held giving all young men a chance. Candidates must between the ages of nineteen and twenty-two, at least five feet in height, and free from any disease, deformity, or infirmity which might render them unfit for military service. They must be well versed in reading, writing, including orthography, and in arithmetic, and have a knowledge of the elements of English grammar, of descriptive geography—particularly of their own country—and of the history of the United States.

The Gifford Case.

Thursday, Joshua Gifford was arraigned by District Attorney Smith on an indictment charging him with murder in the first degree and pleaded not guilty. His counsel C. W. Avery Esq., of Phoenix, then entered a plea of insanity and the prisoner was remanded to jail. He will be tried in Oswego at the April term.

The Oswego Times-Express says the old man is greatly changed since his arrest. A member of the grand jury who has seen him several times of late, says that he has failed rapidly. A man who has been used to out-door labor for many years cannot bear confinement in the jail and the old man has been failing very fast. To a friend who visited him in jail yesterday he said that confinement was killing him. It is extremely doubtful if he will bear imprisonment long.

Thursday morniug District Attorney Smith asked for an order permitting him to bring the case of Thomas Gifford before the next grand jury on the ground of newly discovered evidence. Judge Vann granted the order. It is said evidence of a new and startling character has been unearthed against the son. The feeling at South Granby and Little Utica where Thomas Gifford is well known is favorable to him.

A Home Entertainment.

Friday evening of this week the Thespian Society will give an entertainment in Stephens Opera House the proceeds to be devoted to the Organ Guild of Zion church. The character of the program to be rendered and the object for which it is produced should be sufficient to fill the house. The evening will open with a happily constructed farce "Who is Who" with the following

CHARACTERS

Mr. Simonides Swanhopper	JOHN BACCHUS
Lawrence Lavender (a valet)	E. W. ROSS
Mr. Bloomfield Brambleton (a country gentleman)	G. M YATES
Cicely (Brambleton's daughter)	MRS. E. W. ROSS
Matilda Jane (a housemaid)	MISS RAMSDEN

At the conclusion of "Who is Who" there will a slight intermission and the operetta "Trial By Jury" will be sung with the following cast of

CHARACTERS

Judge	GEO. E. SMIDDY
Plaintiff	MISS SMIDDY
Counsel for Plaintiff	JOHN BACCHUS
Defendant	HARROLD BACCHUS
Usher	N. H. GILBERT
Foreman of Jury	G. M. YATES

The evening entertainment will conclude with the pleasing comedy "One Too Many" with the following

CHARACTERS:

Mr. Scatterbrain	GEO. E. SMIDDY
Alfred Sparkle (in love with Amy)	HARROLD BACCHUS
Mr. Plausible (an adventurer)	G. M. YATES
Mrs. Scatterbrain	MISS RAMSDEN
Grub (a gardener)	FRANK WILLARD
Amy (Scatterbrain's daughter)	MISS GERTIE STEPHENS

WHAT A PITY

that so many otherwise attractive, polite and particular people afflict their friends by the foul and disagreeable odor of their breath. It is usually caused by disordered digestion and can be corrected by [illegible]

For Sale or [illegible] lot [illegible] Apply to F. F. [illegible]

[illegible] Va., [illegible]

[illegible] visiting [illegible] Miss Olive Carter at Oswego Falls.

☞ A handsome line of solid black [illegible] at auction next door to Stephens opera house. 36

Fred Algers of lower Oswego Falls, who has been prostrated by typhoid fever is speedily recovering.

D. M. Perine and Marcus F. Crahan left last evening for Troy as delegates from Post Danl. F. Schenck G. A. R. to the State Encampment.

Charles Easton will erect a dwelling in the spring on the north-east corner of Broadway and Second opposite the residence of Milo Lawrence.

It is a good time to put sawdust or ashes on your sidewalk and thus escape the chances of being sued for damages by some unfortunate pedestrian.

Friday evening Prof A. Boothby will give a lecture at Minetto in the church, subject:—Bible and Science" with blackboard illustrations. This is the fifth lecture the professor has delivered in Minetto.

Don't forget the "Trial by Jury" in Stephens Opera House Friday evening. Tickets 25 and 35 cents. For sale at Watson's drug store and Oswego Falls factory office where diagrams of the house may be consulted.

There is a manufacturers' and importers' sale of jewelry, gold and silver plated ware, clocks, knives, tea sets, etc, in the store east of Stephens Opera House. He invites an inspection of his goods. Private sale during the day.

The weather since Sunday has been more than comfortably cold with the thermometer registering most of the time from two to ten degrees below zero. A high wind has prevailed that has increased the severity of the weather.

A member of the "Tip Top" Baking Powder Co., of Syracuse is in Fulton at Whitaker & Miller's making biscuits, and will remain in town until Friday evening. Ladies are requested to step in at any time during the afternoon and sample them.

The German of last evening at Nichols Hall was a very pleasant affair. Several ladies and gentlemen were present from out of town. This is the last social until after Lent. G. W. Morton led the German last evening. Refreshments were served.

A. W. Stoneburgh will move into the brick store corner of Broadway and First street as soon after the first of February as possible. He will increase his stock and carry a general assortment of merchandise. In the east end of the building he will open a meat market.

George Blount was overseer of the poor in the town of Volney from March 1880 to March 1882. At the end of his first term, March 1881, he was owing the town $196.39 and was re-elected and in March 1882 at the close of his second term his whole indebtedness was $215.78. Since then he has paid bills he incurred amounting to $72.50, reducing his indebtedness to $143.28. In December last suit was instituted against Mr. Blount by Supervisor Rice, by order of the Town Board, for the recovery of the balance due. Mr. Blount let it go by default and judgment will be entered up against him unless immediately settled. It is expected Mr. Blount, who resides in Oswego, will be in Fulton to-day and adjust the matter. His bondsmen during his first term were Messrs C. S. Eggleston and Willard Johnson and during his second term Mr. Johnson alone.

☞ Remember the manufacturers sale next door to Stephens' opera house.

Installation of Officers.

There was installation of officers in Post Daniel F. Schenck last evening; the following officers were installed.

Commander—W. J. Pentelow,
Senior Vice—D. M. Perine,
Junior Vice—H. H. Kendrick,
Chaplain—Dr. G. V. Emens,
Quartermaster—D. Hendrick,
Adjutant—Henry A. Harris,
Officer of the Day—F. C. Mosher,
Officer of the Guard—William Ellis,
Quartermaster Serg't—Stephen Buck,
Sergeant Major—M. C. Highriter.

Lost—To-day, between Wilson's bakery and corner of Third and Academy streets, a gold tooth pick. Will finder leave at The Times office.

Fulton, Jan. 24, 1883.

The [illegible] of lower Oswego [illegible] notice, held [illegible] evening to [illegible] Mr. C. J. [illegible] will be held at the [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] and the suit [illegible] of wooden shoes are seldom seen, they are replaced by heavy top boots made of heavy leather and pleated close around from the instep nearly to the top. A long pipe, always in full blast, completes his makeup. Suits made entirely of leather are sometimes seen and covered with embroidery traced in fancy patterns. This latter suit constitutes the "swell dress" so much used on the stage by Fritz Emmett, in his German character.

Yawcup has his earthly possessions packed in a carpet bag which is always within his grasp. When he lands on our shore he is taken in charge by the commissioners of immigration and he spends the first week at Castle Garden. He is required to give his name, age, place of birth, occupation and the name of city and state in which he intends to settle. This record is preserved and is often the means of uniting long separated friends and families. When our German friend leaves the garden, his troubles soon begin, for he finds himself in the hands of sharks—land sharks dressed up as men—expressmen, money changers, snide boarding house keepers and fraudulent employment offices. He finally drifts into Greenwich street and takes lodgings with some of his countrymen in the damp, dark cellars that are called by the owners, "lodging houses." Here he will live contented, eating rye bread and bologna until he finds work either in the west or in some "bier halle" in New York.

You can see him every day eating his simple meal in some hallway, or on the steps of the houses, and absorbing with his eyes passing occurences. The elevated roads are a constant wonder to them. When he leaves his miserable home in Greenwich street you lose sight of him but in a few years he will have grown into a steady, fat, wealthy citizen of America. As a rule the German immigrant makes a good citizen for he is industrious, saving and quiet. He attends strictly to his own business and seldom speaks except when spoken to. It is wonderful with what rapidity they acquire our language and manners.

For the past week we have had horrible weather, alternating between rain, snow, hail and sleet, accompanied by more or less real cold weather. Broadway is a sight and every time I cross it I thank my stars that I learned to swim when I was young. The narrow streets are much worse and dirt and filth are seen on all sides. A New Yorker has long since become inured to this state of affairs, but to an outsider our streets appear barbarous. In spite of the weather, brilliant society events are occurring. Among the past, are the balls of the Seciete Francais, Ancient Order of Elks, 7th Regiment the society of French cooks. In the future are several charity balls, and grand receptions.

Central Park has been crowded with visitors and when the ice and roads were in good condition the park was fully alive, and the merry sound of sleigh bells, and the shouts from skaters and coasters on the ice made the park ring. More anon from the WANDERING JEW.

The Odd Fellows will commence holding a series of parties Friday evening of next week in their hall in the Dexter block, corner of Oneida and Second street. Parties will commence promptly at 9 p. m.

☞ Triple plated casters, cake baskets water pitchers, tilter and other silver ware at auction. 36

A Troublesome Pupil.

Miss [illegible] L. Green of this village—daughter of Jedediah Green, is teacher in District No. 13 of this town at Bundys Crossing. Frank Decker, a seventeen year old lad, was an unruly pupil and did about as he pleased in the school room during school hours. He amused himself by throwing overshoes at his companions, talking out loud, chewing tobacco etc. Miss Green remonstrated and in various ways essayed to quell the turbulent pupil but all to no purpose. She finally swore out a warrant and the case was tried before Justice Piper and the following jury Saturday:—M. P. Schenck, Hugh Sherman, P. J. Mills, Milo L. Lawrence, Edward Taylor and Edward Wilbur. They listened patiently to the evidence and deliberated but a few minutes at the conclusion of the trial when a verdict of "Guilty" was rendered. The maximum penalty for his offense is $250, and one year in the penitentiary. Justice Piper dealt leniently with the young man and sentenced him to pay a fine of $[illegible] or be confined for thirty days in the county jail. Paid.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills cleanse the system, stimulate the appetite and digestive organs, [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] County [illegible]

[illegible] Fay, who [illegible] in Syracuse a few weeks ago and [illegible] has been [illegible] two for [illegible] and one for grand larceny, and will be tried at the next term of court in Onondaga county.

Rufus S. Dyington a venerable and respected citizen who has resided in the town of Hannibal for the last fifty years died suddenly Monday morning at his home in that town of heart disease. He leaves a wife and four daughters, one of whom is Mrs. Dr. Emens of this village. Funeral to-day at 2 p. m., from the M. E. church in Hannibal. Rev. Mr. Marvin will officiate.

Mexico Independent—Miss Anna Baldwin, youngest daughter of Amos Baldwin of Volney, was last Wednesday married to Mr. Frank Freeman of Boston. The marriage took place at the residence of her parents, Rev. Carl Stone performing the ceremony. Many relatives were present, of whom twelve belonged to the Stone families of this place. The coup'e have gone to reside in Boston.

Justice Churchill has granted a divorce to Miss Clarissa E. Patterson of Syracuse from her husband, Frederick H. Patterson, a liquor dealer of No. 4 North Warren street. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson were married at Central Square, Oswego county, on Jan. 1st, 1855, and they lived together till 1877, when they separated. Mr. Patterson was superintendent of Section No. 2, Oswego canal a few years ago and is well known in Fulton.

Captain Pappa, of Oswego, has invented a fire escape which appears to be very simple and easy to use. Around the lower side of the cornice runs an iron strap which supports a hook from which is suspended a ladder long enough to reach the ground, the ladder when not in use remaining in place. They are to be managed from below and can be pushed to any window on the building at a moment's notice. In addition to this there is an endless chain and basket which works in the same way and can be used in the rescue of women and children, or any person not possessed of sufficient courage to go down the ladder.

On Sunday night Grove Lawrence, a lad of seventeen years, committed suicide at Phoenix by hanging himself in his father's barn. The youth was a quiet, obliging, trusty boy, whose home life was irreproachable. His parents disclaim any ill-treatment on their part. The lad attended the Sunday school of the M. E. church on Sunday and seemed cheerful and in his usual good health all day. Late in the afternoon the boy left the house, kissing his mother as he went away. He did not return at bedtime, but his parents supposing that he had gone to the house of an uncle in West Phoenix, were not alarmed. In the morning Mrs Lawrence found his son hanging from a beam in the barn, suspended by a strap around his neck. Examination showed that the boy's neck was broken. A coroner's jury was impaneled Monday and an inquest held and a verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts.

Gray hairs often cause annoyance, which Parker's Hair Balsam prevents by restoring the youthful color. 35t4

South Hannibal.

South Hannibal, Jan. 23—The marriage of Miss Libbie Osborn. of this place, to Rev. C. H. Harris of Parish, N. Y. on Tuesday, the 16th inst, drew forth a large company of invited guests.

Rev. G. M. Mead, presiding elder of the Oswego district, performed the ceremony. The bride, who is the only daughter of Mrs. G. Osborn, is one of our most estimable young ladies and will be missed by a large circle of friends. The newly wedded couple are visiting friends in Brooklyn and New York. A.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, being highly concentrated, requires a smaller dose, and is more effective dose for dose, than any other blood medicine. It is the cheapest because the best. Quality and not quantity should be considered.

Weather Predictions for the Year 1883.

January will be mild with light falls of snow. February generally cold with severe snow storms. Look out for a thaw from the first to the middle of March and breaking up of winter. High winds and rainy weather will prevail through the month of April. May and June warm and pleasant with frequent showers. July and August very warm. September will be the pleasantest month in the year. October cool and dry. November rainy. December plenty of snow [illegible]

FIRST CLASS CLOTHING.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street

Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVERCOATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

UNDERTAKING!

Mr. D. Hendrick is now prepared to do undertaking for the public. His store is one door south of Fay's dry goods store. Night bell on store door. 29tf

—IF YOU WANT THE—

BEST BRANDS OF CIGARS,

Cigarettes, Common and Fancy

SMOKING TOBACCO

SMOKING PLUG,
FINE CUT CHEWING,
PLUG CHEWING,
BLACK AND SCOTCH SNUFFS,

PIPES AND SMOKERS' ARTICLES,

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN'S,

The Old Established Tobacco Store,

Next Door to Citizens' Bank.

Jobber and Retailer.

A PLEASANT ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

"Had sour stomach and miserable appetite for months and grew thin every day. I used Burdock Blood Bitters with the most marvelous results; feel splendid." Mrs Joseph Johnson, Pittsburgh, Pa.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

Lebanon, N. H., Feb. 18, 18[illegible]

Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co.: Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines [illegible] for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. [illegible] indigestion and its attendant troubles.

Yours truly,
F. C. CHURCHILL,
(Firm of Carter & Churchill.)

☞ A gentleman who has been suffering from the Debility and Languor peculiar to this season, says: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is putting new life right into me. I have gained ten pounds since I began to take it." Has taken two bottles.

Gained 10 Pounds

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Price $1 per bottle, six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

CLAIRVOYANT PHYSICIAN.

Mrs. Susan C. King, healing and [illegible] clairvoyant will be at the residence of Albert Cole on East Utica street [illegible] few days. Will heal the sick [illegible] for all ailments.

Fulton, Jan. 24. [illegible]

[illegible] York City

THE SUN.

[illegible] 1883.

[illegible] the year [illegible] it was first [illegible] published on this [illegible] read in any [illegible] people buy, read, [illegible] reasons, among [illegible] in attractive [illegible] possible accuracy what-[illegible]; the events, the [illegible] the wisdom, the philosophy, [illegible] the improving [illegible] of the busiest world at pres-[illegible].

[illegible] that in its remarks [illegible] The Sun makes a [illegible] to the best [illegible] sixty-five days in [illegible] about the [illegible] in the face of [illegible] when supported [illegible] Sun [illegible] absolutely no [illegible] of its read-[illegible] good.

[illegible] newspaper. No man is [illegible] The Sun is indifferent to his [illegible] that it [illegible] powerful enough to be exempt [illegible] of its principles of right [illegible].

[illegible] it has fought for a dozen years, [illegible] and sometimes almost alone [illegible] the fight that has resulted in [illegible] overwhelming popular verdict against [illegible] for honest government. No mat-[illegible] in power, The Sun stands and will [illegible] to stand like a rock for the interests of the [illegible] the ambition of bosses, the encroach-[illegible] monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best relig-[illegible] ever published, because its christianity [illegible] with cant. Another holds that it is the [illegible] newspaper printed, because it has [illegible] half of the rascals out of that par-[illegible] against the other half with un-[illegible]. A third believes it to be the best [illegible] of general literature in existence, be-[illegible] miss nothing worthy of notice [illegible] current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher, THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and [illegible], but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. [illegible] and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. [illegible] have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
[illegible] publications	10 00
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	1 50
[illegible]	5 00
[illegible] SQUARE LIBRARY	10 00

[illegible] all Subscribers in the United [illegible] the Magazine begin with the [illegible] and December of each year [illegible] it will be understood [illegible] to begin with the cur-[illegible].

[illegible] HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

[illegible] Herald.

[illegible] A YEAR.

[illegible]

[illegible]

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT	50c, $1.00, $1.75.
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

[illegible] on Application to

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,

14 West 14th St., New York.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND,

Is a Positive Cure

For all those Painful Complaints and Weaknesses so common to our best female population.

A Medicine for Woman. Invented by a Woman. Prepared by a Woman.

The Greatest Medical Discovery Since the Dawn of History.

It revives the drooping spirits, invigorates and harmonizes the organic functions, gives elasticity and firmness to the step, restores the natural lustre to the eye, and plants on the pale cheek of woman the fresh roses of life's spring and early summer time.

Physicians Use It and Prescribe It Freely

It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach.

That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. For the cure of Kidney Complaints of either sex this Compound is unsurpassed.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, and give tone and strength to the system, of man woman or child. Insist on having it.

Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. Sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3ct. stamp. Send for pamphlet.

No family should be without LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS. They cure constipation, biliousness, and torpidity of the liver. 25 cents per box.

Sold by all Druggists. (1)

[illegible]

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs, BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly [illegible]

[illegible]

A Camden "novice" invested in the egg business January 1st, 1882, with 60 hens, 25 of them spring pullets, all of them being mongrels, and says: "From January 1, 1882, to January 1, 1883, I gathered 680 dozens or 8,160 eggs, making 136 eggs for each hen, which sold for $120.26, prices ranging from 18c. to 27c. per dozen, home market. The cost of their feed was $58.25, which leaves a balance of $62.01 net. The capital invested in the 60 hens on January 1, 1882, was about $24, or three-fourths the value of one cow. The fertilizer made by the 60 hens was worth $20, to estimate it at the price of phosphates sold in our market. Considerable loss was also sustained from vermin eating eggs, as I was obliged to let the hens run all over the farm, and they stole many nests which were destroyed, for which they got no credit."

"I'M ALL BROKE UP!"

This is the usual exclamation of one afflicted with rheumatism, or lameness. Rheumatic people are indeed entitled to our sincere sympathy and commiseration. Speedy relief is offered them in Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It is the sworn enemy of all aches and pains.

Testing a Trotting Team.

An Appleton business man wanted a span of horses, and he wanted pretty fast ones, but he did not know much about that kind of stock. A horse dealer had a team that was reported pretty fast, which he would sell cheap. The merchant took the team to drive a little, and got a friend in with him, and they went on the track, and the friend drove the team around the track while the merchant stood on the judges' stand and timed them. The team went around pretty good, and the merchant looked at his watch and got in the wagon. The friend asked him what time they made, but he said "Never mind." He drove down to the horse dealer and paid him the money for the horses and drove off with his friend, and when they turned a corner and got out of sight of the horse dealer, the merchant said to his friend:

"That's the best bargain that was ever made in this State on a pair of horses."

The friend looked astonished and asked: "What time did they make, honestly?"

The merchant said: "They trotted in three minutes without a break."

The friend looked as though he was not much surprised, and finally said: "That is not so bad, but it isn't fast. That is at the rate of a mile in six minutes."

The merchant turned pale and said: "Why, how's that?"

"O!" says the friend, with a yawn, "it's a half-mile track, you know."

The friend had to hold the merchant in the buggy seat, he was so faint, and he offered all sorts of chromos if the friend would never say anything about it, and we presume he has not. The team is delivering groceries now, and hauling slabs from a mill. [Peck's Sun.

PULL FOR THE SHORE.

Let us all pull out of this sea of sickness and despondency, and get onto a rock foundation of good, strong health. Burdock Blood Bitters are the thing to pull for. They are one of the most renowned health restoratives ever manufactured.

Big house rents produce big rents in pockets. [Whitehall Times.

Boston has a Zig Zag club. The name is derived from the eccentric movements of its members on their way home. [Cheek.

The deacon who is always saying "Alack! alack!" is not the one who turns to deeds of good with the most alacrity. [Yonkers Gazette.

The country must be waiting for two-cent postage to be established; several dunning letters, overdue, haven't come to hand. [Cin. Sat. Night.

When Fogg heard that cigars were largely made by machinery, he said he had noticed a stationary Indian in front of nearly all the cigar shops. [Boston Transcript.

MOTHERS SHOULD KNOW IT.

Fretful babies cannot help disturbing everybody, and mothers should know how soothing Parker's Ginger Tonic is. It stops babies pains, makes them healthy, relieves their own anxiety and is safe to [illegible].—Journal. 85w4

The latest and favorite piano recitation for society young ladies is: "Oh, [illegible]" It is markedly popular among the young gentlemen. [illegible] News.

[illegible]

[illegible] Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

[illegible]

The Greatest [illegible] ON EARTH.

This Great [illegible] Yellow Dock, [illegible] Gentian, Dandelion, [illegible] etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

IT IS [illegible]

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

[illegible] DESOLATION [illegible]

[illegible] The foot path will be 15 feet and 7 inches wide and will be elevated so that foot passengers can have an unobstructed view of the harbor, while telegraph wires and pipes for various purposes can be stowed away under the platform. Cars will probably be drawn across by being attached to a wire moving at the rate of ten miles an hour. Pedestrians will be allowed to cross without charge. From the roadway to the water is 135 feet at high tide and 140 at low tide, and this space affords an unobstructed passage to all schooners, barks, brigs and steamers and to ships under 1,000 tons burden; so that only about one in 200 of the passing vessels will have to strike her upper spars in going under the bridge.

EVIDENCE OF THE BEST KIND.

Richard T. Robinson is a druggist living in Racine, Wis. Here is what he says: "Afflicted with laryngitis I was unable to articulate a word distinctly for fully two months. A liberal application of Thomas' Eclectric Oil completely cured me. Am pleased to recommend it."

Good Day Sir.

A young man with a seal skin cap and a frosty moustache stepped briskly into a wholesale boot and shoe store on Adams street in answer to an advertisement for a book-keeper.

"How old are you?" asked the senior partner of the firm.

"Twenty-Two."

"Had much exerience in double entry accounts?"

"About five years in a wholesale hat and cap house in Boston."

"Married man?"

"Wife and child, both dead?"

"Economical habits?"

"Yes, sir."

"No inclination to absorb all the profits of the concern and only declare a beggarly dividend to the proprietors?"

"Not in the least."

"Do you drink?"

"Thank you, it's quite seldom, but when I do it is usually about this time of day," and the applicant reached for his cap.

"All right; that settles it. I have made it a rule in this establishment to do all the drinking myself. Cood day sir." [Puck.

 "They who cry loudest are not always the most hurt." Kidney Wort does its work like the Good Smaritan, quickly unostentatiously, but with great thoroughness. A New Hampshire lady writes: "Mother has been afflicted with kidney diseases. Last spring she was very ill and had an alarming pain and numbness in one side. Kidney-Wort proved a great blessing and has completely cured her.

An Ohio woman armed with a broomstick and a flat-iron put to flight two masked burglars the other day. When lovely woman stoops to flat-irony she makes a success of it. [Pittsburgh Traveler.

If our subscribers insist on paying for their paper forcing their way into our office, no matter what barricades we place up to prevent it—well, we suppose there is no way to prevent it; it is the way of the world. [Geneva Advertiser.

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS of dollars have been spent in advertising the celebrated Burdock Blood Bitters, but this fact accounts only in part for their enormous sale. Their merit has made them what they are—the best blood medicine ever devised by man.

"What is the mission of the country editor?" writes a New York correspondent. We don't know unless it is to write original items for the city editors to clip and republish without credit. [Oil City Blizzard.

A man named Barrell lives in a town in the western part of the state. His friends say: "If you flour Barrel with whisky he gets staving and hoops'er up so loudly that a policeman chimes in and heads him for cooper some other place of confinement." [Rome Sentinel.

[illegible]

Don't condemn a good thing because you have been deceived by worthless nostrums. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.

ROCHESTER, N.Y.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, Catarrh, and all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood; expelling the blood-poisons from the system, enriching and renewing the blood, and restoring its vitalizing power.

During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and a weakened vitality. It is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier and blood-food that can be used.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.

"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE."

Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS."

River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD."

520 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles, $5.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take Ginger Tonic at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

[illegible]

Hiscox & Co.

[illegible]

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to

Very Resp't'y Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAN

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

*Nos*431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 3 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

Telegrams and communications addressed to Pancher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 5tf

CATARRH [illegible] ELY'S CREAM BALM [illegible]

[illegible] COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO [illegible] Coby vs. Peter Coby [illegible] You are hereby summoned [illegible] complaint in this action [illegible] twenty days after the service of [illegible] exclusive of the day of service; and [illegible] of your failure to appear or answer [illegible] be taken against you by default for the [illegible] demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego. Dated this 18th day of December 1882.

Howe & Rice, Plf's Attys.

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co N. Y.

To the defendant Peter Coby: The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon. [illegible], Oswego County Judge, dated December [illegible], 1882, and filed with the complaint in the office of the clerk of the county of Oswego, at the city of Oswego, N. Y.

Howe & Rice, Plf's Atty.

INSURANCE

O. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY,

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.

New York. Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York. Assets, over $2,400,000.

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,092,583.13

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

NEW YORK, Assets over $1,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

Of Boston, Mass.

Assets, $1,271,763.38.

O. H. DAVID, Agent,

40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of HARTFORD,
PHŒNIX " do
CONNECTICUT " "
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA " NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of "
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN "
LONDON and LANCASHIRE "
HAMBURG, BREMEN of GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

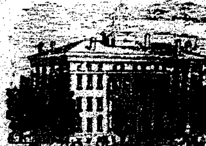
In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

FALLEY SEMINARY.

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition [illegible]
Board and Tuition (short week) [illegible] 36
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 14 weeks begins on Monday [illegible] 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their studies. Tuition and the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to [illegible] [illegible]

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.

PRINCIPAL.

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1883.

VOLUME 15—NUMBER 37

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO

Publishers.

Terms:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 15 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

The Old Coat.

Old coat for some three or four seasons
We have been jolly comrades; but now
We part old companion for ever,
To fate and to fashion I bow,
You'd look well enough for a party
I'd wear you with pride at a ball,
But I'm dressed to-night for a wedding
My own—and you'll not do at all.

You've too many wine stains about you,
You're scented too much with cigars
When the gaslight shines full on your collar
It glitters with myriad stars
That wouldn't look well at my wedding
They'd seem inappropriate there,
Nell doesn't use diamond powder,
She tells me it ruins the hair.

You've been out on Cozzen's piazza
Too late, when evenings were damp,
When the moonbeams were silvering Cro'nest
And the lights were all out in the camp;
You've rested on highly oiled stairways
Too often when sweet eyes were bright
And somebody's ball dress—not Nell's
Flowed round you in rivers of white.

There's a reprobate looseness about you
Should I wear you to-night, I believe,
As I come with my bride from the altar,
You'd laugh in your wicked old sleeve
When you felt there the trembling pressure
Of her hand in its delicate glove,
That is telling me, slyly, but proudly
Her trust is as deep as her love.

So go to the grave in the wardrobe
And furnish a feast for the moth,
Nell's glove shall betray its sweet secret
To younger, more innocent cloth,
'Tis time to put on your successor—
It's made in a fashion that's new Old coat, I'm afraid it will never Sit as easily upon me as you

We do not sound a needless alarm when we tell you that a taint of scrofula is in your blood. Inherited or acquired it is there, and Ayer's Sarsaparilla alone will eradicate it.

LOVE FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER V.

In a few days I was quite at home at Westwood and understood my duties. ~~They were certainly heavy.~~ Fortunately for me, with my great love of early rising and fresh air, they did not commence until ten in the morning. Lady Yorke did not care to be disturbed before that hour. I do not think she had ever seen the sun rise or the dew lying like diamonds on the grass. So the fresh sweet mornings were all my own. I rose almost with the sun, thinking often that if people knew how lovely the early morning was they would never waste much time in sleep, and went out into the park.

It seemed to me always that I spent those early morning hours with Mark; the only difference lay in this, that he was on one side of the blue sky and I on the other. And I was possessed with the idea that he could hear and see me. Ah, love, my love, how I loved you!

When I went back to the house after those hours of peace and rest, my mind was braced for the day. If I had not seen Mark, I had looked long and lovingly at the blue heaven where he was. I had not spoken to him; but the whisper of the wind, the ripple of the leaves, the song of the birds, all seemed so many messages from him. After ten o'clock I had never another moment to call my own. Then Lady Yorke was in her boudoir, and every morning she had a thousand new wants. It was a puzzle to me how she invented them. There were letters to answer, invitations to send out. She liked to hear me read. Every day brought its papers, periodicals, magazines, new novels, all of which must be read to her. Then we walked or drove. At luncheon Lord Yorke joined us; and then her ladyship rested. We had another drive in the afternoon, dinner at seven, and in the evening Lady Yorke requested me to sing. I liked that time best, for I sang every sweet love-song I knew, and I sang always to Mark. Oh, my love, how I loved you!

Lord Yorke was a kindly, generous man, quite fifteen years older than his beautiful, languid young wife. He worshipped her, and she in her helpless way was fond of him. They were very rich. They owned this fine estate at Westwood, and they had a magnificent house in London and a villa in Florence. That was Lady Yorke's whim. When the winter was too cold and the spring too wet, she went to Mentone, where she could bask in the sunshine the whole day long. They had numerous visitors and friends. It was to fill the interval between the departure of one set of visitors and the coming of the next that I was wanted. Lady Yorke could not endure to be alone; she must be constantly amused. They had no children, and that was the one drawback. I liked Lord Yorke; he was always kind and courteous to me. He was not much interested in politics; the care and well-being of his estate occupied his whole time. He would not have a land-agent or a steward; he did everything himself—kept his accounts, received his rents, saw his tenants, overlooked the home estate. Hardly a weed was pulled up without his orders. He was just as industrious as his young wife was the reverse. We were always excellent friends. At times he asked me to help him, and his thanks always pleased me.

Poor Lady Yorke! Young, beautiful, wealthy, she was yet one of the most miserable and discontented of women. She had not a useful interest in the world. She had servants who waited upon her hand and foot; she had a husband who indulged her and granted every wish that she expressed; she was never called upon to make any exertion either of body or mind. She was never compelled to think; Lord Yorke and Mrs. Masham thought for her. If twenty visitors were coming, it made no difference to her. Before I had been many days there, I had read her character accurately. She was ill from indolence. Watching her for a whole day, seeing [illegible] study nothing but herself, her [illegible] her wishes, her whims and ca[illegible] things because she fan[illegible] because she wanted them [illegible] from silver plate; she drank from the rarest of Bohemian glass; tea was served to her in the finest of Dresden china. She wore the finest of linen, of lace, silk, velvet, and satin; she had jewels of priceless value; in all her life she had never wished for one thing that had not been granted to her. She perhaps had read the words "hunger," "cold," "privation," "starvation," but she did not understand their meaning. How could she when she had never felt either cold nor hunger in her life? Her life had been a Sybarite life of pleasure, and the result was that beyond herself she had not a care or thought in the world. It seemed to me that if I could awaken this sleeping soul, I should not have lived in vain.

I remember the first time that she seemed to wake to a consciousness of suffering. She had never been ill herself, and she had never seen any one in pain. We were crossing the park, when suddenly above our heads we heard the discordant cry of birds. Suddenly a little bird fell fluttering and dying at our feet. It had been attacked and wounded by some bird larger than itself. I shall never forget the look in the dark eyes, the faint fluttering of the little wings ere it died. I had raised it in my hand, and it had died there.

"Poor little thing," I said. "It has had a short life but a merry one, I hope, in those great green boughs."

"Is it really dead?" Lady Yorke asked, drawing near with a pale face. "I do not think I have ever seen anything dead."

"Is that true, Lady Yorke?" I asked, looking at her in wonder.

"Yes, quite true."

"Have you ever wondered what death is like?" I inquired.

"I do not think so. I have never thought of death at all."

"Have you never lost any friends?" I asked again. "Has no one whom you loved died?"

"No—no one whom I loved. People I have known have died; but then they always seemed to me quite apart from the rest of us."

I looked in wonder at the beautiful face.

"Have you ever thought that you yourself must die?"

"I suppose I shall die sometime," she replied; "but I am young now—I need not begin to think about it yet."

"Have you ever heard of young people dying, Lady Yorke?" I asked.

"Yes; but that does not often happen, I should think. Age and death naturally go together."

"My Mark was young," I said, "and strong; he never had a day's illness, and he died."

"Where did he die?" asked Lady Yorke; and suddenly I remembered that I did not know. That which seemed so certain to me might be very uncertain to others. "I try never to think of such disagreeable things," continued Lady Yorke. "It does no good, and makes one's life miserable."

"No life can be really happy that is not ruled by such thoughts," I replied. "We ought to live for the next world, and not for this."

"Madame de Deffand said you were very serious. For my part I could not give my mind to such ideas. The very sight of that dead bird has made me feel ill and miserable."

"Yet everything living in this world has to die sooner or later," I said.

She made no remark, but I saw that the indolent, selfish soul was roused from its long sleep. The first thought of death and pain had come to her, never to be forgotten.

CHAPTER VI.

One morning, when several visitors were at Westwood, the conversation turned upon the Indian famine. We were all seated at luncheon. Some of the gentlemen remarked what a charitable country ours was—what large sums of money were forthcoming when any great disaster occurred.

Lord Yorke agreed.

"But," he said, "I do not think we realize what the word 'famine' means. In our happy land we have not seen women and children dying by the roadside,' plucking the dry roots and the grass in the pangs of hunger."

"I have seen something like it," said Mr. Devine. "I was in Ireland during the 'potato famine,' and I saw there scenes that will haunt me to my dying day—gaunt, hungry men, in whose eyes was a wolfish gleam, pale, patient women, dying without complaint, children like spectres, with famine written in their faces. I have seen mother and children lying dead together—and it takes a long time for hunger to kill."

"Did you really witness all this?" asked Lady Yorke.

"I did indeed," replied Mr. Devine.

"I did not know," said Lady Yorke, with a slight shudder, "that people ever died of hunger. I do not suppose that I quite understood the meaning of the word 'famine.'"

"Your life has been a happy one, Louise," said Lord Yorke. "You have seen only the rose-colored side of existence."

"That must be true," she allowed more gravely than I had expected.

The next morning I had to drive with Lady Yorke to Woodheaton; she wanted to make some purchases. The morning was lovely, but her mind was evidently still disturbed by the conversation of the previous day.

"Miss Chester," she said suddenly, "have you ever seen people who were really ill from want of food?"

"Yes, very often, when I was at home with my mother. She, out of her limited means, made a point of relieving some poor person or other every day."

"And I," said Lady York, "have never, so far as I remember, relieved a poor person in my life. We send money to various charities; but I have never personally given any away. I have seen so few poor people."

I saw that her mind was awakened. We talked on the same subject during the whole of our drive. I told her what I had seen amongst the poor at Gracedieu—their patience, their industry, the pathos and beauty of their lives.

"The true heroes and heroines of this world," I said, "are the uncomplaining poor."

"Heroes and heroines!" she repeated. "Why, Miss Chester, what can there be heroic in poverty?"

"Poverty bravely borne is true heroism," I said. "It is easy to be happy and contented when everything goes well, when one has plenty of money, plenty of food, and everything one can desire. What can be more heroic than the endurance of hunger and cold without complaint? I have read of what the world calls heroines—Joan of Arc, who won a throne for her king, Charlotte Corday, who slew the enemy of France; but, to my way of thinking, the real heroine is the wife and mother whose life is one continual struggle, who denies herself that her husband and children may have enough, who works without ceasing, never complains, comforts her husband, brings up her children well, and practices heroic virtues unseen by any one, unknown even to herself. That woman is one of Heaven's own heroines."

Lady Yorke was silent and thoughtful during the rest of the day, but in the evening she relapsed into the old lackadaisical mood.

A few days afterwards I asked her if [illegible] woman, whose life was filled with good deeds, the very reverse of beautiful, luxury-loving Lady Yorke. To my great delight, she began to talk to Lady Yorke about the badness of the times, the want of work, the poverty of the people. I shall never forget Mrs. Durrant's face when Lady Yorke languidly took out her well-filled purse.

"Would money be of any use?" she asked.

"Heaven bless me!" cried the Rector's wife, startled out of all propriety.—"Why, Lady Yorke, it is only money that we want. Money will purchase food, coal, clothes, fuel, and everything else."

I heard the rustle of bank notes, and Lady Yorke said gently:

"Will you distribute this amongst your poor?"

The eyes of the Rector's wife filled with tears. She saw in the gift relief for many from utter misery.

"If you would see poverty in all its desolation, Lady Yorke," she said, earnestly, "you should go to a place that is called Sandy Fields."

After the Rector's wife had departed, I turned to Lady Yorke.

"Will you go?" I asked her.

"I do not know, Miss Chester," she said, drawing her rich silks and laces tightly around her. "I have never seen anything of the kind."

"When you die," I remarked, "you will like to have some good deed to remember. You will like to think then that you have lessened the burden of one human heart."

"You frighten me," she said. "Yes, I will go."

Half an hour afterwards fashionable, self-indulgent Lady Yorke stood in the poorest cottage in Sandy Fields, looking round her in horror and dismay. Only a starving woman and a starving child were there; there was no fire, no food, no table, no chair, no bed. It was a most hopeless, helpless case.

"A contrast to Westwood," I whispered to her.

At first the woman was sullen and would not speak—her misery was too great. Then she cried out:

"No, you can do nothing for me. My husband died six weeks ago; and this is all I have in the world. Now she is dying. Heaven itself cannot help me." She looked at Lady Yorke. "You mean well," she said, "but the money that bought that silk gown would have kept my husband alive. He died hungry. Do you think I shall ever forget that? He moaned all night before he died from hunger—not pain, but hunger. I loved him with all my heart, and I had to sit and listen until I could have rushed out of the house to slay and rob the first person I met. He died hungry, while in your house good food is wasted. Ah, my lady, your dogs and horses are better off than we are!"

I saw Lady Yorke's face grow very pale, and her eyes sought mine with a frightened look.

"He moaned all night," continued the woman, "and I had nothing to give him but water. He was not one to complain, but, when death came on him in the morning, he said to me, 'Ah, lassie, the rich have it in this world; we shall have it in the next!' I went out and sold the last thing that belonged to me—my wedding-ring—that morning, and I bought tea and bread. 'I have gone past it,' he said. 'It is all over, lassie. It has come too late.' Seven years ago, when we were married, he was tall and straight and handsome. He took me to a pretty home, and he worked hard for me; but trouble came, and he died hungry. My poor lad! My poor lad!"

I knew that in her heart Lady Yorke was thinking of the dainties that, sent away in capricious discontent, would have saved this poor man's life.

"Annie is dying," the woman went on, in the same hopeless, helpless voice, with a wild gleam in her eyes. "A few weeks ago good food might have saved her; now it is too late. Last night I went everywhere to get one penny to buy her an orange with. She had been craving all day for an orange, and every time she fell asleep she dreamt that she held the orange in her hand, and that it fell to the ground. I would have done anything for one penny, but I could not get it."

"I am very sorry," said Lady Yorke. "If I had known——"

"No one knows!" cried the poor woman. "We work and toil, we suffer and die, and no one knows—only Heaven. Heaven counts our miseries and pains, and will change them into blessings. Annie will be in Heaven soon, and there will be no more hunger or cold for her."

For the first time I saw tears in Lady Yorke's eyes.

"Would you like very much to keep Annie with you?" she asked; and I hardly knew her voice. It had lost its languor, and was clear and sweet.

"Would I? Ah, my lady, Annie is the very heart that beats in my breast!" she cried. "When she is gone, all is gone. I shall not try to live; I shall lie down by her side and die."

"How long is it since you have tasted food?" I asked her.

"Two whole days," she replied.

Her white quivering hands and trembling hands bore testimony to the truth of her words. Lady Yorke looked at me.

"We must help them," she said; and, as she uttered the words, it seemed to me that a new soul shone in her eyes.

We left the house and went to the nearest shops.

"Tell me what to buy, Miss Chester," she said; and a basket of food, including some fine ripe oranges, was ordered to be taken to the woman's house.

The poor creature never thought of herself. I shall never forget the cry with which she seized an orange and gave it to the child. It was one of delirious delight.

"I shall do all I can for you," said Lady Yorke, as she came away. "If we can save little Annie, she shall be saved."

And again I saw tears in the blue eyes which until now had never looked out on other's woes.

CHAPTER VII.

The next morning Lady Yorke was down-stairs, alert and energetic, before nine. Her husband looked up in surprise as he entered the breakfast-room. This happened to be one of the rare days when we were alone.

"A revolution!" he cried. "The most luxurious woman in England down at the early hour of nine. I cannot understand it."

"Do not laugh at me, Stanley," she said. "I am very much in earnest this morning. I want to talk to you."

When she had sought him before it had generally been to ask either for new jewels, or a cheque for some heavy bill—always something for herself, never anything for any one else; and I am sure that he expected the same thing now.

"I want to talk to you, Stanley," she continued. "Do you know what the world is like outside our park gates? Here we have safety and shelter, warmth and luxury—the roses of life without the thorns. Do you know what it is outside?"

"I know something of it," he replied, half sadly.

"Ah, such a world, Stanley," she said. "There is sickness, sorrow, poverty, hunger. [illegible]"

She told him all that had occurred. Just for one half moment I was uncertain as to whether he would be quite pleased or not. Had I been mistaken in thinking that he was sometimes disgusted at her supreme indifference to all things except herself? My doubts were soon cleared. He looked at her with the most loving smile I had ever seen on his face.

"I am glad, Louise," he said. "I have always thought that, if you understood more of what was going on in the world around you, you would try to help others. And now about this poor woman—Mrs. Clinton, did you say? What do you want to do for her?"

"Everything," was the comprehensive reply. "She must have a nice clean cottage in the fresh air, plenty of food and clothes—all that is wanted to make her daughter well."

"She shall have it," Lord Yorke said, smiling. "You could not employ your time or your money better than in relieving the poor. But all charity must be governed by discretion. While the woman and child are ill, keep them; but afterwards, although you can go on helping her, let her work for herself. It will be greater charity to place the means of gaining her livelihood in her hands than to give her money enough to live upon."

"I see that," she replied gravely. "Oh, Stanley, if I had only thought before now, how many people I might have saved. It must be a terrible thing to die of hunger."

He laid his hand lightly on her beautiful head.

"It is never too late to mend," he said. "I have often wished that you could give a little of your time and attention to charity."

"Why did you not tell me so?" she asked, eagerly.

"My dear Louise," there comes a time when every one wakes to the realities of life. Your time had not come."

"I shall never be so careless again. I feel as though through all these years I had truly been asleep," said Lady Yorke.

Then they discussed what was best to be done. Lord Yorke suggested that one of the pretty cottages built on modern principles which stood just outside Woodheaton, should be given to the poor woman rent-free until she was better. Lady Yorke was to allow her so much each week until she could earn money herself.

"You must remember one thing, Louise," said his lordship, "that you will meet with many cases quite as pitiful as this, and that it will not do to give all to one."

The next time he met me he took my hand and held it for a moment in his. He looked at my black dress.

"From your own sorrows," he said, "you have learned to feel for others. Heaven bless you!"

Then I knew that he was well pleased that I had tried to draw his beautiful young wife from her self-worship and interest her in others.

The next evening, at dessert, she looked critically at some fine grapes that were on her plate. Two days earlier she would have sent them away; now her eyes sought mine, and I knew she was thinking, "What would little sick Annie give for them?"

It was a small beginning, but it would lead to greater things. Gradually Lady Yorke woke from her long lethargy. She began to interest herself in her own servants, to understand that they had pleasures and sorrows. She lost much of her indolence. She was no longer content to spend the greater part of the day on a couch. She thought more of the widow and orphan in their desolation, of the sick and ailing who wanted help, of the hungry who wanted food.

So life passed on at Westwood, and no great change came until the spring. To me every birthday, every Christmas day, were as milestones on the way to Heaven. As I passed each, I was nearer to Mark.

Again the lilacs were in bloom. They were not so plentiful or so beautiful at Westwood as at Gracedieu, but the sight and the fragrance of them brought back forcibly the remembrance of my lover to me. No words can tell the sharp pain that pierced my heart when I saw the nodding plumes. Lady Yorke was fond of lilacs. While they lasted she would have them in the rooms. I never told her what the sight of them cost me.

The keeper of the west lodge having found a better situation, Mrs. Clinton, with her little daughter, through Lord Yorke's kindness, went to live there. By Lady Yorke's wish I went to visit them almost every day. The lilacs grew all round the west lodge—tall, fine trees, with a wealth of fragrant blossoms. Mrs. Clinton, who could never do enough for me, had gathered some of the finest sprays; and one morning, when I went to see her, she held the branches of lilac-bloom close to my face.

"See, miss," she said, "how fresh they are!"

If I had seen some one risen from the dead, I could not have grown more sick at heart. I went home sad and weary. Here was the world waking up again to the beauty and glory of spring, and my heart was sinking, my hope was death. My lover, to whom my love, my troth, my faith was plighted, was dead. What could spring, sunshine, or bloom of flowers say to me? As I walked home and saw the yellow primroses shining like stars in the grass, and the buds bursting into leaf, I sobbed aloud. I felt so tired of waiting. If some angel hand would but draw me up to Heaven and place me by Mark's side. Oh, my love, how I loved you! All the beauty of earth, the fairness of spring, the brightness of life, were as naught to me, because you were no longer with me!

There were times like these when my courage failed me, when my heart ached, and I could only weep and call on one who would hear me never more. It was the sweet odor of the fresh lilacs that had brought Mark so vividly back to me. I could see his face, I could hear his voice, his warm, strong hand seemed to clasp mine—and he was dead!

As I entered the house I met Lady Yorke in the hall.

"Will you come to the library, Miss Chester?" she said. "I have some letters I must answer, and some for you to write."

When we were seated there, and she had made those inquiries about the sick child which she never omitted, she showed me a bundle of letters.

"We shall have a large party here soon," she said. "This morning I had a letter from Lord Severne. We met him and his wife last year in Italy, and I made him promise that ours should be the first house in England that they would visit. Lord Severne is a great favorite of mine. You have heard of the Severnes of Mount Severne?"

"No," I replied. The name was quite strange to me.

"It was a very old title, Lady Yorke told me, but the present possessor had come quite unexpectedly into it.

"I must say," continued her ladyship, "that I have been a most indifferent member of society. No one has ever seemed to interest me; but I certainly [illegible] Lord Severne. [illegible] bly impressed with his wife. We were very intimate with them, and went out with them almost every day. Lady Severne is quite unlike her husband. He is earnest, grave, with a strange veil of melancholy always over him; she is the most animated, the gayest and most brilliant woman I have ever met. She tired me in an hour, and I am sure she tired her husband too. He liked to talk quietly with me. He is the only man," she continued, "who has ever really roused my curiosity."

"Why?" I asked.

"Because he appears too good a man to have done any great wrong, and yet he looks like a man with some heavy burden on his mind. I am sure you will like him, Miss Chester, but I am not sure whether you will like his wife. She has such a strange name too."

"What is it?" I asked. I had never heard Lady Yorke say so much about any living creature.

"Lurline," she replied. "Now can you fancy any sensible woman with a name like that?"

"Her name is her misfortune, not her fault," I said. "I like it, Lady Yorke. It is fanciful and uncommon."

"It is like herself," declared her ladyship. "Well, Miss Chester, we must have a party to meet them. Lord Severne himself does not care about society, but Lady Severne lives for it only. We must have plenty of visitors, and plenty of gaiety to amuse her."

"She is a troublesome visitor," I said, with a laugh.

"Yes, but she is a power in herself. She is one of those women who sweep all before them. Lord Yorke could only compare her to a whirlwind. Yet I cannot imagine how she has persuaded her husband to return to England. When we were in Florence, she said nothing would induce her to live in this climate. We will ask Lady Mary Avon and her brother Sir Charles to meet them. Lady Severne is more than a match in conversation for any six gentlemen at once."

"Is she a flirt?" I asked.

"To tell you the truth, Miss Chester, I could never make out exactly what she was. I only know that we liked her husband, and for his sake we endured her, as we shall endure her again. They will be here next Tuesday, so we must hasten to send out the invitations."

And as I wrote them I wondered much what Lady Severne could be like.

[To be continued.]

TELLS THE TRUTH.

"This medicine I can highly recommend. Burdock Blood Bitters are the best blood purifier we have ever used." Chas. A. Burt, 15 Court St., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Bad Boy Again.

"What broke your pa up at the roller skating rink?" asked the groceryman.

"O, everything broke him up," said the bad boy. "He is broke up so that ma buttons the top of his pants to his collar button, like a bicycle rider. Well, he had no business to have told me and my chum that he used to be the best skater in North America, when he was a boy. He said he skated once from Albany to New York in 1 hour and 80 minutes. Me and my chum thought that if pa was such a terror on skates we would get a pair of roller skates and enter him as the "great unknown," and clean out the whole gang. We told pa that he must remember that roller skates were different from ice skates, and that maybe he couldn't skate on them; but he said it didn't make any difference what they were as long as they were skates, and he would just paralyze the whole crowd. So we got a big pair of roller skates for him, and while we were strapping them on pa, he looked at the skaters glide around on the smooth waxed floor just as though they were greased. Then pa looked at the skates on his feet, after they were fastened—sort of forlorn like, the way a horse thief does when they put shackles on his legs, and I told him if he was afraid he couldn't skate with them we would take them off; but he said he would beat anybody that was there, or bust a suspender. Then we straightened pa up and pointed him toward the middle of the room, and he said "leggo" and we just gave him a little push to start him, and he began to go. Well, by gosh, you'd a dide to see pa try to stop. You see you can't stick in your heel and stop, like you can on ice skates, and pa soon found that out, and he began to turn side ways, and then he threw up his arms and walked on his heels, and he lost his hat, and his eyes began to stick out, cause he was going right toward an iron post. One arm caught the post and he circled around it a few times, and then he let go and began to fall, and sir, he kept falling all across the room, and everybody got out of the way, except a girl, who pa grabbed by the polonaise, like a drowning man grabs at straws, though there was not any straws in the polonaise as I know of, but pa just pulled her along as though she was done up in a shawl strap, and her feet went out from under him, and he struck on his shoulders and kept agoing, with the girl dragging along like a bundle of clothes. If pa had had another pair of roller skates on his shoulders, and castors on his ears, he couldn't have slid along any better. Pa is a short, thick set man, and as he was rolling along on his back, he looked like a sofa with castors on, being pushed across the room by a girl. Finally pa came to the wall and had to stop, and the girl fell right across him, with her roller skates on his neck, and she called him an old brute, and told him if he didn't let go of her polonaise she would murder him. Just then my chum and me got there and we amputated pa from the girl, and lifted him up, and I told him for Heaven's sake to let us take off his skates, cause he couldn't skate any more than a cow, and pa was mad and said for us to let him alone and he could skate all right, and we let go and he struck out again. Well, sir, I was ashamed. An old man like pa ought to know better than to try and be a boy. This last time pa said he was going to spread himself, and if I am any judge of a big spread he hid spread himself. Somehow the skates had got turned around sideways on his feet, and his feet got to going in different directions, [illegible] hit me on the nose, and I thought if he wanted to strike the best friend he had he could run his old legs off himself. When he began to separate we could hear the bones crack, but maybe it was his pants, but anyway he came down on the floor like one of those fellows in the circus who spreads himself, and he kept going, and finally he surrounded an iron post with his legs, and he stopped, and he looked pale, and the proprietor of the rink told pa if he wanted to give a flying trapeze performance he would have to go to the gymnasium, and he couldn't skate on his shoulders anymore, cause other skaters were afraid of him. Then pa said he would kick the liver out of the proprietor of the rink, and he got up and steadied himself, and then he tried to kick the man, but both heels went up to once, and pa turned a back summersault and struck right on his vest in front. I guess it knocked the breath right out of him, for he didn't speak for a few minutes, and then he wanted to go home, and we put him in a street car and he laid down on the hay and rode home. Oh, the work we had to get pa's clothes off. He had cricks in his back, and ma was away at one of the neighbors' to look at the presents, and I had to put liniment on pa, and I made a mistake and got a bottle of furniture polish and put it on pa and rubbed it in, and when ma came in pa smelled like a coffin at a charity funeral, and ma said there was no way of getting the varnish off pa till it wore off. Pa says holidays are a condemned nuisance anyway. He will have to stay in the house all this week." [Peck's Sun.

HOW TO AVOID DRUNKENNESS.

Forbid intoxicating nostrums and use Parker's Ginger Tonic in your family. This delicious remedy never intoxicates, is a true blood and brain food, and aiding all the vital functions never fails to invigorate. 37w2

Fashion Notes.

There is a considerable reduction in New York on fur-lined and seal-skin garments.

Crystal and pearl-beaded ornaments are the garniture for evening dresses of light colors.

A beaded collar makes a beautiful finish for square-necked dresses of black velvet or satin.

Evening dresses for young ladies are made of white satin, with silver brocaded rosebuds.

Round Jersey basques are less frequently made than the coat tail and postilion basques with full square back.

Since the close of the holiday season a further reduction has been made in fashionable dress goods in New York.

Satin finished goods still find favor, nothwithstanding the prediction that has been made that they are going out of style.

The Directoire collar is again very much in favor. It is made of some fabric different from the dress and is lined with stiff crinoline.

Enormous fans, which are so much used for fire screens, come in cretonne, with gold embroidery, satin hand-painted, and in velvet, with applique designs.

Lilies are out of favor. They are no longer in demand for the corsage, and are only used in large set pieces, especially ordered for entertainments.

Some people will again wear combinations of blue and scarlet, brown and scarlet, and green and scarlet. The bright color is usually introduced in the sash, buttons, collar and cuffs.

Plush is very much used now for everything, to combine with other materials for costumes, and even for pelisses and demipelisses as well as for Watteau garments, fringed with chenille.

Vest and plastron trimmings—indeed, all trimmings for the front of dress waists—must be put very narrow and quite close together in order to give the slender long-waisted effect now in vogue.

Padding and wadding on the bust and under the arms is avoided, as it is the fashion of the time to have the figure supple and natural looking in preference to the stiff, wooden, tightly laced dresses formerly worn. [Rome Sentinel.

ALLOW US TO SAY

That a good deal of the suffering in this world can be avoided by purchasing Dr Thomas Eclectric Oil, and using it as per directions. It is an infallible cure for all aches, sprains, and pains.

To Mexican Pensioners.

The Mexican War Service Pension Bill is about to become a law; therefore the names and addresses of such soldiers and the widows of those who have died should be sent us on postal cards or otherwise at once by the persons entitled or by friends of such who may see this notice.

In order to keep these claims separate from our other business, mention "Mexican War."

Address, N. W. FITZGERALD & Co., Box 588. Washington, D. C.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly. The most desirable building lots in Oswego Falls. For terms etc., inquire at Fulton of 25tf HENRY E. NICHOLS.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading [illegible]

ST. JACOBS OIL

TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY.

FOR

RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO., Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE

for all diseases of the Kidneys and

LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fult or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,

SAWING, RE-SAWING,

SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6. GEO. J. EMENY, H. H. GRIDLEY.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

J. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 88

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition..........
Board and Tuition (short week)..........20
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. WHEELER, 36tf Fulton Times Office.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE.

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Jan. 31, 1883.

OIL is booming and speculation is running riot.

IN the last five years 20,763 persons have perished at sea.

OS[illegible] WILDE has publicly declared he will revisit America next fall. Who cares?

ORDERS to provide better security against fires has been issued to many of the hotels in New York.

VENNOR says February will be an unusually warm month and rain will be plenty. He also claims that his prediction for January was verified in every particular.

THE public debt decreased over $15,000,000 during the month of December. If it continues to be paid off at the present rate, it will be extinguished in about twelve years.

THE murderers of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke are announced by cable to be in custody. These murderers are discovered as often as we find our own Charley Ross, and with as satisfactory results.

EX-SENATOR MCDONALD, of Indiana, democrat, has launched out as a Presidential candidate. He doesn't mean to be left and his previousness reminds one of the colonel who said:—"As I'm a little lame I'll start now."

THE names of more than 5,000 persons are now on the 1812 war pension-roll—and the war ended more than seventy years ago. It's astonishing how conducive to longevity a soldier's life is! It leaves literary life a long way in the lurch.

AN important though unique industry is carried on by a firm in Baton Rouge, La. A fleet of boats are fitted out for the transportation of bees in hives and they travel up and down that muddy stream to keep pace with the blooming of flowers.

PEOPLE in the United States do not take so rapidly to cremation as was expected. At Le Moyne crematory, Washington, Pa., Friday, a three year old child was incinerated. This is the sixteenth cremation at Washington since the building of the crematory.

THE English postmaster-general Fawcett, is totally blind, and Mr. James Richardson, who has just been appointed receiver and accountant-general to the Post Office is totally deaf. The infirmities of these two gentlemen combined in one would make some office holders in America happy, as they could successfully withstand the importunities of office-seekers.

ACCORDING to the reports received by the Ensilage Congress now in session in New York city, the use of ensilage on farms and in dairies is rapidly increasing. This is a subject of interest to everybody, for if cattle can be fed more cheaply on ensilage than on ordinary fodder, and at the same time can be kept in better health and condition, that fact must have an important influence on the markets.

THE colored people are quick to emulate and put to a practical test the workings of their white brethren. The Olive Baptist church, of Lawrence, Mass., held a festival Friday night and the pastor James Powers, took the cash proceeds from the treasurer and said he would be custodian of them until the next morning. The dusky pastor had often expressed a desire to travel—and has traveled. He took with him the proceeds amounting to $450.00.

FOLLOWING so closely upon an extraordinary series of storms and disasters, the announcement of the discovery of a new comet by the Mexican astronomers on Sunday evening will doubtless be regarded by superstitious persons as an omen of more evils to come especially if the comet should turn out to be a big one. With its shipwrecks, fires, floods, tempests, and explosions, and the appearance of a new comet the month of January 1883 will not be soon forgotten.

A NEW rival brass band was hired to play at the funeral of a Connecticut deacon last Friday. They were playing a slow and solemn dirge at the grave, when suddenly the trombone man shot out a blast that started the hearse horses and broke up the whole procession. The leader, turning upon him fiercely, asked him what in the name of all possessed he was doing that for? He answered with a smile: "Gosh! I thought it was a note, and it was a hoss-fly; but I played it."

IN 1869 the whipping post was abolished in Maryland and recently a law was passed reestablishing it making wife beating alone punishable by it. Since abolishing the lash wife beating had increased to such a disgraceful extent throughout the State a resort to it was deemed necessary to protect wives from the brutality of their husbands. In Baltimore, Monday, Charles Foote received seven lashes for kicking his wife. The lash is said to produce a better result than confinement.

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND believes in making hay while the sun shines—not the N. Y. Sun. He walks to and from the capitol; polishes his shoes; shaves himself, and in other ways deports himself as an official should under our form of government. He tolerates no display and is as approachable as any merchant in Fulton. He is a man that realizes he was not elected to be looked at, but to serve the people, and he has started in well. How unlike some individuals that have occupied the gubernatorial chair is Grover Cleveland.

THE railroad commissioners have at last been confirmed. The confirmation of Kernan and Rogers was unanimous while that of O'Donnell was accomplished by 28 ayes to 7 nays. The Railroad Commissioners of the State are allowed an annual salary of $8,000 each. The Commission is allowed one clerk at $2,000 per year and a marshal at $1,500. The total expenses of the Commission is not to exceed $50,000 a year, to be paid by assessments upon the railroads. The commissioners and assistants are allowed to ride free upon all railroads in the state.

*It is impossible to disguise the fact [illegible] Compound, prepared [illegible] direction of Mrs Ly- [illegible] with the superior [illegible]

THE OUTSIDE WORLD.

Happenings of a Week Briefed. A Variety of News.

—General John A. Reynolds of Rochester, was elected commander of the G. A. R. of this state at the recent encampment in Troy.

—Behr Bros. & Co. piano factory burned in New York Monday morning, loss $100,000. Hazelton's piano rooms in the same city were damaged by fire Monday morning to the amount of $100,000.

—Jem Mace and Slade, the Maori, were arrested in New York Monday night and prevented from giving a sparring exhibition. It was decided that as an admission was charged it took the phase of a prize fight.

—"Look out for the locomotive" is a suggestion that goes unheeded by many it would seem. There were 135 people killed and 326 injured, on the New York Central Railroad the past year, according to the company's report.

—Even beautiful Denver has unpleasant visitations from the elements. During a wind storm Monday a dozen or more buildings were demolished, and the roofs of many were torn off, in some instances being carried 250 feet.

—Mr. Fuller, of New Haven, purchased in the fall 165 barrels of apples at $2.25 per barrel. He was holding them, expecting by spring to sell them at $3.75 a barrel. The other night they were frozen, and he was obliged to sell them to the owner of a cider mill for 75 cents per barrel.

—Andrew Coran, a spike maker of Troy, a seventh son of a seventh son, reputed to possess marvelous gifts of healing, has been compelled to abandon his accustomed labor and devote himself to the lame, the halt and the blind. On Wednesday, Coran's house was thronged with persons on crutches, on limping legs, or with sore eyes, all seeking relief, which in some cases was given.

John Gilbert, the actor who was injured in the Newhall Hotel fire in Milwaukee, is slightly better, physically, but is highly delirious, and physicians announce that his injuries are such that should he recover he will always be an idiot. He has not been told of the horrible fate of his wife. His ravings are affecting, always recurring to his dead wife, but apparently not comprehending the awful tragedy of her fate.

—Brick making along the Hudson River is one of the big industries of the state. There are about 160 yards, varying in capacity from 25,000 to 140,000 bricks per day. The daily move is about 8,000,000, or for the season of six months 1,092,000,000. Counting a brick eight inches in length, this production would lay a walk six bricks wide around the world. For labor these yards pay nearly $3,000,000 in the course of the season, wages ranging from $1.25 for boys to $3.50 per day for best men.

—Irrigation has been tried in western Kansas with marvelous results. Formerly it was thought that the dry plains stretching toward Arkansas river were useless for agricultural purposes. The light and fickle rainfall, the dry air, the hot winds and the long summers constitute a combination of unfavorable elements that it would be impossible to overcome. But broad ditches were dug that distributed the waters of the Arkansas over these tracts, and now they bloom like a garden. The crops yielded the past year were astonishing. Onions were raised at the rate of 500 bushels to the acre, oats 100 bushels, and other products in similar proportion.

—The ice harvest along the Hudson river is now beginning to fail. The conceded yield will be nearly 3,000,000 tons, one of the largest, if not the largest ever taken from the Hudson. Not as many new houses were built last fall as during the previous year. Still those constructed are quite large, and increase the storing capacity to the neighborhood of 200,000 tons. The ice is 8 to 10 inches thick and is owing to the low condition of the river when it froze, clear as crystal. Housing this year costs 4 to 7 cents less per ton than last year. Notwithstanding the cry of short crop last winter, 100,000 tons remains unsold at the beginning of the year. Nearly 50,000 tons of this was gathered in 1880 and held for a good market.

—Physicians are not without their grievances and an interesting meeting of over two hundred of the allopathic school, members of the Medical Society of the county of New York was held in New York Monday. The subject of debate was that part of the revised code of medical ethics adopted by the State Medical Society last February, under which the old restrictions against homœopathic physicians is abolished and the rule is made to read as follows:

> Members of the Medical Society of the State of New York, and of the medical societies in affiliation therewith may meet in consultation with legally qualiged practitioners of medicine. Emergencies may occur in which all restrictions should, in the judgement of the practitioner, yield to the demands of humanity.

Dr. Rossa persisted that the homœopathic physicans were members of the regular medical societies and were so required to be by law and was in favor of consultation with them. Dr. Sayer said the approval of the new code would exclude the society from association with honorable members of the society. A vote was finally reached which stood 147 for consulting with homœopathic physicians to 60 against. The action of the approaching State Medical Society will be watched with interest.

That Husband of Mine

Is three times the man he was before he began using "Wells' Health Renewer." $1. Druggists.

☞Diaries for 1883, ten per cent less than cost at Williams' drug store First street, Fulton. 35tf

☞Mrs. D. E. Mason and Miss Emma Watson say that they were troubled with bad corns. Dr. J. D. Perkins removed them without injury. Office over Goodjon's shoe store, Fulton, N. Y. 36

ROBERT GORDON.

Having decided to close my store in Oswego for repairs, I will place on sale part of my stock of Dry Goods regardless of cost for thirty days, commencing Thursday, Jan'y 25th, in Nelson building, [illegible] Oneida St., between 2d and 3rd, [illegible]

STATE ENCAMPMENT G. A. R.

Election of Officers—Grand Banquet—Adjournment.

TROY, Jan. 25.—The state encampment of the G. A. R. of the state of New York met Tuesday evening with Post Willard at Troy. Among the prominent veterans present were Grand Commander of the United States Van Der Voort of Omaha, Gen. Slocum of Brooklyn, Col. Day of New York, aide to the commander-in-chief; Gen. Parker, formerly of Gen. Grant's staff; Generals H. A. Barnum and Bullard of New York, General Murray, Corporal James Tanner of Brooklyn, Judge Bliss and Commander Cantine of Rome, Department Commander Frasier, Chaplain and Chief Commander Foster of the national department, Past Commander Merritt and others. At the camp fire on Tuesday evening Senior Vice-Department Commander Keith briefly extended a hearty welcome to those present, to which responses were made by Commander Treadwell of Post 121, Commander Thompson of Post 7, Assistant Inspector General Cantine of Rome, Generals Murray and Barnum, Corporal Tanner and others. At 11 o'clock Wednesday morning the procession of local military and visiting posts and delegates was held. Despite the biting air the streets were filled with spectators, who loyally cheered the veterans. A number of posts and other organizations announced to take part in the parade preferred to remain at the hotels rather than face the cold. The procession reached the city hall about noon. At the rear of the stage hung an elegant silk banner, on which was inscribed: "Department of New York, Grand Army of the Republic." Doring's band rendered "A day in camp," a medley of war songs. The mayor's welcome was given by Samuel Foster, to which Department Commander Frasier and Commander in chief Van DerVort responded. The business sessions of the encampment were not public.

The grand army encampment elected the following department officers: Commander, Gen. John A. Reynolds, of Rochester; senior vice-commander, H. Clay Hall, of Little Falls; junior vice-commander, F. Z. Jones, of Newburgh; medical director, Wm. H. Hall, of Saratoga; chaplain, J. H. Gunning, of Nyack; council of administration, Wm. C. Booth, of Brooklyn, A. Howell of New York, T. L. Poole of Syracuse, W. Blosie and J. M. Forquhar; delegates to the national encampment, Henry W. Slocum at large, C. A. McArthur, John M. Farquahar, H. J. Swift, John W. Jacubus, Thomas N. Scott, T. C. Miles, John Parks, E. Goodrich, E. A. Nash, A. J. Larish, John E. Savery, A. H. Spear, W. Q. Huggins, N. Cheney, W. L. DeLong, A. D. Limberger, L. P. Thompson, George E. Story, W. J. Sherman, George J. Cantine. A resolution was adopted deprecating the attempt of a United States senator to detract from the fame of General Thomas. It was ordered transmitted to the senate. It was resolved to hold the next annual encampment at Rochester, and the semi-annual one at Bath, Steuben county. The Encampment adjourned sine die. A grand banquet followed the adjournment.

Premature grayness avoided by using Parker's Hair Balsam, distinguished for its cleanliness and perfume. 37t2

Trashy Literature and Foolish Boys.

Grove Lawrence the seventeen year old Phoenix boy who recently hung himself was a constant reader of the most sensational class of light literature and his strongest ambition was to become a "cow boy" on the plains. To this end four youths of about his age had banded together, chosen him presiding officer and treasurer, and were perfecting arrangements to leave for the territories, next Autumn. A bank book, found among his effects, showed that the party had about $10 in the bank to the credit of the treasurer, which was to be used to assist them on to their destination.

A boy in his 14th year, with a girlish face and lisp, was found straying about the streets of Rochester at one o'clock Friday morning and taken to a police station. A search revealed on his person a big pistol, a gimlet, a pair of scissors, a tallow candle, a Police Gazette, and some novels with such titles as "The Wharf Rat's Revenge" and "Cannoneer Ben; or the Pirates Last Shot." His intention was to commit a few ordinary robberies at home, and then start out for greater achievements in the far west.

Every community has a few young boys who are readers of books and papers of the above captions that are anxious to emulate the daring example pictured by Jesse James and his gang. Some legislator that is casting about for a bill to make himself popular might frame one prohibiting the publication of flash literature.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging irritation, inflamation, all Kidney and Urinary Complaints, cured by "Buchu-paiba." $1.

Granby S. S. Union.

The Granby S. S. Union will be held at Bowens Corners on Sunday, Feb. 4th at 2 o'clock p. m.. Judge Harmon will be present and show what is in the Sunday schools in our town. He will need and expect a report from each school giving the number of minors that have attended each in town during the past year. We wish the superintendents to be prompt in making such reports.

S. B. DUTTON, Sec.

D. M. COX, Pres.

Please to recollect that F. E. BACON is selling Buttons, Notions and Fancy Goods at a less rate than ever before.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best ones go,
Danger in delay you know,
Go to Lathrop's high and low—
[illegible]

A STRANGE REMINISCENCE.

The Escape of a Well-known ex-Army Surgeon from an Unforseen Danger.

[Baltimore American.]

Messrs. Editors:

I seldom appear publicly in print, but the facts connected with my experience are so striking, and bear so closely upon the experience of others, that I venture to reproduce them entire:

In the month of September, 1879, I was practicing medicine in New Orleans. The summer had been excessively hot and everybody was complaining of being exhausted and feeling tired. It was not an unfrequent occurrence to have patients ask for something to relieve this weary sensation, and that I should also partake of the same universal lassitude or weakness, did not alarm me. I supposed that over-work and exposure had produced a temporary physical prostration; therefore I made a trip to St Paul, Minn., thinking that a rest of a few weeks in a cooler climate would soon reinvigorate me. After getting settled in my new quarters I took a short walk every day, and patiently awaited a return of strength, but in spite of all my efforts I seemed to be losing strength; and even any slight exercise became laborious and tiresome. During this time I had frequent dull aching pains in my head, and through my back and hips, occasional shooting pains in various parts of the body, with soreness, shortness of breath, and palpitation of the heart. My feet and hands would be like cakes of ice one day, and burn with heat the next. I had no desire for food, and what I did eat distressed me; my sleep became disturbed with a frequent desire to urinate. The quantity of fluid passed would at one time be small and at another time quite profuse. Then for days I seemed to be perfectly free from this desire and nothing seemed to be the matter; nevertheless my debility gradually increased. My eyelids were puffed out; my bowels were alternately torpid and too active, the urine would be clear some days, on others it would be of high color and deposit a brick-dust sediment, and at still others there would be a whitish appearance and a thin greasy scum would rise to the top. The pains in my head, back, chest, joints, bowels and bones were horrible in the extreme. I went in vain from place to place and consulted the best medical authorities the country affords; I would have a chill one day and a burning fever the next. I suffered excruciatingly with a numbness of my feet and hands, and at the base of the brain and between my shoulders; at times my limbs and body would bloat and physicians said I was suffering from the dropsy and could not recover.

How I could be so blind to the terrible trouble that was devouring me, I do not know; but there are thousands today who are suffering from the same cause and are as ignorant of its nature as I was. My skin was the color of marble at one time, and then again it would be like saffron, and this terrible restlessness, and I might say wildness, was followed by a dull, heavy, drowsy sensation. I was wasted to a mere skeleton except when the dropsical bloat occurred. I tried all the celebrated mineral waters of this country and Europe; all kinds of medicine and all kinds of doctors. Still no hope came. I lay at my hotel in philadelphia, where I was temporary sojourning, given up to die by my friends and physicians alike, when there providentially came into my hands a little pamphlet, which I carefully read and from which I got a view of my real condition, which no other agency had revealed. Acting on its advice, I had my water analyzed at once, and to my surprise, albumen and tube casts were found in large quantities. A skillful physician was sent for and apprised of the fact. He said that I had Bright's Disease and that death was certain. My friends importuned me to take a remedy which had won a great reputation for the cure of all kinds of kidney diseases, and I therefore laid aside my prejudice and commenced its use. At first my stomach rejected it and I had to use small quantities; but after the first five days my stomach retained full doses. This was one year ago last October, and my improvement was rapid and permanent. I have regained fifty of the sixty-five pounds of flesh I lost during my illness, and, I feel as well to-day as I ever did, and I can unreservedly state that my life was saved by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, the remedy I sued.

It may seem strange that I, being a physician and an ex-Army surgeon, did not have the water analyzed before; but such is the fact. I had the symptoms of every other disease, and I did not suspect that my kidneys were in the least particular out of order; and here was just where I was in the greatest danger. I find that I am only one of thousands who are suffering from kidney disorders, which, neglected, surely terminate in Bright's disease, I also know that physicians may treat these disorders for months without knowing clearly what the trouble is, and even after ascertaining the cause, to be unable to prevent it. When death, however, finally over-takes the helpless victim they disguise its real cause, attributing it to heart disease, convulsions, appoplexy, vertigo, paralysis, spinal meningetis, blood and uremic, poisoning, etc., etc.

Words, of coarse, fail to express my thanks to H. H. Warner & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., for giving the world such a needed and certain specific as the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, but such as they are I gladly give them; while to the thousands to whom I have lectured upon the laws of health and hygiene I commend this letter most cordially, and warn them to beware of the insidious nature of a disease over which physicians confess they have no control and which in one form or another, is carrying more people to untimely graves than any other malady.

J. M. PORTER, M. D.

Baltimore, Md., 94 Saratoga street.

☞No lady who is a lover of rich, light cake and biscuit should fail to try the Tip Top Baking Powder. It is made only of Pure Grape Cream of tartar finest bicarbonate of soda and white of eggs. 35

☞Table linens less than cost at Gordon's branch store.
36

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of timber land the balance in a high state of cultivation. One hundred apple trees, one hundred pear trees, and a "sap bush" making one hundred pounds of sugar per year. Plenty of water and good buildings. A good bargain. Terms easy. Inquire on the premises or address

tf FREDERICK FOSTER, Fulton, N Y

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.

The following properties are offered at very low prices.

A Farm of 175 Acres.
" " 100 "
" " 65 "
" " 20 "
" " 104 "
" " 52 "
" " 20 "
" " 170 "
" " 28 "
" " 50 "
" " 40 "
A Place " 11 "
" " 8 "
" " 4 "
" " 225 "
" " 300 "

Money Loaned on [illegible]
F. B. [illegible]

Boston Concentrated FOOD

Excellent for Horses, Cattle and all kinds of stock. Also

Linseed Oil Meal!

For Sale at the
GENESEE MILLS,
W. S. Nelson & Co.

27m3

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, N. Y.

DO YOU WANT!

IF YOU WANT

dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards,
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
calling cards,
address cards,
shipping tags,
business cards,
wedding cards,
invitatation cards,
business circulars,
pamphlets printed,

If you want job printing of any description, done in a most satisfactory manner, you can satisfy your wants by calling at THE FULTON TIMES printing office

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the taxable inhabitants of the town of Volney, Oswego county, N. Y., that I, the undersigned, collector of taxes in and for the said town, have received the warrant for the collection of taxes for the present year, and that I will attend at the

Brigg's Hotel, Seneca Hill, on Jan 18, '83
Druces Corners Jan 25, and at the store of J. Bailey & Son, First Sreet, Fulton, N Y.

In said town on all other days (except Sundays) for thirty days from the date thereof, from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 4 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of receiving the payment of taxes.

JEFFERSON BAILEY, Collector.

Fulton, Jan. 3d, 1883.

GRAND MUSICAL FESTIVAL!

—AT—

State Arsenal, Syracuse, N. Y.

COMMENCING

Monday Evening, Feb. 5,

And Continuing Through The Week.

CONCERTS EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

The Attractions will be
Gilmore's Famous Military Band,
Of New York, comprising 60 instruments.
A CHORUS OF 600 VOICES,
And the following Celebrated Vocalists:

THE TEMPLE QUARTETTE, ...of Boston
MISS EMILY WINANT, Contralto, ...New York
MISS HENRIETTA BEEBE, Soprano, ...New York
MISS IDA V. HUBBELL, Soprano .....New York
MADAME NALENNI, Soprano, ...Boston
MR. THEODORE TOEDT, Tenor, ...New York
MR. FRANZ REMMERTZ, Baritone, ...New York

These Concerts to be given at popular prices:
Admission, 20c. Reserved Seats, 50c.
Special Rates on all the Railroads.

C. A. HILL, VETERINARY SURGEON.

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experirience.

References c n be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Boarding and Livery Stables

:o:

ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S.

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.

Horses and Carriages at all times.
Trusty Drivers when desired.
Hacks, Hearses and Carriages For Funerals.

35 N. ROWLEE.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.
PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. ARCTIC 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.
Get the best, don't be humbugged by imitations.

EXPEDITION

20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agency to ALVORD & SLEIGHT, publishers, 71 Wieting Block, Syracuse. Mention this paper.

DIAMOND DYES.

THE Best Dyes Ever Made.

FOR SILK, WOOL, OR COTTON. DRESSES, COATS, SCARFS, HOODS, YARN, STOCKINGS, CARPET RAGS, RIBBONS, FEATHERS, or any [illegible] Cardinal Red, Navy Blue, Seal Brown, [illegible] Green, Terra Cotta and 20 other best colors. [illegible]

JAMES COLE,

The old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51t

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS
Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:
OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.

Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174.

Those desiring can be waited on at their residence. Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cryuga street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.

Jan, 3. 83 1 yr.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	9.00	4.30	......	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	8.00	3.30	......	......
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.15	12.20	6.00
Winterton	12.00	7.38	12.52	6.43
Bloomingburgh	12.08	7.46	1.00	6.58
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	7.07
SUMMITVILLE	12.20	8.00	2.55	7.35
Fallsburg	1.00	....	4.03	9.00
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	9.20
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	9.40
Liberty	1.25	....	4.45	10.10
Parksville	1.40	....	6.05	10.45
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	11.18
Rockland	2.27	....	5.45	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	12.35
East Branch	3.00		6.28	1.40
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.55	3.25
WALTON	4.05	6.60	8.00	5.15
Franklin	4.38	7.45	8.50	......
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.30	8.30
Guilford	5.29	9.30	......	......
Oxford	5.43	10.00	......	......
NORWICH ......Arrive	6.00	10.40	......	10.00
	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.
NORWICH	6.05	2.05	6.55	8.25
North Norwich	6.17	2.25	7.07	8.47
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.22	9.15
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	9.36
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.30	7.40	10.08
Eaton	7.05	3.53	7.51	10.30
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	10.59
Munnsville	7.25	4.38	8.18	11.23
Community	7.38	5.02	8.26	11.55
ONEIDA	7.50	5.15	9.10	1.10
Fish Creek	*8.06	......	*9.34	1.55
North Bay	8.14	......	9.43	2.12
Cleveland	8.30	......	10.05	2.50
Bernhards Bay	*8.36	......	10.13	3.03
Constantia	8.45	......	10.27	3.25
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.02	......	10.50	4.10
Fulton	9.35	......	11.33	5.33
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.10	6.20
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y.Ar	8.25	10.50	10.00	......
" N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	9.10	......	11.50	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	6.10	5.50
Winterton	5.02	7.52	5.40	5.19
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.45	5.32	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.48	7.39	5.22	4.58
Summitville	4.40	7.30	5.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.03	....	4.30	3.08
Hurley	3.53	....	4.18	2.54
Liberty Falls	3.40	....	3.35	2.33
Liberty	3.36	....	3.27	2.20
Parksville	3.22	....	3.08	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.08	....	2.48	12.48
Rockland	2.53	....	2.27	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.20
East Branch	2.16		1.40	10.07
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	9.00
Walton	1.12	3.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.20	2.42	10.55	......
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	......
Guilford	11.29	12.55	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.55	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.20	7.55	6.05
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.45
Smyrna	10.26	10.50	7.33	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.24	5.05
Randallsville	10.08	10.08	7.15	4.45
Eaton	9.56	9.25	7.05	4.23
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.56	4.10
Munnsville	9.33	8.35	6.40	3.22
Community	9.17	7.55	6.23	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	5.24	12.40
North Bay	8.37	......	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	......	4.51	11.35
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	4.42	10.50
Constantia	8.07	......	4.32	10.27
Central Square	7.48	......	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	......	3.22	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	7.30
	a. m	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.39	7.30	2.36
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	9.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	8.36	9.08	11.16
DELHI	5.10	9.06	8.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	[illegible]
[illegible]	5.31	[illegible]
[illegible]	5.46	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	7.38
[illegible]	[illegible]	7.28
NEW BERLIN	[illegible]	7.00

[illegible] trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave [illegible] * stops on signal. [illegible] New York passengers only.

J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pass'r. Agt.

JONAS SHACKLETON,

Carpenter, Joiner and Cabinet Maker.

Furniture Made and Repaired.

[illegible]

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!

I spent three days in New York last week, and found some Splendid Fargains.

We now offer:

50 pieces best quality of Prints at 5 cents.

1000 yds 36 inch soft finish bleached muslin at 8cts. Same quality never sold in Fulton less than 10 to 11cts.

25 Pieces figured Worsted Dress Goods 12½c. former prices 18 and 15c.

25 Pieces Gingham, 10c. former price 12½c.

Ladies' Gossimers $1.45.

Ladies Black Coney Fur Collars $1.00.

FAY'S NEW YORK CASH STORE,
FULTON, N. Y.
E. B. FAY.

WE OFFER AT THE BAZAAR

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62.
Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40.

Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.

CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE, STOVES, SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware ESTABLISHMENT.

:o:

Our Stock of
Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware, is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

Estimates given on all kinds of Roofing and Tin Work.

45 GEO. JOHNSTON.

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

—OF—

NEW YORK.

:o:

This Company was Chartered in 1842.

Assets - - $94,702,957.92

:o:

Premium rates lower than any other Company.

W. C. WHEELER, Agent.

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Jan. 31, 1883.

OIL is booming and speculation is running riot.

IN the last five years 20,768 persons hav[illegible]ished at sea.

O[illegible]ILDE has publicly declared he will revisit America next fall. Who cares?

ORDERS to provide better security against fires has been issued to many of the hotels in New York.

VENNOR says February will be an unusually warm month and rain will be plenty. He also claims that his prediction for January was verified in every particular.

THE public debt decreased over $15,000,000 during the month of December. If it continues to be paid off at the present rate, it will be extinguished in about twelve years.

THE murderers of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke are announced by cable to be in custody. These murderers are discovered as often as we find our own Charley Ross, and with as satisfactory results.

EX-SENATOR MCDONALD, of Indiana, democrat, has launched out as a Presidential candidate. He doesn't mean to be left and his previousness reminds one of the colonel who said:—"As I'm a little lame I'll start now."

THE names of more than 5,000 persons are now on the 1812 war pension-roll—and the war ended more than seventy years ago. It's astonishing how conducive to longevity a soldier's life is! It leaves literary life a long way in the lurch.

AN important though unique industry is carried on by a firm in Baton Rouge, La. A fleet of boats are fitted out for the transportation of bees in hives and they travel up and down that muddy stream to keep pace with the blooming of flowers.

PEOPLE in the United States do not take so rapidly to cremation as was expected. At Le Moynes crematory, Washington, Pa., Friday, a three year old child was incinerated. This is the sixteenth cremation at Washington since the building of the crematory.

THE English postmaster-general Fawcett, is totally blind, and Mr. James Richardson, who has just been appointed receiver and accountant-general to the Post Office is totally deaf. The infirmities of these two gentlemen combined in one would make some office holders in America happy, as they could successfully withstand the importunities of office-seekers.

ACCORDING to the reports received by the Ensilage Congress now in session in New York city, the use of ensilage on farms and in dairies is rapidly increasing. This is a subject of interest to everybody, for if cattle can be fed more cheaply on ensilage than on ordinary fodder, and at the same time can be kept in better health and condition, that fact must have an important influence on the markets.

THE colored people are quick to emulate and put to a practical test the workings of their white brethren. The Olive Baptist church, of Lawrence, Mass., held a festival Friday night and the pastor James Powers, took the cash proceeds from the treasurer and said he would be custodian of them until the next morning. The dusky pastor had often expressed a desire to travel—and has traveled. He took with him the proceeds amounting to $450.00.

FOLLOWING so closely upon an extraordinary series of storms and disasters, the announcement of the discovery of a new comet by the Mexican astronomers on Sunday evening will doubtless be regarded by superstitious persons as an omen of more evils to come especially if the comet should turn out to be a big one. With its shipwrecks, fires, floods, tempests, and explosions, and the appearance of a new comet the month of January 1883 will not be soon forgotten.

A NEW rival brass band was hired to play at the funeral of a Connecticut deacon last Friday. They were playing a slow and solemn dirge at the grave, when suddenly the trombone man shot out a blast that started the hearse horses and broke up the whole procession. The leader, turning upon him fiercely, asked him what in the name of all possessed he was doing that for? He answered with a smile: "Gosh! I thought it was a note, and it was a hoss-fly; but I played it."

IN 1869 the whipping post was abolished in Maryland and recently a law was passed reestablishing it making wife beating alone punishable by it. Since abolishing the lash wife beating had increased to such a disgraceful extent throughout the State a resort to it was deemed necessary to protect wives from the brutality of their husbands. In Baltimore, Monday, Charles Foote received seven lashes for kicking his wife. The lash is said to produce a better result than confinement.

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND believes in making hay while the sun shines—not the N. Y. Sun. He walks to and from the capitol; polishes his shoes; shaves himself, and in other ways deports himself as an official should under our form of government. He tolerates no display and is as approachable as any merchant in Fulton. He is a man that realizes he was not elected to be looked at, but to serve the people, and he has started in well. How unlike some individuals that have occupied the gubernatorial chair is Grover Cleveland.

THE railroad commissioners have at last been confirmed. The confirmation of Kernan and Rogers was unanimous while that of O'Donnell was accomplished by 23 ayes to 7 nays. The Railroad Commissioners of the State are allowed an annual salary of $8,000 each. The Commission is allowed one clerk at [illegible] per year and a marshal at $1,500. [illegible] of the Commission is [illegible] $50,000 a year, to be paid [illegible] upon the railroads. The [illegible] and assistants are allowed [illegible] upon all railroads in the [illegible]

[illegible]

THE OUTSIDE WORLD.

Happenings of a Week Briefed. A Variety of News.

—General John A. Reynolds of Rochester, was elected commander of the G. A. R. of this state at the recent encampment in Troy.

—Behr Bros. & Co. piano factory burned in New York Monday morning, loss $100,000. Hazelton's piano rooms in the same city were damaged by fire Monday morning to the amount of $100,000.

—Jem Mace and Slade, the Maori, were arrested in New York Monday night and prevented from giving a sparring exhibition. It was decided that as an admission was charged it took the phase of a prize fight.

—"Look out for the locomotive" is a suggestion that goes unheeded by many it would seem. There were 135 people killed and 326 injured, on the New York Central Railroad the past year, according to the company's report.

—Even beautiful Denver has unpleasant visitations from the elements. During a wind storm Monday a dozen or more buildings were demolished, and the roofs of many were torn off, in some instances being carried 250 feet.

—Mr. Fuller, of New Haven, purchased in the fall 165 barrels of apples at $2.25 per barrel. He was holding them, expecting by spring to sell them at $3.75 a barrel. The other night they were frozen, and he was obliged to sell them to the owner of a cider mill for 75 cents per barrel.

—Andrew Coran, a spike maker of Troy, a seventh son of a seventh son, reputed to possess marvelous gifts of healing, has been compelled to abandon his accustomed labor and devote himself to the lame, the halt and the blind. On Wednesday, Coran's house was thronged with persons on crutches, on limping legs, or with sore eyes, all seeking relief, which in some cases was given.

—John Gilbert, the actor who was injured in the Newhall Hotel fire in Milwaukee, is slightly better, physically, but is highly delirious, and physicians announce that his injuries are such that should he recover he will always be an idiot. He has not been told of the horrible fate of his wife. His ravings are affecting, always recurring to his dead wife, but apparently not comprehending the awful tragedy of her fate.

—Brick making along the Hudson River is one of the big industries of the state. There are about 160 yards, varying in capacity from 25,000 to 140,000 bricks per day. The daily move is about 8,000,000, or for the season of six months 1,092,000,000. Counting a brick eight inches in length, this production would lay a walk six bricks wide around the world. For labor these yards pay nearly $3,000,000 in the course of the season, wages ranging from $1.25 for boys to $3.50 per day for best men.

—Irrigation has been tried in western Kansas with marvelous results. Formerly it was thought that the dry plains stretching toward Arkansas river were useless for agricultural purposes. The light and fickle rainfall, the dry air, the hot winds and the long summers constitute a combination of unfavorable elements that it would be impossible to overcome. But broad ditches were dug that distributed the waters of the Arkansas over these tracts, and now they bloom like a garden. The crops yielded the past year were astonishing. Onions were raised at the rate of 500 bushels to the acre, oats 100 bushels, and other products in similar proportion.

—The ice harvest along the Hudson river is now beginning to fail. The conceded yield will be nearly 3,000,000 tons, one of the largest, if not the largest ever taken from the Hudson. Not as many new houses were built last fall as during the previous year. Still those constructed are quite large, and increase the storing capacity to the neighborhood of 200,000 tons. The ice is 8 to 10 inches thick and is owing to the low condition of the river when it froze, clear as crystal. Housing this year costs 4 to 7 cents less per ton than last year. Notwithstanding the cry of short crop last winter, 100,000 tons remains unsold at the beginning of the year. Nearly 50,000 tons of this was gathered in 1880 and held for a good market.

—Physicians are not without their grievances and an interesting meeting of over two hundred of the allopathic school, members of the Medical Society of the county of New York was held in New York Monday. The subject of debate was that part of the revised code of medical ethics adopted by the State Medical Society last February, under which the old restrictions against homœopathic physicians is abolished and the rule is made to read as follows:

Members of the Medical Society of the State of New York, and of the medical societies in affiliation therewith may meet in consultation with legally qualiged practitioners of medicine. Emergencies may occur in which all restrictions should, in the judgement of the practitioner, yield to the demands of humanity.

Dr. Rossa persisted that the homœopathic physicans were members of the regular medical societies and were so required to be by law and was in favor of consultation with them. Dr. Sayer said the approval of the new code would exclude the society from association with honorable members of the society. A vote was finally reached which stood 147 for consulting with homœopathic physicians to 60 against. The action of the approaching State Medical Society will be watched with interest.

That Husband of Mine

Is three times the man he was before he began using "Wells' Health Renewer." $1. Druggists.

☞Diaries for 1833, ten per cent less than cost at Williams' drug store First street, Fulton. 35tf

☞Mrs. D. E. Mason and Miss Emma Watson say that they were troubled with bad corns. Dr. J. D. Perkins removed them without injury. Office over Goodjon's shoe store, Fulton, N. Y. 36

ROBERT GORDON.

Having decided to close my store in Oswego for repairs, I will place on sale part of my stock of Dry Goods regardless of cost for thirty days, commencing [illegible]

STATE ENCAMPMENT G. A. R.

Election of Officers—Grand Banquet—Adjournment.

TROY, Jan. 25.—The state encampment of the G. A. R. of the state of New York met Tuesday evening with Post Willard at Troy. Among the prominent veterans present were Grand Commander of the United States Van Der Voort of Omaha, Gen. Slocum of Brooklyn, Col. Day of New York, aide to the commander-in-chief; Gen. Parker, formerly of Gen. Grant's staff; Generals H. A. Barnum and Bullard of New York, General Murray, Corporal James Tanner of Brooklyn, Judge Bliss and Commander Cantine of Rome, Department Commander Frasier, Chaplain and Chief Commander Foster of the national department, Past Commander Merritt and others. At the camp fire on Tuesday evening Senior Vice-Department Commander Keith briefly extended a hearty welcome to those present, to which responses were made by Commander Treadwell of Post 121, Commander Thompson of Post 7, Assistant Inspector General Cantine of Rome, Generals Murray and Barnum, Corporal Tanner and others. At 11 o'clock Wednesday morning the procession of local military and visiting posts and delegates was held. Despite the biting air the streets were filled with spectators, who loyally cheered the veterans. A number of posts and other organizations announced to take part in the parade preferred to remain at the hotels rather than face the cold. The procession reached the city hall about noon. At the rear of the stage hung an elegant silk banner, on which was inscribed: "Department of New York, Grand Army of the Republic." Doring's band rendered "A day in camp," a medley of war songs. The mayor's welcome was given by Samuel Foster, to which Department Commander Frasier and Commander-in-chief Van DerVort responded. The business sessions of the encampment were not public.

The grand army encampment elected the following department officers: Commander, Gen. John A. Reynolds, of Rochester; senior vice-commander, H. Clay Hall, of Little Falls; junior vice-commander, F. Z. Jones, of Newburgh; medical director, Wm. H. Hall, of Saratoga; chaplain, J. H. Gunning, of Nyack; council of administration, Wm. C. Booth, of Brooklyn, A. Howell of New York, T. L. Poole of Syracuse, W. Blosie and J. M. Forquahar; delegates to the national encampment, Henry W. Slocum at large, C. A. McArthur, John M. Farquahar, H. J. Swift, John W. Jacubus, Thomas N. Scott, T. C. Miles, John Parks, E. Goodrich, E. A. Nash, A. J. Larish, John E. Savery, A. H. Spear, W. Q. Huggins, N. Cheney, W. L. DeLong, A. D. Limberger, L. P. Thompson, George E. Story, W. J. Sherman, George J. Cantine. A resolution was adopted deprecating the attempt of a United States senator to detract from the fame of General Thomas. It was ordered transmitted to the senate. It was resolved to hold the next annual encampment at Rochester, and the semi-annual one at Bath, Steuben county. The Encampment adjourned sine die. A grand banquet followed the adjournment

Premature grayness avoided by using Parker's Hair Balsam, distinguished for its cleanliness and perfume. 37t2

Trashy Literature and Foolish Boys.

Grove Lawrence the seventeen year old Phœnix boy who recently hung himself was a constant reader of the most sensational class of light literature and his strongest ambition was to become a "cow boy" on the plains. To this end four youths of about his age had banded together, chosen him presiding officer and treasurer, and were perfecting arrangements to leave for the territories, next Autumn. A bank book, found among his effects, showed that the party had about $10 in the bank to the credit of the treasurer, which was to be used to assist them on to their destination.

A boy in his 14th year, with a girlish face and lisp, was found straying about the streets of Rochester at one o'clock Friday morning and taken to a police station. A search revealed on his person a big pistol, a gimlet, a pair of scissors, a tallow candle, a Police Gazette, and some novels with such titles as "The Wharf Rat's Revenge" and "Cannoneer Ben; or the Pirates Last Shot." His intention was to commit a few ordinary robberies at home, and then start out for greater achievements in the far west.

Every community has a few young boys who are readers of books and papers of the above captions that are anxious to emulate the daring example pictured by Jesse James and his gang. Some legislator that is casting about for a bill to make himself popular might frame one prohibiting the publication of flash literature.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging irritation, inflamation, all Kidney and Urinary Complaints, cured by "Buchu-paiba." $1.

Granby S. S. Union.

The Granby S. S. Union will be held at Bowens Corners on Sunday, Feb. 4th at 2 o'clock p. m.. Judge Harmon will be present and show what is in the Sunday schools in our town. He will need and expect a report from each school giving the number of minors that have attended each in town during the past year. We wish the superintendents to be prompt in making such reports.

S. B. DUTTON, Sec.

D. M. COX, Pres.

Please to recollect that F. E. BACON is selling Buttons, Notions and Fancy Goods at a less rate than ever before.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade on character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

[illegible]

A STRANGE [illegible]

The Escape of a Well-known ex-Army Surgeon from an Untoward Danger.

[Baltimore American.]

Messrs. Editors:

I seldom appear publicly in print but the facts connected with my experience are so striking, and bear so closely upon the experience of others, that I venture to reproduce them entire:

In the month of September, 1879, I was practicing medicine in New Orleans. The summer had been excessively hot and everybody was complaining of being exhausted and feeling tired. It was not an unfrequent occurrence to have patients ask for something to relieve this weary sensation, and that I should also partake of the same universal lassitude or weakness, did not alarm me. I supposed that over-work and exposure had produced a temporary physical prostration; therefore I made a trip to St Paul, Minn., thinking that a rest of a few weeks in a cooler climate would soon reinvigorate me. After getting settled in my new quarters I took a short walk every day, and patiently awaited a return of strength, but in spite of all my efforts I seemed to be losing strength; and even any slight exercise became laborious and tiresome. During this time I had frequent dull aching pains in my head, and through my back and hips, occasional shooting pains in various parts of the body, with soreness, shortness of breath, and palpitation of the heart. My feet and hands would be like cakes of ice one day, and burn with heat the next. I had no desire for food, and what I did eat distressed me; my sleep became disturbed with a frequent desire to urinate. The quantity of fluid passed would at one time be small and at another time quite profuse. Then for days I seemed to be perfectly free from this desire and nothing seemed to be the matter; nevertheless my debility gradually increased. My eyelids were puffed out; my bowels were alternately torpid and too active, the urine would be clear some days, on others it would be of high color and deposit a brick-dust sediment, and at still others there would be a whiteish appearance and a thin greasy scum would rise to the top. The pains in my head, back, chest, joints, bowels and bones were horrible in the extreme. I went in vain from place to place and consulted the best medical authorities the country affords; I would have a chill one day and a burning fever the next. I suffered excruciatingly with a numbness of my feet and hands, and at the base of the brain and between my shoulders; at times my limbs and body would bloat and physicians said I was suffering from the dropsy and could not recover.

How I could be so blind to the terrible trouble that was devouring me, I do not know; but there are thousands today who are suffering from the same cause and are as ignorant of its nature as I was. My skin was the color of marble at one time, and then again it would be like saffron, and this terrible restlessness, and I might say wildness, was followed by a dull, heavy, drowsy sensation. I was wasted to a mere skeleton except when the dropsical bloat occurred. I tried all the celebrated mineral waters of this country and Europe; all kinds of medicine and all kinds of doctors. Still no hope came. I lay at my hotel in philadelphia, where I was temporary sojourning, given up to die by my friends and physicians alike, when there providentially came into my hands a little pamphlet, which I carefully read and from which I got a view of my real condition, which no other agency had revealed. Acting on its advice, I had my water analyzed at once, and to my surprise, albumen and tube casts were found in large quantities. A skillful physician was sent for and apprised of the fact. He said that I had Bright's Disease and that death was certain. My friends importuned me to take a remedy which had won a great reputation for the cure of all kinds of kidney diseases, and I therefore laid aside my prejudice and commenced its use. At first my stomach rejected it and I had to use small quantities; but after the first five days my stomach retained full doses. This was one year ago last October, and my improvement was rapid and permanent. I have regained fifty of the sixty-five pounds of flesh I lost during my illness, and, I feel as well to-day as I ever did, and I can unreservedly state that my life was saved by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, the remedy I sued.

It may seem strange that I, being a physician and an ex-Army surgeon, did not have the water analyzed before; but such is the fact. I had the symptoms of every other disease, and I did not suspect that my kidneys were in the least particular out of order; and here was just where I was in the greatest danger. I find that I am only one of thousands who are suffering from kidney disorders, which, neglected, surely terminate in Bright's disease, I also know that physicians may treat these disorders for months without knowing clearly what the trouble is, and even after ascertaining the cause, to be unable to prevent it. When death, however, finally over-takes the helpless victim they disguise its real cause, attributing it to heart disease, convulsions, appoplexy, vertigo, paralysis, spinal meningetis, blood and uremic, poisoning, etc., etc.

Words, of coarse, fail to express my thanks to H. H. Warner & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., for giving the world such a needed and certain specific as the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, but such as they are I gladly give them; while to the thousands to whom I have lectured upon the laws of health and hygiene I commend this letter most cordially, and warn them to beware of the insidious nature of a disease over which physicians confess they have no control and which in one form or another, is carrying more people to untimely graves than any other malady.

J. M. PORTER, M. D.

Baltimore, Md., 94 Saratoga street

☞No lady who is a lover of rich, light cake and biscuit should fail to try the Tip Top Baking Powder. It is made only of Pure Grape Cream of tartar finest bicarbonate of soda and white of eggs. 35

☞Table linens less than cost at 36 Gordon's branch store.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of timber land the balance in a high state of cultivation. One hundred apple trees, one hundred pear trees, and a "sap bush" making one hundred pounds of sugar per year. Plenty of water and good buildings. A good bargain. Terms easy. Inquire on the premises or address

tf FREDERICK FOSTER, Fulton, N Y

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.

The following properties are offered at very low prices.

A Farm of 175 Acres.
" " 100 "
" " 65 "
" " 20 "
" " 104 "
" " 52 "
" " 20 "
" " 170 "
" " 28 "
" " 50 "
" " 40 "
A Place " 11 "
" " 8 "
" " 4 "
[illegible]

[illegible] Concentrated FOOD

Excellent for Horses, Cattle and all kinds of stock. Also

Linseed Oil Meal!

For Sale at the
GENESEE MILLS,
W. S. Nelson & Co.
27m3

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

CONSUMPTION.

[illegible] DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, N. Y.

DO YOU WANT!

IF YOU WANT
dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards.
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads.
bottle labels,
auction bills.
bank checks,
calling cards,
address cards,
shipping tags,
business cards,
wedding cards,
invitatation cards,
business circulars,
pamphlets printed,

If you want job printing of any description, done in a most satisfactory manner, you can satisfy your wants by calling at THE FULTON TIMES printing office

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the taxable inhabitants of the town of Volney, Oswego county, N. Y., that I, the undersigned, collector of taxes in and for the said town, have received the warrant for the collection of taxes for the present year, and that I will attend at the

Brigg's Hotel, Seneca Hill, on Jan 18, '83
Druces Corners Jan 25, and at the store of J. Bailey & Son, First Sreet, Fulton, N. Y.

in said town on all other days (except Sundays) for thirty days from the date thereof, from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 4 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of receiving the payment of taxes.

JAFFERSON BAILEY, Collector.

Fulton, Jan. 3d, 1883.

GRAND MUSICAL FESTIVAL!

—AT—

State Arsenal, Syracuse, N. Y.

COMMENCING

Monday Evening, Eeb. 5,

And Continuing Through The Week.

CONCERTS EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

The Attractions will be
Gilmore's Famous Military Band,
Of New York, comprising 60 instruments.

A CHORUS OF 600 VOICES,
And the following Celebrated Vocalists:

THE TEMPLE QUARTETTE,..........of Boston
MISS EMILY WINANT, Contralto,......New York
MISS HENRIETTA BEEBE, Soprano,...New York
MISS IDA V. HUBBELL, Soprano.....New York
MADAME NALENNI, Soprano,..........Boston
MR. THEODORE TOEDT, Tenor,.......New York
MR. FRANZ REMMERTZ, Baritone,....New York

These Concerts to be given at popular prices:
Admission, 20c. Reserved Seats, 50c.
Special Rates on all the Railroads.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY SURGEON.
(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Boarding AND Livery Stables

:o:

ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S.

o

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.

Horses and Carriages at all times.
Trusty Drivers when desired.
Hacks, Hearses and Carriages
For Funerals.

35 N. ROWLEE.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE
By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.
PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. ARCTIC 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.
Get the best, don't be humbugged by Imitations.
EXPEDITION

30 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agents to ALVORD & SLEIGHT, publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse. Mention this paper.

DIAMOND DYES,

[illegible] Best Dyes Ever Made. [illegible]

JAMES COLE,

The old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51t

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS. INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS

Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:
OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.

Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174.

Those desiring can be waited on at their residence

Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cryuss street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster s store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.

Jan, 8. 83 1 yr.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	a. M.	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	9.00	4.30	......	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	8.00	3.30	......	......
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.15	12.20	6.00
Winterton	12.00	7.38	12.52	6.43
Bloomingburgh	12.06	7.46	1.00	6.58
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	7.07
SUMMITVILLE	12.20	8.00	2.55	7.35
Falisburg	1.00	....	4.08	9.00
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	9.20
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	9.50
Liberty	1.26	....	4.45	10.10
Parksville	1.40	....	5.05	10.45
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	11.18
Rockland	2.27	....	5.45	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	12.35
East Branch	3.00		6.28	1.40
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.55	3.25
WALTON	4.05	6.50	8.00	5.15
Franklin	4.38	7.45	8.50	......
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.30	6.30
Guilford	5.29	9.30	......	......
Oxford	5.43	10.00	......	......
NORWICH......Arrive	6.00	10.40	......	10.00
	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.
NORWICH	6.05	2.05	6.55	8.25
North Norwich	6.17	2.25	7.07	8.47
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.22	9.15
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	9.36
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.30	7.40	10.08
Eaton	7.05	3.53	7.51	10.30
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	10.59
Munnsville	7.25	4.38	8.13	11.23
Community	7.38	5.02	8.26	11.55
ONEIDA	7.50	5.15	9.10	1.10
Fish Creek	*8.06	......	*9.34	1.55
North Bay	8.14	......	9.43	2.12
Cleveland	8.30	......	10.05	2.50
Bernhards Bay	*8.38	......	10.13	3.03
Constantia	8.45	......	10.27	3.25
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.02	......	10.50	4.10
Fulton	9.35	......	11.38	5.33
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.10	6.20
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y.Ar	8.25	10.50	10.00	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	9.10	......	11.50	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	6.10	5.50
Winterton	5.02	7.52	5.40	5.19
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.45	5.32	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.48	7.39	5.22	4.58
Summitville	4.40	7.30	5.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.03	....	4.30	3.08
Hurley	3.53	....	4.18	2.54
Liberty Falls	3.40	....	3.35	2.33
Liberty	3.36	....	3.27	2.20
Parksville	3.22	....	3.08	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.08	....	2.48	12.48
Rockland	2.53	....	2.27	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.20
East Branch	2.18		1.40	10.07
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	9.00
Walton	1.12	2.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.30	2.42	10.55	......
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	......
Guilford	11.29	12.55	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.55	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	7.55	6.05
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.45
Smyrna	10.26	10.50	7.28	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.24	5.05
Randallsville	10.08	10.08	7.15	4.46
Eaton	9.56	9.35	7.05	4.25
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.54	4.10
Munnsville	9.38	8.35	6.40	3.32
Community	9.17	7.55	6.28	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	5.34	12.40
North Bay	8.37	......	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	......	4.51	11.35
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	4.42	10.50
Constantia	8.07	......	4.32	10.27
Central Square	7.48	......	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	......	3.32	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	7.30
	a. m	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.55	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.30	7.20	2.36
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	6.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	8.36	6.05	11.15
DELHI	5.10	9.06	5.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
[illegible]	[illegible]	8.14
[illegible]	5.46	[illegible]
[illegible]	6.15	7.38
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	7.00

[illegible]

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!

I spent three days in New York last week, and found some Splendid Fargains.

We now offer:

50 pieces best quality of Prints at 5 cents.

1000 yds 36 inch soft finish bleached muslin at 8cts. Same quality never sold in Fulton less than 10 to 11cts.

25 Pieces figured Worsted Dress Goods 12½c. former prices 18 and 15c.

25 Pieces Gingham, 10c. former price 12½c.

Ladies' Gossimers $1.45.

Ladies Black Coney Fur Collars $1.00.

FAY'S NEW YORK CASH STORE,
FULTON, N. Y.
E. B. FAY.

WE OFFER AT THE BAZAAR

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62. Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40. Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.

CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware,

is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

Estimates given on all kinds of Roofing and Tin Work.

45 GEO. JOHNSTON.

MUTUAL LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY

—OF—

NEW YORK.

:o:

This Company was Chartered in 1842.

Assets - - $94,702,957.92

:o:

Premium rates lower than any other Company.

FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Jan. 31, 1883.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF FULTON.

FUL[illegible]BUS

The Fulton omnibus will leave the Lewis House for trains on the Oswego & Syracuse Railroad by the following time table:

	A. M.	A. M.	M	P. M.	P. M.
For Syracuse	7:40	9:00	12:10	5:30
For Oswego	7:49		2:40	6:00	6:15

Tickets to Oswego, including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, for sale on the Omnibus.

A. M. HATCH, Proprietor.

ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2	7:15 a. m
Norwich Express No. 6	3:22 p. m
Freight and Accommodation No. 42	8:25 a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1	9:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 5	11:34 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 43	5:38 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation	8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express	9:23 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express	12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express	5:58 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express	8:06 a. m
Day Express	3:03 p. m
Oswego Accommodation	6:24 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express	8:39 p. m

☞ The 8:06 train runs Sundays.

☞ Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. PHELPS, Supt.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. WHEELER, Fulton Times Office. 36tf

A Safe Retreat.

BY NORMAN SHEPARD

Build around to-day a little fence of trust,
And fill the space with kindly deeds;
Nor look through the sheltering bars at to-morrow,
For God will give strength to bear whatever comes of joy or sorrow.

The last day in January.

Who is to be canal superintendent?

Mrs. Anna E. DeLong of Akron, Ohio, is visiting friends in Fulton.

Judge Huntington has been retained to assist C. W. Avery in the Gifford murder trial.

Carlon Church's health is somewhat improved. He will remain in Hot Springs until April.

Oswego is asking the help of the legislature to fund the Midland bonds and put the day of payment further off.

Superintendent of Public Works Shanahan will make a tour of the canals of the state before appointing superintendents.

Charles Harris was taken to the O. P. Monday by officer Ney having been sentenced Saturday by Justice Piper to ninety days for assaulting his wife and Erastus Baker.

Mrs. Emma Silsby, mother of Josephine E. Silsby, M. D., of Kendallville, Ind., has suffered from a nervous disorder for the past four years which has resulted in insanity. She is said to be rapidly failing.

Monday afternoon was the first warm day we have experienced and scores of gentlemen of truly elegant leisure planted their backs against the sunny side of the buildings and enjoyed a refreshing bask in the sun.

We find the following in the Boston Home Journal of Saturday Jan. 27:—

Miss Alma E. Richardson, organist of the First Baptist church of Fulton, N. Y., is visiting her friend Mrs. Edward F. Jacobs, Linden street, Allston.

Old residents say that it is seldom that this section of the country has experienced such a splendid winter. The cold has been steady and keen. Snow has covered the ground almost constantly. The regular visit of the Volney January thaw was very brief and an early spring is predicted.

From Hon. Schuyler Colfax, THE TIMES has received South Bend (Ind.) papers; from W. E. Williams, St. Louis papers; John Coggins several Texas papers; H. H. Haynes Philadelphia papers; Carlon church Hot Springs (Ark.) papers and from "A Friend" a bundle of Liverpool and London journals.

We find the following mention in the Seneca County Courier published at Seneca Falls, N. Y.:—

Wm. Sweeney, for a number of years with the popular clothiers, M. Todtman & Co., has accepted a position with the New York Clothing Co., to manage one of their numerous branches at Fulton. The citizens of Fulton are to be congratulated on the accession of such a valuable citizen.

We acknowledge receipt from the enterprising Chas. H. Day, representative of Adam Forepaugh for the season of 1883, a splendid lithograph representing Forepaugh's $200,000 oriental pageant, "Lalla Rookh's Departure from Delhi." This magnificent spectacle will be exhibited with Forepaugh's show the coming summer, in Syracuse and Oswego.

William Woodcock placed on THE TIMES table Monday a generous sample of grapes of the Woodcock seedling variety. They were well preserved, hard, sweet and fresh as the day they were plucked from the vines. Mr. Woodcock is the owner of the stock and would be pleased to confer with any who wish to cultivate an A No. 1 variety.

Oswego Falls Observer—James Wilcox, of Oswego Falls, went to Buffalo last week and purchased a car load of western cattle. While they were being conveyed over the Central road, the front wheels of the car came out, causing the beasts to drop down. The cattle were piled up in a heap, and for several hours trampled and gored one another terribly, though none were killed.

A STRANGE FREAK.

The wife of our esteemed citizen Mr. [illegible] Rowell, while suffering under a severe attack of the Blues, tried to commit the crime of infanticide but was [illegible] by the opportune arrival of a [illegible]. Her case has been considered [illegible] incurable, but her [illegible] highly pleased when after [illegible] Bitters to find [illegible]

[illegible] Herald.

DEATH IN [illegible] MILL.

Charles L. Barnes Receives Injuries in the Ross Saw Mill from which he Dies in Twenty Minutes.

Charles L. Barnes was the victim of a cruel and distressing accident in the Ross saw mill at the upper falls Monday morning that resulted in almost instant death.

The mill is operated by Osborn Bros., and Mr. Barnes was employed at general work about the mill most of the time being engaged at the saw which is a circular one six feet in diamater. Monday morning he was superintending the sawing of a log when a slab became fastened between the saw and the bed in a perpendicular position. He reached over and grasped the slab with both hands, and in removing it one end came in contact with the saw. It was hurled with great force striking him in the stomach and knocking him down. He was removed to the residence of his brother, Almon Barnes, near by and though suffering the most intense pain was able to converse with those about him. He lived about twenty minutes after being struck.

The body was viewed by Coroner Hall but it was not deemed necessary to hold an inquest.

Mr. Barnes was 53 years of age and was born in this village where he has passed nearly all his life. He leaves a widow and three small children.

Funeral services were held from the residence of his brother Almon Barnes, on Pratt street, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. A. U. Hutchins officiating.

☞ Double shawls $1 at R. Gordon's branch store. 37

The Thespian Entertainment.

The entertainment given by the Thespian society of Zion church in Stephens Opera House Friday evening was a success. The house was filled with an inteligent though critical audience. The parts were admirably sustained. Mr and Mrs E. W. Ross, Miss Lucy Ramsden, the Bacchus brothers and Mr G. M. Yates were all stars of equal magnitude. The operetta "Trial by Jury" was played without an efror, and the trained voices of the Judge and Usher, Mr. Geo E. Smiddy and N. H. Gilbert, had a signal effect in properly directing the music. Mr Charles Tremain of Oswego acted as musical director, and Mrs E. W. Ross presided at the piano and rendered selections from popular operas of the day in a finished manner. About ninety-five dollars was realized above expenses.

The Thespian Society wish to return thanks to the following ladies and gentlemen, for their services in assisting them in the Operetta "Trial by Jury" in Stephens opera house Friday evening: Mrs. Jas. T. Pratt, Mrs. E. V. Lathrop, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Pullen, Mrs. Smith, Miss Allison, Miss Halliday and Messrs L. Robertshaw, H. Rowland, R. Carr, C. Pullen, Arthur North and W. C. Dixon.

Get you valentines ready—two weeks from to-day is the time.

John Bisnett has sold his team to a gentleman in Oriskany for $400.

Friday will be Candlemas day. Will the bear be able to see his shadow?

Rev. R. T. Hill of Benton Centre, Yates Co., officiated in the Baptist church Sunday.

Next Tuesday evening there will be a debate by members of the G. A. R. in their rooms over Woodin's store.

Rev. L. Golden will occupy the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday and in the evening will administer the ordinance of baptism.

The first of a series of parties to be given by the Odd Fellows will be held Friday evening of this week in their rooms in the Dexter block.

Troy parties have formed a company in Syracuse for the manufacture of stoves and readily raised stock to the amount of $100,000 among her enterprising citizens.

On January 2d, Daniel Shattuck of Bowens Corners sold to a Mr. Harrington of Cortland, N. Y., a fine team of colts coming four years old for $650. Mr. Shattuck deals in good stock.

Mr. Abijah Fitch of Auburn, grandfather of Mrs. E. W. Ross, died Monday aged 84 years. He fell upon an icy walk a few weeks ago and sustained injuries that resulted in death. He was for many years prominent in Auburn's business circles.

J. C. Lang is now carrying some of the best and latest styles in all kinds of furniture and a visit to his ware rooms will convince those in want of goods that it is not necessary to go to Syracuse to make purchases. He has just upholstered a parlor suite of seven pieces consisting of one tete, one patent rocker, one gent's arm chair and four small chairs that are elegant and substantial and he only asks $45.00 for it. He is always pleased to show people through his place of business and much better pleased to sell all callers some of his wares.

The libel suit of Bruce J. Kimball against the Syracuse Herald was tried in Oswego Thursday before Judge Vann, It seems Mr. Kimball was the Herald agent in Fulton, Baldwinsville and surrounding towns a couple of years ago. The Herald claimed he was in debt to them and had him arrested and taken to Syracuse charging him with false pretenses, he being given the agency, they alleged upon his representing that he owned a house and lot in Fulton. A Syracuse paper spoke of the matter at the time of Mr. Kimball's arrest and in answering it the Herald characterized Mr. Kimball's methods as "swindling operations." Mr. Kimball sued them for $350 damages and the jury rendered a verdict of no cause of action.

FOR SALE—The House and Lot situate corner of Erie and Third streets occupied by L. S. Worden. Enquire on premises. Terms easy. 37t8

☞ Don't fail to look at the embroideries to be opened at the Bee Hive on Monday where you will find all the [illegible] will be low for the quality of the goods.

A. E. [illegible]

IS OFFERING GREAT BARGAINS IN

BOOT AND SHOES!

Preparatory to going to Eastern Markets.

CALL AND SEE.

Lent begins one week from to-day.

Mr. E. E. Safford of New York is in town.

Friday is the last day Collector Bailey will receive taxes at one per cent.

Norman Thayer died in Palermo Sunday, of typhoid pneumonia, aged 49 years.

L. A. Stockwell has returned to Fulton from Portsmouth, Ohio. where he has been employed as auctioneer.

There will be services at the usual hours in Zion church Sunday, the Rector having returned from New York.

The temperance people of Palermo intend to be on time and have called a caucus to nominate town officers Friday of this week.

There has been a strong smell of gas about the Western Union Telegraph office for some time and the gas company are engaged to-day in ferreting out the cause. The street is being dug up in front of Robinson & Langdon's, and the main pipe will be examined.

A. O. Davis of North Volney went to Michigan on a visit about four weeks ago. When they had been there about two weeks their child was taken with what appeared to be a cold. A traveling doctor was called in who administered some kind of medicine which set the child into convulsions and it died in about an hour.

There was a spelling match in S. of T. hall, Friday evening. Mrs. Leona Livingston and Prof. A. L. Hatch chose sides. Mrs. I. Darrow was awarded the distinction of being the best speller on the first trial and Mrs. F. Dilts on the second. Another trial will be held Friday evening, February 9th, when the public are invited to participate.

Pomeroy L. Salmon of Rochester was married Jan. 23, in Grand Rapids, Mich. to Miss Maggie Hubbard, daughter of Rev. J. H. Hubbard formerly pastor of the Prebyterian church in Hannibal, but now a resident of California. Mr. and Mrs. Salmon will make Rochester their home. Mr. Salmon is a brother of K. F. and G. H. Salmon of this village.

Christopher Powell's entertained a number of his colored friends Friday evening, at his residence on Tannery Avenue, the Flats. There were several guests from out of town and to say that all enjoyed themselves is mildly expressing it. To angelic music our dusky brothers tripped the light fantastic and at the proper time refreshed themselves from as rich a variety of palatable delicacies as ever formed a spread. At 2 a. m. the guests departed wishing "Chris" a long and pleasant existence.

Mrs. Caroline Montague died at the residence of her daughter Mrs. Thos. Westfall, corner Sixth street and Broadway Sunday morning at 3 o'clock Mrs. Montague was one of the oldest residents of this locality and was related to many in Fulton and Oswego Falls. She was mother of Mrs. John Boardman, Mrs. Geo. F. Bean of Battle Creek, Mich., and Levi and George Montague of this village. Funeral will be held from late residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. U. Hutchins will officiate.

At the one hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the birthday of Scotland's peasant bard Robert Burns, by the Philadelphia Burns' Association Mr. Henry H. Haynes, a former Fultonian, was the orator of the occasion. Mr. Haynes also responded to the following toast:—"The memory of Robert Burns, the bard of Scotland, who, inspired by reverence for all that was above him, reflected faithfully all that was around him, and sympathized deeply with all that was beneath him."

Philadelphia papers give Mr. Haynes' remarks in full and we only regret our inability to reproduce them for our readers.

Last Friday Mr. J. C. Gillispie was working in his barn just east of Fulton, on the Whitaker road, feeding a Ross power straw cutter. His right hand was mittened and catching in the knives drew his hand in. Fortunately the key in the shaft holding the knives came out and his hand was spared a cutting though badly bruised by the rollers, laying the back of it bare to the bone. His thumb was also badly lacerated Mr. Gillispie is a gentleman nearly 73 years of age and the shock to his system was terrible although he is doing nicely. Dr. D. E. Lake dressed the wound.

The shock greatly disturbed his wife and prostrated her but she is rapidly convalescing.

Dyspepsia, weak back, despondency and other troubles caused me faerful sufferings, but Parker's Ginger Tonic makes me feel like a new being. A great remedy. Every woman should use it. Mrs, Garits, Pittsburg. 37w2

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—The house and lot situated on Second street occupied by R. N. Hoff; also house and lot on Rochester street. Terms easy. Apply to P. F. Conger for further information.

☞ Japanese goods of all kinds direct from the importers, at less than one-half the usual price at Draper's Fulton and Oswego Falls stores. 30tf.

Picture frames of every description at Hendrick's. Call and see him. 29tf

A New Hotel.

James Stevens sold the building occupied by him as a confectionery store on First street to Smith Woodruff of Lock No. 1 for $3,500. Mr. Woodruff will take possession May 1st and convert the building into a hotel. Mr. Woodruff keeps a hotel at lock No. 1. Mr. Stevens will move into his new house into his house in Oswego Falls. Mr. Stevens purchased this morning the lot adjoining his residence in Oswego Falls of J. P. Streeter.

The Musical Jubilee.

The musical jubilee commences in Syracuse next Monday and continues for one week. Gilmore's band will be present besides some of the best Musical talent in America. On Tuesday and Saturday evening, trains will run to Oswego after the concert leaving at 10:30 and stopping at Fulton. This arrangement will give people in every locality an opportunity for attending at least one evening concert, and see the sights as well as hear the music. The grandest display of electric lights is to be made that was ever seen anywhere. Not only the Armory but Armory Park and the streets leading to it will be made as light as day by a large number of such lights.

An Amusement and Gymnasium Club.

Several gentlemen met at the armory last evening and arranged the preliminaries for the establishment of an amusement and gymnasium club. It is proposed to include archery, lawn tennis, cricket, base ball, rifle shooting and kindred games. The rooms will have a modern outfit of athletic paraphernalia. Last evening Mr. N. H. Gilbert was made chairman; H. C. Gardner secretary; S. B. Mead, Jas. T. Pratt, and John Bacchus a committee to draft by laws; Dr. W. A. Hall, E. W. Ross, and Jas. F. Herrick a committee to procure rooms and decide what goods shall be purchased. The club is to be conducted in a first-class manner and made serviceable to those who become members.

☞ Black cashmeres less than cost at R. Gordon's branch store. 37

G. A. R. Camp Fire.

There was a picnic camp fire in the G. A. R. rooms last evening and many friends of the veterans assisted them in enjoying the occasion. Comrade Geo. Ward was retrospective in his remarks and recalled to mind many pleasant and also many unpleasant features of the late rebellion; Mrs. E. R. Redhead read a poem "Battery "B" then Dr. W. L. Woodbury responded to the toast: "The Ladies," followed by Francis E. Bacon, who responded to "Comrades; Mr. E. R. Redhead voiced to the toast: "The soldier in civil life," followed by Simeon Osborn who ably described "Why I fought at Home." The exercises concluded with a declamation by W. T. Mosher "The Gray Knight." There was plenty of music; plenty of mirth; plenty of good cheer and an enjoyable time all around.

Ladies' Auxiliary.

In the G. A. R. rooms last evening a ladies auxiliary was organized to assist the G. A. R. in raising funds for the erection of a soldiers monument. Mrs. H. B. Rorke was chosen president and Mrs. E. R. Redhead, secretary. About twenty names were enrolled. The above organization is only temporary and a meeting will be called in about two weeks to perfect arrangements. The following are a few of the names which were enrolled:—Mrs. Dr. Emens, Mrs. H. E. Nichols, Mrs. S N. Dada Mrs. S. Osborn, Mrs. J. S. Palmer, Mrs. W. J. Pentelow, Mrs Isaac Darrow, Mrs. Frank Goodjon, Mrs. D. M. Perine, Mrs. C. Woliver, Mrs. Emily C. Miller, Mrs. Dr. Pardee, Mrs. G. H. Salmon, Mrs. Dr. W. L. Woodbury, Miss Grace Tucker, Mrs. R. D. Latham, Mrs. M. F. Stephens, Mrs. M. B. Buell and Mrs. H. Howes.

☞ Rose blankets $1.50 per pair at R. Gordon's branch store. 37

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Jan. 31, 1883.

Mrs. James McAvoy
Miss Theaty M Nelson,
Fairfield Patrick,
Mr. Tucker (blacksmith)
Miss Anna Wrightson.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

Oswego Post—Mr. C. W. Avery, of Phoenix, has been appointed referee to examine the accounts and statements of County Treasurer Goodier and report at the next general term of the supreme court.

☞ Best brands of calicos 5 cents per yard at R. Gordon's branch store. 37

In regard to selling Dry Goods in Fulton we wish to say that F. E. BACON seems to get a little the lowest in price of any store yet represented here.

TELLS THE TRUTH.

"This medicine I can highly recommend. Burdock Blood Bitters are the best blood-purifier we have ever used." Chas. A. Burt, 15 Court St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Camilla Urso in Stephens opera house February 20.

Dr. E. Frank Marsh of Oswego Falls will have a telephone in his office in a few days.

Edward Laycock has been appointed agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Oswego Falls.

Dr. E. B. Hopkins of Oswego was in Fulton Saturday in consultation with Dr. N. H. Haviland.

Several Fulton people attended the sparring match between Sullivan and Coburn in Syracuse Friday night.

Two weddings are announced to occur in Fulton in a short time. The gentlemen in both cases are non-residents.

The "Bee Hive" has in the front windows new chandeliers. The brilliant light they shed is almost equal to the electric.

The Presbyterian society of this village purchased their carpets for their new edifice of T. Kingsford's great supply store in Oswego.

Work on the Congregational church in Oswego Falls is progressing finely. The floors are all laid and in about ten days the plasterers will begin work.

Michael Ward returned to his home in Colorado Wednesday after a two weeks visit in this vicinity. Mr. Ward has acquired a competency in his western home.

Willis R. Smith of Winfield, Kansas, was married last Tuesday to Miss Lillian Newton, daughter of Wm. Newton, of Volney, Rev. Z. F. Griffin of Gilberts Mills officiating.

William E. Gale, an old resident of Granby, died the 23d inst at his home near Bowen's Corners aged 47. Funeral was held from house Thursday. Elder Forbes officiating.

The Union Sunday School in Oswego Falls, held in Howe's hall, is growing to enormous proportions under the superintendence of Prof. A. Boothby. Last Sunday there were 217 scholars present.

There will be a party at W. H. Hannan's Palermo Center House Wednesday evening February 14. It will be known as as a "Valentine" social. Those who attended Hannan's parties speak in their praise.

Those who wish to join Mr. Rappole's class in writing will be admitted by calling either Monday or Wednesday evenings at No. 1 school house, Now is an excellent opportunity for those deficient in handwriting to improve.

N. P. Witherell died in Holden, Mo. Monday, aged 76 years. Mr. Witherell moved to Missouri about twenty years ago. He was a member of the Fulton Presbyterian church when here and will be remembered by many of the older citizens.

Mrs. G. D. Jennings was surprised at her residence on Emory street last evening by a visit from a large number of her friends who had dropped in to help her celebrate her birthday. The merry making was kept up until the early morning hours.

Miss Mary Cook, daughter of Capt. E. S. Cook of Gilberts Mills, who for over a year past has been staying at home, leaves shortly for New Rochelle where she has been secured to teach. Miss Cook is not an experiment with the school board there, hence her second call.

The second term of singing school, conducted by M. W. Chase of Syracuse University began on Saturday evening last at Howe's hall, Oswego Falls. General satisfaction seems to prevail in the community in regard to the success of last term and much is expected from another term under such competent instruction.

The annual meeting of the Phœnix Union Agricultural society was held in Phœnix last week. A resolution was passed prohibiting gambling or spirituous liquors being allowed upon the grounds of the society. The officers elected were: David Sutfin, president; E. C. Vickery, Jas. Crane, vice-presidents; H. C. Breed, secretary; E. Merry, treasurer; Wm. Patrick, general superintendent; Lester Diefendorf, Samuel Flynn, directors; Zora Hayden, marshal.

Our readers will recollect the publication a few weeks ago of a delicate surgical operation that was performed on Mr Hiram B. Lewis of North Granby—the removal of a tumor from his throat—by Drs. Milne and Bulger of Oswego assisted by Dr. Jones of Minetto. The operation was successful and a silver tracheotomy was introduced into the throat from the outside through which the air passed to the lungs. The Oswego Palladium says: Mr Lewis had become accustomed to his new method of breathing and gradually regained his health. About 5 o'clock Friday evening a quantity of dried mucus which adhered to the inside of the tube became very irritating and Mr Lewis caught hold of the tube and pulled it from his windpipe. The wound closed immediately, and as no air could reach the lungs death resulted in a few minutes. He was buried Monday.

COMIC AND SENTIMENTAL

VALENTINES!

A Large Stock of Pure Drugs.
A Complete Stock of Patent Medicines.
A Fine Assortment of Toilet Soaps.
A Choice Selection of Perfumes,
A [illegible]

RESULT OF RECKLESS DRIVING.

A Serious Collision and one of Liveryman Leonard's Spotted Horses Killed—No Arrests Yet.

Marcus McCormick, a young man living in Oswego Falls, hired liveryman Leonard's spotted team Sunday and had a party of his lady friends out riding. In the evening about 10 o'clock McCormick was driving up First street and when in front of the Episcopal church saw three single sleighs coming down the street at breakneck speed. He drew out as far as possible to the right side of the road but a collision occurred, a thill of one of the single rigs entering the neck of the nigh horse to a depth of about twenty-four inches, breaking off. The occupants of the single rig passed on and the injured horse was taken to Leonard's stable, Dr. C. A. Hill, veterinary surgeon, summoned and the shaft removed. The horse suffered intense pain until about 2 a. m. Monday morning when it died. The rig that collided with Leonard's overturned and threw the occupants, a man and woman, out The horse ran down the street and was caught and placed in Summerville's until called for.

The horse colliding with Leonard's was the property of liveryman Poucher in Oswego and was driven by John McLean of that city; his companions being William Nasey who had a horse from Cooper's livery, and James Wright who had a rig from Brown's stables. McLean works in Conde's knitting factory. Mr. Leonard visited Oswego yesterday and learned who the parties were but has has not taken any action yet to recover damages.

Mr. Leonard estimates his loss at $200 his double sleigh also being damaged to quite an extent.

Palermo.

PALERMO, June 30.—The son of Martin Chaffee who has for some time past been sick with typhoid pneumonia is improving slightly.

John Brown of Mexico was married Wednesday to Miss Helen Ingersoll, daughter of A. B. Ingersoll. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. R. Stone of Bristol Hill. The newly wedded couple will leave for Kansas next week.

Ashel Barton died at the residence of H. Bracey last Thursday night. He was an invalid for many years and was also blind.

The Republicans of Granby are talking of Thos. R. Wright for supervisor. He has made a good representative for Granby, and if he accepts the nomination his election is almost certain.

John McKay, who has been employed in Morrill Bros.' printing office since last May has severed his connection therewith. He will be employed on the Elmira Advertiser. Mr. McKay is a genial gentleman and may success attend him.

Mr. R. D. VanBuren an old Fulton boy who has been in Kingsford's supply store in Oswego for the past six years, kindly showed a representative of THE TIMES through the entire building, and it is surprising to see the immense stock carried by that concern. Four floors are literally packed with goods, and anything a person wants they are sure to find.

☞ Satin dolmans $12 at Gordon's branch store. 37

Weather Predictions for the Year 1883.

January will be mild with light falls of snow. Febrnary generally cold with severe snow storms. Look out for a thaw from the first to the middle of March and breaking up of winter. High winds and rainy weather will prevail through the month of April. May and June warm and pleasant with frequent showers. July and August very warm. September will be the pleasantest month in the year. October cool and dry. November rainy. December plenty of snow and fine sleighing. Every day in the year will be splendid weather to buy drugs, medicines, dye stuffs &c. of R. E. Phillips at his drug store No 4, First street, Fulton, N. Y. 32t4

MURPHY BROTHERS.

Keep it before the people that Murphy Bros. are selling as good beef for less money than any market in Fulton and don't forget it "Allee Samee" that the little greentop sleigh carries out every day the same line of meats and observe the same low prices so that it has come to be a welcome visitor at every door these cold mornings. Give the Little Shop Around the Corner a trial. 36

☞ Ladies ulsters, $3 at Gordon's branch store. 37

Wells' "Rough on Corns."

Ask for Wells' "Rough on Corns." 15c. Quick, complete, permanent cure, Corns, warts, bunions.

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE.

Four Houses, Oswego Falls, Pine St., between First and Second Streets.

Vacant Lot, Oswego Falls, Oak Street.

House and two lots, Fulton, Academy Street, known as "Capt. Taylor place."

Vacant Lot Fulton, 6th St., Block 512
" " " 5th " " 511
" " " Park Street known as L. R. Rector Lots
" " " Bl'k 84, on Acad'y St
House and Lot " Cor. 3d and Cayuga streets, in which I reside.

All or any of the above parcels will be sold Cheap and on easy terms of payment.

Dated Jan'y 1883. H. E. NICHOLS.

SPECIAL and IMPORTANT.

—We Shall Open—

Monday, Feb. 5, 1883,

Eight Thousand Yards.

HAMBURG
—AND—
SWISS EMBROIDERIES.

To which we would

INVITE

the

Special Attention

of the

[illegible]

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Parish is thinking of applying for a village charter.

Oneida is to have water works, a company having been formed.

Oswego wants a street railway and the Palladium is trying to give the project a boom.

Joe Tasker of Syracuse offers to wager $100 that he can eat thirty brace of quail in as many days.

Captain John M. Barrow, for many years in charge of different lake vessels, and during the later years of his life a ship chandler in Oswego, died Friday, aged 70. He had made Oswego his home since 1834.

Oswego county is now in the twenty-fourth congressional district, which is composed of this and Madison counties. The proposed new apportionment places it in the twenty-third district along with Cayuga county.

Hon. B. Frank Chapman of Oneida, has been appointed county judge of Madison county by Gov. Cleveland in place of Judge Kennedy, deceased. He is a gentleman well qualified for the position, is a democrat, and is sixty years of age.

D. E. Johnson a man prominent in business circles in Hannibal died suddenly at his home in that village Sunday afternoon. He was eating his supper and without a word of warning raised his hands and sank to the floor and died. He was seventy-one years of age.

Sandy Creek News: Goodwin N. Brown, the young lawyer from Buffalo, whom Gov. Cleveland has appointed to the important office of executive and pardon clerk, is a son of the late Thomas G. Brown, of Mexico, Oswego county and a native of the town of Henderson, Jefferson Co.

The stockholders of the Continental Construction Company, which has been building the Boston, Hoosac Tunnel and Western road, ratified the directors sale of a portion of the company's property west of Schenectady to the West Shore road. The West Shore and Midland are said to be closely allied and if the Syracuse and Phœnix road is built it will be by the West Shore or Midland company.

Syracuse has many dwellers within its borders who are alive to the interests of their city and never let slip an opportunity to encourage manufacturing establishments to locate there. The Davis Sewing Machine Company of Watertown is going to leave that place and Syracusans have offered them a building site to locate there. They leave Watertown as the shipping facilities are not suitable.

At the Sunday morning service in St. John's Lutheran church, Syracuse, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Nicum, preached on church discipline, and at the close declared Nicholas Huber excommunicated from the church. Mr. Huber has been one of the leaders of the opposition to the pastor, but claims he has done nothing to warrant excommunication. A meeting of the synod has been called to investigate the affairs of the society.

Charles C. Starin, 36 years of age, committed suicide in the Central hotel, Syracuce Monday evening. He was joking with the clerk and taking a revolver faom his pocket placed the muzzle back of his right ear and pulled the trigger. The weapon failed to discharge, and without lowering it, with his right hand he again cocked the weapon, and before any one could prevent him he again pulled the trigger. He dropped to the floor a corpse. He was married and leaves a wife and two children in East Syracuse. He was at one time a conductor on the Central road and was discharged in November for dissipation. He was out of work and lived unhappily with his wife.

Thomas Gale of Syracuse wants all the locks lengthened so that two boats may run coupled together. It has been successfully adopted on the Illinois canal the Delaware & Raritan, the Chesapeake & Albermarle and the Chesapeake & Delaware canals. It is asserted that two boats coupled together can be run, after the locks are thus lengthened and improved, at a saving of certainly one cent per bushel in the cost of transportation, a sum equal to that saved by the abolition of tolls. He believes that six horses can draw two boats coupled together as easily and rapidly as eight horses now draw two boats separately; thus one crew would be enough for two boats coupled, and of course the plan would save the expenses of one crew.

Thos. Gale is a man of large means and has probably done more work on the canal than any man living, and says that two locks can be lengthened or doubled on this plan for $12,500 a lock, or $25,000 a double lock.

Wanted:—A Bank.

Why? Because all roads west. south, and north of Hannibal, form a junction there, and make a break straight as a string right up to Fred K. Jones' new music store on Oneida street (and just here we will say that he wants to hire for ten years a thoroughly desirable store, on First street from April 1st, 1883,) This road will bring you to the only first-class Pianos and Organs, in Oswego Co. All new, fresh and warranted. The maker's name is on each and every Instrument sold by F. K. Jones, and money refunded if not as represented. Instruments taken, and he will do almost anything to assist the purchaser in buying his Instruments, only he wishes it widely understood that he can not take any sheep or male horses in exchange for Pianos or Organs, this spring. Smother spring!

P. S. I am determined to build on an addition to my new store and take the agency for the sale of a new patent to prevent cruelty to lamp chimneys.—As I expect to get an immense salary for managing this machine I shall be able to sell my Pianos and organs on very long time. I am also going to advertise for a Bank, as it is the correct thing to have in this business you know.

F. K. J.

EUREKA!

LATEST—Since penning the above, I have received the following "Cablegram" from a well known capitalist who formerly resided in Fulton. F. K. J.

Scotland, (Q. D.)
Limerick Castle, Jan. 30, 1883.

To Fred K. Jones,
Pianist, Fulton, N. Y.

Arrangements complete:—Buy out every Piano and Musical Instrument vender in your locality and advertise in THE FULTON TIMES to sell for less than cost, and give all buyers one-half a century of time to pay for same without interest. Do not, however, on penalty of my running for Congress take in exchange, any animals of reptiles, [illegible]

JOY AT HOME.

HAVING LEFT THEIR HOME IN SORROW, FATHER AND DAUGHTER RETURN IN GLADNESS.

Next to the sad duty of bearing the bodies of our dear dead to their long rest, is that of taking our loved living, when stricken with disease, in search of help which appears the more hopeless the nearer it is approached.

Yet when Mr. Nicholas Howell, of Waverly, Chemung county, N. Y., left his home some time since for New York, it was on such an errand. By his side was his daughter, whose case has been abandoned by the home physicians as one of incurable disease of the heart. When the train reached Peekskill it was clear that the almost dying girl could not be carried a mile further with safety. Emaciated in body, shattered in nerve, and melancholy in mind the poor girl had lost interest in her own fate. To her vision there loomed up but one end to all her suffering, and its inevitable stillness looked almost inviting, after so many days of languor and pain.

But who may know his fate—either for good or evil? By the earnest advice of friends in Peekskill, Mr. Howell tenderly conveyed his daughter—all there was left of her—to the office of Dr David Kennedy in Rondout, N. Y. Dr Kennedy perceived that she was suffering from heart disease, and also from an advanced stage of a complaint common to women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

FIRST CLASS CLOTHHIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,
15 and 17 South Salina street
Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

UNDERTAKING!

Mr. D. Hendrick is now prepared to do undertaking for the public. His store is one door south of Fay's dry goods store. Night bell on store door. 29tf

—IF YOU WANT THE—

BEST BRANDS OF CIGARS,

Cigarettes, Common and Fancy

SMOKING TOBACCO

SMOMING PLUG,
FINE CUT CHEWING,
PLUG CHEWING,
BLACK AND SCOTCH SNUFFS,

PIPES AND SMOKERS' ARTICLES,

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN'S,

The Old Established Tobacco Store,
NEXT DOOR TO CITIZENS' BANK.
Jobber and Retailer.

A PLEASANT ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

"Had sour stomach and miserable appetite for months and grew thin every day. I used Burdock Blood Bitters with the most marvelous results; feel splendid." Mrs Joseph Johnson, Pittsburgh, Pa.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON, N. H., Feb. 19, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now using the second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.

Yours truly,
F. C. CHURCHILL,
(Firm of Carter & Churchill.)

☞ A gentleman who has been suffering from the Debility and Languor peculiar to this season, Gained 10 Pounds says: "HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA is putting new life right into me. I have gained ten pounds since I began to take it." Has taken two bottles.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA is sold by all druggists. Price $1 per bottle; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

CLAIRVOYANT PHYSICIAN.

Mrs. Susan C. King, healing and seeing clairvoyant will be at the residence of Albert Cole on East Utica street for a few days. Will heal the sick and peer into the future for all callers,

Fulton, Jan. 10. SUSAN C. KING.

☞ The best is the cheapest; buy the genuine Singer sewing machine for a Christmas present. Price from $27 upwards A. Bristol, general agent, 30 Fulton, N. Y.

☞ Remember Draper always takes the lead in selling all teas, sugars, coffees and syrups, cheap. He don't sell at cost but cheaper than those who sell at cost. 30tf.

NOTICE—Houses to rent or sell by W. S. NELSON.
Jan. 10, 1883. m3.

"I have been troubled with bad corns Dr J. D. Perkins removed them without injury." A. Dyson Oswego Falls [illegible]

[illegible] FOR 1883.

Fully equipped with the finest printing machinery in the world, capable of working off [illegible] copies per hour, the New York Mercury will enter upon its

FORTY-FIFTH VOLUME,

[illegible] January 6, 1883, with a determination to more than ever merit the liberal patronage which has marked its career for nearly half a century. Arrangements have been consummated both at home and in Europe, to secure for the ensuing [illegible] novelties to increase the already [illegible] variety of literary attractions which have always made the New York Mercury a welcome guest in every home circle.

REDUCED RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

But in order to enhance the already widespread circulation of the New York Mercury, the proprietor has determined to reduce the annual subscription rate for 1883 from $3.00 to $2.50 per annum, thus making it the largest, handsomest, cheapest and best family paper in the United States. Each subscriber will get comprising more than 15,000 lines of choice literature in each issue—equalizing the contents of a 35 cent magazine!

1,800 SQUARE INCHES OF READING MATTER 52 TIMES A YEAR FOR $2.50

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

will be mailed, postage free for six months for $1.25, or three months for 75 cents. Sample copies sent when requested. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 8 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that the The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine. Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol, 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including all the reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, hints for raising cattle, poultry, grains, trees, vegetables &c, with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of giving recipes for practical dishes, hints for making clothing and for keeping up with the latest fashions at the lowest price. Every item of cooking or economy suggested in this department is practically tested by experts before publication. Letters from our Paris and London correspondents on the very latest fashions. The home department of the Weekly Herald will save the housewife more than one hundred times the price of the paper. The interests of

The Home

Skilled Labor are looked after, and everything relating to mechanics and labor saving is carefully recorded. [illegible]

THE WONDER OF HEALING!

Catarrh. The Extract is the only specific for this disease, Cold in Head, &c. Our "Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, contains all the curative properties of the Extract; our Nasal Syringe invaluable for use in catarrhal affections, is simple and inexpensive.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured so many cases of these distressing complaints as the Extract.

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT	50c., $1.00, $1.75.
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	20
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

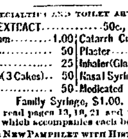
LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]



Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

Philadelphia, Pa. (3) Mrs. A. M. D.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers every where. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffalo, N.Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been universally recognized as the best newspaper published in Northern and Central New York. The chief reason for its popularity lies in the fact that it is a journal equally well suited to the wants of all clases of the community, from the farmer to the business man, and is as popular in in the home circle as in the office and workshop.

Its proprietors spare neither pains expense nor labor to make the Utica Herald equal in all respects to any newspaper in the United States. It aims to supply every feature of a general newspaper, so that its subscribers will find it necessary to take no other journal. To this end it devotes special attention to the fullest publication of all the local news of the twelve counties through which it largely circulates. Its columns contain in compact form

ALL THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

THE FULLEST MARKET REPORTS,

ABLE EDITORIAL DISCUSSIONS,

CORRESPONDENCE FROM STATE AND NATIONAL CAPITALS, THE GREAT CITIES,

LITERARY NOTICES,

FASHIONS, SOCIETY AND ART NEWS,

the choicest reading for the Family Circle, and a carefully conducted Agricultural Department, in which especial attention is given to the

DAIRY AND HOP CROP.

The Utica Herald has long been recognized as the most valuable paper published for all engaged in these two agricultural specialties of Central New York.

Extensive improvements, increased facilities and extended enterprise will mark the New Year.

Specimen copies of Daily or Weekly Herald sent free on application.

TERMS.

For the Daily [illegible]
For the Weekly [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Jan. 31, 1883.

American Pronunciation.

Said Master Jones, "Now we must go Without delay to the deepo."
Laughed sweet Miss Jones, "I should say so;
Let us start at once for the daypo."
Smiled Mrs. Jones, "In quickstep, oh,
We will all run down to the deppo."
Groaned Mr. Jones, "It's mighty hot
To drive you all to the depot."
These conflicts of pronunciation

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer restores to its former color the hair when turning gray, and renews its former beauty.

New York Misers.

The misers of this city, says the New York correspondent of the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle have been chiefly among the lower classes, and a number of cases have occurred where after death in great destitution large sums of money have sometimes been discovered. The rag-picker, Samuel Leach, for instance, was found dead in a miserable attic. A barrel of dirty rags stood in the corner of the room, in which seven hundred dollars in currency were concealed, and also two bank books. The entire estate proved to be $15,000, but the head chiffonier had for many years lived like a pauper. The most remarkable instance, however, was that of John Lewis, reminding one of John Lewis previously mentioned, who bequeathed $1,000,000 to our Government. This was the largest sum ever gathered by a New York miser, and it was also the largest legacy our nation ever received. Lewis was an old man, and began his parsimonious habits early in life. He was at one time an engraver, and had a shop on Wall street, but he afterwards retired to Jersey City, where he lived in seclusion and misery until at death his savings had reached the above mentioned amount. He was unmarried, and as he hated his kindred, he bequeathed his money to the government. This, however, is not the only instance in which the miser has benefited the public weal. The Roosevelt Hospital is due to a similar cause. George Roosevelt inherited an estate to which he gave his whole attention through life. He was a cripple and never married. His love of money increased rapidly, and at last it became a ruling passion. For many years he never left his room, and all his pleasure was in counting his gains. As usual in such cases he hated his relatives, and when death drew near he bequeathed his money for the hospital which bears his name, and which is a very valuable institution.

☞ Hoods, scarfs, ribbons and any fancy articles can be made any color wanted with the Diamond Dyes. All the popular colors.

What Goes With the Farm.

Mr. H. A. Haigh of the Detroit bar gives the following valuable information in the American Agriculturist: When a farm is bought or sold questions often arise as to what goes with it, and disputes may often be avoided if farmers know what their farm deeds includes. In brief, where no reservations are made in the deed, the conveyance includes the land, the buildings upon it and all such chattels or articles as have become so attached or fixed to the soil or to the buildings as to become known as "fixtures." What constitutes a "fixture" depends largely on the intention of the owner in putting it there and also in the manner in which it is affixed. Anything so fixed to the soil or the buildings that it cannot be removed without injury, nearly always goes with the farm; and anything of a permanent nature, fitted for permanent use, and annexed thereto by the owner with that intention generally goes with the land, though it might be severed without any injury, as the following examples will illustrate: All fences upon the farm go with it, but not fencing materials, as rails, etc., if bought elsewhere and piled upon the farm and not yet built into a fence; they have never yet been built into a fence; they have never yet been "annexed." But rails cut from the timber standing on the farm and piled up for the future use, goes with it; their original annexation is not severed by being changed from standing trees to rails. If, however, they were cut with the intention of using them elsewhere than on the farm, they would then be personal property, and would not pass. The bare intention in the mind of the owner in this instance make the difference between real estate and personal property. Hop poles if they have been once upon the farm, are regarded as a part of it, though at time of sale they are stored away for future use. Loose scaffold poles laying across the beams of a barn, have been held not to be a part of the realty. Standing trees of course, are part of the farm; so are trees cut or blown down, if left where they fall, but not if corded up for sale; the wood has then become personal property.

TAKE YOUR CHICE.

You can be weak, nervous, debilitated and despondent, disqualified for work of head or hand, or you can enjoy a fair share of health and peace of mind. Burdock Blood Bitters will alleviate you a world of good if you will but have faith to try it.

The patent chicken incubators have thrown hens out of a great deal of honest employment. It is ever thus that the labor saving machines are working against the industrious laborer.

When a man mysteriously "disappears" now-a-days his friends don't begin dragging the river or casting around for a murderer until it is known how his books stand, and how much money he had borrowed. [Detroit Free Press.

The burning of a circus in Russia at midwinter is an assurance that in that land of frozen mercury and dynamite bombs, the circus is an all-the-year-round affair. Circus lemonade and twenty degrees below zero is a combination difficult to imagine.

A gentleman living in Austin is in the habit of receiving every year, at Christmas, a venison ham from a friend living in the country. The Austin man desired to convey the gentle hint to his friend that two venison hams would be more acceptable than one, so he wrote: "Has your friendship for me grown cold, or do the deer in your section only have one hind leg?" [illegible]

T[illegible] which [illegible] known [illegible] with this terrible disease. The following letter shows how the re[illegible]

Hood's Sarsaparilla [illegible] the blood it [illegible] eradicates the poisoned [illegible] bringing to the convalescent the spirit, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the VIGOR is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

MR. C. P. BRICHER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. BOWEN, proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Enquirer, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The VIGOR is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated "Fairbairn Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which fleeting time procureth, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

MRS. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from 18 Elm St., Charlestown, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the VIGOR, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

As it is for all the painful diseases of the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS.

It cleanses the system of the acrid poison that causes the dreadful suffering which only the victims of Rheumatism can realize.

THOUSANDS OF CASES of the worst forms of this terrible disease have been quickly relieved, and in short time PERFECTLY CURED.

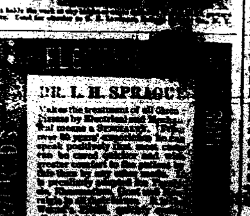
PRICE, $1. LIQUID OR DRY, SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Dry can be sent by mail. WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington Vt.

Acts at the Same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY-WORT

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



It holds the work at any [illegible] Lines. [illegible]

DR. L. H. SPRAGUE

Makes the treatment of all Chronic Diseases by Electrical and Mechanical means a Specialty. [illegible]

[illegible] one of the [illegible] judges [illegible] was remarkable for conveying to jurors in his charges to them his own opinions with regard to [illegible]. In one case he [illegible] but to his [illegible] the jury hung out for hours without coming to an agreement. The judge inquired of the bailiff what was the matter, and learned from him that one juror was hanging out against the other eleven. He sent for the jury at once, and, stating to the jurors that he had plainly intimated how the case ought to be decided, said he understood one of the jurors was standing out against the other eleven. He proceeded to rebuke the juror sharply. The obstinate juror was a nervous little man, and as soon as the judge was done, he rose and said: "Judge, may I say a word?" "Yes, sir," said the indignant judge, "what have you to say?" "Well, what I wanted to say is, I am the only feller that's on your side." [Peck's Sun.

"Old birds are not caught with chaff." Therefore seek and find the pure golden grains of health in Kidney-Wort. Women, young or old, married or single, if out of health, will be greatly benefited by taking Kidney-Wort.

What is Due Our Children.

Herbert Spencer would have been much more wisely engaged had he shown the American people the absurdity of heaping up gigantic fortunes for their children to quarrel over after their death. All that any parent owes to a child is a good education and a profession. Our offspring have a right to demand that they should be equipped for the battle of life, the only excuse for leaving superfluous wealth being in case any of the family are disqualified for work. The aged parents, the widow and the helpless child should have, at least, means enough to sustain them comfortably; but fortunes left to children have often wrought their ruin. The girl becomes the prey of fortune hunters, while the young man but too frequently spends his father's hard earnings in riotous living. What a vast social change it would make in the United States, if American parents generally realized that they owed nothing to their children but the best possible education and a profession or trade, which is due to the daughter as well as the son.

INSTRUCTIVE READING.

Some of the testimonials from different people relative to Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and the relief it has given them when distressed by headache, earache, and toothache are as interesting reading as you will find. This being a standard medicine, is sold everywhere by druggists.

The Weddings.

At the end of the first year comes the cotton wedding.

At two years comes the paper.

At three the leather.

At the close of five comes the wooden.

At the seventh anniversary the friends assemble at the woolen.

At ten comes the tin.

At twelve the silken and fine linen.

At fifteen the crystal wedding.

At twenty the friends gather with the china.

At twenty-five the married couple that have been true to their vows for a quarter of a century are rewarded with silver gifts. From this period forward the tokens of esteem become rapidly more valuable.

When the thirtieth anniversary is reached they are presented with pearls.

At the fortieth comes rubies.

At the fiftieth occurs the golden wedding.

Beyond that time the aged couple are allowed to enjoy their many gifts in peace.

If, however, by any possibility they should reach their seventy-fifth anniversary they are presented with the rarest gifts to be obtained, at the celebration of their diamond wedding.

DR. TANNER'S STOMACH.

Dr. Tanner certainly had a great Stomach—great because of its strength and endurance. We may err in saying that the doctor uses Burdock Blood Bitters being a standard medicine are sold by all druggists.

A company of gentlemen, who were dining at an inn, inquired if the turkey which was served to them was fresh. "Fresh, is it?" said the Irish waiter, jauntily. "Faith, it's not six hours since that turkey was walking around on his own rale estate, with his hands in his pockets, never draming what an urgent invitation he'd have to jine you gentlemen at dinner."

"How can I leave you my darling," murmured a Toledo lover in tones of distressing tenderness as he observed both hands of the clock approach a perpendicular on the dial. "Well, John," responded the girl with wicked innocence, "you can take your choice. If you go through the hall you'll be liable to wake up father, and if you leave by way of the back shed you'll be likely to wake up the dog."

BAPTIST MINISTER'S EXPERIENCE.

"I am a baptist minister and before I ever thought of being a clergyman I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, forty years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy. Thomas Eclectric Oil cured me. I was also troubled with hoarseness and Thomas Eclectric Oil always relieved me. My wife and child had diphtheria and Thomas Eclectric Oil cured them, and if taken in time it will cure seven times in ten. I am confident that it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and fill it with oil and then place the end of the spoon in one nostril and draw the oil out of the spoon into the head, by sniffing as hard as they can, until the Oil falls into the throat, and practice it twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clean out the catarrh. For deafness and earache, it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine dubbed patent medicine that I have ever felt like like recommending, and I am very anxious to see it in every place, for I tell you that I would not without it in the house for any consideration. I am now suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like Thomas' Eclectric Oil." [illegible]

SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE

[illegible] Liver, Urinary Organs, Malaria and Bright's Disease. The Best Blood Purifier.

Beware of Fraud.

Unscrupulous parties have tried to imitate our Remedy and deceive the public by using SIMILAR NAMES, but do not be deceived; see that the word SAFE with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, [illegible]
MESSRS. J. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of [illegible], and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles for $5.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS

Best Purgative Medicine [illegible]

[illegible] Always reliable.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier

And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.

LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

Peter Henderson & Co's

[illegible] SEEDS PLANTS MANUAL EVERYTHING for the GARDEN

[illegible]

Peter Henderson & Co. [illegible] Cortlandt St., New York.

BEST COAL.

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON
9m6

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp't'y Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAN

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

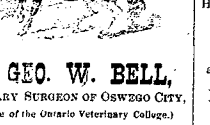
Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

VETERINARY SURGEON



DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

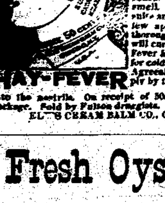
Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Foncher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 33tf

ELY'S CREAM BALM



Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS, AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

LEGAL.

Court Appointments.

Appointments of County Courts and Court of Sessions of Oswego county for 1883, and until [illegible] order. A trial jury at each term. No grand [illegible] County court and court of Sessions:

Court House, Pulaski, 2d Tuesday in [illegible]
" " Oswego, 4th " " [illegible]
" " Pulaski, 2d " " [illegible]
" " Oswego, 1st " " [illegible]

N. W. NUTTING,
January 8, 1883. Oswego Co. [illegible]

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of Hon. T. W. Skinner, Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against [illegible] Pardee, late of the town of Volney in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to Wm. B. Howard and [illegible] executors of the last will and testament of said deceased at the office of Giles S. Piper in the village of Fulton, N. Y., on or before the 12th day of July next, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

WM. B. HOWARD,
GILES S. PIPER, } Executors.
Dated Jan'y 5th 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDIEORS.

IN pursuance of an order of Hon T. W. Skinner, surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Walter Wilber, late of the town of Volney in said county deceased; to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on or before the 15th day of July 1883, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

OVID V. TAFT, Executor.
Dated, Jan. 10, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—Myron A. Howe vs. Annis L. Howe, action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint. Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 17th, day of January 1883.

GILES S. PIPER, Plaintiff's Att'y.

Office and Post Office address, Fulton, N. Y.

To Annis L. Howe: The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court, dated the 18th day of January, 1883, and filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of Oswego county, at the city of Oswego, N. Y.

36t6 GILES S. PIPER, Plaintiff's Attorney.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—Eudora Randall against James Randall:—Action for a divorce, To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 23d, day of January, 1883.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
Pl'ff's Atty.

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co N. Y.

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you, by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 23d day of Jan'y 1883, and filed with the complaint, in the office of the clerk of Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
36w6 Pl'ff's Att'y.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONNTINENTAL INS. COMPANY,

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
NEW YORK Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets over $2,400,082.9

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,082,585.11

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS'
FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASS.
Assets, $1,271,569.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
49 Fulton, N. Y.

——Insure With——

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX " do
CONNECTICUT " "
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA " NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of "
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN "
LONDON and LANCASHIRE "
HAMBURG, BREMEN of GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets
Fulton N. Y.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

PAPER HANGINGS!

——FOR THE——

SPRING TRADE.

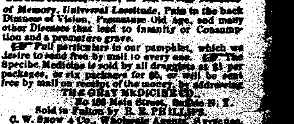
NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE

TRADE MARK TRADE MARK



The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. Snow & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements, [illegible] one-half minute's walk [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1883.

VOLUME 15—NUMBER 38

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Publishers.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

LOVE FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER VIII.

I had found so little to interest me in the generality of guests at Westwood, that I thought very little of the coming visitors. It was evident that Lady Yorke was deeply interested in them, but then she had said candidly that it was Lord Severne rather than his wife who had pleased her. We had many discussions about them, and it seemed to me that Lady Severne did not stand very high in the estimation either of husband or wife. Lord Yorke, who was kindness and charity itself, mentioned her always in a tone of toleration, yet at the same time leaving an impression that she was what Lady Yorke called a "power."

"Is Lady Severne very beautiful?" I asked Lady Yorke on the morning when her guests were expected to arrive.

"Very; she has one of those faces with a roseate bloom, and her complexion is simply incomparable. But, beautiful as she is, I do not like her. You are a good judge of character; you will be able to judge for yourself when they come."

Lord and Lady Severne were to reach Westwood on Tuesday, the twentieth of May. Lady Yorke had ordered a lavish supply of magnificent flowers to be placed in Lady Severne's room.

"That is one point in her character which I like," said Lady Yorke; "she is very fond of flowers. It pleases me always to see a woman fond of flowers." Then she continued, with something of a conscious blush on her face, "Miss Chester, I know I shall be very much engaged while the Severnes are here, but I must not neglect my poor. I hope I shall never fall again into that terrible, apathetic way of thinking of no one but myself. If it be really impossible for me to leave home, you will undertake any little commission for me, will you not?"

I would have gone anywhere for her; I was so rejoiced to see the earnest, kindly expession on the face that had once revealed nothing but self-love and discontent.

Every preparation had been made for our visitors. Lady Mary Avon and her brother Sir Charles were two handsome, fashionable persons, rich and popular. Lady Mary had many admirers, but could not tolerate the word "marriage;" Sir Charles was looking out for a wife. Captain Forrester was heir-presumptive to an earldom, and was consequently much sought after. Sir Harry de Burgh was a young Irish Baronet, one of the most popular men in England, and Lady Grey was a young widow with a large fortune.

"A well-assorted party of guests," said Lady Yorke complacently;" and the great beauty of the arrangement is that they will amuse each other. Lord Severne will generally fall to my lot, if the same thing happens here that took place invariably in Italy. He liked to saunter by my side in his grave, melancholy fashion, while Lady Severne generally attracted all the men to herself. She will do the same here. I am so glad," continued Lady Yorke, "that you sing so beautifully, Miss Chester. Lord Severne likes music. His wife sings, but he does not care for her style, and always discourages her."

Tuesday came, a bright morning, but with the warning of a coming rainstorm on its face. There was a low wail in the wind, a darkening at times of the sky, a strange stillness in the air such as always precedes a storm.

It was mid-day when a message came from Woodheaton, asking help for a poor family, one of whom—the father—was dangerously ill, the wife had met with a severe accident, and the children were destitute. The poor were beginning to know to whom they should send; they were beginning to love Lady Yorke, for they knew that no one ever asked her help in vain. She came to me and asked me to act for her.

"I must be here to receive our visitors," she said. "I give you carte blanche, Miss Chester."

So it was as Lady Yorke's almoner that I went out on that day. Lord Yorke bade me beware of the threatening storm, but I told him that I did not think it would break until the morrow. But, when I was on the point of returning from Woodheaton, the rain descended in torrents. For an ordinary shower I should not have cared in the least, but this storm was terrible. It seemed as though the heavens were opened, such a tempest raged on that fair, tranquil country-side. The sky was like lead, the wind blew fiercely; and then lightning flashed and the thunder came. The storm lasted some hours; and when the sky cleared and the rain ceased it was night. Lady Yorke, who was always kind and thoughtful, sent a closed carriage after me.

As we drove up the avenue, the carriage stopped suddenly, and the coachman sprang down from the box and came to me.

"Do you see what has happened, Miss Chester?" he asked.

Looking out, I saw by the pale, watery gleam of the moon that a great beech-tree, said to be the largest and finest of its kind in England, and called "The Pride of Westwood," had been blown down.

"Why, his lordship will be more grieved over this tree than if half the house had been blown down," said the coachman, in a grave voice. "I am very sorry, miss, but, you see, the branches reach all across the drive. I cannot take the carriage any farther; I must go back to the court-yard."

I saw that the honest, simple man, a faithful retainer of the House of Yorke, was deeply distressed. He shook his head as he led the frightened horse away.

"I never like such great trees to fall, Miss Chester," he said. "They are the glory of a house. I always think bad luck follows."

I cannot tell why, but, as I went to my room, a sense of oppression and coming sorrow seized me. I could not believe in the superstition that the falling of a great tree must mean evil. That was nonsense. But my heart was heavy, my brain oppressed.

Fortunately for me, I was a great favorite with Mrs. Masham, the housekeeper, and when she heard that I had returned, she hastened to my room. Anything [illegible]

"No, miss, not to-night. You must take care of yourself; you have been out in the wet all day amongst those poor people. I know what it is; you must rest now. Her ladyship would desire it, I am sure."

There was nothing for it but to obey. Yet I could not sleep. The wind murmured sullenly through the wood, and the great branches rustled. My thoughts were full of the misery I had witnessed that day, of the terrible storm, of the fallen tree, and of the guests now under the same roof. Whenever the door opened, I could hear music and laughter. The house seemed all brilliancy and merriment. Mrs. Masham told me that the visitors had come. All words had failed her in trying to describe Lady Severne; she raised in speechless wonder her hands and eyes.

"Beauty does not come near it, Miss Chester," she said, after a time. "Our Lady Yorke is a beautiful woman, but Lady Severne's face dazzles one. The husband, Lord Severne, seems quiet; he is a handsome man, but very melancholy."

She contrived to give a fair description of all our visitors, and very much to my surprise, finished by saying:

"Ah, Miss Chester, you would be queen of them all if you did not look so sad and would not always wear mourning."

That night terrible dreams came to me of Mark. Mark was out in the storm, and I could not find him. Mark was struck by lightning, and lay before me, dead. Mark was under the fallen tree, mangled and crushed. My dreams were always of Mark in peril, in danger, and dead.

CHAPTER IX.

Wednesday morning—a day never to be forgotten; the twenty-first of May—a date ever to be remembered! I rose with the sun. The morning was so beautiful that one could hardly believe in the clouds and the storm of the day before. The air was sweet and fresh after the rain; the grass was of a brighter green, the leaves had a deeper hue, and the flowers held up their heads with renewed life.

When I opened my window, the odor of the lilacs came to me. I could see far away the golden gleam of the laburnum and the tall chestnut trees. The fragrance from the lilacs sent my mind and heart back to Mark. I remembered how he had always loved the early morning, the fresh, sweet air, the glint of the sun on the leaves. But he trod no more the green fields and woodland ways that he had loved so well; the music of wind and leaf reached him no longer. A longing impatience seized me for the time when I, in Heaven's mercy, should stand by his side again.

I forgot the terrors of the previous day; I forgot all about the visitors in the house. My heart was on fire with the anguish of my bitter desolation. Never since Mark had left me on that bright July morning had I longed so eagerly for his presence. I went out, for the house seemed all too small to hold me and my great sorrow—out where I could see the blue heavens. Ah me, how fair was the morning, and how sweet were the lilacs! It could not hurt me to dream for a few minutes, to loosen the bands that sorrow had bound round me, to weep as I had wept when Mark went from me.

I went to the lilac trees, fresher and sweeter than ever since the rain, and sat down. The warm May sunshine fell around me, the birds were calling to each other, the dew lay upon the grass. I tried to forget the present, and live for a short time in the past. I pictured the May morning at Gracedieu, on my seventeenth birthday, the pretty old home buried in the trees, the distant gleam of the river, the shade of the deep green woods, and the lovely group of lilac-trees, the topmost bough of which I could not reach. I saw the dark, handsome face of my lover, so frank, so brave, so true; his dark eyes smiled into mine; his voice, than which to me earth had held no sweeter music, was in my ears.

"Oh, Mark," I cried aloud, "why could I not have died with you?"

Merciful Heaven, what was that? I rose to my feet with a cry. What was it? A figure coming slowly toward me, tall and stately, but with a drooping head, walking with slow, uncertain step. Oh, Heaven, who was it—what was it? I stood paralyzed. My heart beat so violently that I could almost hear it; my hands shook; all the warmth and color left my face. White, breathless, trembling at the same moment with terror and joy, bewildered and amazed, I stood as though my feet were rooted to the ground. What was it?

Coming slowly towards me, yet not seeing me, buried in thought, the sunshine falling on his bowed head, was Mark. Surely, if Mark had ever lived, this was he? If the sun shone in heaven, if I was sane, that was Mark—Mark, for whom I had wept as dead—my handsome, true, dear lover, come back to me! I tried to utter his name, but the sound died on my lips. I tried to move towards him, I could not stir. He was coming nearer. Ah, yes, it was Mark! Oh, my heart! I could have cried out in gratitude to Heaven, and have died. I saw the strong dear hands that had held my own; I saw the dark face, older and sadder than when we parted; I saw the loving eyes, full now of wistful sadness.

He was not dead then, but living and well! He had doubtless been to Gracedieu in search of me, and the Rector, with whom I had left my address, had sent him hither. He had been to the house to ask for me, and the servants had told him I was out in the park. He would explain his long, cruel absence. He had come back to me; he was true and loyal; he had come to make me his wife; and I—oh, Heaven, I should be happy at last.

He was nearer to me now. I grasped the low branch of a tree to keep me from falling. I called to Heaven to give me strength. My heart beat madly, my brain burned, my senses seemed almost to have left me. I saw only him, and as he came to the trees where I was standing I cried:

"Mark! Mark!"

I was mad—Heaven forgive me—quite mad. My mother had warned me not to make an idol of any creature; and here I was on my knees before this idol that I had made for myself. I kissed his hands, sobbing the while as though my heart would break, tears raining from my eyes. I could only cry:

"Mark, Heaven has sent you back to me. Oh, my love, how I love you!"

He raised me in his arms. Once again the strong clasp held me; once again the arms of my true love were around me. Would to Heaven the angel of death had smitten me as I lay there!

I heard him cry, "Nellie! Is it you, Nellie?" and the sound of the dearly-loved voice drove me mad again. I clung to him and kissed him with an anguish of passion known only to those who love as I loved.

"You have come back to me from the dead!" I cried. "Oh, my love, welcome! I have never doubted you, Mark, all through the weeks and months and years. I have loved you just the same. I said always that if you were living you would come. If dead, I would take my love and faith [illegible] I [illegible] have never doubted you for one moment, Mark."

In a passion of joy and gratitude I put my arms round his neck, telling him, with kisses and tears, how glad and happy I was, how I thanked Heaven, how my happiness was all the greater because my anguish had been so keen. He was strangely silent. But I heeded not. When my rapturous words were over, he would talk to me in the old, sweet, grave fashion.

"You may kiss my lips, Mark," I said, "for I have kept my promise. The kiss you left on them is there still; no one has touched them. I never swerved, even in my thoughts, for one moment from you. If you had never returned, and I had lived fifty years longer, I should have been just as true. All other men are but shadows. Oh, Mark, teach me—you are wiser and better than I—teach me how to thank Heaven that you have come back to me."

Strangely silent was he; but, as I remembered, great emotion often causes silence. I could not see him, for he had drawn me to him. I could only stand still, folded in his close embrace, and murmur to him all the loving words that came from my heart—how I had yearned for him—how long the days, the weeks, the months and years had been—how I had thought of him unceasingly—how, feeling sure that he was in Heaven, I had made Heaven the home of my heart—how I had been in many places and seen many men, but there was none like him, none to be compared with him. All the loving thoughts that had ever passed through my mind were poured out like water beneath his feet. The wind faintly stirred the green boughs above our heads, the birds were singing blithely, and I could hear my own voice rippling on, but not his—not his.

A gust of wind blew a lilac-spray right into my face. I seized it and kissed it passionately.

"How strange, Mark, that you should come back to me in the time of the lilacs! They seem almost like living friends. But, Mark, speak to me. I say all; you say nothing; speak to me."

Still I could not see his face.

"Great sorrow made me dumb, Mark; great joy gives me words," I said. "Tell me that you are pleased to see me, to find me."

"Nellie, my true, loving Nellie!" he said.

And I was content. Oh, wondrous love! I was content and happy. I too stood for some minutes in silence, the dark, handsome, beloved face bending over mine.

"I believe those happy birds know all about it, Mark," I said. "Hark, how they are singing. If I had known what to-day would bring, how I should have longed for it to come! Oh, Mark, what a debt you have to pay me! What hours I have spent in praying for you! What tears I have shed! You must repay me all those prayers and tears. Mark, raise your head and let me look at you. Do you know that I have hardly seen your face yet?"

But for all answer, he drew me nearer to him and whispered:

"My dear, loving Nellie!"

I was quite content, safe in the shelter of his arms, my happy face resting on his breast.

"Do you know, Mark," I said, "I was so sure you would come back to me in July, when the four years were ended, that I spent the greater part of every day, while the month lasted, under the trees? Since the world began no woman has ever loved more truly than I love you. I am proud of my faith, Mark—proud of my unswerving truth—proud that I knew and understood you so well—proud that no shadow of doubt has ever dimmed the sun of my great love."

Still was he strangely silent, and the fiery passion of my words was wearing away. I wanted to look into the beloved face. I wanted the dear lips to lavish love on me, as mine had on him.

"Mark, look at me!" I cried, in a rapture of loving impatience. "It seemed to me, as you came along, that you were sad and melancholy. Look at me. See the love that beams in my face and in my eyes for you."

But his head drooped lower, and he drew me nearer to him.

A thought came to me that possibly he had been ill, and I knew how illness changes people. Yes, he had been ill, and seeing me had been too much for him. Perhaps if he could have expressed his emotion in a torrent of words as I had done, he would have been better.

"Mark," I said, "look at me; let me see your face. I am beginning to fear that you are ill."

He raised his head, and once more the dark eyes looked into my own. Ah me, the face was changed. The youth, the hope, the brightness was gone; it was pale, careworn, wistful. But the eyes had their old power over me.

"Have you been ill, Mark?" I asked, anxiously.

"No," he replied, "not in body; I have been in mind."

"I will cheer you and make you better. Why, when you went away, your face was bright and brave. What has changed it?"

Was I mistaken, or could it have been a moan that had fallen from his lips.

"Mark," I cried, "you have been in sore trouble, I am afraid; but it is all over now. We shall never be parted again. Why—why do you not speak to me as I speak to you?"—and again my trembling, burning hands clung to him, and again the tears rained from my eyes, and the passionate love of my heart found expression in whispered words.

Ah me, he was strangely silent. And it seemed to me, now that the first shock of surprise was over, that the figure to which I clung was growing rigid.

"Oh, my love," I cried, "speak to me—to me, Nellie Chester, your wife who is to be, the one woman in the world who loves you with a great love! Why do you not speak to me, Mark?"

"I have not yet recovered from my surprise, Nellie," he said.

"Surprise!" I repeated. "Why, Mark, you knew I was here, did you not?"

"No, Nellie; I had not the remotest idea of it," he replied.

"You did not know that I was here? You did not come purposely to find me?" I cried.

"No," he answered sadly, turning his face from me.

"Then," I asked, in wonder, "why did you come? What has brought you here?"

He looked at me, and I saw how full of sorrow and distress his face was.

"Nellie," he said, gently, "will you tell me what brings you here?"

"Do you not know?" I asked.

"I do not. I cannot even imagine," he said.

"I am living here as companion to Lady Yorke," I said. "I waited in the old home at Gracedieu until the four years were over. I lived alone, longing, hoping against hope for news of you every day, afraid to go away lest you should come during my absence."

He laid his hand caressingly on my head, and the horrible chill that had begun to creep through my veins ceased.

"My sweet, loyal Nellie," he said, "but in some [illegible] come mattered little. He would tell me all when he recovered from his surprise. There would be no secrets, no mysteries between us. I unclasped his hands and held them in mine.

"You are tired, Mark, and not well, I am sure," I said; "let us sit down and talk quietly."

"Oh, Nellie, Nellie, you are killing me with every word!" he cried.

"Killing you, Mark? Why, I would die a hundred times over for you! I have done so. Every day of your long absence has been like a day of death to me."

"Hush, my darling!" he cried, "for Heaven's sake, hush!"

"But why, Mark? Why must I not speak to you? Why are you so strange? Why are you distant and silent?"

But for all answer he held up his hand and repeated, "Hush, my darling."

Why should that deadly chill come over me? Why should my limbs tremble? There could be nothing to fear. Mark was living, and he was with me. I beat down the horrible rising doubt. I would not listen to it. What could there be wrong between Mark and me? I sat down upon a rustic bench and said:

"Sit here with me, Mark, and we can talk at our ease."

But he did not sit down, and the terrible fear grew. I could feel the warm color leave my face, and the blood in my veins grow chill. I could have cried aloud in my agony. But I must know what it all meant. The change in my face startled him.

"Nellie," he cried, "for Heaven's sake do not look like that; I cannot bear it! Do not let the joy and love die from your face yet, my darling—not just yet."

"Why must they die at all? Now that you have come back, why can we not be happy as we were? There is no reason, Mark, is there?"

Paler, graver, sadder than ever, he took my hand in his.

"I have not the courage to speak!" he cried. "Heaven forgive me, I cannot speak!"

"Is it that you have no money, Mark?" I asked, with a sudden sense of relief. "Oh, my darling, I do not care in the least about that. Money is nothing when we have love. Ah, I see now, Mark! You failed in that Indian undertaking, and you do not like to tell me so. Why, my love, I would sooner have one lock of your hair than all the wealth of the world. If any one had left me the largest fortune you could imagine, what would it avail me without you? Ah, Mark, you should know me better."

"I wish to Heaven it was so! I wish I stood before you a penniless beggar. It is not that. I am a rich man now, Nellie, and my riches are as ashes to me."

"Why, Mark?" I asked.

Oh, why did he not love me with the frank, caressing love of love? My heart hungered and thirsted for it.

"I am a coward," he said. "Oh, Nellie, loyal, sweet, true Nellie, can you not guess?"

"I can guess nothing," I replied, piteously. "Tell me what is wrong, Mark."

I began to see that something was terribly amiss, but my faith in him was unshaken.

"Tell me, Mark. No matter what it may be, you can trust me. You know there is no end to my love. If you are in trouble or distress, I shall only love you the more. You have come back to me, darling, and your sorrows, as are your pleasures, are mine. Perhaps I can help you—the mouse helped the lion once. I have a little money; my money, my love, my life are all yours."

The dark, handsome face grew paler, the firm lips trembled; I saw great drops on the broad forehead, I saw mortal agony in the dark eyes.

"Mark," I cried, piteously, "there is something wrong."

"Yes," he replied, slowly, "there is, as you say, something wrong."

"You will tell me what it is?" I asked.

"I must; but when I do so you will hate me. You will hate me, and send me from your presence, never to see you again."

All the love, the generosity, the passion of my heart was roused. I hate him! Rather could the sun bring darkness!

"I could never hate you, Mark, my dear love, never even dislike you. You do not know me; you have forgotten in all these years how I love you. I gave you my love for ever and for ever; Mine was never 'love for a day,' Mark; it was 'for ever.' I love you so well and so truly that nothing can part us. If these hands I kiss now had committed the most grievous crimes, I would kiss them still. You could never kill my love, Mark. I would go with you into exile; I would stand by your side on the scaffold and suffer for you."

"Hush, Nellie!" he said, laying his hand on my lips. "Every word you say is as a sword in my heart."

"But it is true, Mark—it is all true. I could not love you more if I tried."

"I believe it," he said. "My beautiful Nellie! My true Nellie! Oh, how can I ask pardon of Heaven?" He knelt by my side and drew my head upon his breast, and smoothed the ripples of my hair with the old familiar gesture I had loved so well. "Poor Nellie! True, loving Nellie! How can Heaven pardon me?"

I had ceased to weep, ceased to wonder. Mark had come back to me, but there was something wrong. I felt that he was hushing me to rest in his arms for a few minutes before he told me, and I was content. What Mark did was always best.

"Nellie," he said at last—and his voice trembled with emotion—"seeing how well you love me, I could almost wish you were dying now. If the light of the sun could but strike us both dead! You tremble, Nellie. Love, be still; rest for one moment; I will tell you all then."

And I clung the more closely to him. Should ruin, sorrow, death come, what mattered it while those arms sheltered me? A mother soothing her child in the delirium of fever could not have been more tender than Mark was in that hour to me.

"You will hate me, Nellie, when you hear all; you will send me from you, and I shall never see you again."

"Does it look like it, love?" I whispered. "There is little fear of that."

Still he rocked me in his arms, calling—

"Nellie, Nellie, each moment makes it worse, makes it harder! Ah, Nellie, why have you been so true to me?"

"Why?" I replied, with a glad little laugh. "I could not help it; I was true to you naturally. I turned to you, Mark, as the sunflower turns to the sun."

"Oh, my darling, my beautiful love," he said, "you are so much better than I am. You are noble and loyal; I am—oh, Heaven, that I should have to say such words of myself!—I am a coward and a renegade!"

"You mustn't say such things of yourself," I [illegible]

"Hush, Nellie!" There was pain in his face, anguish in his eyes. "Nellie, I must tell you. Oh, my dear, do not look at me with those loving eyes, [illegible]

Ben Butler's Bridge.

The just achieved triumph of Ben Butler and the clever devices with which he neutralized the effects of the "splits" in his own ranks recall an incident of the general's early career, and which is interesting as showing that even in his youth Ben displayed those stragetic abilities which have since done so much for his military and political career.

It appears that young Butler was enamored of a pretty girl who lived on a farm about six miles from that of the Butler family in the western part of Massachusetts. The country beauty was a coquette, however, and kept quite a large train of admirers in suspense, each doing his best to gain the advantage of the others. At last matters were brought to a climax, and the damsel appointed a certain night when she would render her final decision as to which suitor she preferred.

It goes without saying that they were all better looking than Ben, but the latter determined to put the inside of his head against the outside of those of his opponents. The nearest way to the fair flirt's house, and the one taken by all her eager followers, was over a bridge formed by a single and somewhat slippery log placed across a deep brook in the rear of the house. Young Butler repaired to this bridge an hour earlier than the accustomed "courtin' time," carrying a pail of lard with which he carefully anointed the log by the mellow moonlight, backing himself across it astraddle.

As he afterward sat with his sweetheart waiting for the other suitors to appear, a loud splash came from the direction of the brook. Ben's game eye twinkled, and in imagination he could see one of his gorgeously gotton up fellow candidates climbing up the opposite bank with his teeth chattering and heading for home across lots, but the conspirator looked as innocent as a cat in the dairy and said nothing.

Pretty soon there came another souse, and after a while another. The beauty began to look at the clock and show evidences of decided pique at the negligence of he other admirers—a circumstance Ben did not fail to turn to his own profit.

Presently he could faintly hear voices in the distance, and he knew that the last two swains were approaching together. Pretty soon came a tremendous double splash.

"Dear me," said the young lady, "how the fish are jumping to-night!"

The upshot of it was that, when the future governor rose to go, the slighted beauty gave him her hand. Sealing the bargain with an old-fashioned husking bee kiss, Butler left his prize in such a state of exultation that he forgot all about the greased log, and the first thing he knew both heel hit him in the back of his head; and he took a header down below, just as his victims had done. He climed up the already well clawed bank and made the six miles to home, uttering Kearneyisms unfit for publication. He was taken with chills and fever as a result, and when he got well, found his fiancee had eloped with a hired man. Butler tells this as the narrowest escape of his life, as he said the girl began eating onions the very next day after she became engaged. The general has been lucky ever since.

If a well be poisoned, woe be to those who drink thereat. It is worse to poison the fountain of life for one's self and for posterity. Often by carelessness, or misfortune, or inheritance, this has been done. Ayer's Sarsaparilla frees the blood, the vital stream, and restores appetite, strength and health.

The Lime-Kiln Club.

The peach stones ceased rattling around the hall, the windows went down, the munching of peanuts was hushed and Brother Gardner had a firm hold of the platform with his toes as he arose and began:

"A resident of my neyburhhud died de odder day, an' dis ebenin' de committee 'pinted to write an eulogy on his character war' showing me a draft o what dey had prepar'd. De eulogy am in seckshuns, an' I will quote it to you:

"He was a man who did not gib to de poor wid one han' an' steal from de taxpayers wid de odder.

"He nebber gin a dollar to de heathen in Africa, but he allus paid his debts in America.

"While he did not purfess to be a perfeck Christian, he remembered dat only one seat belonged to him when he trabbled.

"He made no great adoo 'bout his honesty, an' yit he remembered when an' whar he borrowed a hoe or a shovel.

"He did not call hisself better dan his fellow-man, an' yit he had a kind word fur a boy wid a sore toe an' a ton of coal fur a naybur wid a broken leg.

"He felt that he had a duty to do by de church, an' yit he entered a circus by de front doah, an' de soun' of a fiddle put new speerit into his feet.

"If he did not sing his hymns from de housetops, neither did de world h'ar what he said when he arrove home an foun' his wife sick a-bed, de hired gal gone an' de baby bowlin' wid a paper of pins in his mouf."

"I CAN BID DEFIANCE."

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1880.

H. H. Warner & Co.: Sirs—Thanks to your invaluable Safe Diabetes Cure, I can now bid defiance to disease.

W. G. ARMSTRONG.

"Mrs. Lofty," said the teacher, "your son has contracted some very bad habits." "Glad to hear you say so," was the answer; "his bad habits certainly need contracting."

A Boston woman declined a gift of $25,000. She is a widow of a newspaper editor, and it is suspected that she has pawned her husband's diamonds, and needs no further assistance.

THE CHINESE MUST GO.

[illegible]

A Terrible Disaster.

On the 14th of January a frightful fire occurred in a circus in Russia, the details of which have not before been recorded. It was in some respects even more horrifying than the disaster at Milwaukee. Eight hundred people were packed into a circus building in Airditscheff when the alarm of fire was given. The structure was built of wood and was without windows. The performance was about half over, and two clowns rushed in and shouted "Fire!" The people thought it was part of the performance until the ringmaster ran out shrieking at the top of his lungs. A moment later the fire began to creep from the stables. The people rushed for the main entrance. The doors opened inward, and were forced shut and held there by the pressure of the terror stricken multitude. Some fought their way to the two side exits, but both were firmly nailed up and defied every effort to break them open. It was impossible for the victims to escape. When the people began to realize this they began to throw their children into the ring from all parts of the house. There was a carpet in the ring and there the fire did not reach. Parents, imbued with a heroic instict tossed their little ones down from the galleries and from all parts of the house. Nearly 200 children huddled together and watched the slow approach of the flames with blanched faces. A few cried piteously, but most of them were awed and fascinated. But as the fire crept around the building, the parents forgot their heroic impulses, and one by one jumped into the ring too. Soon the enclosure was a mass of struggling, fighting, terror stricken men and women. The poor children were trampled under foot by the mob as it surged frantically about. Then twelve or fifteen horses scorched and maddened by the flames sprang into the ring, where they bounded frantically about among the people, trampling them to death. The whole ring was now a struggling, fighting mass. The fire brigade was summoned, but it didn't arrive until half an hour after the fire was started, and then it was impossible to do anything toward putting out the fire as the tanks were frozen. After great effort the doors were cut away, but nearly 300 people had already perished. At the main entrance the scene was horrifying. The blackened bodie of scores of victims lay packed in the doorway, where they had been held as in a vise and slowly roasted to death. It is said that the fire was caused by a careless smoker dropping a burning cigarette in a pile of straw.

FOR SIX CENTS

we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great Medical work; 100 pages, colored plates from life. The most valuable adviser ever published. to any address on receipt of two 3 cent stamps to pay postage. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. 37w2

A Fine Offer.

A seductive offer in the newspaper line is put forth by the Oconee (Ga.) Monitor. A partner is wanted, one who can "edit a paper, and quarrel, and fight, and play politician, collect money, and at the same time pretend he don't want it. Who can run a newspaper without money as well as with it, who can print a paper so loud that a deaf and dumb person can read it before it gets out of the postoffice. Who can get out a paper that will never get lost in the mails, nor be borrowed by deadheads, nor grumbled at by soreheads. Who can run a paper to suit all the different whims of subscribers. Who knows more about the newspaper business than Horace Greely did. We want a man who will fight anybody for a subscription. In fact, we want a man who can blow hot and cold at the same time. Who can carry water on both shoulders. Who can bark with the dogs and run with the rabbits." Such a one, it is added, can find lucrative business with the Monitor.

HOW TO AVOID DRUNKENNESS.

Forbid intoxicating nostrums and use Parker's Ginger Tonic in your family. This delicious remedy never intoxicates, is a true blood and brain food, and aiding all the vital functions never fails to invigorate. 37w2

Fashion Notes.

To Mexican Pensioners.

The Mexican War Service Pension Bill is about to become a law; therefore the names and addresses of such soldiers and the widows of those who have died should be sent us on postal cards or otherwise at once by the persons entitled or by friends of such who may see this notice.

In order to keep these claims separate from our other business, mention "Mexican War."

Address, N. W. FITZGERALD & Co.,
Box 588. Washington, D. C.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly. The most desirable building lots in Oswego Falls. For terms etc., inquire at Fulton of 25tf HENRY E. NICHOLS.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

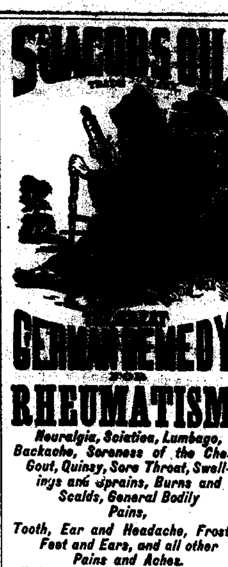
And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

[illegible] & FOSTER.

ST. JACOBS OIL



GERMAN REMEDY.

FOR

RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE

for all diseases of the Kidneys and

LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fult or Oswego Falls

A First-Class line of

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6.
GEO. J. EMENY,
H. H. GRIDLEY.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

W. M. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

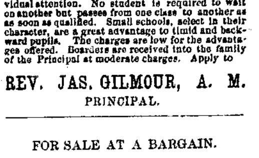
G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspecton of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition..........
Board and Tuition (short week)..........20
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of 36tf
W. C. WHEELER,
Fulton Times Office.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE

13 and 15 North Salina Street,

A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE.

E FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Feb. 7, 1883.

THE Maine legislature has prohibited traffic in toy pistols.

MRS. LANG[illegible] says she will clear $90,000 from her [illegible]an trip.

THE new Capitol has so far cost $14,-[illegible]84,368.44, and it will require hundreds of thousands of dollars to complete it.

THE rapid growth of cotton mills in the South may be estimated when it is known that at the close of the war there was not any in that section and now there are over $45,000,000 invested in them.

The season os destructive floods seems to have opened in this country and for the nonce fires and disasters on sea and rail are respited. The rise in the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers is causing widespread suffering and destruction.

VINCENT, State Treasurer of Alabama, has absconded leaving a deficiency in his accounts of about $350,000. He cannot be found. The Governor offers a reward of $5,000 for his arrest. Polk, the defaulting State treasurer of Tennessee, is safe in jail in Nashville.

"BOWEN, just elected U. S. Senator from Colorado is worth $3,000,000," is the announcement flashed over the country. His statesmanship, integrity and ability are not mentioned it being inferred, perhaps, that his $$$$ will make up for any deficiency in that line

THE introduction of paper rails is thought by no means unlikely to work something of a revolution in railroad construction. They are said to cost one-third less than steel and will last much longer, being almost indestructible, and do not expand or contract with changes in the temperature.

A PENNSYLVANIA court has just decided that the transfer of credits and debits of accounts by telephone is as valid as that by word of mouth in which there are no actual evidences in writing of the transaction. Several cases affecting the telephone have now been decided and a body of law in relation to the legal status of the new instrument is gradually developing.

THE annual report of the state assessors shows that the total assessed valuation of real and personal property was $2,783,682,567; that of real estate amounted to $2,432,661,378, while the assessed valuation of personal property was only $351,021,189. The assessors recommend the passage of a law providing that no deduction for debts shall be made in assessing personal property.

A BILL was introduced in the House of Representatives one week ago Tuesday, providing that soldiers or sailors confined in Confederate prisons after the suspension of the cartel for exchange of prisoners, a period of ninety days, or more, and honorably discharged, shall receive a bounty of $400 and an extra allowance of $2 a day from the time of capture until their release. The bill was prepared by the Union Veteran Prisoners' Association.

THERE is wild excitment in Dublin over the revelations and arrests made in the Cavendish-Burke murders. The goverment think they have evidence implicating four men in the crime and it is said some of those implicated have turned informers. The excitement is so great that further examination has been deferred until Saturday. Clue after clue has been followed and worked but at no time has the government been so confident of being upon the right track.

TAXPAYERS will be interested in learning of a case reported in the last volume of the Court of Appeals affecting the evasion of personal taxation. One Thurman, cashier of a bank in Troy, created an artificial debt by giving his note to a bank for $25,000, leaving the government bonds the note was supposed to pay for as collateral. The decision holds that this was a lawful transaction, and that though there was a manifest design to evade the payment of the tax, the assessors must allow the debt in reduction! Clearly, we need amended tax laws.

THE first number of the first Chinese newspaper in America appeared in New York city Saturday. A Chinaman dictates the articles to an amanuensis, who puts them on paper, from which they are transferred to a lithographic stone. But for this method the publication would be impossible, as there are 60,000 characters in the Chinese language, and the cost of them is enormous. The fact that all Chinamen can read, and that there are in New York 8000 Chinamen, 600 laundries and 30 grocery stores, is pointed to by the projectors as an evidence of prospective success.

WHY not two cent postage? asks the N. Y. Sun. Forty years ago it cost six cents to send a letter from New York to Brookly; ten cents to send it Newburgh; twelve and a half to Catskill; eighteen and three-fourths to Saratoga; twenty-five to Cincinnati. A bold step taken by Congress in 1851 declared that a single letter should be carried anywhere in the country within 3000 miles for three cents. There had been one intermediate step half a dozen years before, reducing postage to five cents for a distance of 300 miles or less, and to ten cents above that distance. The cry for two cent postage is now universal, and Congress has listened to it.

FLOODS instead of fires are the prevailing plagues of this month. The high waters in the river in Cleveland, Ohia, has submerged hundreds of acres of low lands. Saturday morning a petroleum tank exploded in West Cleveland and the flying oil flowed down the creek and communicated with the Standard Oil company's works, located in the valley, one after another of which took fire until at night five 12,000 barrel tanks, [illegible] stills, agitators and engine house [illegible], a railway trestle and various [illegible] works were destroyed. Not less than [illegible] barrels of oil were consumed, [illegible] $100,000 to [illegible] in the valley. [illegible] Late Saturday night [illegible]

THE OUTSIDE WORLD.

Happenings of a Week Briefed. A Variety of News.

—In New York city last week there were 589 deaths, 577 births, 261 marriages, 1631 arrests and four murders.

—The New Jersey legislature has passed a bill to render four men out of a jury of six and nine out of a jury of twelve competent to render a verdict.

—During 1882 4,534,494 pieces of mail matter were handled in the Oswego post-office. The receipts of the year were $25,431.60, and expenses $15,661.69.

—A Chicago man, arrested for stealing tools, said he took them to save his family from starving. They had nothing in the house to eat but oysters, milk and custard pie.

—Mace and Slade who were arrested for proposing to give a boxing exhibition in New York have been discharged, the court holding that the evidence did not show any violation of the law.

—There were 276 failures in the United States reported to Bradstreets during the past week, 13 less than the preceding week, 82 more than the corresponding week in 1882, and 116 more than the same week in 1881.

—Warsaw, Wyoming county, is excited over the discovery of salt. Land is being sold for fabulous amounts and a syndicate has already been formed for carrying on a gigantic trade. A disposition to monopolize all available land is the first move.

—A Vermont jury has determined, after due deliberation, that a crow, whether tame or wild, is "an outlaw and an unsuitable companion for honest folk." The attempt of the plaintiff to recover damages for the killing of his sable pet was frustrated on that ground.

In Philadelphia, Wednesday evening, Catherine Beruesou, aged 30, fired a revolver at a party of school children because they made a noise in front of her house. The bullet struck Maggie Cartelle, aged 12, killing her. The murderess was arrested. She is considered insane.

—At Halifax, Va., on Friday night James Guthre, a prosperous young farmer, was married to Hulda Martin. A large company was present at the wedding, which was solemnized at the residence of the bride's father. Owing to bad weather, the guests remained in the mansion all night. In the night the husband died and the wedding party of the night before, next day attended the funeral, his four groomsmen acting as bearers and the minister who married him reading the burial service.

CONGRESS is still tinkering with the tariff.

THERE are about 4,000 boats now engaged in transportation upon the state canals, 62 of which are propelled by steam and the balance by animal power. The large class boats are capable of carrying about 240 tons of 2000 pounds each or equal to about 8050 bushels of wheat.

Lenten Regulations.

Communicants in the Roman Catholic Church in this diocese are expected to obey the following regulations promulgated for Lent by Bishop McNierny:

1. All the week days of Lent, from Ash Wednesday till Easter Sunday, are fast days of precept on one meal with the allowance of a moderate collation in the evening.

2. The precept of fasting implies also that of abstinence from the use of flesh meat. But, by dispensation, the use of flesh meat is allowed in this diocese at the principal meals on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays of Lent, with the exception of Holy Thursday and the second and last Saturday in Lent.

3. There is neither fast nor abstinence to be observed on Sundays of Lent.

4. It is not allowed to use fish with flesh meat at the same meal in Lent.

5. The church tolerates the custom, which has obtained here, of using eggs, butter or cheese.

6. Necessity and custom have authorized the use of lard instead of butter, in preparing fish, vegetables, etc.

7. The church excuses from obligation of fasting (but not of abstinence or the like) the following classes of persons: First, the infirm; second, those whose duties are of an exhausting or laborious character; third, persons who are attaining their growth; fourth, women in pregnancy or nursing infants; fifth, those who are enfeebled by old age.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, Jan. 23, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. Present, President, and Trustees Cavanaugh, LaLonde and Herrick.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

Complaint having been received of the unsafe condition of the walk corner of Sixth and Seneca street, it was ordered that the sidewalks on the west side of Sixth street also on the south side of Seneca street adjacent the property of Joseph Bagge, lot 6, block 50 be placed in a safe condition with hand rails on each side. On motion the president was made a committee to ask the collector and attorney to be present at the next meeting of the board. Adjourned to meet Feb. 6, 1883 at 7:30 p. m.

L. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

FULTON, Feb. 6th, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.
Present, President, trustees Herrick, Johnson and LaLonde.
Minutes of last meeting read and approved.
Board adjourned to Feb. 13, 1883, at 7:30 p. m.
L. H. PATTERSON, clerk.

We have received an elegant assortment of new spring ginghans this week. F. E. BACON.

McCarthy's

CHINA HALL.

—:o:—

Great Bargains

—IN—

CROCKERY,

GLASSWARE,

CHANDELIERS,

LAMPS,

SILVERWARE,

[illegible] Days

Pension Bill.

The House of Representatives passed the pension appropriation bill one week ago Saturday. It appropriates $[illegible],000,000 for payment of invalid pensioners, $1,[illegible],000 for naval pensions, $[illegible] for pension agents, $575,000 for examining surgeons and $10,000 for contingencies. The house also passed a bill reported by Mr. Joyce, providing that any person who, while in the naval or military service, shall have lost the sight of one eye shall be entitled to receive a pension of twelve dollars a month, and in cases in which the injury to one eye manifestly affects injuriously the sight of the other eye he shall be entitled to an equitable increase in his pension not to exceed in the whole amount $25 per month, and all those who under like circumstances have lost the sight of one eye, the sight of the other having been previously lost shall be entitled to a pension of $50 per month; and all those who while in the military or naval service of the United States in the line of duty, by injury received or disease contracted, shall have lost the hearing of both ears, shall be entitled to receive a pension of $25 per month; and for any loss of hearing less than total deafness in one or both ears they shall receive an equitable portion of the full pension.

[N. Y. Times.

☞Satin dolmans $12 at Gordon's branch store. 37

A Comedy of Errors.

A ludicrous incident recently took place in Liverpool. There are two brothers who parted many years ago when boys, one of them going to America to seek his fortune and the other remaining in Liverpool to make it. They have both been eminently successful in this respect, and not long ago the brother in America determined to visit the brother in England. The time of the visit was settled by correspondence, and the American set sail. The Englishman is a notorious wag and arranged that an acquaintance should meet the American as his brother and conduct him to the hotel. The American, who is also a great wag, on the trip decided to play exactly the same joke on his brother, asking an acquaintance whom he met on the ship to personate him for a few hours. The acquaintance entered into the spirit of the joke, and when the vessel arrived in Liverpool was found by the personator of the English brother and driven to the hotel. The real American brother followed more leisurely, chuckling over his joke. In the meanwhile the English brother had also gone to the hotel, bursting with merriment over the joke. It happened that the two real brothers met in the lobby of the hotel, and though they had been parted so many years they knew each other. At first with blank amazement they greeted each other; and then, as they explained their mutual joke they laughed long and heartily. But the climax was yet to be reached. An explanation in regard to the gentlemen who had personated them, and who were now as they imagined playing a huge joke on each other, showed that they were also brothers who had personated them, and who did not know each other when they met. The first pair of brothers hurried up to their parlor, and after the situation had been explained all around, the comedy of errors was pleasantly ended by an old fashioned English dinner.

Premature grayness avoided by using Parker's Hair Balsam, distinguished for its cleanliness and perfume. 37t2

The World's Cyclopædia of Biography.

Cyclopedias of Biography are usually made up of an alphabetical list with brief sketches, principally of the names of people of whom you have never heard, and to know whom would neither add greatly to your pleasure nor your mental wealth. "The world's Cyclopedia of Biography," now publishing, is upon a different plan. It contains only the stories of the lives of famous men and women who have made the world's history: who are really worth knowing, and who are written about by authors equally eminent in the world's literature, with the subjects whom they describe. Each volume is complete in itself, so that if you do not want, or cannot afford all, you can take what best pleases, or is of most worth to you. The five volumes thus far issued narrate the achievements of nearly two hundred of the most famous and worthy of the world's great heroes. Volume IV, recently published, a very handsome, large 12 mo., of about 750 pages, for the price of 70 cents contains a new and excellent "Life of Washington;" a reprint of the thrilling Weem's "Life of General Marion," and a new "Life of Oliver Cromwell" by the brilliant writer E. Paxton Hood. To illustrate the remarkable economy in cost, compared with previous publications: the present importing price of Life of Oliver Cromwell is $3.00—here in equally good type, handsomely printed, with two other important works thrown in, it costs only 70 cents; even beyond this as a means of most widely and effectually advertising the biographical series, the publisher will send, post paid, a paper bound edition of the Hood's "Life of Cromwell," to any address on receipt of only 15 cents, and then if the purchaser desires to secure the bound volume, will credit 15 cents toward the price of the same. It will be strange if such books at such prices, do not find their way into every home. "Biography is the most universally pleasant, universally profitable of all readings," well said Thomas Carlyle. How indeed can the heroes of fiction be compared in interest with these heroes on all time, Washington and Cromwell? John B. Alden, Publisher, 18 Vesey St. New York.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging irritation, inflamation, all Kidney and Urinary Complaints, cured by "Buchu-paiba." $1.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of timber land the balance in a high state of cultivation. One hundred apple trees, one hundred pear trees, and a "sap bush" making one hundred pounds of sugar per year. Plenty of water and good buildings. A good bargain. Terms easy. Inquire on the premises or address tf [illegible], Fulton, N Y

A man was walking rapidly about the streets Monday [illegible]

MOSE [illegible]

His Hair Breadth [illegible] Seen and [illegible]

Troy Kansas Chief, Jan[illegible] 18, 18[illegible].

Most of our older [illegible] ber Mose Kite (who lived in [illegible] Bottom), the hero of our state's early political history, who was of stalwart build and powerful physique; who in 1858 led a colony of our people to Pike's Peak; who fought the Indians on the plains and was shot through the body; who on his return here after the rebellion was coverted and baptized by Elder Henshall, of the Christian church at Petersburg Bottom, and became a revival preacher of celebrity all through this section. They will also recall the fact that, attacked with consumption and reduced to a skeleton, he was obliged to remove to the Rockies in the hope of saving his life. None thought he would succeed. Last fall, however, the editor of this paper met him at the head of the river, bigger and more robust than ever. "Why, I thought you had died of consumption long, long ago, Elder?"

"Me, I never had consumption, man! though people thought that was what ailed me, and I thought so myself. But the doctors had sent me on a wild-goose chase of a dozen other diseases, just as fatal, and this one was the widest one of all."

The good Elder then recounted to us, in a charming vein, his many adventures in the rough and ready life he had led, "but," he said, "remarkable as you may think my warlike life has been, I have a much more interesting story to tell you."

"You know what a rough noisy fellow I used to be; and I could stand any hardship. Why, on a wager, I have knocked down an ox and a mule with my fist. I have fought ruffians, border outlaws and Indians; but I was

DOGGED FOR YEARS

by a more dangerous unseen enemy that was ever getting me more completely in his clutches. I was shot by an Indian in a fight on the plains, but that wound healed readily and gave me but little trouble. After I returned to Kansas and commenced preaching, I first began to give way. I had a dull feeling accompanied with a pain in the right side. Dr Butler, our family physician, said my liver was out of order, caused by the malaria of the bottoms. I had always had an appetite like an ostrich, but my digestion became seriously impaired. While on the circuit preaching, I consulted a doctor, who said I had dyspepsia. After that, distressing palpitation of the heart followed, and the physician said this was caused by my indigestion and diseased liver which would probably terminate fatally. Sometimes I had a ravenous appetite, at others none at all. I was feverish and then chilly. My food seemed to do me no good. A specialist told me I had a tape worm! Then I was troubled with unusual quantities of water and a frequent desire to urinate, which was done with difficulty and great pain. The specialist said I had a touch of the gravel, caused by use of the alkaline water of the plains. I then began to suffer severe pains in the loins and the small of the back, accompanied with sudden attacks of dizziness, during which I had to sit or lie down, to avoid falling. I was forced to abandon because I could no longer ride on horseback, or trust myself out alone. I began to be seriously alarmed, and sought the advice of the most noted physician within reach. He said that my frequent horseback riding had jolted and jarred me, until the old Indian wound, which had injured my kidneys, had become inflamed. He treated me with medicines and electricity also, but gave me no permanent benefit. My painful symptoms all returned. I began to cough, got very thin and my legs were disagreeably numb. I began to despair. At each attempt to cure, my ailments became worse, with new symptoms. I next consulted a celebrated physician from the East, who, after thumping and examining me stated that I was in an advanced stage of consumption and threatened with diabetes and paralysis! He thought I might possibly prolong my life for a year or two, by seeking a higher and drier climate. This was my condition when the people in your part of the country last saw me.

TRAVELLING AND PREACHING,

Then I started for the Rockies but liked this country, and settled here. At first the change helped me, but about three years ago the benefit ceased. Then I failed so rapidly that I could be out of bed only part of each day. All my old symptoms returned. At this crisis, a party of Eastern gentlemen, made my house their headquarters. In the party was a Dr. Wakefield, who informed me that I had a bad case of incurable Bright's Disease, and gave me a preparation which might, he said, ease me for a few weeks or months, but that was the best that could be done. Around the bottle was a newspaper. Now a newspaper was a rarity in our home, and I sat in my chair looking it over when my eye providentially fell upon an article relating a most wonderful cure of Bright's disease—the very malady that was killing me—by the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, of Rochester, N. Y.). Convinced that further delay would be fatal, and everthing else failing, the next morning I dispatched one of my boys to the nearest railroad station, many miles distant, to obtain a bottle of the Safe Cure. The druggist said the demand for the Cure was so great he could not keep it in stock, and he had to send to Kansas City for more. It was more than a week before it arrived, and I was daily getting weaker. But it came at last, and I at once began to take it. When I told Dr. Wakefield what I was taking, he gave me a look, half of scorn, half of pity, as much as to say, he is putting his trust in a humbug.' Nevertheless I persevered and for the past year and a half I have been as stout and rugged as I ever was in my life. After escaping the attacks of Indians and half a dozen doctors. I was lying at the mercy of a still more dreadful foe that was about giving me the finishing blow, when that great remedy stepped in, slew my adversary, and placed me firmly on my feet once more. I have commenced preaching again; for I look upon the circumstances and manner of my cure as a direct interposition of Providence, and to Providence are my services due. That is my story. I think it is as good as a romance—and much better, for it is true."

ON A BUFFALO HUNT,

'POOR FELLOW!

Such is the substance, and very nearly the language of Elder Kite's narrative. Those who read it, and are suffering, may benefit by his experience, if he will follow his example.

Please to recollect that F. E. BACON is selling Buttons, Notions and Fancy Goods at a less rate than ever before.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best are go[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible] the sad duty of bearing the bodies of our [illegible]

The wife of Mr. Nicholas Howell, of Waverly, Chemung county, N. Y., left his home some time since [illegible]

But who may know his fate—either for good or ill? By the certain advice of friends in Peekskill, Mr. Howell tenderly conveyed his daughter—all there was left of her—to the office of Dr David Kennedy in Rondout, N. Y. Dr Kennedy perceived that she was suffering from heart disease, and also from an advanced stage of a complaint common to women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

DIAMOND DYES,

THE Best Dyes Ever Made.

☞FOR SILK, WOOL, OR COTTON.☜ DRESSES, COATS, SCARFS, HOODS, YARN, STOCKINGS, CARPET RAGS, RIBBONS, FEATHERS, or any fabric or fancy article easily and perfectly colored to any shade. Black, Brown, Green, Blue, Scarlet, Cardinal Red, Navy Blue, Seal Brown, Olive Green, Terra Cotta and 20 other best colors. Warranted Fast and Durable. Each package will color one to four lbs. of goods. If you have never used Dyes try these once. You will be delighted. Sold by druggists, or send us 10 cents and any color wanted sent post-paid. 24 colored samples and a set of fancy cards sent for a 3c. stamp. WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

GOLD and SILVER PAINT.
Bronze Paint. Artists' Black.
For gilding Fancy Baskets, Frames, Lamps, Chandeliers, and for all kinds of ornamental work. Equal to any of the high priced kinds and only 10cts. a package, at the druggists, or post-paid from WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

Boston Concentrated

FOOD

Excellent for Horses, Cattle and all kinds of stock. Also

Linseed Oil Meal!

For Sale at the
GENESEE MILLS,
W. S. Nelson & Co.

27m3

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address.
DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, N. Y.

C. A. HILL,

VETERINARY SURGEON,

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY

THE MOST

Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, Illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary. It also contains all the usual tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrases, etc., American Geographical Names with definitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World. Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc., Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries, Interest Tables, 4 to 10 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and durable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page Illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 62 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a fine gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 12 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionary.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say, [illegible]

JAMES COLE,

The old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51t

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS

Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 8 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:
OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.

Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174.

Those desiring can be waited on at their residence Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Wurts' bakery, West Cryuga street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.

Jan. 3, 83 1 yr.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	9.00	4.30	....	....
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	8.00	3.30	....	....
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.16	12.20	6.09
Winterton	12.00	7.38	12.52	6.43
Bloomingburgh	12.06	7.46	1.00	6.58
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	7.07
SUMMITVILLE	12.20	8.00	2.55	7.35
Fallsburg	1.00	....	4.03	9.00
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	9.20
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	9.60
Liberty	1.26	....	4.45	10.10
Parksville	1.40	....	5.05	10.45
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	11.18
Rockland	2.27	....	5.45	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	12.35
East Branch	3.00	....	6.28	1.40
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.55	3.25
WALTON	4.05	6.50	8.00	5.15
Franklin	4.38	7.45	8.56	....
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.30	8.30
Guilford	5.2[illegible]	9.30	....	....
Oxford	5.43	10.00	....	....
NORWICH ......Arrive	6.00	10.40	....	10.00
	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.
NORWICH	6.05	2.05	6.55	8.25
North Norwich	6.17	2.25	7.07	8.47
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.22	9.15
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	9.36
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.30	7.40	10.08
Eaton	7.05	3.53	7.51	10.30
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	10.50
Munnsville	7.25	4.38	8.13	11.23
Community	7.38	5.02	8.26	11.55
ONEIDA	7.50	6.15	9.10	1.10
Fish Creek	*8.06	....	*9.34	1.55
North Bay	8.14	....	9.43	2.12
Cleveland	8.30	....	10.05	2.60
Bernhards Bay	*8.38	....	10.13	3.03
Constantia	8.45	....	10.27	3.25
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.02	....	10.50	4.10
Fulton	9.35	....	11.38	5.33
OSWEGO	10.00	....	12.10	6.20
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y.Ar	6.25	10.50	10.00	....
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	9.10	....	11.50	....
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	6.10	5.50
Winterton	5.02	7.52	5.40	5.19
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.45	5.32	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.48	7.39	5.22	4.58
Summitville	4.40	7.30	5.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.03	....	4.30	3.08
Hurley	3.53	....	4.18	2.54
Liberty Falls	3.40	....	3.35	2.33
Liberty	3.36	....	3.27	2.20
Parksville	3.22	....	3.08	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.08	....	2.48	12.48
Rockland	2.53	....	2.27	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.20
East Branch	2.18	....	1.40	10.07
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	9.00
Walton	1.12	3.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.30	2.42	10.55	....
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	....
Guilford	11.29	12.55	....	....
Oxford	11.14	12.30	....	....
NORWICH	10.55	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	7.55	6.05
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.45
Smyrna	10.26	10.50	7.33	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.24	5.05
Randallsville	10.08	10.08	7.15	4.46
Eaton	9.56	9.35	7.05	4.25
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.56	4.10
Munnsville	9.36	8.35	6.40	3.32
Community	9.17	7.55	6.28	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	....	5.24	12.40
North Bay	8.37	....	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	....	4.51	11.35
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	....	4.42	10.50
Constantia	8.07	....	4.30	10.27
Central Square	7.46	....	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	....	3.28	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	....	2.45	7.30
	a. m.	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.39	7.26	2.36
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.09	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	[illegible]	6.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	[illegible]	6.08	11.14
DELHI	5.10	[illegible]	5.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.32	8.14
Mount Upton	5.45	8.05
[illegible]	6.15	7.32
[illegible]	6.30	7.28
NEW BERLIN	6.45	7.00

[illegible] do not stop. ‡ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. § Stops for [illegible] New York passengers only.
J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't. J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pass'r. Agt.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known [illegible]

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.
PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. ARCTIC 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.
Get the best, don't be humbugged by imitations.

EXPEDITION

20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agency to ALVORD & SLEIGHT, publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse.
Mention this paper.

GRAND

MUSICAL FESTIVAL!

—AT—

State Arsenal, Syracuse, N. Y.

COMMENCING

Monday Evening, Feb. 5,

And Continuing Through The Week.

CONCERTS EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

The Attractions will be

Gilmore's Famous Military Band,
Of New York, comprising 60 instruments.

A CHORUS OF 800 VOICES,
And the following Celebrated Vocalists:
THE TEMPLE QUARTETTE, ...of Boston
MISS EMILY WINANT, Contralto, ...New York
MISS HENRIETTA BEEBE, Soprano, ...New York
MISS IDA V. RUSSELL, Soprano, ...New York
MADAME [illegible], Soprano, ...Boston
[illegible]

[illegible]!

I spent three days in New York last week, and found some Splendid Bargains.

We now offer:

50 pieces best quality of Prints at 5 cents.

1000 yds 36 inch soft finish bleached muslin at 8cts. Same quality never sold in Fulton less than 10 to 11cts.

25 Pieces figured Worsted Dress Goods 12½c. former prices 18 and 15c.

25 Pieces Gingham, 10c. former price 12½c.

Ladies' Gossimers $1.45.

Ladies Black Coney Fur Collars $1.00.

FAY'S NEW YORK CASH STORE,
FULTON, N. Y.
E. B. FAY.

WE OFFER AT

THE BAZAAR

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62. Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40. Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.

CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

MUTUAL LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY

—OF—

NEW YORK.

—:o:—

This Company was Chartered in 1842.

Assets - - $94,702,957.92

—:o:—

Premium rates lower than any other Company.

W. C. WHEELER, Agent,
Fulton Times Office,
Fulton, N. Y.

DO YOU WANT!

IF YOU WANT

dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards,
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
calling cards,
address cards,
shipping tags,
business cards,
wedding cards,
invitatation cards,
business circulars,
pamphlets printed,

If you want job printing of any description, done in a most satisfactory manner, you can satisfy your wants by calling at THE FULTON TIMES printing office

Boarding AND Livery Stables

—:o:—

ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S.

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.

Horses and Carriages at all times. [illegible]

[illegible] FULTON.

[illegible]BUS

[illegible] leave the Lewis House [illegible] the Oswego & Syracuse Railroad by the [illegible]

[illegible] to Oswego, including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, [illegible] the Omnibus.

A. M. Hatch, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2	7:15 a. m
Norwich Express No. 6	3:22 p. m
Freight and Accommodation No. 42	8:35 a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1	9:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 5	11:38 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 46	5:33 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation	8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express	9:23 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express	12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express	5:08 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express	8:06 a. m
Day Express	3:08 p. m
Oswego Accommodation	6:21 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express	8:39 p. m

☞ The 8:06 train runs Sundays.

☞ Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. Phelps, Supt.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. Wheeler, Fulton Times Office.

36tf

Lent.

Ash Wednesday.

The last month of winter.

Jerry Murphy of Chicago is in town.

Read the story of "Elder Mose Kite', on our second page.

Horatio Palmer of Granby, who was an invalid for many years, died Friday.

G. D. Ball, jr. has resumed his labors as billing clerk in the Midland office at Oneida.

By request of the society Rev. L. Golden will remain and officiate in the Baptist church until April 1st.

Mrs. Mary Carr of New York was in town Monday to attend the funeral of her nephew, Peter Mehagan.

Mrs. James Monteith of Canandaigua, has been a guest of the Misses Osgood on First street the past week.

Mr. Fred Bruce, who is attending the medical school in the Syracuse University, is spending a couple of weeks at home.

Levi Kelly, who has been in Cornwall, Ont., for a few months has returned to Oswego Falls. He will remove his family to Cornwall in the spring.

Gilbert E. Spencer and Miss Emma Ingersoll were married Sunday at the residence of Barney Ingersoll on Second street by Rev. L. Golden of the Baptist church.

John M. Stewart of Oswego Falls and Miss Nellie Ouderkirk of West Granby, were married Wednesday evening by Rev. D. L. Phelps at the parsonage at Granby Centre.

Wanted—A convenient house, rent not to exceed $12 per month, within two blocks of corner of Second street and Broadway Fulton. Address J. F. box box 29, Oswego Falls.

The Times is in receipt of a pleasant letter from Dudley Hubbard who left Fulton about two years ago. He is in Denver, Colorado, and more than pleased with his western home.

Persons who wish to put the renting and handling of their property in trustworthy hands, had better call on Mr. VanWagenen. Also those who wish to rent places for the coming year.

Mr. O. P. Conger arrived home Monday afternoon from St. Augustine, Florida, where he had been with Mrs. Conger in quest of health. Mrs. Conger's health is improving and she will remain until spring at Macon, Ga.

Mr. J. C. Gillespie, who was injured in a straw cutter a few days ago is resting easy and indications are favorable for a speedy recovery. Friday he was attacked with pleurisy and for a time life was despaired of. Mrs. Gillespie is slowly recovering from a fever.

Dr. Wm. B. Carroll of Phœnix, formerly a resident of Fulton will to-day remove to Meridian, Cayuga Co., having formed a partnership with Dr. E. S. Forman of the latter place. During his residence in Phœnix his practice has been successful and he made many friends.

A bill was introduced in the Assembly on Wednesday to amend the charter of the village of Oswego Falls. It makes a number of changes in the village government. It is the same bill that failed to pass last year. It provides that the officers of the village shall be a president, six trustees, a police justice, one assessor, a treasurer, collector, clerk, street commissioner, one or more policemen, a jailor and a few other subordinate officers.

A family living in Fulton, consisting of father, mother and one child, went to bed Saturday evening and being rendered insensible by coal gas slept until nine o'clock Monday morning. They thought it was Sunday morning and hustling around were ready for church at 10:30. They tried the front door of the M. E. church and thinking they were early returned leisurely home. The bustle in the streets, the ringing of school bells and the assistance of a friend put them [illegible]

WANTED—A competent [illegible] general housework in [illegible] family. Enquire at this [illegible]

[illegible] To Rent.—The house and [illegible] Second street occupied [illegible] and lot on [illegible] easy. Apply [illegible] information [illegible]

A Variety of [illegible] of Which are [illegible]

Jimmie Hanna fell on an icy walk Sunday. His nose was the unfortunate.

While coasting on the Wesleyan hill last week Raleigh Mosher broke his collar bone.

Michael Burns of the Dygert House, Williamstown, was found dead in his bed yesterday noon in his hotel.

Timothy Sweet, an old and respected citizen of Phœnix expired suddenly Tuesday of last week while in a fit. He was 66 years of age.

Mrs. Tyrrell of Oswego Falls broke her left wrist Saturday by slipping on an icy walk in Oswego Falls. Dr. E. Frank Marsh reduced the fracture.

As a funeral procession was entering the village Monday a horse driven by Michael Blake became frightened, throwing Mrs. Blake and Miss Maggie Casey out and injuring them.

Mrs. Patrick Kennedy of Oswego Falls was stepping out of the door of her residence Monday when she slipped and fell sustaining a severe fracture of the right wrist. Dr. Wells attended her.

Mrs. Henry Harwood, who resides near South Granby, fell on the ice in the street yesterday while crossing from Bacon's store to the post-office, breaking her right limb at the ankle. She was removed to the office of Dr. W. A. Hall and the fracture reduced.

Mr. Wm. E. Taylor was passing by the Victoria paper mill yesterday forenoon when he slipped on the ice and fell, breaking his right leg between the knee and ankle in an oblique manner. It is a bad and painful fracture. Dr. W. A. Hall attended him.

Timothy Berney of Baldwinsville, a brakeman on the D. L. & W. road, caught his right hand between bumpers while coupling cars at Fulton station last night, crushing and lacerating it badly. Dr. W. A. Hall was summoned and assisted by Dr. E. Frank Marsh amputated the first and second fingers but hopes to save the hand.

Fulton Telephone Exchange.

The advent of a telephone exchange in Fulton was hailed with pleasure by people generally and it has fully demonstrated its worth and practicability. New subscribers are being added and it is the desire of the management to make it serviceable and valuable to patrons and to that end subscribers should use them when transacting business with each other. Time will come when the telephone will be as important a piece of furniture as a stove or table and the recognized avenue of communication between housekeepers, grocers, bakers, marketmen and merchants generally. There should be no trouble in securing a list of seventy or eighty in Fulton and we trust the list will grow and the Fulton Telephone Exchange reach a degree of prosperity commensurate with its surroundings. Mr. E. F. Blanchard is manager and can be found at the D. L. & W. express office or at the Exchange, in store underneath The Times office. Below will be found a

LIST OF SUBSCRIBERS:

E. F. Blanchard, residence; J. H. Case, residence; Geo. M. Case, residence; Citizens National Bank; M. E. Cornell, Restaurant; M. E. Cornell, Livery; D. L. & W. Passenger Depot; D. L. & W. Freight Depot; Fulton Times, Office; W. G. Gage & Co., Mill; Dr. W. A. Hall, residence; Herrick & Emerick, Box Factory; O. J. Jennings, residence; Geo Johnston, hardware; R. Leonard, Livery; N. Y. O. & W. R. R. Depot; Oswego Falls M'f'g. Co., office; R. E. Phillips, drug store; E. W. Ross & Co., foundry; M. P. Schenck & Co., cider mill; W. J. Watson, drug store; Western Union Telegraph Office; D. L. & W. Express, office; Miller & Whitaker, grocery.

In Memoriam.

I call on the past, to lend me
Its songs to sooth my pains:—
I bid the dim future send me
A light from its eyes—in vain!
Nought comes; but a shrill cry starteth
From hope, as the past departeth:—
"I go, and come not again!"

Barry Cornwall,
(Proctor)

Another winter's snow covers with a white mantle her silent resting place.

The aching brain is flooded with the sacred memories of long ago.—From the anxious breast comes the ever recurring thought,

"Shall we in sweet communion join once again
The friends that were dear to us here?"

It may be a human weakness, yet notwithstanding our sanguine hope and trust, the sombre tint of sadness sometimes comes with the eventide and the angel of pensive thought with a tender hand touches our weary shoulders as she sits by our side.

But the goddess of morning, with light and warmth dispels the mists and "idle tears" night had gathered. We look forward to the duties and work unfinished that wait the coming morrow. How can we better keep alive and green the memory of our dead friends than doing works of charity and love for which they prayed, and silently, patiently wrought. Is not this a memorial worthy of our most earnest endeavor, as well as a tribute to their fidelity and goodness! What though the sweet song of the poet rings in our ears:—

"I go and come not again!"

yet with the kind sympathy of the loved here and the fond memory of those gone before, shall we not cheerfully again take up life's burdens and duties, feeling that

"The chords of love which have so fondly bound us,
Are never broke—but stretched from shore to shore."

Fulton, Feb. 6th, 1883.

The Fulton correspondent of the Syracuse Journal says:

The services at the Baptist church Sunday evening were exceedingly impressive. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity. Rev. Mr. Golden preached a short sermon from these words: "Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace." After the sermon nine persons received the ordinance of baptism, six of whom were members of the family of Mr. Wm. [illegible]

[illegible] BOOTS AND [illegible]!

Preparatory to going to [illegible]

CALL AND SEE.

A. S. Morse was in town Monday.

Mrs. W. S. Foster of Canandaigua, is a guest of Fulton friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chauncey of Suspension Bridge will spend Sunday in Fulton.

J. C. Murphy, wife and daughter of New York city will arrive in Fulton Saturday for a short visit.

Fred Livingston, who resides in Sante Fe, New Mexico, is said to be enjoying better health than when last in Fulton.

A telephone has been placed in E. Frank Marsh's office in Oswego Falls. It is No 15. Subscribers will please add it to their list.

Mr. VanWagenen comes out to-day with a special notice to the public in regard to the property he is now handling. You will do well to read it.

Wanted—A good, smart, intelligent boy about 17 years of age with a fair education to learn the printing business. Apply at The Times office.

Harry Comstock has been awarded a patent on an artificial fish bait. It is in imitation of a fly and is a unique and valuable adjunct to a sportsman's outfit.

Delos Distin left Monday for a trip through the south. His journey will include StLouis, New Orleans, St. Augustine, Richmond and Washington. He will be absent about four weeks.

The Lewis House in undergoing repairs. The kitchen is to be removed to the room above, in the east end of the dining room, and the present kitchen will be transformed into a billiard room.

Peter St. Peter wishes all of his friends to know that he is still located in Fulton, first door east of Johnson House, and may be found at home anytime. He makes a specialty of fine boot and shoe work and cobbling.

Mr. Geo. C. Bragdon, formerly editor of the Oswego Times, has assumed the editorial management of the Oswego Post. Mr. Bragdon brings to his position a thorough knowledge of the affairs of the day; is a forcible and pleasing writer and we are pleased to have him remain in the field of journalism in Oswego county.

A very excellent and commendable precaution has been taken by some of the railroad companies. Every train is now provided with a full set of implements ready to use in case of any accident or emergency, consisting of a crow bar, saw, axe, pick and sledge hammer; and also bandages, liniment, etc. for use in case of cuts, bruises and sprains, to which the employees are liable at any moment.

To make a good and serviceable telephone, good from one farm house to an another, only requires enough wire and two cigar boxes. First, select your boxes and make a hole about half an inch in diameter in the center of the bottom of each, and then place one in each end of the houses you wish to connect; then get five pounds of common stovepipe-wire, make a loop in one end and put it through the hole in your cigar box and fasten it with a nail; then draw it tight to the other box, supporting it when necessary, with a stout cord. You can easily run your line into the house by boring a hole through the glass. Support your boxes with slats nailed across the window, and your telephone is complete. There is one in operation in Fulton that is 200 yards long, and the complete cost was only 45 cents. It will carry music also.

Peter Mehegan died at the residence of his father, Daniel Mehegan in Dexterville, Saturday, February 3, 1883, aged 21 years, of consumption. Peter lived in Oswego for several years with an aunt and was a member of St. Mary's church. About five years ago he accepted a position with an oil firm in New York city which failing health obliged him to relinquish. He partially recuperated after coming home and entered the employ of George Johnston as bookkeeper, remaining about five months, his health becoming again impaired he left there Christmas. Mr. Mehegan was a generous, kind and noble young man and possessed many qualities that won for him friends from among all classes. His funeral was held Monday at 10 a. m., from the church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. Father Kearney officiating. His funeral was the largest held in Fulton for many years and evidenced the high respect the man was held in.

Dyspepsia, weak back, despondency and other troubles caused me fearful sufferings, but Parker's Ginger Tonic makes me feel like a new being. A great remedy. Every woman should use it. Mrs. Garits, Pittsburg. 37w2

For Sale.—House and lot on Oneida street, now owned and occupied by Mrs. Safford. Enquire on premises.

☞ A fancy cup and saucer given with pound package of Java coffee. Fancy cake plates with tea and glass sets with baking powder, etc, at either store of D. C. Draper's

In regard to selling Dry Goods in Fulton we wish to say that F. E. BACON seems to get a little the lowest in price of any store yet represented here.

Lawrence C. L. S. C.

The Lawrence Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle of Fulton held its monthly meeting Thursday afternoon, Feb. 1st at the residence of Mrs. Henry Salmon. There was a good attendance and a very interesting session. The preparatory Greek course in English was finished and the October work in Greek history. After reviewing the history of Russia and Scandanavia an extract from the Illiad was read (death of Hector) by one of the members, and the exercises were finished by playing one of the Chautauqua games, Grecian History.

The work of February will be Warren's Recreations in Astronomy, English, Russian, and Scandanavian history and Literature, and Bible history and literature.

This circle takes its name from Miss Mary L. Lawrence, the first Fulton graduate, who has just completed her four years course. She helped to organize the circle and the C. L. S. C. adopted her name as a compliment to her interest and earnest endeavors. There are twenty-five members.

West Side Reading Union.

The West Side Reading Union was held last evening at the residence of Mr M. F. Stephens. A large number were present, and a pleasant time resulted. This reading union of late seems to be the source of great attraction, for the reason that it is so entertaining and instructive. The following was the programme:

PROGRAMME.

Music, duett	Misses Amy and Ada Dann
Reading of Shakespeare.
Secretary's Report,	Miss F. Connor
Music,	Miss Gertie Wheeler
Select Reading,	Mrs. Burns Case
Declamation,	Mr. G. F. Schenck
Selection,	Mrs. H. Rockwood
Music,	Miss Gussie Wood
Biographical Sketch of O. W. Holmes,	Miss Frankie Connor
Selection,	Miss Gertie Wheeler
Selection,	Mr. O. J. Jennings

The participants in the above programme did themselves great credit in the rendition of their respective parts. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Simmons next Tuesday evening.

The Camilla Urso Company.

This splendid troupe will positively appear in Stephens Opera House Tuesday eve. Feb. 20 and give and entertainment of a character sufficiently varied to gratify the best taste of the whole community. If entertainments of one kind or another are necessary to all then a liberal patronage of the coming troupe will bring others of the same high character, and a better standard created. We learn that the music of the Urso company both instrumental and vocal will be such as can be understood and appreciated by all. That Camilla Urso is the first violinist of America is undoubted. In the concert part of the evening's entertainment she will be assisted by Miss Estelle Wendell —soprano; Miss Marguerita Hall—mezzo soprano and Mr. S. Liebling—pianist, all recognized artists. Mr. Alfred P. Burbank, elocutionist, humorous and dramatic delineator will fill part of the program and among his selections will be the first act of Rip Van Winkle, in character, personating Rip the Vagabond of the Cattskills" and all other characters in that historic play. A first class entertainment is in every respect guaranteed. Analytical program at W. J. Watson's drug store, where sale of reserved seats will commence Thursday (to-morrow) morning Feb. 8th, at 9 a.m.

Wells' "Rough on Corns."

Ask for Wells' "Rough on Corns." 15c. Quick, complete, permanent cure. Corns, warts, bunions.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego County on Feb. 7, 1883.

Geo. Hubbard (upper landing)
Samuel Lee.
Miss Sarah Taylor.
Mrs. Ellen Lewis (care Mrs M A. Sullivan).
Mrs. Eliza Perry.
Wm. Wescott.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

Paris Glove Agency, 12 Union Square, New York City.
Smith & Co., Pittsfield, Mass.
J. M. Hilmer, Binghamton, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. Gilbert P. M.

FOR SALE.

In Lower Oswego Falls, about four acres of land with a house and barn—about ten minutes walk from end of lower bridge. Lying between First St. and the river, adjoining on the south the place of Mrs. Martin Osborn. For particulars inquire of Mrs. E. R. Swan, Lower Oswego Falls.

38tf

We shall open this week 3,000 yards of choice prints at a bargain. 1000 yards brown cotton that is a surprise to all for its heaviness. F. E. Bacon.

Fulton was largely represented at the jubilee in Syracuse yesterday.

J. J. Bonney is in Baldwinsville manipulating a feather bed renovator.

There will be a train running to Fulton from Syracuse after the jubilee Saturday night.

Stoneburgh is nearly settled in his new place at Broadway and First streets. It makes an excellent and commodious store.

Miss Emma Connell of this village lies in a very critical condition with typhoid pneumonia. Dr. D. E. Lake is attending her.

The Times office is connected with the Telephone Exchange and any news our friends wish to impart to us by wire will be appreciated.

Dr. J. D Perkins talks of leaving Fulton. Those troubled with corns, etc. should improve the present opportunity. See advertisement.

There will be a Valentine Promenade at Hannan's hall, Palermo Centre, Wednesday evening, February 14. Tickets, including supper $1.50.

Intelligence has been received in Fulton of the death in Swaffham, England, of Rev. Chas. T. Hewitt, brother of the late Rev. J. T. Hewitt.

Mr. Harry Baldry has so far recovered from his illness as to be making ready to return with his family to Philadelphia next week. Eva Montague will accompany them.

John Parker of Volney Centre died at his home in that place last night after an illness of about two weeks. Funeral will be held from his late residence tomorrow at 1 o'clock p. m.

Miss Elizabeth Murphy died on the evening of the 1st inst. of consumption, aged about 18 years. Funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the church of the Immaculate Conception.

The Sons of Temperance have postponed their spelling school until next week. All members of Fulton Division are requested to be present next Friday evening, a pleasant time in store for all.

Many friends of Mrs Carrie Jones surprised her last evening by a pleasant visit. There was a large company present and the occasion will long be remembered for its hearty enjoyment.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Owen celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage yesterday with a golden wedding. Several of the older citizens paid their respects and golden souvenirs were plenty.

A bright light seen in an easterly direction from this village Monday evening was caused by the burning of Henry Hollenbeck's cooper shop which was located about one and one-half miles east of the 16th school house.

Dr. M. L. Rossvally, the converted Jew, will deliver his great lecture on "The Jew" at the M. E. church, on Wednesday, Feb. 14th. The Jewish marriage ceremony will be performed at the close of the lecture. Admission for adults 25 cents, for children 15 cents.

As an evidence of prosperity the Oswego Morning Post is to be enlarged. The Post has nearly completed arrangements for increased telegraph facilities which will make it the equal in point of late news of any paper in this locality. It is the first journal to reach Fulton in the morning and is thoroughly appreciated.

Concerning the prospects for an early disposition of the Gifford case, the Utica Observer says: "Judge counsellor Huntington has been engaged to assist Mr. Avery in the defense of Joshua Gifford. This is the fourth murder trial in which he has acted as counsel for the defense. If he fights to the end as he did in the Greenfield case, justice may be meted out to him in 1900.

John B. Corrie has the agency in this locality for a work on self penmanship. It is a thorough instructor and is especially designed for those who are to teach themselves. The instructions are plain and if followed any person may acquire that valuable accomplishment of being a good penman in a short time. The complete work is only one dollar. He is now canvassing the village and means to give everybody a call.

That Husband of Mine

Is three times the man he was before he began using "Wells' Health Renewer." $1. Druggists.

For Sale.—The House and Lot situate corner of Erie and Third streets occupied by L. S. Worden. Enquire on premises. Terms easy. 37t8

☞ To close out all Holiday goods I offer them at less than wholesale prices, at either store, 15 Oneida street Fulton, or corner 3d and Broadway Oswego Falls, N. Y. D. C. Draper.

For one week commencing Thursday Feb'y 8, we will sell 8 cent prints for 5 cents.
C. E. SACKETT.

☞ Great bargains in sugars, teas, coffees, syrups, molasses, and all shelf goods at D. C. Draper's i. e. at what you pay for them.

Notice—Houses to rent or sell by W. S. Nelson.

Jan. 10, 1883. m3.

[illegible]

But one opinion is expressed by all who have attended the grand jubilee concerts thus far in Syracuse. The chorus of 600 trained voices led by Gilmore's famous band of 50 pieces, the Temple quartette of Boston, and the numerous "stars" as soloists altogether make a galaxy of song never before attempted in this part of the state. Large delegations from Fulton are in attendance. The half fare and tickets of admission generously furnished by the D. L. & W. of one dollar making it an object to attend. An afternoon concert at 3 o'clock and an evening entertainment at 8 o'clock will be continued the remainder of the week.

An Old Invitation.

Mr. John W. Pratt showed The Times an invitation that was issued January 7, 1843, forty years ago, and the list of managers, especially the gentlemen show nearly an unbroken front to this day, they being engaged in business in various parts of the country. Those with a star are deceased:—

DONATION PARTY.

You are respectfully solicited to attend a Donation Party at the residence of the Rev. G. Baker, on Friday evening the 13th inst.

Fulton, Jan. 7, 1843.

MANAGERS:

*Mr. R. H. Tyler,	Miss M. Hubbard,
" Wil'rd Johnson,	" Anna Hubbard,
" John Pratt,	*" E. Stephens,
" N. E. Burdick,	*" Maria Pratt,
" J. C. Tucker,	" E. G. Chapman,
" J. H. Whitaker,	*" C. Crombie,
" G. W. Bryant,	*" Mary Gasper,
* " Jno Ogden,	*" Mary Dean,
" G. H. Patterson,	*" Ann Wright,
" C. P. Tucker,	*" C. Thompson,
" Geo.E. Taylor,	*" Eunice Gasper,
" C. G. Bacon,	" Helen Worlock,
" J. D. Lasher,	" M.M. Whitaker.

☞ Fresh roasted coffee every week at Draper's Fulton and Oswego Falls stores.

Oswego Palladium:—A committee of the Massachusetts legislature heard an argument on the expediency of furnishing a bounty for the destruction of the English sparrow. It was asserted that the bird is causing great and increasing damage to crops. Nearly half of the apples last year were destroyed by it. If the bird should become common in the west it would as a grain eater be a great nuisance. The authorities would do well to offer a small sum for a dead sparrow. They are a great nuisance.

Miss Maggie Burke was united in marriage last evening to Mr. Michael Sennott of Baldwinsville. The ceremony was gracefully performed by Rev. Father Kearney at the church of the Immaculate Conception, at the conclusion of which the newly married couple were favored with a few well chosen and happily spoken words by the pastor who wished them prosperity and happiness. Later in the evening a reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother on South First street, where a large number of friends assembled. A beautiful line of gifts were presented by friends. Mr. and Mrs. Sennott start on the journey of life with a bright future.

One week ago yesterday Mr. E. B. Collins received a telegram from his daughter, Mrs. R. F. Evans, in Bloomington, Ill., announcing the alarming illness of Bertha, a fifteen year old daughter, who with her mother had been in Bloomington since last August. Wednesday afternoon word was received of her death. The Friday previous Bertha wrote a letter to her father which was received the day before the announcement of her sickness. She was sick but three days with diabetes. Bertha was a pretty and bright young lady and was a general favorite among her companions. Her death carries sadness to many hearts. Mr. H. B. Collins left for Bloomington upon receiving the intelligence of the death of his sister and has not returned yet. It is not decided whether the remains will be brought to Fulton for interment or not. They are at present in a vault in Bloomington.

STAVE BOLTS.

Cash paid for WHITE and RIM ASH Stave bolts and black ash heading bolts. Parties wishing to contract will call at office. D. E. MASON.

Fulton, Jan. 22, 83.

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE.

Four Houses, Oswego Falls, Pine St., between First and Second Streets.

Vacant Lot, Oswego Falls, Oak Street.

House and two lots, Fulton, Academy Street, known as "Capt. Taylor place."

Vacant Lot Fulton, 6th St., Block 512
" " " 5th " " 511
" " " Park Street known as L. R. Rector Lots
" " " Bl'k 84, on Acad'y St
House and Lot " Cor. 3d and Cayuga streets, in which I reside.

All or any of the above parcels will be sold Cheap and on easy terms of payment.

Dated Jan'y 1883. H. E. NICHOLS.

"THE BEE HIVE"

STILL LEADING!

We have opened

500 yards more of Calico at 3 cents a yard.

1000 Linen Toweling,

At 4 Cents A Yards.

Table Linen 17cts. per y'd.
Napkins 50cts per doz.

Dress Goods 6cts. 8cts. y'd.

Shawls, Cloaks, Ulsters,

[illegible]

[illegible] have hoist or swing bridges over the canals in place of the stationary ones.

Dr. [illegible], a corn doctor, was arrested in Pulaski Tuesday, and held for the grand jury for practicing his profession without a license.

At Auburn, Monday, Henry Shoemaker was fined $7 and costs for permitting his horse to stand unblanketed in the street for several hours.

Syracuse Journal—John P. Hier has purchased four houses in the Schillinger block, Noxon St., from Willard Johnson of Fulton. The price paid was $13,600.

George Hill, who has been employed in Sing Sing prison for some time, was in Fulton Friday, being on his way to Michigan where he will take up his residence.

The certificate of incorporation of the methodist protestant society of Phœnix has been filed at the county clerk's office. The trustees are Wm. Hess, Joseph Smith, Abram Meyer, Lewis Ostrander and Harvey Loomis.

The Northern New York Republican is the name of a new weekly Republican journal published in Watertown. It proposes to be a republican journal, not a factional one, and makes a favorable impression by the manly stand it has taken.

Wolcott News.—Speaking of cold weather the past week, some pretty tough yarns have been told, but the story coming from North Volney, Oswego county, takes the premium, where it is said kettles of water were frozen solid on the kitchen stove over a good fire.

Oswego Times—In addition to Thomas O'Brien of this city, Messers Wilson and Dodge of Fulton are competitors for the office of canal superintendent of the Oswego division. Both of these gentlemen are making a strong pull for the position and at the present stage of the game it is hard to say which will win.

The residence of George Ott about five miles west of Central Square was destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning. The parents were out of town. The children had been to a party all night returning about 4 A. M. They built a fire and retired and but for the discovery of the flames by the neighbors they would have burned to death.

The property of the McGibeny family was attached at Rome last Monday for $130. The attachment was sworn out by a Mr. Northrop from California, who claims that the McGibenys are indebted to him for that amount for board. Mr. McGibeny says there is a mistake somewhere and having given bonds for the amount sued for, will fight the claims.

Phœnix Register—Mr. C. P. Kimball has sold his cheese factory in this village to A. P. Merriam of Palermo. Mr. Merriam is an experienced and successful cheese maker and will soon proceed to put the factory in thorough repair for next season's business. He comes well recommended and will fully maintain the high reputation which this factory acquired under Mr. Kimball's management.

The Burt line west of Schenectady which is said to have been sold to the West Shore road included the bonds and stock of the Syracuse, New York & Chenango Railway, giving control of that line. The question whether the Syracuse Phœnix & Oswego railroad should be included in the transaction is to be decided hereafter. The Boston, Hoosac Tunnel and Western was to have a perpetual lease of the road if it finished it, which it has not yet done. It was partly constructed when the arrangement was made. Just when the Phœnix road will be built does not seem to be clear.

This morning's Oswego Post says:

The city attorney has been instructed to commence a suit against Richard Walpole, late tax collector of the West side of the river and his bondsmen to recover $6,023.30, which sum he is short in his accounts. Mr. Walpole went out of office about two years ago. In the last report of the city treasurer it was shown that Mr. Walpole's accounts were short about $12,000; which at that time he claimed to be able to pay. Since that time $6000 have been paid. His bondsmen are Mannister Worts, James McCarthy, H. C. Leroy and James Lake. The amount of the bond is $25,000.

Oneida Union—Several towns along the line of the old Midland road have been paying certain bonds issued to aid in the construction of that road. The town of Thompson, Sullivan county, which brought the matter into court, will now be compelled to succumb, the United States supreme court having confirmed the decision of the circuit court against the town. It is no further use for towns to oppose the payment of their bonds. The decision of the United States supreme court, and which carries with its judgment the costs, leaves no chance for the towns to escape paying their bonded indebtedness.

Eating raw ham or pork is a habit not generally indulged in, although smoked ham is agreeable to many tastes. In Rome, James Hyde ate raw ham and trichinæ resulted. A physician examined a part of one of his muscles and found it swarming with worms. A thin piece of muscle was placed under a microscope and it was computed that in a cubic inch of the same muscle there would be 180,000 trichinæ. In another case the Rome Sentinel says the doctor obtained a piece of the ham which the patient had eaten, and learned that he had partaken of it in its raw state. He subjected the ham to a microscopical examination and found that it was filled with trichinæ. Dr. Flandrau is of the opinion that the case is a serious one. The ham which he ate was from the family pig, one that was raised, killed and cured by the man himself. James Hyde and wife have since died from trichinæ.

Palermo.

The temperance people of the town of Palermo Friday nominated the following ticket: Supervisor, Newton Parsons; town clerk, Geo. Hills; justice, S. R. Smith; overseer of the poor, [illegible] Davis; commissioner of highways, [illegible]

[illegible]

Lots 7, [illegible]

Lots 1, [illegible] block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

Wanted—A place in the village worth about $1,500, to exchange for a house, barn and saw mill, and 14 acres of land in the country, a few miles out.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south-east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 4 on Block 64—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 55. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

To business men—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

House and lot on Second Street.

The very valuable property on First Street and running back to Second, well known as the Hull place. For sale cheap. A great bargain for capitalists. Will be sold as a whole or in parts.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!

IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Houses and lots in Oswego Falls.

House on Third St. for $2,600.

Vacant lots on Second St., $500 & $600.

Houses on Second St. $900 to $2000.

Four hundred ($400 will buy a house on Buffalo St.,—on the same street another may be had for eight hundred, ($800). Another for $2,000.

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St., A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 2½ to 325 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

—IF YOU WANT THE—

BEST BRANDS OF CIGARS,

Cigarettes, Common and Fancy

SMOKING TOBACCO

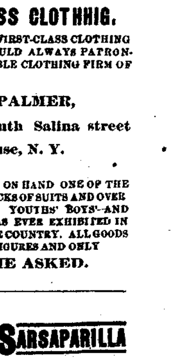
SMOMING PLUG,
FINE CUT CHEWING,
PLUG CHEWING,
BLACK AND SCOTCH SNUFFS,

PIPES AND SMOKERS' ARTICLES,

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN'S,

The Old Established Tobacco Store,
Next Door to Citizens' Bank.
Jobber and Retailer.



FIRST CLASS CLOTHHIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,
15 and 17 South Salina street
Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

Lebanon, N. H., Feb. 19, 1879.

Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co.: Dear Sirs— Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I [illegible]

(Firm of Carter & [illegible])

COMIC AND SENTIMENTAL

[illegible]NTINES!

A Large Stock of Pure Drugs.

A Complete Stock of Patent Medicines.

A Fine Assortment of Toilet Soaps.

A [illegible]

VALENTIN[illegible]

FORTY-FIFTH VOLUME.

[illegible] New York Mercury a welcome guest in every home circle.

REDUCED RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

[illegible] circulation of the New York Mercury, the proprietor has determined to reduce the annual subscription rate for 1883 from $3.00 to $2.50 per annum, thus making it the largest, handsomest, cheapest and best family paper in the United States. Each subscriber will get comprising more than 15,000 lines of choice literature in each issue—equalizing the contents of a 25 cent magazine!

1,000 SQUARE INCHES OF READING MATTER 52 TIMES A YEAR FOR $2.50

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

will be mailed, postage free for six months for $1.25, or three months for 75 cents. Sample copies sent when requested. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 3 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its Christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol. 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including all the reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

[illegible]

The Home

[illegible]

THE WONDER OF HEALING!

Catarrh. [illegible] is the only specific. Cold in Head, &c. Our "Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, contains all the curative properties of the Extract; our Nasal Syringe is invaluable for use in catarrhal affections, is simple and inexpensive.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured so many cases of these distressing complaints as the Extract.

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

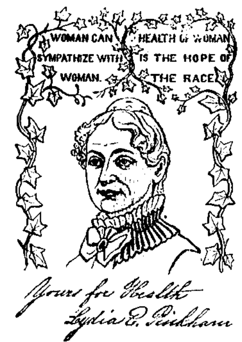
POND'S EXTRACT	50c, $1.00, $1.75
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (3)

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers every where. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffalo, N.Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been universally recognized as the best newspaper published in Northern and Central New York. The chief reason for its popularity lies in the fact that it is a journal equally well suited to the wants of all classes of the community, from the farmer to the business man, and is as popular in the home circle as in the office and workshop.

Its proprietors spare neither pains expense nor labor to make the Utica Herald equal in all respects to any newspaper in the United States. It aims to supply every feature of a general newspaper, so that its subscribers will find it necessary to take no other journal. To this end it devotes special attention to the fullest publication of all the local news of the twelve counties through which it largely circulates. Its columns contain in compact form

ALL THE NEWS OF THE WORLD,
THE FULLEST MARKET REPORTS,
ABLE EDITORIAL DISCUSSIONS,
CORRESPONDENCE FROM STATE AND NATIONAL CAPITALS, THE GREAT CITIES, LITERARY NOTICES,
FASHIONS, SOCIETY AND ART NEWS,

the choicest reading for the Family Circle; and a carefully conducted Agricultural Department, in which especial attention is given to the

DAIRY AND HOP CROP.

The Utica Herald has long been recognized as the most valuable paper published for all engaged in those two agricultural specialties of Central New York.

Extensive improvements, increased facilities and unabated enterprise will mark the New Year.

[illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

[illegible] Feb. 2, 1883.

The Pranks of Western Electioneering.

When Colonel Shingleton was a candidate for Congress from one of the hill districts of Arkansas, he had a rich experience. He soon became the butt of his opponents' jokes, and as there were ten aspirants for the position his life was an exaggerated burden. Once when the candidates on horseback were going to meet an appointment of oratorical contest, Shingleton fell behind, determining to no longer submit to their raillery. The party passed out of sight, leaving the disconsolate candidate to his own reflections. A light rain had fallen, and when the party crossed a broad shallow creek, one young fellow conceived the idea of a joke. "Suppose," said he, "that we take off our coats and wait until Shingleton comes in sight, when we will put them on, giving him the impression that the creek is deep. We'll not say anything to him, and he will think that we want him to lunge into the water."

The idea was acted on. Pretty soon Shingleton came along.

"That's all right," he yelled when he saw the men hurriedly putting on their coats. "I understand you. Want me to get wet, eh?"

He dismounted, and although the day was fearfully cold, he took off his clothes, mounted and carefully guiding the horse he entered the stream. The water was not more than six inches deep, and when he perceived the cruel joke he stood up in the stirrups and began to swear, when his clothes fell into the water and began to float away. In attempting to reach over and regain them he fell, and his horse staggering, stepped on him. His rage was terrific, and when he arrayed himself in his garments he borrowed a gun at a neighboring house and chased his opponents fifteen miles, totally forgetting his appointment to speak.

[Little Rock Gazette.

Mothers should remember, in the absence of their physician, that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral promptly relieves the croup.

The Travels of a Pin.

The Press, of Middletown, says a child of Henry Crossman, of that place, some four years of age, that has been ailing for half its life, was taken about four weeks ago with a glandular swelling in the right groin. The doctor painted it to drive the swelling away, and this not succeeding he poulticed it, and at the proper time lanced it. A day or two ago the child complained of a sharp pain in the place of the swelling, and the doctor called. He examined the spot, and finding something pointed sticking through the skin, drew out what proved to be a common brass pin. It was coated black from the point to near the head. The child was free from pain immediately after the removal of the pin. The supposition is that the child swallowed the pin, possibly two years ago, and during the time it has been working its way through the body, causing the pains of which the child complained, and the illness which could not be cured. Cases of needles making long journeys through human flesh are quite common, but such cases as this must be rare.

☞ Diamond Dyes are so perfect and so beautiful that it is a pleasure to use them. Equally good for dark or light colors. 10 cts.

It Can Be Done.

"I have been told," said Mr. Dubious, watching the great steam hammer in the rolling mill, "that a good hammerman can break the crystal of a watch with that thirty-ton hammer." "Yes, sir," said the hammerman, "It can be done." "I should like to see it," said Mr. Dubious, eagerly, feeling in his watch pocket. "I can do it, sir," replied the man. "And will you?" replied Mr. Dubious, drawing out his watch. "Come, I am anxious to see it tried." He laid his watch on the great anvil plate. The hammer rose up to its full height, and the next instant all its ponderous weight, with a crushing force that shook the ground for an acre round, came down on the watch. "There sir," said the hammerman quietly, "If you don't believe that crystal is broken, just stoop down and you can see it sticking to the hammer." Mr. Dubious swallowed a whole procession of lumps and gasps before he could speak. "But I forgot to say," he exclaimed, "that it was to break the crystal without injuring the watch." "Oh, yes," said the hammerman; "yes, I know; I have heard that rubbish myself, but it's gammon. I don't believe it can be done. But you can break the crystal every time."

[Burlington Hawkeye.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.

"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters, and am happy to say they have done me more good than anything yet. Send a further quantity at once." This man was a sufferer from dyspepsia for twenty years. His name is Alexander Lough, and he lives at Alpena, Mich.

Wanted To Know.

Trustee Pullback of the Lime Kiln Club wanted to know if honor compelled a colored man to accept a challenge to fight a duel. If not, what would honor compel him to do in case an enemy halted at his gate and dared him to come out of his house and get mashed?

"Honor am a curus thing. Brudder Pullback," replied the President. "In case you are a better shot dan your inimy it am honorable to meet him on de field an' kill him. If you think he will be sartin to kill you it am honorable to excuse yourself on de groun' ob habin' a game leg. If I made an inimy and he cums along to my cabin an' spits on his hand an' hops up an' down an' calls on me to cum out and be pulverized, Ise gwine to consider befo' I go out. If I'm putty sartin dat I kin wallop him, Ise gwine to feel in honor bound to rush out and break his nose. If he looms up like a sidehill and 'pears to hab lots ob science, Ise gwine to send my old woman out dar to tell him dat if he does fly onten dat she'll git de hull perlease force and put him where de calves can't bite him."

On Thirty Days' Trial.

[illegible]

Hood's Sarsaparilla [illegible] neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait!

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you.

A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

[illegible] proportion of the diseases [illegible] suffering result from derangement of the [illegible], bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC [illegible] act directly upon these organs, and are [illegible] designed to cure the diseases caused [illegible] derangement, including Constipation, [illegible]tion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of [illegible] Pills are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant [illegible]. The extensive use of these Pills by [illegible] physicians in regular practice, shows [illegible] the estimation in which they are [illegible] by the medical profession.

[illegible] Pills are compounded of vegetable substances [illegible] and are absolutely free from calomel [illegible] injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"[illegible] Pills are invaluable to me, and are [illegible] companion. I have been a severe [illegible] Headache, and your Pills are the [illegible] I could look to for relief. One dose [illegible] move my bowels and free my head [illegible]. They are the most effective and the [illegible] I have ever found. It is a pleasure [illegible] in their praise, and I always do so [illegible] offers.

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro."
[illegible] St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances [illegible] recommended by you, and I have never [illegible] them to fail to accomplish the desired result. [illegible] constantly keep them on hand at our [illegible] and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable.

J. T. HAYES."

Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

YOUNG, OLD, AND MIDDLE-AGED.

All experience the wonderful beneficial effects of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Children with Sore Eyes, [illegible] or any scrofulous or syphilitic [illegible] may be made healthy and strong by [illegible]

Sold by all Druggists; $1, six bottles [illegible]

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

As it is for all the painful diseases of the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS.

It cleanses the system of the acrid poison that causes the dreadful suffering which only the victims of Rheumatism can realize.

THOUSANDS OF CASES of the worst forms of this terrible disease have been quickly relieved, and in short time PERFECTLY CURED.

PRICE, $1. LIQUID OR DRY, SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

[illegible] WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington Vt.

Acts at the Same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY-WORT

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.

It holds the work at any height [illegible]

DR. L. H. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] the bis warm by hanging them in the [illegible]

SAVED THE BABY.

"My baby, eighteen months old, was attacked with croup. She was cured by two doses of Thomas' Eclectric Oil; have used this medicine for the older children. Have the greatest faith in it." Mrs. Danl. Mann, 531 7th st, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Smoke Consuming Locomotive.

A locomotive is being built for the Erie Railway in which Mr. Mollet's device for consuming smoke is to be tested. In order to give the invention a thorough trial a trip across the continent will be made. There is to be no smokestack on this locomotive and in its place is to be a manhole merely. The air used to condense the steam is employed for heating and ventilating cars, being delivered through a conduit which, with coupling ends, passed along beneath the cars. This system does away with coal stoves or heaters, and supplies the cars with fresh air and warm air without danger of fire in case of a smashup.

"Neglect old friends for the sake of new, and lose both." But remember that Kidney-Wort is a friend you cannot afford to neglect. Plasters may relieve, but they can't cure that lame back, for the kidneys are the trouble and you want a remedy to act directly on their secretions, to purify and restore their healthy condition. Kidney-Wort has that specific action.

The Fall.

Here's a boy's composition on fall. "This is fall, because it falls on this season of the year. Leaves fall, too, as well as thermometers and the price of straw hats. Old topers who sign the pledge in summer, are liable to fall when fall cider making opens, for straw shows which way the wind and cider goes. Husking corn is one of the pleasures of fall, but pleasure isn't good for boys, I don't think. Old men want a little fun; let them husk. A husky old man can go through a good deal of corn, sometimes. Digging taters is another of our amusements. The way I like to dig taters is to wait until they are nicely baked, and then dig them out of their skins. Most winter schools open in the fall. The best winter school I went to didn't open until spring, and the first day it opened the teacher took sick and the school house was locked up for the season. Once in a while we have a very severe fall, but nothing like the fall of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden. Summer is misnamed. It should be called pride for pride goes before a fall.

WHAT ONE DOSE DID.

S. S. Graves, of Akron, N. Y., had Asthma of the worst kind. Took one dose of Thomas' Eclectric Oil and was relieved in five minutes. He adds: "Would walk ten miles for this medicine and pay 25 a bottle for it. It cured my wife of rheumatism like magic."

From Death to Life and then to Death Again.

The funeral of Ethel M., daughter of L. G. and M. L. Levy, who reside on Cantonsville Avenue, Baltimore, took place on Thursday, from the Presbyterian church at that place. In the latter part of 1879 the child was taken sick and after a brief illness she was thought to be dead. The body was cold and the muscles rigid. All signs of life fled and and the physician pronounced that life was extinct, giving at the same time the cause of death. The parents mourned over their child, and the undertaker was ordered to arrange for the funeral and every preparation to that end was made. The coffin was prepared, and friends visited the house in mourning to take a last look at the child's face. While the body was lying upon the couch a movement of the body was visible, and in a few minutes the body again moved. A physician was again summoned, and medical appliances used and in a short time showed evident signs of life. The eyes opened and the child was soon feeling much better. There was naturally great joy in the household, and after the child had become convalescent the joy of the parents was increased, for had it remained in a trance for several hours longer it might have been buried. Not long since the child was again taken ill and died of pneumonia on Sunday last. The parents having had such a peculiar experience at the previous illness, made all provisions to prove that the child was really dead before burying her.

A BAD BREATH

Is insufferable. We don't like it. A person with a strong breath must not make himself very familiar with us. An impure breath is caused by an unhealthy stomach. Burdock Blood Bitters will correct this evil. They are the best stomach medicine known.

The Troy Press wants the whipping post re-established in this State for the benefit of brutal husbands. It says that sentimental gush that it is a relic of barbarism that should be abolished in civilized countries is all humbug. There is more barbarism in the assault by an able bodied brute on a delicate woman than there is in giving a few lashes on the bare back of a cowardly and brutal husband.

A gentleman having a little toddler with him the other day stopped at a confectioner's and purchased two balls of pop corn. He gave one ball to the child, and the confectioner placed the other in a paper sack. Then the two wended their way homeward, meeting as they proceeded two ragged urchins, whom the man stopped and made a divy of the remaining corn ball. "Ain't he a good man?" was the exclamation that greeted him as he walked away. The little toddler then broke forth: "Papa don't you know what they said, that for?" "No; why?" "'Cause they don't know you." [illegible] munching of the corn.

[illegible]

Liver, Urinary Organs, Malaria and Bright's Disease. The Best Blood Purifier.

[illegible] KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE

Beware of Fraud. Unscrupulous parties have tried to imitate our Remedy and deceive the public by using SIMILAR NAMES, but do not be deceived; see that the word SAFE with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me. Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN."
148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

☞ All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. P. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882:

"Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

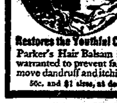
It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles for $5.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.



This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.

LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

Peter Henderson & Co.

[illegible] EVERYTHING FOR THE GARDEN

[illegible]

[illegible] COAL.

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
9m6

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp't'y Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN

BROWN McALLISTER & Co,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

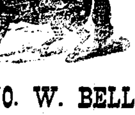
Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

VETERINARY SURGEON



DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Foucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 33tf

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM HAY-FEVER

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

LEGAL.

Court Appointments.

Appointments of County Courts and Courts of Sessions in and for the county of Oswego county for 1883, and [illegible] order, A trial jury at each term [illegible] County court and court of Sessions:

Court House,	Pulaski,	2d Tuesday in	[illegible]
" "	Oswego,	4th "	" April
" "	Pulaski,	2d "	" [illegible]
" "	Oswego,	1st "	" [illegible]

N. W. NUTTING,
Oswego Co. Judge.

January 8, 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of Hon. T. W. Skinner, Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Stephen Pardee, late of the town of Volney in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to Wm. B. Howard and Giles S. Piper, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, at the office of Giles S. Piper in the village of Fulton, N. Y., on or before the 12th day of July 1883, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

WM. B. HOWARD, GILES S. PIPER, Executors.

Dated Jan'y 5th 1883. 8m6

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of Hon. T. W. Skinner, Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Walter Wilber, late of the town of Volney in said county, deceased; to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on or before the 15th day of July 1883, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

OVID V. TAFT, Executor.

Dated, Jan. 10, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—Myron A. Howe vs. Annis L. Howe, action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint. Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 11th, day of January 1883.

GILES S. PIPER, Plaintiff's Att'y,
Office and Post Office address, Fulton, N. Y.

To Annis L. Howe: The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court, dated the 18th day of January, 1883, and filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of Oswego county, at the city of Oswego, N. Y.

36:6 GILES S. PIPER, Plaintiff's Attorney.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—Eudora Randall against James Randall:—

Action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 23d, day of January, 1883.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
Pl'ff's Atty.

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co N. Y.

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you, by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 23d day of Jan'y 1883, and filed with the complaint, in the office of the clerk of Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
36w6 Pl'ff's Att'y.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.

New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York. Assets, over $2,400,000.2[illegible]

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,082,585.1[illegible]

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON, MASS.

Assets, $1,271,769.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry

PATTERSON & SMITH.

PAPER HANGINGS

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

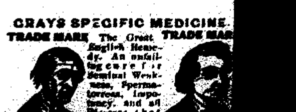
NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK TRADE MARK



The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo, N.Y.

Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. Snow & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and [illegible]

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

FIFTEENTH YEAR. FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1883. VOLUME 15—NUMBER [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Publishers.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

Not Knowing.

I know not what will befall me! God hangs a mist o'er my eyes;
And o'er each step of my onward path He makes new scenes to rise;
And every joy he sends me comes as a sweet and glad surprise.

I see not a step before me as I tread the days of the year;
But the past is still in God's keeping; the future His mercy shall clear;
And what looks dark in the distance may brighten as I draw near.

For perhaps the dreaded future has less bitter than I think;
The Lord may sweeten the water before I stoop to drink;
Or, if Marah must be Marah, he will stand beside its brink.

It may be he is waiting for the coming of my feet,
Some gift of such rare blessedness, some joy so strangely sweet,
That my lips can only tremble with the thanks I cannot speak.

O restful, blissful ignorance! 'Tis blessed not to know,
It keeps me quiet in those arms which will not let me go,
And hushes my soul to rest on the bosom that loves me so.

So I go on not knowing! I would not if I might;
I would rather walk in the dark with God than go alone in the light;
I would rather walk with Him by faith, than walk alone by sight.

My heart shrinks back from trials which the Future may disclose,
Yet I never had a sorrow but what the dear Lord chose;
So I send the coming tears back with the whisper ing word "He knows."

LOVE FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER X.

Mark's words cleft the sweet, spring air like a sharp arrow with a poisoned barb; they had pierced the heart that loved him, and I fell upon the grass like one dead. My heart was pierced, my whole soul crushed. There I lay in the first smart of my anguish.

For a few minutes all was darkness and oblivion; and then Mark tried to raise me.

"I have killed you, Nellie," he said, "I have killed you!"

"No," I answered, [illegible] my white, miserable face to his; "it is worse than that. Do not touch me! Leave me!"

"I knew—I knew!" he said. "Oh, Nellie, I could have died to save you this!"

A sudden overwhelming sense of scorn for him, of loathing for myself, a hot, fierce passion of defiance and rebellion seized me. I rose to my feet; new life and new strength came to me, my whole frame vibrated with passion.

"You are what?" I cried. "Say it to me again—let me be sure that I have heard aright. You are what?"

"I am married, Nellie."

"Married! And you have been wicked enough, coward enough to let me say all that I have said! You have been mean enough to let me pour out my heart, to let me lavish my love on you! How could you? Why did you not tell me the truth the first moment you saw me? How dare you take me in your arms and kiss me when you knew all the time that you belonged to some one else?"

"Forgive me, Nellie. I can never forgive myself. I had no time to think," he said, humbly.

"I shall never respect myself again!" I cried. "And I thought that Heaven had sent you in answer to my longing and my prayers. Give me back my words of welcome; give me back my kisses. They were for a true lover, not for you. Give me back my love. Believe me, before Heaven, had I known, had I guessed or thought that you were married, not one such word should have crossed my lips!"

"I know," he said, humbly.

"You are married. Oh, I cannot believe it! You are trying me. You want to see if my love be true; you are testing my faith. You cannot be married; you could not marry any one but me!"

"Alas, Nellie, it is true!" he cried.

"True!" I flung up my arms in despair. Mark had deceived me; Mark was untrue to me; Mark, my lover, my hero, was false.

Could any shame, any degradation equal mine? I had flung my arms round his neck, I had kissed him, I had called him by every loving name that one could give to another, and he was married! His love, his caresses, belonged to some other woman, not to me. The beauty of his dark face, the memory of his love, seemed to creep into my heart again and set it on fire. Mad, passionate jealousy seized me.

"Whom have you married?" I cried. "I shall kill her if I see her! She shall not live who has stolen my love from me!"

"She did not know, Nellie," he said, speaking always in the same low tone. "She knew nothing of you. It was all my fault, dear."

Quickly as it had come, the flame of jealousy died away. The light had gone from the skies, the beauty from the glad green earth; I was alone with my desolation and my sorrow. The [illegible] of my life came home to me. [illegible] was living and well; he was here [illegible], but we were parted for [illegible] by human hands [illegible] as deep as the one that lay be[illegible] [illegible]

The next thing I heard was the terrible sound of my own hysterical laughter breaking amid the trees. Such wild horrible laughter it was. I could not help it; I tried in vain to stop it.

"A married man!" I cried, over and over again. "A married man!" And I believed him to be my true lover Mark.

He came to me. He would not heed my passionate cries that he should not touch me. He raised me from the ground; he removed the leaves and grass from my hair; he took my hands and held them in his.

"Nellie," he said, "try to listen to me, dear. You will kill yourself if you give way like this."

Was it of any use to say that I hoped I should, of any use to struggle to free my hands from his clasp? Oh, my bruised, beating, wounded heart, it [illegible] not!

"Try, my darling, try, Nellie, for the sake of old times, to listen to me," he pleaded.

"You must not call me 'darling,'" I cried, bitter jealousy flaming in my heart again; "you have another darling now. You have some one else to love and caress and call your own."

And in some vague way I knew by the groan that came from his lips that I was still his darling, and that he did not love this other, let her be who she might. The knowledge seemed to afford me some little consolation. But it was only for one minute. Then common-sense said, "What was the love of a married man to me?

"Nellie—I will not call you 'darling' again, since it grieves you—will you try to listen to me? For the sake of old times and the old dear love, let me tell you all that has happened. You will judge me mercifully; you were always kind, and I—oh, Nellie, I am not happy! I am the most miserable man in the whole wide world. If I were happy, if I came to you in the insolence of a prosperous love, if my face were bright and my heart light, then, ah, then you would have reason to spurn me, to hate and despise me! But you have a true woman's heart, my lost love; and women are always pitiful, always merciful. Listen, Nellie, before you judge me. Mind, I am not excusing myself—even in my own eyes I am a pitiful fellow. But you will hear and judge."

The wild tumult of passion was dying down; the rapture and ecstasy of happiness, followed by the passion of despair, had exhausted me. I sat down again on the seat; my strength failed me. I leaned my head against the trunk of a tree; the wind brought the odor of the lilacs to me fresh and sweet. I grew calm with the serenity of despair. I would listen to all he had to tell me, and then rise up and go from him.

My thoughts grew confused, everything was dim and indistinct in my sight; and, when I came to the real consciousness of what was passing, Mark was bending over me, holding my hands tightly clasped in his, and speaking in a clear, low voice:

CHAPTER XI.

"When I went away, Nellie," said Mark, "I did love you with all my heart. Do you remember how my father teased us, and called my love 'lad's love?'"

"And said it would die as soon," I remarked.

"It was lad's love, Nellie, but it was honest, eager and true. You filled my heart, and I had no thought save for you. I would have given up going to India, but my father was not willing. Would to Heaven that I had! I left England, Nellie, in the hope of returning at the end of four years and making you my wife. My father's death was a blow to me. I should have come back then, but I could not throw up my appointment. I shall tell you the candid truth, Nellie; I will not hide one word, one thought from you. During the first year of my absence, I loved you as truly and dearly as ever. You were never out of my thoughts by day or by night. I lived for you. The second year—ah, Nellie, if I wound you, I wound myself more deeply!—the second year I found myself thinking more of my work. I had been promoted, and the difficulties of my profession engrossed me. I thought less of you, but I loved you just the same. I own that some little coldness crept into my letters, that at times I missed a mail; but my heart was true to you. One thing that had an evil influence over me was the constant 'chaffing' of my comrades. It was strange that the cry of 'lad's love' should be used in India as it had been in England. They laughed at the number of letters that came in your dear handwriting, Nellie. They laughed at the number of letters I sent away. They said that it was 'lad's love,' that in a few years' time I should laugh at it, that all boys suffered from it; and, though at times I blushed over it, yet my heart was always true to you, Nellie."

He stopped and looked into my miserable face. I could not keep my lips from quivering, and my eyes were heavy with unshed tears.

"Nellie," he said, "have you heard any news—anything about me?"

"Not one word since you wrote last," I replied.

"Then," he said, with some little hesitation, "you do not know what name I bear now?"

"Your own, I suppose," was my listless reply.

"Yes, my own, but it is a new one. Is it possible, Nellie, that you do not know who I am and why I am here?"

No suspicion of the truth came to me; indeed nothing was farther from my thoughts.

"How can I know?" was my impatient answer. "I have never heard any one mention your name."

He was silent for a few minutes, and then continued slowly:

"I know not which part of my story is the hardest to tell. It was in the beginning of the third year of my absence from England that a strange event happened. It was so unexpected, so bewildering, that for some time I seemed to lose my senses; and you know, Nellie, I was in many respects what my father called me—merely a lad. I was so dazzled and bewildered that I forgot all I ought to have remembered. My first thought was of you, and I ought to have written to you; but I had let two or three mails go without writing, and I intended to surprise you. I had to go to England at once, and I thought that I should reach you as soon as my letters could. I did a strangely [illegible] thing; I left no address, forgetting that you would probably go on writing. I thought I should [illegible] you. Do you follow me? Do not look at me with such sorrowful eyes. You see that up to this time, the third year of my absence, I [illegible] [illegible] asked you about your friends and relatives? You replied that you were almost alone in the world; and I told you that, while I had some very wealthy relatives and some very poor, I knew but little of either. There had never been any correspondence, nor even the slightest acknowledgment of any kind. My father was a most peculiar man; he did not like his poor relations. His dislike was not caused by their poverty, but because they had offended him many years before, and he had never forgiven them. As to the rich members of the family, he was too proud to seek to know them, nor would he allow me to speak of them; they took no notice of us, nor we of them. Lord Severne—Baron Severne is the proper title—of Severne Court and my father were second cousins [illegible] one-[illegible]

"You are Lord Severne, Mark!" I cried.

"Yes, it is so, Nellie; I am Lord Severne," he said, gravely.

"And Lurline—your wife is named Lurline," I said.

"Yes, my wife is named Lurline," he answered. "Now you understand. I did not know that you were here, Nellie. I never dreamed of seeing you when I came out this morning. I am here as Lady Yorke's friend and guest; Lurline is with me."

He stopped, thinking perhaps that I should speak; but what had I to say? Words were useless.

"Now you know what happened, Nellie," he continued. "In the third year of my absence this news came from England—Lord Severne of Severne Court was dead; the brother who should have succeeded him was drowned in returning from Italy, and the two sons of his brother, the heir, died from fever at school—two generations swept away. My father, had he lived, would have been Lord Severne; he was the next heir, and both title and estates are entailed. As my father was dead, I was the next heir. My father had never given me to understand that there was the most remote possibility of our succession. I do not believe he ever thought of it himself; he was only second cousin, and at that time Lord Severne was a strong, healthy man, his brother the same, and the boys at school gave every promise of a long life.

"Now all was changed; they were dead; and, as I was the nearest of kin, I became master of Severne Court, and Baron Severne. Nellie, as truly as there is a Heaven above us, my first thought when I heard this news was of you. 'What will my Nellie say?' I cried aloud; and I felt proud to think that I could make my fair and beautiful love Lady Severne.

"If I had written one line to you then, all would have been different—my life and yours; but I was restless and excited. I had so much to think of, so much to do. I was pleased, proud, agitated, but not untrue to you then, Nellie—I swear it, not untrue.

"The letters sent by Messrs. Norton & Son were most peremptory in their summons. I must return at once.—Fortunately there was a young Englishman who could without difficulty take my place, and I was free. My friends and comrades were honestly pleased with my good fortune, and we parted on excellent terms. Nellie, when I started in the Queen of the Seas, bound from Bombay to London, my thoughts were all of you. Oh, my true love, my lost love, how shall I tell you what happened then?

"I deserve to be shot as a traitor, as a coward," he continued, with passionate bitterness. "When I look back, I cannot think what folly, what madness possessed me. I am sure that my good fortune had in some measure turned my brain.

"On the second day that I was on board I began to take an interest in my fellow-passengers. My romantic story was known amongst them—how from a simple engineer, glad to earn an income of a few hundreds, I had suddenly and quite unexpectedly come into possession of a title and estates worth sixty thousand per annum. On the second day of the voyage I walked about the deck amusing myself with the novel sights and sounds, when, Nellie, I saw one of the most beautiful women I had ever beheld in my life—beautiful as a dream or a vision, but, ah, Nellie, not half so fair and winsome as you!

"I had seen but little of women. I had never been thrown much into their society. I hardly remembered my own mother; sisters and cousins I had none; you and your mother were the only two with whom I had been on friendly or intimate terms. I loved you. I understood your simple, noble nature; I knew your true earnest character; but I was perfectly ignorant of the arts of women. I thought they were all like you; their caprices, fascinations, charms, arts, and intrigues were all unknown to me. Never was prey more easily caught. I hate myself when I think of my own folly.

"The beautiful woman was walking up and down the deck; her veil was thrown back, and the sea-breeze had brought a lovely bloom to her face. Her graceful carriage, so free, so stately, attracted me first.

"I saw her lay her hand on the rail. She was looking over at the passing waves; the hand was white as a snowdrop; a wedding-ring shone on it, with broad bands of diamonds and sapphires. 'She is married,' I thought. Then, little as I understood the mysteries of ladies' attire, I perceived that the coquettish line of white defining the form of her beautiful head was a widow's cap.

"'Who is that lady?' I asked of Captain Luttrell.

"His eyes brightened, as did the eyes of every other man on board, when they rested on her.

"'She is a Mrs. Nugent,' he replied—'a young widow returning to England. Her husband, Captain Vere Nugent, died a few months since. I will introduce you to her,' and the next moment I was bowing before the beautiful young widow, who seemed still but a child.

"Lurline is my wife now, and I will not say one word against her. I will not even say that I could do so. She was certainly [illegible] the most fascinating woman I had ever seen. She looked so young that it was almost impossible to believe that she had been a wife [illegible]. I knew afterwards that she was at least ten years [illegible] will not [illegible] see her and judge for yourself." [illegible] [illegible] you. Lord Severne. I spoke like a quiet [illegible].

"It pleased me to [illegible] jealousy [illegible], it pleased me to note [illegible] every mark of preference which [illegible] was an [illegible] on me. Still, Nellie, I never [illegible] to you.

"At first I was attracted by her great beauty, her fascination, her low sweet voice, her [illegible] of dress and manner, [illegible] by her decided, open preference for me, shown at all times and in all places.

"I never thought that such title or [illegible] I believed [illegible] she cared. [illegible] stronger [illegible] succumbed! I shall never [illegible] nights on the ocean, with the stars [illegible] golden meteors in the sky, the sea dark, silent, mysterious and solemn. Such nights [illegible] calm, and [illegible] to mine! Ah, Nellie, you taught me love, and it will never die; she taught me passion, and it is dead!

"There can be no excuse for me, Nellie—I offer none. But remember that for the first time in my life I was flattered by all the subtle flatteries that a clever and beautiful woman could use. The balance of my reason was gone. She had roused passion that yet was not love in my heart. I was driven onwards by the [illegible] the slight[illegible] ed, for me, and one night—one fatal night, when the moon was shining brilliantly, and the sea was calm as a lake—we stood together at the stern of the vessel, hidden by the wheel-house. Her hand stole into mine, her face was raised to mine, pale with emotion, her eyes glistening with tears. I forgot you, Nellie, I forgot honor, truth, and loyalty. I bent down to her, and—— Well, I cannot tell you how it happened. I am speaking the truth, Nellie. I would not hide one thought from you. I feel sure that when I bent my head to kiss her I had no thought of asking her to be my wife; but before another half hour had passed, I had promised to marry her, and—Nellie, love, listen—from that moment to this I have never had one single happy moment—not one. There could be no drawing back—no hesitation even, for I found the next day that the whole of the passengers knew that Lord Severne and the beautiful Mrs. Nugent were engaged.

"Weak, cowardly, disloyal—ah, yes, I know I was all that! But I have suffered horribly. From that hour to this I have been a miserable man, for I found out that it was you I loved after all, and that the love of the lad was better than the passion of the man. There were times when I resolved on telling her, but it would have been useless. She had [illegible] knew that [illegible] were quite secondary to hers. When it was too late, my heart went back to its first allegiance. I found my engagement to this woman of the world a very business-like matter. There was no nonsense, no delay. We were married three weeks after the Queen of the Seas reached London.

"Ah, Nellie, you have suffered, but my pain has been greater! My conscience gave me no rest. Night and day your image was with me, night and day my folly and cowardice were ever before me. I longed, yet dreaded to see you. If I had known that your mother was dead, and that you were waiting for me in the old home alone, I should have gone to you, no matter what had happened; but your letter did not reach me."

"It was returned to me," I interposed.

"As soon as my affairs were settled," he continued, "I went abroad. Lurline preferred it. She said she never cared to live in England; and, in truth, I was indifferent on the subject, knowing that no place could ever be the same to me again. At Mentone we met the Yorkes, and I liked them very much. I was a miserable, haunted, gloomy man. My wealth brought me no happiness, because I had lost you. I found rest in talking to Lady Yorke. She seemed to think that I had some great sorrow in my life. I do not suppose I should have returned to England, at least for some years, had not imperative business compelled me to go to Severne Court a few weeks ago. Oh, Nellie, there are some disappointments too bitter, too great for words! I shall return to Italy; I cannot live in England."

"Why?" I asked.

His face clouded, an angry gleam came into the eyes which had been full of pain and despair.

"I cannot tell you why, Nellie, but my life is blighted. I cannot stay anywhere for long."

"Shall you never live at Severne Court?" I asked.

"Never," was the gloomy reply. "The punishment of my folly is that I shall be a wanderer on the face of the earth."

"But why, Mark—why?" I cried, beginning to forget my own troubles in his.

"There are some things that a man cannot speak of," he replied, "cannot even think of, or lay bare to his own heart. This sorrow of mine is one of them."

"Then Mark," I could not help saying as I looked sadly at him, "you have ruined all the happiness of my life without securing your own."

"That is just what I have done, Nellie. Between the remorse I feel at the loss of you and the sorrow of my secret, I am the most miserable man in the world."

Ah, Mark, my lover, I read in your face that your folly had cost you dear! We sat in silence for some time, the wind stirring the lilac branches and bearing to us sweet gusts of perfume. We had not been there an hour, and already it seemed to me an eternity. I knew that we must part. Time was passing, and I should be wanted. Then the full force of my misery rushed over me like a lava tide. How could I ever take up the duties of life again? My heart and soul had no strength, no life. Where should I turn for help or comfort? For, alas, I had given my whole heart to a man who had married another and had forgotten me!

"Mark, what shall I do with the rest of my life?" I said, [illegible]. "I cannot die just because I wish to die. I am like [illegible] [illegible] you [illegible] to [illegible]"

"I cannot tell [illegible]," he replied.

"A[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] upon you, and when you remember that I can find no comfort because it is all my fault, will you not try to forgive me? Think of me as you did, forget this interval of folly and falsehood. Think of me only as Mark with his honest 'lad's love;' forget Mark, the man who failed you—will you, Nellie?"

I could not help it—doubtless it was very undignified; but, when I saw the pain on the honest face, the humble sorrow in the dear eyes, when I saw Mark distressed, grieved with the misery of a lifetime on his face, I forgot my wounded love for one short moment. How could I refuse him anything to whom I had never said nay? How could I refuse him pardon when he asked it with tears in his eyes? He had marred my life, ruined my happiness, made every hope bankrupt; but I loved him still. I held out my hands to him; I tried to smile, although the rain[illegible] tears blinded me.

"I will forgive you, Mark," I said. "Ah, my dear, I could not, if I would, be angry with you! We must never meet again, Mark. The wide world must be ever between us two who were once to be always together; a deep grave lies between us, and in it I must bury my love; but I forgive you, even as I hope to be forgiven."

He held my hand in his for one moment, and then he said, with tears that did not shame his manhood:

"My dear, lost love, farewell!"

I knew what he meant. It would be better for him, better for me, that we should meet as strangers. He would be leaving in a few days, and we should see each other no more. Better so!

Trembling, fainting, dazed by my own misery, I dared not go back to the house just then, lest any one meeting me should ask what ailed me. I had a strange, vague idea that I had changed my own identity, and that the sorrow-stricken woman walking by herself under the summer trees could not be Nellie Chester.

[To be continued.]

☞ Dresses, cloaks, coats stockings and all garments can be colored successfully with the Diamond Dyes. Fashionable colors. 10 cens.

THE BAD BOY AGAIN.

He Cures His Father of Spreeing—Dissecting the Old Gent With An Icicle.

"I understand your pa has got to drinking again like a fish," says the groceryman to the bad boy, as the youth came into the grocery, and took a handful of dried apples. The boy ate a dried apple and then mabe a terrible face, and the groceryman asked him what he was trying to do with his face. The boy caught his breath, and then said:

"Say, don't you know any better than to keep dried apples where a boy can get hold of them when he has got the mumps? You will kill some boy yet by such dum carelessness."

"Well, never mind the mumps, how about your pa spreeing it? Try one of them pickles in the jar there, won't you?"

"You can't play no pickles on me, not when I have the mumps. Ma passed the pickles to me this morning, and I took one mouthful, and like to had the lockjaw. But ma did not do it on purpose, I guess. She never had any mumps, and didn't know how discouraging a pickle is. Darn'd if I didn't feel as though I had been struck in the butt of the ear with a brick. But about pa. He had been fuller'n a goose since New Year's day. I think its wrong for women to tempt feeble-minded persons on New Year's. Now me and my chum, we can take a drink and then let it alone. We have got brains, and know when we get enough; but pa, when he gets to going he don't ever stop until he gets so sick that he can't keep his stummick inside himself. It is getting so they look to me to brace pa up every time he gets on a tear, and I guess I fixed him this time so he will never touch liquor again. I scared him so his bald head turned gray in a single night."

"What under heavens, have you done to him now," says the groceryman in astonishment. "I hope you haven't done anything you will regret in after years."

"Regret nothing," said the boy, as he turned the lid of the cheese box back and took the knife and sliced off a piece of cheese, and took a few crackers out of a barrel, and sat down on a soap box by the stove. "You see, ma was annoyed to death about pa. He would come home full when she had company, and lay down on the sofa and snore, and he would smell like a distillery. It hurt me to see ma cry, and I told her I would break pa of drinking if she would let me and she said if I would promise not to hurt pa to go ahead, and I promised not to. Then I got my chum and another boy, quite a big boy, to help, and pa is all right. We went down to the place where they sell arms and legs to folks who have served in the army, or a saw mill, or a threshing machine, and lost their limbs, and we borrowed some arms and legs, and fixed up a dissecting room. We fixed a long table in the basement, big enough to lay pa out on, you know, and then we got false whiskers and mustaches, and when pa came in the house drunk and laid down on the sofa [illegible] to sleep, we took him and laid him out on the table, and took some trunk straps and a surcingle and strapped him down to the table. He slept [illegible] all through it, and we had another table with the false arms and legs on, and we rolled up our sleeves, and smoked pipes, just like I read that medical students do when they cut up [illegible]. Well, you'd a died to see pa look at us when he woke up. I saw him open his eyes, and then we began to talk about cutting up dead men. We put [illegible] in our mouths so our [illegible] [illegible] beer bottles, I drew the icicle across pa's stummick, and I said to my chum, 'Doc I guess we had better cutt open the old duffer and see if he died from inflamation of the stummick, or from hard drinking, as the coroner said he did.' Pa shuddered all over when he felt the icicle going over his stummick, and he said, 'For God's sake, gentlemen, what does this mean?' I am not dead.' The other boys looked at pa with astonishment, and I said, 'Well, we bought you for dead, and the coroner's jury said you were dead, and by the eternal we ain't going to be fooled out of a corpse when we buy one, are we Doc? My chum said not if he knowed himself, and the other student said, 'of course he is dead.' He thinks he is alive, but he died day before yesterday, fell dead on the street, and his folks said he had been a nuisance and they wouldn't claim the corpse, and we bought it at the morgue.' Then I drew the icicle across him again, and I said, 'I don't know about this, doctor, I find that blood follows the scalpel as I cut through the cuticle. Hand me the blood sponge, please.' Pa began to wiggle around, and we looked at him, and my chum raised his eye-lid and looked solemn, and pa said, 'Hold on, gentlemen. Don't cut into me any more, and I can explain the matter. This is all a mistake. I was only drunk.' We went into a corner and whispered, and pa kept talking all the time. He said if we would postpone the hog killing he could send and get witnesses to prove that he was not dead, but that he was a respectable citizen, and had a family. After we had held a consultation, I went to pa and told him that what he said about being alive might possibly be true, though we had our doubts. We had found such cases before in our practice East where men seemed to be alive, but it was only temporary. Before we had them cut up they were dead enough for all practical purposes. Then I laid the icicle across pa's abdomen, and went on to tell him that even if he was alive it would be better for him to play that he was dead, because he was such a nuisance to his family that they did not want him, and I was telling that I had heard that in his lifetime he was very cruel to his boy, a bright little fellow, who was at the head of his class in Sunday school, and a pet wherever he was known, when pa interrupted and said, 'Doctor, please take that carving knife off my stomach, for it makes me nervous. As for that boy of mine, he is the condemndest little whelp in this town, and he isn't no pet anywhere. Now, you let up on this dissectin' business, and I will make it all right with you. We held another consultation and then I told pa that we did not feel that it was doing justice to society to give up the body of a notorious drunkard after we had paid $20 for the corpse. If there were any hope that he would reform and lead a different life, it would be different, and I said to the boys, 'Gentlemen we must do our duty. Doc, you dismember that leg, and I will attend to the stomach and the upper part of the body. He will be dead before we are done with him. We must remember that society has some claims on us, and not let our better natures be worked upon by the post mortem promises of a dead drunkard. Then I took my icicle and began fumbling around the abdomen portion of pa's remains, and began to saw his leg off, while the other boy took hold of the leg and said he would catch it when it dropped off. Well, pa kicked like a steer. He said he wanted to make one more appeal to us, and we acted sort of impatient, but we let up to hear what he had to say. He said if we would turn him loose he would give us $10 more than we paid for his body, and that he would never drink another drop as long as he lived. Then we whispered some more and then we told him we thought favorably of his last proposition, but he must swear, with his hand on the leg of a corpse we were dissecting, that he would never drink again, and then he must be blind-folded and be conducted several blocks away from the dissecting room, before we could turn him loose. He said that was all right, and so we blind-folded him, and made him take a bloody oath, with his hand on a piece of ice that we told him was a piece of another corpse, and then we took him out of the house and walked him around the block four times, and left him on a corner after he had promised to send the money to an address that I gave him. We told him to stand still five minutes after we left, then remove the blind-fold and go home. We watched him, from behind a barb fence, and he took off the handkerchief, looked at the name on a street lamp and found that he was not far from home. He started off saying: "That's a pretty narrow escape, old man. No more whisky for you.' I did not see him again until this morning, and when I asked him where he was last night he shuddered and said, 'None of your darn business. But I never drink any more, you remember that.' Ma was tickled and she told me I was worth my weight in gold. Well, good day. That cheese is musty." And the boy went and caught a passing sleigh.

"Humanity's great hope for the future is alone to be realized in improving conditions of matrimoney. What a profound obligation does this not involve! Those who realize the responsibility can hardly do better than take the advice from Mrs Lydia E. Pinkham whose wonderful remedies for the cure of all diseases peculiar to women are so justly celebrated. Send for pamphlet.

[illegible]

[illegible]REMEDY.

RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE

for all diseases of the Kidneys and

LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fult or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6.

GEO. J. EMENY,
H. H. GRIDLEY.

Fulton Business Cards.

W[illegible], Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office in [illegible] block, [illegible] street.

Carpenter and Joiner.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, [illegible] of all descriptions. Stair-work and [illegible] a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 [illegible]

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. [illegible]

G. V. [illegible], M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 39

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in [illegible] Block, Phoenix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices. 9

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 88 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

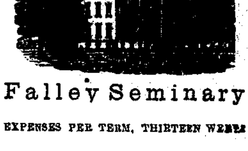
G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition..........
Board and Tuition (short week)..........26
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

UNDERTAKING!

Mr. D. Hendrick is now prepared to do undertaking for the public. His store is one door south of Fay's dry goods store. Night bell on store door. 23tf

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. [illegible]

REDUCED RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

[illegible]

1,300 SQUARE INCHES OF READING MATTER 52 TIMES A YEAR FOR $2.00

comprising more than 15,000 lines of choice literature in each issue—equalizing the contents of a 25 cent magazine.

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

will be mailed, postage free for six months for $1.00, or three months for 75 cents. Sample copies sent when requested. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 8 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that the The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its Christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol, 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of

Political News

embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including all the reports of the [illegible] on the questions of [illegible]

The Farm Department

[illegible]

[illegible]

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled [illegible]

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

[illegible] Itching [illegible]

For Ulcers, Old Sores, or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution. POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

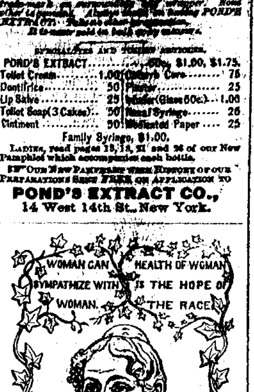
POND'S EXTRACT	50c, $1.00, $1.75.
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S
VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (3)

Burdock Blood Bitters

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffalo, N.Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been universally recognized as the best newspaper published in Northern and Central New York. The chief reason for its popularity lies in the fact that it is so [illegible] well suited to the wants of all classes of the community, from the farmer to the business man, and is as popular in the home circle as in the office and workshop.

Its proprietors spare neither pains expense nor labor to make the Utica Herald equal in all respects to any newspaper in the United States. It aims to supply every feature of a general newspaper, so that [illegible]

[illegible]

ALL THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

THE FULLEST [illegible] REPORTS.

ABLE [illegible] DISCUSSIONS.

CORRESPONDENCE FROM EUROPE, FROM NATIONAL CAPITAL, [illegible]

LITERARY NOTICES, [illegible] AND ART NEWS.

[illegible]

[illegible] by any person [illegible] The lady of the house [illegible] and for [illegible] was dressed for [illegible] and was just going out when her mistress observed that she looked as if she had grown, or that her clothes fit her too much. The servant was questioned, and, of course became indignant. Then the lady called her husband, who by accident was home. A custom house search was made, and it was shown that she wore several of the lady's dresses under her own and a pair of gentleman's pantaloons served as a bustle. On her person were also concealed several other articles of wearing apparel, while little bags of sugar and coffee were hid in her corset and did duty as patent palpitators. She had not neglected to put on a pair of the lady's latest fashioned and longest stockings. But before putting them on she "padded" with bits of ribbon, handkerchiefs and other little articles that could be easily concealed. She protested against thus being made to appear clad in the airy costume of a ballet dancer, but the search went on, and in the left stocking was found a jar of preserves, she protesting against the outrage, saying the protuberance was caused by inflammatory rheumatism. Owing to the exceptional good character, which the servant brought with her, no arrest was made.

[SanFrancisco Chronicle.

The disfiguring eruptions on the face, the sunken eye, the pallid complexion, indicates that there is something wrong going on within. Expel the lurking foe to health. Ayer's sarsaparilla was devised for that purpose; and does it.

Effects of Teeth Transplanting.

If the statement did not appear in a French paper we should perhaps be inclined to doubt all the details of the incident which we find recorded in a Paris newspaper of a recent date. A most amiable and devoted wife is the heroine. She is lovely and possesses a set of white pearly teeth. A few weeks since one of the most prominent of her teeth became troublesome and the dentist declared that he could not save it, as it had commenced to decay at the root. He proposed that she find some one that had equally beautiful teeth and induce her to part with one, which he would transplant, and thus preserve her beauty. The lady thought at once of her porteress, who was the terror of the household and the torment of her poor husband, whose life she made miserable by her evil temper. His head bore marks of a hundred attacks. The woman consented to give up the coveted pearl for $10. They repaired to the dentist, and with the aid of either, the transfer was made without pain to eithee, But mark what followed—it might not follow in England, but in Paris everything is possible. The porteress lost her viciousness and became so amiable that her dilapidated husband had fears of her sanity, while the charming lady whose whole life had been a perpetual blessing to her husband and friends, has become such a vexon that there is no living in the house with her.

WELL ONCE MORE.

541 EAST ARCH STREET,
POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 22, 1881.

H. H. WARNER & CO.: Sirs—I have suffered for years with inflamation of the kidneys and bladder, and have never found anything that would give me any relief except your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. MRS. MARY STAGER.

Ensilage.

We have studied with much interest the proceedings of the Ensilage Congress which met in this town last week. A large number of practical farmers gave their experience, and all of them were strongly in favor of this mode of feeding cattle. Some of these gentlemen had built silos for ten dollars each, and others had experimented with large and extensive establishments; but all of them unanimously pronounced their experiments successful.

It seems to us too soon to conclude that this mode of feeding is sure to be universally adopted. There is no doubt but cattle generally like ensilage, but that does not prove that it is always good for them. There are two questions especially which require to be answered before we can be sure that the ensilage system is not a passing fancy, but a permanent addition to the resources of farming. These questions are, first, whether cattle fed on ensilage thrive on it in the long run or whether after a certain time it does not become necessary to abandon the ensilage fodder and to resort to some other mode of feeding; and secondly, whether the alcoholic spirit in ensilage which appears to make the cattle so greedy for it, does not produce in them a state of partial intoxication and continuous inebriety, and does not thus do them positive harm.

[N. Y. Sun.

CHANGE OF NAME.

I declined to insert your advertisement of Hop Bitters last year, because I then thought they might not be promotive of the cause of temperance, but find they are, and a very valuable medicine myself and wife having been greatly benefited by them and I take great pleasure in making them known.

REV. JOHN SEAMAN,
Editor Home Sentinel, Afton, N. Y.

About Half a Dozen.

They had only been married a short time. The other day she slung her arm [illegible]

"Do you realize, Adolphus, that now we are married we are only one?"

"No," replied the brute; "I can't realize it. I've paid a $12 millinery bill and a [illegible] of your bills [illegible]

[illegible]

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The hot weather had made her [illegible] great deal of good; her head does not distress her now, her does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking Hood's SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take

BLUE PILLS

or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

IT IS [illegible]

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers.

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro."

Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable. J. T. HAYES."

Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

YOUNG, OLD, AND MIDDLE-AGED. All experience the wonderful beneficial effects of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Children with Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, or any scrofulous or syphilitic taint, may be made healthy and strong by its use.

Sold by all Druggists; $1, six bottles for $5.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR

RHEUMATISM

[illegible] KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS. [illegible]

THOUSANDS OF CASES [illegible]

LINCOLN'S [illegible] HOLDER.

[illegible]

[illegible] One [illegible] as Minnie was walking with Henry James a short distance from the village, she was overtaken by Treglawn, who is a tramp. The man pulled out a revolver. Thereupon her escort took to his heels and ran rapidly to the village. After exchanging some words with the girl, Treglawn fired three or four shots at her. The deed occurred near the edge of the canal, and Minnie, terribly wounded, fell backward into the water, from which her body was recovered some hours after. Treglawn was captured after a desperate chase. One of the most conspicuous features of the tragedy was the cowardice of James, who, it was believed, could have saved the girl had he remained. He was physically the superior of Treglawn, and the latter's aim was so unsteady that he might have been quickly disarmed before injuring anybody. The people of the village were sorely tempted after the crime to wreak some kind of punishment on this cowardly wretch, whom they denounced almost as bitterly as the murderer. It was a curious story of love, jealousy, crime, female caprice and arrant poltroonery. It is rendered more hideous by the promised execution of the murderer, and less complete by the escape unscathed of the wretch who left his girl to die.

SOME DOUBT THE BIBLE

And the motives of its authors, but none who have used them doubt the efficacy of Burdock Blood Bitters. This splendid blood tonic is without a peer.

A Plucky and Heroic Engineer.

When the night express of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago railway arrived here last Monday morning the passengers were all in a state of excitment. The train was crowded, and it was learned by a Herald reporter that what came near being a fearful disaster was warded off by the bravery of one man, though he was frightfully mangled and bruised in doing so. It seems that when near Bainbridge, about twenty miles south of La Fayette, Ind., the left parallel bar which connects the two drive wheels of the locomotive suddenly snapped in the middle when the train was flying along at thirty miles an hour. The bar of heavy steel flew up into the cab, striking the fireman, Amos Thorpe, and then throwing him out at the side of the track. The other bar on the right side, then broke, and also smashed into the cab right where the engineer Mr. L. Church, was seated, trying to handle the throttle valve. He was thrown back in the tender on the coal and was mangled and bruised terribly. He bravely crawled forward again and applied the air brake and reversed the engine which was running at a terrific rate of speed, the broken bars pounded everything to pieces. The train stopped and the crew rushed forward only to pick up Engineer Church insensible. He was carried back to the train. The fireman was discovered fully a mile back, dead by the track. The time of the accident was three a. m. A new engine was procured by telegraphing to La Fayette, and the train was brought into Chicago. The fireman leaves a wife and three children at Albany, Ind., and the engineer is married and lives at La Fayette. He will live. His was a plucky act and deserves recognition. He was one of the oldest and best engineers on the road.

[Chicago Herald.

SATISFACTION UNIVERSAL.

"In the past three months I have sold one hundred and six bottles of Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Never saw a medicine in my life that gave such universal satisfaction. Cured an ulcerated throat for me in twenty-four hours; never failed to relieve my children of croup.

C. R. Hall, Druggist, Grayville, Ill.

Why there are so Many Specialists.

A scribe of the Buffalo Courier inquires: "Why are there so many specialists nowadays?" and then replies one reason is because it pays. Let a physician of even moderate ability be known as a specialist and his fortune is made. If a specialist has any standing at all he can charge and get larger fees than better doctors in general practice. He can at least pretend to know more than they do about the special disease he is called upon to treat and make out his bill accordingly. Some of the specialist have their offices crowded all day, while other doctors are idle. Patients and fees pour in upon them so fast that they grow rich in a few years. There are specialists in New York who can count safely on $30,000 a year. It is true that some doctors in general practice make even more than that, but they are old men who have spent a life time in building up a name. The specialist may be distinguished and have a [illegible]

TIME AND EXPENSE SAVED.

[illegible]

[illegible] wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me. Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN."

148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

☞ All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. P. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882:

"Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

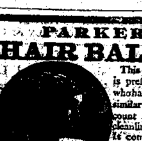
It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles for $5.

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM.



This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S
GINGER TONIC

[illegible]

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—[illegible]

FLORESTON

COLOGNE

[illegible]

Hiscox & Co.

[illegible]

[illegible]

FOOLER & WILSON.

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls.

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp't'y Yours,
I. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN.

BROWN MCALLISTER & CO.

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a.m. till 5 p.m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to.

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c. Unequaled in the [illegible] Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger [illegible]

HAY FEVER

[illegible] 50c. will mail [illegible]

[illegible] CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

Fresh Oysters, Fresh [illegible]

[illegible]

Dated Jan'y 5th 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of [illegible] surrogate of Oswego county, [illegible] to all persons having claims against [illegible] Wilber, late of [illegible] deceased; to present the same with the vouchers thereof to the subscriber at his residence in the town of Volney, [illegible] the 18th day of July 1883, or they will be [illegible] of the statute in such case [illegible]

OTIS V. FARR, [illegible]

Dated, Jan. 16, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO. Theodora Randall against James Randall. Action for a divorce. [illegible] named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 23d, day of January, 1883.

W. C. CROMBIE,
Pl'ff's Att'y.

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you, by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 23d day of Jan'y 1883, and filed with the complaint, in the office of the clerk of Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

36w6 WM. C. CROMBIE,
Pl'ff's Att'y.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONNTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets, over $3,400,000.

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,082,585.19

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
NEW YORK. Assets over $1,000,000.00
Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS'
FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY
Of BOSTON, MASS.
Assets, $1,271,709.30,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy, An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, [illegible]

[illegible] of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Sold by [illegible]

C. W. SNOW & CO., [illegible]

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Adams, who drove the [illegible] the murderers of [illegible] and Secretary Burke [illegible] turned informer, and [illegible] calling around several [illegible] participants.

[illegible] millionaires—Bowen and [illegible] Colorado, and Sabin in Minnesota, [illegible] been elected in the United [illegible]. Congress now consists of [illegible] the House of Representatives [illegible] House of Millionaires.

[illegible] young man! Senator-elect [illegible] Colorado was a poor man ten [illegible] since which time he has made [illegible]000 in mining. His wife recently [illegible] cured a divorce from him and [illegible] awarded $250,000 alimony.

[illegible] Titus has introduced a bill [illegible] bany which aims to secure the [illegible] taxation of personal property. [illegible] who are blessed with an abun[illegible] of personal property are general[illegible] willing to pay if their equally fortu[illegible] neighbor do likewise.

[illegible] report of the State assessors was [illegible] red in the Senate on Friday. Among [illegible] recommendations in the report is [illegible] to assess the roadbed of all railroads [illegible] State, and to leave to cities, towns [illegible] villages to assess the depots and [illegible] buildings in their limits.

[illegible] Wednesday was the Chinaman's [illegible] Year and the Celestials in New [illegible] observed it with due pomp. One of [illegible] observances is to pay all outstanding [illegible] accounts and commence the new [illegible] square. Americans who are anxious [illegible] foreign manners should incorpor[illegible] this little ceremony without amend[illegible].

[illegible] Society of the Army of the Poto[illegible] is to hold its fourteenth Annual re[illegible] in Washington, D. C., on May 16 [illegible] 17, 1883. All those who served [illegible] the Army of the Potomac, and [illegible] are honorably discharged, or who [illegible] still in the military service, are en[illegible] to become members of the society [illegible] are invited to make application at [illegible], that they may be made members [illegible] the next annual meeting.

WIGGINS, the Canadian weather [illegible] phet, who predicted an unprecedent[illegible] storm for last Friday, will hereafter [illegible] known as a prophet without honor [illegible] in his own country. It was an ex[illegible] tionally calm day all over the Unit[illegible] States and Canada. Who will now [illegible] in Wiggins's prediction that a [illegible] mendous tempest is going to de[illegible] like a besom of destruction upon [illegible] America on March 11?

[illegible] reference to the first volume of the [illegible] endium of the Census of 1880, an [illegible] fact presents itself to us in [illegible] owth in numbers of the insane, [illegible] and blind. In 1850 these three [illegible] numbered 50,064; in 1860 the [illegible] was 63,452; in 1870 it had in[illegible] to 94,484, and in 1880 to the [illegible] number of 221,698. A study [illegible] the cause of the growth of these [illegible] which are assuming an alarming [illegible] to our future strength and pros[illegible] is decidedly in order.

[illegible] anti-monopolists believe that their [illegible] will hold the balance of power in [illegible] next presidential election. A call [illegible] already been issued for a national [illegible] vention to be held at Chicago July [illegible] 1883, for the purpose of officially or[illegible] the "National Anti-Monopoly" [illegible]. There will be a laughable race [illegible] the republican and democratic [illegible] to see which can endorse the [illegible] platform, etcetera, of the new [illegible] for the purpose of securing their [illegible] the coming presidential contest.

[illegible] SUMNER of Yale college deliver[illegible] a lecture in Brooklyn, Friday night, [illegible] subject being the "Forgotten Man." [illegible] voiced to his auditors grand truths [illegible] he said that the forgotten man [illegible] simple, honest man, who earn[illegible] living by good hard work, paid [illegible] kept his contracts and educat[illegible] children. He was passed by and [illegible] because he did his duty pa[illegible] and without complaint. On him [illegible] all the burdens engendered by [illegible] vagrants, spendthrifts, crimi[illegible] jobbers. All legislation which [illegible] to relieve the weak, the vicious [illegible] negligent to the consequences [illegible] faults threw those consequences [illegible] forgotten man.

[illegible] FITZ HUGH LEE, of Virginia, [illegible] of Gen. R. E. Lee, and an officer [illegible] federate army at the surrender [illegible], was a guest of the sev[illegible] N. G., in New York last [illegible] prominent Union officers [illegible]. In response to a toast [illegible] said:—"Virginia felt now [illegible] one of the great sisterhood [illegible] that the Union [illegible] maintained. This [illegible]

[illegible]

—The Czar of Russia [illegible] announcing his coronation to take place in May.

—The annual report of the commissioners of immigration [illegible] shows the immigration last year [illegible] been larger than ever before.

—James G. Blaine is writing a political history, "Twenty years of Congress from Lincoln to Garfield." [illegible] could make the history [illegible] ing, if he would.

—Lawrence Bullard of New York was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for attempted suicide. It was the first sentence imposed under the new penal code which makes attempted suicide a felony.

—Safe rifling is so prevalent at Council Bluffs, Ia., that business men leave their safes unlocked to avoid the injury caused by having them blown open. One of the leading mills has the combination posted above the safe with a notice to burglars to use it and not to injure the safe.

—U. S. Senator Ferry and his brother Edward, doing business under the firm name of Ferry & Brother, at Grand Rapids, Mich., and in Utah, have failed, with liabilities amounting to several hundred thousand dollars. The cause is said to be the failure of the silver mine in Utah, where their money has been sunk.

—Guiteau again. The Rev. William Hicks, Guiteau's spiritual adviser, sues The Star of Washington and The Graphic of New York, each for $25,000 damages, for alleged libel. The papers published a statement that Hicks demanded $2000 of the surgeon-general before he would permit Guiteau's bones to be articulated.

—A new electric machine has been invented and patented by a young man, aged 23 years, named Elmer Sperry, a resident of Cortland, which is thought by good judges to meet the requirements of the times to such a degree that he has secured the sum of one million dollars, ($1,000,000) for his right in it from interested parties in Chicago. Sperry is an orphan and was poor.

—The government issued 19,267 patents in 1882, an increase of 3000; the revenue of the office amounted to $1,009,000, and the expenditure to $683,000. As usual Connecticut has the most according to population, namely, one patent to every 782, Massachusetts one to 982, and Rhode Island one to 980. The district of Columbia, New York, New Jersey and California come next.

—Hon. Marshall Jewell died at his home in Hartford, Conn., Saturday, of pneumonia. Mr. Jewell was chairman of the Republican National Committee. Mr. Jewell has played an important part in American politics. In 1874, President Grant appointed him Postmaster-General in which capacity he served two years, his resignation being solicited by President Grant, for "talking too much." He was at one time Minister to Russia.

—The Western Union and the Mutual Union Telegraph Companies have joined hands, the latter company having been leased by the former on such terms that it amounts to a literal sale. It is one of the greatest business transactions of modern times. The property will be turned over to the Western Union as soon as the details of the lease can be arranged. It consists of about 46,000 miles of wire and the offices between Portland, Me., and Chicago and St. Louis. As a consequence of the lease, all suits between the two companies will be abandoned.

—The water in the Ohio river at Cincinnati reached a height of sixty-one feet Monday. Millions of dollars worth of damage was suffered along the river front. The freight depot of the Cincinnati Southern rail road was undermined by water and fell with a terrible crash yesterday, burying a hundred people in the ruins. No bodies have been recovered. The extent to which business has suffered in Cincinnati is shown by the fact that $8 worth of stamps were sold at the revenue office yesterday. The sales usually amount to over $40,000 daily. 15,000 people are imprisoned in tenements there by the flood. 30,000 workmen are thrown out of regular employment.

—Friday afternoon a young man entered a grocery in Albany and asked the proprietor to change a $10 bill, which he did and exhibited a roll containing $300 in five dollar bills. The stranger was a thief and was bound to have that money. In a few minutes two well dressed young man entered and asked the groceryman to settle an odd bet they had made as to which of their hats would hold the most molasses, insisting that the hats should be filled, and offering to pay for the sticky fluid. When the hat had been filled to the brim the grocer gave it back to the stranger. A second later one of the men grabbed the storekeeper about the arms, while his comrade placed the hat filled with molasses on his head. They then rifled his pockets and relieved him of the roll of greenbacks. After securing the money the men ran out of the store, and the groceryman, although nearly smothered, started in pursuit but after running several blocks gave up the chase.

New Prints, Ginghams and Shirtings at SACKETT'S.

South Scriba.

SOUTH SCRIBA, Feb. 12, '83.—This, like [illegible] is not destitute of a [illegible]

[illegible] aged four years.

Charles B. Sedgewick, a leading [illegible] of this state, died in Syracuse last Wednesday, aged 62 years.

P. J. Brumelkamp of Syracuse has been nominated by Governor Cleveland to be superintendent of the salt springs.

There will be a "Welcome Hop" at the Windsor House, Phoenix, February 22. Tickets 75 cents. L. N. Ostrander, proprietor.

John Betts, 74 years of age, was walking on the Midland track in Oswego Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a moving train and killed.

Ann Smith, wife of William Smith, died at her home in Palermo the 6th inst, aged 61 years. Funeral was held from church at Mt. Pleasant yesterday.

The snow fall at Watertown this winter has been ten feet and eight inches. Travel in that vicinity has been greatly impeded, the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburgh railroad abandoning trains on one or two occasions.

Isaac T. Brackett of Hannibal died last Thursday. Mr Brackett was a veteran of the late war. For the past three years he was an employee in the County Clerk's office, relinquishing his position last fall on account of ill health. He leaves a wife and three children.

Cold Weather Lies From Montana

At 8 o'clock last night not a man was visible on Main street they were all rustling for a seat on a stove.

At the office of the Montana Lumber Company this morning the spirit thermometer registered 64 degrees below zero.

In a Main street store this morning at 10 o'clock a thermometer hung upon the wall within four feet of a red hot stove registered 10 degress below freezing point.

In one of the Butte restaurants the cooking department is a board addition standing out from the main building, and though the stove this morning was made red hot, the Chinaman was unable to cook even hot cakes. They froze solid to the griddle, and had to be chopped off with a hatchet.

A prominent citizen went to the hydrant to draw a bucket of water, and in returning to the house spilled a little of its contents, into which he accidentally put one foot. Before he could make another step he was frozen to the ground and was compelled to leave his boot in the road and hop into the house on one leg. [Montana Inter-Ocean.

Buy your Clothing of the New York Clothing Co., and save the middleman's profit. Remember the place 31 First street, Stevens confectionery store.

The Graves of the Arthurs.

It is probable that President Arthur will at no far distant day, pay a visit to Albany, N. Y., for the purpose of approving the sarcophagus over the grave of his wife, in the Rural Cemetery, recently placed in position. The structure is of Italian marble, and is a beautiful piece of mortuary architecture. The inscription is as follows:—"Here lies the body of Ellen Lewis Herndon, wife of Chester A. Arthur. Born in Culpepper Va., Aug. 30, 1837; died at New York, Jan. 12, 1880. The remains of President Arthur's father and mother rest in the same lot, and the President has said that when he is "called home" he desires his body buried in the same plat.

Needles and parts of all Sewing Machines at McCULLY & Co's. 39w2

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly. The most desirable building lots in Oswego Falls. For terms etc., inquire at Fulton of 25tf HENRY E. NICHOLS.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of timber land the balance in a high state of cultivation. One hundred apple trees, one hundred pear trees, and a "sap bush" making one hundred pounds of sugar per year. Plenty of water and good buildings, A good bargain. Terms easy. Inquire on the premises or address
tf FREDERICK FOSTER, Fulton, N Y

"300,000 more yards of Dry Goods of all kinds on sale at
F. E. BACON'S.

H. D. Wells showed us an egg recently, from a black Spanish hen, which measured eight inches in length by seven in circumference. Who can beat it?

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE
By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.
PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. ARCTIC 150 ILLUSTRATIONS.
Get the best, don't be humbugged by imitations.
EXPEDITION
20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and [illegible] to ALVORD & [illegible], publishers, 27 [illegible], Syracuse. Mention this paper.

"THE BEE HIVE"
STILL LEADING!
We have opened
500 yards more of Calico at 3 cents a yard.
1000 [illegible]

[illegible] While the total number of deaths has diminished and the death rate [illegible] disease has decreased still it is far greater in one or two serious disorders than was ever known before. More people died in the city of New York in 1882 from Bright's disease of the kidneys, than from diphtheria, small-pox and typhoid fever all combined! This scarcely seems possible but it is true and when it is remembered that less than one-third the actual deaths from Bright's disease are really reported as such, the ravages of the malady can be partially understood.

The immediate query which every reader will make upon such a revelation of facts is: What causes this increase? This is a difficult question to answer. The nature of the climate, the habits of life, the adulteration of foods and liquors, all undoubtedly contribute, but no immediate cause can be certainly assigned. Often before the victim knows it the disease has begun. Its approaches are so stealthy and its symptoms so obscure that they cannot be definitely foreseen and are only known by their effects. Any kidney disorder however slight, is the first stage of Bright's disease. But it is seldom that kidney disorders can be detected. They do not have any certain symptoms. Mysterious weakness; an unusual appetite; periodical headaches; occasional nausea; uncertain pains; loss of vigor; lack of nerve power; irregularity of the heart; disordered daily habits; imperfect digestion—all these and many other symptoms are the indication of kidney disorder even though there may be no pain in the region of the kidneys or in that portion of the body. The serious nature of these troubles may be understood from the fact that Bright's disease is as certain to follow diseased kidneys as decomposition follows death.

It is high time the doctors in this land who have been unable to control kidney troubles, should be aroused and compelled to find some remedy or acknowledge one already found. The suffering public needs help and cannot await the tardy action of any hair splitting code or incorrectly formulated theories. If the medical world has no certain remedy. If the medical world has no certain remedy for this terrible disease let them acknowledge it and seek for one outside of the pale of their profession, for the discovery of this remedy and for its application to this disease, the people of this city; the people of the whole land; not only those who are suffering, but those who have friends in danger are earnestly and longingly looking.

The above quotation from the New York Tribune is causing considerable commotion, as it seems to lift the cover from a subject that has become of national importance. The alarming increase of kidney diseases; their insiduous beginning and frightful endings and the acknowledged inability of physicians to successfully cope with them may well awaken the greatest dread of any one who has the slightest symptoms. It is fortunate, however that the surest relief is often found, where, possibly, least expected, and that there is a spefor the evils above desribed. Within the past two years we have frequently seen statements of parties claiming to have been cured of serious kidney troubles even after hope had been abandoned; but in common with most people we have discredited them. Quite recently, however, a number of prominent and well known men have come out voluntarily and stated over their signatures that they were completely cured by the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. Most people have been aware that this medicine has an unusual standing and one entitling it to be classed above proprietary articles generally; but that it has accomplished so much in checking the ravages of kidney disease is not so generally known. Its great worth has been shown not only by the cures it has effected, but also because a number of base imitations have appeared in the market, fraudulently claiming the valuable qualities of the original Safe Cure. If it were not valuable it would not be imitated.

The above may seem like an ultra endorsement of a popular remedy but it is not one whit stronger than the facts admit. Whatever assists the world toward health and consequent happiness should receive the hearty endorsement of the press and friends of humanity. It is on precisely the same principle that the foregoing statement is made and its merits the careful consideration of every thinking reader.

Go to Skaden's for your coffee and get the best there is in Fulton.

How He Would Arrange It.

In a town up the Hudson two farmers had an itching last spring to go into trade, and after canvassing the subject for a spell, they put in $1,000 each and opened a grocery. Trade was dull, both had large families, and they finally conclude to dissolve co-partnership. In this frame of mind they consulted a lawyer, who asked, "what is the value of the stock on hand?" "About $1800." "And how much do you owe?" "About $400." "Very well. [illegible] Mr. Smith, you may draw out the [illegible] will for your share, and I'll [illegible] barrel of molasses for your [illegible] Mr. Brown, you take all accounts, and I'll throw in a keg of pickles." "And what's to become of the store?" "Oh, you'll assign all the goods to me for my trouble in [illegible] the debts and giving my [illegible]. They [illegible] of it, as they lean on their [illegible] their aching backs, but they [illegible]

[illegible]

GOLD and SILVER PAINT.
Bronze Paint. Artists' Black.
[illegible]
WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

Boston Concentrated
FOOD
Excellent for Horses, Cattle and all kinds of stock. Also Linseed Oil Meal!
For Sale at the
GENESEE MILLS,
W. S. Nelson & Co.
27m3

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

CONSUMPTION.
[illegible]
DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, N. Y.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY SURGEON,
(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)
Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.
Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.
References can be seen by calling at his office.
C. A. HILL.
Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

CUT THIS OUT!
ABSOLUTELY
THE MOST
Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.
The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.
The Star Spangled Banner.
Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!
CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!
The New American Diamond Dictionary, Illustrated, is the chief d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. [illegible]

JAMES COLE,
The Old Reliable
UNDERTAKER,
AND
FURNITURE DEALER
Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line
Caskets and Coffins
Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best
EMBALMING MATERIALS
And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.
Hearse and Carriages
FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.
Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51t

WALKING MADE EASY.
Go and get your
CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS
Cured Without Pain,
and without the use of acids, by
DR. J. D. PRKINS,
of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.
Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.
Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:
OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.
Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174.
Those desiring can be waited on at their residence Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Oneida street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.
Jan, 3. 83 1 yr.

Real Estate! Real Estate!
:o:
The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure,

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.
Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

WANTED—A place in the village worth about $1,500, to exchange for a house, barn and saw mill, and 14 acres of land in the country, a few miles out.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south-east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 6 on Block 64—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 55. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

TO BUSINESS MEN—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

House and lot on Second Street,

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!
IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!
Houses and lots in Oswego Falls.
House on Third St. for $2,600.
Vacant lots on Second St., $500 & $600.
Houses on Second St. $900 to $2600.

Four hundred ($400 will buy a house on Buffalo St.,—on the same street another may be had for eight hundred, ($800). Another for $3,000.

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St. A house and lot and a very desirable residence on First St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at [illegible] prices, of country places ranging from [illegible] acres.
F. S. [illegible], Jr.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

—IF YOU WANT THE—
BEST BRANDS OF CIGARS,
[illegible] Cigarettes, Common and Fancy
[illegible] TOBACCO

[illegible] 36 inch soft finish bleached muslin at 8cts. [illegible] quality never sold in Fulton less than 10 to 11cts.

25 Pieces figured Worsted Dress Goods 12½c. former prices 18 and 15c.

25 Pieces Gingham, 10c. former price 12½c.

Ladies' Gossimers $1.45.
Ladies Black Coney Fur Collars $1.00.
FAY'S NEW YORK CASH STORE,
FULTON, N. Y.
E. B. FAY.

WE OFFER AT
THE BAZAAR
The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.
HANGING LAMPS!
Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62.
Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40.
Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on
UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY
To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.
CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS
A Full Stock of Everything.
The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.
J. J. WRIGHT.

MUTUAL LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY
—OF—
NEW YORK.
:o:
This Company was Chartered in 1842.
Assets - - $94,702,957.92
:o:
Premium rates lower than any other Company.
W. C. WHEELER, Agent,
Fulton Times Office,
Fulton, N. Y.

McCarthy's
CHINA HALL.
OSWEGO, N. Y.
:o:
Great Bargains
—IN—
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
CHANDELIERS,
LAMPS,
[illegible]

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE.
Four Houses, Oswego Falls, Pine St., between First and Second Streets.
Vacant Lot, Oswego Falls, Oak Street.
House and two lots, Fulton, Academy Street, known as "Capt. Taylor place."
Vacant Lot Fulton, 6th St., Block 512
" " " 5th " " 511
" " " Park Street known as L. R. Rector Lots
" " " Bl'k 84, on Acad'y St
House and Lot " Cor. 3d and Cayuga streets, in which I reside.
All or any of the above parcels will be sold Cheap and on easy terms of payment.
Dated Jan'y 1883. H. E. NICHOLS.

Boarding & Livery Stables
[illegible]
Farmers coming to town and wishing a [illegible]

[illegible]25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

FIFTEENTH YEAR. FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., [illegible] 14, 1883. VOLUME 15—NUMBER [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Sanderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Publishers.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered at the Post-Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

Not Knowing.

I know not what will befall me! God hangs a mist o'er my eyes;
And o'er each step of my onward path He makes new scenes to rise;
And every joy He sends me comes as a sweet and glad surprise.

I see not a step before me as I tread the days of the year;
But the past is still in God's keeping; the future
His mercy shall clear;
And what looks dark in the distance may brighten as I draw near.

For perhaps the dreaded future has less bitter than
I think;
The Lord may sweeten the water before I stoop to drink;
Or, if Marah must be Marah, he will stand beside its brink.

It may be he is waiting for the coming of my feet,
Some gift of such rare blessedness, some joy so strangely sweet,
That my lips can only tremble with the thanks I cannot speak.

O restful, blissful ignorance! 'Tis blessed not to know,
It keeps me quiet in those arms which will not let me go,
And hushes my soul to rest on the bosom that loves me so.

So I go on not knowing! I would not if I might;
I would rather walk in the dark with God than go alone in the light;
I would rather walk with Him by faith, than walk alone by sight.

My heart shrinks back from trials which the Future may disclose,
Yet I never had a sorrow but what the dear Lord chose;
So I send the coming tears back with the whispering word "He knows."

LOVE FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER X.

Mark's words cleft the sweet, spring air like a sharp arrow with a poisoned barb; they had pierced the heart that loved him, and I fell upon the grass like one dead. My heart was pierced, my whole soul crushed. There I lay in the first smart of my anguish.

For a few minutes all was darkness and oblivion; and then Mark tried to raise me.

"I have killed you, Nellie," he said, "I have killed you!"

"No," I answered, raising my white, miserable face to his; "it is worse than that. Do not touch me! Leave me!"

"I knew—I knew!" he said. "Oh, Nellie, I could have died to save you this!"

A sudden overwhelming sense of scorn for him, of loathing for myself, a hot, fierce passion of defiance and rebellion seized me. I rose to my feet; new life and new strength came to me, my whole frame vibrated with passion.

"You are what?" I cried. "Say it to me again—let me be sure that I have heard aright. You are what?"

"I am married, Nellie."

"Married! And you have been wicked enough, coward enough to let me say all that I have said! You have been mean enough to let me pour out my heart, to let me lavish my love on you! How could you? Why did you not tell me the truth the first moment you saw me? How dare you take me in your arms and kiss me when you knew all the time that you belonged to some one else?"

"Forgive me, Nellie. I can never forgive myself. I had no time to think," he said, humbly.

"I shall never respect myself again!" I cried. "And I thought that Heaven had sent you in answer to my longing and my prayers. Give me back my words of welcome; give me back my kisses. They were for a true lover, not for you. Give me back my love. Believe me, before Heaven, had I known, had I guessed or thought that you were married, not one such word should have crossed my lips!"

"I know," he said, humbly.

"You are married. Oh, I cannot believe it! You are trying me. You want to see if my love be true; you are testing my faith. You cannot be married; you could not marry any one but me!"

"Alas, Nellie, it is true!" he cried.

"True!" I flung up my arms in despair. Mark had deceived me; Mark was untrue to me; Mark, my lover, my hero, was false.

Could any shame, any degradation equal mine? I had flung my arms round his neck, I had kissed him, I had called him by every loving name that one could give to another, and he was married! His love, his caresses, belonged to some other woman, not to me. The [illegible] of his dark face, the memory of [illegible] seemed to creep into my heart [illegible] fire. Mad, passion-[illegible] me.

"[illegible] you married?" I cried. [illegible] I see her! She [illegible] who has stolen my love [illegible]"

"[illegible] not know, Nellie," he said, [illegible] in the same low tone. [illegible] of you. It was all [illegible]

[illegible] came, the flame of [illegible]. The light had [illegible] the beauty from [illegible]

The next thing I heard was the terrible sound of my own hysterical laughter breaking amid the trees. Such wild horrible laughter it was. I could not help it; I tried in vain to stop it.

"A married man!" I cried, over and over again. "A married man!" And I believed him to be my true lover Mark.

He came to me; he would not heed my passionate cries that he should not touch me. He raised me from the ground; he removed the leaves and grass from my hair; he took my hands and held them in his.

"Nellie," he said, "try to listen to me, dear. You will kill yourself if you give way like this."

Was it of any use to say that I hoped I should, of any use to struggle to free my hands from his clasp? Oh, my bruised, beating, wounded heart, it [illegible] me!

"Try, my darling, try, Nellie, for the sake of old times, to listen to me," he pleaded.

"You must not call me 'darling,'" I cried, bitter jealousy flaming in my heart again; "you have another darling now. You have some one else to love and caress and call your own."

And in some vague way I knew by the groan that came from his lips that I was still his darling, and that he did not love this other, let her be who she might. The knowledge seemed to afford me some little consolation. But it was only for one minute. Then common-sense said, "What was the love of a married man to me?"

"Nellie—I will not call you 'darling' again, since it grieves you—will you try to listen to me? For the sake of old times and the old dear love, let me tell you all that has happened. You will judge me mercifully; you were always kind, and I—oh, Nellie, I am not happy! I am the most miserable man in the whole wide world. If I were happy, if I came to you in the insolence of a prosperous love, if my face were bright and my heart light, then, ah, then you would have reason to spurn me, to hate and despise me! But you have a true woman's heart, my lost love; and women are always pitiful, always merciful. Listen, Nellie, before you judge me. Mind, I am not excusing myself—even in my own eyes I am a pitiful fellow. But you will hear and judge."

The wild tumult of passion was dying down; the rapture and ecstasy of happiness, followed by the passion of despair, had exhausted me. I sat down again on the seat; my strength failed me. I leaned my head against the trunk of a tree; the wind brought the odor of the lilacs to me fresh and sweet. I grew calm with the serenity of despair. I would listen to all he had to tell me, and then rise up and go from him.

My thoughts grew confused, everything was dim and indistinct in my sight; and, when I came to the real consciousness of what was passing, Mark was bending over me, holding my hands tightly clasped in his, and speaking in a clear, low voice:

CHAPTER XI.

"When I went away, Nellie," said Mark, "I did love you with all my heart. Do you remember how my father teased us, and called my love 'lad's love?'"

"And said it would die as soon," I remarked.

"It was lad's love, Nellie, but it was honest, eager and true. You filled my heart, and I had no thought save for you. I would have given up going to India, but my father was not willing. Would to Heaven that I had! I left England, Nellie, in the hope of returning at the end of four years and making you my wife. My father's death was a blow to me. I should have come back then, but I could not throw up my appointment. I shall tell you the candid truth, Nellie; I will not hide one word, one thought from you. During the first year of my absence, I loved you as truly and dearly as ever. You were never out of my thoughts by day or by night. I lived for you. The second year—ah, Nellie, if I wound you, I wound myself more deeply!—the second year I found myself thinking more of my work. I had been promoted, and the difficulties of my profession engrossed me. I thought less of you, but I loved you just the same. I own that some little coldness crept into my letters, that at times I missed a mail; but my heart was true to you. One thing that had an evil influence over me was the constant 'chaffing' of my comrades. It was strange that the cry of 'lad's love' should be used in India as it had been in England. They laughed at the number of letters that came in your dear handwriting, Nellie. They laughed at the number of letters I sent away. They said that it was 'lad's love,' that in a few years' time I should laugh at it, that all boys suffered from it; and, though at times I blushed over it, yet my heart was always true to you, Nellie."

He stopped and looked into my miserable face. I could not keep my lips from quivering, and my eyes were heavy with unshed tears.

"Nellie," he said, "have you heard any news—anything about me?"

"Not one word since you wrote last," I replied.

"Then," he said, with some little hesitation, "you do not know what name I bear now?"

"Your own, I suppose," was my listless reply.

"Yes, my own, but it is a new one. Is it possible, Nellie, that you do not know who I am and why I am here?"

No suspicion of the truth came to me; indeed nothing was farther from my thoughts.

"How can I know?" was my impatient answer. "I have never heard any one mention your name."

He was silent for a few minutes, and then continued slowly:

"I know not which part of my story is the hardest to tell. It was in the beginning of the third year of my absence from England that a strange event happened. It was so unexpected, so bewildering, that for some time I seemed to lose my senses; and you know, Nellie, I was in many respects what my father called me—merely a lad. I was so dazzled and bewildered [illegible] all I ought [illegible] first thought was of you, and I ought to have written to you; but I let two or three mails go without writing, and I intended to surprise you [illegible]

[illegible] asked you about your friends and relatives? You replied that you were almost alone in the world, and I told you that, while I had some very wealthy relatives and some very poor, I knew but little of either. There had never been any correspondence, nor even the slightest acknowledgment of any kind. My father was a most peculiar man; he did not like his poor relations. His dislike was not caused by their poverty, but because they had offended him many years before, and he had never forgiven them. As to the rich members of the family, he was too proud to seek to know them. [illegible] to speak of [illegible] of us, nor we of them. Lord Severne—Baron Severne, is the proper title—of Severne Court and my father were second cousins. [illegible]"

"You are Lord Severne, Mark!" I cried.

"Yes, it is so, Nellie; I am Lord Severne," he said, gravely.

"And Lurline—your wife is named Lurline," I said.

"Yes, my wife is named Lurline," he answered. "Now you understand. I did not know that you were here, Nellie. I never dreamed of seeing you when I came out this morning. I am here as Lady Yorke's friend and guest; Lurline is with me."

He stopped, thinking perhaps that I should speak; but what had I to say? Words were useless.

"Now you know what happened, Nellie," he continued. "In the third year of my absence this news came from England—Lord Severne of Severne Court was dead; the brother who should have succeeded him was drowned in returning from Italy, and the two sons of his brother, the heir, died from fever at school—two generations swept away. My father, had he lived, would have been Lord Severne; he was the next heir, and both title and estates are entailed. As my father was dead, I was the next heir. My father had never given me to understand that there was the most remote possibility of our succession. I do not believe he ever thought of it himself; he was only second cousin, and at that time Lord Severne was a strong, healthy man, his brother the same, and the boys at school gave every promise of a long life.

"Now all was changed; they were dead; and, as I was the nearest of kin, I became master of Severne Court, and Baron Severne. Nellie, as truly as there is a Heaven above us, my first thought when I heard this news was of you. 'What will my Nellie say?' I cried aloud; and I felt proud to think that I could make my fair and beautiful love Lady Severne.

"If I had written one line to you then, all would have been different—my life and yours; but I was restless and excited. I had so much to think of, so much to do. I was pleased, proud, agitated, but not untrue to you then, Nellie—I swear it, not untrue.

"The letters sent by Messrs. Norton & Son were most peremptory in their summons. I must return at once.—Fortunately there was a young Englishman who could without difficulty take my place, and I was free. My friends and comrades were honestly pleased with my good fortune, and we parted on excellent terms. Nellie, when I started in the Queen of the Seas, bound from Bombay to London, my thoughts were all of you. Oh, my true love, my lost love, how shall I tell you what happened then?

"I deserve to be shot as a traitor, as a coward," he continued, with passionate bitterness. "When I look back, I cannot think what folly, what madness possessed me. I am sure that my good fortune had in some measure turned my brain.

"On the second day that I was on board I began to take an interest in my fellow-passengers. My romantic story was known amongst them—how from a simple engineer, glad to earn an income of a few hundreds, I had suddenly and quite unexpectedly come into possession of a title and estates worth sixty thousand per annum. On the second day of the voyage I walked about the deck amusing myself with the novel sights and sounds, when, Nellie, I saw one of the most beautiful women I had ever beheld in my life—beautiful as a dream or a vision, but, ah, Nellie, not half so fair and winsome as you!

"I had seen but little of women. I had never been thrown much into their society. I hardly remembered my own mother; sisters and cousins I had none; you and your mother were the only two with whom I had been on friendly or intimate terms. I loved you. I understood your simple, noble nature; I knew your true earnest character; but I was perfectly ignorant of the arts of women. I thought they were all like you; their caprices, fascinations, charms, arts, and intrigues were all unknown to me. Never was prey more easily caught. I hate myself when I think of my own folly.

"The beautiful woman was walking up and down the deck; her veil was thrown back, and the sea-breeze had brought a lovely bloom to her face. Her graceful carriage, so free, so stately, attracted me first.

"I saw her lay her hand on the rail. She was looking out at the passing waves; the hand was white as a snow-drop; a wedding-ring shone on it, with broad bands of diamonds and sapphires. 'She is married,' I thought. Then, little as I understood the mysteries of ladies' attire, I perceived that the coquettish line of white defining the form of her beautiful head was a widow's cap.

"'Who is that lady?' I asked of Captain Luttrell.

"His eyes brightened, as did the eyes of every other man on board, when they rested on her.

"'She is a Mrs. Nugent,' he replied—'a young widow returning to England. Her husband, Captain Vane Nugent, died a few months since. I will introduce you to her,' and the next moment I was bowing before the beautiful young widow, who seemed still but a child.

"Lurline is my wife now, and I will not say one word against her. I will not even say [illegible] [illegible] beauty, [illegible] voice, [illegible] manner, [illegible] preference for me, shown at all times and in all places.

"I never [illegible] title, or [illegible] believed [illegible] she cared [illegible] stronger [illegible] succumbed! I [illegible] nights on [illegible] the sea dark, silent, my [illegible] nights the [illegible] calm, and [illegible] be mine! [illegible] love, and it will never die; she taught me passion, and it is dead!

"There can be no excuse for me, Nellie—I offer none. But remember that for the first time in my life I was flattered by all the subtle flatteries that a clever and beautiful woman could use. The balance of my reason was gone. She had roused passion that yet was not love in my heart. I was driven onwards by the [illegible] ed, for [illegible] one night—one fatal night, when the moon was shining brilliantly, and the sea was calm as a lake—we stood together at the stern of the vessel, hidden by the wheel-house. Her hand stole into mine, her face was raised to mine, pale with emotion, her eyes glistening with tears. I forgot you, Nellie, I forgot honor, truth, and loyalty. I bent down to her, and— Well, I cannot tell you how it happened. I am speaking the truth, Nellie. I would not hide one thought from you. I feel sure that when I bent my head to kiss her I had no thought of asking her to be my wife; but before another half hour had passed, I had promised to marry her, and—Nellie, love, listen—from that moment to this I have never had one single happy moment—not one. There could be no drawing back—no hesitation even, for I found the next day that the whole of the passengers knew that Lord Severne and the beautiful Mrs. Nugent were engaged.

"Weak, cowardly, disloyal—ah, yes, now I was all that! But I have suffered horribly. From that hour to this I have been a miserable man, for I found out that it was you I loved after all, and that the love of the lad was better than the passion of the man. There were times when I resolved on telling her, but it would have been useless. She had [illegible] knew [illegible] secondary to hers. When it was too late, my heart went back to its first allegiance. I found my engagement to this woman of the world a very business-like matter. There was no nonsense, no delay. We were married three weeks after the Queen of the Seas reached London.

"Ah, Nellie, you have suffered, but my pain has been greater! My conscience gave me no rest. Night and day your image was with me, night and day my folly and cowardice were ever before me. I longed, yet dreaded to see you. If I had known that your mother was dead, and that you were waiting for me in the old home alone, I should have gone to you, no matter what had happened; but your letter did not reach me."

"It was returned to me," I interposed.

"As soon as my affairs were settled," he continued, "I went abroad. Lurline preferred it. She said she never cared to live in England; and, in truth, I was indifferent on the subject, knowing that no place could ever be the same to me again. At Mentone we met the Yorkes, and I liked them very much. I was a miserable, haunted, gloomy man. My wealth brought me no happiness, because I had lost you. I found rest in talking to Lady Yorke. She seemed to think that I had some great sorrow in my life. I do not suppose I should have returned to England, at least for some years, had not imperative business compelled me to go to Severne Court a few weeks ago. Oh, Nellie, there are some disappointments too bitter, too great for words! I shall return to Italy; I cannot live in England."

"Why?" I asked.

His face clouded, an angry gleam came into the eyes which had been full of pain and despair.

"I cannot tell you why, Nellie, but my life is blighted. I cannot stay anywhere for long."

"Shall you never live at Severne Court?" I asked.

"Never," was the gloomy reply. "The punishment of my folly is that I shall be a wanderer on the face of the earth."

"But why, Mark—why?" I cried, beginning to forget my own troubles in his.

"There are some things that a man cannot speak of," he replied, "cannot even think of, or lay bare to his own heart. This sorrow of mine is one of them."

"Then, Mark," I could not help saying as I looked sadly at him, "you have ruined all the happiness of my life without securing your own."

"That is just what I have done, Nellie. Between the remorse I feel at the loss of you and the sorrow of my secret, I am the most miserable man in the world."

Ah, Mark, my lover, I read in your face how your folly had cost you dear! We sat in silence for some time, the wind stirring the lilac branches and bearing to us sweet gusts of perfume. We had not been there an hour, and already it seemed to me an eternity. I knew that we must part. Time was [illegible] and I should be wanted. Then the full force of my misery [illegible]

[illegible] doubtless it was [illegible] but when I saw the [illegible] face, the humble [illegible] I saw [illegible] the misery [illegible] his face, I forgot my [illegible] for one short moment. How could I [illegible] him anything? [illegible] had never said nay? [illegible] could [illegible] pardon when [illegible] his eyes? He had marred my life, ruined my happiness, made every hope bankrupt, but I loved him still. I held out my hands to him. I tried to smile, although the rain-[illegible] tears blinded me.

"I will forgive you, Mark," I said. "Ah, my dear, I should not, if I would, be angry with you! We must never meet again, Mark. The wide world must be ever between us two who were once to be always together; a deep grave lies between us, and in it I must bury my love; but I forgive you, even as I hope to be forgiven."

He held my hand in his for one moment, and then he said, with tears that did not shame his manhood:

"My dear, lost love, farewell!"

I knew what he meant. It would be better for him, better for me, that we should meet as strangers. He would be leaving in a few days, and we should [illegible] each other no more. Better so!

Trembling, fainting, dazed by my own misery, I dared not go back to the house just then, lest any one meeting me should ask what ailed me. I had a strange, vague idea that I had changed my own identity, and that the sorrow-stricken woman walking by herself under the summer trees could not be Nellie Chester.

[To be continued.]

☞ Dresses, cloaks, coats stockings and all garments can be colored successfully with the Diamond Dyes. Fashionable colors. 10 cents.

THE BAD BOY AGAIN.

He Cures His Father of Spreeing—Dissecting the Old Gent With An Icicle.

"I understand your pa has got to drinking again like a fish," says the groceryman to the bad boy, as the youth came into the grocery, and took a handful of dried apples. The boy ate a dried apple and then made a terrible face, and the groceryman asked him what he was trying to do with his face. The boy caught his breath, and then said:

"Say, don't you know any better than to keep dried apples where a boy can get hold of them when he has got the mumps? You will kill some boy yet by such dum carelessness."

"Well, never mind the mumps, how about your pa spreeing it? Try one of them pickles in the jar there, won't you?"

"You can't play no pickles on me, not when I have the mumps. Ma passed the pickles to me this morning, and I took one mouthful, and like to had the lockjaw. But ma did not do it on purpose, I guess. She never had any mumps, and didn't know how discouraging a pickle is. Darn'd if I didn't feel as though I had been struck in the butt of the ear with a brick. But about pa. He had been fuller'n a goose since New Year's day. I think its wrong for women to tempt feeble-minded persons on New Year's. Now me and my chum, we can take a drink and then let it alone. We have got brains, and know when we get enough; but pa, when he gets to going he don't ever stop until he gets so sick that he can't keep his stummick inside himself. It is getting so they look to me to brace pa up every time he gets on a tear, and I guess I fixed him this time so he will never touch liquor again. I scared him so his bald head turned gray in a single night."

"What under heavens, have you done to him now," says the groceryman in astonishment. "I hope you haven't done anything you will regret in after years."

"Regret nothing," said the boy, as he turned the lid of the cheese box back and took the knife and sliced off a piece of cheese, and took a few crackers out of a barrel, and sat down on a soap box by the stove. "You see, ma was annoyed to death about pa. He would come home full when she had company, and lay down on the sofa and snore, and he would smell like a distillery. It hurt me to see ma cry, and I told her I would break pa of drinking if she would let me and she said if I would promise not to hurt pa to go ahead, and I promised not to. Then I got my chum and another boy, quite a big boy, to help, and pa is all right. We went down to the place where they sell arms and legs to folks who have served in the army, or a saw mill, or a threshing machine, and lost their limbs, and we borrowed some arms and legs, and fixed up a dissecting room. We fixed a long table in the basement, big enough to lay pa out on, you know, and then we got false whiskers and [illegible], and when pa came in the [illegible] and laid down on the sofa [illegible], we took him and laid him out on the table, and took some [illegible] and a surcingle and strapped him down to the table. He slept [illegible] through it, and we had [illegible] with the false arms and [illegible] and we rolled up our sleeves, [illegible] just like I read that [illegible] when they cut up [illegible] dead man. [illegible]

[illegible] beer bottles, I drew the icicle across pa's stummick, and I said to my chum, 'Doc I guess we had better cut open the old duffer and see if he died from inflammation of the stummick, or from hard drinking, as the coroner said he did.' Pa shuddered all over when he felt the icicle going over his stummick, and he said, 'For God's sake, gentlemen, what does this mean? I am not dead.' The other boys looked at pa with astonishment, and I said, 'Well, we bought you for dead, and the coroner's jury said you were dead, and by the eternal we ain't going to be fooled out of a corpse when we buy one, are we Doc? My chum said not if he knowed himself, and the other student said, 'of course he is dead.' He thinks he is alive, but he died day before yesterday, fell dead on the street, and his folks said he had been a nuisance and they wouldn't claim the corpse, and we bought it at the morgue.' Then I drew the icicle across him again, and I said, 'I don't know about this, doctor, I find that blood follows the scalpel as I cut through the cuticle. Hand me the blood sponge, please.' Pa began to wiggle around, and we looked at him, and my chum raised his eye-lid and looked solemn, and pa said, 'Hold on, gentlemen. Don't cut into me any more, and I can explain the matter. This is all a mistake. I was only drunk.' We went into a corner and whispered, and pa kept talking all the time. He said if we would postpone the hog killing he could send and get witnesses to prove that he was not dead, but that he was a respectable citizen, and had a family. After we had held a consultation, I went to pa and told him that what he said about being alive might possibly be true, though we had our doubts. We had found such cases before in our practice East where men seemed to be alive, but it was only temporary. Before we had them cut up they were dead enough for all practical purposes. Then I laid the icicle across pa's abdomen, and went on to tell him that even if he was alive it would be better for him to play that he was dead, because he was such a nuisance to his family that they did not want him, and I was telling that I had heard that in his lifetime he was very cruel to his boy, a bright little fellow, who was at the head of his class in Sunday school, and a pet wherever he was known, when pa interrupted and said, 'Doctor, please take that carving knife off my stomach, for it makes me nervous. As for that boy of mine, he is the condemndest little whelp in this town, and he isn't no pet anywhere. Now, you let up on this dissectin' business, and I will make it all right with you. We held another consultation and then I told pa that we did not feel that it was doing justice to society to give up the body of a notorious drunkard after we had paid $20 for the corpse. If there were any hope that he would reform and lead a different life, it would be different, and I said to the boys, 'Gentlemen we must do our duty. Doc, you dismember that leg, and I will attend to the stomach and the upper part of the body. He will be dead before we are done with him. We must remember that society has some claims on us, and not let our better natures be worked upon by the post mortem promises of a dead drunkard. Then I took my icicle and began fumbling around the abdomen portion of pa's remains, and began to saw his leg off, while the other boy took hold of the leg and said he would catch it when it dropped off. Well, pa kicked like a steer. He said he wanted to make one more appeal to us, and we acted sort of impatient, but we let up to hear what he had to say. He said if we would turn him loose he would give us $10 more than we paid for his body, and that he would never drink another drop as long as he lived. Then we whispered some more and then we told him we thought favorably of his last proposition, but he must swear, with his hand on the leg of a corpse we were dissecting, that he would never drink again, and then he must be blind-folded and be conducted several blocks away from the dissecting room, before we could turn him loose. He said that was all right, and so we blind-folded him, and made him take a bloody oath, with his hand on a piece of ice that we told him was a piece of another corpse, and then we took him out of the house and walked him around the block four times, and left him on a corner after he had promised to send the money to an address that I gave him. We told him to stand still five minutes after we left, then remove the blind-fold and go home. We watched him, from behind a barb fence, and he took off the handkerchief, looked at the name on a street lamp and found that he was not far from home. He started off saying: 'That's a pretty narrow escape, old man. No more whisky for you.' I did not see him again until this morning, and when I asked him where he was last night he shuddered and said, 'None of your darn business. But I never drink any more, you remember that.' Ma was tickled and she told me I was worth my weight in gold. Well, good day. That cheese is musty." And the boy went and caught a passing sleigh.

"Humanity's great hope for the future is alone to be realized in improving conditions of matrimony. What a profound [illegible] involve! [illegible] can [illegible] take the advice [illegible] Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham whose [illegible] all [illegible] Send for pamphlets.

[illegible] REMEDY.
FOR
RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,
Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT
IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
—LIVER—

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6.
GEO. J. EMENY,
H. H. GRIDLEY.

Fulton Business Directory.

W[illegible]

Carpenter and Joiner.

J. J. GREEN [illegible]

Dentists.

L. C. CURTIS, [illegible]

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S., [illegible] Lewis House, First street. [illegible] chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. [illegible] and children a specialty. 33

B. T. MASON, D. D. S., [illegible] Phoenix, N. Y. The [illegible] Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 22 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

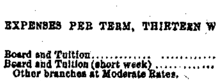
G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition.......................
Board and Tuition (short week)...........36
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

UNDERTAKING!

Mr. D. Hendrick is now prepared to do undertaking for the public. His store is one door south of Fay's dry goods store. Night bell on store door. 29tf

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be [illegible]. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or [illegible] ed. A handsome pocket knife given [illegible] garment purchased, with [illegible] us have the pleasure of [illegible]

22tf

[illegible]

to sleep, my weary [illegible]
[illegible] and keep this little [illegible]
[illegible] my bed, and [illegible] for my hand, so shall my [illegible]
[illegible] world dear Lord and Thee,
[illegible] unwavering faith can shake,
[illegible] the grave for me, the [illegible] break. WILLIS.

[illegible] E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ranks first as a curative agent in [illegible] plaints peculiar to women.

[illegible]E FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER XII.

[illegible] evening Lady Yorke came to [illegible] She was always kind and [illegible] to me. [illegible] have not been well to-day, Miss [illegible] tells me that you [illegible] of your bad headaches. [illegible] You look very pale [illegible] some way. I came to [illegible] you would bring your music [illegible] this evening. It [illegible] help to me." [illegible] moments before [illegible] could crush down [illegible] anguish, for I had [illegible]; and I longed to [illegible] How the words [illegible] "Mark's wife!" I [illegible] jeweled hand laid so [illegible] shoulder, and said what [illegible] would do anything to [illegible] she said, "do not [illegible] while; come later on. [illegible] make yourself look [illegible] let Lady Severne [illegible] handsomest woman in [illegible] some of your best [illegible] is very fond of [illegible] Had I not sung to him [illegible] the river and in the [illegible] seemed to me that I [illegible] Mark's wife. Was [illegible] that I went to my [illegible] plain, blue silk [illegible] and that I made [illegible] hair, that I found [illegible] and that I tried [illegible] happy while my [illegible] other guests [illegible] with Mark and [illegible] Yorke introduced [illegible] I had gone so [illegible] before the gentlemen [illegible] room. I could not [illegible] Mark looking at me. [illegible] no faces; my [illegible] waiting until we [illegible] the clear voice [illegible] raising my eyes, I [illegible] most beautiful, [illegible] woman I had ever [illegible] bloom of a carnation [illegible]

[illegible]

Might hasten the hour of our meeting there."

Was I dreaming, or did my own voice die away in a wail of pain—die in a long-drawn bitter sob?

Lady Yorke was near me, and I saw tears in her eyes.

"One more, Miss Chester," she said. "Your songs are so sad and so sweet, they take me out of this world. One more, if you are not too tired."

I had forgiven Mark not very long since; but the longing was upon me to make him feel, to pierce his heart with some little of the anguish which had pierced mine. Never mind what I suffered, if I could send my words flying like barbed arrows across the room.

I looked at him. The handsome profile stood out clearly and distinctly. He stood gazing though the long window at the night-sky. Ah, yes, I would sting him into feeling. And this was my song—

A DEAD LOVE.

"Down deep in my heart, in its last calm sleep,
A dear dead love lies buried deep;
I clasped it once in a long embrace,
And closed the eyes and veiled the face
I never again might see.
I breathed no word and I shed no tear,
But the onward years looked dark and drear,
And I knew, by the throbs of mortal pain,
That a sweetness had fled which never again
Would in life come back to me.

"And dreams of the past, like roses, still shed
Their fragrance around my cherished dead:
While tears that ever are falling unseen,
Like soft summer rain, keep its memory green
As the turf of the churchyard sod.
And, weeping and waiting, I pray and wait
That an angel may open the golden gate;
For I think that the love of long ago,
Though cold and dead to me here below,
Will be mine in the rest of God."

There was a little stir in the room when my song was finished. The last words rang through my brain—"Will be mine in the rest of God." I had touched him. All those other men and women were nothing to me—only shadows. They had no identity. I saw moving figures, I heard voices, but to me Mark was there alone.

I saw a quiver of pain pass over his face. I had made him feel. Then, so true, so weak a woman was I that I longed to cross the room and kiss the pain away. The odor of violets came to me; Lady Severne was standing by my side.

"How exquisitely you sing, Miss Chester! You make me long for things that I have quite forgotten. How differently we should all live if we could lead our lives over again."

The brilliant face softened; the hard metallic light had died from her eyes. I liked her better in that moment than I had before. Then I heard Lady Yorke asking Mark to sing. I remembered the rich cheery voice that had trolled out many love songs.

"You never refused to sing for me in Italy," said Lady Yorke; "why refuse here?"

"Lord Severne has a beautiful voice and a perfect ear," Lady Severne remarked, turning to me.

It comforted me just a little to remember that I had known that long before she did. An uncontrollable trembling came over me, for Mark stood by my side.

"Will you play Lord Severne's accompaniment?" said Lady Yorke.

"I would rather not," I replied.

"I will," said Lady Severne; "I like to play for him."

Was he thinking of her or thinking of me? Not of me. He could not sing such words to me now; for the song he had chosen was Sullivan's beautiful "My Dearest Heart."

"All the dreaming is broken through;
Both what is done and undone I rue,
Nothing is steadfast, nothing is true,
But your love for me, and my love for you,
My dearest, dearest heart!

"When the winds are loud, when the winds are low,
When the roses come, when the roses go,
One thought, one feeling, is all I know,
My dearest, dearest heart!

[illegible]

[illegible] in her own [illegible] in [illegible]

That maid, [illegible] was a puzzle to [illegible] never [illegible] suffered; kind but [illegible] on her face, gentle, yet with a certain grim manner—to me she soon became a mystery. I thought it so strange that a young and beautiful woman like Lady Severne should prefer a grim, old-fashioned, elderly person like Martha Glyde to a young and pretty maid with a fresh face and quick, tripping footsteps. Moreover, I was not sure in my own mind that Lady Severne did like her. The woman always assumed a tone of authority that I thought most unbecoming.

As yet I suspected nothing. I had no tangible reason for any of the shadowy fears that surrounded me. I had watched Lady Severne with eyes and instincts sharpened by love and by jealousy, but I saw nothing wrong.

One morning—it was almost the last in May, and the June roses were beginning to bloom—a picnic was arranged. Most of the county families had been invited. Lady Yorke had resolved upon giving an entertainment that should not soon be forgotten. A first-rate military band was one of the chief attractions, and every one looked forward to the day with delight. It had been decided to visit the old Abbey of St. Ninian—a magnificent ruin only a few miles from Woodheaton, and a favorite place of resort.

I was with Lady Yorke in her boudoir half an hour before the time for starting; she was telling me about her letters, when Lord Severne came to the door. Seeing me there, he did not enter. Lady Yorke went to him, and he spoke in a low tone of voice to her. I could see that they were both angry and amazed. Then Lady Yorke spoke in a soothing voice, as if she were trying to comfort him. Shortly afterwards he went away, and she returned to the writing-table, with a crimson flush on her face, and an angry gleam in her eyes. I saw that her hands trembled so that she could not hold her pen. She flung it impatiently upon the table.

"You must write this for me, Miss Chester," she said, quickly; "I am vexed and grieved;" and she walked to the window, and stood for some minutes looking out.

I knew that it must be something about Mark's wife—my instinct told me so—but I could not solve the mystery. On the previous night she had been unusually gay and animated. Indeed, Lord Severne had hovered near her, as though he feared her high spirits might "carry her away." What then could be wrong this morning? His voice, when he spoke to Lady Yorke, was full of pain.

I was right; for, when the long line of carriages started with their loads of gay pleasure-seekers, Lady Severne was not there, and her husband's dark, handsome face was clouded and distressed. I was weak enough, as I watched him from afar off, to stretch out my hands to him with a longing cry—

"Oh, Mark, my dear, lost love, what has gone wrong with you?"

[To be continued.]

Ayre's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine for every one in the spring. Emigrants and travelers will find in it an effectual cure for the eruptions, boils, pimples, eczema, etc, that break out on the skin—the effect of disorder in the blood caused by sea-diet and life on board ship.

Fashion Notes.

Heavy repped ottoman velvet ribbons are much in use.

Fawn-colored silk stockings, worn with slippers of dark red kip or velvet, are the affectation of the moment.

The "Jersey" gloves are still the favorites both for evening and day wear, and the dull tan shades are the ones preferred.

Very pretty whisk-broom baskets are made in fisher's twine, then gilded and trimmed with a ruching of colored ribbons.

Lilies are out of favor. They are no longer in demand for the corsage, and [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] though I were a kid, and any man who [illegible] I am a bad man and don't you forget it." And the boy pulled on his boots and looked so cross and desperate that the groceryman asked him if he wouldn't try a little new cider.

"Good Heavens," said the groceryman, as the boy swallowed the cider, and his face assumed its natural look, and the piratical frown disappeared with the cider. "You have not stabbed your father, have you. I have feared that one thing would bring on another with you and you would yet be hung."

"Naw, I haven't stabbed him. It was another cat that stabbed him. You see, pa wants me to do all the work around the house. The other day he bought a load of kindling wood, and told me to carry it into the basement. I have not been educated up to kindling wood and I didn't do it. When supper time came, and pa found that I had not carried in the kindling wood, he had a hot box, and he told me if that wood was not in when he came back from the lodge, that he would warm my jacket. Well, I tried to hire some one to carry it in, and got a man to promise to come in the morning and carry it in and take his pay in groceries, and I was going to buy the groceries here and have them charged to pa. But that wouldn't help me out that night. I knew when pa came home he would search for me. So I slept in the back hall on a cot. But I didn't want pa to have all his trouble for nothing, so I borrowed an old tom cat that my chum's old maiden aunt owns, and put the cat in my bed. I thought if pa came into my room after me, and found by his unkindness that I had turned into a tom cat, he would be sorry. That is the biggest cat you ever see, and the worst fighter in our ward. It isn't afraid of anything and can whip a Newfoundland dog quicker than you can put sand in a barrel of sugar. Well, about eleven o'clock I heard pa tumble over the kindling wood, and I knew by the remark he made, as the wood slid around under him, that there was going to be a cat fight real quick. He came up to ma's room and sounded ma as to whether Hennery had retired to his virtuous couch. Pa is awful sarcastic when he tries to be. I could hear him say, as he picked up a trunk strap, 'I guess I will go up to his room and watch the smile on his face as he dreams of angels. I yearn to press him to my aching bosom.' I thought to myself, mebbe you won't yearn so much directly. He come up stairs and I could hear him breathing. [illegible]

[illegible] in an intelligible manner. During his [illegible] taught the young woman telegraphy, and last week gained her consent to stretch a telegraph wire between her home and his boarding house.

Getting it Down Fine on Burglars

It is getting so that burglars are seriously interfered with in the practice of their profession. A recent invention is connected with a safe, and is so arranged that when the burglar touches the safe an electric light is thrown upon the face of the burglar, and a prepared plate inside the safe door transfers the man's picture, so he can be identified. If this thing keeps on a poor burglar will have to send an agent to burgle for him, or he will get into trouble. The life of a burglar is becoming full of terrors. [Albany Argus.

☞ No family dyes were ever so popular as the Diamond Dyes. They never fail. The Black is far superior to logwood. The other colors are brilliant.

Why He Didn't Have Any Luck.

"What luck did you hab las' night, parson?" asked Rev. Aminidab Bledsoe of Whangdoodle Baxter, two of the most popular colored clergymen in Austin, or in this section of Texas, for that matter.

"Didn't hab no luck at all. Dar was no chickens in reach. I found a lot ob shirts hangin' on a line, but de wedder was so inclement dat de shirts and udder close was froze to de line so tight I couldn't pull em off. Maybe de Lawd will temper de wind to de shorn lamb, and moderate de wedder, so I can pull dem close offen de line ef dey am still out do ter night."

"Why de debble didn't yer cut de line, close and all?"

"Brudder Whangdoodle, nex' time I'll be proud ter hab yer go along. You has studied de subject line upon line and precept upon precept." [Texas Siftings.

A TRUE FRIEND

to the sick and suffering, is Dr. Kauffman's great Medical work, finely illustrated. Send two three cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. and receive a free copy. 40w4

The Pillow Sham.

Of course, a pillow sham starched so stiff it will stand alone, is not a very nice thing for a man to jam his head against when he crawls into bed. But there is no question but what a woman can find a thousand and one reasons why the pillow sham should be perpetuated as a thing of beauty. The beautiful, clean, snowy-white pillow shams, looming up at the head of the bed, and standing alone, looks very pretty, and the lady of the house is greatly pleased with them. The men folks also find them very handy to keep the hair oil off the pillows, so their wives will not complain about their pillows being all greased over with oil. Men can escape all hard feelings liable to be engendered by neglecting to take off the shams when retiring, and decking out the lovely linen and fine lace, used in manufacturing the shams with choice and fragrant hair oil. And when he gets tired of having his ears sawed off, by coming in contact with the stiff linen, [illegible]

[illegible]

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM G. GROMBIE, Attorney and Counseller at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Painting, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 36

G. V. [illegible], M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 35

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phoenix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS., Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 25 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY, Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence [illegible] Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 3, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 8 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of [illegible] block. 13

[illegible]'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

[illegible]

[illegible]

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!
ABSOLUTELY
THE MOST
Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable
Favorite Family Paper
The Star Spangled Banner.
Established 1863, began its 21st year
Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight-page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun. Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 300 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!
CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, Illustrated, is the chief d'oeuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary, it also contains all the usual tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrases, etc. American Geographical Names with definitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, [illegible] [illegible]

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary, in substantial cloth-gilt binding, as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 12 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., [illegible]

UNDERSTAND That we mean what [illegible] that our paper is worth $1 a year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and enclose 21 [illegible] If [illegible] you can have your money back. [illegible]

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all free for a paltry 62 cts. Send now. Address,
Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

[illegible]

[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
MIDDLETOWN	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
NORWICH	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
NORWICH	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Norwich	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oneida	9.10	7.40	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fish Creek	*8.45	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Bay	8.37	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cleveland	8.31	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Constantia	8.07	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Central Square	7.45	[illegible]	4.10	[illegible]
Fulton	7.15	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	6.50	[illegible]	[illegible]	7.30
	a. m.	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	3.50	1.55	7.20	[illegible]
Phillipsport	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Homowack	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
ELLENVILLE	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hamden	4.41	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
DELHI	5.19	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	[illegible]
Rockdale	5.31	[illegible]
Mount Upton	5.46	[illegible]
[illegible]	6.15	7.38
So. New Berlin	[illegible]	[illegible]
NEW BERLIN	[illegible]	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.
J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't. J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pass'r. Agt.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY SURGEON,
(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Prayne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 8, 1883.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the [illegible]

JEANNETTE
[illegible] ARCTIC [illegible]
EXPEDITION

[illegible]

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized [illegible] in this direction need no [illegible] We are satisfied that [illegible]

[illegible] TIMES.

[illegible] WEDNESDAY, [illegible] Block, First [illegible]

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Publishers.

[illegible]—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in [advance]. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage [illegible] going out of Oswego county.

[illegible] correspondence must be accompanied by a [illegible] name as a private guarantee of good [faith].

[illegible] terms of advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly [illegible] reasonable.

[Entered] in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as [illegible].

All's Well.

[illegible] day is ended, ere I sink to sleep, my weary spirit seeks repose in Thine.
[Fa]ther forgive my trespasses and keep this little life of mine.
[illegible] loving kindness curtain Thou my bed, and [illegible] my burning feet,
[Thy] pardon be the pillow for my head, so shall my rest be sweet.
At peace with all the world dear Lord and Thee,
No fears my soul's unwavering faith can shake,
All's well, whichever side the grave for me, the morning light may break.
WILLIS.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ranks first as a curative agent in all complaints peculiar to women.

LOVE FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER XII.

That evening Lady Yorke came to my room. She was always kind and considerate to me.

"You have not been well to-day, Miss Chester. Masham tells me that you have had one of your bad headaches. [Are] you better? You look very pale [and] changed in some way. I came to [ask] you if you would bring your music [to] the drawing-room this evening. It [wou]ld be a great help to me."

I thought for a few moments before [I] answered her. I could crush down [my] own pain and anguish, for I had [plenty] of self-control; and I longed to [see] Mark's wife. How the words [pier]ced my heart—"Mark's wife!" I [felt] the white jewelled hand laid so [kin]dly on my shoulder, and said what [was] true—that I would do anything to [plea]se Lady Yorke.

"If you feel tired," she said, "do not [joi]n us for a little while; come later on. [An]d, Miss Chester, make yourself look [nice]. We must not let Lady Severne [thi]nk herself the handsomest woman in [the] world. Bring some of your best [son]gs. Lord Severne is very fond of [mus]ic."

I knew that. Had I not sung to him [a h]undred times by the river and in the [woo]ds?

That evening it seemed to me that I [was] about to rival Mark's wife. Was [it fo]olish or wicked that I went to my [ward]robe for the long, plain, blue silk [dress] that Mark liked, and that I made [the] most of my golden hair, that I found [some] white roses for it, and that I tried [to lo]ok bright and happy while my [heart] was dead?

I need not speak of the other guests. [My st]ory deals only with Mark and [Mar]k's wife. Lady Yorke introduced [me to] all her visitors. I had gone to [the d]rawing-room before the gentlemen [left] the dining-room. I could not [illegible] entered with Mark looking at me. [I re]member no names, no faces; my [who]le soul seemed waiting until we [illegible] Mark's wife.

"Lady Severne," said the clear voice [at] my side; and, raising my eyes, I [saw] Mark's wife—the most beautiful, [br]illiant, dazzling woman I had ever [seen].

[She] had the vivid bloom of a carna[tion], a face of exquisite Grecian type, [a wh]ite low brow, straight dark eye[brow]s, lovely mouth, though the lines [and] curves were rather proud than ten[der], a beautiful chin with a delicious [dimp]le. As I thought of Mark kissing [those] lovely lips, the pain in my heart [was] more bitter than death. A superb [wom]an, with dark blue eyes and dark [hair], she was dressed in white velvet, [reliev]ed by a rich bordering of purple [illegible] lace; a diamond necklace clasp[ed th]e white, firm throat, a diamond [illegible] lay on her white breast; and the [mo]ment I stood before her I no[ticed] the sweet odor of violets.

[Mar]k's wife! She looked at me with [a] [illegible] smile; and then I noticed that [there] was something peculiar in her [illegible]. I did not like it, beautiful, bril[liant] as it was. There was a vague in[illegible] something—a metallic bright[ness in] the eyes, a hard, peculiar color [in the] cheeks. Love for Mark, interest [illegible] by affection, made me won[der], as I looked at her, so beauti[ful], brilliant, I asked myself, "What [illegible] sorrow? What was the secret [illegible] his life? What was the [illegible] that sapped all the pleasure [illegible] of his existence? What [illegible]?"

[Lady S]everne drew aside the folds of [her] dress, and asked me to take [a seat by] her side.

"[Lady] Yorke tells me that you have [a beautif]ul voice, Miss Chester," she [said. "I] hope you will sing for us. [Lord Sev]erne is fond of music."

[B]efore her fair face had wiled [illegible] me I knew that. What [would she s]ay if she knew that I was [his lo]st love, that——? Ah, what [illegible] Was I mad? Mark was no[thing to] me. She talked to me kindly [for] a few minutes. I felt, rath[er] [illegible], that there was something [illegible] her, but I could not de[illegible]

[illegible] came in. My only [illegible] looking at Mark. I was [illegible] conscious of his pres[ence] [illegible] where he went; when he [illegible] other [illegible]. But my [illegible] him. Even when [illegible] him, I [illegible] after [illegible] piano, the [illegible] hands, [illegible] The first song I [illegible] Remember and For[illegible]

[illegible]

Lady Yorke's voice [illegible]. She was [illegible] the words [illegible] Gabriel's [illegible]

"I opened the leaves of a book [illegible]
The [illegible] cover [illegible]
As I [illegible]
A withered [illegible]
'Twas only [illegible]
Which [illegible]
Had placed 'twixt the pages [illegible] to rest.
At the time when my news of love was told
And memory swept, but no sad [illegible],
Swift flooded mine eyes with [illegible] tears
As the dry dim harebell glimmered past my feet,
Recalling an hour from the vanished years.

"Once more I was watching her deep-fringed eyes,
Bent over the Tasso upon her knee,
And the fair face blushing with sweet surprise
At the passionate pleading that broke from me.
Ah, Ruby, my darling, the small white hand
That gathered the harebell was never my own,
But faded and passed to the far-off land,
And I dreamt by the flickering [illegible] alone.
I gathered the flower and I closed the leaves,
And folded my hands in silent prayer
That the reaper [illegible], as he looks his sheaves, Might hasten the hour of our meeting there."

Was I dreaming, or did my own voice die away in a wail of pain—die in a long-drawn bitter sob?

Lady Yorke was near me, and I saw tears in her eyes.

"One more, Miss Chester," she said. "Your songs are so sad and so sweet, they take me out of this world. One more, if you are not too tired."

I had forgiven Mark not very long since; but the longing was upon me to make him feel, to pierce his heart with some little of the anguish which had pierced mine. Never mind what I suffered, if I could send my words flying like barbed arrows across the room.

I looked at him. The handsome profile stood out clearly and distinctly. He stood gazing though the long window at the night-sky. Ah, yes, I would sting him into feeling. And this was my song—

A DEAD LOVE.

"Down deep in my heart, in its last calm sleep,
A dear dead love lies buried deep:
I clasped it once in a long embrace,
And closed the eyes and veiled the face
I never again might see.
I breathed no word and I shed no tear,
But the onward years looked dark and drear,
And I knew, by the throbs of mortal pain,
That a sweetness had fled which never again
Would in life come back to me.

"And dreams of the past, like roses, still shed
Their fragrance around my cherished dead:
While tears that ever are falling unseen,
Like soft summer rain, keep its memory green
As the turf of the churchyard sod.
And, weeping and waiting, I pray and wait
That an angel may open the golden gate;
For I think that the love of long ago,
Though cold and dead to me here below,
Will be mine in the rest of God."

There was a little stir in the room when my song was finished. The last words rang through my brain—"Will be mine in the rest of God." I had touched him. All those other men and women were nothing to me—only shadows. They had no identity. I saw moving figures, I heard voices, but to me Mark was there alone.

I saw a quiver of pain pass over his face. I had made him feel. Then, so true, so weak a woman was I that I longed to cross the room and kiss the pain away. The odor of violets came to me; Lady Severne was standing by my side.

"How exquisitely you sing, Miss Chester! You make me long for things that I have quite forgotten. How differently we should all live if we could lead our lives over again."

The brilliant face softened; the hard metallic light had died from her eyes. I liked her better in that moment than I had before. Then I heard Lady Yorke asking Mark to sing. I remembered the rich cheery voice that had trolled out many love songs.

"You never refused to sing for me in Italy," said Lady Yorke; "why refuse here?"

"Lord Severne has a beautiful voice and a perfect ear," Lady Severne remarked, turning to me.

It comforted me just a little to remember that I had known that long before she did. An uncontrollable trembling came over me, for Mark stood by my side.

"Will you play Lord Severne's accompaniment?" said Lady Yorke.

"I would rather not," I replied.

"I will," said Lady Severne; "I like to play for him."

Was he thinking of her or thinking of me? Not of me. He could not sing such words to me now; for the song he had chosen was Sullivan's beautiful "My Dearest Heart."

"All the dreaming is broken through;
Both what is done and undone I rue,
Nothing is steadfast, nothing is true,
But your love for me, and my love for you,
My dearest, dearest heart!

"When the winds are loud, when the winds are low,
When the roses come, when the roses go,
One thought, one feeling, is all I know,
My dearest, dearest heart!

"The time is weary, the year is old,
And the light of the lily burns close to the mold;
The grave is cruel, the grave is cold,
But the other side is the city of gold,
My dearest heart, my dearest heart!"

The lights and the flowers, the fair faces and jewels, swam before me. It seemed to me that I was faint and ill from the odor of violets. I went from the piano to the other end of the room. I could sing no more that night. A tall jardiniere, filled with exquisite white orchids, which stood near afforded me shelter, and from behind the white fragrant flowers I could see and hear all that passed. Lady Yorke came to me there and said that I must rest.

"You musical people take so much out of yourselves," she said. "You throw your whole souls into your songs. Look at Lord Severne. Who is his 'dearest heart,' I wonder?"

"Lady Severne," I replied, quickly.

But Lady Yorke shook her head.

"That is a marriage I cannot understand," she said, slowly; "but I begin to see what Lord Severne's secret is."

I would have given worlds for courage to ask her to explain her words, but I did not dare to do so.

She left me, and I watched husband and wife. There was something between them—some shadow. She seemed to me half afraid of him. He regarded her closely. He was ill at ease. If she said much, if she laughed or attracted much attention, he reminded me of some one who had the care of a [illegible] child always on the point of breaking out into mischief. They never so looked at each other with eyes of trust or love. I had not watched them one half hour before I felt and saw [illegible] [illegible] was no [illegible].

[illegible]

The [illegible]

I did not [illegible]

I was neither [illegible] and she was very kind to me. I noticed that once or twice Lady Severne was absent. She remained at home while the others went, and, on those days I saw uneasiness on Lady Yorke's face, and misery in Mark's eyes. On those occasions Lady Severne remained secluded in her own room, and her maid in strict attendance upon her.

That maid, Martha Glyde by name, was a puzzle to me. Prim, reticent, never using two words where one would suffice; kind, but with never a smile upon her face; gentle, yet with a certain grim manner—to me she soon became a mystery. I thought it so strange that a young and beautiful woman like Lady Severne should prefer a grim, old-fashioned, elderly person like Martha Glyde to a young and pretty maid with a fresh face and quick, tripping footsteps. Moreover, I was not sure in my own mind that Lady Severne did like her. The woman always assumed a tone of authority that I thought most unbecoming.

As yet I suspected nothing. I had no tangible reason for any of the shadowy fears that surrounded me. I had watched Lady Severne with eyes and instincts sharpened by love and by jealousy, but I saw nothing wrong.

One morning—it was almost the last in May, and the June roses were beginning to bloom—a picnic was arranged. Most of the county families had been invited. Lady Yorke had resolved upon giving an entertainment that should not soon be forgotten. A first-rate military band was one of the chief attractions, and every one looked forward to the day with delight. It had been decided to visit the old Abbey of St. Ninian—a magnificent ruin only a few miles from Woodheaton, and a favorite place of resort.

I was with Lady Yorke in her boudoir half an hour before the time for starting; she was telling me about her letters, when Lord Severne came to the door. Seeing me there, he did not enter. Lady Yorke went to him, and he spoke in a low tone of voice to her. I could see that they were both angry and amazed. Then Lady Yorke spoke in a soothing voice, as if she were trying to comfort him. Shortly afterwards he went away, and she returned to the writing-table, with a crimson flush on her face, and an angry gleam in her eyes. I saw that her hands trembled so that she could not hold her pen. She flung it impatiently upon the table.

"You must write this for me, Miss Chester," she said, quickly; "I am vexed and grieved;" and she walked to the window, and stood for some minutes looking out.

I knew that it must be something about Mark's wife—my instinct told me so—but I could not solve the mystery. On the previous night she had been unusually gay and animated. Indeed, Lord Severne had hovered near her, as though he feared her high spirits might "carry her away." What then could be wrong this morning? His voice, when he spoke to Lady Yorke, was full of pain.

I was right; for, when the long line of carriages started with their loads of gay pleasure-seekers, Lady Severne was not there, and her husband's dark, handsome face was clouded and distressed. I was weak enough, as I watched him from afar off, to stretch out my hands to him with a longing cry—

"Oh, Mark, my dear, lost love, what has gone wrong with you?"

[To be continued.]

Ayre's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine for every one in the spring. Emigrants and travelers will find in it an effectual cure for the eruptions, boils, pimples, eczema, etc, that break out on the skin—the effect of disorder in the blood caused by sea-diet and life on board ship.

Fashion Notes.

Heavy repped ottoman velvet ribbons are much in use.

Fawn-colored silk stockings, worn with slippers of dark red kip or velvet, are the affectation of the moment.

The "Jersey" gloves are still the favorites both for evening and day wear, and the dull tan shades are the ones preferred.

Very pretty whisk-broom baskets are made in fisher's twine, then gilded and trimmed with a ruching of colored ribbons.

Lilies are out of favor. They are no longer in demand for the corsage, and are especially ordered for entertainments.

The elegant simplicity of street costumes becomes more noticeable each day, elaborations in dress garniture being left for home wear and full-dress occasions.

Velvet wraps are a luxury of the season [illegible] in long visites or dolman shape and lined with rich fur. The [illegible] are old silver, the colors rich, dark shades of green or wine, and the trimmings wide bands of ostrich feathers.

Embroidered gauzes and [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] I should think [illegible] doing with so much [illegible] plaster," asked the groceryman of the bad boy, as he came in and pulled off his boots by the stove and scraped out on the hearth a lot of snow that had collected as he walked through a drift, which melted and made a bad smell.

"Oh, I guess she is going to patch pa up so he will hold water. Pa's temper got him into the worst mess pa ever saw, last night. If that [illegible] was [illegible] they would hire pa and exhibit him as the tattooed man. I tell you I have got to be too old to be mauled as though I were a kid, and any man who attacks me from this out, wants to have made peace with the insurance companies, and know that his calling and election is sure, because I am a bad man, and don't you forget it." And the boy pulled on his boots and looked so cross, and desperate that the groceryman asked him if he wouldn't try a little new cider.

"Good Heavens," said the groceryman, as the boy swallowed the cider, and his face resumed its natural look, and the piratical frown disappeared with the cider. "You have not stabbed your father, have you. I have feared that one thing would bring on another with you and you would yet be hung."

"Naw, I haven't stabbed him. It was another cat that stabbed him. You see, pa wants me to do all the work around the house. The other day he bought a load of kindling wood, and told me to carry it into the basement. I have not been educated up to kindling wood and I didn't do it. When supper time came, and pa found that I had not carried in the kindling wood, he had a hot box, and he told me if that wood was not in when he came back from the lodge, that he would warm my jacket. Well, I tried to hire some one to carry it in, and got a man to promise to come in the morning and carry it in and take his pay in groceries, and I was going to buy the groceries here and have them charged to pa. But that wouldn't help me out that night. I knew when pa came home he would search for me. So I slept in the back hall on a cot. But I didn't want pa to have all his trouble for nothing, so I borrowed an old tom cat that my chum's old maiden aunt owns, and put the cat in my bed. I thought if pa came into my room after me, and found by his unkindness that I had turned into a tom cat, he would be sorry. That is the biggest cat you ever see, and the worst fighter in our ward. It isn't afraid of anything and can whip a Newfoundland dog quicker than you can put sand in a barrel of sugar. Well, about eleven o'clock I heard pa tumble over the kindling wood, and I knew by the remark he made, as the wood slid around under him, that there was going to be a cat fight real quick. He came up to ma's room and sounded ma as to whether Hennery had retired to his virtuous couch. Pa is awful sarcastic when he tries to be. I could hear him say, as he picked up a trunk strap, 'I guess I will go up to his room and watch the smile on his face as he dreams of angels. I yearn to press him to my aching bosom.' I thought to myself, mebbe you won't yearn so much directly. He come up stairs and I could hear him breathing. I looked out around the corner and could see he just had on his shirt and pants, and his suspenders hung down and his bald head shone like a calcium light just before it explodes. Pa went into my room and up to the bed, and I could hear him say 'Come out here and bring in that kindling wood, or I will start a fire on your base burner with this strap.' And then there was a yowling such as I never heard before, and pa said 'Helen Blazes' and the furniture in my room began to fall around and break. Oh, my! I think pa took the tomcat right by the neck, the way he does me, and that left all the cat's feet free to get in his work. By the way that cat squawled as though it was being choked, I know pa had him by the neck. I suppose that cat thought pa was a whole flock of Newfoundland dogs, and the cat had a record on dogs, and it kicked awful. Pa's shirt was no protection to him in a cat fight, and the cat walked around pa's stummick, and pa yelled 'police,' and 'fire' and 'turn on the hose,' and he started down stairs yelling murder, and he met ma coming up. I guess ma's night cap, or something, frightened the cat some more, [illegible] the night shirt with one hind foot, and [illegible]

[illegible] watch the man carry in the kindling wood. [Peck's Sun.

HOPE FOR DRUNKARDS.

My husband [illegible] he could not overcome until [illegible] Ginger Tonic took away [illegible] for stimulants, [illegible]

Courting by Telegraph.

The most bashful young man in Pennsylvania lives in Reading. He had courted a young woman in a mild sort of way for a long time, but never had been able to make known his intentions in an intelligible manner. During his leisure hours he taught the young woman telegraphy, and last week gained her consent to stretch a telegraph wire between her home and his boarding house.

Getting it Down Fine on Burglars

It is getting so that buaglars are seriously interfered with in the practice of their profession. A recent invention is connected with a safe, and is so arranged that when the burglar touches the safe an electric light is thrown upon the face of the burglar, and a prepared plate inside the safe door transfers the man's picture, so he can be identified. If this thing keeps on a poor burglar will have to send an agent to burgle for him, or he will get into trouble. The life of a burglar is becoming full of terrors.
[Albany Argus.

☞ No family dyes were ever so popular as the Diamond Dyes. They never fail. The Black is far superior to logwood. The other colors are brilliant.

Why He Didn't Have Any Luck.

"What luck did you hab las' night, parson?" asked Rev. Aminidab Bledsoe of Whangdoodle Baxter, two of the most popular colored clergymen in Austin, or in this section of Texas, for that matter.

"Didn't hab no luck at all. Dar was no chickens in reach. I found a lot ob shirts hangin' on a line, but de wedder was so inclement dat de shirts and udder close was froze to de line so tight I couldn't pull em off. Maybe de Lawd will temper de wind to de shorn lamb, and moderate de wedder, so I can pull dam close offen de line ef dey am still out do ter night."

"Why de debble didn't yer cut de line, close and all?"

"Brudder Whangdoodle, nex' time I'll be proud ter hab yer go along. You has studied de subject line upon line and precept upon precept." [Texas Siftings.

A TRUE FRIEND

to the sick and suffering, is Dr. Kauffman's great Medical work, finely illustrated. Send two three cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. and receive a free copy. 40w4

The Pillow Sham.

Of course, a pillow sham starched so stiff it will stand alone, is not a very nice thing for a man to jam his head against when he crawls into bed. But there is no question but what a woman can find a thousand and one reasons why the pillow sham should be perpetuated as a thing of beauty. The beautiful, clean, snowy, white pillow shams, looming up at the head of the bed, and standing alone, looks very pretty, and the lady of the house is greatly pleased with them. The men folks also find them very handy to keep the hair oil off the pillows, so their wives will not complain about their pillows being all greased over with oil. Men can escape all hard feelings liable to be engendered by neglecting to take off the shams when retiring, and decking out the lovely linen and fine lace, used in manufacturing the shams, with choice and fragrant hair oil. And when he gets tired of having his ears sawed off, by coming in contact with the stiff linen, and his cheek wore raw by the starch and lace, he can gently slide the shams to the foot of the bed and jam his feet against them to keep them from getting up in the night and walking all over him. Even the most energetic pillow sham will lose its energy and vital force after being stamped and crumpled at the foot of the bed under a man's feet. The pillow sham is not in any one's way to any great extent; the man can get along without them, so the pillow sham will not be obliged to go. [Peck's Sun.

At a recent railroad celebration, the following sentiment was given: "Our mothers—the only faithful tenders who never misplaced a switch."

"At last I know there is such a thing [as a] cold snap," remarked the burglar [illegible] the sheriff [illegible] snapped the steel [illegible] on [illegible]

[illegible] Severe! He who courts and goes away may live to court another day; but he who [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] WOMEN AND [illegible]

[illegible]

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 85

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phenix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 31 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 24 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

KIDNEY-WORT

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF

CONSTIPATION.

[illegible]

PILES.

[illegible]

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.

Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fult or Oswego Falls

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

[illegible]

General Jobbers in Wood.

[illegible]

[illegible]

Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition [illegible]
Board and Tuition (short week) [illegible]
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday March 26th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English, Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.,
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY
THE MOST
Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight-page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, Illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary, it also contains all the useful tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrases, etc., American Geographical Names with definitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc., Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries, Interest Tables, 4 to 10 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page, illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 62 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding, as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 12 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionary.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and enclose 31 green stamps. If not delighted, you can have your money back. Club of five, $2.75; ten, $5.

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all free for a paltry 62 cts. Send now. Address,

Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

[illegible]

[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
CENTRAL SQUARE	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fulton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y Ar	8.25	10.30	10.05	......
" N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	8.10	......	11.30	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.30	8.15	5.10	5.50
Winterton	5.08	7.55	4.40	5.10
Bloomingburgh	4.56	7.45	5.29	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.45	7.29	3.55	4.55
Summitville	4.40	7.30	3.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.08	......	4.30	3.55
Hurley	3.53	......	4.18	3.55
Liberty Falls	2.40	......	3.35	3.35
Liberty	2.35	......	3.37	3.50
Parksville	2.28	......	3.03	3.35
Livingston Manor	2.08	......	2.45	12.45
Rockland	2.03	......	2.35	12.50
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.30
East Branch	2.18	......	1.40	10.57
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.50	9.00
Walton	1.12	3.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.29	2.42	10.55	......
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	......
Guilford	11.36	12.56	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.50	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	7.55	5.55
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.46
Smyrna	10.35	10.50	7.38	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.24	5.05
Randallsville	10.08	10.05	7.15	4.45
Eaton	9.56	9.25	7.05	4.35
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.54	4.10
Munnsville	9.38	8.35	6.40	3.52
Community	9.17	7.55	6.28	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.18	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	5.94	12.40
North Bay	8.27	......	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	......	4.51	11.36
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	4.43	10.50
Constantia	8.07	......	4.33	10.27
Central Square	7.48	......	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	......	3.33	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	7.30
	a. m	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.39	7.20	2.36
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.20	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	4.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	8.36	4.05	11.15
DELHI	5.10	9.00	3.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.31	8.14
Mount Upton	5.46	8.02
Holmesville	6.15	7.39
So. New Berlin	6.26	7.26
NEW BERLIN	6.35	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.

J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't.
J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pass'g'r. Agt.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY SURGEON.

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Prayne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. ARCTIC 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.

Get the best, don't be humbugged by Imitations.

EXPEDITION

20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and [illegible] to [illegible], publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

Mention this paper.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED
An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. [illegible] better and have more style [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] They think enough has been expended on our Albany State House.

Now that Jay Gould controls all the telegraph wires of the country, with a few unimportant exceptions, Congress is again reviving the talk of a postal telegraph to be owned and operated exclusively by the government.

Early spring fruits and vegetables from the South are flowing into the New York markets and sell at extravagant prices. Cucumbers are 50 cents each, new potatoes $6 a barrel, strawberries $3.75 a quart and tomatoes 80 cents a quart.

A barber in Peekskill was shaving a customer Monday and leaving him half shaved in the chair, stepped into an adjoining room and cut his throat with a razor. That he was seized with a suicidal instead of a homicidal intent was lucky for the customer.

The tariff question has assumed a local phase with all Congressmen. They are only anxious to protect the industries in their and respective parishes, and that simply as a matter of policy. The debate on lumber and salt exhibited the free trade tendencies of several leading republicans.

Caroline Brown of Cincinnati, Ohio, has sued for a divorce from her husband alleging in her complaint that his affections have been alienated from her by his dog; that he loves the dog better than he does his wife and has purchased for his favorite a collar worth $1300. The woman is barking mad.

A coal mine disaster was reported from Braidwood, Illinois, Friday. About three hundred men were employed in the mines, sixty of whom were drowned or smothered in about five minutes. The disaster is attributed to the heavy rains and sudden thaw which loosened the earth before the mine could be properly protected.

Chinamen possess a rare aptness in picking up the habits of Americans with whom they associate. Loo Hing and Sing Fung are Philadelphia Celestials and conceived the idea of engaging in the unwholesome pastime of trying to knock one another out. At the end of the tenth round Loo Hing stepped to the front and said:—"Me catchy plentee!"

Of the pressing need of suitable legislation to protect the stomachs of the people against adulterated food there is no question at all. The best grocers admit it, and advocate legislative aid. Who knows how many of the mysterious and unheard of diseases of our modern times are due to the outrageous adulteration of the compounds which people are compelled to take into their stomachs for food?

Rerdell, one of the Star Route defendants, has turned States evidence and is making most unpleasant revelations—unpleasant to Dorsey, Brady and the rest of 'em. To turn informer seems to be fashionable just now in America as well as Ireland. Matters appear blue for the Star Route defendants. The 13th week of the trial begun yesterday and the government are not through with this side of the case yet.

Christian K. Ross, will never allow time or disappointed hope to weaken the chain of affection that binds him to his long-lost boy. Only a few days ago he wrote to a friend: "I am still dilligently making every effort to unravel the mystery connected with his continued absence. In our family the subject is often the theme of conversation. Charlie is often spoken of as living, and shall be, until we know the contrary."

The magnitude and importance of railroads in the United States may be seen when it is known that the 115,000 miles now in operation cost, with the equipments, more than $5,000,000. In 1881, 1,600,000 persons were employed in operating and constructing these roads, this number being almost equal to a seventh part of the male adult population of the United States. During the same year the roads paid out $450,000,000 for wages and material.

The coinage of the new five cent pieces has been temporarily suspended. On the reverse side of the coin is the simple inscription "V" and it is not designated whether it is dollars or cents. Several hundred have been gold plated and successfully passed for five dollar gold pieces. In view of the possibility of no more being coined speculators are selling them at [illegible] and nine cents apiece in New York, as souvenirs of a blundering treasury department.

Jay Gould says every one has his [illegible] Mr Vanderbilt has cultivated [illegible] fast horses because they [illegible] health. I too, [illegible] do not carry the [illegible]

[illegible] ing the [illegible] in this state, and was referred to the judiciary committee. The committee was [illegible] until the arguments of the prohibition people who appeared before it that they were about to report favorably upon it when Senator Grady claimed that the people who were not confined to cold water should be heard and to-morrow is set down for another hearing.

A suit for $10,000 damages is about to be begun by J. F. Riday of New York against one of the leading dry goods houses there. Mr. Riday alleges that he was poisoned by wearing a pair of stockings which he bought of the firm in question for $1. The stockings were of black woolen material, delicately striped with blue, yellow and brown. Mr. Riday says he wore these stockings but six hours, when both feet began to swell directly over the striped parts. He was attended by Dr. Farrington of the Astor House, who pronounced the symptoms those of blood poisoning. This was last July. The feet swelled, and he was laid up for five weeks. He says he has not yet entirely recovered.

An effort is being made in the Assembly to bring the whipping post back into use in this state as a means of punishing men convicted of cruelty toward women and children. It may look to a good many like taking a step backward to enact such a law but it will be more effective as a means of punishment than the present mode of dealing with such offenders. A section of the bill reads that whenever any male person shall hereafter be convicted of an offence consisting in or accompanied by a willful infliction of physical pain or violence upon the person of a female, or female infant of any age, or a male infant under fourteen years of age, the court wherein, or the magistrate before whom such conviction is had, shall, in addition to the punishment now prescribed by law for such offence, direct the infliction of corporal punishment upon such offender so convicted, in manner as hereinafter provided, specifying in the sentence the number of strokes or lashes, which shall not be less than fifteen nor exceed fifty, and also the time and place for the infliction therof. The progress of the bill will be carefully watched.

Needles and parts of all Sewing Machines at McCully & Co's.
39w2

New styles of note paper containing each day of the week at Ney's news room.

Rev A. U. Hutchins will, by special request, preach in Phoenix next Sunday in the Jefferson street church.

Mrs W. W. Scribner is a guest of Mrs Asel Carrier and will visit friends here before her return to Oswego.

E. E. Goodjon is offering better bargains in Boots and Shoes than has ever been offered in this town before.

For Sale Cheap—A good house and lot, No. 76 Utica street, in good repair. Inquire at this office, or on premises.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. VanBuren of Oswego entertained a large party of their friends Friday evening at Mr. Hastings' residence on Sixth street.

We have received the journal of the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors of 1882. It is neatly printed and is from R. J. Oliphant's printing office, Oswego.

Ezekiel Gardner for more than 50 years a resident of this town, died yesterday afternoon. Funeral will be Thursday at 11 a. m. at the Baptist church. Rev. Z. T. Griffin will officiate.

The standard library has just been received at Ney's news room.

Chauncey Baldwin of Volney was pleasantly surprised last Wednesday by a visit from a number of old friends who dropped in to remind him he had arrived at his 56th birthday.

Thursday, March 1, there will be an auction of the stock and farming utensils of the late Christmas Woodcock, at the homestead south of Fulton. Sale will commence at 11 o'clock A. M.

Horace N. Gilbert left Fulton Monday morning for Chicago, Ill., which city he intends making his home. He has been for some time superintending the erection of some buildings in that city and moves there that his entire attention may be devoted to the work.

Adelbert Althouse went into F. J. Van Valkenburgh's saloon Monday and commenced to destroy whatever came within his reach. He has been in the presence of Justice Piper and will be regulated Saturday. For assaulting John DeLong Monday Althouse was taxed $10.60.

Sandy Giroux takes great pleasure in exhibiting his poultry. He was in town Saturday with a [illegible] chicken [illegible]

[illegible]

Topographically speaking the direst damage by the deluge of last week was in what may be termed the salvage of Cincinnati, extending along the river front nearly eleven miles and from two hundred to five hundred yards in breadth. It was also in a belt from half a mile to a mile wide, running northward through the city from the mouth of Mill Creek to the northern corporation line, a distance of five miles. The population of the inundated district would not exceed sixty-five thousand or seventy thousand, including those whose premises were barely touched by the floods. Fifty thousand would cover the population who were injured in their domiciles, all the way up from being seriously damaged to being insulated and driven out. In the northern part of the city a working population of at least 15,000 have been sufferers by the water. In the southern district are all the great distilleries, a great tannery, a couple of rolling mills and a great number of planing mills and wood working factories, besides foundries and the like. Most of the dwellings inundated here are occupied by laborers and workmen in these distilleries and factories, and many of them have been drowned out and will need help. This district comprises a population of about four thousand, many of whom will require assistance for a month at least.

IN NEWPORT, KY.,

across the river from Cincinnati, there are not less than ten thousand people who will need help for from two to six weeks. Work in all the manufactories is suspended and it will be some time before employment will be given to the idle.

AT LOUISVILLE, KY.

The destruction by the flood was great and thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed. The situation at New Albany, Ind., and its immediate vicinity is deplorable and distressing beyond description. There is suffering and misery where over a thousand families in the city and three hundred in the suburbs and immediate vicinity have been driven from their homes and are now domiciled wherever covering for them can be found. A very large number have been thrown out of employment by the stoppage of all the factories in the city. So at this moment fully twelve thousand persons have been fed by the public charity.

RUINED FARMERS

On the river bottom west of the city 850 families are homeless and have lost all they had. These are among the best families and are the most reputable citizens of the county. They have lost houses, barns, grain forage, farm implements, in fact, everything, and are suddenly plunged from ordinary competence into absolute poverty, with nothing left to put in crops nor seed to plant. The city is caring for these as best she can, in addition to her own large list of of dependents.

UTTER DESOLATION.

It is simply impossible to exaggerate the calamity here. The scene in the city and the rich farming districts above refered to—two by ten miles in extent—is one of utter desolation and complete desertion. The people are nearly all mechanics and operatives in factories, and as all the factories but one are stopped, and it will take from six weeks to four months to repair damages.

A TERRIBLE STORY

A pathetic story comes from Lawrenceburg, Ind. Capt. David Braden of the Indiana State Legislative Relief committee says Jeffersonville, Ind. presents a picture of painful distress, but it is not a shadow of the terrible and tragic horror that exists at Lawrenceburg. In the Court House there, in the court room and five ante-chambers there are 341 souls in the last stages of sickness, starvation, misery, filth and disease. They, with but few exceptions are sleeping on the bare floor, are poorly and scantily clad. The atmosphere that they breathe is so foul that it almost unbearable. Already several deaths have resulted, and now there are twenty-five critical cases of pneumonia and scarlet fever. The terrors of the place baffle description and if the people are compelled to stay there much longer the horrors of the historical Black Hole of Calcutta will be totally eclipsed.

ALMOST SUBMERGED.

Not a square inch of dry ground is visible in the whole town and the nearest point of safety is two miles away. The foaming waters of the two mighty rivers, the Ohio and Miami, come rushing up together, forming terrific whirlpools of destruction that have uprooted and torn away hundreds of houses, and in every street the water, varying in depth from five to twenty-five feet, is running at a rate of from eight to ten miles an hour. In every house that is regarded as at all safe the people are huddled together in scores, and as one [illegible]

[illegible]

Palladium, Saturday—Mrs. Orrin Hall of Hinmansville died last night from hemorrhage from the nose. The case is reported as a most remarkable one and of exceedingly rare occurrence.

Farmers in Madison county are hiring their labor for next season at $25 to $28 per month, so says an exchange. If this includes board, farm wages in that country may be said to be exceptionally good.

The subject of abolishing whipping in the public schools is being discussed in Oswego. The board of education is divided on the question. A petition signed by the citizens generally has been presented to the board.

The salary of the Adams postmaster has been increased from $1,300 to $1,400. The Carthage postmaster receives $1,700; Camden, $1,600; Gouverneur, $1,700; Mexico, 1,400; Ogdensburg, $1,900; Pulaski, $1,500; Watertown, $3,800.

The firm of Kennedy, Spaulding & Co., prominent hardware merchants, of Syracuse, has been dissolved. Mr. Dennis Kennedy retires, but the firm name remains the same, the members of the firm being Bradford Kennedy, Ross R. Spaulding and Geo. H., son of Bradford Kennedy.

An infant child of Reuben Peck, of Bernhard's Bay, was found dead in bed by its mother the other morning. The body was afterwards examined by two physicians, who came to the conclusion that the child's death was caused by the mother falling upon it while in a fit, to which she was subject.

Sandy Creek News—The youngest member of the Oswego county bar is Mr. S. H. Wandell, of the firm of Smith & Wandell, of Pulaski. The largest memder of the bar is Hon. A. Wart' of this place. The most powerful in (facial expression) as well as in forensic ability is Hon. S. C. Huntington, of Pulaski.

Phœnix Register—John Bently met with an unpleasant experience Tuesday in the knife factory, where he is employed. His pants were caught by a revolving shaft, torn off his person and ground to shreds. It was noon when the accident occurred, and as his limited wardrobe was neither comfortable nor becoming on the street he had to do without his dinner, but he had the satisfaction of escaping serious injury.

A sad incident occured at Mr. Newton Bowering's at Pennellville last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Bowering drove to a neighbor's in the afternoon taking with them their little daugnter—Gracie, a child about 3 weeks old. Upon returning home Mrs. Bowering took off the child's wraps and found it was dead. It is supposed that it was suffocated as it was well wrapped to protect it from the wind. The funeral service was held Saturday by Rev. Mr. Woodrig.

New styles of note paper containing each day of the week at Ney's news room.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Bristol has the largest stock and gives the best prices on Pianos and Organs of any make. Goods sold on monthly payments. New Organs from forty-five dollars up.

NOW IS YOUR TIME.

One chance in China Tea Set every time you buy one dollar's worth of goods and pay cash for same at
D. C. SKADEN'S.

Immense stock of Carriages just received by Bristol. Now is your time to get posted on prices. Call and see.

A $20.00 Biblical Reward.

The publishers of Rutledges Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their Monthly for March, among which is the following:

We will give $20.00 in gold to the person telling us which is the longest verse in the Bible by March 10 1883. Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided.

The money will be forwarded to the winner March 15th 1883. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer, for which they will receive the April Monthly, in which the name and the address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published, and in which several more valuable rewards will be offered.

Address Rutledge Publishing Company, 533 Northampton St., Easton, Penna.

Sewing machine needles and all attachments at Singer Head-quarters No. 3 First Street.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

[illegible]

[illegible] will be given on Thursday evening March 1, to [illegible]

South Granby.

South Granby, Feb'y, 19—Edward Potter was surprised Saturday evening by a call from a number of friends to inform him it was his birthday. He entertained his guests royally and was a target for the pugilistic exercises of several of the ladies.

Mr. J. N. Peck and wife of Fulton have been making friends at their old home a pleasant visit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Highriter of Fulton were here last week guests of Capt. Chas Sweet.

The roads in this vicinity are very rough.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway. It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly. The most desirable building lots in Oswego Falls. For terms etc., inquire at Fulton of 25tf Henry E. Nichols.

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.
13 G. E. Squier, Prop.

STONEBURGH,
Asks Your Attention!

—:o:—

He has
Removed into His New
Store,—Corner of
Broadway and First St.
and has a New, Fresh and
Enlarged Stock of

General Merchandise.

Everything to be found in a

General Assortment Store.

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

paid for all kinds of country produce.
Drop in and see what we keep for sale.
In connection with his grocery a

Meat Market

is now open. Fresh meats cut and delivered anywhere in Fulton and Oswego Fal's.

STONEBURGH'S.

DIAMOND DYES.

FOR ANY COLOR.

THE Best Dyes Ever Made.

For SILK, WOOL, OR COTTON. DRESSES, COATS, SCARFS, HOODS, YARN, STOCKINGS, CARPET RAGS, RIBBONS, FEATHERS, or any fabric or fancy article easily and perfectly colored to any shade. Black, Brown, Green, Blue, Scarlet, Cardinal Red, Navy Blue, Seal Brown, Olive Green, Terra Cotta and 20 other best colors. Warranted Fast and Durable. Each package will color one to four lbs. of goods. If you have never used Dyes try these once. You will be delighted. Sold by druggists, or send us 10 cents and any color wanted sent post-paid. 24 colored samples and a set of fancy cards sent for a 3c. stamp.
WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

GOLD and SILVER PAINT.
Bronze Paint. Artists' Black.

For gilding Fancy Baskets, Frames, Lamps, Chandeliers, and for all kinds of ornamental work. Equal to any of the high priced kinds and only 10cts. a package, at the druggists, or post-paid from WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK to Hiram Spencer, Colborne, Ont. Canada; Nelson Spencer, VanWert, Decatur Co., Iowa; Newton Spencer, VanWert, Decatur Co., Iowa; King S. Gear, Oronogo, Jasper Co., Missouri; Dorliska Dixon, Kappa, Woodford Co., Illinois; Mary Allen, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Elijah Spencer, Oswego, New York; Emma Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; [illegible]

[illegible]

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO W. BELL,

The only Graduate in Oswego County.
Veterinary Surgeon of Oswego City,
(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)
has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the
LEWIS HOUSE BARN,
where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.
Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.
All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.
Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.
Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to.

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS
Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office,
Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.
Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:
OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store,
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.
Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address in Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174.
Those desiring can be waited on at their residence
Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cryuas street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.
Jan. 8.83 1 yr.

Real Estate! Real Estate!

—:o:—

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure,

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.
Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 6 on Block 64—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 55. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

To business men—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

House and lot on Second Street.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!
IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Houses and lots in Oswego Falls.
House on Third St. for $2,600.
Vacant lots on Second St., $500 & $600.
Houses on Second St. $900 to $2000.

Four hundred ($400 will buy a house on Buffalo St.,—on the same street another may be had for eight hundred, ($800). Another for $2,000.

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $900, on Division St. A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 2½ to 265 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power,
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones all you scour—
Buy a Valentine.

[illegible]

[illegible] quality never sold in Fulton less than 25 to [illegible]

20 Pieces figured Worsted Dress Goods 12½c. former prices 18 and 15c.

20 Pieces Gingham, 10c. former price 12½c.

Ladies' Gossimers $1.45.
Ladies Black Coney Fur Collars $1.00.

FAY'S NEW YORK CASH STORE,
FULTON, N. Y.
E. B. FAY.

WE OFFER AT
THE BAZAA

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62.
Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40.
Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.
CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.
J. J. WRIGHT.

McCarthy's
CHINA HALL.
OSWEGO, N. Y.

—:o:—

Great Bargains
—IN—
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
CHANDELIERS,
LAMPS,
SILVERWARE
For the next Thirty Days.

JAMES McCARTHY
OSWEGO, N. Y.

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE.

Four Houses, Oswego Falls, Pine St., between First and Second Streets.
Vacant Lot, Oswego Falls, Oak Street.
House and two lots, Fulton, Academy Street, known as "Capt. Taylor place."
Vacant Lot Fulton, 6th St., Block 512
" " " 5th " " 511
" " " Park Street known as L. R. Rector Lots
" " " B'k 84, on Acad'y St House and Lot " Cor. 84 and Cayuga streets, in which I reside.
All or any of the above parcels will be sold Cheap and on easy terms of payment.
[illegible] 1883. H. E. NICHOLS.

Boarding & Livery Stables

[illegible]

NFW ADVERTISEMETS.

FITS A leading London [illegible] in New York [illegible] EPILEPTIC FITS. [illegible] Address Dr. AB. MESEROLE, No. 96 John St., New York.

THE UNION TRUST CO
611 and 613 Chestnut Stree
Philadelphia, Pa.
CAPITAL $1,000. | Charter Perpetual.

Acts as Executor, Administrator, Assignee, Receiver, Guardian, Attorney, Agent, Trustee and Committee, alone or in connection with an individual appointee.
Takes charge of the property of absentees and non-residents, collects and remits income promptly, and discharges faithfully the duties of every fiduciary trust and agency known to the law.
Safes for Rent within Burglar proof Vaults of the most approved construction.
Wills kept in Fire & Burglar-proof Safes without charge. Plate, securities and all other valuables securely kept at a moderate annual charge for safe return or specific indemnity.
Car trusts and other approved securities for sale.
Interest allowed on Moneys deposited for definite periods, or upon ten days' notice.
W. C. PATTERSON, President,
HEISTER CLYMER, Vice-President,
MAHLON S. STOKES, Treasurer.
FRANCIS BACON, Sec'y and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

W C PATTERSON,
JAMES LONG,
ALFRED F GILLETT,
HON ALLISON WHITE,
DR C P TURNER,
S R PATTERSON,
JOHN T. MONROE,
JOS I KEEFE,
THOS R PATTON,
W J NEAD,
JAS S MARVIN,
DR D HAYES AGNEW,
H H HOUSTON,
JOHN G READING, Philadelphia, Pa.;
HON T F RANDOLPH, Morristown, N. J.;
HON T F BAYARD, Wilmington, Del;
DR GEO W REILLY, Harrisburg, Pa;
HON J S AFRICA, Huntingdon, Pa.
HON W CLYMER, Reading, Pa.
HENRY S ECKHART, Reading, Pa.
EDMUND S DOTY, Mifflintown, Pa.
HON R E MONAGHAN, West Chester, Pa.
GEN W W H DAVIS, Doylestown, Pa.
CHAS W. COOPER, Allentown, Pa.

SEYMOUR, HUNT & CO.
(established in 1878.)
3 Exchange Court, N. Y. 136 La Salle St. Chicago
BANKERS AND BROKERS
Special facilities for the purchase and sale of
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, PROVISIONS
Refer to Mechanics' National Bank, Chicago, German Security Bank, Louisville, Ky.
J. M. Seymour, Member New York Stock Exchange
J. A. Hunt, Member Chicago Board of Trade
A. L. Seymour.

FARMS ON JAMES RIVER, VA., [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] TERN R. R.

[illegible] DIVISION.

[illegible] as follows:

[illegible]

[illegible] the Night Express

[illegible] PHELPS, Supt.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. WHEELER, Fulton Times Office.
85tf

M. H. Brando is home for a few days.

One week from next Tuesday town meeting.

Charles W. Smith of this village was recently married in Topeka, Kansas.

New styles of note paper containing each day of the week at Ney's news room.

Extra copies of THE TIMES may always be found at Ney's post office news room.

It is thought the mammoth shops of the new West Shore railroad will be located in Syracuse.

Miss Jennie M. Connell of Gouverneur, N. Y., is a guest of her brother F. P. Connell, in Oswego Falls.

William J. Toppings, who is employed on the West Shore railroad at Little Falls is home for a few days.

THE TIMES is in receipt of late Washington papers from John E. Rafferty who is spending the winter in that city

A report that a man was drowned in the river opposite Taylor Bros knife factory Saturday, proves to have been unfounded.

LOST—A large black New Foundland Dog with a white breast, and light feet, answers to the name of "Nero." The finder will be liberally rewarded by returning him to the FULTON TIMES office.

A man who has been about town for some days peddling dusters was assaulted in the streets Monday evening and an attempt made to relieve him of his pack. He succeeded in escaping with a loss of one duster.

The Oswego Falls co-operative store is now under the management of Mr. T. J. McGuire and a look through the store gives an idea of the magnitude of the business done. Everything is in excellent condition and the store enjoys a good trade.

Mr. Gordon D. Ball will remove from Fulton April 1st, to the Parker farm one mile south of Volney Centre. Mr. Ball has resided in the village for many years and has proved a most excellent citizen. He may return to town again at an early day.

On Thursday afternoon, February 15th at the residence of M. V. Connell, Mr. John G. Haviland of West Hoosick, N. Y., was united in marriage to Miss Ella L. Sanders, of Hannibal, N. Y., Rev. Dr. Bruce performing the ceremony. Mr. Haviland is a brother of Dr. Haviland of this village.

Charles W. Pratt opened a stock and brokerage office in Oswego Monday. He has direct communication with New York and Chicago, and market reports are received hourly. A telephone has also been placed in the office by which the firm is in communication with Fulton offices.

Joseph Savalia was tried in the Court of Sessions in Pulaski last week for stealing a watch in Oswego, and sentenced to five years imprisonment at hard labor in Auburn prison. Savalia is well known in Fulton where he has been employed at various times in barber shops.

Peter Youngs, tried at the same time for deadly assault upon John Althouse, in Fulton on the 6th of November last, was found guilty and sentenced to one year's confinement in the Onondaga penitentiary. J. J. Lamoree appeared for Youngs.

Charles C. Harrison and Miss Mary Toppings will be united in marriage this evening at the residence of the lady's parents on Highland street. The contracting couple are well known in Fulton and enter the sea of matrimonial life with the heartiest wishes of myriad friends. Mr. Harrison is an old [illegible] THE TIMES, which journal [illegible] him and his [illegible] their pathway [illegible] with the pleasures [illegible]. They will return [illegible] Monday when they [illegible] in Buffalo [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Rev. Geo. [illegible] him. [illegible] experienced [illegible]

Mr. Lyons, a man [illegible] about thirty-two [illegible], his wife and [illegible] accompanying him to Fulton and [illegible].

Tuesday morning George H. Stanley, sheriff of Chenango county, arrived in Fulton by the early morning train and made known his business and gave a warrant to officer E. A. Jones to serve upon Mr. Lyons charging him with forgery—in attaching his father-in-law's name to a note for $105. Officer Jones started for the north end of the village to serve the warrant and met Mr. Lyons on Erie street between Third and Fourth streets and approached him:

"Good morning; is this Mr. Lyons?"

"Yes, sir," was the quick response.

"You're the man I'm after," said the officer.

"All right," nervously responded Mr. Lyons. "I am ready to go with you. I know what you want and I might as well hold up my head." The prisoner drew a long sigh and concluded: "Well, the Lord will provide." He accompanied the officer without trouble to the Lewis House where he was surrendered to the sheriff.

The sheriff was not disposed to be very communicative on the subject and Mr Lyons asserted that it was a legitimate transaction and his arrest was the result of a misunderstanding. His wife and four children are in Fulton. During Mr Lyons' stay in Fulton he comported himself in a gentlemanly manner and those with whom he has associated believe him to be an honorable man.

He will have abundant opportunity to set himself right before the public if he is innocent and people should be charitable enough to withhold judgment in this case until the facts are known.

The meetings at the Ontario street school house will be conducted until further notice.

A Boy's Idea of Tobacco.

BY EDWIN E. RANDALL.

I hate a little boy who smokes a cigar,
His hands are dirty and as black as tar;
He is on the streets from morning till night,
If he sees a good boy he will get in a fight.
A mouthful of tobacco, his lips all juice,
His teeth all yellow, he has no excuse;
He spends all his money for foolish ideas
When, if he tried, his mother could please.
His clothes are all ragged, his shoes are all torn
He looks downhearted, his countenance is worn.
Cider is bad and wine is rough,
Whisky is poison, also tobacco and snuff.
I have told you much, I have told you the best,
If you have been smoking you know the rest;
No matter who says so, from near or far,
A king or a queen, don't smoke a cigar,
And I hope all the speakers that come this way
Will give you advice as I have done to day.

—The above poem was written off-hand by Master Edwin T. Randall, a pupil in A Primary Department Fulton Union School. He was given the subject "Tobacco," and composed the above with remarkable speed. It bespeaks poetical talent in a marked degree.

Amusement and Athletic Club.

The Fulton Amusement and Athletic Club is now fully organized and new members are being enrolled at every meeting. A reading room has also been opened. Members are able to find a diversity of recreation, and new features are being constantly added. Following are the officers, and charter members:

President—Dr. W. A. Hall; Vice-President, H. E. Nichols; Secretary, S. E. Lincoln; Treasurer, C. R. Nichols.

TRUSTEES.

Three years—S. B. Mead, F. A. Gage, J. H. Case.

Two years—H. C. Gardner, N. H. Gilbert, Slater Laycock.

One year—E. W. Ross, J. T. Pratt, John Bacchus, S. E. Lincoln.

FINANCE COMMITTEE—F. A. Emerick, J. F. Willard, S. W. Rose

WARDENS—E. M. DeRusha, C. E. Sackett, T. A. Thayer, James Carr.

The following are the charter members:

F A Gage,
Dr W A Hall,
J T Pratt,
John Bacchus,
N H Gilbert,
C R Willard,
W J Boomer,
J F Herrick,
H Bacchus,
James Carr,
E M DeRusha,
S B Mead,
J F Willard,
H C Gardner,
James A Hamblin,
S E Lincoln,
G W Morton,
C D Hubbard,
I C Curtis,
T D Lewis
Solon F. Case,
G S Piper,
G V Emens,
A P Tucker,
J B Sheridan,
Herbert L Lake,
Richard Carr,
J T Sheridan,
W J Watson,
C E Sackett,
Wm C Crumbie,
E V Lathrop,
F A Emerick,
Jeff Bailey,
E W Ross,
Slater Laycock,
Jno H Case,
M A Stewart,
E F Blanchard,
H E Nichols,
S W Rose,
E E Johnson,
G H Denike,
R E Phillips,
J H Woodin,
T A Thayer,
A Emerick,
J J Wright,
Geo Kellogg,
Arvin Rice,
C R Nichols,
C C Benedict.

Edward P. Loomis and Thomas A. Watson of New York have brought an action in the United States court against the tug M. J. Cummings to recover $5,100 damages resulting from the loss of a cargo of 1,315 barrels of apples, [illegible] of onions and 734 barrels of [illegible]. On the Fourth day of November [illegible] M. J. Cummings [illegible]

[illegible] a guest of [illegible] Peck.

The water in the Oswego [illegible] rising and an overflow of the flats would not be impossible.

Joseph [illegible] not [illegible] Fulton as reported, but will remain in the employ of [illegible] Brothers.

Pathmasters are requested to return their road warrants to the Town Clerk at once. Office in FULTON TIMES office.

E. D. [illegible] has returned from his trip through the south and expresses himself as well pleased with the journey.

Mrs. Edwyn Anthony, nee Genivieve Case, of New York, recently presented her husband with a pretty and plump ten pound girl.

Last week George Wood shipped three car loads of potatoes containing twenty-three hundred bushels. He is now paying 65 and 70 cents per bushel.

The advanced academic examination in Fulton Union School will begin on Wednesday, Feb. 28th, and continue the remainder of the school week.

E. A. Henderson, son of Mr. O. Henderson of this village, is secretary of the Senate of the territory of Dakota. He makes his headquarters at the capital, Yankton.

The consolidation of the Mutual and Western Union Telegraph companies in no way affects the Northern Mutual Union Co., who have an office in this village in Robinson & Langdon's grocery store.

Regents' preliminary examination of winter term, 1883, Fulton Union School, will be held Thursday and Friday, March 1st and 2d. Members of schools in adjoining districts can enter these examinations.

Levi Montague was placed in the cooler Saturday night for drunkenness. He was brought before Justice Piper Monday morning and was fined $10.00 or sixty days in jail. Paid. Levi says some scalawag drugged him.

The annual report of the South Granby cheese factory shows that 1,016,846 pounds of milk were received, out of which were manufactued 95,342 pounds of cheese, or one pound of cheese to every 10.66 pounds of milk. The average price received for the cheese was $10.97 per hundred.

A literary circle was held in the Hawks school house in the eastern part of the town last Friday evening. The attendance was large and the exercises satisfactory and entertaining. Miss V. Taft, daughter of Mr Ovid V. Taft, read a poem which was finely executed. One of the pleasing features of the evening was the singing of songs by the DePew brothers, colored.

Milton Craines was arrested Monday upon complaint of C. C. Hewes for keeping his barber shop open on Sunday and shaving people. He was arraigned before Justice Piper, pleaded guilty, and was fined $1. Some Knight of the Razor complained of Mr Hewes last fall and he was notified to keep his place closed on Sundays. About one year ago Justice Piper notified Fulton barbers to keep their shops closed on Sundays or he would prosecute them. The law has been generally observed.

A delegation form the Fulton Lyceum and from Post Schenck met in the latters rooms Monday evening in joint debate on the question:—Resolved, "That military men make the best rulers." Each disputant was allowed ten minutes in which to present his views. The Post grappled with the affirmative side with M. F. Stephens as leading disputant ably seconded by Captain E. S. Cook, W. J. Pentelow, H. B. Rorke, Geo Ward and A. Bennett. The leading disputant on the negative side was Fred Bennett whose aids responded so admirably that the chairman and judge, Mr A. Rice, decided that the Lyceum had made the best argument and consequently it was agreed that military men did not make the best rulers. The Lyceum was represented by Francis E. Bacon, Henry E. Nichols, E. R. Redhead, Dr. W. L. Woodbury, Slater Laycock, one of the Lyceum members was absent and Mr E. R. Redhead occupied his time.

For Sale.

I offer for sale my residence on Rochester Street. In perfect repair.

M. H. BRANDO.

Go to your druggist for Mrs. Freeman's New National Dyes. For brightness and durability of color, are unequaled. Color from 2 to 5 pounds. Directions in English and German. Price 15 cents.

FOR SALE.—The House and lot [illegible] and Third [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Oswego [illegible] says:

A clever joke was perpetrated on the politicians Thursday evening by William [illegible] and William Corbett. It had been announced that James Shanahan, Superintendent of Public Works, was to make Fulton a visit before appointing a superintendent for this section of the canal. Every train was watched by those who were not apprised of the gentleman's location. Thursday evening Evert L. Yates and wife came from Canajoharie to visit their son who boards at the Clark house. Mr. Yates is a venerable, fine looking gentleman and was noticed by several, among whom were many who posted him as Mr. Shanahan. To confirm the suspicion Mr. Corbett wrote upon the register "James Shanahan, Tribes Hill," and it was soon noised about town that "Shanahan is here!" Candidates and their friends flocked to the Clark house to interview the gentleman and advise him in the matter of local appointments. The landlord said that Mr. Shanahan was tired and would not be "at home" to anyone until 7 o'clock the next morning. "Zeke" Parker of Granby insisted upon going to his room and singing a song and presenting a petition recommending him for the sidecut lock. Fred Bennett of the Patriot was introduced to a mackerel drummer from New York, and supposed he was interviewing Mr. Shanahan, and in fact it was a general hoax all around.

Go to Skaden's for your coffee and get the best there is in Fulton.

Washington's Birthday.

To-morrow being Washington's birthday, a legal holiday, the banks and public schools will be closed and the post-office will be open from 7:30 to 10 o'clock a. m., and from 4 to 5:30 p. m.

A Dime Social.

A dime social will be held at the M. E. church this evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Supper will be furnished for one dime from 6 to 9:30 o'clock. The public generally are invited to drop in and take supper.

Attention Comrades!

All members of Post Daniel F. Schenck G. A. R., are requested to meet at Perine & Wright's office Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, prompt. Business of importance is to be transacted.

By Order
W. J. PENTELOW,
Commander.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Feb. 21, 1883.

Edward J. Cady, Miss Maud Carrington, Peter C. DeWolf, George Nicholas, Mr. Caross, Miss M. Saleman.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

Henry Wells, Walesville, N. Y., Miss Addie Lappin, Tamworth, Ont.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

G. A. R. Lecture.

Rev. I. M. Foster, chaplain-in-chief of the Grand Army of the United States, one of the most interesting orators in the country will deliver a lecture in Nichols hall, Tuesday evening, February 27th, 1883. His subject is "American Citizenship" a theme he handles with rare skill. The proceeds of the lecture is to be devoted to the monument fund. Tickets are only 25 cents. A diagram of the hall may be seen at Nichol's jewelry store where tickets have been placed on sale.

Remember that you can buy one garment of the N. Y. clothing company as cheap as if you bought one hundred. All goods not satisfactory taken back and money refunded. 31 First street, Fulton, N. Y. 39

A Rare Opportunity.

There is such a vast amount of real estate put upon the market for sale that prices have gone way down and a village home or a farm may be bought for almost anything. It is a grand chance for capitalists for there are a dozen places in town that will pay 8 per cent. on their purchase price. Now is the time to buy; for as soon as the glut of the market is over and owners dispose of surplus property the conditions will change; the buyers will be many and the sellers few; and property will rise in value. Buy while you may. For information call at 10 First street.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.—The house and lot situated on Second street occupied by R. N. Hoff; also house and lot on Rochester street. Terms easy. Apply to P. F. Conger for further information.

☞ Sewing machines to rent at [illegible] McCULLY & Co.

[illegible]

BEST YELLOW CEDAR!

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Superintendent [illegible] A. [illegible]

Fred H. [illegible], of Chicago, is visiting friends in this section. He will return to his home Saturday.

Mrs. John [illegible] of this village will open a fancy goods and millinery store in Oswego Falls about April 1st.

The next term at Falley Seminary begins Monday, March 26, 1883. Thorough instruction in all branches.

Henry [illegible] has sold his residence on Third street between Oneida and Seneca streets, to Walter Crandall for $1000.

G. A. Bartch, taxidermist, No. 18 Rochester street, is doing some first class work and is ready to receive orders at any time.

Lieutenant Danenhower who lectured in Fulton, Dec. 12, will deliver the same lecture in Oswego, March 16, under the auspices of Oswegatchie Lodge, of Odd Fellows.

Morgan VanBuren will remove to Oswego in the spring in order to be near his business. He has rented his farm to a gentleman named Kenyon from Oswego.

Don't forget the G. A. R. lecture in Nichols Hall next Tuesday evening. Tickets 25 cents, which includes a reserved seat. Diagram and tickets at Nichols' jewelry store.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. have been instructed to send free all messages regarding drafts and anything pertaining to the welfare of the sufferers by water in the Ohio Valley.

Mrs Wallace Terpenning, widow, died at her home south of Bowens Corners, Saturday. Funeral was held yesterday at 1 o'clock, p. m. from her late home conducted by Rev. A. U. Hutchins.

Carrie M. Wellwood, infant daughter of Jay and May Wellwood, died Sunday in Granby. Funeral was held Monday at 2 p. m. at school house at 16th in Volney and was interred in cemetery at that place.

The result of the regents' examination of last term in Fulton Union School has just been learned and the showing is a most creditable one to the institution. Fifty-three papers in the academic department were accepted and every one of the preliminary papers.

—The warrant for the collection of taxes in this town has been renewed and Collector Bailey has renewed his bond with the following securities: H. S. Gardner, P. F. Conger, Chas. M. Lee, J. W. Pratt, George M. Case, A. Howe, H. W. Smith, N. E. Burdick and Jefferson Bailey.

George J. Emeny is making preparations to open a brick yard in Oswego Falls as soon as the weather permits It will be located north of the D. L. & W. depot and opposite Fletchers yard. He intends to have his works of sufficient capacity to manufacture from ten to fifteen thousand per day.

Mr. A. K. Hill, who has resided in the town of Volney for fifty years has never missed but one election without voting. He is now past eighty years of age and is determined to exercise the right of suffrage for the remainder of his days. He is the father of twelve children, who, with the exception of one, reside within a two hours ride of his home.

A WARNING TO FARMERS!

Farmers coming to Fulton before buying a dollars worth of Clothing be sure you read the sign carefully New York Clothing Company, as some dealers have been trying to palm off inferior goods on our name and merit. Remember the place, 31 First St., in the Stevens confectionery store. All goods not satisfactory taken back and money refunded.

New York Clothing Co.
39 WM. SWEENEY, Manager.

BARGAINS.

BARGAINS.

Last Week for Bargains in Fulton.

My Branch Store in Fulton will be closed

Saturday, Feb'y 24th, and I will then be found at my my old old stand, 201 west 1st street, Oswego, N. Y.

Robert Gordon.

[illegible] TINENTAL,

[illegible]

[illegible] hells down there and had them [illegible] they wanted me to let up on 'em, but I never will let up on them. If I can live down the past, who can't?"

Thus spoke Jerry McAuley of the famous Cremorne Mission, on Sunday evening last. This mission was started two years ago and is now in a most flourishing condition. It is on 32d St., near Broadway, and is like a rose planted between two thorns; for on one side is a den where the sons of men bow down to a deadly enslaver—opium; and the following advertisement will show the use the building on the other side is put to:

CREMORNE GARDEN, 104 WEST 32D ST.,
Junction of Broadway and 6th ave. New York.
75 PRETTY BARMAIDS EVERY EVENING.
THE BON TON RESORT. ADMISSION FREE.

McAuley's builing is two storied, and the ground floor is used as a general meeting room. It is nicely decorated with neutral tints and is lighted througout with electric lights and has one extra light out over the sidewalk a la Cremorne garden. The room has a seating capacity of three hundred and the stage about twenty-five. A Weber piano occupies one side of the stage and is presided over by a competent musician. The singing is done by the congregation and to say that it is done well would not suffice. Meetings are held every night and always opened with songs, followed by a short prayer and then Jerry speaks for a few minutes. The rest of the time is occupied with the experiences of converts. After the first service is over a short meeting is held to allow seekers to gain admission to the chapel. Nearly every grade of society is represented among those who are there as seekers; respectable men and women, and next to them is a poor outcast with ragged clothes. On the other side a man whose language evidenced that he was but had sunk very low in the scale of humanity. Mr. McAuley is a tall, slight person and his face shows the effects of exposure. He is apparently thirty-five years of age and is not what might be called a handsome man. He speaks in a rapid, off-hand style, with a rich, Irish brogue, but his words always appeal directly to the better feelings of mankind. He will stand with one hand in his pocket and vividly describing his past career, will compare it with his present condition and go on to state how the very lowest can bring themselves back to respectability again. To show how earnest he is, I will quote from one of his evening talks. He said and asked me if I believed that fish story in the Bible, about Jonah being swallowed by the whale. 'Why not?' said I. 'Of course I believe it. I'd believe if it said that Jonah swallowed the whale.'" He is ably assisted by his wife and the two together do a great deal of work outside of the mission. The Cremorne Mission is the outgrowth of one started at 316 Water street, and this is where he fought the gin mills. The Water street chapel is still in operation and is under McAuley's care. Both are supported by voluntary contributions, and a paper, Perpetual Revival, is published in behalf of both missions. The experiences I heard in the Cremorne chapel, I will try to write some other time, for they were so varied and strange I am sure they will interest your many readers.

ONCE A MAN OF REFINEMENT

"A MAN CAME TO ME ONCE

When a reformed man or woman is in a physical condition, work is immediately procured for him or her; otherwise they are taken to the hospital, or taken care of by private means. Men who are thus seldom go back on their benefactors, and are usually the means of elevating some other poor wretch. Some very queer marriages are often celebrated at the mission and are often surrounded with a great deal of romance. And right here I might relate a little incident that happened at the chapel this past fall. A young woman was brought in from Bleeker street, and it was plainly seen that she was in a dying condition. Everything was done for her comfort both bodily and spiritually and before she died, she said that she had quick consumption; also that her parents were respectable people living up town. She had wrecked her own life and was disowned by her family. She had lived in the lowest places in New York until signs of sickness began to show themselves, and then she was refused even a place to die. She was really kicked into the street and had it not been for friends from McAuley's, she would have died in the gutter and with the unknown dead been buried in the pauper cemetery. Her funeral at the mission was one of the most impressive ever witnessed there and was the means of leading a great many into a better life. Jerry McAuley's mission is surely one of the institutions of the city, and every one here wishes it a long life.

PLACED IN POSITIONS OF TRUST

[illegible]

[illegible]

In a deranged condition of the kidneys, the Uric Acid developed in the formation of the urine, does not separate from it, but becomes neutralized and is evacuated.

These coagulated particles of corrupt matter, may make their appearence under the skin, producing pustules, scaly eruptions, or running sores.

But they more frequently locate about a nerve, and in this case the patient often suffers intense pain. This is called

NEURALGIA

Nature now does all she can to aid this circulation, by sending blood in abundance to drench out, or dislodge, if possible, this urate of lime, and the parts become red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called

ACUTE RHEUMATISM,

If nature fails to wash out these acrimonous atoms, she withdraws the undue supply of the blood from the parts, but continues to perform the functions of circulation as best she can, but the passage of blood therough the affected channels continues painful. This is called

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM,

and is pronounced incurable by nearly all our best pratictioners, but we have shown that the Rheumatic Syrup has aad will dissolve or dislodge and remove the annoying and dangerous matter and cure the sufferer.

THE CURE.

Anything which will dislodge these corrupt particles, dissolve and expel them from the system and purify the blood, will give give permanent relief.

It is the mission of the Rheumatic Syrup not only to dissolve and remove the accumulation of these particles in the blood, but to so cleanse and purify it that there can be no possibility of the return of this painful and dangerous disease.

Rheumatic Syrup goes to the very seat, or root of the disease, doing its work of cleansing or purifying from the first dose, giving healthy action to the liver and kidneys, supplying the system with pure blood and giving new life and vigor to the sufferer.

In a word Rheumatic Syrup does what no other remedy has been able to do, and it is daily curing those who years ago had given up all hope of being cured, having tried all the available so-called remedies recommended for this most dreaded disease.

HOPE ON

Although you may have been a sufferer for years, with Cronic or Acute Rheumatism or Neuralgia, and become discouraged, and given up all hope of recovery after trying all of the so-called remedies with no avail, Cheer up; renew your hope; for by the persistent use of Rheumatic Syrup you can be cured, and the use of your hands and limbs will be restored by the circulation of pure and warm blood through the veins, and you will bless the day you first heard of Rheumatic Syrup.

If you have a torpid liver, or if you are troubled with kidney affections or or have symptoms of Brights disease, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Dyspepsia, Gout, or any of the diseases which arise from an enfeebled condition of the system suffer no longer, for Rheumatic Syrup cleanses the blood of all its impurities and is a positive cure for the above named diseases and the success it has met with has made it the wondor of the age.

Rheumatic Syrup is put up in quart bottles, price one dollar per bottle.

No family should be without it.

Ask your druggist for it. If he has not got it request him to send for it, and give it a thorough trial, and become convinced that what we have said about it is true.

We earnestly request that all physicians give this remedy a careful examination, for we are confident that after so doing, they will be as free to recommend it, as are those who have been already cured by its use.

Many physicians of both schools are already using and recommending its use, having been convinced of its superior merits.

Office of Rheumatic Syrup Co., No 1 Plymouth avenue, Rochester. Send for circular.

Read the following testimonials from a few of the patients who have used and and been cured by the use of the Rheumatic Syrup of diseases so extraordinary that they desire to have the particulars known for the benefit of others who may be similarly afflicted:

CLIFTON SPRINGS, N. Y. July 13, 1882.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

Gents—I make the following statement for the benefit of those who suffer with that terrible disease—rheumatism. I have been troubled more or less for twelve years, and at times could hardly use my arms. It was in my arms and shoulders principally. I took but one bottle of your Syrup and it stopped the pain and took the soreness out, so I am feeling well I cheerfully recommend your Syrup to any suffering from rheumatism.

G. W. WARFIELD.

NOT A HUMBUG.

Colonel Richard Fordham of Lyons, N. Y. says that by the use of a few bottles of the Rheumatic Syrup he was completely cured of a very severe attack of rheumatism, which confined him to his room for months. He also says that he had no faith in patent medicines, but has changed his mind since using Rheumatic Syrup.

A PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD.

SAVANNAH, March 3, 1882.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

Gents—I have been a great sufferer [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] The Rheumatic Syrup is truly a great blood purifier and a sure cure for rheumatism, for I have improved every day since I commenced its use until now I am a well man. NELSON [illegible].

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

[illegible], N. Y. Aug. 19, 1882.

GENTS—For the benefit of those who may be suffering from rheumatism I make the following statement in relation to your Rheumatic Syrup. I had been suffering severely for six weeks with rheumatism all through my whole body. Spent many sleepless nights, for I could not turn my self in bed, nor raise my hands to my head. Wrists were swollen I could not bend without causing terrible pain, when I was persuaded by a friend to try your Rheumatic Syrup. Have been taking it three weeks, and find myself able to be up and around the house, and improving so rapidly that I feel as if I could safely recommend it to all those so afflicted.

Yours Respectfully,
MISS A. E. GOODELL.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

SOUTH BUTLER, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN—I desire to say a few words in praise of your Rheumatic Syrup, which has done so much for me in the last few weeks. In December last I had a very severe attack of rheumatism or kidney affection, which completely deprived me of the use of my limbs. Suffered, as only those who have had this terrible disease can realize, for nearly three months, using nearly every preparation recommended. These, with the aid of our best physicians, seemed to be of no avail, and I grew worse and worse and had given up all hope of recovery, when I learned that an acquaintance of mine who had been similarly afflicted had been entirely cured by the use of the Rheumatic Syrup, and I was prevailed upon to try it. I confess I had little or no faith in it, having tried so many remedies with no beneficial results, but I am happy to say that the rheumatic Syrup is all—yes more than you claim for it. All pain had left me, and I was able to walk around the house before I had used three bottles, and to-day I am as well as ever and able to do my work. I cannot say enough in its praise.

MRS ROBERT COLE.

WOLCOTT, April, 5, 1883.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

GENTS—Having been afflicted with rheumatism over eight months in my left hip, at times so I couldn't get a night's rest, or even lie on that side on account of such pain running through my hip and down my limb, the Rheumatic Syrup was reccommended. After taking one bottle the pain left me, and I could lie on that side as well as ever. I have felt no symptoms of rheumatism since. I think as a rheumatic cure it has no equal.

A. B THACKER, Merchant.

FURNACE VILLAGE, Wayne Co, Mar. 3, '83

ANOTHER CASE OF KIDNEY DISEASE CURED BY RHEUMATIC SYRUP:

GENTS—Fifteen years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, which settled my back and hips, and much of the time for the last five years I have been unable to turn in bed or feed myself. I have tried many remedies and two years ago I consulted one of the most celebrated physicians in the State, who pronounced it kidney disease, but I grew worse all the time during his treatment. I heard your Rheumatic Syrup highly recommended and I tried it and before I had used two bottles all pain had left me, and to-day I can get about and am able to attend to my business, and am improving every day. I am confident that the Rheumatic Syrup, if taken as directed, will cure any case of rheumatism or kidney disease.

I am most respectfully yours,
GARRETT AMMERMAN,
Overseer of the Poor.

A BAD CASE OF SCROFULA CURED.

PORT BYRON, Feb. 20, 1882

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

I had been doctoring for three or four years, with different physicians, for scrofula, as some called it but found no relief till I commenced taking your Syrup. After taking it a short timne to my surprise it began to help me. Contineing its use a few weeks I found myself as well as ever. As a blood purifier, I think it has no equal.

LES WM STRANG.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Nov 16, 1882.

Gentlemen—I have taken but two bottles of your Rheumatic Syrup, but have received more benefit form it than from any and all other remedies I have tried, and I confidently believe I should now have been entirely free from rheumatic symptoms had I not exposed myself to the night air and taken cold. I have improved every day since I first began its use and am confident that there is no case of rheumatism that the Rheumatic Syrup will not cure, if the patient will adhere closely to directions for its use, and use proper care about exposing themselves. Yours Truly,

FRANK R. [illegible].
With Burke, FitzSimons, Hone, & Co.

A BAD CASE OF KIDNEY TROUBLES CURED.

AUBURN, CAYUGA CO N. Y, Sept 29, '82

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

I should have written you before in regard to the Rheumatic Syrup which you sent me, but have been waiting to see whether the result was permanent. I can confidentially say that it has had a very gratifying effect on my wife, relieving her of much pain within three days after taking it. I also gave one bottle of the Syrup to a friend, which has the same effect as on my wife. My wife has suffered great pain from rheumatism and kidney [illegible] for years, and at times could [illegible] move. She has tried a great many [illegible] recommended [illegible] is the only remedy that gave her [illegible] relief. Yours,

[illegible]

For Sale.

The very valuable property [illegible]

[illegible] READING MATTER [illegible]

[illegible] NEW YORK MERCURY [illegible]

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 6 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

[illegible] The Sun during the year [illegible] than ever before since it was first [illegible] other newspaper published on this [illegible] has been bought and read in any [illegible] women.

[illegible] that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving [illegible] the news of the busiest world at present [illegible] in space.

[illegible] people have learned that in its remarks [illegible] persons and affairs The Sun makes a [illegible] of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol. 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

[illegible] special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

[illegible] the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone [illegible]

The Weekly Herald.

[illegible] in the world, as it is [illegible]. Every week is given a faithful report [illegible]

Political News

[illegible]

[illegible] Department

[illegible]

[illegible] Hemorrhages [illegible] Nose, or from any [illegible] controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the [illegible] promptly, it is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

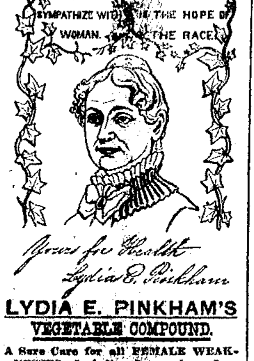
POND'S EXTRACT	50c, $1.00, $1.75.
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (3)

Burdock Blood Bitters

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Juandice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers every where. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffa'o, N.Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been universally recognized as the best newspaper published in Northern and Central New York. The chief reason for its popularity lies in the fact that it is a journal equally well suited to the wants of all classes of the community, from the farmer to the business man, and is as popular in the home circle as in the office and workshop. [illegible]

ALL THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

[illegible]

[illegible] at last made them see that there was writing on the paper, which proved to be as follows: "My legs are broken. Please help me." They carefully examined his legs, but found them all right, when somebody recognized the writing of a woman who lived half a mile away. They went to her house and found her helpless from a fall which broke her legs. She could not stir, nor attract anybody's attention, and she might have starved or frozen to death but luckily the dog came in, and crawling to a table she managed to write the note and fasten it to his tail.

For the removal of dandruff, and for curing humors of the scalp, nothing can be better than Ayre's Hair Vigor.

How to Stop a Runaway Horse.

Rarey, the celebrated horse tamer, claims that any runaway horse could be controlled with a knowledge of the proper treatment; and what I learned from him has served me on more than one occasion during the many years I have driven around New York. Rarey's directions were as follows: First, to know that the harness is all right, and that the bit and lines are of proper strength; never to drive with a slack rein, and always to keep the feet untramelled, ready for any emergency; second, as soon as you find that the horse is running away, with all the power of the right arm jerk the horse's head to the side of the neck, at the same time springing to the left of the vehicle ready to jump. As soon as done immediately jerk the horse's head to the left side of the neck and change your position to the opposite side of the carriage, Repeating this with all one's strength and as quickly as possible, the horse must stop his speed. Under this treatment it is impossible for him to proceed, but it must be done quickly, so as not to allow the horse to straighten his position or to turn around. I have been run away with several times, and have always tried Rarey's plan with success. GATH.

THROW AWAY $350.

"Troubled with asthma for eight years. Not quite two bottles of Thomas Eclectric Oil cured me completely, after spending over $350 without the slightest benefit." This is what August Trubner, of Tyrone, Pa., says.

Mistakes Eminent Men Made.

Old men give too much advice for it all to be sound. Washington, it is said, once decided that the Erie Canal would not be practicable. Sam Houston thought one-half the money Congress voted to Morse to build the first telegraph line ought to be devoted to encourage mesmerism. Cave Johnson, Postmaster General, declined to buy the telegraph patents for the government for $100,000 on the ground that it could not earn expenses. Ezra Cornell spent two-thirds of Morse's appropriations laying the first poor starveling telegraph underground instead of stretching it like a clothesline. Timothy Howe was sure a fifty cent tax on whisky could not collect as much as a $3 tax. Seward thought 75,000 men would put down the rebellion. The old Baltimore merchant to whom Poe's poems were submitted indorsed them: "Here is a man fit for nothing whatever." Franklin rather thought the Stamp act a smart recommendation. Commodore Vanderbilt told his son to buy no railroads outside of New York State. Old age is for counsel, but it ought to come from the "Amen" benches. All the wisdom in Spain and Portugal discouraged Columbus, but a pretty woman said to the sailor:

"As well to die and go
As die and stay."

[New York Tribune.

PROVED A BIG BENEFIT.

"Has magical pain killing and healing properties. Half of a fity cent bottle cured me of rheumatism and a cold that had settled in my back. Feel as well as I ever did in my life." Otto J. Doesberry, proprietor Holland City News, Holland, Mich., speaking for Thomas Eclectric Oil.

Our Denuded Forests the Cause.

In alarm at the great floods along the Ohio river the New York Sun says the great disaster ought to enforce a vivid and truthful lesson upon the people of this State, especially as the reason for this calamity in the Ohio valley is chiefly to be found in the destruction of forests on the hills of Western New York, Western Pennsylvania and Western Virginia, whence the headwaters of the Ohio river are fed. The vast extent of hill country has been practically denuded of its trees, and the consequence is that the heavy snows of winter, lying unprotected under the action of the sun and the rains of the season, instead of being very gradually melted as they would have been had the forests been left standing, are melted all at once and rush down into the valley of the Ohio in an overwhelming mass. This mighty and destructive flood of the early spring will probably be followed during the heat of summer by a corresponding drought and scarcity of water, under whose effects the Ohio will become a shallow, sluggish stream, of very little use for the purpose of navigation, or any other purpose. The same cause may soon produce similar results in this State, as soon as the woods of our Adirondack region are destroyed. We shall have in the spring trouble and destructive freshets in the Hudson as well as in the Mohawk rivers.

For dressing the hair and beautifying it when gray, nothing is so satisfactory as Parker's Hair Balsam. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,
J. E. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take

BLUE PILLS

or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? IT IS Dangerous!

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use

Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

HALL'S

Vegetable Sicilian

HAIR RENEWER

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE

FOR THE

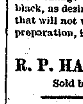
WHISKERS

Will change the beard to a natural brown, or black, as desired. It produces a permanent color that will not wash away. Consisting of a single preparation, it is applied without trouble.

PREPARED BY

R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N.H.

Sold by all Dealers in Medicines.



FOR ALL THE FORMS OF Scrofulous, Mercurial, and Blood Disorders, the best remedy, because the most searching and thorough blood-purifier, is

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

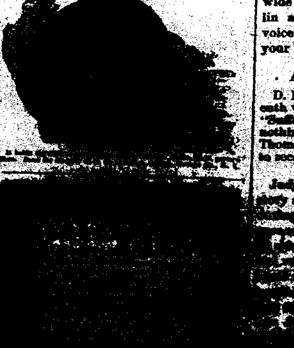
Sold by all Druggists; $1, six bottles, $5.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

[illegible] KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS. [illegible] THOUSANDS OF CASES [illegible]

LINCOLN [illegible] HOOP HOLDER.



[illegible] "You had better be off," continued the keeper, "unless you wish the bottom of your head." The fool took the hint just in time, for the enraged animal, having finished the sixth bucketful, hurled the bucket after his tormentor with such force that had he lingered a moment longer his life might have been forfeited. The affair had not, however, yet concluded. The following year the show revisited the same town, and the foolish joker, like men of his genus, unable to profit by his experience, thought to repeat his stupid trick on the elephant. He took two lots of nuts into the show with him—sweet nuts in the one pocket and hot ones in the other. The elephant had not forgotten the jest played upon him, and therefore accepted the cakes very cautiously. At last the joker proffered a hot one, but no sooner had the injured creature discovered its pungency than it seized hold of its persecutor by the coat tails, hoisted him up by them; held him until they gave way, when he fell to the ground. The elephant now inspected the several coat-tails, which, after he had discovered and eaten all the sweet nuts, he tore to rags and flung them after their discomfited owner.

[Chamber's Journal.

HOW ABOUT THE DOSES.

Many people before purchasing a medicine naturally inquire the size of the dose and the strength of it. In using Burdock Blood Bitters a teaspoonful for the little ones and two teaspoonsful for grown folks are all that is necessary at one time. This magnificent medicine is not only economical but very pleasant to the taste.

A Rare Receipt.

An exchange gives the following receipt how to make tattlers: Take a handful of run-about, the same quantity of nimble-tongue, a sprig of the herb backbite, a teaspoonful of don't you-tell-it, six drams of malice and a few drops of envy, stir well together, simmer half an hour; add a little discontent and jealousy, then strain through a bag of misconstruction, cork it in a bottle of malevolence and hang it upon a skein of street yarn; shake it occasionally for a few days and it will be fit for use. Let a few drops be taken just before walking out, and the desired result will follow.

BACK TO YOUTH.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1880.

H. H. WARNER & Co.: Sirs—Your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure made me feel like a new man after the doctors had given me up. HENRY GERAU.

A Bold Robbery.

A daring robbery was perpetrated in the Brooklyn post office last Wednesday afternoon. Assistant Postmaster Morton was engaged in making up his day's cash account for the purpose of placing it in the bank, when he was suddenly called into the money order department, leaving $3,000 in notes on the desk. He was absent fifteen minutes and returned to find that $2,300 of that amount had been stolen. William H. Debevoise, a clerk, sat writing at a desk in the room during the whole time but had not noticed any one approach the assistant postmaster's desk. One stranger had entered the room, enquired for a missing letter, been directed to continue his search in another department and had at once gone out. His description was at once given to the police. The postmaster made good the amount.

WHY BE DOWNCAST?

True, you are in a miserable condition—you are weak, palid, and nervous. You cannot sleep at night, nor enjoy your waking hours; yet, why lose heart? Get at the druggist's a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters. They will restore you to health and peace of mind.

Sunday in Leadville.

On Sunday, in Leadville, Colorado, nearly every store is open. It is the day with places of amusement. The smoke of the smelters perfumes the ambient air a little more villainously than usual, if possible, and the streets are crowded. The church bells gather many worshipers but they are not missed from the thronged streets. The miners come in from all directions, from shafts and tunnels and prospect holes, swarming in the streets, crowding in the corners, filling the bars of the numerous saloons with a coming tide of humanity. Many come in to buy their weekly supplies at the stores others come to talk over their strikes and finds, or to bring in their samples for testing. Crowds throng the more than a hundred gambling dens, from whose wide open door the sound of piano, violin and flute mingle with the shrill voice of the faro dealer calling "Make your bets gentlemen."

A POLICEMAN BRACED UP.

D. F. Collins, member of police, seventh ward, Reading, Pa., talks this way: "Suffered severely from rheumatism; nothing did me any good till I tried Thomas Eclectric Oil. It is a pleasure to recommend it."

Judge Paynes of Illinois tells a new story about Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln during the war received news of a [illegible]

[illegible] but do not be deceived; see that the word SAFE with picture of an Iron Safe, on black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, Catarrh, and all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood; expelling the blood-poisons from the system, enriching and renewing the blood, and restoring its vitalizing power.

During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and a weakened vitality. It is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier and blood-food that can be used.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.

"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE."
Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS."
River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD."
520 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles, $5.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. HISCOX & CO., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is [illegible]

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

[illegible] Hiscox & Co. [illegible]

[illegible] PURE CLEAR COAL [illegible] and Oswego County with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
3m6

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to
Very Resp't'y Yours.

I. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAN

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 5l1

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for Colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger [illegible] receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE [illegible]

[illegible] NOTICE TO CREDITORS. [illegible]

[illegible] Fulton, N. Y., on or before [illegible] or they will lose the benefit of the statute [illegible] and provided.

WM. R. HOWARD [illegible]
CLARK T. FOSTER [illegible]

Dated Jan'y 5th 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of Hon. [illegible] Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is given to all persons having claims against [illegible] late of the town of Volney, in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with vouchers thereof to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on or before the 15th day of July 1883, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

OTIS V. TAFT, Executor.

Dated, Jan. 10, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—Isadora Randall against James Randall.—Action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 22d. day of January, 1883.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
Plff's Atty.

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co. N. Y.

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you, by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 23d day of Jan'y 1883, and filed with the complaint, in the office of the clerk of Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
Plff's Att'y.

3m6

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets, over $2,400,000.

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,082,585.13

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS'
FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY
Of Boston, Mass.
Assets, $1,271,763.35,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
46 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD,
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE

TRADE MARK
TRADE MARK
BEFORE TAKING.
AFTER TAKING.

The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.

Sold in Fulton by R. K. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.

[illegible] No. 4 [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1883.

VOLUME 15—NUMBER 41

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.

Publishers.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 15 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Correspondence must be accompanied with a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

OLD GRIMES.

[A. G. Greene, born in Providence, R. I., Feb. 10, 1803, and educated at Brown University, in that city in 1168, was the author of the famous song "Old Grimes is dead," so seldom correctly published, but as popular as any in the English language. The following is the correct version.]

Old Grimes is dead; that good old man
We never shall see more:
He used to wear a long black coat,
All buttoned down before.

His heart was open as the day,
His feelings all were true;
His hair was some inclined to gray—
He wore it in a queue.

Whene'er he heard the voice of pain,
His breast with pity burned;
The large, round head upon his cane
From ivory was turned.

Kind words he ever had for all;
He knew no base design:
His eyes were dark and rather small,
His nose was aquiline.

He lived at peace with all mankind,
In friendship he was true;
His coat had pocket-holes behind,
His pantaloons were blue.

Unharmed, the sin which earth pollutes
He passed securely o'er,
And never wore a pair of boots
For thirty years or more.

But good old Grimes is now at rest,
Nor fears misfortune's frown;
He wore a double-breasted vest—
The stripes ran up and down.

He modest merit sought to find,
And pay it its desert:
He had no malice in his mind,
No ruffles on his shirt.

His neighbors he did not abuse—
Was sociable and gay:
He wore large buckles on his shoes,
And changed them every day.

His knowledge hid from public gaze,
He did not bring to view,
Nor make a noise town-meeting days,
As many people do.

His worldly goods he never threw
In trust to Fortune's chances,
He lived (as all his brothers do)
In easy circumstances.

Thus undisturbed by anxious cares
His peaceful moments ran;
And everybody said he was
A fine old gentleman.

For dressing the hair and beautifying the complexion, nothing is so satisfactory as Parker's Hair Balsam. 10t2

LOVE FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER XIII.

Lady Yorke had left me very busy. I had many letters to write; I had several gifts of food and clothing to send away, some music and books to select, and I promised, if possible, to visit a poor woman who lay ill in one of the cottages outside Woodheaton. More work was before me, I feared, than I could get through, but I began with a good will. I tried hard to keep my thoughts from wandering, but they would stray to Lady Severne. Why had she not made one of the picnic party? She had so often talked about St. Ninian's Abbey, and wished to see it. Why had she remained at home? She could not be ill, or we should have heard of it; and I remembered that Lord Severne and Lady Yorke had spoken in anger rather than in sorrow. It was perfectly clear that there was a mystery, but what the nature of it was I could not imagine.

I remember how calm the day was. The sunshine was delightfully warm; and, as the drowsy, musical hum of the bees as they worked busily fell upon my ears, I thought of that beautiful line—

"The bee is betrothed to the broom."

The birds were silent; there was but a faint murmur of the wind; the house was strangely still. Many of the servants had gone to the Abbey to be in attendance. I could hear quite plainly the rush of the river in the distance, and the tapping of leaves against the window-glass. Once or twice I fancied that I heard a most unusual sound—whether it was a laugh, a scream, or a moan, I could not tell, for it was gone almost as soon as heard. I went down to the library in search of something that I needed for my writing. On the grand staircase I met Lady Severne's maid, Martha Glyde, and I felt sure that she had the key of a bed-room in her hand. She was taking some beef-tea, I thought, up-stairs, for she was carrying a covered basin. Martha had always a grim smile for me. I was one of her favorites. I stopped impulsively.

"How is Lady Severne?" I asked; and the smile died in a moment. A hard, cold, impenetrable look came into the honest face. "I am sorry she is ill," I continued.

"She is not"—"ill," the woman was going to say, I am sure; but she checked herself and substituted "well."

"I am sorry," I said; "for I know she wanted to see St. Ninian's. What is it—cold or headache?"

"I must make haste," replied Martha, ignoring my question; "her ladyship is waiting;" and she brushed past me with far less ceremony than usual. "Good morning, miss," she added, hastily, as though she knew she had been abrupt.

An hour afterwards I had finished my writing and begun to pack the parcels of clothes that Lady Yorke had wished me to send away. My rooms were in the part of the house called the "Queen's wing;" Lady Yorke's suite of apartments was in the centre of the building; while the rooms set apart for the guests were in the western tower. Some of the clothes I wanted were in one of the wardrobes in a spare room. Crossing the broad corridors that led to the western tower, I was struck by the unusual silence. There was no sound of visitors or servants, but profound stillness—no hurry of footsteps—no voices.

I went to the cedar-room, opened the wardrobe, found what I required, and was on the point of re-closing it, when I heard a sound that almost froze the blood in my veins.

Was it a cry, a shriek? I could not [illegible] that it was unearthly in its [illegible] the sound that it [illegible]

"What is the matter, Lady Severne?" I cried. "Are you ill? Are you hurt?"

There was a moment of deathly silence. I turned the handle of the door, and found that it was securely bolted.

"Who is there?" Martha Glyde called out.

"It is I—Miss Chester. What is the matter?" I replied.

"Nothing," was the curt reply.

"But, Martha, I heard Lady Severne scream. I am sure she is ill. Do let me in."

The next moment Martha had half opened the door, and I saw her face; it was white and angry—yes, and alarmed.

"Miss Chester," she said—and the effort to speak calmly was a great one—"Do not try to come in. You will only make things worse. Believe me, there is nothing the matter. Lady Severne is often hysterical. She is not ill; but she would be annoyed if she knew you were here."

I went away; but I retained my own belief that the scream I heard was not hysterical. I wondered if Mark's wife could be mad; but I was not aware that people could be mad one day and sane the next.

I found that Lady Severne did not leave her room that day; nor did she join the dinner-party in the evening. Lady Yorke apologized for her, saying that she had taken cold through being out on the terrace on the previous evening, but that she hoped she would be better on the morrow. I saw Mark's face twitch and his lips quiver, but he spoke no word. There was a murmur of regret, for several of the gentlemen present there would be no attraction that evening.

When the visitors retired, I remained to give Lady Yorke a report of all that she had left for me to arrange, and then I told her of the unearthly noise that I had heard coming from Lady Severne's room.

She looked at me with a strange expression on her face.

"Did you really hear this yourself, Miss Chester?" she asked.

"Certainly, just as I have told you, Lady Yorke."

"Had any one been in those rooms would they have heard it in the same fashion?" she asked.

"They must," I replied.

"Then," she said, speaking to herself rather than to me, "it must be seen to at once. Poor Lord Severne!"

I did not like to say any more; but I went to my room more unhappy than ever about Mark, more puzzled than ever about the mystery surrounding his wife.

I looked forward with some curiosity to seeing her the next day; but at breakfast-time came the apology—Lady Severne did not feel well enough to come down-stairs. Mark's face was a study, yet no one seemed to notice it except myself. The knowledge that there was a mystery in the house was painful to me. Lady Yorke seemed distressed—not merely anxious, but distressed. I saw tears in her eyes; and, when we were alone, she sighed frequently and deeply, as though she had something on her mind.

In the evening, just before the dressing-bell rang, to my astonishment Martha Glyde rapped at the door of Lady Yorke's boudoir. She wanted "to speak to her ladyship most particularly," but she would not keep her long. I went away and left them together.

During dinner I saw that Lady Yorke was quite unlike herself, nervous, agitated, unequal to the occasion, and more than once she glanced imploringly at Lord Severne.

Dinner over, I was not much surprised when a servant came to say that Lady Yorke wished to see me in her boudoir at once. I went. I had never seen the mistress of Westwood look so sad or so distressed before.

"Just turn the key in the door, Miss Chester," she said. "I want a few minutes conversation with you without interruption."

I did as she wished, and then stood before her, wondering at her agitation, her pale face, the sorrow expressed in her whole demeanor. She wrung her hands, began to speak, and then hesitated.

"The fact is," she said, "I am at a loss what to say or how to begin. I feel the shame and the disgrace keenly, as though they were my own. I must tell you, but I do not know how."

"Is it—is it of Lady Severne?" I asked.

"Yes," she replied. "Thank you for breaking the ice thus far. It is of her I want to speak. You asked me once if anything were wrong with her, and I told you yes, the canker was always at the heart of the fairest rose; the worm always destroys the sweetest bud."

"I remember, but I did not understand in the least," I said.

"Probably not. Lady Severne is beautiful, charming, she has many admirable qualities, she is very popular; but there is one fatal drawback, so fatal that all the other gifts are neutralized by it."

"What is it, Lady Yorke?" I asked, anxiously.

"I am ashamed to tell you. They are almost the most horrible words that can be said of a woman, but they are unhappily true, Miss Chester. The fact is, Lady Severne drinks."

I recoiled as though she had struck me a terrible blow; but Lady Yorke looked relieved at having told her horrible secret at last.

"It is true; she drinks!"

"But," I cried, aghast with horror, "she is a—a lady; it cannot be possible!"

"It is quite true, Miss Chester."

"Drinks!" Such a solution of the mystery had never occurred to me for one moment. If Lady Yorke had said, "She cheats at cards, she would rob her neighbor, she has committed murder"—even then I should not have felt so surprised. It was horrible to think that this beautiful woman, Mark's wife, should be guilty of so degrading a vice.

"But how is such a thing possible?" I cried, eagerly. "Surely she could avoid it if she would?"

"I cannot tell; she says it is a disease that seizes her and holds her fast in its clutches. At times, for weeks together, she is all that can be desired—a most agreeable, charming, fascinating woman; then for a few days she appears absolutely to lose all control over herself."

"But why do they let her have intoxicating liquors? Why not keep them from her?" I asked.

"They cannot. You may be sure that Lord Severne has tried everything; so has that faithful maid of hers, Martha Glyde. It is easier to soothe the paroxysms of the insane than to appease such a craving as hers. I have heard Martha say that when this horrible craving is on her, she will stoop to anything to get what she wants."

"How terrible!" I cried. "Oh, Lady Yorke, I wish I had not known it!"

"I am obliged to tell you," she said; "you may be sure that it is an unavoidable necessity. It is impossible that Lady Severne can remain in the western tower. Up to this present time no one in the house knows her secret, except her husband, Lord Yorke, Martha Glyde, you and myself; but, if she remains in the western tower, every one must guess it. Martha Glyde told me that she has never been so bad as she is now, and she begged me to remove her to where she could be neither seen nor heard. Every one thinks that she is ill; and it will occasion no remark if I say that she has asked for a quieter, warmer room. I thought," continued Lady Yorke, "if you were willing, I [illegible] Chester, you are so gentle and good, that this pitiful case must touch your heart. Will you see her sometimes? You did me good; you might do her good. You reclaimed me from a life of idle self-indulgence, you might reclaim her."

"I will do anything you wish, Lady Yorke—anything."

"It will be a great relief to me if you will help Martha Glyde to remove the unhappy woman. I do not want Mashham or any of the servants to know it. I must return to my visitors. I shall trust entirely to you."

She hastened away, leaving me horror-stricken and bewildered. Oh, Mark, my dear, lost love, it would have been better had you died!

CHAPTER XIV.

That was the solution of the mystery. That was the cause of Mark's watchfulness and misery and of Lady Severne's peculiarities. From that originated the cold metallic light in the eyes that should have been so tender and lustrous. That was the cause of the hectic color that so often took the place of the dainty bloom. That was why a pretty, bright young maid would have been quite useless—why the elderly woman kept watch and ward over her mistress. Of all the horrible fates that could have overtaken my poor Mark, surely none could have been more horrible than this! All the anger died in my heart; there was nothing left but profound compassion. Now I could understand why he would not say anything to me about his wife. He might well look so worn and haggard. I forgot that he had deceived me, blighted my life; and my heart went out to him, not with the old love, but with a great pity and yearning. I would have given my life to save his wife and help him.

I will not dwell on the terrible scene that was enacted when Lady Severne was taken to her new rooms. I hope that I may never see such a sight again—such a leering smile, drooping, heavy head, sullen eyes, and reeling figure. "I am glad you know all about it, Miss Chester," said Martha. "It is a heavy secret to carry all by oneself. At times I can hardly bear it. I told Lady Yorke you would be the right one to trust."

Partly from her and partly from Lady Yorke I heard the whole sad story. I am no advocate for total abstinence, although I have a horror of excessive drinking. I simply tell this sad story as it was told to me, and record the incidents I saw.

There is no need to go far back into Lady Severne's life. She was well-born, well-bred, married when she was very young, and went with her husband, Captain Nugent, to India. When this horrible vice first took hold of her no one knew. There was some little rumor of it in India; but she was so young and so beautiful that no one believed it. It was not until she became Lady Severne that it attracted any attention. She said afterwards that she took no more than other ladies—two or three glasses of wine at luncheon—perhaps a little champagne if she felt tired or "low;" a little more wine at dinner; and, during the evening, champagne at one party, sherry at another, and always brandy at night. She liked it; she was careless, and never thought about the consequences. More than once Lord Severne, seeing her glass filled and refilled, would say, "Be careful, Lurline; that wine is strong." She would answer, laughingly, "I do not mind how strong it is if it sparkles." More than once he was distressed at finding bottles of brandy hidden away in her room. A bad habit grows quickly. The terrible day came when Lord Severne, returning home earlier than usual, found her—— Ah, well, I cannot write the word! From that time all semblance of happiness ceased between them. They had been married only six weeks when he made the discovery. He decided at once what to do. They could never live at Severne Court; the grand inheritance that had come to him was useless. He dared not make her mistress of the household; she was too far gone in her downward course for that. He could never make his home in England, where his misfortune must be known at once. He could never know when or how the shame and disgrace might fall upon him. He took her to Italy, hoping by travel, novelty, and constant care to wean her from her weakness.

At first there was some slight improvement, and it was while that improvement lasted that they met Lord and Lady Yorke. But Lady Severne was not cured, and there were irregularities in her manner which made them think strangely of her, and prevented her from being a favorite with them. They liked Lord Severne exceedingly; they were attracted by his melancholy, which at first they did not understand. Lady Yorke exacted from Lord Severne a promise that when they came to England they would visit Westwood, and, when business matters compelled Mark to return, he kept that promise; but it was in fear and trembling. Lurline had assured her husband, as she had often done before, that she would keep a strict guard over herself; but again and again she had relapsed into her old habits. For during those long months, when she had plenty of money at her command, Lady Severne had gone from bad to worse. Her husband was at last compelled to have the assistance of Martha Glyde; but, in spite of all the care lavished upon her, in spite of all precautions, when these terrible fits came upon Lady Severne, she always managed to get that for which her heart craved. Nothing was of any avail—prayers, tears, advice, anger, all were useless. The beautiful and admired Lady Severne was a secret drinker, a woman who had delivered herself to the bondage of an evil spirit, to the heavy yoke of a shameful habit. She bribed servants; she did things that in her better days she would have recoiled from doing. Yet so faithful was Martha Glyde, so loyal and thoughtful was her husband, that her terrible secret was hardly known. When Martha saw that a fit was inevitable, she locked her in her room and gave out to the world that she was ill. At those times Lord Severne went almost mad with mortification and annoyance.—There had been some terrible scenes once or twice, when Martha was off her guard and Lady Severne made her escape.

Lady Yorke, who had suspected in Italy what was wrong, now saw it plainly, and for the sake of the household Lord Severne had been compelled to tell her. She was distressed and grieved, but nothing could be done. Until Lady Severne came to her senses again she could not be removed. The only thing was to maintain the fiction of illness, and keep her secluded in her room. It was now three days since Martha Glyde, going one evening to put away her lady's jewels, found her insensible, and knew what had happened.

"We shall have a week of it," she said to me; "I know that."

"Surely not, if we keep everything from her."

"That we cannot do. I have been sharp and diligent as a detective; so has my lord. You may baffle the cunning of a rogue or a thief, but never the cunning of a drunkard. His lordship was very unwilling to come here," Martha continued, "but Lady Severne promised faithfully to give no trouble in this way. She is fond of Lady Yorke, and she said it was so long since she had really enjoyed herself. The third day we were here his lordship said to me, 'Martha, I had better have died than [illegible] sorts of promises; but it was all in vain. Look at her now."

Lady Yorke told me much the same story, adding that Lord Severne's distress, when he was compelled to tell her the truth, was terrible.

"I am very sorry for her," said Lady Yorke; "but for him my pity knows no bounds. He cannot go into society. If he takes her with him, he lives in constant fear; if he leaves her at home alone, his fear is greater still. His whole career is spoiled, his whole life is blighted; he is miserably unhappy, and I see no hope or help for him. It is a millstone tied round his neck."

Her words were so many blows to me. The very novelty of the discovery made me only the more miserable. I could not help asking—

"If you knew of this, Lady Yorke, why did you ask her here?"

Yet the thought came to me that, if they had never come, I should always have believed Mark to be dead.

"I was not sure of it in Italy, and I never thought—I could never have dreamed—that it had reached this point. Honestly, much as I like and pity Lord Severne, if I had known the whole truth, I should not have invited them, nor would Lord Yorke have done so. I cannot tell you how unpleasant it is. Every moment of the day I am in anxious suspense and misery. What an expose it would be if any of the other guests should get to know it! And in a large household like this it is almost impossible to keep such a secret."

"It is very difficult," I replied.

"You will do your best, I know, Miss Chester," said Lady Yorke, to whom anxieties of any kind were quite new. "Lord Severne has promised me that he will take his wife away as soon as she recovers, and I shall be glad."

"Where will they go?" I asked.

She looked just a little surprised at the question, believing them to be strangers to me.

"Somewhere on the Continent," she answered. "He will never be able to live at that beautiful home of his."

"But why does he not send her away?"

"I suppose he would do so if she were always alike; but, you see, there are many weeks together when she is herself, charming and beautiful."

"Does he love her?" I asked, abruptly.

"I think he did love her. My opinion is that he was carried away by her beauty, and married her in a sudden fit of impulse. I do not think she is the woman whom he would have chosen calmly. I do not think he loves her now. No man could love a woman addicted to that vice. He is very anxious, very unhappy; he smarts under the disgrace; he is always nervous and apprehensive; but I do not think he loves her."

Was it so much the better, or so much the worse?

Lady Yorke hastened away, and I was left to my own thoughts. Granted that it was Nemesis, granted that Mark had done wrong, it was a terrible punishment. It rendered all the gifts of fortune useless to him. I could sympathize with his difficulties. If he tried to put her away from him, it would only draw public attention to that which he was most anxious to conceal. It seemed to me that some noble motive actuated him. He had taken the hapless woman for better or for worse, and he was trying his best. He gave her the shield, the protection of his name and his home."

[To be continued.]

If feeling old—renew your youthful vigor by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will vitalize the blood, recruit the wasting energies and build up the system.

One Majority.

"I understand, Barklow," said a friend, "that you have become quite a politician." "O yes. I ran for magistrate in my township the other day, and although I have not been living there long, I was only beaten by one majority."

"That's doing first-rate. Only beaten by one majority. You'll be sheriff of the County after awhile. How many votes are there in the township? I should think that a comparative stranger who is only beaten by one vote can, with encouragement, aspire to something great."

"I don't think so."

"Why?"

"You see I was beaten by one majority."

"Yes."

"Well, there are only three votes in the township."

☞ Millions of packages of the Diamond Dyes have been sold without a single complaint. Everywhere they are favorite dyes.

Mercantile Statistics.

"If you want some nice fresh butter, I've just received a lot from the country," said an Austin grocer to Col. Samulson, who does not know much about book-keeping.

"I can't trade with you," was the reply, "until you give up keeping books by the double entry system."

"Why, Colonel, I don't keep my books by double entry. I keep my accounts entirely by single entry."

"You may not do it on purpose, but you do it all the same. When I buy a pound of butter, you charge me up two pounds; or if you charge me with only one pound, you only send me half a pound. I cant afford to buy groceries from a man who believes in the double entry system of book-keeping."

⁂ "Test a man's profession by his practice. Physician, heal thyself!" Physicians not only heal themselves with Kidney-Wort, but prescribe it for others for the worst case of biliousness and constipation, as well as for kidney complaints. If you feel out of sorts and don't know why, try a package of Kidney-Wort and you will feel like a new creature.

There are only four newspaper men in the New York legislature. This shows how much better able journalists are to resist temptation than other men.

What queer things newspapers are, and how peculiar the editors; A paper is read when it is black and white and the editor looks black when he feels blue.

Why continue the use of remedies that only relieve, when Ely's Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in head, can be had for 50 cents?

Apply into nostrils with little finger.

Ely's Cream Balm has completely cured me of Catarrh, of which I have been afflicted over ten years, after trying almost every remedy recommended, none having proved so effective and thorough. S. J. Aiken, wholesale Dealer in Boots and Shoes, 148 Federal St. Boston, Mass.

As One having used Ely's Cream Balm I would say it is worth its weight in gold as a cure for Catarrh. I bought [illegible]

RELISHABLE NONSENSE.

Some of the Funny Sayings of American Paragraphists.

How quickly a limb of the law branches out.

Our infant industries—Cradle manufactories.

Language of the flowers—You be blowed. [Life.

The pecan worm is "the hole thing in a nutshell."

A clean record—The laundry bill. [New York Journal.

The best fire escape—Not be around when the fire occurs.

"A Winter's Tale" is supposed by many to be a depending icicle.

A man's mind is like his bed. It must be made up occasionally.

Some men who claim to be self-made men are not very well done.

One way to give a man "a chance to rise in the world"—Knock him down.

To tell the age of a horse never look in the mouth of a jockey. [N. O. Picayune.

A telegraph wire is like a mustache. It is of no use when it is down. [N. O. Picayune.

The best fire escape is when your wife gets up in the morning and makes it. [Botton Commercial Bulletin.

A fashion journal says: "Tight trousers will have to go." "Well let 'em rip. [N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

We hear a good deal about the "rage for speculation;" but Fogg, who speaks from experience, says the rage generally comes after the speculation. [Boston Transcript.

The notion of having your house connected with the church, by telephone, is utterly absurd. How's your wife to see bonnets by telephone? [Boston Post.

The man who is given to making cutting remarks should be treated like a jack-knife and shut up. [Boston Transcript.

An exchange has an article headed, "What can wealth do?" Keeping out of a man's way is one of the feats which it accomplishes with ease. [Arkansaw Traveller.

The man that would stop his paper for the sake of economy ought to cut off his feet to save the expense of socks. Paste this in the cavity of your hat.

An old lady from one of the rural districts astonished a clerk in one of the stores by inquiring if he had any "yaller developments sich as they did up letters in. [Sandersville, (Ga.) Mercury.

A calculation shows that a Dundee spinner must spin sixty miles of yarn to earn $2. Almost any country store can produce men that will spin a longer yarn for nothing. [Pittsburgh Telegraph.

"Well, remarked a young M. D., just from college, "I suppose the next thing will be to hunt for a good location, and wait for something to do, like "Patience on a monument." "Yes," said a bystander, "and it won't be long after you do begin before the monument will be on the patients."

A CLERGYMAN'S TESTIMONY.

W. E. Gifford, Pastor M. E. church, Bothwell, Ont., was for two years a sufferer with Dyspepsia in its worst form, until as he states "life became an actual burden." Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he tells us in a recent letter that he considers it the best family medicine now before the country for dyspepsia and liver complaint.

Fashion Notes.

[From the Rome Sentinel.]

Stylish veils are of dark red silk net dotted with chenille, and reach just below the eyes.

The newest turbans of folded cloth or velvet are without brims, the folds reaching down to the hair, and are without trimming.

Printed mull of the gayest colors is made up in Dolly Varden caps with lace borders, and worn by young matrons in the early part of the day.

Imported evening toilets have trains either square or pointed: but these greatly interfere with dancing, and demi-trains are preferred by young ladies.

Flounced muslin petticoats with trains are made for full dress, dinner and evening toilets, as well as seperate trains which can be worn with different skirts.

Some of the new designs in polonaises have vests shaped on them, and apron drapery with bouffant back. These garments must be close fitting to be stylish.

Bright ribbons, an inch wide, trim the dancing dresses of young ladies. Rows of silk pompons are used as a border around the edge of handsome silk evening dresses.

Vest and plastron trimmings—indeed, all trimmings for the front of dress waists—must be very narrow and quite close together in order to give the slender long-waisted effect now in vogue.

Dress buttons for dark cloths imitate hammered metals; hammered silver buttons are on gray cloth and velvet pelisses, hammered bronze on brown cloth, and hammered gold on green and blue.

High corsages are very high indeed, leaving merly a rim of the standing linen collar in sight, and when frills of lisse or lace are used, requiring only the narrowest of their kind, and those most closely crimped.

AN OLD MAN'S BELIEF.

Have used Parker's Ginger Tonic for my bad cough and hemorrhage I had twenty-five years. I feel like another man since I used it. Am 66 years past. Believe it sure to cure younger persons. A. Orner, Highspire, Pa. 40w4

On Thirty Days' Trial.

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric Appliance on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with nervous debility, lost vitality and kindred troubles—guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above.—N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days trial is allowed.

JOY AT HOME.

HAVING LEFT THEIR HOME IN SORROW, FATHER AND DAUGHTER RETURN IN GLADNESS.

Next to the sad duty of bearing the bodies of our dear dead to their long rest, is that of taking our loved living, when stricken with disease, in search of help which appears the more hopeless the nearer it is approached.

Yet when Mr. Nicholas Howell, of Waverly, Chemung county, N. Y., left his home some time since for New York, it was on such an errand. By his side was his daughter, whose case has been abandoned by the home physician—as one of incurable disease of the heart. When the train reached Peekskill it was clear that the almost dying girl could not be carried a mile farther with safety. Emaciated in body, shattered in nerve, and melancholy in mind the poor girl had lost interest in her own fate. To her vision then loomed up but one end to all her suffering, and its insensible stillness looked almost inviting, after so many days of langor and pain.

But who may know his fate—either for good or evil? By the earnest advice of friends in Peekskill, Mr. Howell tenderly conveyed his daughter—all there was left of her—to the office of Dr David Kennedy in Rondout, N. Y. Dr Kennedy perceived that she was suffering from heart disease, and also from an advanced stage of a complaint common to women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phenix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

W. M. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D. Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No. 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. GENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs, also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No. 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. E. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL, Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

KIDNEY-WORT

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.

PILES. THIS distressing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed.

☞ If you have either of these troubles

PRICE $1. USE Druggists Sell

KIDNEY WORT

Acts at the Same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

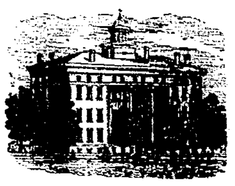
Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6. Geo. J. Emeny, H. H. Gridley.

FALLEY SEMINARY.

Fulton, Oswego Co. N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition........
Board and Tuition (short weeks) 26
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday March 26th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY

THE MOST

Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary. It also contains all the useal tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrres, etc., American Geographical Names with deffinitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc., Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries. Interest Tables, 4 to 20 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs teis invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 63 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 13 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionary.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and our Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and ecclose it 21 green stamps. If not delighted, you can have your money back. Club of five, $2.75; ten, $5.

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all for a paltry 63 cts. Send now. Address,

Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	9.00	4.30	......	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	8.00	3.30	......	......
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.15	12.20	6.00
Winterton	12.00	7.38	12.59	6.43
Bloomingburgh	12.06	7.46	1.00	6.59
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	7.07
SUMMITVILLE	12.20	8.00	2.55	7.35
Fallsburg	1.00	....	4.03	9.00
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	9.30
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	9.50
Liberty	1.26	....	4.46	10.10
Parksville	1.40	....	5.05	10.46
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	11.18
Rockland	2.27	....	5.45	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	12.35
East Branch	3.00		6.28	1.40
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.55	3.25
WALTON	4.05	6.50	8.00	5.15
Franklin	4.39	7.43	8.50	......
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.30	6.30
Guilford	5.29	9.30	......	......
Oxford	5.43	10.00	......	......
NORWICH ......Arrive	6.00	10.40	......	10.00
	P. M.	A. M.		P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.
NORWICH	6.03	2.05	4.55	8.26
North Norwich	6.17	2.25	7.07	8.47
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.20	9.15
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	9.26
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.30	7.41	10.08
Eaton	7.05	3.53	7.51	10.30
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	[illegible]
Munnsville	7.25	4.36	8.13	[illegible]
Community	7.38	5.02	8.26	[illegible]
ONEIDA	7.50	5.15	9.10	1.10
Fish Creek	*8.06	......	*9.34	1.65
North Bay	8.14	......	9.43	2.12
Cleveland	8.30	......	10.05	2.50
Bernhards Bay	*8.30	......	10.13	3.03
Constantia	8.45	......	10.27	3.25
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.02	......	10.50	4.10
Fulton	9.35	......	11.38	5.33
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.10	6.20
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y Ar	8.25	10.50	10.00	......
" N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	9.10	......	11.50	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	6.10	5.50
Winterton	5.02	7.52	5.40	5.19
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.46	5.32	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.48	7.39	5.22	4.58
Summitville	4.40	7.30	5.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.03	....	4.30	3.08
Hurley	3.53	....	4.18	2.54
Liberty Falls	3.40	....	3.35	2.33
Liberty	3.36	....	3.27	2.20
Parksville	3.22	....	3.08	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.08	....	2.48	12.48
Rockland	2.53	....	2.27	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.20
East Branch	2.18		1.40	10.07
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	9.00
Walton	1.12	3.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.20	2.42	10.55	......
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	......
Guilford	11.09	12.55	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.55	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	7.55	6.03
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.45
Smyrna	10.28	10.50	7.33	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.24	5.05
Randallsville	10.08	10.08	7.15	4.46
Eaton	9.56	9.25	7.05	4.25
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.56	4.10
Munnsville	9.33	8.35	6.40	3.22
Community	9.17	7.55	6.23	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	5.24	12.40
North Bay	8.37	......	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	......	4.51	11.35
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	4.43	10.50
Constantia	8.07	......	4.32	10.27
Central Square	7.48	......	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	......	3.22	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	7.30
	a. m	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.39	7.20	2.36
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	6.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	8.36	6.08	11.16
DELHI	5.10	9.00	5.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.31	8.14
Mount Upton	5.46	8.03
Holmesville	6.15	7.32
So. New Berlin	6.26	7.23
NEW BERLIN	6.55	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.

J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't. J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pas'g'r. Agt.

C. A. HILL,

VETERINARY URGEON,

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE ARCTIC EXPEDITION

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.

Get the best, don't be humbugged by imitations.

20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agency to ALVORD & SLEIGHT, publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

Mention this paper.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE,

13 and 15 North Salina Street,

A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE.

THE FULTON TIMES | Congress will adjourn March 4. It is | POSTAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY | A FOREST FIRE. | PIANOS AND ORGANS.

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1883.

VOLUME 15—NUMBER 41

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Publishers.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

OLD GRIMES.

[A. G. Greene, born in Providence, R. I., Feb. 10, 1803, and educated at Brown University, in that city in 1168, was the author of the famous song "Old Grimes is dead," so seldom correctly published, but as popular as any in the English language. The following is the correct version.]

Old Grimes is dead, that good old man
We ne'er shall see him more,
He used to wear a long, black coat
All buttoned down before.

His heart was open all the day,
His feelings all were true;
His hair was some inclined to gray,
He wore it in a queue.

Whene'er he heard the voice of pain
His breast with pity burned;
The large, round head upon his cane
From ivory was turned.

Kind words he ever had for all,
He knew no base design;
His eyes were dark and rather small,
His nose was aquiline.

He lived at peace with all mankind,
In friendship he was true;
His coat had pocket holes behind,
His pantaloons were blue.

Unharmed the sin which earth pollutes
He passed securely o'er,
And never wore a pair of boots
For thirty years or more.

But good old Grimes is now at rest,
Nor fears misfortune's frown,
He wore a double breasted vest
The stripes ran up and down.

He modest merit sought to find,
And pay it its desert;
He had no malice in his mind,
No ruffles on his shirt.

His neighbors he did not abuse,
Was sociable and gay,
He wore large buckles on his shoes,
And changed them every day.

His knowledge hid from public gaze,
He did not bring to view,
Nor make a noise town meeting days
As many people do.

His worldly goods he never threw
In trust to Fortune's chances,
He lived (as all his brothers do)
In easy circumstances.

Thus undisturbed by anxious cares,
His peaceful moments ran,
And everybody said he was
A fine old gentleman.

For dressing the hair and beautifying the complexion, nothing is so satisfactory as Parker's Hair Balsam. 40t2

LOVE FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER XIII.

Lady Yorke had left me very busy. I had many letters to write; I had several gifts of food and clothing to send away, some music and books to select, and I promised, if possible, to visit a poor woman who lay ill in one of the cottages outside Woodheaton. More work was before me, I feared, than I could get through, but I began with a good will. I tried hard to keep my thoughts from wandering, but they would stray to Lady Severne. Why had she not made one of the picnic party? She had so often talked about St. Ninian's Abbey, and wished to see it. Why had she remained at home? She could not be ill, or we should have heard of it; and I remembered that Lord Severne and Lady Yorke had spoken in anger rather than in sorrow. It was perfectly clear that there was a mystery, but what the nature of it was I could not imagine.

I remember how calm the day was. The sunshine was delightfully warm; and, as the drowsy, musical hum of the bees as they worked busily fell upon my ears, I thought of that beautiful line—

"The bee is betrothed to the broom,"

The birds were silent; there was but a faint murmur of the wind; the house was strangely still. Many of the servants had gone to the Abbey to be in attendance. I could hear quite plainly the rush of the river in the distance, and the tapping of leaves against the window-glass. Once or twice I fancied that I heard a most unusual sound—whether it was a laugh, a scream, or a moan, I could not tell, for it was gone almost as soon as heard. I went down to the library in search of something that I needed for my writing. On the grand staircase I met Lady Severne's maid, Martha Glyde, and I felt sure that she had the key of a bed-room in her hand. She was taking some beef-tea, I thought, up-stairs, for she was carrying a covered basin. Martha had always a grim smile for me. I was one of her favorites. I stopped impulsively.

"How is Lady Severne?" I asked; and the smile died in a moment. A hard, cold, impenetrable look came into the honest face. "I am sorry she is ill," I continued.

"She is not"—"ill," the woman was going to say, I am sure; but she checked herself and substituted "well."

"I am sorry," I said; "for I know she wanted to see St. Ninian's. What is it—cold or headache?"

"I must make haste," replied Martha, ignoring my question; "her ladyship is waiting;" and she brushed past me with far less ceremony than usual. "Good morning, miss," she added, hastily, as though she knew she had been abrupt.

An hour afterwards I had finished my writing and begun to pack the parcels of clothes that Lady Yorke had wished me to send away. My rooms were in the part of the house called the "Queen's wing;" Lady Yorke's suite of apartments was in the centre of the building; while the rooms set apart for the guests were in the western tower. Some of the clothes I wanted were in one of the wardrobes in a spare room. Crossing the broad corridors that led to the western tower, I was struck by the unusual silence. There was no sound of visitors or servants, but profound stillness—no hurry of footsteps—no voices.

I went to the cedar-room, opened the wardrobe, found what I required, and was on the point of re-closing it, when [illegible] that almost froze the [illegible] I could not [illegible]

"What is the matter, Lady Severne?" I cried. "Are you ill? Are you hurt?"

There was a moment of deathly silence. I turned the handle of the door, and found that it was securely bolted.

"Who is there?" Martha Glyde called out.

"It is I—Miss Chester. What is the matter?" I replied.

"Nothing," was the curt reply.

"But, Martha, I heard Lady Severne scream. I am sure she is ill. Do let me in."

The next moment Martha had half opened the door, and I saw her face; it was white and angry—yes, and alarmed.

"Miss Chester," she said—and the effort to speak calmly was a great one—"Do not try to come in. You will only make things worse. Believe me, there is nothing the matter. Lady Severne is often hysterical. She is not ill; but she would be annoyed if she knew you were here."

I went away; but I retained my own belief that the scream I heard was not hysterical. I wondered if Mark's wife could be mad; but I was not aware that people could be mad one day and sane the next.

I found that Lady Severne did not leave her room that day; nor did she join the dinner-party in the evening. Lady Yorke apologized for her, saying that she had taken cold through being out on the terrace on the previous evening, but that she hoped she would be better on the morrow. I saw Mark's face twitch and his lips quiver, but he spoke no word. There was a murmur of regret; for several of the gentlemen present there would be no attraction that evening.

When the visitors retired, I remained to give Lady Yorke a report of all that she had left for me to arrange, and then I told her of the unearthly noise that I had heard coming from Lady Severne's room.

She looked at me with a strange expression on her face.

"Did you really hear this yourself, Miss Chester?" she asked.

"Certainly, just as I have told you, Lady Yorke."

"Had any one been in those rooms would they have heard it in the same fashion?" she asked.

"They must," I replied.

"Then," she said, speaking to herself rather than to me, "it must be seen to at once. Poor Lord Severne!"

I did not like to say any more; but I went to my room more unhappy than ever about Mark, more puzzled than ever about the mystery surrounding his wife.

I looked forward with some curiosity to seeing her the next day; but at breakfast-time came the apology. Lady Severne did not feel well enough to come down-stairs. Mark's face was a study, yet no one seemed to notice it except myself. The knowledge that there was a mystery in the house was painful to me. Lady Yorke seemed distressed—not merely anxious, but distressed. I saw tears in her eyes; and, when we were alone, she sighed frequently and deeply, as though she had something on her mind.

In the evening, just before the dressing-bell rang, to my astonishment Martha Glyde rapped at the door of Lady Yorke's boudoir. She wanted "to speak to her ladyship most particularly," but she would not keep her long. I went away and left them together.

During dinner I saw that Lady Yorke was quite unlike herself, nervous, agitated, unequal to the occasion, and more than once she glanced imploringly at Lord Severne.

Dinner over, I was not much surprised when a servant came to say that Lady Yorke wished to see me in her boudoir at once. I went. I had never seen the mistress of Westwood look so sad or so distressed before.

"Just turn the key in the door, Miss Chester," she said. "I want a few minutes conversation with you without interruption."

I did as she wished, and then stood before her, wondering at her agitation, her pale face, the sorrow expressed in her whole demeanor. She wrung her hands, began to speak, and then hesitated.

"The fact is," she said, "I am at a loss what to say or how to begin. I feel the shame and the disgrace keenly, as though they were my own. I must tell you, but I do not know how."

"Is it—is it of Lady Severne?" I asked.

"Yes," she replied. "Thank you for breaking the ice thus far. It is of her I want to speak. You asked me once if anything were wrong with her, and I told you yes, the canker was always at the heart of the fairest rose; the worm always destroys the sweetest bud."

"I remember, but I did not understand in the least," I said.

"Probably not. Lady Severne is beautiful, charming, she has many admirable qualities, she is very popular; but there is one fatal drawback, so fatal that all the other gifts are neutralized by it."

"What is it, Lady Yorke?" I asked, anxiously.

"I am ashamed to tell you. They are almost the most horrible words that can be said of a woman, but they are unhappily true, Miss Chester. The fact is, Lady Severne drinks."

I recoiled as though she had struck me a terrible blow; but Lady Yorke looked relieved at having told her horrible secret at last.

"It is true; she drinks!"

"But," I cried, aghast with horror, "she is a—a lady; it cannot be possible!"

"It is quite true, Miss Chester."

"Drinks!" Such a solution of the mystery had never occurred to me for one moment. If Lady Yorke had said, "She cheats at cards, she would rob her neighbor, she has committed murder"—even then I should not have felt so surprised. It was horrible to think that this beautiful woman, Mark's wife, should be guilty of so degrading a vice.

"But how is such a thing possible?" I cried, eagerly. "Surely she could avoid it if she would?"

"I cannot tell; she says it is a disease that seizes her and holds her fast in its clutches. At times, for weeks together, she is all that can be desired—a most agreeable, charming, fascinating woman; then for a few days she appears absolutely to lose all control over herself."

"But why do they let her have intoxicating liquors? Why not keep them from her?" I asked.

"They cannot. You may be sure that Lord Severne has tried everything; so has that faithful maid of hers, Martha Glyde. It is easier to soothe the paroxysms of the insane than to appease such a craving as hers. I have heard Martha say that when this horrible craving is on her, she will stoop to anything to get what she wants."

"How terrible!" I cried. "Oh, Lady Yorke, I wish I had not known it!"

"I am obliged to tell you," she said; "you may be sure that it is an unavoidable necessity. It is impossible that Lady Severne can remain in the western tower. Up to this present time no one in the house knows her secret, except her husband, Lord Yorke, Martha Glyde, you and myself; but, if she remains in the western tower, every one must guess it. Martha Glyde told me that she has never been so bad as she is now, and she begged me to remove her to where she could be neither seen nor heard. Every one thinks that she is ill; and it will occasion no remark if I say that she has asked for a quieter [illegible]

Chester, you are so gentle and good, that this pitiful case must touch your heart. Will you see her sometimes? You did me good; you might do her good. You reclaimed me from a life of idle self-indulgence, you might reclaim her."

"I will do anything you wish, Lady Yorke—anything."

"It will be a great relief to me if you will help Martha Glyde to remove the unhappy woman. I do not want Masham or any of the servants to know it. I must return to my visitors. I shall trust entirely to you."

She hastened away, leaving me horror-stricken and bewildered. Oh, Mark, my dear, lost love, it would have been better had you died!

CHAPTER XIV.

That was the solution of the mystery. That was the cause of Mark's watchfulness and misery and of Lady Severne's peculiarities. From that originated the cold metallic light in the eyes that should have been so tender and lustrous. That was the cause of the hectic color that so often took the place of the dainty bloom. That was why a pretty, bright young maid would have been quite useless—why the elderly woman kept watch and ward over her mistress. Of all the horrible fates that could have overtaken my poor Mark, surely none could have been more horrible than this! All the anger died in my heart; there was nothing left but profound compassion. Now I could understand why he would not say anything to me about his wife. He might well look so worn and haggard. I forgot that he had deceived me, blighted my life; and my heart went out to him, not with the old love, but with a great pity and yearning. I would have given my life to save his wife and help him.

I will not dwell on the terrible scene that was enacted when Lady Severne was taken to her new rooms. I hope that I may never see such a sight again—such a leering smile, drooping, heavy head, sullen eyes, and reeling figure.

"I am glad you know all about it, Miss Chester," said Martha. "It is a heavy secret to carry all by oneself. At times I can hardly bear it. I told Lady Yorke you would be the right one to trust."

Partly from her and partly from Lady Yorke I heard the whole sad story. I am no advocate for total abstinence, although I have a horror of excessive drinking. I simply tell this sad story as it was told to me, and record the incidents I saw.

There is no need to go far back into Lady Severne's life. She was well-born, well-bred, married when she was very young, and went with her husband, Captain Nugent, to India. When this horrible vice first took hold of her no one knew. There was some little rumor of it in India; but she was so young and so beautiful that no one believed it. It was not until she became Lady Severne that it attracted any attention. She said afterwards that she took no more than other ladies—two or three glasses of wine at luncheon—perhaps a little champagne if she felt tired or "low;" a little more wine at dinner; and, during the evening, champagne at one party, sherry at another, and always brandy at night. She liked it; she was careless, and never thought about the consequences. More than once Lord Severne, seeing her glass filled and refilled, would say, "Be careful, Lurline; that wine is strong." She would answer, laughingly, "I do not mind how strong it is if it sparkles." More than once he was distressed at finding bottles of brandy hidden away in her room. A bad habit grows quickly. The terrible day came when Lord Severne, returning home earlier than usual, found her—— Ah, well, I cannot write the word! From that time all semblance of happiness ceased between them. They had been married only six weeks when he made the discovery. He decided at once what to do. They could never live at Severne Court; the grand inheritance that had come to him was useless. He dared not make her mistress of the household; she was too far gone in her downward course for that. He could never make his home in England, where his misfortune must be known at once. He could never know when or how the shame and disgrace might fall upon him. He took her to Italy, hoping by travel, novelty, and constant care to wean her from her weakness.

At first there was some slight improvement, and it was while that improvement lasted that they met Lord and Lady Yorke. But Lady Severne was not cured, and there were irregularities in her manner which made them think strangely of her, and prevented her from being a favorite with them. They liked Lord Severne exceedingly; they were attracted by his melancholy, which at first they did not understand. Lady Yorke exacted from Lord Severne a promise that when they came to England they would visit Westwood, and, when business matters compelled Mark to return, he kept that promise; but it was in fear and trembling. Lurline had assured her husband, as she had often done before, that she would keep a strict guard over herself; but again and again she had relapsed into her old habits. For during those long months, when she had plenty of money at her command, Lady Severne had gone from bad to worse. Her husband was at last compelled to have the assistance of Martha Glyde; but, in spite of all the care lavished upon her, in spite of all precautions, when these terrible fits came upon Lady Severne, she always managed to get that for which her heart craved. Nothing was of any avail—prayers, tears, advice, anger, all were useless. The beautiful and admired Lady Severne was a secret drinker, a woman who had delivered herself to the bondage of an evil spirit, to the heavy yoke of a shameful habit. She bribed servants; she did things that in her better days she would have recoiled from doing. Yet so faithful was Martha Glyde, so loyal and thoughtful was her husband, that her terrible secret was hardly known. When Martha saw that a fit was inevitable, she locked her in her room and gave out to the world that she was ill. At those times Lord Severne went almost mad with mortification and annoyance.—There had been some terrible scenes once or twice, when Martha was off her guard and Lady Severne made her escape.

Lady Yorke, who had suspected in Italy what was wrong, now saw it plainly, and for the sake of the household Lord Severne had been compelled to tell her. She was distressed and grieved, but nothing could be done. Until Lady Severne came to her senses again she could not be removed. The only thing was to maintain the fiction of illness, and keep her secluded in her room. It was now three days since Martha Glyde, going one evening to put away her lady's jewels, found her insensible, and knew what had happened.

"We shall have a week of it," she said to me; "I know that."

"Surely not, if we keep everything from her."

"That we cannot do. I have been sharp and diligent as a detective; so has my lord. You may baffle the cunning of a rogue or a thief, but never the cunning of a drunkard. His lordship was very unwilling to come here," Martha continued, "but Lady Severne promised faithfully to give no trouble in this way. She is fond of Lady Yorke, and she [illegible] sorts of promises; but it was all in vain. Look at her now."

Lady Yorke told me much the same story, adding that Lord Severne's distress, when he was compelled to tell her the truth, was terrible.

"I am very sorry for her," said Lady Yorke; "but for him my pity knows no bounds. He cannot go into society. If he takes her with him, he lives in constant fear; if he leaves her at home alone, his fear is greater still. His whole career is spoiled, his whole life is blighted; he is miserably unhappy, and I see no hope or help for him. It is a millstone tied round his neck."

Her words were so many blows to me. The very novelty of the discovery made me only the more miserable. I could not help asking—

"If you knew of this, Lady Yorke, why did you ask her here?"

Yet the thought came to me that, if they had never come, I should always have believed Mark to be dead.

"I was not sure of it in Italy, and I never thought—I could never have dreamed—that it had reached this point. Honestly, much as I like and pity Lord Severne, if I had known the whole truth, I should not have invited them, nor would Lord Yorke have done so. I cannot tell you how unpleasant it is. Every moment of the day I am in anxious suspense and misery. What an expose it would be if any of the other guests should get to know it! And in a large household like this it is almost impossible to keep such a secret."

"It is very difficult," I replied.

"You will do your best, I know, Miss Chester," said Lady Yorke, to whom anxieties of any kind were quite new. "Lord Severne has promised me that he will take his wife away as soon as she recovers, and I shall be glad."

"Where will they go?" I asked.

She looked just a little surprised at the question, believing them to be strangers to me.

"Somewhere on the Continent," she answered. "He will never be able to live at that beautiful home of his."

"But why does he not send her away?"

"I suppose he would do so if she were always alike; but, you see, there are many weeks together when she is herself, charming and beautiful."

"Does he love her?" I asked, abruptly.

"I think he did love her. My opinion is that he was carried away by her beauty, and married her in a sudden fit of impulse. I do not think she is the woman whom he would have chosen calmly. I do not think he loves her now. No man could love a woman addicted to that vice. He is very anxious, very unhappy; he smarts under the disgrace; he is always nervous and apprehensive; but I do not think he loves her."

Was it so much the better, or so much the worse?

Lady Yorke hastened away, and I was left to my own thoughts. Granted that it was Nemesis, granted that Mark had done wrong, it was a terrible punishment. It rendered all the gifts of fortune useless to him. I could sympathize with his difficulties. If he tried to put her away from him, it would only draw public attention to that which he was most anxious to conceal. It seemed to me that some noble motive actuated him. He had taken the hapless woman for better or for worse, and he was trying his best. He gave her the shield, the protection of his name and his home."

[To be continued.]

If feeling old—renew your youthful vigor by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will vitalize the blood, recruit the wasting energies and build up the system.

One Majority.

"I understand, Barklow," said a friend, "that you have become quite a politician." "O yes. I ran for magistrate in my township the other day, and although I have not been living there long, I was only beaten by one majority."

"That's doing first-rate. Only beaten by one majority. You'll be sheriff of the County after awhile. How many votes are there in the township? I should think that a comparative stranger who is only beaten by one vote can, with encouragement, aspire to something great."

"I don't think so."

"Why?"

"You see I was beaten by one majority."

"Yes."

"Well, there are only three votes in the township."

☞ Millions of packages of the Diamond Dyes have been sold without a single complaint. Everywhere they are favorite dyes.

Mercantile Statistics.

"If you want some nice fresh butter, I've just received a lot from the country," said an Austin grocer to Col. Samulson, who does not know much about book-keeping.

"I can't trade with you," was the reply, "until you give up keeping books by the double entry system."

"Why, Colonel, I don't keep my books by double entry. I keep my accounts entirly by single entry."

"You may not do it on purpose, but you do it all the same. When I buy a pound of butter, you charge me up two pounds; or if you charge me with only one pound, you only send me half a pound. I cant afford to buy groceries from a man who believes in the double entry system of book-keeping."

 "Test a man's profession by his practice. Physician, heal thyself!" Physicians not only heal themselves with Kidney-Wort, but prescribe it for others for the worst case of biliousness and constipation, as well as for kidney complaints. If you feel out of sorts and don't know why, try a package of Kidney-Wort and you will feel like a new creature.

There are only four newspaper men in the New York legislature. This shows how much better able journalists are to resist temptation than other men.

What queer things newspapers are, and how peculiar the editors: A paper is read when it is black and white and the editor looks black when he feels blue.

Why continue the use of remedies that only relieve, when Ely's Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in head, can be had for 50 cents?

Apply into nostrils with little finger.

Ely's Cream Balm has completely cured me of Catarrh, of which I have been afflicted over ten years, after trying almost every remedy recommended, none having proved so effective and thorough. S. J. Aiken, wholesale Dealer in Boots and Shoes, 148 Federal St Boston, Mass.

[illegible]

RELISHABLE NONSENSE.

Some of the Funny Sayings of American Paragraphists.

How quickly a limb of the law branches out.

Our infant industries—Cradle manufactories.

Language of the flowers—You be blowed. [Life.

The pecan worm is "the hole thing in a nutshell."

A clean record—The laundry bill.
[New York Journal.

The best fire escape—Not be around when the fire occurs.

"A Winter's Tale" is supposed by many to be a depending icicle.

A man's mind is like his bed. It must be made up occasionally.

Some men who claim to be self-made men are not very well done.

One way to give a man "a chance to rise in the world"—Knock him down.

To tell the age of a horse never look in the mouth of a jockey.
[N. O. Picayune.

A telegraph wire is like a mustache. It is of no use when it is down.
[N. O. Picayune.

The best fire escape is when your wife gets up in the morning and makes it.
[Botton Commercial Bulletin.

A fashion journal says: "Tight trousers will have to go." "Well let 'em rip.
[N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

We hear a good deal about the "rage for speculation;" but Fogg, who speaks from experience, says the rage generally comes after the speculation.
[Boston Transcript.

The notion of having your house connected with the church, by telephone, is utterly absurd. How's your wife to see bonnets by telephone?
[Boston Post.

The man who is given to making cutting remarks should be treated like a jack-knife and shut up.
[Boston Transcript.

An exchange has an article headed, "What can wealth do?" Keeping out of a man's way is one of the feats which it accomplishes with ease.
[Arkansaw Traveller.

The man that would stop his paper for the sake of economy ought to cut off his feet to save the expense of socks. Paste this in the cavity of your hat.

An old lady from one of the rural districts astonished a clerk in one of the stores by inquiring if he had any "yaller developments sich as they did up letters in. [Sandersville, (Ga.) Mercury.

A calculation shows that a Dundee spinner must spin sixty miles of yarn to earn $2. Almost any country store can produce men that will spin a longer yarn for nothing.
[Pittsburgh Telegraph.

"Well, remarked a young M. D., just from college, "I suppose the next thing will be to hunt for a good location, and wait for something to do, like "Patience on a monument." "Yes," said a bystander, "and it won't be long after you do begin before the monument will be on the patients."

A CLERGYMAN'S TESTIMONY.

W. E. Gifford, Pastor M. E. church, Bothwell, Ont., was for two years a sufferer with Dyspepsia in its worst form, until as he states "life became an actual burden." Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he tells us in a recent letter that he considers it the best family medicine now before the country for dyspepsia and liver complaint.

Fashion Notes.

[From the Rome Sentinel.]

Stylish veils are of dark red silk net dotted with chenille, and reach just below the eyes.

The newest turbans of folded cloth or velvet are without brims, the folds reaching down to the hair, and are without trimming.

Printed mull of the gayest colors is made up in Dolly Varden caps with lace borders, and worn by young matrons in the early part of the day.

Imported evening toilets have trains either square or pointed: but these greatly interfere with dancing, and demi-trains are preferred by young ladies.

Flounced muslin petticoats with trains are made for full dress, dinner and evening toilets, as well as seperate trains which can be worn with different skirts.

Some of the new designs in polonaises have vests shaped on them, and apron drapery with bouffant back. These garments must be close fitting to be stylish.

Bright ribbons, an inch wide, trim the dancing dresses of young ladies. Rows of silk pompons are used as a border around the edge of handsome silk evening dresses.

Vest and plastron trimmings—indeed, all trimmings for the front of dress waists—must be very narrow and quite close together in order to give the slender long-waisted effect now in vogue.

Dress buttons for dark cloths imitate hammered metals; hammered silver buttons are on gray cloth and velvet pelisses, hammered bronze on brown cloth, and hammered gold on green and blue.

High corsages are very high indeed, leaving merly a rim of the standing linen collar in sight, and when frills of lisse or lace are used, requiring only the narrowest of their kind, and those most closely crimped.

AN OLD MAN'S BELIEF.

Have used Parker's Ginger Tonic for my bad cough and hemorrhage I had twenty-five years. I feel like another man since I used it. Am 66 years past. Believe it sure to cure younger persons. A. Orner, Highspire, Pa. 40w4

On Thirty Days' Trial.

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric Appliance on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with nervous debility, lost vitality, and kindred troubles, [illegible]

JOY AT HOME.

HAVING LEFT THEIR HOME IN SORROW, FATHER AND DAUGHTER RETURN IN GLADNESS.

Next to the sad duty of bearing the bodies of our dear dead to their long rest, is that of taking one loved living, when stricken with disease, in search of help which appears the more hopeless the nearer it is approached.

Yet when Mr. Nicholas Howell, of Waverly, Chemung county, N. Y., left his home some time since for New York, it was on such an errand. By his side was his daughter, whose case has been abandoned by the home physician as one of incurable disease of the heart. When the train reached Peekskill it was clear that the almost dying girl could not be carried a mile farther with safety. Emaciated in body, shattered in nerve, and melancholy in mind the poor girl had lost interest in her own fate. To her vision then loomed up but one end to all her suffering, and its insensible stillness looked almost inviting, after so many days of langor and pain.

But who may know his fate—either for good or evil? By the earnest advice of friends in Peekskill, Mr. Howell tenderly conveyed his daughter—all there was left of her—to the office of Dr David Kennedy in Rondout, N. Y. Dr Kennedy perceived that she was suffering from heart disease, and also from an advanced stage of a complaint common to women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

L. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL, Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspecton of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

KIDNEY-WORT

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.

PILES. THIS distressing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed.

☞ If you have either of these troubles

PRICE $1. USE Druggists Sell

KIDNEY WORT

Acts at the Same Time on

Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fult or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6. Geo. J. Emeny,
H. H. Gridley.

FALLEY SEMINARY.

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.

Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition..................
Board and Tuition (short week)..........26
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday March 26th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY
THE MOST
Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, Illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of deffnitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary. It also contains all the useal tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrrses, etc., American Geographical Names with deffnitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc., Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries, Interest Tables, 4 to 20 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 63 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 13 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionory.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and ecclose 21 green stamps. If not delighted, you can have your money back. Club of five, $2.75; ten, $5.

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all free for a paltry 63 cts. Send now. Address,

Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	9.00	4.30	......	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	8.00	3.30	......	......
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.15	12.20	6.00
Winterton	12.09	7.38	12.52	6.43
Bloomingburgh	12.06	7.46	1.00	6.56
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	7.07
SUMMITVILLE	12.30	8.00	2.55	7.35
Fallsburg	1.00	....	4.03	9.00
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	9.30
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	9.50
Liberty	1.26	....	4.48	10.10
Parksville	1.40	....	5.05	10.45
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	11.15
Rockland	2.27	....	5.45	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	12.35
East Branch	3.00		6.28	1.40
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.55	3.25
WALTON	4.05	6.50	8.00	5.15
Franklin	4.38	7.45	8.50	.....
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.30	8.30
Guilford	5.29	9.30	......	......
Oxford	5.43	10.00	......	......
NORWICH......Arrive	6.00	10.40	......	10.00
	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.
NORWICH	6.05	2.05	6.55	6.35
North Norwich	6.17	2.25	7.07	8.47
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.22	9.15
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	9.36
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.30	7.41	10.08
Eaton	7.06	3.53	7.51	10.30
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	[illegible]
Munnsville	7.25	4.38	8.13	[illegible]
Community	7.38	5.02	8.26	[illegible]
ONEIDA	7.50	5.15	9.10	1.10
Fish Creek	*8.06	......	*9.34	1.48
North Bay	8.14	......	9.42	2.12
Cleveland	8.30	......	10.05	2.50
Bernhards Bay	*8.36	......	10.13	3.03
Constantia	8.45	......	10.27	3.25
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.02	......	10.50	4.10
Fulton	9.35	......	11.38	5.33
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.10	6.30
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y.Ar	8.25	10.50	10.00	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	9.10	......	11.50	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	8.10	6.50
Winterton	5.02	7.52	5.40	5.19
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.45	5.32	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.48	7.39	5.22	4.58
Summitville	4.40	7.30	5.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.03	....	4.30	3.08
Hurley	3.53	....	4.18	2.54
Liberty Falls	3.40	....	3.35	2.33
Liberty	3.36	....	3.27	2.20
Parksville	3.22	....	3.06	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.08	....	2.48	12.48
Rockland	2.53	....	2.27	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.20
East Branch	2.18		1.40	10.07
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	9.00
Walton	1.12	3.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.20	2.42	10.55	......
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	......
Guilford	11.29	12.53	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.55	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	7.55	6.05
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.45
Smyrna	10.26	10.50	7.33	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.24	5.05
Randallsville	10.08	10.08	7.15	4.46
Eaton	9.56	9.35	7.06	4.25
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.56	4.10
Munnsville	9.33	8.35	6.40	3.22
Community	9.17	7.55	6.23	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	5.34	12.40
North Bay	8.37	......	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	......	4.51	11.35
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	4.42	10.50
Constantia	8.07	......	4.32	10.27
Central Square	7.48	......	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	......	3.22	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	7.30
	a. m.	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.39	7.20	2.36
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	6.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	8.36	6.08	11.16
DELHI	5.10	9.00	5.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.31	8.14
Mount Upton	5.46	8.03
Holmesville	6.15	7.32
So. New Berlin	6.26	7.26
NEW BERLIN	6.55	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.

J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't. J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pas'g'r. Agt.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY URGEON.

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. ARCTIC 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.

Get the best, don't be humbugged by imitations.

EXPEDITION

20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agency to ALVORD & SLEIGHT, publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

Mention this paper.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE,

13 and 15 North Salina Street,

THE FULTON TIMES | Congress will adjourn March 4. It is | POSTAL TELEGR'PH COMPANY | A FOREST FIRE. | PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Estimates Given on Buildings.
Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE,
12 and 16 North Salina Street,

THE FULTON TIMES

[illegible]esday, Feb. 28, 1883.

OIL has been discovered in Saratoga county and there is much excitement.

LETTER postage has been reduced to two cents. The law will go into effect October 1st 1883.

A GOOD place to live is Columbia, South Carolina, where the peach trees are now in full bloom.

JAY GOULD holds $35,000,000 worth of Western Union Telegraph stock and the amount is steadily increasing.

ACCORDING to the last census there are 6,239,958 people in the United States, ten years of age and over, who do not know how to write.

THE vote for U. S. Senator in Michigan continues. Ferry's vote was on yesterday reduced to two. Mr. Ferry is in Washington, sick.

THE Star Routers and all of their associates are a bad lot. A. B. Williams, one of Dorsey's counsel, has been indicted on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

CAREY, the informer, has been the means of causing the arrest and commitment of twenty-one men for complicity in the murder of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke.

THOUSANDS of families are making preparations to leave New York State next month and find a home in Dakota. The possibilities in that country are said to be better than in any country yet opened up to settlement.

THIS government has received an application from the British government for the extradition of P. J. Sheridan, who was suspected af complicity in the murder of Lord Cavenish and Secretary Burke. He is thought to be the mysterious "Number One."

THE water in the Ohio river is receding and rising in the Mississippi. The desolation along the Ohio is apalling. Thousands of dollars are being forwarded from sister cities and towns to alleviate the distress. The intense cold weather adds much to the suffering.

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND pardoned a man from Auburn prison last week on condition that he refrain from indulgence in intoxicating liquors until the expiration of the term for which he was sentenced. He was sent from Syracuse last summer to serve five years for grand larceny, which, it is said he committed while intoxicated.

THERE is an earnest and active effort being put forth, throughout the entire country, to bring about a permanent coalition of all political elements opposed to the aggression of corporate monopolies. This effort, though of recent origin, has already borne unexpected fruit and bids fair to achieve a consummation of its object within a brief period.

VENNOR bobs up and gives the following as our weather for March:—1st—storm continuing from last of February: 3d and 4th—cold and stormy with snow blockades; 10th and 11th—very stormy, snow or rainfalls; 17th and 20th—cold weather and heavy rainfalls; 25th a wind storms with snow or rainfalls; 27th—a great snow storm in New Foundland; 29th 30th and 31st—days of general storm over the entire continent.

A NEW YORK grocer was complained of by a customer for selling adulterated baking powder and fined $10. He appealed and judgement was reversed, the judge remarking that when a grocer buys packages of goods in the open market from a reputable dealer and pays the highest price, he cannot justly, I think, be held for selling adulterated goods with criminal intent. The proper parties to attack should be the manufacturers.

LONDON, England, is indeed a great town. Within its corporate limits are 7,000 miles of street spread out over an area of nearly 700 miles; here there is a birth every five minutes, a death every eight minutes, and several accidents every day; and here there may be found beer shops and gin palaces that would stretch over seventy-three miles. Here one thousand ships and 9,000 sailors are in port every day: here are 9,000 new houses built every year, and 238,000,000 letters delivered.

FIVE hundred little girls in the German Catholic parochial school in East Fourth street New York, were panic stricken Wednesday afternoon by an alarm of fire, and crowded down one narrow staircase from the third floor. The board railing gave way, and fifty children fell into the hallway of the first floor. Hundreds crowded and fell down upon those underneath, and trampled to death or suffocated the children at the bottom. Eight were taken out dead and seven died afterward.

RUSSIA must be a most unpleasant place to reside. The Czar causes all his victuals to be inspected before eating them to detect any bombs or poisons that might find their way in them by Nihilists. His sleeping apartment is guarded by a squad of soldiers and in his rides and walks is accompanied by a troop of cavalrymen. The approaching coronation in May is regarded with uneasiness and he fears an attempt will be made by the Nihilists to kill him. There is more real comfort in being a poor man in America than a Czar in Russia.

A MAN named Cox was sentenced to a month's imprisonment at Rutland, Vt., for selling alcoholic beverages, but had the alternative of paying a fine instead, at any time within 24 hours. He refused to pay for his liberty, until he found that as a prisoner, he must part with his beard, which reached to his waist, and had been 25 years growing. The warden said it was then too late, and ordered the barber to do his duty. Cox was held fast and his face roughly shaved, without using any lather or first clipping off the whiskers with the scissors. He caught cold and nearly died, as a consequence of this treatment. He sued for damages, and two trials have resulted in verdicts of heavy amounts against the warden; but each time there was an informality, and a third jury will hear the case.

CONGRESS will adjourn March 4. It is thought there will be no extra session.

AND now it's the government printer who is reported to be $[illegible] short in his accounts. An honest official in Washington will soon be a curiosity.

THERE is trouble in the navy. Lieutenant Commander Gorringe while on a furlough in New York expressed his views on the tariff and ship building and was called to account by Chandler, Secretary of the Navy, for giving his opinion while a government officer. Gorringe tendered his resignation and it was accepted. It is viewed as a piece of insolence the temerity of the Secretary of the Navy in trying to abridge the rights of an American though he be in a small "navee."

THE fact of a strike occurring in a prison is somewhat strange. In Sing Sing the convicts refused to work and defied the prison authorities. Sunday one hundred strikers were allowed to attend chapel having promised obedience. Father Tenay preached and exhorted the convicts to conform to the discipline. He was applauded several times. The strikers Monday morning resumed work, with the exception of twenty-eight ringleaders, who will be kept in their cells a while longer.

THE wool manufacturing establishments of the United States now number 2,084, with a capital of $159,614,870. They give employment to 75,331 men and 85,664 women and children. The average paid each toiler is $293.05 a year, or $24.42 a month. These mills consume 296,192,329 pounds of wool, of which 222,091,531 are of home production, and 53,200,698 pounds come from abroad. The average cost of the wool is thirty-two cents a pound. The manufactories make a profit of thirteen and one-half per cent. on the capital invested clear of expenses.

TWENTY-FIVE Governors have occupied the chair of State in New York in the one-hundred and six years of the State's existence. There are now eight survivors of this number: Hamilton Fish, whose first term began in 1849; Horatio Seymour, whose first term began in 1853; Myron H. Clark, 1855; Reuben E. Fenton, 1865; John T Hoffman, 1869, Samuel J. Tilden, 1875, Lucius Robinson, 1877, and Allonzo B. Cornell, 1880. Ten of the twenty five were elected for two terms, and these were: The two Clintons, John Jay, Tompkins, Marcy, Seward, Morgan, Seymour, Hoffman and Fenton, the last three still being in the land of the living.

THE Grand Jury in session in Milwaukee examining into the cause of the Newhall house fire indicted Mr. Schiller, lessee of the barroom for arson. The indictment charges the prisoner with wilfully, maliciously, and feloniously setting fire to, and burning the Newhall House on the night of January 10, and causing the death of a number of persons. His counsel insisted upon an immediate arraignment, and Mr. Schiller was taken to the court room Monday afternoon almost unobserved. He pleaded not guilty. He was recommitted in default of $10,000 bail. The Grand Jury are still considering the responsibility of the owner, and manager of the hotel. It is believed that indictments for manslaughter will be returned against the manager and night clerk.

☞ Worsted Dress Goods in all colors at 10 and 12½c. Former prices 15 and 20c. at Fay's New York Store. 41

Teachers Examination.

A joint teachers examination will be held at each of the following places on the dates named, examination commencing at 9 a. m.: Pulaski, March 16 (Friday); Fulton, March 27, (Tuesday); Central Square, March 29 (Thursday).

Persons desiring to teach during the coming summer are requested to be present as no private examinations will be given.

C. R. PARKHURST.
H. D. NUTTING.
JAY B. COLE,
Board of Com'rs.

Granby S. S. Union.

The next meeting of the Granby Sunday School Union will be held at Dexterville, Sunday, March 4th, at 2 o'clock p. m. The topic for discussion is "Temperance." There will be two exercises by our primary class (using the topic for discussion.) One, consisting of five, the other twenty-six of its members. The Rev's Smith of Fulton, and Johnson of South West Oswego, will be present. Others are invited. A profitable time is expected.

D. M. COX, Pres't.
S. B. DUTTON, Sec'y.

Granby Centre.

GRANBY CENTRE, Feb. 27:—Elisha Perkins is quite sick.

Miss Libbie Becker, daughter of Capt. Wm. Becker, who is in the Nurse's Hospital, Brooklyn, has been quite sick with typhoid fever, but is convalescing.

The revival meetings are about to close. They have not created much enthusiasm.

South Scriba.

SOUTH SCRIBA, Feb. 27,—Michael Hayes of this place has been appointed loan commissioner.

Dwight Stone an old resident of Scriba is preparing to remove to Southern Illinois. He has an engagement with the American Evaporating Manufacturing Co.

Mrs. George Sheffield who has been so low for some days that it was feared she could not recover, is improving.

Mrs. Geo. McDougal is quite ill.

The Rev. Mr. Ensign is holding revival meetings at Scriba Centre. Q

☞ See those new organs and pianos at Bristol's Music Store.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.
Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, Feb. 27, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.
Present, a full board.
Minutes of last meeting read and approved.
The finance committee reported the following bills correct, and orders were drawn for the amounts:

Wm. W. Hill, for gravel	$6 00
John Cavanaugh, street lamps	41 19
Wm C. Stephens, attys services	75 50

Mr Stephens asked that a sum be fixed for license to all shows at the Opera House. Referred to finance committee.
Board adjourned to March 13, 1883, at 7:30 p.m.
L. H. PATTERSON, clerk.

To The Public!

I am making arrangements to abandon the fish and oyster market conducted by me in this village for the past twelve years. Parties having pails, pitchers, etc., loaned them to carry oysters will oblige by returning them at once. I [illegible] in small accounts outstanding that will [illegible]

POSTAL TELEGR'PH COMPANY
A Revolution in Telegraphy—A System to be Introduced that will Transmit Handwriting.

The latest rival of the Western Union Telegraph Co., is the Postal Telegraph Co. The patents belonging to the company are the Leggo automatic system and the Gray harmonic system. They are designed to revolutionize telegraphing—the present mode of work which is primitive in comparison. The Leggo patents cover a system of sending dispatches automatically, without the need of telegraph operators, and at the rate of nearly 1,000 words a minute. Moreover, the dispatch as delivered is a perfect fac-simile of the handwriting of the original dispatch. The Gray harmonic system permits the use of eight wires to be done with one. Eight tuning forks of different pitch are set up, for instance in New York, corresponding with similar forks in Boston. A wire from each is connected with the main wire when it leaves the main office in each city, and by experiment it is found that when one particular fork is struck, the corresponding fork at the other end of the line responds. The whole eight forks can be used at once without interfering with each other. The wires of the new company reached Cleveland Saturday, and will be extended to Chicago by the end of this month. Stamps similar to postal letter-stamps will be sold by the company, to be affixed to the despatch, which, if there is no great hurry, can then be sent by mail to the office of the telegraph company. The prices will be below those of any present telegraphic service, and the company announce that they will be able to do more work with their two wires than with sixty ordinary wires equipped with the Morse instruments.

Sewing machine needles and all attachments at Singer Head-quarters No. 3 First Street.

Who Gets the Public Lands.

The following table shows the total land grants made by the United States up to 1880 and [illegible] the people an idea where the public [illegible] is going to:

States and Corporations.	Acres Granted.
Illinois	2,595,053
Missouri	2,985,160
Iowa	6,795,527
Michigan	5,712,480
Wisconsin	4,808,486
Minnesota	[illegible],092,041
Kansas	9,370,009
Pacific Railroad	159,486,766
Total	215,203,807

These grants, amounting in the aggregate to 215,203,807 acres, or over 335,000 square miles, is only about 6,000 miles less in area than all the original thirteen States of the Union taken together, and is more than 70 per cent. greater than the total area of the German empire. Who doubts the generosity of our law makers?

We sincerely believe that every case of pulmonary disease, not already beyond the reach of human aid, may, if promptly treated, be relieved and cured by the faithful use of Ayers Cherry Pectoral.

Grand Excursion to California.

Thos. Cook & Son, the well-known excursion agents, are arranging a grand trip to the Pacific Coast, starting early in May, occupying about eight weeks. The program is a most delightful one, embracing Washington, Louisville, the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, St. Louis, Denver, with delightful side trips among the Rocky Mountains by special trains, thence through New Mexico and Arizona to Southern California, including Los Angelos and Montery. The Yosemite Valley is also included. The return trip from San Francisco includes Salt Lake city and the new route via the Denver and Rio Grande railway, which passes through some of the finest scenery in the world, and which is now opened for the first time to tourists. The return from Chicago is via Niagara Falls. Pullman cars, hotel accomodations and all necessary expenses are included in the fare, which is $500. A program containing all particulars can be had by addressing Thos Cook & Son, 261 Broadway, New York.

SPEAKS RIGHT UP.

"Have tried Thomas' Eclectric Oil for croup and colds, and find it the best remedy I have ever used in my family." Wm Key 510 Plymouth Ave, Buffalo, N. Y.

WIDE AWAKE FOR MARCH, 1883.

The March Wide Awake will be eagerly snapped up by boys of ambition and vim, in order to finish what the "Eighty-three Business Men" have to say about "Our Business Boys." Part II. of this important contribution to young folks' literature is entitled "Rocks of Danger," and is as vigorous and to the point as "Secrets of Success" in the February number. From this article the boys will probably turn to Fred Ober's Yucatan serial, "The Silver City," or to Rev. Irving L. Beman's story of "Evan Cogswell's Ice Fort," or to Edward Everett Hale's To Day Talk about the dead French statesman, Gambetta, or to "A Boy's Workshop," or to Prof. Sargent's "Health and Strength Paper," or to Mrs. Cheever's jolly out-of-doors story, "Camp Hamperford"—for all these contributions, interesting to everybody, are of peculiar interest to the boys. Act II. of the White Mountain Comedy, "More than They Bargained for," is as full of fun as it is of delicate characterization; and a fine humor too prevades "Old Caravan Days," and Mrs. Diaz's John Spicer Lectureon "Clothes." Mrs. L. T. Craigin has a good story, "Ellie's Holocaust;" Miss Harris concludes her history of a botanical experiment, "A Winter Garden;" The Next Neighbor writes, in Anna Maria's Housekeeping," of "Two Teakettles;" there is in the Pleasant Author Series a delightful paper about Leigh Hunt, and withal, there are many illustrated poems: "Auctioning off the Baby," by M. E. B., "The Cat-tail Arrow," by Clara Doty Bates, "Ethel's Advice to Baby," by Margaret Sidney, "That little Bonnet," by Miss Wilkins, also George Eliot's famous "O, may I join the Choir Invisible," which is accompanied by a most beautiful illustration from a French painting

Only $2.50 a year. D. LOTHROP & Co., Publishers, Boston Mass.

Sickness.

Compels the present owners of a property a few miles east of Fulton to sell or exchange for a village home. This property consists of a saw mill, house, barn and private fish pond. It is a big paying business and a bonanza for some live man. Inquire at No. 10 First St.

F. D. VANWAGENEN jr.

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the [illegible]

A FOREST FIRE.
A Thrilling Scene in a Rocky Mountain Mining Camp.

The frosty September nights had killed the mountain grasses. The west wind, cold, dry, bracing, had blown steadily for days through the pine forest, penetrating into every nook and eddying dryingly around the granite crags. The carpet of pine needles, spread thickly over the foot hills, was thoroughly dry. The creeks were low. The water in the ravines had ceased flowing.

An iron bar thrust into the furnace of an upright boiler and vigorously stirred caused the air to rush out through the open doors with a gust. As it swept through the flues and into the contracted smokestack, it carried a fiery column of sparks and burning bits of wood with it. Out of this smokestack these sprang, and were flung on to the couch of pine needles lying in the adjacent forest. Instantly they were ablaze. With a low murmur, the fire ran nimbly up Mammoth Gulch. Fanlike, it expanded, and gaining strength, the faint murmur of the burning pine needles were placed by a loud crackling roar. Almost instantly the fire passed beyond the control of man. The wind freshened and blew up the gulch strongly. Tongues of flame shot obliquely up the hillsides. The smoke rolled in vast horizontal cylinders in the van of the fire. The case admitted of nothing except the thrusting of hands into overall pockets, the filling of pipes and the deliberate smoking of them. Nothing could be done to save the mill property and mining camp until the back and side fires began to descend the hills; then they could probably be controlled.

Up the gulch the head fire, seen through the smoke, was a dull red, almost a copper color. Tiny whirlwinds quickly formed, and in an instant many columns of fire rose, with angry roar, high above the tops of the most lofty pines. The burning embers, sucked up through the fiery funnell, were scattered broadcast as from an aerial centrifugal machine, and far in advance of the main fire fresh fires formed. The air became heavy with ashes. The sun shone through the pall like smoke dimly. Within the fire line the very air seemed to be a mass of flame, through which doubly heated tongues shot in long, rolling thrusts. As the fury of the fire increased great pine trees became ablaze. From towering cones of green they were instantly transformed into flaming beacons that stood high above the heaving sea of smoke. The burning trees uttered sharp, [illegible] like cries, as though in actual pain. Dozens of trees would flare up brightly at the same time, and as their cones burned off, the strong wind hurled them hundreds of feet through the air in advance of the main fire line. With great speed the fire ran through the light underbrush and dry twigs. Behind lay the carpet of smouldering pine needles. From this arose a dense cloud of light colored smoke. Slowly, very slowly, was the carpet consumed. The smoke arising from it obscured the main fire. Slowly sinking into the earth all signs of active destructive fire disappeared. From the pores of the burned area a certain dankness the smoke issued in fountains of tiny jets.

I walked home through the unburnt forest, and packed my household goods preparatory to cacheing them in an abandoned mine shaft. By ten o'clock in the evening I had finished packing; then, stepping out of the house to see if the fire was coming, I heard rifle like reports issuing from the smoke clouded forest a quarter of a mile to the north. These reports increased in frequency, and thinking the deserted mining camp, in almost every house of which cartridges of giant powder were lying on shelves, or carelessly thrust between the logs, was on fire, I walked up out of the rocky glen in which my house stands to witness the destruction of the village. It was not on fire, being protected by a high, bare, rocky hill, down which the fire could not descend. The reports had increased in frequency until it was as though a strong skirmish line were briskly engaged.

The noise was made by falling trees, trees undermined by the cloaked fire of the pine needles consuming their roots. Faster and faster the trees fell, until the single reports were no longer distinguishable. It sounded as though a battle was being fought under the clouds of smoke hanging in the mountain valley. Nothing bould be seen in the valley below me. There was a dull, lurid color to thesmoke; that was all. Away off to the east, at the head of the valley, the smoke was a little brighter. The work of destruction was going on under a cloud. As I sat on a high granite point the wind shifted. The southern side fire became a head fire. A red line, some two miles in length, rushed up the steep flank of a mountain to the east of where I sat. Red-hot ashes and bits of burning wood headed the advancing line as fiery hail. The wind, whirling around crags and into nooks filled with dry branches and fallen trees, caused the flames to spring high above the rocks. Scores of these towering columns of fire, oscillating wildly, could be seen at once. Again the wind changed with a furious gust and blew strongly from the north. Then, away off to the north, on a steep mountain side, a pinkish cloud of smoke rolled rapidly upward, and through and high above it gigantic exclamation points of flames were blazoned against the dark northern sky.

For two days we fought side fires, striving to save our houses. It seemed to be a hopeless task. We were well nigh exhausted when the storm clouds gathered around the white peaks of the Medicine Bow range, and a fierce autumnal storm of hail and rain fairly flooded the burning district. The rain fell far into the night. The next morning a few rotten stumps and logs, smouldering among the fallen timber, alone remained of the fiercest fire I have ever seen. [N. Y. Sun.

DO IT WITH PLEASURE.

Waugler Bros druggists, of Waterloo, Iowa, writes: "We can with pleasure say that Thomas Eclectric Oil gives the best satisfaction of any liniment we sell. Everybody who buys will have no other. This remedy is a certain remedy is a certain cure for all aches, sprains, and pains,

Buy your Clothing of the New York Clothing Co., and save the middleman's [illegible]

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Bristol has the largest stock and gives the best prices on Pianos and Organs of any make. Goods sold on monthly payments. New Organs from forty-five dollars up.

A $20.00 Biblical Reward.

The publishers of Rutledges Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their Monthly for March, among which is the following:

We will give $20.00 in gold to the person telling us which is the longest verse in the Bible by March 10 1883. Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided.

The money will be forwarded to the winner March 15th 1883. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer, for which they will receive the April Monthly, in which the name and the address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published, and in which several more valuable rewards will be offered.

Address RUTLEDGE PUBLISHING COMPANY, 532 Northamqton St., Easton, Penna.

For Sale.

I offer for sale my residence on Rochester Street. In perfect repair.

M. H. BRANDO.

For Sale.

A good house and lot, No. 76 Utica street, in good repair. Inquire at this office, or on premises.

For Sale.

The House and Lot situated on the corner of Erie and Third streets occupied by L. S. Worden. Enquire on premises. Terms easy. 37t8

For Sale Cheap.

A farm of forty-one acres, eight miles south-west of Fulton, in the town of Ira, good buildings, good fruit and well watered. Inquire of JOHN CANE.

Fulton, Feb'y. 28, 1883,

For Sale.

A house and two lots situated on the corner of Third and Leitch streets, upper Oswego Falls. Two blocks north of Broadway. Convenient to factory. Enquire on the premises of

MICHAEL FRAWLEY.

Oswego Falls, Feb. 28, 1883. 41t3

FOR SALE.

In Lower Oswego Falls, about four acres of land with a house and barn—about ten minutes walk from end of lower bridge. Lying between First St. and the river, adjoining on the south the place of Mrs. Martin Osborn. For particulars inquire of

MRS. E. E. SWAN,
33tf Lower Oswego Falls.

Auction!

The undersigned will sell at public auction, at the late residence of Christmas Woodcock, deceased, in the town of Volney, N. Y., on the 1st day of March, 1883, the stock, farming tools, etc., of said Christmas Woodcock, deceased, consisting of 5 cows, 2 horses, 1 mowing machine, wagons, cutters, fanning mill, hay, straw, oats, corn, and farming tools. Sale will commence at 11 a. m.

Terms of Sale—All sums under $5 cash; above $5 approved notes payable in six months with interest.

JOHN H. WOODIN Executor.
Dated, Fulton, N. Y., Feb. 28, 1883.

AUCTION.

The subscriber will sell the following property at auction sale on Wednesday, March 7, 1883, at 10½ o'clock at the farm of Frank Smith, located 1½ miles east of Hannibal Centre, on the road leading to West Granby, 12 cows, 1 span of mares, 4 large sized shoats, 1 champion grain drill, 1 mowing machine, 1 wheel horse rake, 1 harrow, 1 straw cutter, 1 lumber wagon, 1 platform spring wagon, 1 open buggy, 1 two seated cutter, 1 pair bob sleighs, 5 cultivators, 1 chilled plow, 1 set double harness, 1 single harness, 1 four year old colt, 1 yearling colt, 1 milk can, 10 or 12 tons of hay and a quantity of straw, and other articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale: All sums of $5 and under cash, over that amount approved notes payable nine months after date at Citizens National Bank, Fulton.

FRANK and MARY SMITH.
H. H. HULETT, Auctioneer.
Fulton, Feb. 28, 1883.

STONEBURGH,
Asks Your Attention!

—:o:—

He has Removed
into His New
Store,—Corner of
Broadway and First St.
and has a New, Fresh and
Enlarged Stock of

General Merchandise.

Everything to be found in a

General Assortment Store.

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

paid for all kinds of country produce.
Drop in and see what we keep for sale.
In connection with his grocery a

Meat Market

is now open. Fresh meats cut and delivered anywhere in Fulton and Oswego Fal's,

STONEBURGH'S.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

DIAMOND DYES.

THE Best Dyes Ever Made.

FOR SILK, WOOL, OR COTTON. DRESSES, COATS, SCARFS, HOODS, YARN, STOCKINGS, CARPET RAGS, RIBBONS, FEATHERS, or any fabric or fancy article easily and perfectly colored to any shade. Black, Brown, Green, Blue, Scarlet, Cardinal Red, Navy Blue, Seal Brown, Olive Green, Terra Cotta and 20 other best colors. Warranted Fast and Durable. Each package will color one to four lbs. of goods. If you have never used Dyes try these once. You will be delighted. Sold by druggists, or send us 10 cents and any color wanted sent post-paid. [illegible] WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

GOLD and SILVER PAINT.

Boarding and Livery Stables

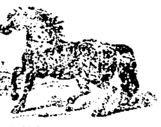
—:o:—

ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S.

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at
ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.

Horses and Carriages at all times.
Trusty Drivers when desired.
Hacks, Hearses and Carriages
For Funerals.
35 N. ROWLEE.

VETERINARY SURGEON



DR. GEO W. BELL,

The only Graduate in Oswego County.
VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,
(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)
has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the
LEWIS HOUSE BARN,
where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.
Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.
All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.
Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.
☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Pouchet's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 33tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS
Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.
Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office.
Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.
Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:
OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.
Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174.
Those desiring can be waited on at their residence Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cryuga street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.
Jan. 3, 83 1 yr.

Real Estate! Real Estate!

—:o:—

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure.

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

We offer for sale the house and lot near the end of 2nd street, now owned and occupied by Chas. Easton.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.
Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 6 on Block 64—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 55. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

TO BUSINESS MEN—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

House and lot on Second Street.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!
IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Houses and lots in Oswego Falls.

House on Third St. for $2,600.

Vacant lots on Second St., $500 & $600.

Houses on Second St. $900 to $2000.

Four hundred ($400 will buy a house on Buffalo St.,—on the same street another may be had for eight hundred, ($800). Another for $2,000.

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St.. A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 2½ to 325 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best ones go,
Danger in delay you know.
Go to Lathrop's high and low—
Buy a Valentine.

G. C. LATHROP,
22 First Street—Opposite Lewis House.
Fulton Feb. 1st, 1883.

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN

AT ONCE FOR YOUR

50 & 60 CT. FINECUT
BEST IN TOWN
GUARANTEED!
ALL GOODS WAY DOWN
[illegible]

MUTUAL LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY
—OF—
NEW YORK.

—:o:—

This Company was Chartered in 1842.

Assets - - $94,702,957.9[illegible]

—:o:—

Premium rates lower than any other Company.

W. C. WHEELER, Agent,
Fulton Times Office,
Fulton, N. Y.

WE OFFER AT
THE BAZAAR

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62.
Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40.
Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.

CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

McCarthy's
CHINA HALL.

OSWEGO, N. Y.

—:o:—

Great Bargains
—IN—
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
CHANDELIERS,
LAMPS,
SILVERWARE

For the next Thirty Days.

JAMES McCARTHY
OSWEGO, N. Y.

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE.

Four Houses, Oswego Falls, Pine St., between First and Second Streets.

Vacant Lot, Oswego Falls, Oak Street.

House and two lots, Fulton, Academy Street, known as "Capt. Taylor place."

Vacant Lot Fulton, 6th St., Block 512
" " " 5th " " 511
" " " Park Street known as L. R. Rector Lots
" " " Bl'k 84, on Acad'y St

House and Lot " Cor, 3d and Cayuga streets, in which I reside.

All or any of the above parcels will be sold Cheap and on easy terms of payment.

Dated Jan'y 1883. H. E. NICHOLS.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of timber land the balance in a high state of cultivation. One hundred apple trees, one hundred pear trees, and a "sap bush" making one hundred pounds of sugar per year. Plenty of water and good buildings. A good [illegible]

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

FITS A Leading London Physician establishes an office in New York for the cure of EPILEPTIC FITS.

From Am. Journal of Medicine.

Dr. Ab. Meserole (late of London), who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any other living physician. His success has simply been astonishing; we have heard of cases of over 20 years' standing successfully cured by him. He has published a work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his wonderful cure free to any sufferer who may send their express and P. O. Address. We advise any one wishing a cure to address Dr. AB. MESEROLE, No. 96 John St., New York.

THE UNION TRUST CO.,

611 and 613 Chestnut Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.
CAPITAL $1,000. | Charter Perpetual.

Acts as Executor, Administrator, Assignee, Receiver, Guardian, Attorney, Agent, Trustee and Committee, alone or in connection with an individual appointee.

Takes charge of the property of absentees and non-residents, collects and remits income promptly, and discharges faithfully the duties of every fiduciary trust and agency known to the law.

Safes for Rent within Burglar proof Vaults of the most approved construction.

Wills kept in Fire & Burglar proof Safes without charge. Plate, securities and all other valuables securely kept at a moderate annual charge for safe return or specific indemnity.

Car trusts and other approved securities for sale. Interest allowed on Moneys deposited for definite periods, or upon ten days' notice.

W. C. PATTERSON, President.
HEISTER CLYMER, Vice-President.
MAHLON S. STOKES, Treasurer.
FRANCIS BACON, Sec'y and Trust Officer

DIRECTORS.

W C PATTERSON,
JAMES LONG,
ALFRED F GILLETT,
HON ALLISON WHITE,
DR C P TURNER,
D R PATTERSON,
JOHN T. MONROE,
JOS I KEEFE,
THOS R PATTON,
W J NEAD,
JAS S MARTIN,
DR D HAYES AGNEW,
H H HOUSTON,
JOHN G READING,
Philadelphia, Pa.;
HON T F RANDOLPH,
Morristown, N. J.;

HON T F BAYARD,
Wilmington, Del;
DR GEO W REILY,
Harrisburg, Pa;
HON J S AFRICA,
Huntingdon, Pa;
HON H CLYMER,
Reading, Pa;
HENRY S ECKHART,
Reading, Pa.;
EDMUND S DOTY,
Mifflintown, Pa;
HON R E MONAGHAN,
West Chester, Pa;
GEN W W H DAVIS,
Doylestown, Pa;
CHAS W. COOPER,
Allentown, Pa.

SEYMOUR, HUNT & CO.
(established in 1873.)
3 Exchange Court, N. Y 123 LaSalle St. Chicago.
BANKERS AND BROKERS.
Special facilities for the purchase and sale of
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, PROVISIONS
Refer to Mechanics' National Bank, Chicago, and German Security Bank, Louisville, Ky.
J. M. SEYMOUR, Member New York Stock Exchange
J. A. HUNT, Member Chicago Board of Trade.
A. L. SEYMOUR.

FARMS ON JAMES RIVER, VA., IN A northern settlement. Illustrated circular free. J. F. MANCHA, Claremont, Va.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

FARMS.—Before locating, consult our catalogue and map, sent free. ILER & MERKINS, Cambridge, Md.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway. It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE,

THE FULTON TIMES

day, Feb. 28, 1883.

Oil has been discovered in Saratoga county and there is much excitement.

Letter postage has been reduced to two cents. The law will go into effect October 1st 1883.

A good place to live is Columbia, South Carolina, where the peach trees are now in full bloom.

Jay Gould holds $35,000,000 worth of Western Union Telegraph stock and the amount is steadily increasing.

According to the last census there are 6,239,958 people in the United States, ten years of age and over, who do not know how to write.

The vote for U. S. Senator in Michigan continues. Ferry's vote was on yesterday reduced to two. Mr. Ferry is in Washington, sick.

The Star Routers and all of their associates are a bad lot. A. B. Williams, one of Dorsey's counsel, has been indicted on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Carey, the informer, has been the means of causing the arrest and commitment of twenty-one men for complicity in the murder of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke.

Thousands of families are making preparations to leave New York State next month and find a home in Dakota. The possibilities in that country are said to be better than in any country yet opened up to settlement.

This government has received an application from the British government for the extradition of P. J. Sheridan, who was suspected af complicity in the murder of Lord Cavenish and Secretary Burke. He is thought to be the mysterious "Number One."

The water in the Ohio river is receding and rising in the Mississippi. The desolation along the Ohio is apalling. Thousands of dollars are being forwarded from sister cities and towns to alleviate the distress. The intense cold weather adds much to the suffering.

Governor Cleveland pardoned a man from Auburn prison last week on condition that he refrain from indulgence in intoxicating liquors until the expiration of the term for which he was sentenced. He was sent from Syracuse last summer to serve five years for grand larceny, which, it is said he committed while intoxicated.

There is an earnest and active effort being put forth, throughout the entire country, to bring about a permanent coalition of all political elements opposed to the aggression of corporate monopolies. This effort, though of recent origin, has already borne unexpected fruit and bids fair to achieve a consummation of its object within a brief period.

Vennor bobs up and gives the following as our weather for March:—1st—storm continuing from last of February: 3d and 4th—cold and stormy with snow blockades; 10th and 11th—very stormy, snow or rainfalls; 17th and 20th—cold weather and heavy rainfalls; 25th a wind storm with snow or rainfalls; 27th—a great snow storm in New Foundland; 29th 30th and 31st—days of general storm over the entire continent.

A New York grocer was complained of by a customer for selling adulterated baking powder and fined $10. He appealed and judgement was reversed, the judge remarking that when a grocer buys packages of goods in the open market from a reputable dealer and pays the highest price, he cannot justly, I think, be held for selling adulterated goods with criminal intent. The proper parties to attack should be the manufacturers.

London, England, is indeed a great town. Within its corporate limits are 7,000 miles of street spread out over an area of nearly 700 miles; here there is a birth every five minutes, a death every eight minutes, and several accidents every day; and here there may be found beer shops and gin palaces that would stretch over seventy-three miles. Here one thousand ships and 9,000 sailors are in port every day; here are 9,000 new houses built every year, and 238,000,000 letters delivered.

Five hundred little girls in the German Catholic parochial school in East Fourth street New York, were panic stricken Wednesday afternoon by an alarm of fire, and crowded down one narrow staircase from the third floor. The board railing gave way, and fifty children fell into the hallway of the first floor. Hundreds crowded and fell down upon those underneath, and trampled to death or suffocated the children at the bottom. Eight were taken out dead and seven died afterward.

Russia must be a most unpleasant place to reside. The Czar causes all his victuals to be inspected before eating them to detect any bombs or poisons that might find their way in them by Nihilists. His sleeping apartment is guarded by a squad of soldiers and in his rides and walks is accompanied by a troop of cavalrymen. The approaching coronation in May is regarded with uneasiness and he fears an attempt will be made by the Nihilists to kill him. There is more real comfort in being a poor man in America than a Czar in Russia.

A man named Cox was sentenced to a month's imprisonment at Rutland, Vt., for selling alcoholic beverages, but had the alternative of paying a fine instead, at any time within 24 hours. He refused to pay for his liberty until he found that as a prisoner, he must part with his beard, which reached to his waist, and had been 25 years growing. The warden said it was then too late, and ordered the barber to do his duty. Cox was held fast and his face roughly shaved, without using any lather or first clipping off the whiskers with the scissors. He caught cold and nearly died, as a consequence of this treatment. He sued [illegible], and two trials have resulted in verdicts of heavy amounts [illegible]; but each time there [illegible], and a third jury

Congress will adjourn March 4. It is thought there will be no extra session.

And now it's the government printer who is reported to be $7,000 short in his accounts. An honest official in Washington will be a curiosity.

There is trouble in the Navy. Lieutenant Commander Gorringe while on a furlough in New York expressed his views on the tariff and ship building and was called to account by Chandler, Secretary of the Navy, for giving his opinion while a government officer. Gorringe tendered his resignation and it was accepted. It is viewed as a piece of insolence the temerity of the Secretary of the Navy in trying to abridge the rights of an American though he be in a small "navee."

The fact of a strike occurring in a prison is somewhat strange. In Sing Sing the convicts refused to work and defied the prison authorities. Sunday one hundred strikers were allowed to attend chapel having promised obedience. Father Tenay preached and exhorted the convicts to conform to the discipline. He was applauded several times. The strikers Monday morning resumed work, with the exception of twenty-eight ringleaders, who will be kept in their cells a while longer.

The wool manufacturing establishments of the United States now number 2,084, with a capital of $159,614,870. They give employment to 75,331 men and 85,664 women and children. The average paid each toiler is $293.05 a year, or $24.42 a month. These mills consume 296,192,329 pounds of wool, of which 222,991,531 are of home production, and 53,200,698 pounds come from abroad. The average cost of the wool is thirty-two cents a pound. The manufactories make a profit of thirt[illegible] and one-half per cent. on the capital invested clear of expenses.

Twenty-five Governors have occupied the chair of State in New York in the one-hundred and six years of the State's existence. There are now eight survivors of this number:—Hamilton Fish, whose first term began in 1849; Horatio Seymour, whose first term began in 1853; Myron H. Clark, 1855; Reuben E. Fenton, 1865; John T Hoffman, 1869, Samuel J. Tilden, 1875, Lucius Robinson, 1877, and Allonzo B. Cornell, 1880. Ten of the twenty five were elected for two terms, and these were: The two Clintons, John Jay, Tompkins, Marcy, Seward, Morgan, Seymour, Hoffman and Fenton,—the last three still being in the land of the living.

The Grand Jury in session in Milwaukee examining into the cause of the Newhall house fire indicted Mr. Schiller, lessee of the barroom for arson. The indictment charges the prisoner with wilfully, maliciously, and feloniously setting fire to, and burning the Newhall House on the night of January 10, and causing the death of a number of persons. His counsel insisted upon an immediate arraignment, and Mr. Schiller was taken to the court room Monday afternoon almost unobserved. He plead ed not guilty. He was recommitted in default of $10,000 bail. The Grand Jury are still considering the responsibility of the owner, and manager of the hotel. It is believed that indictments for manslaughter will be returned against the manager and night clerk.

☞ Worsted Dress Goods in all colors at 10 and 12½c. Former prices 15 and 20c. at Fay's New York Store. 41

Teachers Examination.

A joint teachers examination will be held at each of the following places on the dates named, examination commencing at 9 a. m.: Pulaski, March 16 (Friday); Fulton, March 27, (Tuesday); Central Square, March 29 (Thursday).

Persons desiring to teach during the coming summer are requested to be present as no private examinations will be given.

C. R. Parkhurst.
H. D. Nutting.
Jay B. Cole,
Board of Com'rs.

Granby S. S. Union.

The next meeting of the Granby Sunday School Union will be held at Dexterville, Sunday, March 4th, at 2 o'clock p. m. The topic for discussion is "Temperance." There will be two exercises by our primary class (using the topic for discussion.) One, consisting of five, the other twenty-six of its members. The Rev's Smith of Fulton, and Johnson of South West Oswego, will be present. Others are invited. A profitable time is expected.

D. M. Cox, Pres't.
S. B. Dutton, Sec'y.

Granby Centre.

Granby Centre, Feb. 27:—Elisha Perkins is quite sick.

Miss Libbie Becker, daughter of Capt. Wm. Becker, who is in the Nurse's Hospital, Brooklyn, has been quite sick with typhoid fever, but is convalescing.

The revival meetings are about to close. They have not created much enthusiasm.

South Scriba.

South Scriba, Feb. 27,—Michael Hayes of this place has been appointed loan commissioner.

Dwight Stone an old resident of Scriba is preparing to remove to Southern Illinois. He has an engagement with the American Evaporating Manufacturing Co.

Mrs. George Sheffield who has been so low for some days that it was feared she could not recover, is improving.

Mrs. Geo. McDougal is quite ill.

The Rev. Mr. Ensign is holding revival meetings at Scriba Centre. Q

☞ See those new organs and pianos at Bristol's Music Store.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

Fulton, Feb. 27, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, a full board.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The finance committee reported the following bills correct, and orders were drawn for the amounts:

Wm. W. Hill, for gravel	$6 00
John Cavanaugh, street lamps	41 19
Wm O. Stephens, att'ys services	35 50

Mr Stephens asked that a sum be fixed for license to all shows at the Opera House. Referred to finance committee.

Board adjourned to March 13, 1883, at 7:30 p.m.

L. H. Patterson, clerk.

To The Public!

I am making arrangements to abandon the fish and oyster market conducted by me in this village for the past [illegible] having pails, [illegible] to carry [illegible] them at

POSTAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY

A Revolution in Telegraphy—System to be Introduced that will Transmit Handwriting.

The latest rival of the Western Union Telegraph Co., is the Postal Telegraph Co. The patents belonging to the company are the Leggo automatic system and the Gray harmonic system. They are designed to revolutionize telegraphing—the present mode of work which is primitive in comparison. The Leggo patents cover a system of sending dispatches automatically, without the need of telegraph operators, and at the rate of nearly 1,000 words a minute. Moreover, the dispatch as delivered is a perfect fac-simile of the handwriting of the original dispatch. The Gray harmonic system permits the use of eight wires to be done with one. Eight tuning forks of different pitch are set up, for instance in New York, corresponding with similar forks in Boston. A wire from each is connected with the main wire when it leaves the main office in each city, and by experiment it is found that when one particular fork is struck, the corresponding fork at the other end of the line responds. The whole eight forks can be used at once without interfering with each other. The wires of the new company reached Cleveland Saturday, and will be extended to Chicago by the end of this month. Stamps similar to postal letter-stamps will be sold by the company, to be affixed to the despatch, which, if there is no great hurry, can then be sent by mail to the office of the telegraph company. The prices will be below those of any present telegraphic service, and the company announce that they will be able to do more work with their two wires than with sixty ordinary wires equipped with the Morse instruments.

Sewing machine needles and all attachments at Singer Head quarters No. 3 First Street.

Who Gets the Public Lands.

The following table shows the total land grants made by the United States up to 1880 and gives the people an idea where the public domain is going to:

States and Corporation.	Acres Granted.
Illinois	2,595,053
Missouri	2,985,169
Iowa	6,795,527
Michigan	5,712,480
Wisconsin	4,808,486
Minnesota	9,992,041
Kansas	9,370,000
Pacific Railroad	159,486,766
Total	215,203,807

These grants, amounting in the aggregate to 215,203,807 acres, or over 355,000 square miles, is only about 6,000 miles less in area than all the original thirteen States of the Union taken together, and is more than 70 per cent. greater than the total area of the German empire. Who doubts the generosity of our law makers?

We sincerely believe that every case of pulmonary disease, not already beyond the reach of human aid, may, if promptly treated, be relieved and cured by the faithful use of Ayers Cherry Pectoral.

Grand Excursion to California.

Thos Cook & Son, the well-known excursion agents, are arranging a grand trip to the Pacific Coast, starting early in May, occupying about eight weeks. The program is a most delightful one, embracing Washington, Louisville, the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, St Louis, Denver, with delightful side trips among the Rocky Mountains by special trains, thence through New Mexico and Arizona to Southern California, including Los Angelos and Montery. The Yosemite Valley is also included. The return trip from San Francisco includes Salt Lake city and the new route via the Denver and Rio Grande railway, which passes through some of the finest scenery in the world, and which is now opened for the first time to tourists. The return from Chicago is via Niagara Falls. Pullman cars, hotel accomodations and all necessary expenses are included in the fare, which is $500. A program containing all particulars can be had by addressing Thos Cook & Son, 261 Broadway, New York.

SPEAKS RIGHT UP.

"Have tried Thomas' Eclectic Oil for croup and colds, and find it the best remedy I have ever used in my family." Wm Key 510 Plymouth Ave, Buffalo, N. Y.

WIDE AWAKE FOR MARCH, 1883.

The March Wide Awake will be eagerly snapped up by boys of ambition and vim, in order to finish what the "Eighty-three Business Men" have to say about "Our Business Boys." Part II. of this important contribution to young folks' literature is entitled "Rocks of Danger," and is as vigorous and to the point as "Secrets of Success" in the February number. From this article the boys will probably turn to Fred Ober's Yucatan serial, "The Silver City," or to Rev. Irving L. Beman's story of "Evan Cogswell's Ice Fort," or to Edward Everett Hale's To Day Talk about the dead French statesman, Gambetta, or to "A Boy's Workshop," or to Prof. Sargent's "Health and Strength Paper," or to Mrs. Cheever's jolly out-of-doors story, "Camp Hamperford"—for all these contributions, interesting to everybody, are of peculiar interest to the boys. Act II. of the White Mountain Comedy, "More than They Bargained for," is as full of fun as it is of delicate characterization; and a fine humor too prevades "Old Caravan Days," and Mrs. Diaz's John Spicer Lecture on "Clothes." Mrs. L. T. Craigin has a good story, "Ellie's Holocaust;" Miss Harris concludes her history of a botanical experiment, "A Winter Garden;" The Next Neighbor writes, in Anna Maria's Housekeeping," of "Two Teakettles;" there is in the Pleasant Author Series a delightful paper about Leigh Hunt, and withal, there are many illustrated poems: "Auctioning off the Baby," by M. E. B., "The Cat-tail Arrow," by Clara Doty Bates, "Ethel's Advice to Baby," by Margaret Sidney, "That little Bonnet," by Miss Wilkins, also George Eliot's famous "O, may I join the Choir Invisible," which is accompanied by a most beautiful illustration from a French painting.

Only $2.50 a year. D. Lothrop & Co., Publishers, Boston Mass.

Sickness.

Compels the present owners of a property a few miles east of Fulton to sell or exchange for a village home. This property consists of a saw mill, house, barn and private fish pond. It is a big paying business and a bonanza for some live man. Inquire at No. 10 First St.

F. D. VanWagenen jr.

HOTEL CLARENDON,

Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D. L. & W. railroad depot. [illegible]

A FOREST FIRE.

A Thrilling Scene in a Rocky Mountain Mining Camp.

The frosty September nights had killed the mountain grass. The east wind, coldly, bracing, had blown steadily for days through the pine forest, penetrating into every nook and eddying dryingly around the granite crags. The carpet of pine needles, spread thickly over the foot hills, was thoroughly dry. The creeks were low. The water in the ravines had ceased flowing.

An iron bar thrust into the furnace of an upright boiler and vigorously stirred caused the air to rush out through the open doors with a gust. As it swept through the flues and into the contracted smokestack, it carried a fiery column of sparks and burning bits of wood with it. Out of this smokestack these sprang, and were flung on to the couch of pine needles lying in the adjacent forest. Instantly they were ablaze. With a low murmur, the fire ran nimbly up Mammoth Gulch. Fanlike, it expanded, and gaining strength, the faint murmur of the burning pine needles were placed by a loud crackling roar. Almost instantly the fire passed beyond the control of man. The wind freshened and blew up the gulch strongly. Tongues of flame shot obliquely up the hillsides. The smoke rolled in vast horizontal cylinders in the van of the fire. The case admitted of nothing except the thrusting of hands into overall pockets, the filling of pipes and the deliberate smoking of them. Nothing could be done to save the mill property and mining camp until the back and side fires began to descend the hills; then they could probably be controlled.

Up the gulch the head fire, seen through the smoke, was a dull red, almost a copper color. Tiny whirlwinds quickly formed, and in an instant many columns of fire rose, with angry roar, high above the tops of the most lofty pines. The burning embers, sucked up through the fiery funnell, were scattered broadcast as from an aerial centrifugal machine, and far in advance of the main fire fresh fires formed. The air became heavy with ashes. The sun shone through the pall like smoke dimly. Within the fire line the very air seemed to be a mass of flame, through which doubly heated tongues shot in long, rolling thrusts. As the fury of the fire increased great pine trees became ablaze. From towering cones of green they were instantly transformed into flaming beacons that stood high above the heaving sea of smoke. The burning trees uttered sharp, torpedo like cries, as though in actual pain. Dozens of trees would flare up brightly at the same time, and as their cones burned off, the strong wind hurled them hundreds of feet through the air in advance of the main fire line. With great speed the fire ran through the light underbrush and dry twigs. Behind lay the carpet of smouldering pine needles. From this arose a dense cloud of light colored smoke. Slowly, very slowly, was the carpet consumed. The smoke arising from it obscured the main fire. Slowly sinking into the earth all signs of active, destructive fire disappeared. From the pores of the burned [illegible] mountain flanks the smoke issued in fountains of tiny jets.

I walked home through the unburnt forest, and packed my household goods preparatory to cacheing them in an abandoned mine shaft. By ten o'clock in the evening I had finished packing; then, stepping out of the house to see if the fire was coming, I heard rifle like reports issuing from the smoke clouded forest a quarter of a mile to the north. These reports increased in frequency, and thinking the deserted mining camp, in almost every house of which cartridges of giant powder were lying on shelves, or carelessly thrust between the logs, was on fire, I walked up out of the rocky glen in which my house stands to witness the destruction of the village. It was not on fire, being protected by a high, bare, rocky hill, down which the fire could not descend. The reports had increased in frequency until it was as though a strong skirmish line were briskly engaged.

The noise was made by falling trees, trees undermined by the cloaked fire of the pine needles consuming their roots. Faster and faster the trees fell, until the single reports were no longer distinguishable. It sounded as though a battle was being fought under the clouds of smoke hanging in the mountain valley. Nothing bould be seen in the valley below me. There was a dull, lurid color to the smoke; that was all. Away off to the east, at the head of the valley, the smoke was a little brighter. The work of destruction was going on under a cloud. As I sat on a high granite point the wind shifted. The southern side fire became a head fire. A red line, some two miles in length, rushed up the steep flank of a mountain to the east of where I sat. Red-hot ashes and bits of burning wood headed the advancing line as fiery hail. The wind, whirling around crags and into nooks filled with dry branches and fallen trees, caused the flames to spring high above the rocks. Scores of these towering columns of fire, oscillating wildly, could be seen at once. Again the wind changed with a furious gust and blew strongly from the north. Then, away off to the north, on a steep mountain side, a pinkish cloud of smoke rolled rapidly upward, and through and high above it gigantic exclamation points of flames were blazoned against the dark northern sky.

For two days we fought side fires, striving to save our houses. It seemed to be a hopeless task. We were well nigh exhausted when the storm clouds gathered around the white peaks of the Medicine Bow range, and a fierce autumnal storm of hail and rain fairly flooded the burning district. The rain fell far into the night. The next morning a few rotten stumps and logs, smouldering among the fallen timber, alone remained of the fiercest fire I have ever seen. [N. Y. Sun.

DO IT WITH PLEASURE.

Wangler Bros druggists, of Waterloo, Iowa, writes: "We can with pleasure say that Thomas Eclectic Oil gives the best satisfaction of any liniment we sell. Everybody who buys will have no other. This remedy is a certain remedy is a certain cure for all aches, sprains, and pains."

Buy your Clothing of the New York

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Bristol has the largest stock and gives the best prices on Pianos and Organs of any make. Goods sold on monthly payments. New Organs from forty-five dollars up.

A $20.00 Biblical Reward.

The publishers of Rutledges Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their Monthly for March, among which is the following:

We will give $20.00 in gold to the person telling us which is the longest verse in the Bible by March 10 1883. Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided.

The money will be forwarded to the winner March 15th 1883. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer, for which they will receive the April Monthly, in which the name and the address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published, and in which several more valuable rewards will be offered.

Address Rutledge Publishing Company, 532 Northampton St., Easton, Penna.

For Sale.

I offer for sale my residence on Rochester Street. In perfect repair.

M. H. Brando.

For Sale.

A good house and lot, No. 76 Utica street, in good repair. Inquire at this office, or on premises.

For Sale.

The House and Lot situated on the corner of Erie and Third streets occupied by L. S. Worden. Enquire on premises. Terms easy. 37t8

For Sale Cheap.

A farm of forty-one acres, eight miles south-west of Fulton, in the town of Ira, good buildings, good fruit and well watered. Inquire of John Cane.

Fulton, Feb'y. 28, 1883.

For Sale.

A house and two lots situated on the corner of Third and Leitch streets, upper Oswego Falls. Two blocks north of Broadway. Convenient to factory. Enquire on the premises of

Michael Frawley.

Oswego Falls, Feb. 28, 1883. 41t3

FOR SALE.

In Lower Oswego Falls, about four acres of land with a house and barn—about ten minutes walk from end of lower bridge. Lying between First St. and the river, adjoining on the south the place of Mrs. Martin Osborn. For particulars inquire of

Mrs. E. E. Swan,
38tf Lower Oswego Falls.

Auction!

The undersigned will sell at public auction, at the late residence of Christmas Woodcock, deceased, in the town of Volney, N. Y., on the 1st day of March, 1883, the stock, farming tools, etc., of said Christmas Woodcock, deceased, consisting of 5 cows, 2 horses, 1 mowing machine, wagons, cutters, fanning mill, hay, straw, oats, corn, and farming tools. Sale will commence at 11 a. m.

Terms of Sale—All sums under $5 cash; above $5 approved notes payable in six months with interest.

John H. Woodin Executor.

Dated, Fulton, N. Y., Feb. 28, 1883.

AUCTION.

The subscriber will sell the following property at auction sale on Wednesday, March 7, 1883, at 10½ o'clock at the farm of Frank Smith, located 1½ miles east of Hannibal Centre, on the road leading to West Granby, 12 cows, 1 span of mares, 4 large sized shoats, 1 champion grain drill, 1 mowing machine, 1 wheel horse rake, 1 harrow, 1 straw cutter, 1 lumber wagon, 1 platform spring wagon, 1 open buggy, 1 two seated cutter, 1 pair bob sleighs, 5 cultivators, 1 chilled plow, 1 set double harness, 1 single harness, 1 four year old colt, 1 yearling colt, 1 milk can, 10 or 12 tons of hay and a quantity of straw, and other articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale: All sums of $5 and under cash, over that amount approved notes payable nine months after date at Citizens National Bank, Fulton.

Frank and Mary Smith.
H. H. Hulett, Auctioneer.
Fulton, Feb. 28, 1883.

STONEBURGH,

Asks Your Attention!

—:o:—

He has Removed
into His New
Store,—Corner of
Broadway and First St.
and has a New, Fresh and
Enlarged Stock of

General Merchandise.

Everything to be found in a

General Assortment Store.

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

paid for all kinds of country produce.
Drop in and see what we keep for sale.
In connection with his grocery a

Meat Market

is now open. Fresh meats cut and delivered anywhere in Fulton and Oswego Falls.

STONEBURGH'S.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

DIAMOND DYES.

The Best Dyes Ever Made.

For silk, wool, or cotton, for dresses, coats, scarfs, hoods, yarn, stockings, carpet rags, ribbons, feathers, [illegible]

Boarding & Livery Stables

—:o:—

ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S.

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.

Horses and Carriages at all times.
Trusty Drivers when desired.
Hacks, Hearses and Carriages
For Funerals.

35 N. Rowlee.

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO W. BELL,

The only Graduate in Oswego County.
Veterinary Surgeon of Oswego City,
(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)
has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the
LEWIS HOUSE BARN,
where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 33tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office.
Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:

OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.

Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 171. Those desiring can be waited on at their residence Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cryusa street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.

Jan. 3, 83 1 yr.

Real Estate! Real Estate!

—:o:—

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure.

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

We offer for sale the house and lot near the end of 2nd street, now owned and occupied by Chas. Easton.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.

Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south-east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 6 on Block 64—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 55. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

To business men—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

House and lot on Second Street.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!

IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Houses and lots in Oswego Falls.

House on Third St. for $2,600.

Vacant lots on Second St., $500 & $600.

Houses on Second St. $900 to $2000.

Four hundred ($400 will buy a house on Buffalo St.,—on the same street another may be had for eight hundred, ($800). Another for $2,000.

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St., A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village, that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 3½ to 325 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best ones go,
Danger in delay you know,
Go to Lathrop's high and low—
Buy a Valentine.

G. C. LATHROP,
22 First Street—Opposite Lewis House.
Fulton Feb. 1st, 1883.

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN

AT ONCE FOR YOUR

50 & 60 CT. FINECUT BEST IN TOWN GUARANTEED!

ALL GOODS WAY DOWN

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

—OF—

NEW YORK.

—:o:—

This Company was Chartered in 1842.

Assets - - $94,702,957.9

—:o:—

Premium rates lower than any other Company.

W. C. WHEELER, Agent,
Fulton Times Office.
Fulton, N. Y.

WE OFFER AT

THE BAZAAR

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62. Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40. Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.

CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

McCarthy's CHINA HALL.

OSWEGO, N. Y.

—:o:—

Great Bargains

—IN—

CROCKERY,

GLASSWARE,

CHANDELIERS,

LAMPS,

SILVERWARE

For the next Thirty Days.

JAMES McCARTHY
OSWEGO, N. Y.

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE.

Four Houses, Oswego Falls, Pine St., between First and Second Streets.

Vacant Lot, Oswego Falls, Oak Street.

House and two lots, Fulton, Academy Street, known as "Capt. Taylor place."

Vacant Lot Fulton, 6th St., Block 512
" " " 5th " " 511
" " " Park Street known as L. R. Rector Lots
" " " Bl'k 84, on Acad'y St
House and Lot " Cor. 3d and Cayuga streets, in which I reside.

All or any of the above parcels will be sold Cheap and on easy terms of payment.

Dated Jan'y 1883. H. E. NICHOLS.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of timber land the balance in a high state of cultivation. One hundred apple trees, one hundred pear trees, and a "sap bush" making one hundred pounds of sugar [illegible]

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

FITS A Leading London Physician establishes an office in New York for the cure of EPILEPTIC FITS.

From Am. Journal of Medicine.

Dr. Ab. Meserole (late of London), who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any other living physician. His success has simply been astonishing; we have heard of cases of over 20 years' standing successfully cured by him. He has published a work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his wonderful cure free to any sufferer who may send their express and P. O. Address. We advise any one wishing a cure to address Dr. AB. MESEROLE, No. 96 John St., New York.

THE UNION TRUST CO.,

611 and 613 Chestnut Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.
CAPITAL $1,000. | Charter Perpetual.

Acts as Executor, Administrator, Assignee, Receiver, Guardian, Attorney, Agent, Trustee and Committee, alone or in connection with an individual appointee.

Takes charge of the property of absentees and non-residents, collects and remits income promptly, and discharges faithfully the duties of every fiduciary trust and agency known to the law.

Safes for Rent within Burglar proof Vaults of the most approved construction.

Wills kept in Fire & Burglar-proof Safes without charge. Plate, securities and all other valuables securely kept at a moderate annual charge for safe return or specific indemnity.

Car trusts and other approved securities for sale.

Interest allowed on Moneys deposited for definite periods, or upon ten days' notice.

W. C. PATTERSON, President.
HEISTER CLYMER, Vice-President.
MAHLON S. STOKES, Treasurer.
FRANCIS BACON, Sec'y and Trust Officer

DIRECTORS.

W C PATTERSON,
JAMES LONG,
ALFRED F GILLETT,
HON ALLISON WHITE,
DR C P TURNER,
D R PATTERSON,
JOHN T. MONROE,
JOS I KEEFE,
THOS R PATTON,
W J NEAD,
JAS S MARTIN,
DR D HAYES AGNEW,
H H HOUSTON,
JOHN G READING,
Philadelphia, Pa.;
HON T F RANDOLPH,
Morristown, N. J.;
HON T F BAYARD,
Wilmington, Del;
DR GEO W REILY,
Harrisburg, Pa;
HON J S AFRICA,
Huntingdon, Pa.;
HON H CLYMER,
Reading, Pa;
HENRY S ECKHART,
Reading, Pa.;
EDMUND S DOTY,
Mifflintown, Pa;
HON R E MONAGHAN,
West Chester, Pa.;
GEN W W H DAVIS,
Doylestown, Pa.;
CHAS W. COOPER,
Allentown, Pa.

SEYMOUR, HUNT & CO.,
(established in 1878.)
3 Exchange Court, N. Y. 123 LaSalle St. Chicago.
BANKERS AND BROKERS.
Special facilities for the purchase and sale of STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, PROVISIONS
Refer to Mechanics' National Bank, Chicago, and German Security Bank, Louisville, Ky.
J. M. Seymour, Member New York Stock Exchange
J. A. Hunt, Member Chicago Board of Trade.
A. L. Seymour.

FARMS ON JAMES RIVER, VA., IN A northern settlement. Illustrated circular free. J. H. MANCHA, Claremont, Va.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address.

DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

FARMS.—Before locating, consult our catalogue and map, sent free. Jones & Merkins, Cambridge, Md.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. [illegible] First street, on block north [illegible]

[illegible] 1883.

[illegible] discovered in Saratoga [illegible] there is much excitement.

[illegible] postage has been reduced to [illegible]. The law will go into effect October 1st 1883.

A good place to live is Columbia, South Carolina, where the peach trees are now in full bloom.

JAY GOULD holds $35,000,000 worth of Western Union Telegraph stock and the amount is steadily increasing.

ACCORDING to the last census there are 6,239,958 people in the United States, ten years of age and over, who do not know how to write.

THE vote for U. S. Senator in Michigan continues. Ferry's vote was on yesterday reduced to two. Mr. Ferry is in Washington, sick.

THE Star Routers and all of their associates are a bad lot. A. B. Williams, one of Dorsey's counsel, has been indicted on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

CAREY, the informer, has been the means of causing the arrest and commitment of twenty-one men for complicity in the murder of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke.

THOUSANDS of families are making preparations to leave New York State next month and find a home in Dakota. The possibilities in that country are said to be better than in any country yet opened up to settlement.

THIS government has received an application from the British government for the extradition of P. J. Sheridan, who was suspected af complicity in the murder of Lord Cavenish and Secretary Burke. He is thought to be the mysterious "Number One."

THE water in the Ohio river is receding and rising in the Mississippi. The desolation along the Ohio is spalling. Thousands of dollars are being forwarded from sister cities and towns to aleviate the distress. The intense cold weather adds much to the suffering.

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND pardoned a man from Auburn prison last week on condition that he refrain from indulgence in intoxicating liquors until the expiration of the term for which he was sentenced. He was sent from Syracuse last summer to serve five years for grand larceny, which, it is said he committed while intoxicated.

THERE is an earnest and active effort being put forth, throughout the entire country, to bring about a permanent coalition of all political elements opposed to the aggression of corporate monopolies. This effort, though of recent origin, has already borne unexpected fruit and bids fair to achieve a consummation of its object within a brief period.

VENNOR bobs up and gives the following as our weather for March:—1st—storm continuing from last of February: 3d and 4th—cold and stormy with snow blockades; 10th and 11th—very stormy, snow or rainfalls; 17th and 20th—cold weather and heavy rainfalls; 25th a wind storms with snow or rainfalls; 27th—a great snow storm in New Foundland; 29th 30th and 31st—days of general storm over the entire continent.

A NEW YORK grocer was complained of by a customer for selling adulterated baking powder and fined $10. He appealed and judgement was reversed, the judge remarking that when a grocer buys packages of goods in the open market from a reputable dealer and pays the highest price, he cannot justly, I think, be held for selling adulterated goods with criminal intent. The proper parties to attack should be the manufacturers.

LONDON, England, is indeed a great town. Within its corporate limits are 7,000 miles of street spread out over an area of nearly 700 miles; here there is a birth every five minutes, a death every eight minutes, and several accidents every day; and here there may be found beer shops and gin palaces that would stretch over seventy-three miles. Here one thousand ships and 9,000 sailors are in port every day; here are 9,000 new houses built every year, and 238,000,000 letters delivered.

FIVE hundred little girls in the German Catholic parochial school in East Fourth street New York, were panic stricken Wednesday afternoon by an alarm of fire, and crowded down one narrow staircase from the third floor. The board railing gave way, and fifty children fell into the hallway of the first floor. Hundreds crowded and fell down upon those underneath, and trampled to death or suffocated the children at the bottom. Eight were taken out dead and seven died afterward.

RUSSIA must be a most unpleasant place to reside. The Czar causes all his victuals to be inspected before eating them to detect any bombs or poisons that might find their way in them by Nihilists. His sleeping apartment is guarded by a squad of soldiers and in his rides and walks is accompanied by a troop of cavalrymen. The approaching coronation in May is regarded with uneasiness and he fears an attempt will be made by the Nihilists to kill him. There is more real comfort in being a poor man in America than a Czar in Russia.

A MAN named Cox was sentenced to a month's imprisonment at Rutland, Vt., for selling alcoholic beverages, but had the alternative of paying a fine instead, at any time within 24 hours. He refused to pay for his liberty, until he found that as a prisoner, he must part with his beard, which reached to his waist, and had been 35 years growing. The warden said it was then too late, and ordered the barber to do his duty. Cox was [illegible] had his face roughly shaved, [illegible] any lather or first clipping [illegible] with the scissors. [illegible] and nearly died, as a [illegible]

[illegible] D's [illegible] session.

And now [illegible] who is reported [illegible] short in his accounts [illegible] officials in Washington [illegible] curiosity.

THERE is trouble in the Navy. Lieutenant Commander Gorringe while on a furlough in New York expressed his views on the tariff and ship building and was called to account by Chandler, Secretary of the Navy, for giving his opinion while a government officer. Gorringe tendered his resignation and it was accepted. It is viewed as a piece of insolence the temerity of the Secretary of the Navy in trying to abridge the rights of an American though he be in a small "navee."

THE fact of a strike occurring in a prison is somewhat strange. In Sing Sing the convicts refused to work and defied the prison authorities. Sunday one hundred strikers were allowed to attend chapel having promised obedience. Father Tenay preached and exhorted the convicts to conform to the discipline. He was applauded several times. The strikers Monday morning resumed work, with the exception of twenty-eight ringleaders, who will be kept in their cells a while longer.

THE wool manufacturing establishments of the United States now number 2,084, with a capital of $159,614,870. They give employment to 75,334 men and 85,664 women and children. The average paid each toiler is $293.05 a year, or $24.42 a month. These mills consume 296,192,329 pounds of wool, of which 222,991,531 are of home production, and 53,200,698 pounds come from abroad. The average cost of the wool is thirty-two cents a pound. The manufactories make a profit of thirty-six and one-half per cent. on the capital invested clear of expenses.

TWENTY-FIVE Governors have occupied the chair of State in New York in the one-hundred and six years of the State's existence. There are now eight survivors of this number:—Hamilton Fish, whose first term began in 1849; Horatio Seymour, whose first term began in 1853; Myron H. Clark, 1855; Reuben E. Fenton, 1865; John T Hoffman, 1869, Samuel J. Tilden, 1875, Lucius Robinson, 1877, and Allonzo B. Cornell, 1880. Ten of the twenty five were elected for two terms, and these were: The two Clintons, John Jay, Tompkins, Marcy, Seward, Morgan, Seymour, Hoffman and Fenton,—the last three still being in the land of the living.

THE Grand Jury in session in Milwaukee examining into the cause of the Newhall house fire indicted Mr. Schiller, lessee of the barroom for arson. The indictment charges the prisoner with wilfully, maliciously, and feloniously setting fire to, and burning the Newhall House on the night of January 10, and causing the death of a number of persons. His counsel insisted upon an immediate arraignment, and Mr. Schiller was taken to the court room Monday afternoon almost unobserved. He plead ed not guilty. He was recommitted in default of $10,000 bail. The Grand Jury are still considering the responsibility of the owner, and manager of the hotel. It is believed that indictments for manslaughter will be returned against the manager and night clerk.

☞ Worsted Dress Goods in all colors at 10 and 12½c. Former prices 15 and 20c. at Fay's New York Store. 41

Teachers Examination.

A joint teachers examination will be held at each of the following places on the dates named, examination commencing at 9 a. m.: Pulaski, March 16 (Friday); Fulton, March 27, (Tuesday); Central Square, March 29 (Thursday).

Persons desiring to teach during the coming summer are requested to be present as no private examinations will be given.

C. R. PARKHURST,
H. D. NUTTING,
JAY B. COLE,
Board of Com'rs.

Granby S. S. Union.

The next meeting of the Granby Sunday School Union will be held at Dexterville, Sunday, March 4th, at 2 o'clock p. m. The topic for discussion is "Temperance." There will be two exercises by our primary class (using the topic for discussion.) One, consisting of five, the other twenty-six of its members. The Rev's Smith of Fulton, and Johnson of South West Oswego, will be present. Others are invited. A profitable time is expected.

D. M. COX, Pres't.
S. B. DUTTON, Sec'y.

Granby Centre.

GRANBY CENTRE, Feb. 27:—Elisha Perkins is quite sick.

Miss Libbie Becker, daughter of Capt. Wm. Becker, who is in the Nurse's Hospital, Brooklyn, has been quite sick with typhoid fever, but is convalescing.

The revival meetings are about to close. They have not created much enthusiasm.

South Scriba.

SOUTH SCRIBA, Feb. 27,—Michael Hayes of this place has been appointed loan commissioner.

Dwight Stone an old resident of Scriba is preparing to remove to Southern Illinois. He has an engagement with the American Evaporating Manufacturing Co.

Mrs. George Sheffield who has been so low for some days that it was feared she could not recover, is improving.

Mrs. Geo. McDougal is quite ill.

The Rev. Mr. Ensign is holding revival meetings at Scriba Centre. Q

☞ See those new organs and pianos at Bristol's Music Store.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, Feb. 27, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, a full board.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The Auditing committee reported the following bills correct, and orders were drawn for the amounts:

Wm. V. Hill, for gravel	$8 00
John [illegible], street lamps	41 19
Wm. C. [illegible], attys services	15 50

Mr. [illegible] asked that a rate be fixed for license to all shows at the Opera House. Referred to [illegible] committee.

Board adjourned to March [illegible], 1883, at 7:30 p.m.

L. H. [illegible], clerk.

To the Public!

I am making arrangements to abandon the [illegible] business [illegible]

[illegible] POSTAL TELEGRAPHY.

A Revolution in [illegible] System to be Introduced [illegible] will [illegible] Handwriting.

The [illegible] arrival [illegible] the Western Union Telegraph Co., in the Postal Telegraph Co. The patents belonging to the company are the Leggo automatic system and the Gray harmonic system. They are designed to revolutionize telegraphing—the present mode of work which is primitive in comparison. The Leggo patents cover a system of sending dispatches automatically, without the need of telegraph operators, and at the rate of nearly 1,000 words a minute. Moreover, the dispatch as delivered is a perfect fac-simile of the handwriting of the original dispatch. The Gray harmonic system permits the use of eight wires to be done with one. Eight tuning forks of different pitch are set up, for instance in New York, corresponding with similar forks in Boston. A wire from each is connected with the main wire when it leaves the main office in each city, and by experiment it is found that when one particular fork is struck, the corresponding fork at the other end of the line responds. The whole eight forks can be used at once without interfering with each other. The wires of the new company reached Cleveland Saturday, and will be extended to Chicago by the end of this month. Stamps similar to postal letter-stamps will be sold by the company, to be affixed to the despatch, which, if there is no great hurry, can then be sent by mail to the office of the telegraph company. The prices will be below those of any present telegraphic service, and the company announce that they will be able to do more work with their two wires than with sixty ordinary wires equipped with the Morse instruments.

Sewing machine needles and all attachments at Singer Head-quarters No. 3 First Street.

Who Gots the Public Lands.

The following table shows the total land grants made by the United States up to 1880 and gives the people an idea where the public domain is going to:

States and Corporations.	Acres Granted.
Illinois	2,595,053
Missouri	2,985,160
Iowa	6,795,527
Michigan	4,712,480
Wisconsin	4,808,486
Minnesota	9,992,041
Kansas	9,370,000
Pacific Railroad	159,486,766
Total	215,203,807

These grants, amounting in the aggregate to 215,203,807 acres, or over 355,000 square miles, is only about 6,000 miles less in area than all the original thirteen States of the Union taken together, and is more than 70 per cent. greater than the total area of the German empire. Who doubts the generosity of our law makers?

We sincerely believe that every case of pulmonary disease, not already beyond the reach of human aid, may, if promptly treated, be relieved and cured by the faithful use of Ayers Cherry Pectoral.

Grand Excursion to California.

Thos Cook & Son, the well-known excursion agents, are arranging a grand trip to the Pacific Coast, starting early in May, occupying about eight weeks. The program is a most delightful one, embracing Washington, Louisville, the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, St Louis, Denver, with delightful side trips among the Rocky Mountains by special trains, thence through New Mexico and Arizona to Southern California, including Los Angelos and Montery. The Yosemite Valley is also included. The return trip from San Francisco includes Salt Lake city and the new route via the Denver and Rio Grande railway, which passes through some of the finest scenery in the world, and which is now opened for the first time to tourists. The return from Chicago is via Niagara Falls. Pullman cars, hotel accomodations and all necessary expenses are included in the fare, which is $500. A program containing all particulars can be had by addressing Thos Cook & Son, 261 Broadway, New York.

SPEAKS RIGHT UP.

"Have tried Thomas' Eclectric Oil for croup and colds, and find it the best remedy I have ever used in my family." Wm Key 510 Plymouth Ave, Buffalo, N. Y.

WIDE AWAKE FOR MARCH, 1883.

The March Wide Awake will be eagerly snapped up by boys of ambition and vim, in order to finish what the "Eighty-three Business Men" have to say about "Our Business Boys." Part II. of this important contribution to young folks' literature is entitled "Rocks of Danger," and is as vigorous and to the point as "Secrets of Success" in the February number. From this article the boys will probably turn to Fred Ober's Yucatan serial, "The Silver City," or to Rev. Irving L. Beman's story of "Evan Cogswell's Ice Fort," or to Edward Everett Hale's To Day Talk about the dead French statesman, Gambetta, or to "A Boy's Workshop," or to Prof. Sargent's "Health and Strength Paper," or to Mrs. Cheever's jolly out-of-doors story, "Camp Hamperford"—for all these contributions, interesting to everybody, are of peculiar interest to the boys. Act II. of the White Mountain Comedy, "More than They Bargained for," is as full of fun as it is of delicate characterization; and a fine humor too prevades "Old Caravan Days," and Mrs. Diaz's John Spicer Lecture on "Clothes." Mrs. L. T. Craigin has a good story, "Ellie's Holocaust;" Miss Harris concludes her history of a botanical experiment, "A Winter Garden;" The Next Neighbor writes, in Anna Maria's Housekeeping," of "Two Teakettles;" there is in the Pleasant Author Series a delightful paper about Leigh Hunt, and withal, there are many illustrated poems: "Auctioning off the Baby," by M. E. B., "The Cat-tail Arrow," by Clara Doty Bates, "Ethel's Advice to Baby," by Margaret Sidney, "That little Bonnet," by Miss Wilkins, also George Eliot's famous "O, may I join the Choir Invisible," which is accompanied by a most beautiful illustration from a French painting

Only $2.50 a year. D. LOTHROP & CO., Publishers, Boston Mass.

Sickness.

Compels the present owners of a property a few miles east of Fulton to sell or exchange for a village home. This property consists of a saw mill, house, barn and private fish pond. It is a big paying business and a bonanza for some live man. Inquire at No. 10 First St.

F. D. VANWAGENEN jr.

HOTEL CLARENDON,

[illegible] N. Y.

This house [illegible] and has all [illegible]

A FOREST FIRE.

A Thrilling Scene in a Rocky Mountain Mining Camp.

The frosty September nights had killed the mountain grasses. The west wind, cold, dry, bracing, had been blowing steadily for days through the pine forest, penetrating into every nook and eddying dryingly around the granite crags. The carpet of pine needles, spread thickly over the foot hills, was thoroughly dry. The creeks were low. The water in the ravines had ceased flowing.

An iron bar thrust into the furnace of an upright boiler and vigorously stirred caused the air to rush out through the open doors with a gust. As it swept through the flues and into the contracted smokestack, it carried a fiery column of sparks and burning bits of wood with it. Out of this smokestack these sprang, and were flung on to the couch of pine needles lying in the adjacent forest. Instantly they were ablaze. With a low murmur, the fire ran nimbly up Mammoth Gulch. Fanlike, it expanded, and gaining strength, the faint murmur of the burning pine needles were placed by a loud crackling roar. Almost instantly the fire passed beyond the control of man. The wind freshened and blew up the gulch strongly. Tongues of flame shot obliquely up the hillsides. The smoke rolled in vast horizontal cylinders in the van of the fire. The case admitted of nothing except the thrusting of hands into overall pockets, the filling of pipes and the deliberate smoking of them. Nothing could be done to save the mill property and mining camp until the back and side fires began to descend the hills; then they could probably be controlled.

Up the gulch the head fire, seen through the smoke, was a dull red, almost a copper color. Tiny whirlwinds quickly formed, and in an instant many columns of fire rose, with angry roar, high above the tops of the most lofty pines. The burning embers, sucked up through the fiery funnell, were scattered broadcast as from an aerial centrifugal machine, and far in advance of the main fire fresh fires formed. The air became heavy with ashes. The sun shone through the pall like smoke dimly. Within the fire line the very air seemed to be a mass of flame, through which doubly heated tongues shot in long, rolling thrusts. As the fury of the fire increased great pine trees became ablaze. From towering cones of green they were instantly transformed into flaming beacons that stood high above the heaving sea of smoke. The burning trees uttered sharp, torpedo like cries, as though in actual pain. Dozens of trees would flare up brightly at the same time, and as their cones burned off, the strong wind hurled them hundreds of feet through the air in advance of the main fire line. With great speed the fire ran through the light underbrush and dry twigs. Behind lay the carpet of smouldering pine needles. From this arose a dense cloud of light colored smoke, Slowly, very slowly, was the carpet consumed. The smoke arising from it obscured the main fire. Slowly sinking into the earth all signs of active, destructive fire disappeared. From the pores of the burned over mountain flanks the smoke issued in millions of tiny jets.

I walked home through the unburnt forest, and packed my household goods preparatory to cacheing them in an abandoned mine shaft. By ten o'clock in the evening I had finished packing; then, stepping out of the house to see if the fire was coming, I heard rifle like reports issuing from the smoke clouded forest a quarter of a mile to the north. These reports increased in frequency, and thinking the deserted mining camp, in almost every house of which cartridges of giant powder were lying on shelves, or carelessly thrust between the logs, was on fire, I walked up out of the rocky glen in which my house stands to witness the destruction of the village. It was not on fire, being protected by a high, bare, rocky hill, down which the fire could not descend. The reports had increased in frequency until it was as though a strong skirmish line were briskly engaged.

The noise was made by falling trees, trees undermined by the cloaked fire of the pine needles consuming their roots. Faster and faster the trees fell, until the single reports were no longer distinguishable. It sounded as though a battle was being fought under the clouds of smoke hanging in the mountain valley. Nothing bould be seen in the valley below me. There was a dull, lurid color to the smoke; that was all. Away off to the east, at the head of the valley, the smoke was a little brighter. The work of destruction was going on under a cloud. As I sat on a high granite point the wind shifted. The southern side fire became a head fire. A red line, some two miles in length, rushed up the steep flank of a mountain to the east of where I sat. Red-hot ashes and bits of burning wood headed the advancing line as fiery hail. The wind, whirling around crags and into nooks filled with dry branches and fallen trees, caused the flames to spring high above the rocks. Scores of these towering columns of fire, oscillating wildly, could be seen at once. Again the wind changed with a furious gust and blew strongly from the north. Then, away off to the north, on a steep mountain side, a pinkish cloud of smoke rolled rapidly upward, and through and high above it gigantic exclamation points of flames were blazoned against the dark northern sky.

For two days we fought side fires, striving to save our houses. It seemed to be a hopeless task. We were well nigh exhausted when the storm clouds gathered around the white peaks of the Medicine Bow range, and a fierce autumnal storm of hail and rain fairly flooded the burning district. The rain fell far into the night. The next morning a few rotten stumps and logs, smouldering among the fallen timber, alone remained of the fiercest fire I have ever seen. [N. Y. Sun.

DO IT WITH PLEASURE.

Wangler Bros druggists, of Waterloo, Iowa, writes:—"We can with pleasure say that Thomas' Eclectric Oil gives the best satisfaction of any liniment we sell. Everybody who buys it will have no other. This remedy is a [illegible] cure for [illegible]

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Bristol has the largest stock and gives the best prices on Pianos and Organs of [illegible]. Goods sold on monthly payments. New Organs from forty-five dollars up.

A $30.00 Bible Reward.

The publishers of Rutledges Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their Monthly for March, among which is the following:

We will give $30.00 in gold to the person telling us which is the longest verse in the Bible by March 10 1883. Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided.

The money will be forwarded to the winner March 15th 1883. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer, for which they will receive the April Monthly, in which the name and the address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published, and in which several more valuable rewards will be offered.

Address RUTLEDGE PUBLISHING COMPANY, 532 Northampton St., Easton, Penna.

For Sale.

I offer for sale my residence on Rochester Street. In perfect repair.

M. H. BRANDO.

For Sale.

A good house and lot, No. 76 Utica street, in good repair. Inquire at this office, or on premises.

For Sale.

The House and Lot situated on the corner of Erie and Third streets occupied by L. S. Worden. Enquire on premises. Terms easy. 37t8

For Sale Cheap.

A farm of forty-one acres, eight miles south-west of Fulton, in the town of Ira, good buildings, good fruit and well watered. Inquire of JOHN CANE.

Fulton, Feb'y. 28, 1883.

For Sale.

A house and two lots situated on the corner of Third and Leitch streets, upper Oswego Falls. Two blocks north of Broadway. Convenient to factory. Enquire on the premises of

MICHAEL FRAWLEY.

Oswego Falls, Feb. 28, 1883. 41t3

FOR SALE.

In Lower Oswego Falls, about four acres of land with a house and barn—about ten minutes walk from end of lower bridge. Lying between First St. and the river, adjoining on the south the place of Mrs. Martin Osborn. For particulars inquire of

MRS. E. E. SWAN,
38tf Lower Oswego Falls.

Auction!

The undersigned will sell at public auction, at the late residence of Christmas Woodcock, deceased, in the town of Volney, N. Y., on the 1st day of March, 1883, the stock, farming tools, etc., of said Christmas Woodcock, deceased, consisting of 5 cows, 2 horses, 1 mowing machine, wagons, cutters, fanning mill, hay, straw, oats, corn, and farming tools. Sale will commence at 11 a. m.

Terms of Sale—All sums under $5 cash; above $5 approved notes payable in six months with interest.

JOHN H. WOODIN Executor.

Dated, Fulton, N. Y., Feb. 28, 1883.

AUCTION.

The subscriber will sell the following property at auction sale on Wednesday, March 7, 1883, at 10½ o'clock at the farm of Frank Smith, located 1½ miles east of Hannibal Centre, on the road leading to West Granby. 12 cows, 1 span of mares, 4 large sized shoats, 1 champion grain drill, 1 mowing machine, 1 wheel horse rake, 1 harrow, 1 straw cutter, 1 lumber wagon, 1 platform spring wagon, 1 open buggy, 1 two seated cutter, 1 pair bob sleighs, 5 cultivators, 1 chilled plow, 1 set double harness, 1 single harness, 1 four year old colt, 1 yearling colt, 1 milk can, 10 or 12 tons of hay and a quantity of straw, and other articles too numerous to mention. Terms of sale: All sums of $5 and under cash, over that amount approved notes payable nine months after date at Citizens National Bank, Fulton.

FRANK and MARY SMITH.
H. H. HULETT, Auctioneer.
Fulton, Feb. 28, 1883.

STONEBURGH,

Asks Your Attention!

—:o:—

He has Removed
into His New
Store,—Corner of
Broadway and First St.
and has a New, Fresh and
Enlarged Stock of

General Merchandise.

Everything to be found in a

General Assortment Store.

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

paid for all kinds of country produce.

Drop in and see what we keep for sale.

In connection with his grocery a

Meat Market

is now open. Fresh meats cut and delivered anywhere in Fulton and Oswego Falls.

STONEBURGH'S.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

DIAMOND DYES.

[illegible]

Boarding & Livery Stables

—:o:—

ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S!

—o—

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.

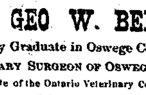
Horses and Carriages at all times.

Trusty Drivers when desired.

Hacks, Hearses and Carriages For Funerals.

85 N. ROWLEE.

VETERINARY SURGEON



DR. GEO W. BELL,

The only Graduate in Oswego County.

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 33tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS

Cured Without Pain,

and without the use of acids, by

DR. J. D. PERKINS,

of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.

Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:

OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store

FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.

HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.

Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 171.

Those desiring can be waited on at their residence Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cryuna street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.

Jan, 3, 83 1 yr,

Real Estate! Real Estate!

—:o:—

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure,

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

We offer for sale the house and lot near the end of 2nd street, now owned and occupied by Chas. Easton.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.

Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south-east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 6 on Block 64—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 55. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

TO BUSINESS MEN—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

House and lot on Second Street.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!

IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Houses and lots in Oswego Falls.

House on Third St. for $2,600.

Vacant lots on Second St., $500 & $600.

Houses on Second St. $900 to $2000.

Four hundred ($400 will buy a house on Buffalo St.,—on the same street another may be had for eight hundred, ($800). Another for $2,000.

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St., A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village, that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 2½ to 325 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best ones go,
Danger in delay you know,
Go to Lathrop's high and low—
Buy a Valentine.

G. C. LATHROP,
22 First Street—Opposite Lewis House.
Fulton Feb. 1st, 1883.

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN

AT ONCE FOR YOUR

[illegible] CT. FINEST [illegible] IN TOWN GUARANTEED!

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

—OF—

NEW YORK.

—:o:—

This Company was Chartered in 1842.

Assets - - $94,702,957.92

—:o:—

Premium rates lower than any other Company.

W. C. WHEELER, Agent,
Fulton Times Office,
Fulton, N. Y.

WE OFFER AT

THE BAZAAR

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormous stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS!

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62.
Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40.
Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 10 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.

CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

McCarthy's

CHINA HALL.

OSWEGO, N. Y.

—:o:—

Great Bargains

—IN—

CROCKERY,

GLASSWARE,

CHANDELIERS,

LAMPS,

SILVERWARE

For the next Thirty Days.

JAMES McCARTHY
OSWEGO, N. Y.

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE,

Four Houses, Oswego Falls, Pine St., between First and Second Streets.

Vacant Lot, Oswego Falls, Oak Street.

House and two lots, Fulton, Academy Street, known as "Capt. Taylor place."

Vacant Lot Fulton, 6th St., Block 512
" " " 5th " " 511
" " " Park Street known as L. R. Rector Lots
" " " Bl'k 84, on Acad'y St

House and Lot " Cor. 3d and Cayuga streets, in which I reside.

All or any of the above parcels will be sold Cheap and on easy terms of payment.

Dated Jan'y 1883. H. E. NICHOLS.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of timber land with the balance in a [illegible]

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

FITS

A Leading London Physician establishes an office in New York for the cure of EPILEPTIC FITS.

From Am. Journal of Medicine.

Dr. Ab. Meserole (late of London), who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any other living physician. His success has simply been astonishing; we have heard of cases of over 20 years' standing successfully cured by him. He has published a work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his wonderful cure free to any sufferer who may send their express and P. O. Address. We advise any one wishing a cure to address Dr. AB. MESEROLE, No. 96 John St., New York.

THE UNION TRUST CO.,

611 and 613 Chestnut Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.

CAPITAL $1,000. | Charter Perpetual.

Acts as Executor, Administrator, Assignee, Receiver, Guardian, Attorney, Agent, Trustee and Committee, alone or in connection with an individual appointee.

Takes charge of the property of absentees and non-residents, collects and remits income promptly, and discharges faithfully the duties of every fiduciary trust and agency known to the law.

Safes for Rent within Burglar proof Vaults of the most approved construction.

Wills kept in Fire & Burglar-proof Safes without charge. Plate, securities and all other valuables securely kept at a moderate annual charge for safe return or specific indemnity.

Car trusts and other approved securities for sale.

Interest allowed on Moneys deposited for definite periods, or upon ten days' notice

W. C. PATTERSON, President.
HEISTER CLYMER, Vice-President.
MAHLON S. STOKES, Treasurer.
FRANCIS BACON, Sec'y and Trust Officer

DIRECTORS.

W C PATTERSON,
JAMES LONG,
ALFRED F GILLETT,
HON ALLISON WHITE,
DR C P TURNER,
D R PATTERSON,
JOHN T. MONROE,
JOS I KEEFE,
THOS R PATTON,
W J NEAD,
JAS S MARTIN,
DR D HAYES AGNEW,
H H HOUSTON,
JOHN G READING, Philadelphia, Pa.;
HON T F RANDOLPH, Morristown, N. J.;
HON T F BAYARD, Wilmington, Del;
DR GEO W REILY, Harrisburg, Pa;
HON J S AFRICA, Huntingdon, Pa.;
HON H CLYMER, Reading, Pa;
HENRY S ECKHART, Reading, Pa.;
EDMUND S DOTY, Mifflintown, Pa.;
HON R E MONAGHAN, West Chester, Pa.;
GEN W W H DAVIS, Doylestown, Pa.;
CHAS W. COOPER, Allentown, Pa.

SEYMOUR, HUNT & CO.,
(Established in 1878.)
3 Exchange Court, N. Y. 192 LaSalle St. Chicago.
BANKERS AND BROKERS.
Special facilities for the purchase and sale of
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, PROVISIONS
Refer to Mechanics' National Bank, Chicago, and German Security Bank, Louisville, Ky.
J. M. SEYMOUR, Member New York Stock Exchange
J. A. HUNT, Member Chicago Board of Trade.
A. L. SEYMOUR.

FARMS ON JAMES RIVER, VA., IN A northern settlement. Illustrated circular free. J. H. MANCHA, Claremont, Va.

CONSUMPTION.

[illegible] DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

FARMS.—Before locating, consult our catalogue and map, sent free. [illegible]

For Sale.

The property in Oswego [illegible] John U. Smith [illegible]

[illegible] FULTON.

[illegible] BUS

[illegible] leave the Lewis House [illegible] & Syracuse Railroad by the [illegible] time table:

[illegible] Oswego, including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, [illegible] the Omnibus.
A. M. HAYES, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2	7:15 a. m
Norwich Express No. 6	3:22 p. m
Freight and Accommodation No. 41	8:35 a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1	9:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 5	11:38 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 43	5:33 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation	8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express	9:28 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express	12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express	5:59 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express	9:06 a. m
Day Express	3:03 p. m
Oswego Accommodation	6:21 p. m
New York and Philadelphia Express	8:39 p. m

☞The 8:06 train runs Sundays.

☞Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. PHELPS, Supt.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. WHEELER, Fulton Times Office. 36tf

Town meeting next Tuesday.

This is the ninety-first day of good sleighing.

☞Black Silks very cheap at Fay's New York Store. 41

Fulton G. A. R. will soon produce the drama "Down by the Sea."

Extra copies of THE TIMES always to be found at Ney's postoffice news room.

☞You can buy a genuine Singer Sewing Machine complete at A. Bristol's for twenty-seven dollars.

Chas. B. Baldwin of the Gazette office Baldwinsville, spent Sunday in town a guest of G. A. Burtch.

A. M. Parmiter, who is employed in the shoe department in Sing Sing prison, is home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorr B. Calkins have gone to Duchess county to visit their daughter Mrs. H. P. Orchard.

Parties desiring election or caucus tickets will please bear in mind that THE TIMES office will do such work in the best manner at low prices.

The Rome Sentinel says that judicious advertising creates many a new business, enlarges many an old business, revives many a dull business, rescues many a lost business, saves many a failing business. Think of it!

The advanced academic examination is now proceeding in Fulton Union School and will continue the remainder of this school week. The regents preliminary examination will be held to-morrow and Friday.

J. D. Perkins, corn doctor, has decided to leave Fulton. He will remain in Fulton until after town meeting and will be in his office over Goodjon's shoe store on Oneida street, to treat all who may call until after that day.

The McGibeny family will give an entertainment in Stephens opera house, Saturday evening, April 11th. Everyone will be anxious to listen to the McGibeny's as they are undoubtedly the greatest musical family in the world.

One of the most enjoyable dancing parties held in Fulton this winter occurred at Nichols hall last Thursday evening. The music was excellent and the management of the whole affair highly satisfactory. Another party will be held to-morrow evening in the same place under the same management. Messrs Henry A. Wise and Frank Summerville are the managers.

The Oswego Falls Observer says that Commissioner Parkhurst, of Scriba, is contemplating introducing a new feature in the management of the schools. He proposes to arrange a series of questions to be used in all the schools in his district for the examination of all pupils who desire it—the examination to take place simultaneously throughout the district, the detailed results, in each case to be examined and passed upon.

The Free Masons have played an important part in alleviating the destitution caused by the floods in the Ohio Valley. Sidney W. Douglas, a former Fultonian, now a resident of Evansville, Ind., which is located in the flooded district, has been made chief distributing officer for the Order in that vicinity. We learn by Evansville papers that the Grand Master telegraphed from Indianapolis to Mr. Douglas to communicate personally, by telegraph, by letter, or through the papers, or through all of these, to the masters of lodges and prominent Masons in the flooded points below Leavenworth, in Indiana, that they could have any needed assistance in relief by applying to him. It is an onerous task and reflects credit upon Mr. Douglas's ability that he should be chosen for the work from among thousands.

MRS LANGTRY,

And other famous women have won a reputation for facial beauty. A fine complexion makes one handsome, even though the face is not of perfect mould. Burdock Blood Bitters act directly upon the circulation, and so give the skin a clearness and smoothness otherwise unattainable.

THE LANGTRY WALTZES ILLUSTRATED. Lithograph front page for five cents at [illegible] Store.

☞New check Nainsook 10c. and up at Fay's New York Store. 41

☞LOOK HERE!

[illegible] purchasing goods to the [illegible] dollar or more between [illegible] day of March and pay- [illegible] is entitled to a ticket [illegible] to a decorated [illegible]

D. C. R[illegible]

[illegible] Fulton, N. Y.

[illegible] Speaking [illegible] Candidates for Town Offices—When the Caucuses will be Held.

Town meeting occurs next Tuesday and but little is heard of the fact upon the streets. Among the several candidates THE TIMES has heard mentioned for the various offices are the following gentlemen:

It seems to be universally conceded that Arvin Rice, republican, the present incumbent, will receive the nomination for supervisor, while William B. Howard is said to be the unanimous choice of the democrats. These gentlemen were pitted against each other last year. With these gentlemen in the field Volney will be sure of having an able and competent representative on the Board of Supervisors, as either Mr. Rice or Mr. Howard posses the necessary qualifications.

In the collectorship it is said Jefferson Bailey and Edward Waugh will enter the republican caucus for the nomination while Willis Ney and Samuel B. Whitaker will seek the nomination from the democrats. The above named gentlemen are politically strong and with the exception of Mr. Waugh have held offices in their respective parties. They all enter the contest friendly and the decision of the caucus will be satisfactory to them.

For Overseer of the Poor in the village Henry S. Gardner is said to be the coming republican nominee while Patrick Cullen is urged by his friends to accept the democrat nomination.

Highway Commissioner is being worked up quite extensively. Amos H. Baldwin, republican, the present incumbent, has made a thorough canvass; V. V. Vant, republican, of Mt. Pleasant is being pushed by his friends. James N. Dodge of Bundy's Crossing and Wm. A. LaFountain of Seneca Hill are the prospective candidates in the democrat caucus for the nomination.

A successor to Justice of the Peace, Louis H. Drake, republican, whose term of office will expire January 1st 1884, will be chosen next Tuesday. Mr. Drake resides in North Volney. He will undoubtedly be the republican nominee. No democrat has been publicly named.

For Overseer of the Poor in the county Jay M. Piper, democrat, the present incumbent, will no doubt receive the nomination. Who the republican nominee will be is not known.

In Granby Thomas R. Wright, republican, the present incumbent, will be the nominee of the party. Who the democrats will choose is difficult to determine. D. H. Gilbert is being pushed by the democrats for Overseer of the Poor and James Gilkooley by the same party for Highway Commissioner.

Democratic Caucus—Volney.

The Democratic electors of the town of Volney will meet in Nichols hall Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock to place in nomination candidates to be supported at the ensuing town meeting to be held in Nichols hall, Tuesday, March 6, 1883.

BY ORDER COM.

Fulton, Feb 28, 1883.

Temperance Caucus—Volney.

The Temperance electors of the town of Volney are requested to meet at Sons of Temperance hall over Woodin's store Saturday March 3d, 1883, at one p. m. For the purpose of nominating a no license commissioner and transacting such other business as may come before the caucus. BY ORDER COM.

Fulton, Feb. 28, 1883.

Republican Caucus—Volney.

The republican electors of the town of Volney are requested to meet at Nichols Hall, in the village of Fulton, on Saturday, March 4, 1883, at 2 p. m. to nominate candidates for town officers to be supported at the ensuing town meeting. By order of Town Com.

The Republicans of Granby will hold their caucus in Howe's hall, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock p. m. The Democrats will hold a caucus at the same hour in the Town Clerk's office in the same building.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton. Oswego County on Feb. 28, 1883.

Charlie Blake, Valentine Bowen, Mrs Geo Burch, Anthony Calkins, Miss Helen M. Calkins, Anderson Clark, Miss Emma Hanford, James Henabrag, Jas LaRock, Mrs Ellen Lake, E. Lewis, Fred Peterson, Josey Fenerman, Miss Cora Rydout, Mrs Ida Ryan, Mrs Maggie Smith, Mrs M. J. Smith.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

Miss Fanny Jones, Lansing, N. Y.
D. W. Wagoner, Pennellville, N. Y.
Ira E. Glasgow, Prescott, Ont.
Perry Mason & Co. Boston, Mass.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

In the Butler County (Kansas) Democrat, published at Eldorado, of a recent date, we find the following mention of a former Fulton boy:

The latest social event in this city was the marrriage of Chas. W. Smith of Kalamazoo, Mich, and Miss Kitty Schmucker of this city. The wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. Gearhart on Central avenue, Tuesday evening and was a very quiet affair, only a few intimate friends of the contracting parties being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Anderson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and the happy couple took the Ft. Scott train yesterday morning for Kansas City. Mr. Smith is the well known representative of Kingman, Andrews & Co, Kalamazoo, manufacturers of wagons, carriages, agricultural implements, and it was during his visits to Eldorado that the acquaintance was formed which ended in courtship and marriage. The bride is well known in Eldorado and has a wide circle of friends who wish her happiness and prosperity in her new life. The best wishes of the Democrat go with the young couple.

Judge Dwight has just decided that any clergyman who retains the relations to the church is entitled to his usual exemptions from taxation, whether engaged in the work of preaching or not.

☞New spring Prints and Ginghams at Fay's New York Store. 41

A WARNING TO FARMERS!

Farmers coming to Fulton before buying a dollars worth of Clothing be sure [illegible] York [illegible]

A. [illegible] IS OFFERING GREAT BARGAINS IN BOOTS AND SHOES!

Preparatory to going to Eastern Markets.

CALL AND SEE.

The last day of almanac winter.

Have you had our 50c tea. Can not be beat. D. C. SKADEN.

Mr. Alex. Bradford of Ingells Crossing will remove to Fulton in the spring.

Mr J. C. Downer of Buffalo, formerly in employ of E. W. Ross & Co, is in town.

☞Bristol sells none but the best Carriages. Every part thoroughly warranted.

John Murphy manager of Johnston's tin shop in Oswego Falls is quite sick with quinsy.

Byron Parker has returned to his home in Oswego Falls after an absence of four years in the far west.

Dr. Haviland was called to Minetto yesterday by Dr. Dewing, of Oswego to consult in a critical case.

For a fine display of goods and excellent arrangement thereof halt when passing the "Bee Hive" and you will see it.

The Presbyterian society will hold a social at the residence of Mrs J. W. Swan of lower Oswego Falls this afternoon and evening.

William Ward who has made his home in Indiana for several years has returned to Fulton. He is a brother of Mrs. L. D. Perry.

Monday the Assembly passed a bill providing that in villages exceeding 2,000 population three assessors may be elected on written request of at least 100 voters.

Miss Gertie Wheeler of lower Oswego Falls leaves for Phelps, N. Y. for a sojourn of about three weeks, after which she will return and enter THE TIMES office as book-keeper.

Dr. J. A. Barringer who has made so many remarkable cures in this place by Vitalization, will be at the Lewis house, Fulton, again on Tuesday, March 13th, and remain until Thursday night.

Rev E. C. Bruce will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, using for a subject:—"The Corner Stone of the Liquor Traffic." All parts of the house free. The public invited.

The telephone business is still increasing in Fulton. The Lewis house has placed one in and will be No 29, and one placed in G. S. Piper's law office is No 35. Subscribers will add these numbers to their lists.

Rev. Jay N. Taft had a donation party at the Furman Street M. E. church in Syracuse last evening. He was the recipient of several beautiful gifts besides a purse containing $120. 'Tis sweet to be remembered.

M. P. Schenck will attend the cider manufacturers' convention at Tiffin, Ohio, on the 14th and 15th of March. Schenck & Sheridan are pushing the cider press business and with a reasonably fair trade the coming season expect to put out $150,000 worth of presses. Success to them.

Fire was discovered in Mrs. Jennings' millinery store Monday evening about 9 o'clock by some ladies who were passing by. The place was entered by Charles Wilson and Isaac Wales and the fire extinguished without serious damage. It caught from an overheated stove and when discovered was crawling up the ceiling. The damage was slight.

Rev. Joseph Cook of Boston will lecture in Oswego to-morrow evening at the First M. E. church. Subject:—"The Seven Wonders of the World." Several Fulton people will attend. They will go down on the 6:24 p. m. train and return by special after the lecture. Fare for round trip 80 cents. Tickets to lecture 50 cents; reserved seats 75 cents, for sale in Fulton by R. E. Phillips.

The Lowville Republican says in all of the local butter markets of St. Lawrence county prices have dropped to 20 cents for the very best quality. The decline has been caused by the ascertainment of the fact that the city markets are stocked beyond any present demand, and are likely to be for some time to come. The epidemic has not reached Fulton yet, and butter is selling anywhere from 27 to 32 cents per pound.

An interesting celestial event occurs to-morrow morning. At about twenty-five minutes after four o'clock the moon will occult the bright star Beta Scorpionis, and more than an hour later the star will be seen emerging from behind the moon on the side opposite to where it disappeared. To those who own telescopes the spectacle will be particularly interesting, because the star in question is one of the most beautiful double stars in the heavens. Even without a telescope it will be a sight worth seeing.

☞The Lyons carriages at Bristol's. Call and see them.

☞New Hamburgs, from 2 cents to $1.50 at Fay's New York Store. 41

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS.

Goods well bought are half sold. Bristol's Carriages are all bought for cash,—prices guaranteed lowest in the county.

New Swiss Embroideries, Hamburg and White Goods.
C. E. SACKETT.

Attention Comrades!

The next regular meeting of Post Daniel F. Schenck G. A. R., will be held in their rooms Tuesday evening, March 6, 1883. By order W. J. PENTELOW, Commander.

Lecture Postponed.

Rev. W. C. Hendrickson, Grand Lecturer of the Good Templars, was announced to lecture in the Presbyterian church this evening. The lecture has been indefinitely postponed on account of his sickness.

The G. A. R. Lecture.

Rev. I. M. Foster, chaplain-in-chief of the G. A. R. of the U. S. delivered a lecture in Nichols hall last evening under the auspices of Post Daniel F. Schenck. His subject was "American Citizenship." The weather was unpropitious and the audience was not very large. The lecture was one of the best delivered in Fulton for some time and gave the best of satisfaction.

☞New Buttons and Cloak Trimmings at Fay's New York Store. 41

Royal Hand Bell Ringers.

The Royal Hand Bell Ringers and Glee Singers will give an entertainment in Stephens Opera House Wednesday evening March 14, 1883. This is the finest organization of the kind extant and the press and public are unanimous in recommending them. Sale of tickets will commence Monday, March 5 at Watson's drug store and Ney's news room. General admission 35 cents, reserved seats 50 cents.

The Uncas Club.

The Fulton Athletic and Amusement Club have adopted the name "Uncas Club" by which they will hereafter be known. The club is in a flourishing condition with a membership of about eighty.

Uncas whose name the club adopts, was the most famous chief of the Mohegans or Mohicans, a tribe of Indians formerly inhabiting a considerable part of New England and part of what is the State of New York as far west as the Hudson River. A remnant of the tribe long dwelt at Norwich, Conn., where a few of their descendants still remain. In 1826 James Fenimore Cooper wrote a work entitled "Last of the Mohicans" in which the life and character of Uncas is portrayed.

Falley Seminary.

The next term of Falley Seminary begins March 26, with a corps of thoroughly versed teachers in all the branches which are taught. Pupils have many advantages here which cannot be had elsewhere. Classes are made small so that greater attention can be given to each student. In large classes very little attention can be given by teachers to individual students, and bright pupils who could advance rapidly are held back by the body of the class, while the slow ones are whipped up into line without thoroughly understanding the work or else they are dropped back to begin again. It is a main object in the seminary to overcome this difficulty and make each student's advancement depend upon his ability to get ahead.

☞Black and colored French Cashmere at very low prices at Fay's New York Store. 41

Contented and Cheerful.

The Elmira Advertiser of Friday has the following to say in regard to John W. Lyons who was arrested in this village last Tuesday and taken to that city:

Sheriff Stanley two or three days ago arrested the Rev. John W. Lyons, of Phœnix, Oswego county, for forgery, and brought him to this city. The facts of the case are as follows: In the summer of 1880, John W. Lyons, of Erin, a methodist preacher officiating at Austin Hill and Erin Centre, bought of Grant & DeWaters, of this city, a wagon giving in payment two notes for $52.60 each, endorsed by his father-in-law, Levi Case, of Wayne county. The notes matured in 1881 and went to protest. The indorser, Case, paying no attention to the notification, suit was commented against Case, who testified on oath that the endorsements were forgeries and the suit was not tried. Case went before the January term of oyer and terminer and an indictment was found against Lyons for forgery upon his testimony. For a few weeks past Lyons, who was preaching at Phœnix, has been holding revival meetings at Fulton, in the same county at which place he was arrested by Sheriff Stanley last Tuesday. Lyons is a gentlemanly appearing man, rather seedy in appearance. He has a wife and four little girls who are now at Phœnix. These facts he stated to an Advertiser man who visited him at the jail yesterday. He says that when the proper time comes everything will be set right and seems to be as contented and cheerful as the condition under which he finds himself will allow.

THREW AWAY HIS CRUTCHES.

"Suffered from rheumatism so badly had to use crutches, but threw them away after applying Thomas' Eclectric Oil, to my limbs. I now feel better than I have for years." F. L. Gibbs, 399 Elk St., Buffalo, N. Y.

WOOD WANTED!

Two hundred cords of soft wood wanted. Black ash and Hemlock. Highest cash prices paid. Deliver to Emeny's brick yard upper Oswego Falls.

GEO. J. EMENY.

Fulton, Feb. 21. tf.

The last day in February.

Read Stoneburgh's grocery advertisements.

Odd Fellows social in their rooms in Dexter block Friday evening.

Go to Skaden's for your coffee and get the best there is in Fulton.

Several Fultonians talk of leaving in the early spring for southern Dakota.

William E. Taylor, who recently fell and broke his limb, is improving finely.

Dr. Coye of Gilberts Mills contemplates taking up his residence in this village.

Bishop Huntington will be in Fulton Sunday and administer the rite of confirmation at Zion church in the evening at 7 o'clock.

"Billy" Walker, who resides a short distance south of Fulton was taxed $5.00 by Justice Piper Monday for drunkenness.

LOST—On Monday last, a gold bracelet, between Rochester street and Broadway Third street. A liberal reward for its on return to this office.

The Young People's Literary Society of the M. E. church will meet this evening at the residence of Mr. George Patterson on Seneca street.

Boys who are in the habit of catching on the cars while in motion should not forget that the new penal code makes it a misdemeanor to get on a train while it is moving.

Wm. E. Waugh is again in the employ of manager Boardman at the Western Union office. Mr. Waugh is an excellent operator and is thoroughly conversant with all the details of the business.

Superintendent Shanahan is ill at his home in Tribes Hill, Montgomery Co., with pneumonia, by reason of which the canal appointments are delayed. He was reported yesterday to be somewhat better.

Jeremiah Green of Cleveland, Ohio, was in town Monday on a flying visit to his brother, Mr. J. N. Green. Mr. Green was the pioneer in photography in Fulton and in Cleveland is now proprietor of one of the finest art galleries in the country.

An adjourned term of the circuit court and court of oyer and terminer was held in Utica Saturday. Ostrander, the Camden murderer was brought into court and judge Merwin sentenced him to be hanged April 5, between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

A number of the young friends of Miss Della Peck, daughter of J. N. Peck, surprised her Monday evening, the anniversary of her fifteenth birthday by a surprise visit. A most enjoyable time resulted and the little people made merry until satiated.

Chas Mosher has had on exhibition at his fish market on Cayuga street for a few days a salmon trout weighing sixteen and one-half pounds. It is being served up to customers in steaks. Oysters, clams, and all kinds of fresh and salt water fish are always to be found at Mosher's.

G. F. Schenck, collector for the village of Oswego Falls, turned over to the board of trustees all the money he had received and also the warrant last Monday night. His bondsmen will probably be discharged at the next session of the board. There remains about $150 of uncollected taxes.

Hon. Newton W. Nutting has tendered his resignation as county judge to take effect March 4. Mr. Nutting was elected to congress from this district last November. Governor Cleveland will appoint his successor, who will serve until January 1st, 1884, when he will be succeeded by the person elected at the previous November election.

There will be some agitation to succeed him and the man will be a democrat. The Oswego Times says "William C. Stephens Esq. of Fulton would fill the bill admirably, in respect to devotion to democratic principles, qualifications, etc. He is active and shrewd and the governor might go farther and fare worse." G. S. Piper is a democrat and a rising and learned legal gentleman and we assure Governor Cleveland that Fulton can find talent that will admirably fit any position in his gift.

AN EXCELLENT REPORT.

Hon. Jos. G. Goodridge, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes this: "Cannot express myself in sufficiently praiseworthy terms. Burdock Blood Bitters have used for the past two years; keep my stomach in splendid trim."

Remember that you can buy one garment of the N. Y. clothing company as cheap as if you bought one hundred. All goods not satisfactory taken back and money refunded. 31 First street, Fulton, N. Y. 39

☞To close out all Holiday goods I offer them at less than wholesale prices, at either store, 15 Oneida street Fulton, or corner 2d and Broadway Oswego Falls, N. Y. D. C. DRAPER.

Immense stock of Carriages just received by Bristol. Now is your time to get posted on prices. Call and see.

C. E. Sackett is making Special Prices on Bleached and Brown Cottons.

CANAL APPOINTMENTS.

Section Number Two, Oswego Canal, Draws a Blank.

James Shannahan Superintendent of Public Works announced yesterday the following appointments as section superintendents on the canals:

Erie Canal—Section 1, Michael Redmond, Cohoes; section 2, Robin Hathaway, Schenectady; section 3, John Hughes, Fort Hunter; section 4, John F. Thomas, Ilion; section 5, ——; section 7, John Heldridge, Port Byron; section 8,——; section 9, John S. Gunsaul, Fairport; section 10,——; section 11, George Chambers, Buffalo.

Black River Canal—Section 1, Peter Phillips, Boonville; Section 2, James Galvin, Carthage.

Champlain Canal—Section 1,——; section 2, George B. Sterill, Sandy Hill; section 3, Sylvester Mahan, Whitehall.

Oswego Canal—Section 1, John Lahey, Syracuse; section 2,——.

Cayuga and Seneca Canal—Delos W. Calvin, Geneva.

NEIGHBORING NEWS.

Syracuse is forming a colony to locate in Dakota.

Mexico is also engaged in the laudable undertaking of erecting a soldier's monument.

John L. Pool and Thomas Moore, two old residents of Oswego, have died the past week.

The Knights of Labor of Cleveland, N. Y., will place in nomination candidates for supervisor and other town offices.

Hannibal News—H. C. Leroy had a valuable horse killed on his farm near Furniss' Station Tuesday. The team broke into a bog and a sharp stub penetrated the body of the horse.

In Oswego Friday evening Geo. W. Lyman's grocery on West First street was burned. The stock in the grocery was greatly damaged by water and smoke. Mr. Lyman estimates his loss at $5,500. The insurance is $4,000. The fire was caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp.

Friday afternoon at Baldwinsville, Jacob Amos, jr., of Syracuse, while examining the machinery in his mill at that place, got his right arm caught in the gearing and crushed necesitating amputation. He is a young man twenty-four years of age and a son of Jacob Amos of Syracuse.

Henry Brigham, of Morrisville, Madison county, died last Sunday morning from the result of an accident which at the time it occurred was not considered at all dangerous. A few days before, while operating a straw cutter, he cut two fingers on one of his hands. The members were properly dressed at the time, but malignant erysipelas developed itself and death resulted as stated above.

Another fraud that has been practiced is worked as follows says an exchange; A farmer receives a circular through the mails, stating that a new and improved variety of winter wheat has been discovered and the seed will be furnished him free of charge until a good crop of said wheat is raised, on condition that he sends one dollar to pay for packing, etc. The dollar is sent and nothing more is heard of it.

The sidewalk in front of the place of Mr Brower, editor of the Hannibal News, did not suit the authorities and they ordered him to repair it, but he refused to do so. The sidewalk was then put down under orders of the Hannibal trustees and Mr. Brower asked to pay which he refused to do. A suit has been commenced against Brower and a levy has been made upon his paper and a number of fowls. The editor has commenced a replevin suit.

Mrs. T. S. Brigham died at her home in Fruit Valley, Oswego town last Wednesday, aged 55 years. She was a sufferer from a cancer. Mrs. Brigham was born in Amber, Onondaga county in 1828. Her father was the late Rev. F. A. O'Farrell formerly of Oswego. She was the mother of Mrs. D. E. Taylor of Portland, Oregon; Mrs. F. W. Stewart, Mrs. W. R. Nesbit, and sister of Mrs. A. J. Lewis of Oswego, and Mrs. Sullivan of Michigan. Funeral was held at her late residence Saturday, at 2 p. m., Rev. F. H. Beck of the First M. E. church Oswego, of which the deceased was a member, officiating.

Phœnix Register—From the opening of the season last fall up to the 15 inst., Wright & Co., of Lamsons, have shipped 77 car loads, of potatoes, thirty-two from Lampsons, sixteen from South Granby, eleven from Fulton and the balance from near by stations, aggregating 600 bushels each, and they still have in store at Lamsons 4,000 bushels ready for shipment. This gives a total of about 50,000 bushels. There were shipped from Phœnix by canal, last fall, 25,000 bushels and quite as many more by rail by other parties. Add to this the quantity still in the hands of the producers which is estimated to be one-fourth of the crop, and we have a grand total of 125,000 bushels.

The amenities of litigation are plainly developed in the following which we take from the Oswego Post:—Referee Lansing, of Watertown, on Friday gave a decision in the case of Failing & Pratt against Wm. Fargo, as president of the American Express company. The action, which was commenced in 1877, was brought to recover $241.20, which the plaintiffs claim was lost to them by the failure of the express agent at Morsston, Sullivan county, to promptly collect a draft for that amount. It appears that the plaintiffs in this action sold and shipped to Medad T. Morss, of Morsston, 400 bushels of corn. Accompanying the shipping was sent a draft on Morss, to be collected by the agent of the company at Morsston. He delayed collecting the draft for twenty-four days, and in the meantime Morss went into bankruptcy. An action was then commenced in the supreme court against the express company to collect the value of the draft. The case was tried by Edwin Allen, as referee, and reported in favor of the plaintiffs. The defendants then appealed from the referee's decision to the general term. The general term granted a new trial and referred the case to John Lansing, of Watertown. Mr. Lansing has just given a decision in favor of the plaintiffs for $241.20 with interest since 1877, and costs. The costs amount to more than three times the amount of the draft and the interest.

[illegible]

THE CAUSE OF RHEUMATISM.

How it should be Treated to Effect a Permanent Cure, &c.

No department of science has witnessed greater progress during the past twenty-five years than that of obtaining correct information of the relative medicinal value of the various articles of the vegetable kingdom used for the relief of of human suffering, their proper effective combination, and the best method of securing and preserving their active principles for universal use.

The supreme importance of purifying the blood and of restoring the diseased liver and kidneys to healthy action, has indeed made this subject a field of active operation, the results of which have enabled us to present to the afflicted for their use and appreciation, the Rheumatic Syrup a combination of the best known remedies.

CAUSE OF RHEUMATISM.

The real cause of rheumatism seems to be understood by but very few, and even those who do or should know the cause of this terrible disease, seem to have but little, if any, success in the treatment of it. To us it is very clear that the sole cause of Rheumatism and Neuralgic pains, is the accumulation in the veins of little particles of Uric or lithic Acid, which finds its way in the circulation of the blood, but which finds its way in the circulation of the blood, but which should pass off with the insensible perspiration outwardly, or the waste matter of the system inwardly.

In a normal condition of the kidneys, the Uric Acid developed in the formation of the urine, does not seperate from it, but becomes neutralized and is evacuated.

These coagulated particles of corrupt matter, may make their appearence under the skin, producing postules, scaly eruptions, or running sores.

But they more frequently locate about a nerve, and in this case the patient often suffers intense pain. This is called

NEURALGIA

Nature now does all she can to aid this circulation, by sending blood in abundance to drench out, or dislodge, if possible, this urate of lime, and the parts become red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called

ACUTE RHEUMATISM,

If nature fails to wash out these acrimonious atoms, she withdraws the undue supply of the blood from the parts, but continues to perform the functions of circulation as best she can, but the passage of blood therough the affected channels continues painful. This is called and is pronounced incurable by nearly all our best pratictioners, but we have shown that the Rheumatic Syrup has aad will dissolve or dislodge and remove the annoying and dangerous matter and cure the sufferer.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM,

THE CURE.

Anything which will dislodge these corrupt particles, dissolve and expel them from the system and purify the blood, will give give permanent relief.

It is the mission of the Rheumatic Syrup not only to dissolve and remove the accumulation of these particles in the blood, but to so cleanse and purify it that there can be no possibility of the return of this painful and dangerous disease.

Rheumatic Syrup goes to the very seat, or root of the disease, doing its work of cleansing or purifying from the first dose, giving healthy action to the liver and kidneys, supplying the system with pure blood and giving new life and vigor to the sufferer.

In a word Rheumatic Syrup does what no other remedy has been able to do, and it is daily curing those who years ago had given up all hope of being cured, having tried all the available so-called remedies recommended for this most dreaded disease.

HOPE ON

Although you may have been a sufferer for years, with Cronic or Acute Rheumatism or Neuralgia, and become discouraged, and given up all hope of recovery after trying all of the so-called remedies with no avail, Cheer up; renew your hope; for by the persistent use of Rheumatic Syrup you can be cured, and the use of your hands and limbs will be restored by the circulation of pure and warm blood through the veins, and you will bless the day you first heard of Rheumatic Syrup.

If you have a torpid liver, or if you are troubled with kidney affections or or have symptoms of Brights disease, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Dyspepsia, Gout, or any of the diseases which arise from an enfeebled condition of the system suffer no longer, for Rheumatic Syrup cleanses the blood of all its impurities, and is a positive cure for the above named diseases and the success it has met with has made it the wondor of the age.

Rheumatic Syrup is put up in quart bottles, price one dollar per bottle.

No family should be without it.

Ask your druggist for it. If he has not got it request him to send for it, and give it a thorough trial, and become convinced that what we have said about it is true.

We earnestly request that all physicians give this remedy a careful examination, for we are confident that after so doing, they will be as free to recommend it, as are those who have been already cured by its use.

Many physicians of both schools are already using and recommending its use, having been convinced of its superior merits.

Office of Rheumatic Syrup Co., No 1 Plymouth avenue, Rochester. Send for circular.

Read the following testimonials from a few of the patients who have used and and been cured by the use of the Rheumatic Syrup of diseases so extraordinary that they desire to have the particulars known for the benefit of others who may be similarly afflicted:

CLIFTON SPRINGS, N. Y. July 13, 1882.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

Gents—I make the following statement for the benefit of those who suffer with that terrible disease—rheumatism. I have been troubled more or less for twelve years, and at times could hardly use my arms. It was in my arms and shoulders principally. I took but one bottle of your Syrup and it stopped the pain and took the soreness out, so I am feeling well I cheerfully recommend your Syrup to any suffering from rheumatism.

G. W. WARFIELD.

NOT A HUMBUG.

Colonel Richard Fordham of Lyons, N. Y. says that by the use of a few bottles of the Rheumatic Syrup he was completely cured of a very severe attack of rheumatism, which confined him to his room for months. He also says that he had no faith in patent medicines, but has changed his mind since using Rheumatic Syrup.

A PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD.

SAVANNAH, March 3, 1882.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

GENTS—I have been a great sufferer till within a few months, for ten years with that worst of all diseases—rheumatism. At times I have been wholly unable to attend to my business, and for eight weeks was confined to my chair, my only relief from pain being while some one of my family rubbed my limbs, at the same time was covered with scrofula. I had tried every treatment and every kind of medicine, to no purpose, and was completely discouraged. Having heard a friend praise the Rheumatic Syrup, as a last resort, I procured a bottle but with little hopes of receiving benefit. After taking two bottles, to my surprise and [illegible] I [illegible] perienced a decided [illegible]

[illegible] Rheumatic Syrup. As a blood purifier and a rheumatic cure, has no equal.

DEXTER HOGAN.
Clyde, N. Y.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

GENTLEMEN—I have been troubled with rheumatism in my ankles and feet for over one year. Have tried several remedies, but found nothing to relieve pain. Have been so I hardly could get about the house without suffering great pain. I commenced taking Rheumatic Syrup. In less than two weeks all pain had left me, and to-day I am as well as ever. It is a sure cure for rheumatism.

MRS ALBERT GRAHAM.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES OF SALT RHEUM CURED BY RHEUMATIC SYRUP.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

WOLCOTT, N. Y., May 27, 1882.

GENTS—I take this opportunity to express my thanks for what your syrup is doing for me. I have been troubled with rheumatism and salt Rheum for over forty years. Salt rheum has been nearly all over my body, but for the past few years has settled in my right arm, my arm being broken out the entire length of it. I have used nearly every remedy I could hear of for rheumatism and salt rheum; but found nothing to relieve me from pain; have been so I could not lie in bed at night. I commenced taking Rheumatic Syrup; have taken two bottles; it has stopped all my pain; I can now get my regular sleep; The salt rheum has nearly all disappeared; in fact, I am feeling better this Spring since I commenced taking your Syrup than I have for years before. The Rheumatic Syrup is truly a great blood purified and a sure cure for rheumatism, for I have improved every day since I commenced its use until now I am a well man. NELSON MOORE.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

BROCKPORT, N. Y. Aug. 10, 1882

GENTS—For the benefit of those who may be suffering from rheumatism I make the following statement in relation to your Rheumatic Syrup. I had been suffering severely for six weeks with rheumatism all through my whole body. Spent many sleepless nights, for I could not turn my self in bed, nor raise my hands to my head. Wrists were swollen I could not bend without causing terrible pain, when I was persuaded by a friend to try your Rheumatic Syrup. Have been taking it three weeks, and find myself able to be up and around the house, and improving so rapidly that I feel as if I could safely recommend it to all those so afflicted.

Yours Respectfully,
MISS A. E. GOODELL.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

SOUTH BUTLER, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN—I desire to say a few words in praise of your Rheumatic Syrup, which has done so much for me in the last few weeks. In December last I had a very severe attack of rheumatism or kidney affection, which completely deprived me of the use of my limbs. Suffered, as only those who have had this terrible disease can realize, for nearly three months, using nearly every preparation recommended. These, with the aid of our best physicians, seemed to be of no avail, and I grew worse and worse and had given up all hope of recovery, when I learned that an acquaintance of mine who had been similarly afflicted had been entirely cured by the use of the Rheumatic Syrup, and I was prevailed upon to try it. I confess I had little or no faith in it, having tried so many remedies with no beneficial results, but I am happy to say that the rheumatic Syrup is all—yes more than you claim for it. All pain had left me, and I was able to walk around the house before I had used three bottles, and to-day I am as well as ever and able to do my work. I cannot say enough in its praise.

MRS ROBERT COLE.

WOLCOTT, April, 5, 1882.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

GENTS—Having been afflicted with rheumatism over eight months in my left hip, at times so I couldn't get a night's rest, or even lie on that side on account of such pain running through my hip and down my limb, the Rheumatic Syrup was reccommended. After taking one bottle the pain left me, and I could lie on that side as well as ever. I have felt no symptoms of rheumatism since. I think as a rheumatic cure it has no equal.

A. B THACKER, Merchant.

FURNACE VILLAGE, Wayne Co, Mar. 3, '82

ANOTHER CASE OF KIDNEY DISEASE CURED BY RHEUMATIC SYRUP.

GENTS—Fifteen years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, which settled my back and hips, and much of the time for the last five years I have been unable to turn in bed or feed myself. I have tried many remedies and two years ago I consulted one of the most celebrated physicians in the State, who pronounced it kidney disease, but I grew worse all the time during his treatment. I heard your Rheumatic Syrup highly recommended and I tried it and before I had used two bottles all pain had left me, and to-day I can get about and am able to attend to my business, and am improving every day. I am confident that the Rheumatic Syrup, if taken as directed, will cure any case of rheumatism or kidney disease.

I am most respectfully yours,
GARRETT AMMERMAN,
Overseer of the Poor.

A BAD CASE OF SCROFULA CURED.

PORT BYRON, Feb. 20, 1882

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

I had been doctoring for three or four years, with different physicians, for scrofula, as some called it but found no relief till I commenced taking your Syrup. After taking it e short timue to my surprise it began to help me. Continueing its use a few weeks I found myself as well as ever. As a blood purifier, I think it has no equal.

LRS WM STRANG.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Nov 16, 1882.

Gentlemen—I have taken but two bottles of your Rheumatic Syrup, but have received more benefit form it than from any and all other remedies I have tried, and I confidently believe I should now have been entirely free from rheumatic symptoms had I not exposed myself to the night air and taken cold. I have improved every day since I first began its use and am confident that there is no case of rheumatism that the Rheumatic Syrup will not cure, if the patient will adhere closely to directions for its use, and use proper care about exposing themselves. Yours Truly,

FRANK R. REMSTRONG.
With Burke, FitzSimons, Hone, & Co.

A BAD CASE OF KIDNEY TROUBLED CURED.

AUBURN, CAYUGA CO N. Y, Sept 29, '82

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

I should have written you before in regard to the Rheumatic Syrup which you sent me, but have been waiting to see whether the result was permanent. I can confidentially say that it has had a very gratifying effect on my wife, relieving her of much pain within three days after taking it,. I also Fave away one bottle of the Syrup to a friend, which has the same effect as on my wife, My wife has suffered great pain from rheumatism and kidney difficulty for years, and at times could hardly move. She has tried a great many medicines recommended, to no purpose. It is the only remedy that gave her permanent relief. Yours,

ROBERT S. ARMSTRONG.

For Sale.

The very valuable property on First Street and running back to Second, well known as the Hull place. For sale cheap. A great bargain for capitalists. Will be sold as a whole or in parts.

Enquire at F. D. VANWAGENEN'S,
Real Estate Agency, No. 10 First St.

STAVE BOLTS.

Cash paid for WHITE and [illegible] ASH [illegible]

VALENTINES

COMIC AND SENTIMENTAL

A Large Stock of Pure Drugs.
A Complete Stock of Patent Medicines.
A Fine Assortment of Toilet Soaps.
A Choice Selection of Perfumes.
A [illegible] Line of Toilet Articles.
A [illegible] Shears.

VALENTINES

[illegible] the New York Mercury a welcome [illegible] in every home circle.

REDUCED RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

But in order to enhance the already widespread circulation of the New York Mercury, the proprietor [illegible] to reduce the annual subscription rate for 1883 from $3 00 to $2 50 per annum, thus making it the largest, handsomest, cheapest and best family paper in the United States. Each subscriber will get

1,600 SQUARE INCHES OF READING MATTER
52 TIMES A YEAR FOR $2 50

comprising more than 15,000 lines of choice literature in each issue—equalizing the contents of a 25 cent magazine!

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

will be mailed, postage free for six months for $1.25, or three months for 75 cents. Sample copies sent when requested. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 3 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that the The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE } HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE }	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol, 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including all the reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, hints for raising cattle, poultry, grains, trees, vegetables &c, with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of

The Home

[illegible]

THE WONDER OF HEALING!

Catarrh. [illegible] Cold in Head, &c. Our "Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, contains all the curative properties of the Extract; our Nasal Syringe invaluable for use in catarrhal affections, is simple and inexpensive.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured so many cases of these distressing complaints as the Extract.

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT	50c., $1.00, $1.75.
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25
Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (2)

Burdock Blood Bitters

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Juandice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffa'o, N.Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been universally recognized as the best newspaper published in Northern and Central New York. The chief reason for its popularity lies in the fact that it is a journal equally well suited to the wants of all clases of the community, from the farmer to the business man, and is as popular in in the home circle as in the office and workshop.

Its proprietors spare neither pains expense nor labor to make the Utica Herald equal in all respects to any newspaper in the United States. It aims to supply every feature of a general newspaper, so that its subscribers will find it necessary to take no other journal. To this end it devotes special attention to the fullest publication of all the local news of the twelve counties through which it largely circulates. Its columns contain in compact form

ALL THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.
THE FULLEST MARKET REPORTS,
ABLE EDITORIAL DISCUSSIONS,
CORRESPONDENCE FROM STATE AND NATIONAL CAPITALS, THE GREAT CITIES, LITERARY NOTICES,
FASHIONS, SOCIETY AND ART NEWS,

the choicest reading for the Family Circle; and a carefully conducted Agricultural Department, in which especial attention is given to the

DAIRY AND HOP CROP.

The Utica Herald has long been recognized as the most valuable paper published for all engaged in these two agricultural specialties of Central New York.

Extensive improvements, increased facilities and extended enterprise will mark the New Year.

Specimen copies of Daily or Weekly Herald sent free on application.

[illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Feb. 28, 1883.

THAT BAD, BAD BOY.

His Pa Goes Down the Fire Escape—Music Box in Church.

"Got any vaseline?" said the bad boy to the grocery man, as he went in the store one cold morning, leaving the door open, and picked up a cigar stub that had been thrown down by the store, and began to smoke it.

"Shut the door, you. Was you brought up in a saw mill? You'll freeze every potato in the house. No, I haven't got vaseline. What do you want of vaseline?" said the grocery man, as he set the syrup keg on a chair by the stove where it would thaw out.

"Want to rub it on pa's legs," said the boy, as he tried to draw smoke through the cigar stub.

"Why, what is the matter with your pa's legs? Rheumatiz?"

"Wuss nor rheumatiz," said the boy, as he threw away the cigar stub and drew some cider in a broken tea-cup. Pa has got the worst looking hind legs you ever saw. You see, since there has been so many fires pa has got offul scared and he has bought three fire escapes, made out of rope with knots in them, and he had been telling us every day how he could rescue the whole family in case of fire. He told us to be cool, whatever happened, and to rely on him. If the house got on fire, we were all to rush to pa, and he would save us. Well, last night ma had to go to one of the neighbor's and we didn't sleep much, cause ma had to come home several times on important errands. Pa was cross at being kept awake, and told ma he hoped she'd get ready to stay home, pretty soon. Well, pa he got asleep, and he slept till about eight o'clock in the morning, and the blinds were closed, and it was dark in his room, and I had waited for my breakfast till I was hungry as a wolf, and the girl told me to wake pa up, so I went up stairs, and I don't know what made me think of it, but I had some of this powder they make red fire with in the theatre, that me and my chum had the 4th of July, and I put it in a wash-dish in the bathroom, and I touched it off and hollered fire. I was going to wake pa up and tell him it was all right, and laugh at him. I guess there was too much fire, or I yelled too loud, 'cause pa jumped out of bed and grabbed a rope and rushed through the hall toward the back window that goes out on the shed. I tried to say something, but pa ran over me and told me to save myself, and I got to the back window to tell him there was no fire just as he let himself out of the window. He had one end of the rope tied to the leg of the washstand, and he was climbing down the back side of the shed by the kitchen, with not much on, and he was the horriblest looking object ever was, with his legs flying, and trying to stick his toe nails into the rope and the side of the house. I don't think a man looks well unless he well dressed. I didn't blame the hired girls for being scared when they saw pa and his legs come down outside the window, and when they yelled I went down to the kitchen, and they said a crazy man with a pillow-case around his neck was trying to kick the window in, and they run into the parlor, and I opened the door and let pa into the kitchen. He asked if anybody else was saved, and then I told him there was no fire, and he must have dreamed he was in a conflagration. Well, pa was astonished, and said he must be wrong in the head, and I left him thawing himself by the stove while I went after his clothes, and his legs were badly chilled, but I guess not frozen. He lays it all to ma, and says if she would stay at home and let other people run their own affairs, there would be more comfort in the house. Ma came in with a shawl over her head, and after she had told us what the result of her visit was, she sent me after vaseline to rub on pa's legs. Pa says he has demonstrated that if a man is cool and collected, in case of fire, and goes "deliberately at work to save himself he will come out all right."

"Well you are the meanest boy I ever heard of," said the grocery man. "But what about your pa's dancing a clog dance in church Sunday. The minister's hired girl was in here yesterday morning, and she said the minister said your pa had scandalized the church the worst way."

"O, he didn't dance in church. He was a little excited, that's all. You see, pa chews tobacco, and it is pretty hard on him to sit all through the sermon without taking a chew, and he gets nervous. He always reaches around in his pistol pocket, when they stand up to sing the last time, and feels in his tobacco box and gets out a chew, and puts it in his mouth when the minister pronounced the benediction, and then when he got out doors he is all ready to spit. He always does that. Well, my chum he had a present on Christmas of a music box, just about as pa's tobacco box, and all you have to do is to touch a spring and it plays, 'She's a Daisy, She's a Dumpling.' I borrowed it and put it in pa's pistol pocket, where he keeps his tobacco box, and when the choir got most through singing pa reached his hand in his pocket and began to fumble around for a chew. He touched the spring, and just as everybody bowed their heads to receive the benediction, and it was so still you could hear a pin drop, the music box began to play, and in the stillness it sounded as loud as a church organ. Well, I thought ma would sink. The minister heard it, and he looked toward pa, and everybody looked at pa, too, and pa turned red, and the music kept up, 'She's a Daisy,' and the minister looked mad and said 'Amen,' and the people began to put on their coats and the minister told the deacons to hunt up the source of that worldly music, and they took pa into the room back of the pulpit and searched him, and ma says pa will have to be churched. They kept the music box, and I have got to carry in coal enough to buy my chum a new music box. Well, I shall have to go and get that vaseline or pa's legs will suffer. Good day. [Peck's Sun.

A TRUE FRIEND

to the sick and afflicted, is Dr. [illegible]

[illegible]

THE [illegible] Diphtheria, and the [illegible] which it clings to the [illegible] well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take

BLUE PILLS

or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is [illegible] Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait!

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."
Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,
MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."
159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."
Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."
Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."
Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

As it is for all the painful diseases of the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS.

It cleanses the system of the acrid poison that causes the dreadful suffering which only the victims of Rheumatism can realize.

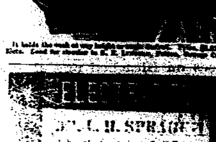
THOUSANDS OF CASES of the worst forms of this terrible disease have been quickly relieved, and in short time PERFECTLY CURED.

PRICE, $1. LIQUID OR DRY, SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.
Dry can be sent by mail.
WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington Vt.

Acts at the Same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY-WORT

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



It holds the work at any height [illegible] Kets. Send for circular to E. E. [illegible] Fulton, Oswego Co. N. Y.

[illegible] C. H. SPRAGUE [illegible] the treatment of all [illegible] by Electrical and Medical [illegible] a SPECIALTY. From over 30 years' experience he can [illegible] positively that most cases can be cured quicker and with greater comfort to the patient [illegible] than by any other mode. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Dividing Profits Among Trusty Employees—An Example Worthy of Emulation.

The five hundred employees of Lister Bros manufacturers of fertilizers, Newark New Jersey, were called together on last Thursday in one of the factory buildings to receive gifts of money from the firm. Each man and woman received an envelope containing gold or bills. The total amount distributed was about $16,000. There was no speech-making or ceremony of any kind, the money being given as though they were getting their weekly wages. It was generally understodd, however, that the money was a present from the employers in recognition of faithful service, and some of the hands were that Lister Bros. have decided to deal with them in the same way once a year. Alfred and Edwin Lister, who compose the firm are Scotchmen, and are about 65 and 58 years old respectively. They removed their business to Newark from Tarrytown twenty years ago, and to-day they have buildings covering many acres on the Passaic River in the eastern part of the city. Edwin Lister, who represents his ward in the Common Council for the second time, said when questioned about the firm's gifts to its employees:

"A year ago we decided to divide among our hands every year a certain per cent of our earnings, and we have just made the first distribution, the sum ditributed being $16,000 or $17,000. We divided the hands into classes, according to the skill and value of their labor, and then gave to each class a fixed per cent of the total sum. Three or four men who are our beekkeepers and salesmen formed one class, and received each $1,000. The next class got about $500 each, and the third class $250. The other sums were, I think $100, 70, and so on down to $14, which was the smallest sum for men. To each of our forty-five or fifty women was given $7.

Next year the dividend will be the same, or larger or smaller, according to our prosperity. There has been no reduction of wages in consideration of this annual dividend. They remain the same and to the men in our fire brigade we now pay as before, $10 a year, besides the dividend. We think this is a good plan to interest our hands in their work, for it virtually makes them sharers in the profits of the concern, as though they were stock-holders. We have never had a strike among our men, and I can't remember that in twenty years we have had to shut down our works. We have had different sets of hands working night and day. The employees were all well pleased at getting the money, and I trust we may have more to give them next year."

*Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound strengthens the stomach and kidneys and aids digestion. Either sex use with benefit.

An Aggrieved Politician.

A good story is told of Mayor Green, which fully illustrates his keen, ready wit, and which has not yet appeared in print. During the early part of September an Irishman called into the office of the water board at the city hall and having succeeded in attracting the attention of one of the gentlemen in the room, began: "I want me cellar fixed, I do. Shure, an' it's all afloat, and my hins are all bein' dhrownded, they are! I control five votes, be jabers! and have lots of poli tic al inflooence in my ward, and I want me cellar fixed I do." He kept up this strain for a long time, and at last the gentleman got worn out and said: "See here, my man, we can't do anything for you here, but Mayor Green will fix you up all right." The man departed and for a week nothing was heard from him, when he again showed up in the office. "I tell ye me cellar is afloat, and me hins are all bein' dhrownded, an' sure, I want me cellar fixed. I conthrol fifty votes in me ward"—"what you here again? Weren't you here last week?" "Yes, I was." "Didn't I tell you to see Mayor Green?" "Ye did." "Did you see him?" "I did." "And what did he say?" "He axed me why I didn't kape ducks."

"MOST SATISFACTORY."

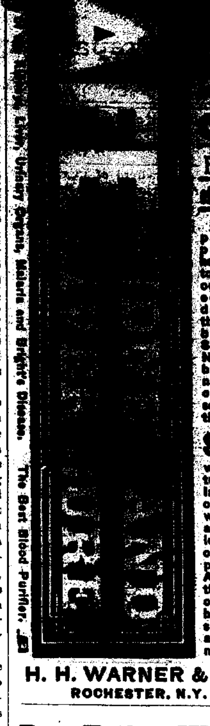
Newburgh, N. Y., May 27, 1881.

H. H. Warner & Co.: Sirs:—I have derived the most satisfactory results from the use of your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. A. C. SMITH.

The Latest Western Story.

A very singular case of spiritualism, if such it may be called, was reported in the Big Rapids (Michigan) Pioneer reporter one morning recently, by a neighbor of the family in which the case is located. The family in question reside about five miles north-west of that city, the name of the family being House. Some time ago, a daughter of Mr. House, a young lady aged about seventeen years of age, was taken ill of diphtheria, three or four other children of the family having previously died of the same disease. After Miss House had been sick four or five weeks she summoned different ones to her bedside and told them that she was going away, but would return in a few days. She then instructed them to leave her entirely alone and not touch her again until she returned. Then, for a period of three days, Miss House lay immovable, to all appearance being dead. At the expiration of three days she returned to consciousness and has since been in perfect health, getting up from her bed almost immediately at the end of three days. The strangest part of the story, however, is in the fact that when she returned to herself she was somebody else. Previous to her sickness a daughter of an old friend of Mr. House died with diphtheria at Ensley, Newaygo county, being a total stranger of Miss House, yet on her return to consciousness Miss House appeared to be the girl who died at Ensley, claiming the deceased girl's parents as her parents, and failing to recognise her own. She speaks familiarly of things of she never saw and calls by name people whom she never heard of. She also speaks of her visit to Heaven, of the people and friends she saw there, and she says she will have to return there about the 4th of next July. At times she seems to be her own self, [illegible]

[illegible]



Kidney, Liver, Urinary Organs, Malaria and Bright's Disease. The Best Blood Purifier.

Beware of Fraud.

Unscrupulous parties have tried to imitate our Remedy and deceive the public by using SIMILAR NAMES, but do not be deceived; see that the word SAFE with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSRS. J. C. AYER & Co., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles for $5.

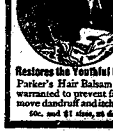
AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS

—Best Purgative Medicine—

cure Constipation, Indigestion, Headache, and all Bilious Disorders.

Sold everywhere. Always reliable.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.



This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.
LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

Peter Henderson & Co.

[illegible] GARDEN [illegible]

Peter Henderson & Co. [illegible]

[illegible]

BEST COAL.

The subscribers desire to call attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
9m6

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to

Very Resp't'y Yours.

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAN

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 5tt

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflamation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS, AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

[illegible]

LEGAL.

Court Appointments.

Appointments of County Courts and Court of Sessions of Oswego county for 1883, and until further order. A trial jury at each term. No grand jury.

County court and court of Sessions:

Court House,	Pulaski,	2d Tuesday in	Feb'y
" "	Oswego,	4th " "	April
" "	Pulaski,	2d " "	Sept.
" "	Oswego,	1st " "	Dec

N. W. NUTTING,
January 8, 1883. Oswego Co. Judge.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of Hon. T. W. Skinner Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Stephen Pardee, late of the town of Volney in said county deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to Wm. B. Howard and Giles S. Piper executors of the last will and testament of said deceased at the office of Giles S. Piper in the village of Fulton, N. Y., on or before the 13th day of July 1883, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Wm. B. HOWARD } Executors
GILES S. PIPER }

Dated Jan'y 5th 1883. 6m

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of Hon T. W. Skinner, Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Walter Wilber, late of the town of Volney in said county deceased; to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on or before the 15th day of July 1883, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

OVID V. TAFT, Executor.

Dated, Jan. 10, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—Eudora Randall against James Randall:—

Action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 23d, day of January, 1883.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
Pl'ff's Att'y.

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co N. Y.

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you, by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 23d day of Jan'y 1883, and filed with the complaint, in the office of the clerk of Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
36w6 Pl'ff's Att'y.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK to Hiram Spencer, Colborne, Ont. Canada; Nelson Spencer, VanWert, Decatur Co., Iowa; Newton Spencer, VanWert, Decatur Co., Iowa; King S. Geer, Oronogo, Jasper Co., Missouri; Dorliska Dixon, Kappa, Woodford Co., Illinois; Mary Allen, Centerbury, Knox Co., Ohio; Elijah Spencer, Oswego, New York; Emma Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Annett, Centerbury, Knox Co., Ohio; Mattie Best, Centerbury, Knox Co., Ohio; Jane Annett, Centerbury, Knox Co., Ohio; Charles L. Annett, Centerbury, Knox Co., Ohio; George Annett, Centerbury, Knox Co., Ohio; Addie Annett, Centerbury, Knox Co., Ohio; Albert Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., New York; Mary Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Addie Gregg, Phœnix, Oswego Co. N. Y.; Eva Wood, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Adelle Bernasky, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Dennis Spencer, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Russel Spencer; residence unknown, and all the heirs and next of kin of Eunice A. Spencer late of the town of Schrœppel in the county of Oswego, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas Charles L. Spencer of the town of Schrœppel in the county of Oswego, has lately made application to our Surrogate of the county of Oswego, to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to real and personal estate, duly proved as the last will and testament of said Eunice A. Spencer deceased; therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited, and required personally to be and appear before our said Surrogate, at the office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, in said county of Oswego, on the 6th day of April next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend to the probate of said instrument as the last will and testament of said deceased.

And if any of the persons interested be under the age of twenty-one years, they are required to appear by their guardian, if they have one, or if they have none, that they appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in event of their neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate, to represent and act for them in the proceedings.

In Witness Whereof, we have caused the seal of office of our said Surrogate's Court of the county of Oswego, to be hereunto affixed.

[L. S.] Witness, Timothy W. Skinner, Surrogate of the said county, at the village of Mexico, in said county, the 14th day of February in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

The above citation is published by order of Surrogate, GEORGE M. BENNETT,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court of Oswego County.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY,
NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
New York. Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY.
New York. Assets over $2,400,682 2

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY.
Assets over $2,082,585.1

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000
Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY
Of Boston, Mass.
Assets $1,271,769 86.

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

SCHENCK & FOSTER,

—NOVELTY MILLS.—

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, [illegible] and Feed of all kinds [illegible]

[illegible] DAY.

CHAPTER XV.

[illegible] have another [illegible] was too terrible.— [illegible] for a madwoman [illegible] this was worse. [illegible] hapless lady took a [illegible] at her, so [illegible] I could not be- [illegible] be the same at- [illegible] again. But Martha [illegible] day or two she would [illegible] no one on seeing [illegible] the least suspicion. [illegible] and longest fit she [illegible] when she knew me, [illegible] she did not.

[illegible] Chester," she said to [illegible] Chester—a sweet face [illegible] voice. Have they told

[illegible] me that you are very [illegible] to help you to get bet-

[illegible] get better," she said, [illegible] most sober and sensi- [illegible] had. [illegible] would cling to me wild- [illegible] I must get some- [illegible] they were keeping [illegible] prison, trying to starve [illegible] paroxysms. [illegible] this was the end of all [illegible] happiness and ambition! [illegible] of him! How I pitied [illegible] to comfort him! [illegible] that never had a life

[illegible] did not improve. The [illegible] beginning to feel anxious. [illegible] beset with inquiries. [illegible] so ill that she could see [illegible] not have a doctor? A [illegible] not last all this time. [illegible] sure there was noth- [illegible]—quite sure? It was [illegible] Lady Yorke was at a [illegible] such inquiries. [illegible] would go," she said to [illegible] sure it will be found

[illegible] as I, saw how impos- [illegible] remove Lady Severne

[illegible] was very tired, and had [illegible] usual to my room. It [illegible] made me forget to [illegible] Worn out with sor- [illegible]—grief about Lady Se- [illegible] for Lady Yorke, and [illegible] sible for Mark—I fell [illegible] dreamless sleep.

[illegible] by the consciousness [illegible] had stealthily entered [illegible] was trying to find me. I [illegible] by nature. If a thief [illegible] I should have felt no [illegible] was no thief. A thick, [illegible] voice whispered, "Miss [illegible] I felt the heat of a [illegible] on my face, and I knew [illegible] was there.

[illegible] and turned up my lamp. [illegible] horrible figure was cling- [illegible] could hardly believe that [illegible] the beautiful Lady Severne, [illegible] then enthralled by her

[illegible] must get up," she said. "You [illegible] only person in this house who [illegible] You must get up and [illegible] bottle of brandy. I must [illegible] better, I thought, to take [illegible] bottle of poison.

[illegible] it," she continued. "I [illegible] I know what is going [illegible] am shut up. I know [illegible] Lady Yorke would not [illegible] household raised during the [illegible] by one of her guests [illegible] something to drink. She [illegible] it; but if you do not [illegible] want, I will beat the [illegible] will stand in the hall and [illegible] whole house is raised." [illegible] dismal. A nice visitor! I [illegible] myself; but I did not let her [illegible] Martha?" I asked, won- [illegible] had escaped, and thank- [illegible] words that she was here [illegible] "Queen's wing," rather [illegible] western tower with the vis-

[illegible] laughed, and I think [illegible] the most horrible sound [illegible] my life.

[illegible] Martha!" she said. "She [illegible] She fell asleep, and I [illegible] What will she say when [illegible] now, Miss Chester, am I [illegible] from the house, or will [illegible] want?"

[illegible] said. "I am stronger [illegible] attempt to scream, or [illegible] I shall prevent it, even [illegible] You will go back to [illegible] and remain there in

[illegible] how my exper- [illegible] I was prepared [illegible]

[illegible] over it. She put her arms round me.

"I am so tired," she said.

I took her in my arms and laid her head upon my breast [illegible] unhappy woman, I knew, but still Mark's wife. The warm tears were falling then from her eyes.

"How kind you are to me," she said. "I am so tired that I could sleep for ever, I think. Tell me something. Say to me some of the beautiful words you sing."

There came into my mind one of those poems my mother had loved—one she had often repeated to me—one which, when she lay dying, she had asked me to say once again for her. I shall never forget my surroundings as Lady Severne preferred her request—the blue sky flushed with rosy light, the green earth waking up to summer life, the dark back-ground of the room that had been like a prison, the beautiful, yet haggard face that lay upon my breast, and the tears that fell like rain I told her that what I was about to repeat was my mother's favorite, and that it was called "An Angel's Song."

"You have the face of an angel," she said, looking up at me, "with that golden light upon it;" and she listened to every word.

"I know I have heard them sing, child,
And I know that they spoke to me,
With my mother's arms around me,
While I sat on my mother's knee,
And she told me of love that saved us,
And a Father we had on high,
And the grave that we need not fear, child
And the soul that can never die.

"Again, when I walked with the loved one—
You remember this loved one, dear,
And the smile that is gone from among us,
And the voice we no longer hear—
The voice was so tender and earnest,
That joy was too deep for mirth,
And the heart was too full for speech, child,
And heaven came down on earth.

"Not a drop in the cup seemed wanting
The thirst of a life to fill,
And farther and fainter the song died out,
But I heard the angels still.
I think it will not be long, child;
They are bidding me home at last,
To the place where the joy of the future
Shall be linked on the love of the past,
Where the houseless shall seek a shelter,
The lonely shall find a friend—
There the heart's desire shall be granted,
That hath trusted and loved to the end."

Tears are the dew of heaven, the poets tell us. Tears fell from Lady Severne's eyes upon my dress and hands. She was clinging to me, wildly crying out that she wished she had been a better woman, that she loathed her sin, that she loathed herself. Would I show her the way to that heaven where the angels sang? What could she do to atone to Mark? What could she do to regain her lost youth and goodness? She clutched my arm as she cried out—

"A demon holds me in his grasp—take me from him!"

Then, with tears of regret and repentance, utterly exhausted, she fell into a deep sleep with her head upon my breast.

And I? Well, I knew so little of the hold this terrible vice takes of its victims that, as I held her closely clasped in my arms in the light of the morning sun, I thought she was saved, and tears of gratitude filled my eyes. I thought the sweet influences of the fair summer morn had spoken to her heart, that grace from heaven had fallen like dew upon her soul.

I let her sleep as long as she could, and then Martha came back. We laid her down, pale and exhausted, on her bed. I whispered my hope to the old nurse. She said:

"Please Heaven! But I have seen her ladyship repent before now, and found her worse than ever a few hours afterwards."

Despite those words, I had a hope.

"Farther and fainter the song died out,
But I heard the angels still."

CHAPTER XVI.

My hope was vain. A few days afterwards Lady Severne was, to use the nurse's phrase, worse than ever. The blow that Lady Yorke had feared fell; the terrible expose which she had dreaded came. For a day or two Lady Severne had been better. She came down to dinner, and was careful what she drank. There was relief on Mark's face and on Lady Yorke's. On the third day an awful occurrence happened. Whether Martha was tired, off her guard, or in ignorance of what was going on, I know not. Perhaps Lady Severne had deceived her. I know only the results. Martha dressed her ladyship for dinner, and Lady Severne asked for a favorite dress of hers, a handsome white and gold brocaded satin. Martha was delighted that she should take so great an interest in her appearance; that was always a good sign. She evidently did not perceive anything wrong in Lady Severne, or possibly the mischief was done after she left her. We were all in the drawing-room, waiting for the dinner-bell. Lord Severne was talking to Captain Forrester, more at ease and less anxious than I had seen him for many days, and Lady Yorke looked as though a great load had been taken from her mind. [illegible]

[illegible] so many times before, in the bright moonlight, and Mark raised his haggard face to mine.

"You know my secret now, Nellie," he said.

"Heaven help you, Mark!" I answered, with tears.

"You have been very good to my unhappy wife; you have been your own self—generous, noble, forgiving. I believe, Nellie, that if any one could do her good, it would be you. She loves you; she seems to have a certain faith in you." He looked at me wistfully. "I dare not ask you—you would not, of course—you could not in any way take charge of her—travel with us? Ah, no —I am mad to think of such a thing."

Yet to refuse him was the hardest thing I had ever had to do in my life.

"No, I could not do that. The wide world must lie between us, Mark, for evermore. I will think of you, pray for you, but see you again—never!"

"You are right, Nellie, and I have no reason to complain. It is all my own fault. I have paid a bitter price for my folly—only Heaven knows how bitter, man could never tell. I deserve to suffer!"

"What shall you do?" I asked, looking with loving, longing eyes at the dark, handsome face, so humble and so sad.

"I shall do my best, Nellie. After tonight, I have done with the world. I will never visit nor receive visitors again; I have finished with society. I cannot bear the disgrace; but I shall do my best for my hapless wife. I broke one vow, I will not break another. It was 'for better or for worse,' and it is for the worst. I shall take her away from England, find some place where there are few temptations, and take the greatest care of her. There is no hope, I fear, but I will do my best until the very end. I fastened the yoke round my own neck, I must bear it with patience and courage. I say good-bye to all that is bright in life to-night, Nellie. I would rather die a thousand deaths than risk such a scene again. I am going from light to darkness. There is one thing only that can make me less sad and less sorrowful."

"What is it, Mark?" I asked, with fast-falling tears.

"It is this, Nellie—that before I go you will say you forgive me. The burden of my life is a heavy one, and the heaviest part of it is the sorrow that my mad folly has brought upon you. Say you forgive me. Let me take into my dreary exile that knowledge, and it will be to me a gleam of happiness, the only one that can reach me after my cowardice, my weakness, my folly, my betrayal of your faith and trust. Oh, lost love of my youth, oh, true love of my heart, forgive me, forgive me!"

He was kneeling at my feet. Was it wrong, when I saw his white face so full of anguish, his eyes so full of pain—was it wrong to bend over him, to put my face for one minute near his, to kiss him with my whole soul upon my lips, while I said—"I forgive you, oh, dearest love! Good-bye!"

The last sound I remember was the terrible, passionate sobbing of a strong man, and then came to me a merciful oblivion.

They left Westwood early the next morning. How the removal was managed I never heard, and I was too sick at heart to inquire.

I spent the next two years with Lady Yorke, as happy as I could ever be in this world, helping her in all her good deeds and works of charity, thinking always, with a sorely aching heart, of Mark.

We heard nothing of him. He never wrote. He had kept his word; he had cut himself adrift from every social tie and from the world.

I asked Lady Yorke if she had received any letter from him. The answer was always "No;" but we often spoke, when we were quite alone, of the beautiful, hapless woman who was worse than dead.

One morning Lord Yorke looked up from his newspaper.

"Louise," he said, "have you seen this? 'At Nice, on the 18th inst., after a long and lingering illness, Lurline, Lady Severne, aged twenty-seven.'"

"How young to die," said Lady Yorke.

And I wondered if the long and lingering illness had been sent to help to purify that poor sinful soul, in which, after all, there had been a yearning for good. Had she gone

"Where the houseless shall seek a shelter,
The lonely shall find a friend—
Where the heart's desire shall be granted,
That hath loved, and trusted to the end?"

I never, in all the after years asked how she died. The only thing told to me was, "She died in peace;" and I know how great is the mercy of Heaven, how perfect the pardon for sin.

Mark came back to me, not then, but two years afterwards, and asked me again [illegible]

"I knew [illegible]," he said, "that some [illegible]

[illegible] food and clothing till he was of age, and three months' schooling in the winter.

[illegible] act, so the next day he and Mrs. Pitkins drove over in the buggy to the County Poorhouse and made application for an orphan. The Superintendent, always willing to dispose of his charges to farmers, ordered out the boys in line for review, and Pitkins and his wife eyed the boys closely and talked with them. He, with an eye to service, selected a large, strong boy; but she, with a motherly instinct, more akin to sympathy, picked out "little Sut," the subject of this sketch.

"Why, Mary," exclaimed Pitkins, he's too small!"

"But he'll grow, John, and then I like his looks better."

"Looks! tut, tut! What have looks got to do with it?"

"A great deal. If we are to adopt him and raise him up as a son, and even if he is only to be a farm hand, we do not want a boy to grow up dishonest and vicious. I don't like the big boy's face."

So Farmer Pitkins grumbled a little over her choice as he lifted Sut into the buggy between them and drove home. The boy was indeed small for service on a farm, but he seemed grateful for the home and was willing to do all the busy tasks his hands were put to, and would put his little hand on his tired back without a murmur, after a long time sawing wood. Mrs. Pitkins seemed drawn towards him by his very diminutive size and strength, while Pitkins seemed almost to dislike him, and was always grumbling about the boy's being too small, although the farmer's wife very sensibly would remark that she believed the willingness of a small boy would accomplish more than the unwillingness of one twice his size. As little Sut wasn't large enough to wait on the girls they rather sided with their father and made the poor boy's life rather unpleasant by teasing him.

Thus matters went on for a season or so, while one farm hand and another came and went, and although colts and calves and pigs and chickens all grew and fattened on the place, little Sut seemed at a stand still and failed to come up to Mrs. Pitkins' assertions that he would grow.

"It's no use Mary, waiting for this boy to grow. I must take him back to the poorhouse and get a larger boy. You may go with me and select the boy, but he must be larger."

Mrs. Pitkins, with a feeling of tenderness toward the little homeless waif she had selected, hadn't the heart to go and pick out a boy to supplant him in the home that now seemed as dear to him as if he had been born in it, so Mr. Pitkins drove over alone while the farm hand took the wagon and drove to the mill for lumber, leaving Mrs. Pitkins, the two girls and little Sut on the farm alone, except a little dog which Sut had been allowed to adopt from the roadside, the cattle on a farm scarcely being company by lone women who cannot look to them for the protection which even a boy or small dog can attempt.

Tramps, miserable, dangerous outcasts, seem to be the constant menace of unprotected farmers, especially the women, who are so often left alone. Little Sut was in the barn, with his dog, sorting potatoes, when his attention was called by hearing one of the girls scream, and looking out, to his surprise and terror, he saw a man rush out at the kitchen door in pursuit of one of the girls. With a boyish impulse Sut ran out with a small basket of potatoes in his hand, followed by the dog, which he urged to a fierce attack on the man. The little dog went gallantly into the fight and set his teeth so vigorously into the legs of the tramp that the girl was enabled to escape from him and run to a neighbor's for assistance. Little Sut realized that there was work for him to do. The screams which came from the house plainly indicated that the one man was not the only enemy on the place, and with a shout little Sut rushed in to find another tramp on the point of overcoming Mrs. Pitkins and the other daughter in a fierce struggle, in which he had [illegible]

[illegible] Free Press.

[illegible]

Fashion Notes.

[From the [illegible]]

A touch of yellow is seen on almost every new bonnet.

The new bonnets are trimmed with ribbons, laces and flowers.

Gold, silver and bronze braids are again used for entire bonnets.

Fuchsia red is the newest shade of velvet for elegant dinner dresses.

Handsome bonnets may be trimmed with bias velvet or ottoman silk.

Ribbons from an inch to two inches in width will be used on hats this season.

It is said feathers will not be used as much on hats as they were last summer.

Round hats are in varied shapes. Many have large square or high sloping crowns.

Few large roses are seen on hats; the preference is for smaller flowers bunched as half-wreaths.

The small, close bonnets for church and visiting are larger than the flat Alsacian bonnets worn during winter.

Dressy slippers to be worn with black silk stockings are of plain black satin, with handsome square jet buckles.

The new shapes in bonnets are principally pokes of moderate size, not nearly as large as those worn last season.

The long Newmarket coats will be made of cloth of light weight, and used as general wraps, and as ulsters for traveling and for rainy days.

Lilacs are in great favor for trimming hats, not only in their own white and pinkish-purple hues, but in the most unnatural red, yellow and green shades.

Bonnets of lustrous satin braids, substantial looking Milan straws and fine English split straws are among the first importations of spring millinary.

Suits of woolen goods will be completed by a jacket of medium length, made with fluted box pleats in the back, and trimmed with disks made of silk cord or of braid.

Gauze Balbriggan stockings are worn inside of silk and cashmere stockings, giving additional warmth, and protects the skin from the dye or roughness of the outer stocking.

In imported straw bonnets the great bulk are colored, with a preference to red and brown shades, such as raspberry and crushed strawberry red, pale leather color and the darker Havana or tobacco browns.

A NEWSPAPER EDITOR.

O. M. Holcomb, of Bloomville, Ohio, rises to explain: "Had that terrible disease catarrh, for twenty years; couldn't taste or smell, and hearing was failing. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured me. These are facts voluntarily given against a former prejudice of patent medicine."

Collecting The Damages.

I am a quiet, unostentatious man, and never harm no body," said the intruder moistening his hands and taking a firmer grasp of the axe-helve, "but if you don't come down with $17 to soothe my lacerated feelings, there will be trouble here in Austin."

"Was the boy bitten so very badly by my dog?" said the terrified owner of the animal, who is one of the most timid men in Austin.

"He was bitten just $17 worth," replied the intruder, swinging the weapon around his head.

"Here is your money," replied the owner of the dog. The intruder put the money in his pocket, and was about to leave, when the proprietor of the dog remarked: "I hope your son was not bitten badly."

"Why he ain't my son. I haven't got any son."

"Whose son is he then and how did you come to demand the money of me?"

"He is the son of a friend of mine, who owed me $17, and he didn't have any money. The only available assets were those dog bites on his son's body, and he turned them over to me for collection, and I have collected them."

"Well, I declare!"

"And, stranger," continued the man with the ax handle, "if you or any of your family ever get bitten by a dog and you want the damages collected promptly from the owner of the dog, let me know and I'll do it for 25 per cent. and furnish my own ax handle."

[illegible]

[illegible] Having given every other [illegible] to diet and nothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as [illegible] medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 85

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 83

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 82 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 84 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 85

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 19

[illegible]

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF

CONSTIPATION.

[illegible]

PILES. [illegible]

[illegible]

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.

Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

[illegible]

Board and Tuition [illegible]

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of [illegible] weeks begins on Monday March [illegible]. The branches [illegible] taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of [illegible] teachers [illegible] Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small [illegible] individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY

THE MOST

Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary. It also contains all the usual tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrases, etc., American Geographical Names with definitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Men, Horses etc., Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries. Interest Tables, 4 to 20 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page Illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 68 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 18 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionary.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and enclose 21 green stamps. If not delighted, you can have your money back. Club of five, $2.75; ten, $5.

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all free for a paltry 68 cts. Send now. Address,

Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

TRAINS MOVING [illegible]

New York, Erie R'y Ar. " N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
MIDDLETOWN	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Winterton	5.09	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bloomingburgh	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Wurtsboro	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Summitville	4.40	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fallsburgh	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Hurley	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty Falls	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Parksville	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Livingston Manor	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Rockland	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Cook's Falls	[illegible]	a. m.	[illegible]	[illegible]
East Branch	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Hancock	[illegible]	p. m.	[illegible]	[illegible]
Walton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Franklin	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sidney	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Guilford	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oxford	11.14	[illegible]
NORWICH	[illegible]	[illegible]	a. m.	a. m.
NORWICH	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Norwich	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Smyrna	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Earlville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Randallsville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Eaton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Morrisville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Munnsville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Community	9.17	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oneida	9.10	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fish Creek	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
North Bay	8.37		[illegible]	[illegible]
Cleveland	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Bernhard's Bay	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
Constantia	8.07		[illegible]	[illegible]
Central Square	7.48		4.10	[illegible]
Fulton	7.15		[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	6.50		[illegible]	[illegible]
	a. m.	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	[illegible]
Phillipsport	8.04	1.30	[illegible]	[illegible]
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	[illegible]
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.00	[illegible]

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	[illegible]	6.40	[illegible]
Hamden	4.41	[illegible]	[illegible]	11.16
DELHI	5.10	8.00	[illegible]	[illegible]

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.31	8.14
Mount Upton	5.46	[illegible]
Holmesville	6.15	[illegible]
So. New Berlin	[illegible]	[illegible]
NEW BERLIN	6.55	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.

J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't.
J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pass'g'r. Ag't.

C. A. HILL,

VETERINARY SURGEON.

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

[illegible]

ARCTIC

[illegible]

EXPEDITION

[illegible]

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, [illegible] who have ever patronized in this direction need [illegible] formation on the subject, but to others we would [illegible] ply ask the favor of a call. We are [illegible] inspection of our extensive and elegant [illegible] [illegible] and profit to all who [illegible]

[illegible]MES.

[illegible] Block, First

[illegible] & CO.

[illegible] Cents a Year in [illegible] cents for postage [illegible]

[illegible] Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as [illegible]

[illegible] FOR A DAY.

CHAPTER XV.

I hope I shall never have another such experience. It was too terrible.—Watching and caring for a madwoman must be bad enough; this was worse. Strange to say, the hapless lady took a fancy to me. Looking at her, so changed, so repellent, I could not believe that she would be the same attractive woman again. But Martha said "Yes," in a day or two she would be herself, and no one on seeing her would have the least suspicion. It was the worst and longest fit she had ever had.

There were times when she knew me, and times when she did not.

"You are Miss Chester," she said to me; "I like Miss Chester—a sweet face and a beautiful voice. Have they told you about me?"

"They have told me that you are very ill, and I am here to help you to get better."

"I shall never get better," she said, and that was the most sober and sensible interval she had.

At times she would cling to me wildly, crying out that I must get something for her; that they were keeping her there in prison, trying to starve her. Horrible paroxysms.

Poor Mark! This was the end of all his honors, happiness and ambition! How I thought of him! How I pitied him! How I longed to comfort him! It seemed to me that never had a life been so cursed.

Lady Severne did not improve. The visitors were beginning to feel anxious. Lady Yorke was beset with inquiries. Was she really so ill that she could see no one? Why not have a doctor? A feverish cold did not last all this time. Was Lady Yorke sure there was nothing—nothing infectious—quite sure? It was a strange thing. Lady Yorke was at a loss how to parry such inquiries.

"I wish they would go," she said to me; "I am quite sure it will be found out."

Yet she, as well as I, saw how impossible it was to remove Lady Severne just at present.

One night I was very tired, and had gone earlier than usual to my room. It was fatigue that made me forget to fasten my door. Worn out with sorrow and dismay—grief about Lady Severne, distress for Lady Yorke, and sorrow inexpressible for Mark—I fell into a deep, dreamless sleep.

I was awakened by the consciousness that some one had stealthily entered my room, and was trying to find me. I am courageous by nature. If a thief had disturbed me I should have felt no fear, but this was no thief. A thick, muffled, hoarse voice whispered, "Miss Chester!" Then I felt the heat of a fevered breath on my face, and I knew that Lady Severne was there.

I rose hastily and turned up my lamp. A crouching, horrible figure was clinging to me. I could hardly believe that this was the beautiful Lady Severne, who held all men enthralled by her charms.

"You must get up," she said. "You are the only person in this house who is kind to me. You must get up and fetch me a bottle of brandy. I must have it."

It would be better, I thought, to take her a bottle of poison.

"I must have it," she continued. "I mean to have it. I know what is going on, although I am shut up. I know proud, refined Lady Yorke would not like her household raised during the dead of night by one of her guests clamoring for something to drink. She would not like it; but if you do not give me what I want, I will beat the doors down, I will stand in the hall and scream till the whole house is raised."

A pretty dilemma! A nice visitor! I thought to myself; but I did not let her see my dismay.

"Where is Martha?" I asked, wondering how she had escaped, and thankful beyond all words that she was here with me in the "Queen's wing," rather than in the western tower with the visitors.

Lady Severne laughed, and I think that laugh was the most horrible sound I ever heard in my life.

"Poor old Martha!" she said. "She is off her guard. She fell asleep, and I took the key. What will she say when she wakes? Now, Miss Chester, am I to raise the roof from the house, or will you get what I want?"

"Neither," I said. "I am stronger than you. If you attempt to scream, or to make a noise, I shall prevent it, even if I hurt you. You will go back to your own room, and remain there in quiet."

I was quite uncertain how my experiment would succeed. I was prepared to see her spring at my throat, as she had [illegible] a few days since, to see [illegible] the doors with horrible cries, [illegible] on the previous day, when [illegible] was compelled to send for Lord [illegible]

[illegible] her steadily and calmly. [illegible] the wild eyes fell before [illegible] I could assert [illegible] authority over her [illegible] and I did so. I [illegible] her room, and the [illegible] my lips every [illegible] Mark!" [illegible]

[illegible] fiend [illegible] night [illegible] gleam [illegible] showed [illegible] drew [illegible] the window [illegible] and freshness [illegible]

"Dear Lady Severne, do come here for one minute," I said.

She came and stood in silence by my side. I saw her look at the brilliant, beautiful tints of the morning sky, at the fresh, tender beauty of the green trees; and then her eyes wandered round the room. The glasses, the bottles, the garish light of the lamp, the confusion and disorder, how they contrasted with the bright pure heavens and the clear light of day! I knew that the contrast had touched her; I felt that the peaceful influences of the morning had reached her. The wind, which was like the breath of roses, seemed to change her face as it swept over it. She put her arms round me.

"I am so tired," she said.

I took her in my arms and laid her head upon my breast—a lost, unhappy woman, I knew, but still Mark's wife. The warm tears were falling then from her eyes.

"How kind you are to me," she said. "I am so tired that I could sleep for ever, I think. Tell me something. Say to me some of the beautiful words you sing."

There came into my mind one of those poems my mother had loved—one she had often repeated to me—one which, when she lay dying, she had asked me to say once again for her. I shall never forget my surroundings as Lady Severne preferred her request—the blue sky flushed with rosy light, the green earth waking up to summer life, the dark back-ground of the room that had been like a prison, the beautiful, yet haggard face that lay upon my breast, and the tears that fell like rain I told her that what I was about to repeat was my mother's favorite, and that it was called "An Angel's Song."

"You have the face of an angel," she said, looking up at me, "with that golden light upon it;" and she listened to every word.

"I know I have heard them sing, child,
And I know that they spoke to me,
With my mother's arms around me,
While I sat on my mother's knee,
And she told me of love that saved us,
And a Father we had on high,
And the grave that we need not fear, child
And the soul that can never die.

"Again, when I walked with the loved one—
You remember this loved one, dear,
And the smile that is gone from among us,
And the voice we no longer hear—
The voice was so tender and earnest,
That joy was too deep for mirth,
And the heart was too full for speech, child,
And heaven came down on earth.

"Not a drop in the cup seemed wanting
The thirst of a life to fill,
And farther and fainter the song died out,
But I heard the angels still.
I think it will not be long, child;
They are bidding me home at last,
To the place where the joy of the future
Shall be linked on the love of the past,
Where the houseless shall seek a shelter,
The lonely shall find a friend—
There the heart's desire shall be granted,
That hath trusted and loved to the end."

Tears are the dew of heaven, the poets tell us. Tears fell from Lady Severne's eyes upon my dress and hands. She was clinging to me, wildly crying out that she wished she had been a better woman, that she loathed her sin, that she loathed herself. Would I show her the way to that heaven where the angels sang? What could she do to atone to Mark? What could she do to regain her lost youth and goodness? She clutched my arm as she cried out—

"A demon holds me in his grasp—take me from him!"

Then, with tears of regret and repentance, utterly exhausted, she fell into a deep sleep with her head upon my breast.

And I? Well, I know so little of the hold this terrible vice takes of its victims that, as I held her closely clasped in my arms in the light of the morning sun, I thought she was saved, and tears of gratitude filled my eyes. I thought the sweet influences of the fair summer morn had spoken to her heart, that grace from heaven had fallen like dew upon her soul.

I let her sleep as long as she could, and then Martha came back. We laid her down, pale and exhausted, on her bed. I whispered my hope to the old nurse. She said:

"Please Heaven! But I have seen her ladyship repent before now, and found her worse than ever a few hours afterwards."

Despite those words, I had a hope.

"Farther and fainter the song died out,
But I heard the angels still."

CHAPTER XVI.

My hope was vain. A few days afterwards Lady Severne was, to use the nurse's phrase, worse than ever. The blow that Lady Yorke had feared fell; the terrible expose which she had dreaded came. For a day or two Lady Severne had been better. She came down to dinner, and was careful what she drank. There was relief on Mark's face and on Lady Yorke's. On the third day an awful occurrence happened. Whether Martha was tired, off her guard, or in ignorance of what was going on, I know not. Perhaps Lady Severne had deceived her. I know only the results. Martha dressed her ladyship for dinner, and Lady Severne asked for a favorite dress of hers, a handsome white and gold brocaded satin. Martha was delighted that she should take so great an interest in her appearance; that was always a good sign. She evidently did not perceive anything wrong in Lady Severne, or possibly the mischief was done after she left her. We were all in the drawing-room, waiting for the dinner-bell. Lord Severne was talking to Captain Forrester, more at ease and less anxious than I had seen him for many days; and Lady Yorke looked as though a great load had been taken from her mind. Some one had just inquired if we should have the pleasure of Lady Severne at dinner, and Lady Yorke had answered, with a bright smile, that she was much better and would certainly join them, when the door opened, and we saw her standing on the threshold, [illegible] of white and gold, [illegible] diamonds, the graceful figure, the white jeweled hands, [illegible] I [illegible] it? In one [illegible] the [illegible] Yorke and [illegible] watch her [illegible] eyes were wild [illegible]

[illegible]

"Nellie, see [illegible] out on the terrace enjoying the moonlight. I want to say good-bye to you. I shall never see you again. Will you come?"

I went. My heart was filled with anguish and despair, a horrible restless pain. He was going away—Mark, who had been my lover—in distress and sorrow, and we were never to meet again.

We stood together, as we had so many times before, in the bright moonlight, and Mark raised his haggard face to mine.

"You know my secret now, Nellie," he said.

"Heaven help you, Mark!" I answered, with tears.

"You have been very good to my unhappy wife; you have been your own self—generous, noble, forgiving. I believe, Nellie, that if any one could do her good, it would be you. She loves you; she seems to have a certain faith in you." He looked at me wistfully. "I dare not ask you—you would not, of course—you could not in any way take charge of her—travel with us? Ah, no—I am mad to think of such a thing."

Yet to refuse him was the hardest thing I had ever had to do in my life.

"No, I could not do that. The wide world must lie between us, Mark, for evermore. I will think of you, pray for you, but see you again—never!"

"You are right, Nellie, and I have no reason to complain. It is all my own fault. I have paid a bitter price for my folly—only Heaven knows how bitter; man could never tell. I deserve to suffer!"

"What shall you do?" I asked, looking with loving, longing eyes at the dark, handsome face, so humble and so sad.

"I shall do my best, Nellie. After to-night, I have done with the world. I will never visit nor receive visitors again; I have finished with society. I cannot bear the disgrace; but I shall do my best for my hapless wife. I broke one vow, I will not break another. It was 'for better or for worse,' and it is for the worst. I shall take her away from England, find some place where there are few temptations, and take the greatest care of her. There is no hope, I fear, but I will do my best until the very end. I fastened the yoke round my own neck, I must bear it with patience and courage. I say good-bye to all that is bright in life to-night, Nellie. I would rather die a thousand deaths than risk such a scene again. I am going from light to darkness. There is one thing only that can make me less sad and less sorrowful."

"What is it, Mark?" I asked, with fast-falling tears.

"It is this, Nellie—that before I go you will say you forgive me. The burden of my life is a heavy one, and the heaviest part of it is the sorrow that my mad folly has brought upon you. Say you forgive me. Let me take into my dreary exile that knowledge, and it will be to me a gleam of happiness, the only one that can reach me after my cowardice, my weakness, my folly, my betrayal of your faith and trust. Oh, lost love of my youth, oh, true love of my heart, forgive me, forgive me!"

He was kneeling at my feet. Was it wrong, when I saw his white face so full of anguish, his eyes so full of pain—was it wrong to bend over him, to put my face for one minute near his, to kiss him with my whole soul upon my lips, while I said—"I forgive you, oh, dearest love! Good-bye!"

The last sound I remember was the terrible, passionate sobbing of a strong man, and then came to me a merciful oblivion.

They left Westwood early the next morning. How the removal was managed I never heard, and I was too sick at heart to inquire.

I spent the next two years with Lady Yorke, as happy as I could ever be in this world, helping her in all her good deeds and works of charity, thinking always, with a sorely aching heart, of Mark.

We heard nothing of him. He never wrote. He had kept his word; he had cut himself adrift from every social tie and from the world.

I asked Lady Yorke if she had received any letter from him. The answer was always "No;" but we often spoke, when we were quite alone, of the beautiful, hapless woman who was worse than dead.

One morning Lord Yorke looked up from his newspaper.

"Louise," he said, "have you seen this? 'At Nice, on the 18th inst., after a long and lingering illness, Lurline, Lady Severne, aged twenty-seven.'"

"How young to die," said Lady Yorke.

And I wondered if the long and lingering illness had been sent to help to purify that poor sinful soul, in which, after all, there had been a yearning for good. Had she gone

"Where the houseless shall seek a shelter,
The lonely shall find a friend—
Where the heart's desire shall be granted,
That hath loved and trusted to the end?"

I never in all the after years asked how she died. The only thing told to me was, "She died in peace!" and I know how great is the mercy of Heaven, how perfect the pardon for sin.

Mark came back to me, not then, but two years afterwards, and asked me again to be his wife.

"I know, Nellie," he said, "that some women of a nature lower than yours would punish me now, would take their revenge, would send me away heartbroken and wretched, would give me back pain for pain, would delight in heaping scorn and contempt on me. You might do so, Nellie; I am at your mercy. If you send me away, I cannot complain; but, as there is mercy in Heaven, there should be mercy on earth. Love, my love, take me, help me to be a better man [illegible] noble and [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] N. Y. [illegible] his wife and two daughters. Having no sons, he is dependent on hired help, the supply of which is regulated according to the season, a number of farm hands being necessary during the planting and harvesting of crops, while one being usually the only assistant needed in the winter. Realizing the need of a boy on the place to do chores for which it did not justify to hire a man, Pitkins talked the matter over with his wife, and they decided to select a waif from the poorhouse and raise him up as one of the family, which of course meant food and clothing till he was of age, and three months school in the winter.

With Farmer Pitkins to decide was to act, so the next day he and Mrs. Pitkins drove over in the buggy to the County Poorhouse and made application for an orphan. The Superintendent, always willing to dispose of his charges to farmers, ordered out the boys in line for review, and Pitkins and his wife eyed the boys closely and talked with them. He, with an eye to service, selected a large, strong boy; but she, with a motherly instinct, more akin to sympathy, picked out "little Sut," the subject of this sketch.

"Why, Mary," exclaimed Pitkins, he's too small!"

"But he'll grow, John, and then I like his looks better."

"Looks! tut, tut! What have looks got to do with it?"

"A great deal. If we are to adopt him and raise him up as a son, and even if he is only to be a farm hand, we do not want a boy to grow up dishonest and vicious. I don't like the big boy's face."

So Farmer Pitkins grumbled a little over her choice as he lifted Sut into the buggy between them and drove home. The boy was indeed small for service on a farm, but he seemed grateful for the home and was willing to do all the busy tasks his hands were put to, and would put his little hand on his tired back without a murmur, after a long time sawing wood. Mrs. Pitkins seemed drawn towards him by his very diminutive size and strength, while Pitkins seemed almost to dislike him, and was always grumbling about the boy's being too small, although the farmer's wife very sensibly would remark that she believed the willingness of a small boy would accomplish more than the unwillingness of one twice his size. As little Sut wasn't large enough to wait on the girls they rather sided with their father and made the poor boy's life rather unpleasant by teasing him.

Thus matters went on for a season or so, while one farm hand and another came and went, and although colts and calves and pigs and chickens all grew and fattened on the place, little Sut seemed at a stand still and failed to come up to Mrs. Pitkins' assertions that he would grow.

"It's no use Mary, waiting for this boy to grow. I must take him back to the poorhouse and get a larger boy. You may go with me and select the boy, but he must be larger."

Mrs. Pitkins, with a feeling of tenderness toward the little homeless waif she had selected, hadn't the heart to go and pick out a boy to supplant him in the home that now seemed as dear to him as if he had been born in it, so Mr. Pitkins drove over alone while the farm hand took the wagon and drove to the mill for lumber, leaving Mrs. Pitkins, the two girls and little Sut on the farm alone, except a little dog which Sut had been allowed to adopt from the roadside, the cattle on a farm scarcely being company by lone women who cannot look to them for the protection which even a boy or small dog can attempt.

Tramps, miserable, dangerous outcasts, seem to be the constant menace of unprotected farmers, especially the women, who are so often left alone. Little Sut was in the barn, with his dog, sorting potatoes, when his attention was called by hearing one of the girls scream, and looking out, to his surprise and terror, he saw a man rush out at the kitchen door in pursuit of one of the girls. With a boyish impulse Sut ran out with a small basket of potatoes in his hand, followed by the dog, which he urged to a fierce attack on the man. The little dog went gallantly into the fight and set his teeth so vigorously into the legs of the tramp that the girl was enabled to escape from him and run to a neighbor's for assistance. Little Sut realized that there was work for him to do. The screams which came from the house plainly indicated that the one man was not the only enemy on the place, and with a shout little Sut rushed in to find another tramp on the point of overcoming Mrs. Pitkins and the other daughter in a fierce struggle, in which he had almost torn their clothing off. The noise that little Sut made and the vigorous fusillade of potatoes that he hurled at the tramp so disconcerted him that it allowed the two women a chance to escape and lock themselves in a room up stairs. Poor little Sut and his dog were left alone to contend with the two enraged tramps; the fight was uneven and [illegible]

[illegible] women and fragrant with perfumes of flowers, is all now left on earth of little Sut, but somewhere we know he has gone where they do not think him too small.

[Detroit Free Press.

An attractive, youthful appearance secured by using Parker's Hair Balsam to all who are getting gray. 4lw4

Fashion Notes.

[From the Home Sentinel.]

A touch of yellow is seen on almost every new bonnet.

The new bonnets are trimmed with ribbons, laces and flowers.

Gold, silver and bronze braids are again used for entire bonnets.

Fuchsia red is the newest shade of velvet for elegant dinner dresses.

Handsome bonnets may be trimmed with bias velvet or ottoman silk.

Ribbons from an inch to two inches in width will be used on hats this season.

It is said feathers will not be used as much on hats as they were last summer.

Round hats are in varied shapes. Many have large square or high sloping crowns.

Few large roses are seen on hats; the preference is for smaller flowers bunched as half-wreaths.

The small, close bonnets for church and visiting are larger than the flat Alsacian bonnets worn during winter.

Dressy slippers to be worn with black silk stockings are of plain black satin, with handsome square jet buckles.

The new shapes in bonnets are principally pokes of moderate size, not nearly as large as those worn last season.

The long Newmarket coats will be made of cloth of light weight, and used as general wraps, and as ulsters for traveling and for rainy days.

Lilacs are in great favor for trimming hats, not only in their own white and pinkish-purple hues, but in the most unnatural red, yellow and green shades.

Bonnets of lustrous satin braids, substantial looking Milan straws and fine English split straws are among the first importations of spring millinery.

Suits of woolen goods will be completed by a jacket of medium length, made with fluted box pleats in the back, and trimmed with disks made of silk cord or of braid.

Gauze Balbriggan stockings are worn inside of silk and cashmere stockings, giving additional warmth, and protects the skin from the dye or roughness of the outer stocking.

In imported straw bonnets the great bulk are colored, with a preference to red and brown shades, such as raspberry and crushed strawberry red, pale leather color and the darker Havana or tobacco browns.

A NEWSPAPER EDITOR.

O. M. Holcomb, of Bloomville, Ohio, rises to explain: "Had that terrible disease catarrh, for twenty years; couldn't taste or smell, and hearing was failing. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured me. These are facts voluntarily given against a former prejudice of patent medicine."

Collecting The Damages.

I am a quiet, unostentatious man, and never harm no body," said the intruder moistening his hands and taking a firmer grasp of the axe-helve, " but if you don't come down with $17 to soothe my lacerated feelings, there will be trouble here in Austin."

"Was the boy bitten so very badly by my dog?" said the terrified owner of the animal, who is one of the most timid men in Austin.

"He was bitten just $17 worth," replied the intruder, swinging the weapon around his head.

"Here is your money," replied the owner of the dog. The intruder put the money in his pocket, and was about to leave, when the proprietor of the dog remarked: I hope your son was not bitten badly."

"Why be ain't my son. I haven't got any son."

"Whose son is he then and how did you come to demand the money of me?"

"He is the son of a friend of mine, who owed me $17, and he didn't have any money. The only available assets were those dog bites on his son's body, and he turned them over to me for collection, and I have collected them."

"Well, I declare!"

"And, stranger," continued the man with the ax-handle, "if you or any of your family ever get bitten by a dog, and you want the damages collected promptly from the owner of the dog, let me know and I will do it for 25 per cent. net, and furnish my own axe handle."

[Texas Siftings.

UGLY AND HATEFUL.

[illegible]

[illegible] women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 85

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 85

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 82 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 84 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, Jeweler and Silversmith, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 85

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

KIDNEY-WORT

Acts at the Same Time on

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF

CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.

PILES. THIS distressing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed. [illegible] If you have either of these troubles

PRICE $1. USE Druggists Sell

Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY-WORT

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessee Lewis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

[illegible]

Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition........................
Board and Tuition (short week)..............$[illegible]
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday March 26th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English, Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day Boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY

THE MOST

Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, Illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary. It also contains all the useal tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrases, etc., American Geographical Names with definitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc., Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries. Interest Tables, 4 to 20 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 63 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 13 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionary.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and enclose 21 green stamps. If not delighted, you can have your money back. Club of five, $2.75; ten, $5.

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all free for a paltry 63 cts. Send now. Address,

Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

NORWICH....Arrive	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
NORWICH	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Norwich	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Smyrna	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
EARLVILLE	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
RANDALLSVILLE	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Eaton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Morrisville	7.11	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Munnsville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Community	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
ONEIDA	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fish Creek	[illegible]	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Bay	[illegible]	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cleveland	[illegible]	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bernhard's Bay	[illegible]	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
Constantia	[illegible]	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
CENTRAL SQUARE	[illegible]	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fulton	[illegible]	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	10.50	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y Ar	[illegible]	10.30	[illegible]	......
"N. Y. S. & W. R. R."	3.10	......	11.30	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	4.10	[illegible]
Winterton	5.09	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bloomingburgh	[illegible]	7.46	[illegible]	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.46	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Summitville	4.40	7.30	3.10	[illegible]
Fallsburgh	4.08	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hurley	[illegible]	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty Falls	3.40	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty	[illegible]	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Parksville	[illegible]	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Livingston Manor	3.08	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rockland	[illegible]	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	[illegible]	[illegible]
East Branch	2.18		1.40	[illegible]
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	[illegible]	[illegible]
Walton	1.13	[illegible]	12.00	[illegible]
Franklin	12.30	[illegible]	[illegible]	......
Sidney	11.50	[illegible]	10.15	......
Guilford	11.30	12.55	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.55	[illegible]	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Norwich	*10.35	11.10	7.44	[illegible]
Smyrna	[illegible]	10.50	[illegible]	[illegible]
Earlville	10.17	10.30	[illegible]	[illegible]
Randallsville	10.08	10.08	7.15	[illegible]
Eaton	9.56	[illegible]	7.05	[illegible]
Morrisville	*9.50	[illegible]	[illegible]	4.10
Munnsville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Community	9.17	7.55	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	[illegible]
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	[illegible]	12.40
North Bay	8.37	......	5.11	[illegible]
Cleveland	[illegible]	......	4.51	[illegible]
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	[illegible]	10.50
Constantia	8.07	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
Central Square	7.46	......	4.10	[illegible]
Fulton	7.15	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	[illegible]
	a. m	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.39	7.29	[illegible]
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	6.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	8.36	6.06	11.15
DELHI	5.10	9.00	5.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.31	8.14
Mount Upton	5.46	8.03
Holmesville	6.15	[illegible]
So. New Berlin	6.26	[illegible]
NEW BERLIN	6.55	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.

J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't.
J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pas'g'r. Agt.

C. A. HILL,

VETERINARY SURGEON.

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop; and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. ARCTIC 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.

Get the best, don't be humbugged by imitations.

EXPEDITION

20 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agency to ALVORD & SLINGERLAND, publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

Mention this paper.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied [illegible] inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will [illegible] of interest and profit to all who will take the [illegible] look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter [illegible] for Men, Youths, Boys and Children [illegible] dimensions, and all that is [illegible]

[illegible] It applies only to cities having over twenty thousand inhabitants.

WIGGINS, the Canadian weather prophet, comes to the front again, notwithstanding the dismal failure of his predicted terrible storm of last month. He says an unprecedently severe storm will rage in this country from March 9th to 11th.

THE forty-seventh congress has closed its labors and dissolved. There is at present no likelihood of an extra session being called. The last act of the Senate was to choose Senator Edmunds to be its president and in case of any disability of President Arthur to succeed him.

TRICHINOSIS has made its appearance the past week in many places in this state and in nearly every instance the ailment has been traced to eating raw ham. A safe plan for people to follow who wish to avoid trichinosis would be to abstain from eating raw ham.

PNEUMONIA has been severe in New York this winter, the deaths in two months reaching 584. This is treacherous weather and people who go from a warm room out in the cold cannot be too careful in protecting themselves. Diphtheria has been less severe in this locality than in other winters.

COLONEL INGERSOLL is still dreaming strange dreams, his latest being about intemperance;—"If the Mississippi and all its tributaries were filled with pure whiskey, if the banks were loaf sugar and all the low grounds covered with mint there would be no more drunkenness than there is to-day. I believe in the restraining influence of liberty."

PROBABLY the only man in the United States who has used greenbacks for gun wadding is J. L. Shirley, of Dallas county, Texas. He went hunting with $300 in currency in his pocket, and used paper for wadding. He was loading from the wrong pocket, however, and had shot away sixty dollars of his money before he discovered his mistake.

ON Saturday the tariff bill was adopted by the House of Representatives by a vote of 136 republicans and 16 democrats in its favor to 105 democrats and 11 republicans against it—152 to 116. It is claimed that the measure will effect a reduction of $45,000,000 in internal revenue and $22,000,000 in tariff collections. It is one of the most voluminous bills that has been before congress for years and the real text of it is of such length that it will only appear in pamphlet form.

Continuous advertising brings in much larger returns in proportion to the outlay, than periodic or spasmodic advertising. Nearly every business has its dull season during which a good advertisement will do faithful work day or night, rain or shine, in familiarizing consumers with the name, location, and specialties or advantages of the advertiser. When the time comes to buy, he reaps the benefit of all this seed-sowing, unless he has made the mistake of stopping his advertisement and it cannot be found when the purchaser comes to look for full particulars.

A Pleasant Gathering.

Last evening a few friends dropped in on Rev. A. U. Hutchins and family. The ladies of the Universalist society presented him with an autographic quilt (the names very neatly written by another man.) The society received about $30 or more for the blocks sent. Refreshments were served and at a comparatively early hour the friends departed. Rev A. U. Hutchins has been confined to his house for the past ten days by an affection of the lungs, and all will be glad to hear that he is improving.

Teachers Examination.

A joint teachers examination will be held at each of the above places on the dates named, exemanination commencing at 9 a. m.: Pulaski, Friday, March 16; Fulton, Tuesday March 27; Central Square, Thursday, March 29.

Persons desiring to teach during the coming summer are requested to be present as no private examinations will be given.

C. R. PARKHURST.
H. D. NUTTING.
JAY B. COLE,
Board of Com'rs.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging irritation, inflamation, all Kidney and Urinary Complaints, cured by "Buchu-paiba." $1.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Bristol has the largest stock and gives the best prices on Pianos and Organs of any make. Goods sold on monthly payments. New Organs from forty-five dollars up.

To The Public!

I am making arrangements to abandon the fish and oyster market conducted by me in this village for the past twelve years. Parties having pails, pitchers, etc., loaned them to carry oysters [illegible] by returning them at once. I have several hundreds of dollars [illegible]

[illegible] the case, as he was [illegible] have come to [illegible] him the necessary amount. Recollections of his wife and four bright children, now being cared for by his father, E. F. Lyon, of Phoenix, and the suffering they endure on account of his disgrace, tend to weigh him down, and in consequence he appears to feel very much discouraged.

He is occupying the same cell as his brother, Geo. W. Lyon, a former resident in the town of Erin, Chemung county, who was arrested on complaint of a woman from Jefferson county, who claims to be his wife. They have two children, a boy and a girl, the latter residing with her mother at the parental homestead, and the former with Lyon's father, who is a methodist minister and stationed at Phœnix, N. Y. The complaint against Lyon states that he was married last fall to Ida Johnson, at that time a resident of the town of VanEtten. In an interview with a Telegram reporter a few days ago, Mr. Lyon admitted that he had been married twice and that both wives are living. At the age of 16 he wedded Miss Flitcroft, but the union was not a happy one, and a final separation took place four years ago. He claims that his recent marriage was null and void because the woman, Ida Johnson, was at the time the lawful wedded wife of Henry Johnson of the town of Chemung, a circumstance which he claims he was not aware of.

Death of Grace M. Nettleton.

We take the following from the Scranton (Pa.) Republican. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Nettleton, former residents of Fulton, where many friends reside who will be pained to lerrn of the death of their only daughter. The young lady was twelve years of age:—

Saturday afternoon, Feb. 3, at a quarter past one o'clock the spirit of little Grace Nettleton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Nettleton, took its flight for the eternal home of rest, after nearly two weeks of intense sufferings. All through her final illness, while suffering from scarlet fever, then from diphtheria and finally with spinal meningitis, her patience was the wonder of all who came to her bedside, and her consciousness of the approach of death inspired her with a joy whose completeness was only marred by one regret, the parting from those who loved her. Her last moments were spent in giving directions as to the disposition of her little mission savings and in messages of kind remembrances to her class and playmates. Her death was as phenomenal as her life, and her memory was embalmed in the hearts of all who knew her. There is a sorrow in her circle of acquaintance, old and young, that years will not efface. Bereavement so keen and widely felt rarely follows the death of one so young. At the funeral services held at the residence of her parents Monday afternoon, Rev. T. R. Beeber, her pastor, closed his very appropriate remarks by reading the following "Testimonial," given by the members of the Mission Band of which Grace was a member and Vice-President at the time of her death:

Grace M. Nettleton, is the first "Lily" who has left our earthly field for her Heavenly home.

Her record, as a member of our mission Band, was perfect during the past year. She did not miss a single meeting, and was never tardy.

She always prepared her verse in the Bible and prayer.

She sold more needle work than any other "Lily of the Field."

She never forgot to bring a liberal contribution to send to the heathen, whom she so much longed to help.

Early in the morning of the day on which we held our meetings she might be seen skipping along the walk leading to the home of the "Lily-bud," who had been entrusted to her faithful care.

Three weeks ago she attended her last meeting. Since then dear Jesus has been longing for a "Lily," so he picked this fresh one from our cluster.

Oh! what an honor to have a "Lily" in Heaven.

☞ The Lyons carriages at Bristol's Call and see them.

On the School Question.

To the Editor FULTON TIMES:

We were much interested by seeing in last week's "Patriot" an article on the "other side" of the school question, for the best way to get a true expression of the public sentiment is by drawing out all shades of opinion. But we cannot help thinking that it would have been much better if the taxpayer had not sneered at a plan advocated by our leading men; men who are deeply interested in the public welfare. We should like to have seen more in regard to the "annex." The jumbling of the buildings together; the lack of necessary room for a play ground; the massing of so many children and scholars of all ages into such a space; the sending of your daughters up three flights of stairs and many other important matters which enter into the question of an annex and it might have been more satisfactory if something more had been said in regard to No. 1 not uniting with No. 2—for instance if he had explained why leading men at first opposed and always have opposed the building of our $60,000 school, which experience has proved to have been a detriment to our village. When these things are considered, and also the condition of No. 1 at that time it may appear that No. 1 followed the wiser course. In matters of [illegible] [illegible] about the house [illegible] from the shore.

[illegible], for many years one of the most esteemed and energetic business men of Phoenix, died at his home Monday morning at seven o'clock, of consumption. He was a gentleman well known in Fulton.

An epidemic seems to be prevailing among the prisoners of Auburn prison in the form of sore throats and chills. The character of the disease is not alarming as the sick inmates are able to perform their duty.

Herbert J. Ruth and Miss Bessie U. Bragg of North Hannibal were married in Fulton February 20, by Rev. L. Golden of the Baptist church. The ceremony being performed at the officiating clergyman's residence on Second street.

Fox & Co., owners of the glass works at Durhamville, one of the largest in the union have made an assignment. The liabilities of the firm are estimated at from $150,000 to $180,000, and the assets at $200,000. Two hundred workmen are thrown out of employment.

Charles E. Poucher Jr. was sentenced to imprisonment in the Onondaga penitentiary at hard labor for two years and six months, at Syracuse, Wednesday. It will be remembered that Poucher obtained goods and money of several Syracuse merchants some time ago and paid for them with drafts which proved to be worthless. Syracuse justice is swift and sure.

☞ Worsted Dress Goods in all colors at 10 and 12½c. Former prices 15 and 20c. at Fay's New York Store. 41

Gilbert's Mills.

GILBERTS MILLS, March 5,—Last Thursday evening the people in the vicinity were treated to an excellent concert in the M. E. church in which several Fulton people lent valuable assistance. Following was the programme: Prayer by Rev, J. Buck; singing by the choir; essay by Oliver Snyder; singing by choir of five from Vermillion under lead of William Ure; recitation by Maggie Forsyth; singing by Fulton choir consisting of F. E. Goodjon and wife, W. F. Buck and wife, Miss Mattie Parkhouse, Mr. R. N. McCracken; declamation by W. F. Buck; singing by Vermillion choir; bass solo by F. E. Goodjon—"The Ivy Green;" original poem by Miss Mattie Parkhouse; singing—"The Mermaids;" evening song; recitation by Miss Williams; singing by Vermillion choir; recitation by Miss Carrier; singing by Vermillion choir; "Good Night" by Fulton choir.

WHEN YOU

Have a cough and want relief, think of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs. A guaranteed remedy for those diseases. Price 50 cent and 1.00.

For sale by R E. Phillips. 42m6

A fashion item says that the favorite color of undressed kids for street wear is dark tan. The fashion originated in Africa, where all the undressed kids seen in the streets are dark tan color.

[Norristown Herald.

The Pendleton civil service bill has passed," remarked Mr. Wigglesworth from the interior of his paper. "Well, I'm glad of that," said his wife, "and now I hope our hired girl will have a little more manners."

"DON'T HURRY, GENTLEMEN,"

Said a man on his way to be hanged, "there'll be no fun till I get there." We say to the dyspeptic, nervous and debilitated, don't hurry thoughtlessly for some remedy of doubtful merit, uncertain of relief, when you can get at the druggists for one dollar Burdock Blood Bitters almost sure to cure and certain to benefit.

While William Gable, a deaf man, was walking on the Reading Railroad tracks, near Leesport, Monday morning—but why pursue the painful subject further. He was deaf and like all deaf men, loved to take his morning promenade on a railroad track. Peace to his pieces. [N. Y. Graphic in the home cure of diseases, accidents, and how to treat them, and many hints of value to the sick will be found in Dr. Kaufmann's great Medical Work; elegant illustrations. Send two 3 cent stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free. 42w2

MANY NEW IDEAS

Dr Hawks, an old time eloquent and popular New York divine, once asked the vestrymen of his church to increase his salary because of his increased family expenses. Don't trouble yourself," said the vestrymen, "the Lord has said he will care for the young ravens when they cry." "I know that," said the clergyman, "but nothing is said about the young Hawks."—

[Wilmington News.

Go to your druggist for Mrs. Freeman's New National Dyes. For brightness and durability of color, are unequaled. Color from 2 to 5 pounds. Directions in English and German. Price 15 cents. 6y1

☞ For twenty-five to thirty-five cents you can get as good teas at J. [illegible] Tucker's store as are sold in Oswego for [illegible]

☞ See those new organs and pianos at Bristol's Music Store.

[illegible]

[illegible] universal custom pervading many different nations and religions. The Jews placed eggs on the Passover table, the Druids used them in their ceremonies, and the Persians frequently gave them as New Years gifts. If you should happen to be in Russia this month, a Russian would greet you on Easter morning with "Christ is risen," and offer you an Easter egg, and stranger still, if you were in the far east, a Mohammedan would do the same.

At city confectioners, fancy sugar eggs, some of them of enormous size, and containing panoramas of landscapes and figures or else filled with bon bons, may be had at all prices; but appropriate home made ones are worth twice as much.

To dye eggs, onion skins put in water in which they are boiled will make them a bright yellow; or, if left longer in the solution, a rich brown. Logwood or violet ink gives a royal purple. Cochineal, pink, pink and crimson, and many pieces of chintz, or bright ribbons that fade easily, if sewed tightly rround the eggs, will color them nicely in figures, strips and dots. Another way is to dip the egg in hot water, and then write a name or motto on the shell with tallow. It is then boiled in the solution of dye wood, when the inscription will appear in white, upon a colored ground.

Those who are skillful with pencil and paint brush can present their friends with really exquisite souvenirs, by ornamenting eggs with flowers or butterflies, or approprfate texts of scripture. For these painted eggs, it is better to puncture a tiny hole with a pin on each side, and blow out the inside, leaving a clear shell, than to boil them; and the aperature can be concealed by stars of silver or gilt paper.

[American Agriculturalist.

FIRST RATE EVIDENCE.

"Often unable to attend business, being subject to serious disorders of the kidneys. After a long siege of sickness tried Burdock Blood Bitters and was relieved by half a bottle." Mr B Turner of Rochester, N Y takes the pains to write.

DO YOU WANT!

IF YOU WANT

dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards.
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads.
bottle labels,
auction bills.
bank checks.
calling cards,
address cards,
shipping tags,
business cards,
wedding cards,
invitatation cards,
business circulars,
pamphlets printed,

If you want job printing of any description, done in a most satisfactory manner, you can satisfy your wants by calling at THE FULTON TIMES printing ffice

HALL'S
Vegetable Sicilian
HAIR RENEWER

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE
FOR THE WHISKERS

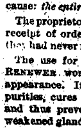
Will change the beard to a natural brown, or black, as desired. It produces a permanent color that will not wash away. Consisting of a single preparation, it is applied without trouble.

PREPARED BY
R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N.H.
Sold by all Dealers in Medicines.



FOR ALL THE FORMS
of Scrofulous, Mercurial, and Blood Disorders, the best remedy, because the most searching and thorough blood-purifier, is
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
Sold by all Druggists; $1, six bottles, $5.

[illegible]

For Sale.

A good house and lot No. 78 Utica street, in good repair. Inquire at this office, or on premises.

For Sale.

The House and Lot situated on the corner of Erie and Third streets occupied by L. S. Worden. Inquire on premises. Terms easy. 37t8

For Sale Cheap.

A farm of forty-one acres, eight miles south-west of Fulton, in the town of Ira, good buildings, good fruit and well watered. Inquire of JOHN CANE.

Fulton, Feb'y. 28, 1883.

For Sale.

A house and two lots situated on the corner of Third and Leitch streets, upper Oswego Falls. Two blocks north of Broadway. Convenient to factory. Enquire on the premises of

MICHAEL FRAWLEY.
Oswego Falls, Feb. 28, 1883. 41t3

FOR SALE.

In Lower Oswego Falls, about four acres of land with a house and barn—about ten minutes walk from end of lower bridge. Lying between First St. and the river, adjoining on the south the place of Mrs. Martin Osborn. For particulars inquire of

MRS. E. E. SWAN,
88tf Lower Oswego Falls.

A Grand Bargain.

The very beautiful house of Mr. Ed. Breads on Fourth street is offered for sale. Whoever wants the best need look no farther. F. D. VANWAGENEN.

STONEBURGH,
Asks Your Attention!
—:o:—
He has Removed
into His New
Store,—Corner of
Broadway and First St.
and has a New, Fresh and
Enlarged Stock of
General Merchandise.

Everything to be found in a

General Assortment Store.

HIGHEST CASH PRICE

paid for all kinds of country produce.
Drop in and see what we keep for sale.
In connection with his grocery a

Meat Market

is now open. Fresh meats cut and delivered anywhere in Fulton and Oswego Fal's.

STONEBURGH'S.

PAPER HANGINGS!
——FOR THE——
SPRING TRADE.
NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

DIAMOND DYES.
FOR ANY COLOR.
THE Best Dyes Ever Made.

☞ FOR SILK, WOOL, OR COTTON. ☜ DRESSES, COATS, SCARFS, HOODS, YARN, STOCKINGS, CARPET RAGS, RIBBONS, FEATHERS, or any fabric or fancy article easily and perfectly colored to any shade. Black, Brown, Green, Blue, Scarlet, Cardinal Red, Navy Blue, Seal Brown, Olive Green, Terra Cotta and 20 other best colors. Warranted Fast and Durable. Each package will color one to four lbs. of goods. If you have never used Dyes try these once. You will be delighted. Sold by druggists, or send us 10 cents and any color wanted sent post-paid. 24 colored samples and a set of fancy cards sent for a 3c. stamp.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

GOLD and SILVER PAINT.
Bronze Paint. Artists' Black.

For gilding Fancy Baskets, Frames, Lamps, Chandeliers, and for all kinds of ornamental work. Equal to any of the high priced kinds and only 10 cts. a package, at the druggists, or post-paid from WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the state of New York, whereby the power to sell has become operative, notice is hereby given that said mortgage, which is dated the 15th day of May 1876 and is recorded in the office of the clerk of the county of Oswego at Oswego, N. Y. on the 18th day of May 1876, at 9 o'clock a. m. in Liber [illegible] of mortgages at page [illegible], given by [illegible] to Constantine V. Anthony, mortgagee, [illegible] Orlando Howell [illegible]

[illegible]

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

The only Graduate in Oswego County.
VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,
(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)
has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in
Fulton Every Saturday.
His Headquarters will be at the
LEWIS HOUSE BARN,
where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.
Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 3 p. m.
All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.
Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 3tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

Go and get your

CORNS, BUNIONS. INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS
Cured Without Pain,
and without the use of acids, by
DR. J. D. PERKINS,
of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.
Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office,
Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:

OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.

Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address is Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174.

Those desiring can be waited on at their residence Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Oryuna street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.

Jan, 3. 83 1 yr.

Real Estate! Real Estate!
—:o:—

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure,

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

We offer for sale the house and lot near the end of 2nd street, now owned and occupied by Chas. Easton.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.
Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 13, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south-east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 6 on Block 55—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 8, Block 54. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

TO BUSINESS MEN—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!
IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St., A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 2½ to 395 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best ones go,
Danger in delay you know,
Go to Lathrop's high and low—
Buy a Valentine.

G. C. LATHROP,
22 First Street—Opposite Lewis House.
Fulton Feb. 1st, 1883.

—GO TO—
BOARDMAN
AT ONCE FOR YOUR

[illegible]

—:o:—
This Company was Chartered in 1849.
Assets - - $94,702,957
—:o:—
Premium rates lower than any Company.
W. C. WHEELER, Agent,
Fulton Times Office,
Fulton, N.

WE OFFER AT
THE BAZAA

The following low prices for your inspection. Our enormou stock of sleds at just what they cost to buy at the factory by the dozen, as we do not want to carry them over having no room to store them.

HANGING LAMPS

Fast French bronze worth $4 for only 2.62.
Ebony and gold, best goods, worth $5 only $3.40.
Come and get one before they are all gone. We will also give away one large size cake of stove polish to any purchaser of 50 cents or over worth of tinware. Picture frames at 1 per cent less than we have ever sold them before. Frames made to order on short notice and very cheap, all sizes, all qualities. Just received a new line of Hamburg edgings and laces cheaper than ever. The Bazaar has the reputation of selling Good Ribbons less than any store in town and we are bound to sustain it. Special figures on

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY

To reduce stock. Corsets we are always prepared to show you an immense line of at postively lower figures than you can buy them elsewhere. Don't buy anything in the way of notions or small goods before you have visited The Bazaar, as you can't afford to pay old war prices for goods when we can sell at city prices any day and our assortment is complete. 1,000 tin pans just received at 10 cents each.

CHARLES HUBBARD.

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS
A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

McCarthy's
CHINA HALL.
OSWEGO, N. Y.
—:o:—
Great Bargains
—IN—
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
CHANDELIERS,
LAMPS,
SILVERWARE
For the next Thirty Days.
JAMES McCARTHY
OSWEGO, N. Y.

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE.

Four Houses, Oswego Falls, Pine St., between First and Second Streets.

Vacant Lot, Oswego Falls, Oak Street.

House and two lots, Fulton, Academy Street, known as "Capt. Taylor place."

Vacant Lot Fulton, 5th St., Block 513
" " " 5th " " 511
" " " Park Street known as L. D. [illegible] lot
[illegible]

NFW ADVERTISEMETS.

FITS
A Leading London Physician establishes an Office in New York for the Cure of EPILEPTIC FITS.

[illegible] Journal of Medicine. Dr. [illegible] (late of London), who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any other living physician. His success has simply been astonishing; we have heard of cases of over 20 years' standing successfully cured by him. He has published a work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his wonderful cure free to any sufferer who may send their express and P. O. Address. We advise any one wishing a cure to address Dr. AB. [illegible], No. [illegible] John St., New York.

THE UNION TRUST CO.,
611 and 613 Chestnut Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.
CAPITAL $1,000, | Charter Perpetual.

Acts as Executor, Administrator, Assignee, Receiver, Guardian, Attorney, Agent, Trustee and Committee, alone or in connection with an individual appointee.

Takes charge of the property of absentees and non-residents, collects and remits income promptly, and discharges faithfully the duties of every fiduciary trust and agency known to the law.

Safes for Rent within Burglar-proof Vaults of the most approved construction.

Wills kept in Fire & Burglar-proof Safes without charge. Plate, securities and all other valuables securely kept at a moderate annual charge for safe return or specific indemnity.

Our trusts and other approved securities for sale. Interest allowed on Moneys deposited for definite periods, or upon ten days' notice.

W. C. PATTERSON, President.
HEISTER CLYMER, Vice-President.
MAHLON S. STOKES, Treasurer.
FRANCIS BACON, Sec'y and Trust Officer.

DIRECTORS.

W C PATTERSON,
JAMES LONG,
ALFRED S GILLETT,
HON ALLISON WHITE,
DR C P TURNER,
D R PATTERSON,
JOHN T. MONROE,
JOS I KEEFE,
THOS R PATTON,
W J READ,
JAS S MARTIN,
DR D HAYES AGNEW,
H H HOUSTON,
JOHN G READING,
Philadelphia, Pa.;
HON T F RANDOLPH,
Morristown, N. J.;

HON T F BAYARD,
Wilmington, Del.;
DR GEO W REILY,
Harrisburg, Pa.;
HON J S AFRICA,
Huntingdon, Pa.;
HON H CLYMER,
Reading, Pa.;
HENRY S ECKHART,
Reading, Pa.;
EDMUND S DOTY,
Mifflintown, Pa.;
HON R E MONAGHAN,
West Chester, Pa.;
GEN W W H DAVIS,
Doylestown, Pa.;
CHAS W COOPER,
Allentown, Pa.

[illegible] HOUP, HUNT & CO., [illegible] BANKERS [illegible]

[illegible] ERN R. R

[illegible] ....7:15 a. m
[illegible] ....2:23 p. m
[illegible] No. 16 ....8:05 a. m

[illegible] ....9:25 p. m.
[illegible] ....11:24 a. m.
[illegible] No. 16 ....5:36 p. m.

DEL. LKWNA. & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING NORTH.

Syracuse Accommodation ....8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express ....9:28 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express ....12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express ....5:58 p. m.

GOING SOUTH.

New York and Oswego Express ....8:06 a. m
Day Express ....3:08 p. m
Oswego Accommodation ....6:24 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express ....8:30 p. m

☞ The 8th train runs Sundays.
☞ Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. Phelps, Supt.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. Wheeler, Fulton Times Office. 36tf

The agony is over.

Two weeks from next Sunday will be Easter.

F. A. Seymour of Buffalo was in town over Sunday.

Don't forget the Royal Hand Bell Ringers, March 14.

The merchants are daily receiving new goods for the coming spring.

Emmet Turner and wife of Pennellville are guests of Mrs. Turner's father James L. Parker.

Miss Fannie DeGraw of lower Oswego Falls lies in a very critical condition with pneumonia.

About fifteen persons united with the new Congregational church in Oswego Falls last Sunday.

Miss Allie Saunderson has been in New York for some time contemplates returning to Fulton and residing.

A number of ladies of this village are holding a Union Drawing Room in which temperance prayer meetings are held each week.

Miss Kittie McDonald, teacher in upper Oswego Falls, has been sick for several days. Her friends will be pleased to learn that she is rapidly convalescing.

You will regret it if you do not purchase a ticket and attend the entertainment to be given by the Royal Hand Bell Ringers in Stephen's Opera House next Wednesday evening.

The A. S. C. are making arrangements for a grand ball, to be given Tuesday evening, March 27, in the Opera House ball room. The management of previous parties by the society has been such that lovers of dancing find rare enjoyment in attending them.

A telephone has been placed in Geo. D. Richardson's grocery. There will also be one at Dexter's meat market in a few days. Parties who may desire the telephone for their residence are requested to notify manager Blanchard before April 1st as a new printed list will then be issued.

The Great Republic Allegory and Tableaux will be produced in Stephens Opera House in a few days. Some three hundred of the young people of the village will participate. It will be given under the auspices of Post Daniel F. Schenck in aid of the monument fund. It has been produced for the past twenty-five years in all states of the Union. It was given in Oswego ten years ago netting $1995.82. Further notice next week.

A valuable horse belonging to Betts & Moyer of this village while hitched in Oswego Falls a few days a ago, by some means got one of his right legs over the halter and was thrown, seriously injuring the animal. It was brought to its stable in this village and Saturday morning found dead. It is thought in attempting to rise it pitched forward striking its head against the manger breaking its neck. A few days previous the parties owning the horse were offered $300 for it.

Mrs. Geo. L. Smith and Mrs. John Robinson were called to Brockville, Ont. Monday, by a dispatch announcing the sudden death, the day previous, of Mrs. A. S. Manhard, a cousin of the ladies. Mrs. Manhard has been a frequent visitor to Fulton, where she made many warm friends who will be deeply grieved to learn of her demise. She was one who possessed rare social qualities and made everything around her bright and entertaining by her kindly and unselfish dispositon.

Charles R. Nichols was nominated for excise commissioner by the temperance people Saturday afternoon and accepted the nomination. The same afternoon the republicans nominated Mr. Nichols for town clerk, he promptly declined. The tickets were printed with [illegible] names upon them and [illegible] addressed the voters [illegible] [illegible] casion in [illegible] his ability [illegible] his true [illegible] print on the [illegible] he [illegible] choose to represent.

The remainder of the ticket is evenly divided between the two parties.

The republicans met in Nichol's hall Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m., and elected Chas. H. David chairman and H. B. Rorke and Henry E. Nichols secretaries. The following ticket was placed in nomination:

For Supervisor
Arvin Rice
For Town Clerk
Charles R Nichols
For Just'ce of the Peace
Louis H Drake
For Assessor
Erastus W Kellogg
For Overseers of the Poor
Henry S Gardner
Esquire Rowlee
For Commissioner of Highways
Amos H Baldwin
For Collector
Jefferson Bailey
For Constables
Herman Hulett
C C Fuller
John C VanBuren
Lewis N Holden
David Jewett
For Game Constable
Clarence C Hewes
For Inspectors of Election Dist No 1
Amos Youmans
Leman B Babcock
For Inspectors of Election Dist No 2
Lawrence T Miller
E Delos Distin
For Inspectors of Election Dist No 3
Fred Petrie
Otis J Allen

At 3 o'clock p. m., Saturday the democrats met in Nichols hall. Wm. C. Stephens was elected chairman and Eugene V. Lathrop and Joseph Francis secretaries. The following ticket was placed in the field:

For Supervisor
William B Howard
For Town Clerk
Joseph Francis
For Justice of the Peace
Ovid V Taft
For Assessor
Lewis Sharp
For Overseers of the Poor
Francis M. Wilson
Jay M Piper
For Commissioner of Highways
William A LaFontain
For Collector
Samuel B Whitaker
For Constables
Whitman T Church
James Back
Willis Ney
Harvey L Bowen
Burton Briggs
For Game Constable
Whitman T Church
For Inspectors of Election Dist No 1
William C Stephens
Marcus F Crahan
For Inspectors of Election Dist No 2
John H Cavanaugh
Prentice Yeomans
For Inspector of Election Dist No 3
Ira B Ingersoll
Michael McDonald

At 1 o'clock p. m., Saturday the temperance people met in S. of T. hall over Woodin's store and nominated Charles R. Nichols for excise commissioner and adjourned until 4 o'clock same day. D W. Gardner was elected chairman and D. M. Perino secretary. The following ticket was made out:—

For Supervisor
Arvin Rice
For Town Clerk
Joseph Francis
For Justice of the Peace
Louis H Drake
For Commis-ioner of Highway
Amos H Baldwin
For Assessor
Erastus W Kellogg
For Overseers of the Poor
Jay M. Piper
Esquire Rowlee
For Collector
William Hill
For Constables
Herman Hulett
Alonzo L Hatch
Henry D Wells
Levi S Candee
Lewis N Holden
For Inspectors of Election Dist No 1
Amos Youmans
William F Ingell
For Inspectors of Election Dist No 2
George Ward
J Wallace VanVorst
For Inspectors of Election Dist No 3
Ovid V Taft
Frederick Petrie

HOW THE VOTE STOOD.

Subjoined is the complete and correct vote each candidate received:

FOR SUPERVISOR.

William B. Howard	696
Arvin Rice	556
Howard's majority	140

TOWN CLERK.

Joseph Francis	804
Charles R. Nichols	448
Francis' majority	356

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Louis H. Drake	643
Ovid V. Taft	613
Drake's majority	30

ASSESSOR.

Erastus W. Kellogg	677
Lewis Sharp	570
Kellogg's majority	107

COMMISSIONER OF HIGHWAYS.

Amos H. Baldwin	[illegible]
William A. LaFontain	[illegible]

[illegible] produced to their names.

GAME CONSTABLE.

Whitman T. Church	509
Clarence C Hewes	559
Church's majority	50

INSPECTORS OF ELECTION.

In District No. 1 Amos Youmans and Wm. C. Stephens were elected and Leman B. Babcock was appointed.

In district No. 2 Prentice Yeomans and John H. Cavanaugh were elected and E. Delos Distin appointed.

In district No. 3 Frederick Petrie and Ira B. Ingersoll were elected and Michael McDonald was appointed.

COMMISSIONER OF EXCISE.

John N. Sharp, license	685
Charles R. Nichols, anti-license	385
Sharp's majority	300

THE RESULT IN GRANBY.

The whole number of votes cast in Granby were 809. There were three tickets in the field, Republican, Democrat and Prohibition. We give the vote with the candidates:

FOR SUPERVISOR.

Thomas R. Wright	395
Patrick Powers	388
J. C. Harrington	22
Wright's majority	7

TOWN CLERK.

Charles Dexter	416
David Hartigan	362
Robert McCully	27
Dexter's maj	54

FOR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Hiram Ballard	394
Isaac Pierce	374
Chapman	25
Ballard's majority	20

ASSESSOR.

William Monroe	398
Edward E. Marsh	374
Cox	33
Monroe's majority	24

OVERSEER OF THE POOR.

Daniel H. Gilbert	476
Willard Stewart	295
Fleming	35
Gilbert's majority	181

HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER.

James Gilhooley	391
P. E. Decker	389
Dumas	34
Gilhooley's majority	4

COLLECTOR.

Charles Carpenter	444
Francis Lamson	328
Hyde	25
Carpenter's majority	114

CONSTABLES.

The following constables were elected: Fred W. Alger, J. C. Fuller, John A. Blakeman, Francis Lamson and John Tyler. James Moran was elected game constable.

Granby elected a no-license excise commissioner, Mr. S. B. Dutton, by over eighty majority.

ELECTION NOTES.

Alanson Dodge received the highest vote of any constable.

There were only 129 straight republican votes polled and 303 democrat.

Yesterday was stormy and disagreeable, a storm of sleet and snow continuing the whole day.

Burton Briggs, who received a nomination on the democrat ticket withdrew and Mr. Alanson Lodge was substituted.

Last year there were 1284 votes polled at town meeting and yesterday there were 1262. A large vote for a stormy day.

C. C. Fuller, who received a nomination on the republican ticket for constable declined to accept; and Anson J. Osborn was substituted.

The vote for holding town meetings in the Opera House Assembly Room received 175 for and none were recorded against it. Hereafter elections will be held in the Stephens Opera House.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Constantia sends a republican supervisor, L. P. Marsden.

Hannibal elects a republican supervisor, E. P Barrett, by 114 majority.

Schroeppel elects Eugene Russ, democrat, for supervisor, by 75 majority.

Albion elects Cox, democrat, supervisor over Blodgett, by a small majority.

Mexico has elected a democratic supervisor, George Goodwin by 24 majority.

Elliot, republican, of Hastings, is elected supervisor. This is Mr Elliot's sixth term.

Max B. Richardson, republican, is elected mayor of Oswego by a majority of about 900.

George W. Degget, republican, from New Haven had no opposition as candidate for supervisor.

Richland will be represented by a democrat, [illegible] over L. E. [illegible], editor of the Pulaski Democrat [illegible]

[illegible] majority; seventh ward, Shepherd, democrat, 22 majority; eighth ward, Murphy, democrat, 152.

Dr. Charles Bacon was elected supervisor from Williamstown. He is a son of Dr. Charles G. Bacon of this village and is a good democrat.

This morning's Oswego Post says:—

Returns received warrant the conclusion that the board of supervisors will stand about in this way: 15 democrats, 12 republicans, 1 democratic greenbacker, 1 republican greenbacker. This makes the baord democratic by two and perhaps three majority. The defeat of the republican candidate in such towns as Volney, Richland and Albion is a surprise, because these towns are usually republican by large majorties and the candidates were capable and popular men. An edge of the democratic tidal wave of last year seems to have lingered in this county.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to return my earnest thanks to the kind friends who tendered me by the hand of Mr. Jerome B. Rector, in Ontario street school house Thursday evening, a purse containing about seventy dollars. May God bless and prosper them.

George Foster.
March 6, 83. Minister of the Gospel

Lake Ontario Commandery

H. T. No. 32 of Oswego, N. Y., has issued some neatly executed invitations to its members and other Sir Knights with their wives, to a banquet at the Ringland house the 12th of this month at 9 o'clock p. m. The capacity and ability of the Ringland House in the time of banquets, has been proven to the satisfaction of the Sir Knights of this county; and they will go, feeling assured that all the appointments will be first-class. There are Knights Templar residing in Fulton who will attend. The invitations are handsome and are of the highest order of the printers' art.

Royal Hand Bell Ringers.

Next Wednesday evening, February 14th, the Royal Hand Bell Ringers will give an entertainment in Stephens Opera House. It is so long since an entertainment of this character has visited Fulton that a large audience is assured. Bell ringing is one of the most fascinating and pleasing of entertainments. The Cincinnati Gazette says this company has been praised in the most lavish manner wherever heard, and after the exhibition of last evening we can without scruple endorse all that has been said of them. The music they make is certainly most wonderful, and words fail to fitly describe it. The tone of their instruments is matchless, and tuned to a perfect pitch, making such delightful harmony, so soft and sweet at times, as one would scarcely imagine could ever be rung from anything made of brass.

Tickets are now on sale at Watson's drug store and Ney's news room. General admission 35 cents; reserved seats 50 cents.

A Serious Accident.

Amos H. Baldwin and Gaylord Rice were coming to the village Saturday in a cutter drawn by one horse. When on Oneida street near Waterhouse creek, a team following closely behind, driven and owned by a man named Brown, became frightened and started to run. Mr. Baldwin turned to the left side of the road to allow them to pass and the team jumped into the cutter throwing the occupants out, and reversing the cutter. Mr Baldwin was trampled upon and sustained painful and severe injuries. Mr. Rice escaped without serious injury. Mr. Baldwin was removed to the residence of his sister, Mrs. Timothy Salmon, in Oswego Falls, where he still remains unable to be removed. No bones were broken, neither was he hurt internally. His side and limbs were bruised and his whole frame sustained a severe and enervating shock. Dr. Chas. M Lee attends him. If nothing intervenes of a discouraging nature he will be about in a few days.

☞ New check Nainsook 10c. and up at Fay's New York Store. 41

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego County on March 7, 1883.

John Hollenbeck, Mrs. Maria Hinds, Mrs. L. Merriam, Mrs. Elma Marsh, Mrs. E. B. Norris, Mrs. A. E. Pilling, Mrs. Elsie P. Reed, Peter Sternberg and Elmer Taylor.

DROPS AND POSTALS.

Irving Barnes, H. B. Foster, Miss Eliza Foster, James Kay, Mrs. Crystine Jenkins, William King, Mrs. Libbie B. Pooler, J. B. Pitcher, Thomas Roach, Miss Mary Roach.

HELD FOR POSTAGE

Albert Hudgins, Plainville, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. Gilbert P. M.

☞ The only place in Fulton where you can be sure of finding genuine Old Government Java, Rio, Mocha and [illegible] coffee is at J. Cooley Tucker's crockery store.

[illegible]

"I told you so," is the common [illegible]

☞ New Buttons and Cloak Trimmings at Fay's New York Store. 41

Politicians are now prepared to tell you just how it happened.

Maurice Wentworth, of Liverpool, is visiting friends and relatives in town.

"Hi" Henry's Minstrels in Stephens Opera House Saturday evening, March 17th.

Miss Nellie Baker occupies the position of assistant in school Dist. No. 1, Oswego Falls.

T. J. Crosby, of Granby Centre, has sold his farm to J. H. Cornell and will move to this village.

Patrick Murphy who resides on south First street, is very low. He recently suffered another shock of paralysis.

Bishop Huntington administered the right of confirmation to eleven candidates at Zion church Sunday evening.

Mr. J. C. Gillespie, who was injured a few weeks ago in a straw cutter, is improving nicely and with no drawback will be out in a short time.

The union temperance meeting at the M. E. church on Sunday evening was well attended and Rev. Dr. Bruce gave an interesting address. Revs. Golden and Riggs assisted in the services.

The next Teachers' Institute of Oswego county will be held at Parish commencing at April 16th, and continuing one week. Prof Johonot and Prof Kennedy will be in attendance as instructors to conduct the institute.

Uncle Thomas Hubbard, who resides near Mount Pleasant, was in yesterday to attend town meeting. He will be ninety-five years of age the 10th day of May, 1883. He is a wonderfully well preserved man for one of his years.

Dr Perkins has been prevailed upon to stop a few more days at his office over Goodjon's shoe store, Fulton, N. Y. All those that are troubled with corns should improve the the present opportunity. The Dr talks some of going to New York City. Those who desire it can be waited on at their residence.

Tuesday evening, February 27, William Watson reached his 54th birthday and a large number of his friends assembled at his home to remind him of the fact and make merry. No evening was ever more pleasantly passed than by those gathered at this anniversary. Many incidents of the long ago were recalled and the whole affair a thoroughly enjoyable one.

The Syracuse Herald says in reference to the decision of justice Follett, in granting the application of the attorney general to annul the contracts of the Hoosac Tunnel road that this result is understood to include the abandonment of the Syracuse & Oswego road, which was leased to the Hoosac Tunnel interest and which they were building northward from this city.

Mrs. Mary Murphy, wife of John Murphy, died at her home in Oswego Falls last Thursday evening, aged 32 years. Funeral was held Saturday from the church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. Father Kearney officiating. Her funeral was one of the largest held in Fulton for many years and was an expression of the high esteem in which the lady was held by the community. She leaves a husband and an infant child. Her death is sincerely regretted and has turned into mourning hundreds of acquaintances. Mrs. Murphy was a sister of Mr. George Johnston.

HOW MUCH WILL DO IT?

How much of Thomas' Eclectric Oil is required to cure? Only a very little. A few drops will cure any kind of an ache; and but a trifle more is needed for sprains and lameness. Rheumatism is not so readily affected; an ounce and sometimes two ounces are required. No medicine, however, is so sure to cure with the same number of applications.

NOW IS YOUR TIME.

One chance in China Tea Set every time you buy one dollar's worth of goods and pay cash for same at

D. C. SKADEN'S.

Lost—On Monday last, a gold bracelet, between Rochester street and Broadway Third street. A liberal reward for its on return to this office.

☞ New spring Prints and Ginghams at Fay's New York Store. 41

☞ Black and white Spanish Lace and Passementries at Fay's New York Store. 41

Have you had our 50c tea. Can not be beat. D. C. Skaden.

☞ Bristol sells none but the best Carriages. Every part thoroughly warranted.

That Husband of Mine

Is three times the man he was before he began using "Wells' Health Renewer." $1. Druggists.

[illegible] Carriages just received [illegible] Now is your time to [illegible] Call and see.

[illegible] Weekly Illustrated [illegible] for five cents at [illegible]

[illegible] to be held by the faculty [illegible] laid [illegible] persons. The menu was a most credible one. The toasts were rich and racy and the responses in keeping. Some of them were properly "killing." At the same hour had its twenty-third annual commencement. The report read by the dean of the faculty showed that Hanneman had made a record during the year and was in a creditable condition. The graduates numbered over two hundred. The exercises were of an interesting character. The reunion and banquet at the Palmer, during which Dr. Viles announced the list of toasts which were most happily responded to.

HANNEMAN COLLEGE

A STYLISH WEDDING

Wednesday evening was the scene of a large and brilliant wedding, the parties being an only daughter of S. P. Rounds, U. S. Public Printer, and Mr. O. H. Rothacker, editor of the Denver Tribune, a gentleman most favorably known in journalistic circles of the "Far West." The company was large and included a large number of newspaper men from this and other cities. The bride, a handsome brunette, was arrayed in a superb robe of shell pink brocade silk, with diamond ornaments consisting of ear rings from the groom, a diamond cross from her father and a lace pin of three solitaires from an old friend. The ceremony was followed by a wedding supper. The festivites included music and dancing. The fair bride was the recipient of many costly presents, including a house and lot in Denver, completely and elegantly furnished, the gift of a number of friends of the distinguished Tribune editor. A palace car load of guests came over from Denver and Colorado, including all the leading state officials, editors and senators.

VIRGINIA SOCIETY

Thursday evening, the annual banquet and reception of the Virginia Society came off at the Palmer House, properly celebrating the anniversary of him who was "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," the Virginian, George Washington. The attendance was large and the entertainment a most brilliant and enjoyable affair. After some hours spent in supplying the wants of the inner man, Mr. L. J. Allen was the orator of the day. At the conclusion of the oration dancing became the fascinating attraction which was kept up till near one o'clock.

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY.

In another parlor of this hotel the undergraduates of the University gave a banquet, which closed with a social hop. At the same time and place a grand bal masque was going on in the double parlors composed of some seven hundred invited guests.

THE DISTINGUISHED DEAD.

Friday afternoon the funeral of the late Saml. J. Medill of the Chicago Tribune occurred. The services were very largely attended, nearly all the profession gave their personal presence and showed their esteem for the distinguished editor. The floral tributes were varied and beautiful, coming from the Chicago Press Club, The Tribune and many personal friends. A memorial meeting occurred Sunday at four o'clock and took action in a suitable manner.

N. W. CORNELL ASSOCIATION.

Friday evening the annual banquet of the N. W. C. A. occurred at the Palmer house and proved a most signal success. It is composed of representative Cornell University men in the great north-west and is a strong influence in the interest of the alma matar. After a bountiful feast, a rich program was carried out, consisting of speeches, poems, songs and much hilarity. A long congratulatory letter was received and read from the worthy President of Cornell, Dr. Andrew B. White and was greeted with prolonged applause by all present.

During the week Music and Drama have flourished with unwonted vigor. Christine Nilsson, the sweetest singer before the public has closed a most successful engagement at Central Music Hall. Also the Chicago church choir has given a very acceptable series of operatic performances at McVicker's Theatre, while Maud Granger has held the boards at Hoolye's, and the "Black Crook" has drawn crowds at Haverley's. Altogether one is led to the conclusion that Chicago is a live city. X.

FACTS FROM EXPERIENCE.

Manch Chunk, Pa., Sep. 12, 1881.

H. H. Warner & Co.: Sirs,—I have used your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure for a combination of liver and kidney troubles and have derived great pleasure therefrom. H. F. Nonnemacher

☞ When you buy teas, coffees and other dry groceries of J. Cooley Tucker you are sure to get the very best goods and save the retailer's profit.

A WARNING TO FARMERS!

Farmers coming to Fulton before buying a dollars worth of Clothing be sure and visit the [illegible] New York [illegible]

[illegible] the cause of this terrible disease [illegible] To us it is very clear that the sole cause of Rheumatism and Neuralgic pains is the accumulation in the veins of little particles of Uric or Lithic Acid, which finds its way in the circulation of the blood, but which finds its way in the circulation of the blood, but which should pass off with the insensible perspiration outwardly, or the waste matter of the system inwardly.

In a normal condition of the kidneys, the Uric Acid developed in the formation of the urine, does not seperate from it, but becomes neutralized and is evacuated.

These coagulated particles of corrupt matter, may make their appearence under the skin, producing postules, scaly eruptions, or running sores.

But they more frequently locate about a nerve, and in this case the patient often suffers intense pain. This is called

NEURALGIA

Nature now does all she can to aid this circulation, by sending blood in abundance to drench out, or dislodge, if possible, this urate of lime, and the parts become red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called

ACUTE RHEUMATISM,

If nature fails to wash out these acrimonious atoms, she withdraws the undue supply of the blood from the parts, but continues to perform the functions of circulation as best she can, but the passage of blood thorough the affected channels continues painful. This is called and is pronounced incurable by nearly all our best pratictioners, but we have shown that the Rheumatic Syrup has and will dissolve or dislodge and remove the annoying and dangerous matter and cure the sufferer.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM,

THE CURE.

Anything which will dislodge these corrupt particles, dissolve and expel them from the system and purify the blood, will give give permanent relief.

It is the mission of the Rheumatic Syrup not only to dissolve and remove the accumulation of these particles in the blood, but to so cleanse and purify it that there can be no possibility of the return of this painful and dangerous disease.

Rheumatic Syrup goes to the very seat, or root of the disease, doing its work of cleansing or purifying from the first dose, giving healthy action to the liver and kidneys, supplying the system with pure blood and giving new life and vigor to the sufferer.

In a word Rheumatic Syrup does what no other remedy has been able to do, and it is daily curing those who years ago had given up all hope of being cured, having tried all the available so-called remedies recommended for this most dreaded disease.

HOPE ON

Although you may have been a sufferer for years, with Cronic or Acute Rheumatism or Neuralgia, and become discouraged, and given up all hope of recovery after trying all of the so-called remedies with no avail, Cheer up; renew your hope; for by the persistent use of Rheumatic Syrup you can be cured, and the use of your hands and limbs will be restored by the circulation of pure and warm blood through the veins, and you will bless the day you first heard of Rheumatic Syrup.

If you have a torpid liver, or if you are troubled with kidney affections or or have symptoms of Brights disease, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Dyspepsia, Gout, or any of the diseases which arise from an enfeebled condition of the system suffer no longer, for Rheumatic Syrup cleanses the blood of all its impurities, and is a positive cure for the above named diseases and the success it has met with has made it the wondor of the age.

Rheumatic Syrup is put up in quart bottles, price one dollar per bottle.

No family should be without it.

Ask your druggist for it. If he has not got it request him to send for it, and give it a thorough trial, and become convinced that what we have said about it is true.

We earnestly request that all physicians give this remedy a careful examination, for we are confident that after so doing, they will be as free to recommend it, as are those who have been already cured by its use.

Many physicians of both schools are already using and recommending its use, having been convinced of its superior merits.

Office of Rheumatic Syrup Co., No 1 Plymouth avenue, Rochester. Send for circular.

Read the following testimonials from a few of the patients who have used and and been cured by the use of the Rheumatic Syrup of diseases so extraordinary that they desire to have the particulars known for the benefit of others who may be similarly afflicted:

Clifton Springs, N. Y. July 13, 1882.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

Gents—I make the following statement for the benefit of those who suffer with that terrible disease—rheumatism. I have been troubled more or less for twelve years, and at times could hardly use my arms. It was in my arms and shoulders principally. I took but one bottle of your Syrup and it stopped the pain and took the soreness out, so I am feeling well. I cheerfully recommend your Syrup to any suffering from rheumatism.

G. W. Warfield.

NOT A HUMBUG.

Colonel Richard Fordham of Lyons, N. Y. says that by the use of a few bottles of the Rheumatic Syrup he was completely cured of a very severe attack of rheumatism, which confined him to his room for months. He also says that he had no faith in patent medicines, but has changed his mind since using Rheumatic Syrup.

A PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD.

Savannah, March 3, 1883.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

[illegible]

[illegible] The Rheumatic Syrup is truly a great blood purifier and a sure cure for rheumatism, for I have improved every day since I commenced its use until now I am a well man. Nelson Moore.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

Brockport, N. Y. Aug. 19, 1882.

Gents—For the benefit of those who may be suffering from rheumatism I make the following statement in relation to your Rheumatic Syrup. I had been suffering severely for six weeks with rheumatism all through my whole body. Spent many sleepless nights, for I could not turn my self in bed, nor raise my hands to my head. Wrists were swollen I could not bend without causing terrible pain, when I was persuaded by a friend to try your Rheumatic Syrup. Have been taking it three weeks, and find myself able to be up and around the house, and improving so rapidly that I feel as if I could safely recommend it to all those so afflicted.

Yours Respectfully,
Miss A. E. Goodell.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

South Butler, N. Y.

Gentlemen—I desire to say a few words in praise of your Rheumatic Syrup, which has done so much for me in the last few weeks. In December last I had a very severe attack of rheumatism or kidney affection, which completely deprived me of the use of my limbs. Suffered, as only those who have had this terrible disease can realize, for nearly three months, using nearly every preparation recommended. These, with the aid of our best physicians, seemed to be of no avail, and I grew worse and worse and had given up all hope of recovery, when I learned that an acquaintance of mine who had been similarly afflicted had been entirely cured by the use of the Rheumatic Syrup, and I was prevailed upon to try it. I confess I had little or no faith in it, having tried so many remedies with no beneficial results, but I am happy to say that the rheumatic Syrup is all—yes more than you claim for it. All pain had left me, and I was able to walk around the house before I had used three bottles, and to-day I am as well as ever and able to do my work. I cannot say enough in its praise.

Mrs Robert Cole.

Wolcott, April, 5, 1882.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

Gents—Having been afflicted with rheumatism over eight months in my left hip, at times so I couldn't get a night's rest, or even lie on that side on account of such pain running through my hip and down my limb, the Rheumatic Syrup was recommended. After taking one bottle the pain left me, and I could lie on that side as well as ever. I have felt no symptoms of rheumatism since. I think as a rheumatic cure it has no equal.

A. B Thacker, Merchant.

Furnace Village, Wayne Co, Mar. 3, '82

ANOTHER CASE OF KIDNEY DISEASE CURED BY RHEUMATIC SYRUP.

Gents—Fifteen years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, which settled my back and hips, and much of the time for the last five years I have been unable to turn in bed or feed myself. I have tried many remedies and two years ago I consulted one of the most celebrated physicians in the State, who pronounced it kidney disease, but I grew worse all the time during his treatment. I heard your Rheumatic Syrup highly recommended and I tried it and before I had used two bottles all pain had left me, and to-day I can get about and am able to attend to my business, and am improving every day. I am confident that the Rheumatic Syrup, if taken as directed, will cure any case of rheumatism or kidney disease.

I am most respectfully yours,
Garrett Ammerman,
Overseer of the Poor.

A BAD CASE OF SCROFULA CURED.

Port Byron, Feb. 20, 1882

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

I had been doctoring for three or four years, with different physicians, for scrofula, as some called it but found no relief till I commenced taking your Syrup. After taking it a short timne to my surprise it began to help me. Continueing its use a few weeks I found myself as well as ever. As a blood purifier, I think it has no equal.

Lee Wm Strang.

Rochester, N. Y. Nov 16, 1882.

Gentlemen—I have taken but two bottles of your Rheumatic Syrup, but have received more benefit form it than from any and all other remedies I have tried, and I confidently believe I should now have been entirely free from rheumatic symptoms had I not exposed myself to the night air and taken cold. I have improved every day since I first began its use and am confident that there is no case of rheumatism that the Rheumatic Syrup will not cure, if the patient will adhere closely to directions for its use, and use proper care about exposing themselves.

Yours Truly,
Frank E. Ribbstrong.
With Burke, FitzSimons, Hone, & Co.

A BAD CASE OF KIDNEY TROUBLED CURED.

Auburn, Cayuga co N. Y, Sept 29, '82

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

I should have written you before in regard to the Rheumatic Syrup which you sent me, but have been waiting to see whether the result was permanent. I can confidentially say that it has had a very gratifying effect on my wife, relieving her of much pain within three days after taking it. I also have given one bottle of the Syrup to a friend which has the same effect as on my wife. [illegible]

REDUCED RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

[illegible]

1,300 SQUARE INCHES OF READING MATTER
52 TIMES A YEAR FOR $2.00, comprising more than 25,000 lines of choice literature in each issue—equalling the contents of a 25 cent magazine!

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

will be mailed, postage free, for six months for $1.25, or three months for 75 cents. Sample copies sent when requested. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 8 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$ 4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol, 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including all the reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

[illegible]

[illegible] Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous. For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy. For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable. Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

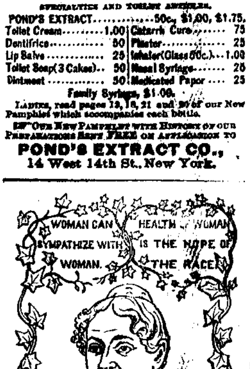
POND'S EXTRACT	50c, $1.00, $1.75.
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (3)

Burdock Blood Bitters

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffalo, N.Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been universally recognized as the best newspaper published in Northern and Central New York. The chief reason for its popularity lies in the fact that it is a journal equally well suited to the wants of all classes of the community, from the farmer to the business man, and is as popular in the home circle as in the office and workshop.

Its proprietors spare neither pains nor expense nor labor to make the Utica Herald equal in all respects to any newspaper in the United States. [illegible]

ALL THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

THE FULLEST MARKET REPORTS,

[illegible]

[illegible] you would a hot tater. De Lawd intended man to be mo' or less weak, wicked and wretched. It was not de ideah to turn out a perfect man, if it had been we should have had neither religion, preachers nor de Bible. Airth would have been Heaven, an' dar would have been no call to die.

"Natur sometimes turns out a pusson widout guile, just as she turns out one eyed colts an' three legged calves. Such pussons soon become known as either fools or lunatics. It am agin natur's way to bring men into dis world wid an angel's wings already half grown. An' it am a little suspicious to find too good a man. Where you diskiver a human bein' who isn't a little lame somewhere—who never deceives, cheats, lies, envies, covets—who won't bet, drink, go to de circus or look upon a hoss race you hab found a man to let alone. He am too good. Natur made him for an angel an' then forgot to put him in Heben.

"I like a man who has weaknesses. Den I know he am a fellow mortal who was put on earth to be sabed. I like a man who has sickness, heartache and grievious trouble. Den I'm sartin of a man who was foolish enough to get drunk and strong nuff to kick de temptation ober a seben rail fence. Den you know whar to find him. He has been thar and knows what a fool he was. I like a man who has been a liar and has not intirely recovered from his injury.

"When a man tells me dat he has become so good dat he feels like bustin' I go right home an' put an extra padlock on my doah. De man whose conscience won't allow him to go to a place of amusement, has bin known to elope wid anudder man's wife. De man who can't remember dat he ober used an oath or tole a lie has been followed across de ocean an arrested for robbin' widders an' orphans.

"Let me say to you in summing up dat de man who sins an' knows it an' wants to do better, am sooner to be trusted dan a man who nebber sins an' feels dat he am good nuff. If you tie to a man who feels dat he am weak an' sinful you am all right. You will then have a partner who am not afraid of nature.

"Let us now embarrass ourslves wid de regular order of bizness.

[Detroit Free Press.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer heals every disease peculiar to the scalp, and keeps the scalp cool and clean.

Mr. McWhirter and His Goat.

Thomas McWhirter, of San Antonio, was at work in his yard. He took off his coat and laid it upon a fence, without considering the proximity of a robust and resolute goat. Presently he turned around and beheld the coat in the mud and the goat on the roof of the chicken coop, joyously munching what looked precisely like the red morocco pocket book in which Mr. McWhirter had placed $2000 in government bonds. The thought of a four dollar goat eating a $2000 breakfast almost drove him crazy. The goat saw blood in his eye and ran, with Mr. McWhirter in pursuit. At last the animal was caught, killed and dissected, but almost the only thing not found in the capacious stomach was the bonds, for the very good reason that they were safe at home in the pocket of another coat. [Galveston News.

Dakota's Wheat Fields.

S. S. Blanchard, of Fargo, Dakota, lectured before the Young Men's Christian Association in New York last Thursday evening on "Dakota and the Wheat Fields." He spoke especially of the Valley of the Red River of the North as a wheat growing region. There are evidences, he said, that the valley was once the bed of a lake. In the soil are ingredients which make it especially favorable to the growth of wheat. He had seen samples of wheat grown on land on which that grain had been raised for fifty or sixty seasons—in the earlier years by the employees of the Hudson Bay Company—without resort to any fertilizer. The farmers begin sowing as soon as the soil for three inches below the surface is free from frost. Often the soil is frozen to a depth of six feet, and the moisture coming up as the season advances keeps the roots of the grain properly watered, even in the absence of rain. The speaker said that Dakota offers good inducements to young men with capital enough to equip the farms which the government will give them, or which they can select at a low price per acre. Because of the extensive use of machinery and the regularity of the work of wheat raising, that industry is more like manufacturing than farming, and can be profitably pursued by persons with little experience as farmers. A young man could make a fair start in wheat raising with a capital of $1500.

WHEN LADIES ARE ATTRACTIVE.

All ladies know their faces are most attractive when free from pimples. Parker's Ginger Tonic is popular among them because it banishes impurities from blood and skin and makes the face glow with health. 4w1

The tramp who tried to steal a passage from Albany to New York remarked, when he picked himself up from a snow bank into which the muscular brakeman had deposited him, "that he didn't care to be a thrown passenger again."

[illegible]

[illegible] J. B. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous

Don't Wait.

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use

Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."
Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,
MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."
159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."
Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.
JOSEPH WALDEN."
Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."
Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists.

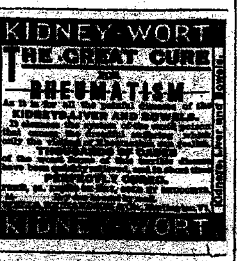
KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

As it is for all the painful diseases of the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS. [illegible]

Acts at the Same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY-WORT



LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.

[illegible]

[illegible] presence of mind, but with the aid of the open knife in his hand, succeeded in cutting the dog several times. He had no sooner released himself than he discovered a reinforcement of six more brute curs, who were attracted by the savage growling of their companion. The attack then became general and desperately fierce. One large, short eared, short tailed yellow dog, a beautiful specimen of the German breed, seized Mr. Dillon six inches below the small of the back and tore fully a pound of flesh from the unfortunate man. Another bit him shockingly in the calf of the leg, and the gentleman, becoming so exhausted, fell to the ground and was completely at the mercy of the seven half-starved savage brutes. One large, fat dog bit off the gentleman's left ear and part of his nose. His cries for assistance were at last heard by his friend in the buggy, who at once came to his relief and succeeded in beating off the maddened brutes. He then carried the mangled and bleeding victim to the buggy and and at once procured medical assistance. [Wheeling Register.

DO NOT MOVE BLINDLY.

Go carefully in purchasing medicine. Many advertised remedies can work great injury—are worse than none. Burdock Blood Bitters are a purely vegetable preparation; the smallest child can take them. They kill disease and cure the patient in a safe and kindly way.

The Contrary Chinese.

We shake hands as a salutation; a Chinaman shakes hands with himself. He stands at a distance, and, clasping both hands together, he shakes them up and down at you. We uncover the head as a mark of respect; they keep their heads covered, but take off their shoes for politeness. We shave the face; they shave the head and eyebrows. We cut our finger nails; they consider it aristocratic to have nails from three to five inches long, which they are obliged to protect in silver cases. The Chinaman's waistcoat is outside his coat and his drawers outside of his trousers. We blacken our shoes; he whitens his. We have soup as a first course at dinner and dessert at last; they have dessert at first and soup at last. We want our wines ice cold; the Chinese drink theirs scalding hot. We bury in the earth; they on the surface. With us black clothing is a badge of mourning; with them white garments indicate the loss of friends. In that land of opposites it is the old men that fly kites, walk on stilts, and play the shuttlecock. And to keep up their odd ways of doing things, they play the latter with their feet instead of their hands. In China, women do men's work, and are the milliners, dressmakers and washerwomen. With us the right hand is the place of honor; with them it is the left hand. In dating letters we place the year last; they write the year first. They always speak of a mariner's compass (their own invention) as pointing to the south. We pay our physicians when we are sick; they pay when they are well but as soon as they get sick the pay stops. Here men kill their enemies; a Chinaman gets revenge by killing himself. We use a soft pillow; they, a block of wood. They launch ships sidways, ring bells from the outside and actually turn their screws in the opposite direction from ours. [Christian Advocate.

DEPEND UPON IT.

Mother Shipton's prophesies and Lousiana elections are very uncertain things but Thomas Eclectric Oil can be depended upon always. It cures aches and pains of every description.

Kind words are like bald heads; they can never dye.

[New Orleans Picayune.

It takes but thirteen minutes to lead an elephant on a train, while it takes twenty for any sort of woman to kiss her friends good-by and lose the check for her trunk. [Rome Sentinel.

☞ In the Diamond Dyes more coloring is given for 10 cts. than in any 15 or 25 cent dyes, and they give faster and more brilliant colors.

We had a very rubicund face, suggestive of a dissipated life. As he was walking up the street, a gentleman remarked: "That fellow is so highly colored that he reminds me of a chromo." remarked a bystander. "How so?" "Well, you see, an engraving always has a glass in front of it, and a chromo hasn't." [Texas Siftings.

"The same measure will not suit all circumstances." But Kidney-Wort suits all cases of liver, bowels and kidney diseases and their concomitants, piles, constipation, diabetes, ague, etc. Try it and you will say so too.

"My mother says your father has gone into bankruptcy," said one little girl to another. "What is bankruptcy, Mollie?" "I don't know exactly," replied Nellie, "but I 'spects it's something awful nice. Pa used to work awful hard, and used to go around in his old clothes; but since he has gone into bankruptcy he dresses up every day and doesn't do anything but walk about just like a perfect gentleman."

[illegible]

[illegible] be deceived; see that the word with picture of an Iron Safe, on black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

SAFE

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.
MESSRS. J. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:
Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.
Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles for $5.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS

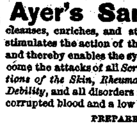
—Best Purgative Medicine—

cure Constipation, Indigestion, Headache, and all Bilious Disorders.

Sold everywhere. Always reliable.

PARKER'S

HAIR BALSAM.



This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. HISCOX & CO., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S

GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. [illegible]

COLOGNE

[illegible]

[illegible] will take the trouble to [illegible] and compare the quality with other [illegible] Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
3m6

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp't'y Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN

BROWN MCALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

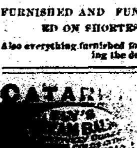
EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 511



ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. [illegible]

FEVER

[illegible] ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

Fresh Oysters,

[illegible]

Wm. B. [illegible]
[illegible]

Dated Jan'y 5th 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of Hon. [illegible] Surrogate of Oswego county, [illegible] given to all persons having claims [illegible] Wilber, late of the town of Volney [illegible] deceased; to present their [illegible] vouchers thereof to the undersigned [illegible] dence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on [illegible] the 18th day of July 1883, or they will [illegible] efit of the statute in such case made and [illegible]

Orvis V. T[illegible]

Dated, Jan. 10, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF [illegible] Eudora Randall against James Randall [illegible] Action for a divorce. [illegible] named defendant: You are hereby [illegible] answer the complaint in this action, [illegible] copy of your answer on the plaintiff [illegible] within twenty days after the service [illegible] mons, exclusive of the day of service; [illegible] of your failure to appear or answer [illegible] will be taken against you by default [illegible] demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 23d, day of January, 1883.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
Pl'ff's Att'y.

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co.

To James Randall:—The foregoing [illegible] served upon you, by publication, pursuant [illegible] order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the [illegible] preme Court dated the 23d day of Jan'y 1883 [illegible] filed with the complaint, in the office of the [illegible] Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
Pl'ff's Att'y.

58w6

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK to Hiram Spencer, Colborne, Ont. Canada; [illegible] son Spencer, VanWort, Decatur Co., Iowa; [illegible] ton Spencer, VanWort, Decatur Co., Iowa; [illegible] Geer, Oronogo, Jasper Co., Missouri; [illegible] Dixon, Kappa, Woodford Co., Illinois; Mary A[illegible] Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Elijah Spencer, [illegible] wego, New York; Emma Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Mattie Best, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Jane Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Charles L. Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; George Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; [illegible] Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Albert Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., New York; Mary Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Addie [illegible] Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Eva Wood, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Adelle Bernsky, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Dennis Spencer, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Russel Spencer; residence unknown, and [illegible] the heirs and next of kin of Eunice A. Spencer late of the town of Schroeppel in the county of Oswego, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas Charles L. Spencer of the town [illegible] Schroeppel in the county of Oswego, has lately made application to our Surrogate of the county of Oswego, to have a certain instrument in writing relating to real and personal estate, duly proved as the last will and testament of said Eunice A. Spencer deceased; therefore, you and each of you are hereby cited, and required personally to be and appear before our said Surrogate, at the office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, in said county of Oswego, on the 6th day of April next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend to the probate of said instrument as the last will and testament of said deceased.

And if any of the persons interested be under the age of twenty-one years, they are required to appear by their guardian, if they have one, or if they have none, that they appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in event of their neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate, to represent and act for them in the proceedings.

In Witness Whereof, we have caused the seal of office of our said Surrogate's Court of the county of Oswego, to be hereunto affixed

[L. S.] Witness, Timothy W. Skinner, Surrogate of the said county, at the village of Mexico, in said county, the 14th day of February in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

The above citation is published by order of Surrogate. GEORGE M. BENNETT,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court of Oswego County.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.
NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets over $2,400,000

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,082,585.1[illegible]

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS'
FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASS.
Assets, $1,271,799.26,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading.

SCHENCK & FOSTER.

NOVELTY MILLS

Custom Grinding

—AT THE—

[illegible] TIMES.

[illegible] EVERY WEDNESDAY.
[illegible] Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Publishers.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

The Good Old Way.

NEW YORK LEDGER.

John Mann had a wife who was kind and true—
A wife who loved him well;
She cared for his home and their only child.
But if I truth must tell,
She fretted and pined because John was poor
And his business was slow to pay;
But he only said when she asked for change,
"We'll stick to the good old way!"

She saw her neighbors were growing rich
And dwelling in houses grand;
That she was living in poverty,
With wealth upon every hand,
And she urged her husband to speculate,
To risk his earnings at play;
But he only said, "My dearest wife,
We'll stick to the good old way."

For he knew that money that's quickly got,
Is the money that's quickly lost;
And the money that stays is the money earned
At honest endeavor's cost—
So he plodded along in his honest style,
And he bettered himself each day,
And he only said to his fretful wife,
"We'll stick to the good old way."

And at last there came a terrible crash,
When beggary, want and shame
Came down on the homes of their wealthy friends,
While John's remained the same;
For he had no debts and he gave no trust;
"My motto is this," he'd say—
It's a charm against panics of every kind—
'Tis stick to the good old way!'

And his wife looked around on the little house
That was every nail their own,
And she asked forgiveness of honest John
For the peevish mistrust she had shown;
But he only said, as her tearful face
Upon his shoulders lay,
"The good old way is the best way, wife,
We'll stick to the good old way."

☞ Every color of the Diamond Dyes is perfect. See the samples of the colored cloth at the druggists. Unequaled for brilliancy.

WIDOW APPLETON'S ROMANCE

"A man that thinks of nothing but pep'mint oil an' the price of wheat! No! Emma Jane; my life has been humdrum enough without my ending it with Deacon Bliss. I shan't have him!"

"Well, well, Rosetta, if you won't I don't know's anybody's goin' ter try an' make you," chirped plump rosy Mrs. Phlox, looking up from the stout blue woolen sock she was knitting. "I s'pose the deacon thought he'd a right to ask you, seein' it's a free country. Caleb Appledore was a awful nice man, but so's the Deacon. Lone wimmen are put on. Job Whittamore neglects your garden, an' just see what work you have with your fires winters an' keepin roads broke out."

"I'm not going to marry just to have some one to tend the garden and do the chores," said Mrs. Appledore. "I've never found fault with them that's dead and gone, but I know what it is to live with a person who does not care two pins for the things I do, and if I ever do marry again it will be some one who can sympathize with me. I can't say I swallow all 'Lias Bradshaw says about the marryin' of souls and affinities, but there's some truth in it you may depend. Besides, I'd like a little romance in my life before I die."

"Romance is all well 'nuff," said Mrs. Phlox, but you're thirty-nine next March, Rosetta, an' sech a man as Deacon Bliss don't grow on every bush. Bein' a good provider, an' a splendid farmer, an' a deacon, an' a pillar in the church may not be romantic, but they're good recommends in a man you're thinkin' of marryin'. I hope you'll think twice."

"I have thought, and I shan't marry the deacon," said Mrs. Appledore, decisively; "an if that's being romantic, I'm not ashamed of it."

The little widow did not look romantic. Her complexion was a dull white and her hair a dull brown. Dull, too, were her large gray eyes that blinked behind short-sighted glasses, but her form, though meagre and deveid of curves, was not without grace, and she had a clear, sweet soprano voice, which, though it was untrained, she could use with taste and feeling. The Harmonicum, the Dixville musical association, made her the head of all their committees and relied upon her to sing all the solos. Indeed, without her it could not have existed. The wheezy melodeon [illegible] was a dozen years old before it [illegible] the property of the society had [illegible] under the energetic [illegible] Professor Jackson Jones, who [illegible] accompanying, and they were [illegible] buy a piano. They had given [illegible] and had oyster suppers till [illegible] tired, when Dr. Ollipod [illegible] lecture. [illegible] was whispered [illegible] the com[illegible] one of his [illegible] but if [illegible] began practicing some music for the occasion.

It was the afternoon before the lecture, and Mrs. Appledore had invited her sister to spend the day with her. Domestic duties seemed to be just what Mrs. Phlox was made for. Her husband and sister usually did all her thinking. In return she served them with her hands; but the few notions that did creep into her round head she clung to pertinaciously.

"The worst kind of a fool is a beetle-headed one," she said, after a long pause, "an' puttin' this an' that together, Rosetta, I think you're preparin' with your romancin' to be just that kind of a one."

"I don't see how sisters can be so unlike," and Mrs. Appledore drummed a harsh accompaniment to her words on the middle C of her piano. "To be sure, you are the oldest; but age need not make one's soul a clod."

"It would be well for you to remember that all the advantages are not on your side," cried Mrs. Phlox, rising with dignity. "There are bodies, yes, and dispositions, that are clods," and Mrs. Phlox jerked on her calash and went home.

The meeting-house was full, and the next day the Dixville Times declared the lecture to have been a most soulful and eloquent dissertation, but Mrs. Appleton's attention wandered, and she only knew that the entertainment was about to be concluded by Dr. Ollipod's sonorous call! for "moosic."

"I am delighted," said Professor St. Clair Smith, bowing low before her as soon as possible after the "moosic." "I never heard such a delicious voice."

Mrs. Appledore coughed behind her hand to conceal her flattered embarrassment, and turned a questioning look on Professor Jackson Jones, who stood near.

"You always sing splendid," said that gentleman, drawing himself up. "I dare say I put you out. That flute obligato is a deuced hard thing to do. I didn't do myself justice to-night."

"You've always dragged," said Karl Leopold, who took every opportunity to criticise the Harmonicum doings.

Professor Jackson Jones pulled at his cravat, and Mrs. Appledore's face was full of resentment.

"I never heard anything finer in Boston," said Professor St. Clair Smith, coming to the rescue, "and I suppose you know what that implies."

The night after the lecture was a very stormy one, and Mrs. Appledore was slowly twisting her hair in crimping-pins, when the door-bell rang.

"I could not endure the loneliness of the hotel, dear Mrs. Appledore," said Professor St. Clair Smith, making a courtly bow, "and have come to beg for just one song."

The Professor was, so far as outline and coloring go, a handsome man. His head was what is commonly called dome shaped. His wavy hair and silky beard were a bright velvet red, and his rather large eyes were blue. He sat down in a large rocking chair, and taking a twin on each knee, "I renew my youth in children," he cried, giving them a squeeze. "Do you know the song, "The old times were the best times times when you and I were young?"

"Oh, yes," said the widow, nervously turning over her music, "but I can't say that I feel so very old."

"Dear me," what a blunderer I am," cried the Professor. "I was thinking of my boyhood. I've always hated being grown up. A man has so much to fetter his imagination. You must have lost your husband in the first flush of your youth."

"I did murmured the widow, forgetting that she was 35 when the event occurred. "The twins were babes."

Song succeeded song till the Professor proposed duets, and Mrs. Appledore enjoyed the music so much that it was midnight before she knew it.

Two months passed away. The professor came almost every evening. He had hired a small house a little out of town that he might be undisturbed he explained, and a relative had come to keep house for him. He did not know how long he should remain in Dixville. He was preparing a book for publication and writing several new lectures. When his literary labors were over he was going to take a trip somewhere and rest, though friends of his, influential at Washington, were anxious to have him accept a consulship at an important point.

The widow's neat white cottage stood by itself on the confines of the village. Deacon Bliss's fields of dark green peppermint and nodding wheat stretching along the country road for nearly a mile joined the garden. Before her abrupt refusal of him, the Deacon had been accustomed to drop in for a little visit or to bring a neighborly offering of apples or fresh vegetables. But these calls had ceased, and cut off from all her sources of news and pleasure, Mrs. Appledore stayed closer at home, practiced her music and entertained the Professor.

But one sunshiny afternoon Mrs. Phlox came bustling up the prim graveled walk.

"Rosetta Appledore," she chirped [illegible] an angry bluejay as she opened [illegible] door, "though a clod, [illegible] folks that [illegible]. [illegible] you if you [illegible] you're [illegible]"

[illegible]

"John' [illegible] if she's [illegible] a clod. I'm going to the bottom of this, 'an' I [illegible] Emma Jane, I think you'd better,' an' the first thing he did the next mornin' was to hitch up an' take me over on the mile strip where that fellow lives, in Tony Allerson's cottage. He wasn't in, but she was, an' she was washin'.

"'I'm Miss Phlox' said I 'an' I come to call.' 'Thank you,' ses she, 'I'm Miss Smith.' An' she set out the only chair there was in the room for me an' set down herself on the wash bench.

"'Air you Miss St. Clair Smith, the wife of the professor,' ses I."

"A sort of a smile twinkled over her mouth an' she said 'Yes, Miss St. Clair Smith, though I didn't know Mr. Smith had adopted the St. Clair name. That's my family name.' An' then she went on an' spoke of her husband, an' of how ambitious he is an' how he feels his spear in public life an' how she is willin, to do anything to help him. An' then she inquired if I thought she could get any sewin' in Dixville when she feels a little better an' is able to do it."

Tears of shame and anger gathered in Miss Appledore's eyes as her sister spoke. "Is Mrs. Smith good looking. Is she an interesting woman?" she asked.

"I can't say how interesting she is. She seemed kind of trod on, so to speak. And as for looks, she aint any prettier 'an you'd be if you worked as hard an' didn't have half enough to eat," said Mrs. Phlox calmly.

Mrs. Appledore sobbed aloud, "What do people say about me? What shall I do?" she cried.

"They don't say nothin' yet, only that you're dreadful foolish," chirped her sister, rising and putting on her calash, for it was almost her supper time. 'I can't say as I know of anything for you to do only to tell Mr. Smith to stay t'home. 'Taint likely Deacon Bliss will give you a chance to say no a second time."

There had been a good deal of pleasurable excitement in receiving the visits of the professor. To dress herself in her best mourning and sing her favorite songs to an appreciative listener, had been something to look forward to during the humdrum work of the day. The thought, however, of what her acquaintances were saying about her, embittered her life, and when the professor again called, one glance at her face told him that she knew all.

"Dear Mrs. Appledore," he began, but she checked him.

"You had better go home to your wife, Mr. Smith" she said coolly.

Tears, real tears, came into the professors big blue eyes. "But I love you" he cried "and she has always been an incubus upon my soul."

"But she's your wife" persisted Mrs. Appledore.

"I know it," moaned the professor distractedly. It eats out my very vitals when I think of it. She don't feel as I feel. There are no wings for me as long as I am tied to her. We've no affinity."

Mrs. Appledore gazed at him in dull wonder. These were almost the words she had used to her sister, but they did not sound pleasantly now.

"I love you, Rosetta," went on the little man approaching her, "and I want to ask you just one question. Were I a single man would you marry me?"

"I might," admitted the widow, smoothing down a fold in her overskirt with a trembling hand.

"Enough," and the professor flung his arms around her and pressed a rapturous kiss upon her forehead, "Bless you, my darling!" and before she could answer him he was gone.

The next evening Mrs. Appledore was taking down her washing from the line she was suddenly clasped from behind by a pair of strong arms. —"You will soon be mine," said the voice of the professor. "I've offered my wife $50 to leave me and she has consented."

"Consented!" the widow cried, wrenching herself free.

"Yes, and as soon as I can sell my book she shall go. I've lived in soul isolation long enough. My heart has found it's mate."

All the men that Mrs. Appledore knew were quaint of speech and rustic in manner, but what they considered duty controlled them.

"You wretch," she cried, dashing the clothes pin basket at him. "Fifty dollars! You aint worth fifty cents. Go home, and never dare speak to me again!"

"Hear me!" he pleaded, catching hold of her gown.

"I can't stay out here and listen to your philandering talk," she answered, and twitching her dress from his grasp she entered the house. But the professor's hand was upon the latch. Like most little women, the widow was a curious mixture of timidity and courage. She flung the door open. "Don't you dare come in," she cried. "I'll throw hot water on you! I'll—I'll kill you." Then slamming the door in his face, she bolted it securely.

[illegible]

[illegible] to sell her house and [illegible] stock and move West. "I've got [illegible] consequences," she groaned. "I [illegible] always been romantic and wanted [illegible] romance such as I have read about, [illegible] I have had one. Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

About eight o'clock in the morning there came a lively rap at the kitchen door, and, unstrung by excitement and loss of sleep, she shrieked aloud.

"Only me; only Deacon Bliss," cried a pleasant voice through the keyhole.

Mrs. Appledore slid back the bolt with trembling fingers. How thankful I am" she said, holding out her hand; "I feel so in need of somebody."

'Twas fort'nit I come along jest as I did, then,' said the Deacon, taking off his straw hat and slowly rubbing his face with an ample bandanna. It was a shrewd, benevolent face, framed in waves of iron gray hair. I see ye look kinder peaked. The weather has been tryin'. I've felt it myself and ached in my jints the wust way.'

'It's my soul, Deacon, said the widow dropping into a chair and covering her face with her apron. I have always hankered after a romance, and I have had one, an' I wish I was dead and laid beside Caleb.'

'Oh, no ye don't Miss Appledore in the caressing tone which he would address a sobbing child. 'This world is pooty good place and with few exceptions, folks are pretty good. I come over to fetch a few of my sweetin's and to tell ye that there offer I made a spell ago holds good yet. I raley wish ye'd consider it again.'

Mrs. Appledore remained silent behind her apron.

'Ef ye'd have me,' repeated the deacon in a low voice. 'I know I ain't half good nuff and thet I'm kind of an old fellow, but I've got a comfuble place and comfuble things in it, and I've been sot on ye this long spell as ye know. I dare say I was 'tached to Lucy more'n I shall ever be to anybody agin. We sort of growed together like, but so did you and Caleb, an' I'm sure to make you happy, an' yer two little gals as sweet as two pinks will be to me jes' like two little gals I lost."

Mrs Appledore did not remove her apron, and after a pause the Deacon falteringly continued:

'I spose tain't no use to argy. Folks hez their own idea of such things; but anyways I'll stand yer friend.'

The widow rubbed her eyes and slowlet fall her apron.

"I've always had the greatest esteem for you' she said with a little shake of her voice, 'but I never knew how good —how much I think of you. I will—I ——'

The deacon started up, 'Will ye?'

Mrs. Appledore had taken refuge in her apron.

"Will ye really, Rosetta?"

The bowed head covered in the blue gingham nodded.

'Ye shant regret it' said the Deacon, solemnly and awkwardly laying his big hand, coarsened by labor, on her shoulder. 'Lord bless the little woman—and our home. Our home, he spoke sortly as if to himself.

'Praps now,' he continued after a minute. 'I'd better drop in and see him, and in tellin' the news I might mention casual like we're going to be married soon. An' thet nobody will trouble anybody that stays to hum, an' thet I'm able to help an eddicated man to a good, real neighborly, cause my brother Eben out in Kansas wants a clerk."

Mrs. Appledore said nothing, but the Deacon seemed satisfied with her silence, for he did just as he proposed. Professor St Clair Smith was discharged from jail, and in three days he and his pale little wife had left Tony Allerton's cottage on the mile strip to return no more. In about a fortnight Dr. Ollipod attended a quiet wedding. 'You had a romance at last Rosetta. I might better say two of 'em' whispered Miss Phlox as she gave the bride a sisterly kiss. 'The adoration of the Professor was like things in a novel book, but marryin' a man whose goodness an' farm can't be paralleled in the county is romance that has sense in it and I wish you joy."

"What is bred in the bone, will never out of the flesh." But rheumatism, piles, malaria, constipation and all other confluents from derangements of the functions of the liver, kidneys and bowels will "out of the flesh" without fail after the thorough use of Kidney-Wort, the cure for all such diseases.

It is said that the inhabitants of Cincinnati point with pride to the flood marks on their houses. The spirit of rivalry leads to the frequent raising of these lines and future visitors to the flooded city will be puzzled to reconcile a water mark upon a basement window with one upon an adjoining chimney top.

CALLED TO PREACH

We feel called upon to preach a few gospel facts—facts that are worth knowing. We want everybody to know all that is worth knowing. We want everybody to enjoy all that is possible in this world. We want all those who are suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, and all other aches and pains to know [illegible] Oil is an unfail[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Ladies' [illegible]

[illegible] close-coat shape. [illegible] foundation skirts remain very narrow.

Inch-wide velvet ribbon is the favorite for trimming.

A new woolen stuff for dresses is called beigette.

Dresses of last year can be easily altered into the new styles.

Cashmeres and silks are again trimmed with velvet ribbons.

Soutache braid will be much used in palms and in parallel rows.

Most of the important costumes show combinations of two materials.

Velvet ribbon will be used in great quantities on box-pleated skirts.

The new goods show plain grounds, blocks, checks, small broken plaids, etc.

Velvet is very popular for the small accessories of a costume, such as collar, cuffs, etc.

Some new dresses are made entirely of woolen stuff or of light twilled camel's hair.

Handsome French dresses are trimmed with braid palm leaves ten or twelve inches long.

Buttons are small and inconspicuous, and are no longer used for show, but simply for service.

Ottoman velvet, very thickly ribbed, is the newest fabric for combining with cloth and cashmere.

Overskirts are voluminous in breadth, but there is a tendency to shorten draperies, both in front and back.

Plain fabric for the waist and drapery with the figured goods for the lower skirt, is the rule for imported spring and summer suits.

Palm leaves have come into vogue again, and promise to supersede wheels and frogs both in passementerie and in soutache braiding.

There is a new fancy for putting braid on a material different in color from that of the dress, and then applying the braided piece to the dress.

Black tulle and lace dresses elaborately made, and without any white about the neck and arms, bring out the delicate tints of a fair complexion and light hair.

There are many flat metal buttons the size of a silver half-dime, some of which are polished blue steel with a gray steel rim, or they may have a bronze ground, with a gilt crescent moon showing the profile face of a man in it, with tiny gilt stars beyond, or else the plain jet black surface may be dotted with steel, gilt, or jet heads; bone and vegetable-ivory buttons of various colors are also shown in both flat and ball shapes.

[Rome Sentinel.

SUFFERING IS NEEDLESS.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 21, 1881.
H. H. WARNER & Co.: Sirs— I find that palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, dyspepsia and pains in the kidneys yield easily and gracefully to your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.
ROBERT H. THURSTON.

Josh Billings Gait

Never run into debt, not if yu can find anything else to run into.

Be honest if yu can. If yu kant be honest pray for help.

Marry young, and if yu make a hit keep cool and don't brag about it.

Be kind to your mother-in-law, and, if necessary, pay her board at some good hotel.

Bathe thoroly once a week in soft water and kasteel soap, and avoid tite boots.

Exercise in open air, but don't saw wood until yu are obliged tu.

Laff every time you feel tickled, and laff once in a while anyway.

Eat hash washing day, and be thankfull if yu have tu shet yure eyes tu do it.

Hold the baby half the time, and alwuss start the fire in the morning and put on the tee keetle.

Don't jaw back—it only proves that yu are az big a phool az the other phellow.

Never borrow what yu are able tu buy, and always have some things yu wun't lend.

Never get in a hurry; yu can walk a good deal further in a day than yu can run.

Don't swear; it may convince yu, but it is sure not tu convince others.

If yu hev daughters, let yure wife bring them up; if she has got common sense, she can beat all yure theorys.

Don't drink too much nu sider, and however mean yu be, don't abuse a kow.

Luv and respect yure wife ennyhow; it is a good deal cheaper than tu be all the time wishing she was somehow different.

Don't hev enny rule for long life that yu won't break; be prepared to-day to die; to-morrow is the best creed for long life that I kno ov.

If yu kan't get a haff a loaf take a whole one; a whole loaf is better than no bread.

Don't gallop any plum, not if yu hev tu go 10 miles out ov yure way tu find it.

Don't keep but one dog; there is no man but a mean pauper able to keep [illegible]

[illegible]

HAVING LAIN [illegible] MONTHS OF SORROW, FATHER AND DAUGHTER REJOICE IN GLADNESS.

[illegible] Waverly, [illegible] N. Y. [illegible]

But who may know his fate—either for good or evil? By the earnest advice of friends in Pennsylvania, Mr. Howell [illegible] conveyed his daughter—all there was left of her—to the office of Dr David Kennedy in Rondout, N. Y. Dr Kennedy perceived that she was suffering from heart disease, and also from an advanced stage of a complaint common to women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed, his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 85

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 88

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale-Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 85

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspecton of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

KIDNEY WORT

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.

PILES. THIS distressing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed.

[illegible]

[illegible] USE [illegible]

KIDNEY WORT

Acts at the Same Time on

Kidneys, Liver and Bowels

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fult or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

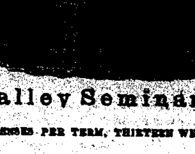
([illegible])

General Jobbers in Wood.

[illegible]

[illegible] SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition.................. ....
Board and Tuition (short week) $6
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday March 26th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY
THE MOST
Wondderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, Illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary. It also contains all the useal tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrases, etc., American Geographical Names with definitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc, Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries. Interest Tables, 4 to 20 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 63 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 13 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionary.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and ecclose 21 green stamps. If not delighted, you can have your money back. Club of five, $2.75; ten, $5.

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all free for a paltry 63 cts. Send now. Address,

Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

NEW YORK [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oxford	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
NORWICH ..... Arrive	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
	p. m.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
NORWICH	6.05	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Norwich	6.17	[illegible]	7.17	[illegible]
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.28	[illegible]
EARLVILLE	6.38	2.56	7.38	[illegible]
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.09	7.48	[illegible]
Eaton	7.05	3.50	7.51	[illegible]
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	[illegible]	[illegible]
Munnsville	7.35	4.33	8.18	[illegible]
Community	7.38	5.02	8.30	[illegible]
ONEIDA	7.50	5.10	8.10	[illegible]
Fish Creek	*8.06	......	*9.04	[illegible]
North Bay	8.14	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cleveland	[illegible]	......	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bernhards Bay	*8.38	......	10.17	[illegible]
Constantia	8.45	......	10.27	[illegible]
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.00	......	10.50	[illegible]
Fulton	9.35	......	11.35	[illegible]
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.10	[illegible]
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y Ar	6.35	10.50	10.50	......
" N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	9.10	......	12.50	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.30	8.15	6.10	8.30
Winterton	5.08	7.58	5.40	5.59
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.48	5.28	5.19
Wurtsboro	4.46	7.39	5.08	4.56
Summitville	4.40	7.30	5.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.08	......	4.30	3.05
Hurley	3.58	......	4.18	2.54
Liberty Falls	3.40	......	3.35	2.25
Liberty	3.36	......	3.27	2.20
Parksville	3.22	......	3.08	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.08	......	2.48	12.42
Rockland	2.55	......	2.32	12.09
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.30
East Branch	2.18		1.40	10.57
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	9.00
Walton	1.12	3.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.30	2.42	10.55	......
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	......
Guilford	11.29	12.55	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.55	12.09	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	7.55	6.05
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.45
Smyrna	10.26	10.50	7.33	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.24	5.05
Randallsville	10.09	10.06	7.15	4.45
Eaton	9.56	9.25	7.05	4.25
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.56	4.10
Munnsville	9.38	8.25	6.40	2.52
Community	9.17	7.55	6.33	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	5.34	12.40
North Bay	8.37	......	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	......	4.51	11.35
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	4.42	10.50
Constantia	8.07	......	4.32	10.27
Central Square	7.48	......	4.16	9.45
Fulton	7.15	......	3.32	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	7.30
	a. m	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.39	7.20	2.35
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	6.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	8.36	6.08	11.15
DELHI	5.10	9.00	5.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.31	8.14
Mount Upton	5.46	8.03
Holmesville	6.15	7.33
So. New Berlin	6.26	7.26
NEW BERLIN	6.55	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.

J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't.
J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pass'g'r. Agt.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY URGEON,

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experirience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Officer Newcomb and other survivors.
PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS. ARCTIC 100 ILLUSTRATIONS.
Get the best, don't be humbugged by Imitations.

EXPEDITION

25 copies a day sold by live canvassers. Send for circulars, terms, and agency to ALVORD & SLEIGHT, publishers, 27 Wieting Block, Syracuse.
Mention this paper.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED
An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children in [illegible] dimensions, and all that is desirable [illegible] manship. That our garments fit [illegible] style to them than any others [illegible] has been so often [illegible]

[illegible] of Rhode Island [illegible] last week [illegible] at Staunton, West Virginia. His first wife, Kate Chase, is shining in society at Hartford, Conn.

THE revision of the old testament from Genesis to Malachi, will soon be ready for the press. The Bible of our fathers and the Bible of to-day are indeed, unlike. The Bible as it was suits most people after all.

JOHN GILBERT, the actor, whose wife was burned to death and himself seriously injured in the Newhall house, Milwaukee, fire, sues for $90,500 damages, the odd $500 being for medical attendance, the balance for the loss of his wife.

THE last act of the retiring Congress was to remove the duty on perfumery and hair oil. It was a great question to grapple with. Let every patriot rejoice! Recollect the Forty-Seventh Congress gave to the people free hair oil and two cent postage.

A SUPERINTENDENT of Public Instruction will be elected to-day. William B. Ruggles of Steuben county is said to be the man. The republicans will nominate the present incumbent, Neil Gilmour, but as the legislature is democratic it will be an empty honor.

EARLY on Monday morning an immense ball of fire darted across the heavens, brilliantly illuminating the city of Petersburg, Va. Many who witnessed the phenomenon were frightened. It is supposed that it was a meteor. Possibly Wiggins with a lantern looking after his storm.

THE government is preparing a printed list of pensioners, with their address, nature of disability and amount of pension they are receiving. It is Mr. Beck's Senate resolution that causes the publication. There will be eight volumes of 550 pages each. Nineteen hundred copies will be published at a cost of $15,700.

NOTHING more plainly emphasises the truth of a willingness of the human family to kick a man when he is down than the following: A bill has just passed the Arkansas senate, changing the name of Dorsey county to Desoto. It was named after Dorsey during those palmy reconstruction days, when the star route ex-Senator ranked among the leading carpet baggers of the south, and was a United States Senator from that state.

THE new tariff law takes effect in sections as to time. The tax on capital and deposits of banks is repealed at once save the one per cent. yearly on national bank circulation. The stamp tax on bank checks and other paper, perfumery and patent medicines ceases July 1st; that on matches May 15th. The reduction on the license branch of the tobacco tax goes into effect May 1st, that on the stamp tax on tobacco July 1st, when the whole law goes into operation. Just what effect the change of rates will have on the iron industry of the country is hard to determine.

OF the United States, the legislatures of 32 meet biennially, six annually. Five of these latter states are close together, viz: New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts. The sixth is South Carolina. The Legislatures of the eight territories all meet biennially. New York pays its legislators more than any other state. After New York comes Ohio with its $1,200 salary and Pennsylvania with its $1,000. The least well paid are the legislators of Rhode Island. Would-be statesmen there receive $1 a day and eight cents mileage. It is needless to add that the Rhode Island sessions are among the shortest. The sessions of 17 states are limited in time. This limitation varies from 40 to 90 days.

THE government has got one creditor in a tight place. Tom Ochiltree was United States Marshal for the district of Texas some years ago and when he turned over his books there was a deficiency of $10,000 in his accounts that he was unable to account for satisfactorily. In 1889 he was elected to the House of Representatives from Texas and the government has notified him that his salary will be kept back until the $10,000 is paid up. As his salary for two years is just $10,000 the frontier representative begins to realize that honesty is the best policy after all. This is a novel mode of getting even with defaulters. Mr. Ochiltree vows he will get even with the government. Well, he's in a position where he can if he tries very hard.

WHEN a notable person dies the following issue of the leading journals of the country contain a full account of his life. It often puzzles the uninitiated to understand how the history of a person is so quickly obtained and made public. The New York Herald has the obituaries of more than thirty thousand living men written down to a certain period and stowed away in pigeon holes ready for use. Journals in the leading cities and towns throughout the country have the history of prominent local men [illegible] compiled and authenticated [illegible] is alarmingly ill his [illegible] over and the final [illegible] written up. The read- [illegible] [illegible] are abolished the [illegible] will be [illegible] the people.

A BILL has been introduced in the Legislature to amend the obnoxious features of the Sunday clause in the Penal Code. The amendment provides for reasonable restrictions, and does not interfere with people who do not observe Sunday as a day of rest. The Hebrews and Seventh day Baptists were entirely suppressed by the Penal Code.

ANOTHER emigrant ship has gone down in the North sea, and sixty-five been drowned. She was the Navarre, from Copenhagen for Leith, and she sank within hail of several fishing smacks. A part of the crew hurried to the only large boat on board and put off in it, leaving the pasingers to their fate. The captain being drunk, there was no discipline on board.

THE decree regulating the liquor traffic in Russia, recently signed by the Czar, is one of the most stringent character. There is to be only one liquor shop in a village, and where two or three villages are almost contiguous one shop must suffice for their combined inhabitants. The manager must be a native of the place appointed by the Common Council, and must sell food as well as liquor. If he allows any person to get drunk, he is liable not only to dismissal, but to fine and imprisonment. If any Russian village is reported to the authorities as addicted to drunkenness, thes sale of liquor may be interdicted for as long a period as may seem necessary. The profits are taken by the government and the manager is paid a handsome salary and must be temperate.

NEIGHBORING NEWS.

Red Creek is howling for a jail.

Parish is to have a chair factory.

A colony of one hundred persons will leave Auburn for Dakota about April 1st.

Bruce A. Skeel of Mt. Pleasant left for Cleveland, Ohio, Saturday, where he will locate.

C. S. Chandler of Granby Centre has returned home from an extended visit with friends in St. Lawrence Co., since January 2d.

Sandy Creek News: D A Dwight, of Adams, went to Albany last week and presented a petition before the Senate committee, praying for an amendment to our State constitution prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in this State as a beverage. The paper contained the signatures of over 3,500 people of Jefferson county.

GILBERTS MILLS, March 12.—Annual report of the Gilberts Mills cheese factory for the year 1882: Number of pounds of milk received, 898,191; number of pounds of cheese manufactured, 90,690; number of pounds of milk for one pound of cheese 9.9; average price received per pound 10 7-10 cents. This would make the price of the milk $1.09 per hundred. The annual meeting will be held at the factory Saturday, March 24th, at 1 o'clock p. m.

PARISH, March 8, '83—We had three straight party tickets at our town meeting, Greenback, Democrat, and Republican. Portions of each ticket were elected. Lewis David, greenback, was elected supervisor by a small majority. Mr. David was endorsed by the republicans. He is a capable and intelligent farmer, and this is his first office. He was born in town and we believe is the seventh son of his parents, who were early residents of the town. He is a brother of C. H. David, Esq., of Fulton. There is a tie between the democratic and greenback candidates on assessor. Most of the candidates were elected by pluralities. This year the vote was light compared to other years.

The Syracuse Courier of Saturday, speaking of the weather, and Wiggins' predicted storm, says that if he "had attempted to show his face among the Onondaga Indians on Friday there would have been one more scalp exhibited among the trophies of the red men. In anticipation of the great storm the Indians of the Onondaga reservation, who are naturally very superstitious made every preparation to combat with it successfully. Huge ropes were attached to the stoutest trees and then encircled around the habitations. No wind could have carried away their homes unless the trees, which have withstood the winds and storms for many years, proved victims to the storm's fury. The Indians awaited the coming of yesterday with anxiety. It was amusing to hear them call Wiggins a 'crank' yesterday afternoon. They will not, however remove the ropes from the dwellings until Monday next, when it is presumed all danger will be past."

Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors this year will stand 12 republicans, 15 democrats, 1 independent and 1 greenbacker. Last year it stood 17 republicans 11 democrats and 1 greenbacker. Following is a revised list of the members of the board for 1883:—

Albion—Cox, D.
Amboy—Clark Stanton, R.
Boylston—Geo. N. [illegible], R.*
Constantia—L. P. [illegible], R.
Granby—T. R. Wright, D.
Hannibal—[illegible], R.*
Hastings—[illegible]
Mexico—[illegible], D.
[illegible]

[illegible] in the summer, still General Hazen and Vennor with their weather predictions have no terrors for the path of the average Minneapolis contractor.

Among the many buildings which were erected last year were two large school houses each containing ten departments. One is called the "Garfield" school and the other the "Clay" school. There are in the neighborhood of twenty school buildings in the city all containing from eight to ten departments. Then there is the High School where scholars are admitted after passing the ninth grade in the lower schools, while we have the State University where scholars can finish their education. Speaking of schools reminds me of a letter I received from my little girl who is attending school at Granby Centre, Oswego county. She writes me that they have torn out the old pine benches and desks, and have put in new ones of more modern make, combining both beauty and convenience. How well I remember that old school house.

"The bell swings to and fro
Its music just the same as it was Twenty years ago."

Instead of its being twenty years ago since I attended school in that house it was the winter of 1857 and '58. I wonder where all my schoolmates of that time are now? There was Myron and Milo Bayard, the former is now "Homesteading" out in the "Jim" River country, Dakota, while the latter is near Fort Worth, Texas. Then there was Mantravil Fitch; poor fellow, he was killed while working on a church in Illinois in the fall of '64 I believe; next was Theodore Hancock and Smith Rice who were in Syracuse the last I knew of them, also Fred Gage and his sister Florence, the former a partner in the flouring mill of W. G. Gage & Co., the latter dead. Among the girls were Fannie Hancock, now Mrs. Almon Bristol, Mary E. Harrington now Mrs. Montague, Hannah Frost, who has been dead nearly 20 years. There are a number of others of about the same age but they are scattered all over the United States.

My little girl writes that Mr. Isaac Pierce is the teacher. It is strange; he taught in the same place 30 years ago and has taught there several times since It isn't but few teachers who have taught three complete "Floorings" of scholars. CHAN.

WHEN LADIES ARE ATTRACTIVE.

All ladies know their faces are most attractive when free from pimples. Parker's Ginger Tonic is popular among them because it banishes impurities from blood and skin and makes the face glow with health. 42w1

Have you had our 50c tea. Can not be beat. D. C. SKADEN.

Increase of Pensions.

A bill passed Congress March 3, 1883, increasing to $30 per month the pensions of those who have lost a leg at or above the knee, or an arm at or above the elbow; and of those who have been so disabled as to be incapacitated for performing any manual labor, but not so much so as to require regular personal aid and attendance, who are now receiving a pension at the rate of $24 per month, and to $24 per month the pensions of those who have lost one hand, or one foot, or been totally or permanently disabled in the same, or otherwise so disabled as to render them incapable to perform manual labor, equivalent to the loss of a hand or foot, and now receiving $18 per month. Inasmuch as the said act has immediate effect upon such admitted cases as have been adjudicated at the rates of $24 and $18 per month respectively, no formal application by the beneficiary is necessary to be made, other than to forward to the commissioner of pensions the pension certificate, accompanied by a letter stating, in the handwriting of the pensioner, his present post-office address. An soon as possible after the receipt of the pension certificate the commissioner will reissue him a new certificate for the new rate and will forward the same to the proper pension agent to inscribe the name of such pensioner on the roll at the increased rate, and to make to the pensioner the proper payment. In the case of amputation, the certificate will be reissued without any further medical examination. The intervention of an agent or attorney in such admitted cases as are affected by this act, being unnecessary, will not be recognized. All persons entitled to the benefit of this act, will forward their pension certificates to the commissioner of pensions, with post-office address and name of agency where paid.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging irritation, inflamation, all Kidney and Urinary Complaints, cured by "Buchu-paiba." $1.

An Indispensible Instrument.

Recent improvements in the making of stylographic pens have made them a very serviceable and almost indispensable instrument for those having occasion to do much writing and who desire a convenient pen at hand wherever they may be. They have come into such general use that it is [illegible] to recommend them to anybody [illegible] have been some improvements in the manufacture of the Livermore Stylographic Pen [illegible]

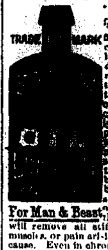
[illegible] It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid. BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

If you cannot get the "Improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (46)

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

THE WORLD CHALLENGED



This liniment has been manufactured and used for twenty-five years and our innumerable certificates of cure prove it to be an unparalleled success. We do not offer it as an internal remedy, positively asserting that any liniment that can be taken into the stomach without injury can have little effect as a specific when externally applied. This being compounded of Oils, is readily absorbed into the system, giving prompt relief even in cases of acute pain caused by Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, or from any cause where a liniment is demanded. The oils are so penetrating that a thorough use of the Liniment will remove all stiffness of Joints, lameness of muscles, or pain arising from inflammation or any cause. Even in chronic Spinal Disease, and Paralysis, frequent use of Oil Liniment will effect many cures. Finally for pain in any part of the body, use freely, with rubbing and warmth and we guarantee relief. You will find a trial of it the best certificate of its value. It is the only Liniment made entirely of Oils, and we challenge the world for its equal. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by dealers.

For Man & Beast.

Try Dr Sawen's improved mandrake pills, they are mild and effective. Price 25 cents.

McCARTHY'S
CHINA HALL,
OSWEGO, N. Y.

Great Spring opening of over $50,000 worth of new crockery, china, glassware, lamps, chandeliers, silver plated ware, baby carriages, tin, wooden willow and fancy ware wares, house furnishing goods, etc. to retail below any chinaware establishment outside of New York city. It will certainly pay the people of Fulton and vicinity to visit McCARTHY'S great wholesale and retail Palace China Hall, No. 31 Jefferson Block, Oswego, N. Y. JAMES McCARTHY.
431y

Auction.

The subscriber will sell at public auction at his residence one and one-half miles north-east of Battle Island cheese factory, on Thursday, March 15, 1883, at 10 o'clock a. m., the following property: one span five year old horses, four cows, one yearling heifer, one two horse lumber wagon, platform spring wagon, one phaeton, mowing machine, two shoats, buggy, horse rake, two plows, shovel plow, cultivator, drag, double harness, two pair bob sleighs, cutter, cutting machine, twelve tons of hay, a quantity of straw, household furniture and farming utensils too numerous to mention. Terms:—All sums of $5 or under, cash, over $5.00 nine months time on approved notes payable at First National Bank Fulton. SANFORD FOSTER.

Fulton, March 8th, 1883.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.
Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, March 13, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, president, Trustees Herrick, Patterson, Johnson, LaLonde, and Cavanaugh.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

A petition was received asking that the sum of $1,000 be recommended for the use of not less than 20 Hydrants in connection with the water works and that the Trustees be authorized to enter into [illegible] with said water company for the period of [illegible] years; and that it may be submitted to the tax payers at the next annual meeting. Signed by

D. W. Gardner,	J. W. Pratt,	W. S. Nelson,
H. E. Nichols,	L. C. Seymour,	W. G. Gage,
C. H. David,	J. G. Benedict,	Frank Dilts,
	G. M. Case.

On motion the annual meeting was called at Nichols hall at a compensation of $25 for the annual meeting and caucuses.

The lamp committee reported in favor of placing a lamp on Third street near the entrance of the Presbyterian church.

The following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That the Board of Trustees be and are hereby authorized and empowered to enter into contract with The Fulton Water Works Co., it organized, to put in streets not less than twenty hydrants for fire purposes at an annual rental of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for ten years, and further,

Resolved, That the sum of one thousand dollars be and hereby is levied upon the taxable property of the village and apropriated for the payment of such rental under such contract.

F. M. WILSON, President.
J. F. HERRICK,
E. E. HART,
J. H. CAVANAUGH,
JOS. LALONDE,
Trustees.

Board adjourned to March 20, 1883, at 7:30 p. m.
L. H. PATTERSON, clerk.

Charter Election.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the village of Fulton, will be held at Nichols hall, Tuesday March 27, 1883, for the purpose of electing a president in the place of Francis M. Wilson for one year and two trustees in place of trustees Herrick and LaLonde for three years, whose terms of office expire on that day. Also to raise the necessary amounts for the general expenses of the village for the ensuing year, and such other business as may come before the meeting.

The polls to be open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

F. M. WILSON, President,
W. D. PATTERSON,
WILLARD JOHNSON,
J. F. HERRICK,
J. H. CAVANAUGH,
J. LALONDE,
L. H. PATTERSON, Clerk. Trustees.

HAMMOCK
Twine's [illegible]
[illegible]
Hammocks, any [illegible] on hand
[illegible]

[illegible] Enquire of JOHN CARR.
Fulton, Feb'y. 26, 1883.

To Rent.

After April 1st, a good sized house, barn and garden with fruit. Situated on [illegible] street, lower Oswego Falls. Well and cistern water convenient. Enquire of R. P. ALGER.

A Grand Bargain.

The very beautiful house of Mr. Ed. Breads on Fourth street is offered for sale. Whoever wants the best need look no farther. F. D. VANWAGENEN.

Wanted!

A young man about eighteen years of age with some knowledge of book-keeping. Enquire immediately at McCULLY & Co.

Fulton, March 14, 1883.

Cows For Sale.

Having more cows than I care to keep through the season I will sell ten Good dairy Cows, at my farm in Granby, one and one-half miles west of Battle Island. 43t3 JACKSON REYNOLDS.

For Sale.

I am about to leave Fulton and would like to dispose of many varieties of choice house plants, a mocking bird, furniture, and many articles of household use. REV L. GOLDEN.

Fulton, March 14, 1883.

Rooms To Let.

The rooms in the Pratt block, formerly occupied by Watson & Read, over Robinson & Langdon's store. A fine suite of rooms. Connects with the Lewis House. Enquire of JOHN W. PRATT.

Fulton, March 14, 1883.

For Sale.

A house and two lots situated on the corner of Third and Leitch streets, upper Oswego Falls. Two blocks north of Broadway. Convenient to factory. Enquire on the premises of MICHAEL FRAWLEY.

Oswego Falls, Feb. 28, 1883. 41t3

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO W. BELL,
The only Graduate in Oswege County.
VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,
(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)
has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in
Fulton Every Saturday.
His Headquarters will be at the
LEWIS HOUSE BARN,
where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.
Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.
All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.
Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.
☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 32tf

STONEBURGH,
Asks Your Attention!
—:o:—
He has Removed
into His New
Store,—Corner of
Broadway and First St.
and has a New, Fresh and
Enlarged Stock of
General Merchandise.
Everything to be found in a
General Assortment Store.
HIGHEST CASH PRICE
paid for all kinds of country produce.
Drop in and see what we keep for sale.
In connection with his grocery a
Meat Market
is now open. Fresh meats cut and delivered anywhere in Fulton and Oswego Fal's.
STONEBURGH'S.

PAPER HANGINGS!
—FOR THE—
SPRING TRADE.
NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS
In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of
C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

[illegible]

—AT—
[illegible] NEW YORK STO
To Commence Saturday, March 17th. We have purchased at great sacrifice from an impo Pieces of Red Watered Ribbons, assorted in 20 different shades, all fashionable colors by one of the most Celebrated Manufacturers in France. Nos. 12, 16, 22 and 30 we wi sell at 15cts per yard. This price is less by one half than the cost of importation.
Never was such a bargain offered in Fulton and cannot be duplicated.
E. B. FA

Boarding & Livery Stab'les
—:o:—
ROWLEE'S! ROWLEE'S.
—o—
Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at
ROWLEE'S NEW SHEDS.
Horses and Carriages at all times.
Trusty Drivers when desired.
Hacks, Hearses and Carriages For Funerals.
35 N. ROWLEE.

WALKING MADE EASY.
Go and get your
CORNS, BUNIONS, INGROWING NAILS, AND CHILBLAINS
Cured Without Pain,
and without the use of acids, by
DR. J. D. PERKINS,
of Oswego N. Y., Surgeon-Chiropodist.
Office over F. E. Goodjon's Boot and Shoe Store, opposite Post Office, Fulton, N. Y.

Office hours from 6 to 9 a. m., and from 11 to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m.

Those that desire the doctor's services can leave their order at the following places:
OSWEGO—W. J. Austin's drug store
FULTON—F. E. Goodjon's boot and shoe store.
HANNIBAL—Brewster & Son's store.
Or address by mail, care either of the above. Address in Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. box 174.
Those desiring can be waited on at their residence
Dr. J. D. Perkins will stop at W. M. Hall's milk depot, opposite Worts' bakery, West Cayuga street, Oswego, N. Y. Thursdays of each week; at Brewster's store Hannibal, Friday of each week, and Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Fulton.
Jan, 3. 83 1 yr.

Real Estate! Real Estate!
—:o:—

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure.

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

We offer for sale the house and lot near the end of 2nd street, now owned and occupied by Chas. Easton.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.
Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south-east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 3 on Block 54—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 54. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

TO BUSINESS MEN—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!
IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St., A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 2½ to 325 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best ones go,
Danger in delay you know,
Go to Lathrop's high and low—
Buy a Valentine.

G. C. LATHROP,
22 First Street—Opposite Lewis House.
Fulton Feb. 1st, 1883.

—GO TO—
BOARDMAN
AT ONCE FOR YOUR
[illegible]
GUARANTEED!
[illegible] WAY DOWN
[illegible]

WAIT FOR THE BES
—:o:—
AMDURSKY
CLOTHING HOU
Will open in Fulton about April 1st in the Townse
Block in store now occupied by J. Bailey & Son.
NEW GOODS,
NEW PRICES,
NEW STOCK
Everything Cheap, Substantial and Satisfactory. The Leading Styles in Hats, Caps and Gents Furnishing Goods.
No more going to Syracuse for Stylish Goods.
My clothiug will be equal to any Custom Made Goods in regard to make and fit.
Wait for the Grand Opening.

STAMPING DONE AT THE BAZAAR.
—:o:—
WHITE SHIRTS
—AT—
THE BAZAA
Only 47 cents, Worth 60 cents.
" 73 " " $1.00
" 97 " " 1.25
Look at them before you buy.
All the latest things in Ladies' Collars Just Received!
NEW LOT OF RIBBONS AND LACES,
This Week. A Bargain in time. Also new things in JEWELRY.
Respectfully
C. D HUBBARD

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS
A Full Stock of Everything.
The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured sa isfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.
J. J. WRIGHT.

NFW ADVERTISEMETS.

[illegible] PITS. [illegible]

[illegible] EVERYBODY [illegible]

[illegible]

We are Receiving
LARGE QUANTITIES OF
Fresh Mined C
And of such Quality as to [illegible] the most Fastidious Person
Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 &
☞ Farmers' special atten called to our facilities for lo
[illegible]

[illegible] ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R.

[illegible] Accommodation No. 41.........8:35 a. m.

[illegible]......9:35 p. m.

[illegible]......11:38 a. m.

[illegible]......5:38 p. m.

DEL. L'KW[illegible] WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & [illegible] DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

[illegible]

Syracuse Accommodation.........8:06 a. m.

New York and Philadelphia Express.........9:18 a. m.

Binghamton and Elmira Express.........12:40 p. m.

New York Night Express.........5:58 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express.........8:06 a. m.

Day Express.........5:03 p. m.

Oswego Accommodation.........6:24 p. m.

New York and Philadelphia Express.........8:39 p. m.

☞ The 8:06 train runs Sundays.

☞ Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. PHELPS, Supt.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on Hannibal street, in lower Oswego Falls, two blocks from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. WHEELER, 36tf Fulton Times Office.

March 25, Easter.

Saturday will be St. Patrick's day.

Mr J. C. Gillespie is slowly recovering.

Ed. R. Perkins and family have moved to Baldwinsville.

☞ The Lyons carriages at Bristol's Call and see them.

Don't forget the Bell Ringers to-night in Stephens Opera House.

Hi Henry's Minstrels in Stephens Opera House Friday evening.

WANTED—The first number in January of this year of THE TIMES at this office.

Rev C. H. Merrill of Marion, Wayne county, exchanged pulpits with Rev L. Golden last Sunday.

Owing to the severe storm Sunday there were no services at the Methodist or Presbyterian church.

Mrs. D. H. Case is in New York visiting her daughter, Mrs. Edwyn Anthony. She will remain a couple of weeks.

The worst storm of the season visited Fulton Sunday and for some time it seemed as though Wiggins' prophecy was to be vindicated.

Robert McCully of Oswego Falls has purchased of Mrs Scott, in Oswego, the residence on Second street now occupied by Rev L. Golden and will move into it April 1st.

What is known as Gilberts Bros., mill was sold at referee's sale last week and was bid in by a Rochester attorney named McDonald representing the owners. The mill is now offered for sale again.

The democratic county committee met in Oswego Friday and agreed upon recommending the name of C. W. Avery of Phœnix to Governor Cleveland for county judge in place of N. W. Nutting who was elected to Congress

Married, at the residence of Mr. Chas. Goodfellow in the town of Volney, on Thursday, March 8th, by the Rev. George Foster, late of Humboldt, Iowa, formerly of Fulton, Mr. Charles Foster of Schrœppel to Miss Libbie Wise of Volney.

J. N. Peck left this morning for Delhi, Delaware county, where he will enter business. He has secured the right to use Bonney's feather bed renovator in that section. We commend Mr Peck to the citizens of that place and in him they will find a straightforward and honorable business man.

New subscribers are constantly added to THE TIMES and business men should make a note of this in choosing a paper to advertise their goods. No one disputes the fact that THE TIMES has double the circulation of any other paper published in Fulton. People will patronize the paper that has the news without regard to age or dimensions. The elephant is the largest animal in some countries, but it is by no means the wisest or liveliest.

There is a demand in Fulton for houses. A gentleman who owns three informed us yesterday that he could have rented twenty more if he had owned them. The village needs a number of houses that will rent for from $100 to $125 per year. Why does not some moneyed man who is tired of making continous unprofitable investments take hold of this matter and do a good thing for himself, the village and for those families who desire and deserve good surroundings by erecting a number of houses at from $1000 to $1,- [illegible] each in a pleasant part of the village. There are several houses in Fulton for sale and but few to rent.

Friends will learn with regret of the death of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Mortimer Roe, which occurred at their home in Cincinnati last Wednesday. We [illegible] the following notice in a Cincinnati journal:—

"[illegible] IS LEFT UNTO US DESOLATE."

[illegible] the chill of death has [illegible] a tender branch in the [illegible] of Mr. [illegible] Mortimer Roe, city [illegible]. Only a parent [illegible] thus fade can [illegible] with which [illegible] life decay [illegible] boy, Louis [illegible]

[illegible] by the breaking [illegible] fell in length [illegible] out of the center of [illegible] were the conductor, [illegible] of Norwich, and brakeman [illegible] of Norwich and William [illegible] of Oswego. The train was made up of eight freight cars and a caboose.

The caboose and car were dragged along the right side of the track until the trestle was reached when they were precipitated a distance of twenty-five feet to the ice; the caboose being reversed in the descent and aboard were the conductor and two brakemen. The car was loaded with flour and was completely wrecked.

The engineer raised an alarm by repeated whistling and steamed to the village, a distance of about three-fourths of a mile, and returned with physicians and help. The conductor was found penned in and a hole was soon made in a window through which he emerged. He was brought to the village and left for his home on the afternoon train. He escaped miraculously the right side of his head, right shoulder and right hip sustaining painful bruises but no bones being broken.

William Garlock, brakeman, was on the front platform of the caboose, and escaped unhurt, jumping into the snow.

Brakeman Martin Eckhart was in the forward end of the caboose and by its reveversal was pinioned under the seats and stove and remained in that position for full twenty minutes before he could possibly be extricated. He was taken to Dr. W. A. Hall's office where an examination revealed that both legs were broken midway between ankle and knee, compound fractures; left shoulder dislocated and fingers of right hand torn and lacerated. The young man suffered intensely. After a consultation of the physicians present, Drs. Hall, C. M. Lee, Denike and Pardee it was concluded to amputate his right leg which was immediately done, below the knee.

The railroad company has authorized Station Agent E. E. Johnson to spare no expense in providing for the injured brakeman. Nurses have been employed and placed on the pay roll of the company and everything possible to make easy his condition is being done. Eckhart was insured in the Traveler's Accidental Ins. Co., of Hartford, Conn., and will receive $7.50 per week for twenty-six weeks.

Eckhart is 22 years of age, unmarried, and has no parents living. He was removed to the Cornell House where everything possible is being done to make him comfortable. At 11 a. m. to day he was resting easy and his general condition was such that the attending physician, Dr. W. A. Hall, has confidence in his speedy recovery.

There are many wild rumors in regard to the extent of the accident and loss of life; and also that the conductor was removed to his home in an insane condition. Happily there was no loss of life nor were the conductor's injuries sufficient to dethrone his reason.

The morning freight and accommodation train from Oswego invariably has passengers for Fulton and intermediate stations but this train carried none and avoided a more terrible accident.

The scene of the wreck was visited by hundreds of people yesterday. A wrecking train from Oswego came up and removed the flour and the section men repaired the track. Trains moved with usual regularity in the afternoon. The Midland road has been particularly fortunate regarding accidents and this one can be attributed to no man's carelessness. Early in the morning a snow plow passed safely over the road and at 6:45 a. m., an express train.

Immense stock of Carriages just received by Bristol. Now is your time to get posted on prices. Call and see.

John Reynold's has returned to his post in Cullen's meat market after an extended visit with Oswego friends.

Dr. J. A. Barringer is at the Lewis house. The Doctor has performed some remarkable cures by vitalization in this locality.

Dr. F. E. Simons of Canajoharie made THE TIMES a pleasant call Thursday. The Doctor has prospered greatly in his profession.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Allen of Atkinson, Illinois, parents of Mrs. Dr. I C. Curtis, have returned home after a visit in this vicinity of nearly two years.

The new organ for the Presbyterian church will arrive this week. It is from the manufactory of Steere & Turner, Springfield, Mass. It cost $3,800.

Enough money has been subscribed in Fulton and Phœnix, $200 we understand, to settle the difficulty of John W. Lyon, who was arrested and taken to Elmira on a charge of forgery. By paying the amount of the note and costs he can be released.

P. F. Conger and his son O. P. Conger will leave for Dakota in a few days. Mr. Conger purchased last season when in that country 600 acres of land, nearly a whole township, near Steele, and only forty-five miles east of Bismarck, the metropolis of the north-west. Five hundred acres will be broken up and made ready to receive crops for the next season and many other improvements will be made. The gentlemen will remain there during the summer.

Remember that you can buy [illegible] of the N. Y. Clothing [illegible] cheap as if [illegible] All goods [illegible] and money refunded. [illegible] Fulton, N. Y.

[illegible]

One [illegible] from [illegible] election.

"Tip" Clark has purchased the J. N. Peck [illegible]

GILL FULLER—Your letter will appear in our next issue.

The Royal Hand Bell Ringers at Stephens Opera House this evening.

Mrs H. H. Gridley is sojourning with her daughter, Mrs J. L. Merritt, in Cortland.

Wm. McCulloch who resides on Utica street is quite low with congestion of the lungs.

Miss Hattie W. Bottom of Lyons is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. W. Hubbard.

Joseph Appelt has gone to Mexico where he will be manager of H. & A. Rosenbloom's branch store.

The Oswego Falls co-operative store has ceased to do business and sold its stock to Howe & Dexter. Unprofitable.

Henery E. Nichols is making preparations to visit Dakota on a prospecting tour. He intended leaving last evening but sickness in his family prevented.

McCully & Co. have just placed in their store a mammoth safe. They anticipate a large trade this season and will have a receptacle to hive their gold in.

George C. Cooper and wife of Lansing, Mich., arrived in town Thursday evening. Mr. Cooper returned home yesterday. Mrs. Cooper remains to make a few days' visit.

Fulton is becoming an important wheat market. Scores of farmers from surrounding counties draw their wheat to this village and receive from $1.22 to $1.25 per bushel.

Amos H. Baldwin, Commissioner of Highways, who was injured the 3d inst by a runaway team, remains at the residence of Timothy Salmon in Oswego Falls. He is improving.

THE TIMES last week accredited the retiring supervisor Arvin Rice with having served on the Board three years in succession. It should have read four as he was the representative of this town in the years 1879, '80, '81 and '82.

On account of the storm the service of last Sunday evening was omitted at the Presbyterian church. The same subject, therefore will be considered next Sunday evening: "The Question of Questions." All cordially welcome. Seats free.

The project of a system of water works is meeting with approval and the village will be asked to invest to the extent of a few hydrants. The water will be furnished by a pump located near Herrick & Emerick's box factory and mains will be laid any where in the village that the company think practicable. The water is not designed for drinking purposes.

Mr. W. J. Pentelow has sold his photograph gallery to Mrs. Seth Dunbar, of Baldwinsville, and possession has been given. Mr. J. H. McGowan recently in charge of the photograph car on the Union Pacific railroad will be the artist in charge. Mr. Pentelow was obliged to sell on account of ill health and will remain in Fulton. It will hereafter be known as the "Dunbar Gallery."

The Reading Circle, held at Mrs Waugh's at lower Oswego Falls last evening, was largely attended. The exercises were composed of readings and recitations, interspersed with music, both vocal and instrumental. Mr John C. Wells favored the circle with one of his humorous descriptions of the American Indians. The next circle will be held at Mrs Hewitt's next Tuesday evening.

A new clothing house will be opened in Fulton about April 1st in Townsend block in the store now occupied by J. Bailey & Son. It will be known as "Amdursky Clothing House" with Mr. A. Amdursky, formerly in business in Fulton, as manager. The firm propose to make Fulton a permanent place of business and will offer unprecedented inducements to purchasers. A branch store is now in operation in Cato.

At the masonic banquet in Oswego Monday evening several Sir Knights from Fulton attended and returned from Oswego at its conclusion by a special train on the D. L. & W. road. Among those present were: Sir Knights W Johnson, S B Whitaker, R E Philips, S Farmalee, N Charnley, G V Emens, J Watson, Geo Smiddy, N H Gilbert, R P Hall and lady, C R Lee and lady, J T Sheridan and lady and W Hornibrook and lady. The thanks of the Sir Knights are due to the D. L. & W. railroad for sending them home from Oswego with two locomotives, and for just the regular fare.

The payment of $1 makes a person a member of the Franklin Square Library Co, for two years, with the privilege of reading all books on the list. Join at once, and get your reading for about one cent a book.

F. A. WATERMAN, Librarian.

For pure Bonnie ginger call at J. C. Tucker's crockery store. 43

[illegible]

Board of Managers.

A meeting of the board of managers of the Oswego Falls Agricultural Society will be held in Fulton at the office of Howe & Rice Monday, March 19, at one o'clock p. m. This meeting is called for the purpose of revising the premium lists, appointing superintendents, etc. To this board was referred the petitions presented at the annual meeting of the society asking that the sale of intoxicants on the fair ground be prohibited.

Expenses For 1883.

Following are the estimates of the amount to be raised at the annual meeting for the general expenses of the village of Fulton for 1883:

For Highway Fund	$1500
For Permanent Improvement	1000
For Lamp Fund	1100
For Incidental Fund	1000
For Fire Fund	1000
For Cross Walks	600
For Clerk	100
For Assessors	100
For Board of Health	100
For Printing	100
For Court Room	52
For Bridge on Oneida street	500
Total	$6627

Hi Henry's Minstrels.

Hi Henry's Minstrels have been in Fulton and they need no recommend. They will be here again Friday evening of this week. The Lawrence (Kan.) Gazette says the entertainment given by Hi Henry's minstrels at the opera house in this city was one of the best it has ever been our pleasure to attend in this city. The music and performance were par excellence, and the immense audience in attendance were highly pleased. The jokes were new and original and the entire performance was a grand success. We cheerfully commend Hi Henry and his talented troupe to the public, and wish for them a successful and prosperous career. Tickets will be on sale to-morrow at Watson's drug store.

The Great Republic.

Four hundred children of this village are rehearsing at the Union school house, J. M. Hagars's great historical drama entitled The Great Republic. It consists of allegorical and historical illustrations and tableaux taken from our national history, from the landing of Columbus to the death of Garfield. Songs, declamations, scenes, dialogues and characters will be introduced and elegantly costumed characters will appear in every part of the performance. The proceeds are to be added to the monument fund and the entertainment is given under the auspices of Fulton G. A. R. It is to be given Thursday and Friday evenings March 21 and 22. Tickets for sale at Watson's drug store on and after Friday the 16th inst.

☞ Bristol sells none but the best Carriages. Every part thoroughly warranted.

To Be Discontinued.

Some time ago THE TIMES referred to the fact of no station being provided for passengers at Battle Island on the Midland railroad. Otto Scholz, who is interested in having proper accommodations provided, wrote to the company and received the following reply:

NEW YORK, March 6th 1883.

OTTO H. SCHOLZ ESQ.

Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your favor of February 21, in relation to erecting a depot at Battle Island. The question of abandoning this flag station came up when the last time table was made out, and I then concluded to continue it as an experimental station and see what the business amounted to. I have since come to the conclusion that there is not sufficient business there to establish a station or to erect a depot, and I will discontinue it as a station upon and after the issue of the next time card.

Yours Respectfully,
J. E. CHILDS, Gen'l Supt.

It is for the interest of the residents in the vicinity of Battle Island to have a station maintained. It is thought if a move is made and the people evince a desire to have trains stop there the General Superintendent will see that it is carried out.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego County on March 14, 1883.

Chi Allen, John Burnsides, Miss Mary Cronke, Mrs. Ettie Drury, Chanley Hunter Orrin C. Leroy, Mrs. Mayour, Nora Ostrander, Mrs. Addie Pateway, Mrs. J H Shelton.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

That Husband of Mine

Is three times the man he was before he began using "Wells' Health Renewer." $1. Druggists.

☞ The only place in Fulton where you can be sure of finding genuine Old Government, Java, Rio, Mocha and Maracaibo coffee is at J. Cooley Tucker's crockery store.

NOW IS YOUR TIME.

One chance in China Tea Set every time you buy one dollar's worth of goods and pay cash for same at

D. C. SKADEN'S.

C. B. Sackett is making Special Prices on Bleached and Brown Cottons.

Mr. P. [illegible] of Syracuse was in town yesterday.

[illegible] of lower Oswego Falls [illegible]

Don't fail to read our "Special Notices" on second page.

George Chauncey and wife of Suspension Bridge are visiting in Fulton.

After April 1st, it will be lawful to catch trout—if you can find them.

Go and hear the Bell Ringers and Glee Singers in Stephens Opera House this evening.

Rev. L. Golden will present the cause of Foreign Missions at the Baptist church Sunday morning.

A robin was seen flying aimlessly around yesterday. This is no climate for robins just at present.

Rev. Jay N. Taft of Syracuse preached in Scriba Sunday, exchanging pulpits with Rev. J. E. Ensign.

W. H. Owen brought to the village Saturday sixteen June pigs whose aggregate weight stood at 4293 pounds.

Townley & Miller have opened a paint shop on Cayuga street just east of the Opera House. Read their advertisement.

Rev. A U Hutchins, preached in Auburn last Sunday and is now attending the ministerial association in Cortland.

Rev William Peck of Oswego Falls, brother of Bishop Peck of the M. E. church, who has been quite sick of late, is convalescing.

The Universalist society are arranging for an entertainment to be given at an early day. Some excellent talent is interested in the movement.

James B. Hunter, formerly of this village, fell upon an icy walk in Buffalo Tuesday the 6th inst. and broke one of his limbs. He is now at his home in Cato.

The county lodge of good templars of this county will hold their quarterly meeting with Union Square lodge No. 400, Wednesday and Thursday, 21st and 22d inst.

Mr. A. B. Ostrander, who has been in Mexico for the past two years in the employ of the Mexican central railway company, is home for a short visit. He will return the 21st inst.

The Northern New York M. E. conference will be held in the State street M. E. church, Watertown, commencing April 11th. Two hundred and twenty ministers belong to this conference.

Mr. Ed. Vandusen who for the past year has been studying medicine with Drs. C. M. & C. R. Lee, and who has just returned from Medical College in New York, has begun the study of Dentistry with Dr. I. C. Curtis.

Hi Henry's minstrels in Stephen's opera house Friday evening. There are six end men in this entertainment and a better minstrel show is not on the road. Sale of seats commence at Watson's drug store to-morrow morning.

For village collector we hear mentioned several candidates. Eugene Lathrop and Willis Ney will contest for the nomination in the democratic caucus while Ed P. Cole, William Topping and Otto Scholz will seek for recognition in the republican caucus. The caucuses are not called yet.

Levi Montague, the "Old Reliable" fish dealer, will commence to-day to serve Fulton people with fresh and salt water fish. He will sell in the streets and intends visiting all portions of the village and Oswego Falls and supplying only the choicest fish and at moderate prices. Wait for the "Old Reliable."

Oswego Times and Express:—Dr. Bell, the well-known veterinary surgeon, has leased the Grant estate for a term of years, the premises now occupied by Rufus Briggs on East Second street and will keep a boarding and transient barn in connection with a veterinary hospital. The buildings will be thoroughly repaired and a veterinary dispensary established. The doctor thoroughly understands the business and will no doubt make this enterprise a success.

Some sixty or seventy taxpayers assembled in No. 1 school house last evening to talk over the feasibility of uniting Districts No's. 1 and 2 under one school system. Mr. A. B. Maynard was made chairman. There were arguments for and againts the proposed change and the meeting adjourned without getting an expression of those present as to the practicability of the scheme. The people of District No. 1 appear to be generally opposed to any change in the present school system.

THE LANGTRY WALTZES ILLUSTRATED. Lithograph front page for five cents at Bristol's Music Store.

☞ When you buy teas, coffees and other dry groceries of J. Cooley Tucker you are sure to get the very best goods and save the retailer's profit.

LOOK HERE!

Every person purchasing goods to the amount of one dollar or more between now and the 15th day of March and paying cash for same is entitled to a ticket giving them a chance in a decorated china tea set of 44 pieces, at

D. C. SKADEN'S,
No. 19 First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

[illegible] 5 o'clock p. m. He predicted that no vessel smaller than a mammoth steamship would be allowed to survive the tempest, if at sea, and suggested that President Arthur compel his subjects to seek places of safety upon that day and forego their usual avocations of coursing upon the billowy main. He then added by way of parenthesis that ship builders should lose no time in placing their hulks in course of construction high on the stocks whereby they might seek immunity from the upheaving of the ocean and unprecedented tidal waves. Then he vouchsafed a word to farmers. He advised all having loose valuables, as hay, cattle, wagons, isolated barns, etc. to spike 'em down or remove to a place of safety, as the unruly zephyrs of March 11th would blow them to the farthermost ends of the earth. Fishermen were cautioned not to venture out in search of the finny tribe but to remain secure at home and await the coming of Wiggins consolidated storm of wind and rain. The Gulf Stream was to exchange places with the Daunbe river and the whole country was to be swimming and dripping.

Sunday was a veritable March day only with the exception of an unusual amount of snow falling. In no part of the country did the elements comport themselves as boisterously as Wiggins asserted. This man Wiggins lives in Ottawa, Canada, and is the author of a weather almanac he is essaying to introduce and sell for the modest sum of twenty-five cents. He has outdone Barnum as a humbug and received an unstinted amount of free advertising, and a large and satisfactory sale of "weather" almanacs.

In order to make his predictions appear specious and to keep himself before the public he issued the following card Monday: "My storm prophecy has been fullfilled to the letter. The danger is not over yet because the moon is passing the meridian and the tides will be affected. I predicted the storm not as a weather prophet, but as an astronomer and it is as easy to predict a storm one hundred years in advance as to foretell only twenty-four hours away if you only proceed on a scientific principle."

Wiggins should now retire permanently from the weather prophecy business. As an alarmist, he has proved a success, having, it is said, frightened several nervous women into insanity, scared a number of invalids into postponing ocean trips for the benefit of their health, demoralized harbors full of sea captains and their crews, kept ships in port at a great sacrifice of the interests of owners and merchants, raised the price of fish at the height of the Lenten season, and made timid people in general uncomfortable. That is enough glory, of its kind, for an oracle who can find satisfaction in being written down as the champion mischief-maker of the period.

Important to house keepers. Great reduction in the price of Crockery, Glassware and other House Furnishing goods at Tucker's crockery store. 43

FOR SALE OR EHCHANGE.

A fine mill property and private fish pond, a few miles east of Fulton. The mill has a capacity of sawing from 3 to 5 thousand feet of lumber per day, and from 5 to 10 thousand shingles. The best watered farm around. A great bargain for proflt and pleasure.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.

FOR SALE.

To one desiring to live near the business part of the village a rare chance is now given to purchase the house and lot No. 21 Utica St.

☞ To close out all Holiday goods I offer them at less than wholesale prices, at either store, 15 Oneida street Fulton, or corner 2d and Broadway Oswego Falls, N. Y. D. C. DRAPER.

A few articles mentioned which are Very Cheap, and advertised because they are so and not merely to Talk Cheap.

All the new Cashmeres, Oswego Falls Buntings, Albratros Cloths, are now on sale at

F. E. BACON'S.

100 doz. Ladies' Hose opened this week which for attractiveness of styles, firmnesss of texture, exceeding low prices will cause our Hosiery Stock to be again this year as popular as any previous one. F. E. BACON.

A Gents Shirt that will not tear down in the back. A new patent, also reinforced in front made of Wansutta Muslin and excellent in every particular, sold at a low price by F. E. BACON.

A Ladies Rubber Circular of good quality, with hood, will not stick fast or crack. This garment will be sold at——never mind the exact figures we will say it is less than you ever heard of before. We have them in both Ladies' and Children's.

FRANK BACON.

BLACK SILKS.

We have four qualities of black silk at special prices which we would like inspected by any persons intending to purchase a silk dress; also a satin rhadyme and ottoman silk much lower than regular retail prices. We have many other grades but those mentioned are of decided merit at F. E. BACON'S

[illegible] of purifying [illegible] the [illegible] action, [illegible] a field of [illegible] which [illegible] to present to the afflicted for their use and appreciation, the Rheumatic Syrup a combination of the best known remedies.

CAUSE OF RHEUMATISM.

The real cause of rheumatism seems to be understood by but very few, and even those who do or should know the cause of this terrible disease, seem to have but little, if any, success in the treatment of it. To us it is very clear that the sole cause of Rheumatism and Neuralgic pains, is the accumulation in the veins of little particles of Uric or Lithic Acid, which finds its way in the circulation of the blood, but which finds its way in the circulation of the blood, but which should pass off with the insensible perspiration outwardly, or the waste matter of the system inwardly.

In a normal condition of the kidneys, the Uric Acid developed in the formation of the urine, does not seperate from it, but becomes neutralized and is evacuated.

These coagulated particles of corrupt matter, may make their appearence under the skin, producing postules, scaly eruptions, or running sores.

But they more frequently locate about a nerve, and in this case the patient often suffers intense pain. This is called

NEURALGIA

Nature now does all she can to aid this circulation, by sending blood in abundance to drench out, or dislodge, if possible, this urate of lime, and the parts become red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called

ACUTE RHEUMATISM,

If nature fails to wash out these acrimonous atoms, she withdraws the undue supply of the blood from the parts, but continues to perform the functions of circulation as best she can, but the passage of blood therough the affected channels continues painful. This is called and is pronounced incurable by nearly all our best pratictioners, but we have shown that the Rheumatic Syrup has and will dissolve or dislodge and remove the annoying and dangerous matter and cure the sufferer.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM,

THE CURE.

Anything which will dislodge these corrupt particles, dissolve and expel them from the system and purify the blood, will give give permanent relief.

It is the mission of the Rheumatic Syrup not only to dissolve and remove the accumulation of these particles in the blood, but to so cleanse and purify it that there can be no possibility of the return of this painful and dangerous disease.

Rheumatic Syrup goes to the very seat, or root of the disease, doing its work of cleansing or purifying from the first dose, giving healthy action to the liver and kidneys, supplying the system with pure blood and giving new life and vigor to the sufferer.

In a word Rheumatic Syrup does what no other remedy has been able to do, and it is daily curing those who years ago had given up all hope of being cured, having tried all the available so-called remedies recommended for this most dreaded disease.

HOPE ON

Although you may have been a sufferer for years, with Cronic or Acute Rheumatism or Neuralgia, and become discouraged, and given up all hope of recovery after trying all of the so-called remedies with no avail, Cheer up; renew your hope; for by the persistent use of Rheumatic Syrup you can be cured, and the use of your hands and limbs will be restored by the circulation of pure and warm blood through the veins, and you will bless the day you first heard of Rheumatic Syrup.

If you have a torpid liver, or if you are troubled with kidney affections or or have symptoms of Brights disease, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Dyspepsia, Gout, or any of the diseases which arise from an enfeebled condition of the system suffer no longer, for Rheumatic Syrup cleanses the blood of all its impurities, and is a positive cure for the above named diseases and the success it has met with has made it the wondor of the age.

Rheumatic Syrup is put up in quart bottles, price one dollar per bottle.

No family should be without it.

Ask your druggist for it. If he has not got it request him to send for it, and give it a thorough trial, and become convinced that what we have said about it is true.

We earnestly request that all physicians give this remedy a careful examination, for we are confident that after so doing, they will be as free to recommend it, as are those who have been already cured by its use.

Many physicians of both schools are already using and recommending its use, having been convinced of its superior merits.

Office of Rheumatic Syrup Co., No 1 Plymouth avenue, Rochester. Send for circular.

Read the following testimonials from a few of the patients who have used and and been cured by the use of the Rheumatic Syrup of diseases so extraordinary that they desire to have the particulars known for the benefit of others who may be similarly afflicted:

CLIFTON SPRINGS, N. Y. July 13, 1882.
Rheumatic Syrup Co:

Gents—I make the following statement for the benefit of those who suffer with that terrible disease—rheumatism. I have been troubled more or less for twelve-years, and at times could hardly use my arms. It was in my arms and shoulders principally. I took but one bottle of your Syrup and it stopped the pain and took the soreness out, so I am feeling well I cheerfully recommend your Syrup to any suffering from rheumatism.

G. W. WARFIELD.

NOT A HUMBUG.

Colonel Richard Fordham of Lyons, N. Y. says that by the use of a few bottles of the Rheumatic Syrup he was completely cured of a very severe attack of rheumatism, which confined him to his room for months. He also says that he had no faith in patent medicines, but has changed his mind since using Rheumatic Syrup.

A PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD.

SAVANNAH, March 3, 1882.
Rheumatic Syrup Co:

GENTS—I have been a great sufferer till within a few months, for two years [illegible]

[illegible] ONE OF THE [illegible]
Rheumatic Syrup Co.

WOLCOTT, N. Y. [illegible]

GENTS—[illegible] over forty years. [illegible] nearly all over my body, but for past few years has settled in my arm, my arm being broken out the entire length of it. I have tried every remedy I could hear of for rheumatism and salt rheum; but got nothing to relieve me from pain. I have been so I could not lie in bed. [illegible] I commenced taking Rheumatic Syrup, have taken two bottles; it has [illegible] all my pain; I can now get my [illegible] sleep; The salt rheum has nearly all disappeared; in fact, I am feeling better this Spring since I commenced taking your Syrup than I have for years before. The Rheumatic Syrup is truly a great blood purified and a sure cure for rheumatism, for I have improved every day since I commenced its use until now I am a well man. NELSON MOORE.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

BROCKPORT, N. Y. Aug. 19, 1882.

GENTS—For the benefit of those who may be suffering from rheumatism I make the following statement in relation to your Rheumatic Syrup. I had been suffering severely for six weeks with rheumatism all through my whole body. Spent many sleepless nights, for I could not turn my self in bed, nor raise my hands to my head. Wrists were swollen I could not bend without causing terrible pain, when I was persuaded by a friend to try your Rheumatic Syrup. Have been taking it three weeks, and find myself able to be up and around the house, and improving so rapidly that I feel as if I could safely recommend it to all those so afflicted.

Yours Respectfully,
MISS A. E. GOODELL.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

SOUTH BUTLER, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN—I desire to say a few words in praise of your Rheumatic Syrup, which has done so much for me in the last few weeks. In December last I had a very severe attack of rheumatism or kidney affection, which completely deprived me of the use of my limbs. Suffered, as only those who have had this terrible disease can realize, for nearly three months, using nearly every preparation recommended. These, with the aid of our best physicians, seemed to be of no avail, and I grew worse and worse and had given up all hope of recovery, when I learned that an acquaintance of mine who had been similarly afflicted had been entirely cured by the use of the Rheumatic Syrup, and I was prevailed upon to try it. I confess I had little or no faith in it, having tried so many remedies with no beneficial results, but I am happy to say that the rheumatic Syrup is all—yes more than you claim for it. All pain had left me, and I was able to walk around the house before I had used three bottles, and to-day I am as well as ever and able to do my work. I cannot say enough in its praise.

MRS ROBERT COLE.

WOLCOTT, April, 5, 1882.
Rheumatic Syrup Co.

GENTS—Having been afflicted with rheumatism over eight months in my left hip, at times so I couldn't get a night's rest, or even lie on that side on account of such pain running through my hip and down my limb, the Rheumatic Syrup was reccommended. After taking one bottle the pain left me, and I could lie on that side as well as ever. I have felt no symptoms of rheumatism since. I think as a rheumatic cure it has no equal.

A. B THACKER, Merchant.

FURNACE VILLAGE, Wayne Co, Mar. 8, '83

ANOTHER CASE OF KIDNEY DISEASE CURED BY RHEUMATIC SYRUP.

GENTS—Fifteen years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, which settled my back and hips, and much of the time for the last five years I have been unable to turn in bed or feed myself. I have tried many remedies and two years ago I consulted one of the most celebrated physicians in the State, who pronounced it kidney disease, but I grew worse all the time during his treatment. I heard your Rheumatic Syrup highly recommended and I tried it and before I had used two bottles all pain had left me, and to-day I can get about and am able to attend to my business, and am improving every day. I am confident that the Rheumatic Syrup, if taken as directed, will cure any case of rheumatism or kidney disease.

I am most respectfully yours,
GARRETT AMMERMAN,
Overseer of the Poor.

A BAD CASE OF SCROFULA CURED.

PORT BYRON, Feb. 20, 1883
Rheumatic Syrup Co.

I had been doctoring for three or four years, with different physicians, for scrofula, as some called it but found no relief till I commenced taking your Syrup. After taking it a short timne to my surprise it began to help me. Continueing its use a few weeks I found myself as well as ever. As a blood purifier, I think it has no equal.

LRS WM STRANG.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Nov 16, 1882.

Gentlemen—I have taken but two bottles of your Rheumatic Syrup, but have received more benefit form it than from any and all other remedies I have tried, and I confidently believe I should now have been entirely free from rheumatic symptoms had I not exposed myself to the night air and taken cold. I have improved every day since I first began its use and am confident that there is no case of rheumatism that the Rheumatic Syrup will not cure, if the patient will adhere closely to directions for its use, and use proper care about exposing themselves. Yours Truly,

FRANK R. RHEINSTRONG,
With Burke, FitzSimons, Hone, & Co.

A BAD CASE OF KIDNEY TROUBLED CURED.

AUBURN, CAYUGA CO N. Y, Sept 29, '82
Rheumatic Syrup Co.

I should have written you before in regard to the Rheumatic Syrup which you sent me, but have been waiting to see whether the result was permanent. I can confidentially say that it has had a very gratifying effect on my wife, relieving her of much pain within three days after taking it. I also [illegible] one bottle of the Syrup to a friend which has the same effect as on my wife. My wife has suffered greatly from rheumatism and kidney [illegible] for years, and at times could [illegible] move. [illegible]

COMIC AND SENTIMENTAL

[illegible] READING MATTER [illegible]

[illegible] lines of choice literature [illegible] the contents of a [illegible]

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

will be mailed, postage free for six months for $1.00, or three months for 75 cents. Sample copies sent when requested. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL. Proprietor,
No 3 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that the The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol, 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of

Political News

[illegible]

[illegible] Rheumatism [illegible] Hemorrhages [illegible]

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT ....50c, $1.00, $1.75.

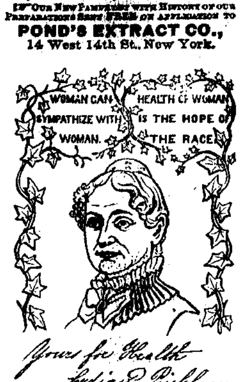
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. 64 (3)

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers every-here. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffalo, N.Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been universally recognized as the best newspaper published in Northern and Central New York. The chief reason for its popularity lies in the fact that it is a journal equally well suited to the wants of all classes of the community, from the farmer to the business man, and is as popular in the home circle as in the office and workshop. Its proprietors spare neither pains nor expense in... [illegible]

ALL THE NEWS OF THE [illegible]

THE FULLEST MARKET REPORTS.

[illegible]

[illegible] alluded to [illegible]. He was impressed by the refusal of Charles R. Thorne, jr., the actor, to have any religious services held over his body, and prior to his death he exacted from his family the promise that no minister of whatever denomination should be allowed to hold a religious service. He was a member of Lodge No. 558, Knights of Honor, and asked that the ceremony should be conducted by the lodge. He desired the Knights, in following his body to the grave, to sing "Marching through Georgia," repeating the song when the earth fell upon his coffin. On leaving the cemetery they were to sing "Good-Bye, my lover, Good-Bye." Stebbins died last Friday the funeral taking place Sunday. Twenty-eight Knights in full regalia attended the funeral. They sang the songs requested both in going and coming, and created a sensation in the quiet town, the citizens of which did not seem to mind the strangeness of the obsequies. The scene at the grave, when the earth clattered on the box and the Knights started up the old war song was impressive. As the last words died away the cortege moved on, and when outside the cemetery the sentimental song was taken up and sung with spirit. It was a strange funeral. Stebbins two years ago was appointed United States consul to one of the Philippine Islands.

DESERVEDLY POPULAR.

Unless it had great merit Parker's Ginger Tonic could not be so popular. Its sale has spread remarkably everywhere, because invalids find it gives them new life and vigor when other medicines fail entirely.

42w4 [Ohio Farmer.

How a Mouse Carried His Burden.

"There are two men," said Bridges, "beside myself who are living who can attest the truth of my mouse story. We three were comrades in the Federal army during the war. One day in the State of Kansas, while on a scout one of our men was killed in a drunken row. Having received permission, late in the evening we took the corpse to a private house, intending to bury it the next day. We three were sitting up with the body in a room from which a stairway ascended to the upper floor. During the wee hours we heard a strange noise as if something was moving softly on the upper steps of the stairway, and which seemed to be gradually descending. As the light was dim in the room, a minute or more elapsed before we could discern what was the cause of the noise, when we discovered three mice evidently engaged in helping each other to lift or roll something down the stairway. As they progressed a step at a time we discovered that it was a large hen's egg, which one of the mice held in a close embrace, allowing the other two to roll him like a ball from one step to the other, always managing to fall on his back, thereby protecting the egg. After reaching the floor in the room in which we were sitting, all three began to roll the egg toward an indenture in the floor with which they seemed to have been familiar. The egg was rolled into this place evidently to steady it, while the three mice proceeded to eat it, cutting through the shell and soon emptying it. Now, if mouse sense isn't equal to horse sense, I don't know."

"SPENT FIFTY DOLLARS

In doctoring for rheumatism before I tried Thomas, Eclectric Oil. Used a 50-cent bottle of this medicine, and got out in one week. For burns and sprains it is excellent." Jas. Durham, East Pembroke, N. Y.

Beware of Pneumonia.

The number of deaths from pneumonia during this winter all through the country is phenomenal, and it is no wonder that public attention is being called to the fact. The disease is one of the most deceptive and insidious in its commencement. A strong, robust man thinks that he has a slight cold; he pays little attention to it; almost before he realizes that he is sick, he stands upon the very brink of the grave. During the past few weeks some of the strongest and best men in the country have died after an experience like that above alluded to, and it behooves every person to use every precaution to prevent these attacks, to attend at once to every indication of a cold, and especially to prevent a relapse after a cold has been under treatment and is seemingly better. Relapses are apt to be very much worse than the original attack.

FROM CLEVELAND, OHIO.

Comes a letter signed T Walker, saying: 'About six months ago commencen taking Burdock Blood Bitters for protracted lumbago and general debility, and now am pleased to state have recovered my appetite and wonted strength. Feel better altogether.

Farmers' Club.

John Dimon knows no better way to increase the knowledge of practical agriculture than for the farmers of a neighborhood to form themselves into a club and hold weekly or at least fortnightly, meetings for the free discussion of all topics connected with their business and for a mutual interchange of thought and opinion. It matters little whether the meetings are formal or informal in their character, provided [illegible]

[illegible] great deal of [illegible] twenty years,

J. B. [illegible],
[illegible] street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

IT IS Dangerous!

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you.

A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE

FOR

RHEUMATISM

As it is for all the painful diseases of the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS.

[illegible]

THOUSANDS OF CASES

[illegible]

PERFECTLY CURED.

[illegible]

KIDNEY-WORT

LINCOLN [illegible] HOOP HOLDER.

[illegible]

[illegible] I haven't got any use [illegible] he then, 'and how did you come to demand money of me?' 'He is the dog of a friend of mine who owes me [illegible] and he didn't have any money. The only available assets he had were these dog bites on his son's body, and he turned them over to me for collection, and I have collected them.' 'Well, I declare!' 'And, stranger,' continued the man with the ax-handle, 'if you or any of your family ever get bitten by a dog and you want the damages collected promptly from the owner of the dog, let me know, and I will do it for 25 per cent. net and furnish my own ax-handle.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the spring of the year to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore the healthy tone and vigor of the whole physical mechanism.

Jumbo's First Year in America.

Jumbo, P. T. Barnum's colossal elephant, has now been in this country a year. After traveling over a great part of the states he was safely housed in November in winter quarters at Bridgeport, and has remained there ever since. His keepers say that at no time since his arrival here has Jumbo shown anything but the most docile and kind disposition. He has grown in size more proportionably than any other elephant he ever received, having increased in weight three quarters of a ton and and gained in height a fraction over seven inches. He has now become quite acclimated, and evinces a remarkable affection for the baby elephant.

When seen Jumbo was surrounded by a herd of twenty-nine other elephants, above whom he towered several feet. Mr. Barnum says that he is contantly in receipt of letters from persons in England making the most tender inquiries about 'dear old Jumbo' and that packages containing bonbons, cakes and sweetmeats to be given to him.

Jumbo's daily food consists of two bales of hay, half a barrel each of potatoes, carrots, bran and roots, and sixty gallons of water. 'We sometimes give him a little whiskey when Mr. Barnum is not around.' said his keeper.

[N. Y. Sun.

UGLY AND HATEFUL,

but I couldn't help it. Everything went wrong with me, and I thought I hadn't a friend in the world. dyspepsia caused this and for months I couldn't eat anything and just suffered in misery till I used Sulphur Bitters, three bottles cured me. [D. Lewis, 25 Bowdoin St., Boston. 42w2.

Tree Planting in the Northwest.

Economy has led to tree planting on an extensive scale in the North and Northwest. Belts of timber are taking the places of pine fences along the exposed portions of the railroads where some barrier must of necessity be maintained against snow drifts. The fences that have been relied upon have to be eight feet high, and, besides costing $300 a mile, need constant attention and repair. Furthermore the farmers carry off boards, and the stoutest oak posts snap like pipe stems in a thoroughgoing prairie gale. Trees answer all the requirments much better. The white willow, which grows to a height of twelve feet in four years, has been found to be the cheapest and best, though the box elder, cotton wood, and green ash will serve. The soil must be prepared by harrowing, however, and paririe soil is often so poor as to require two or three years' work. Even then it is said that it is cheaper to use live fences than dead ones. These three fences are constructed by planting two parallel lines of trees on each side of the tracks exposed to the strongest winds, and one line on the other side.

GALLANT RESCUES

There can be something heroic in a medicine as well as individuals. Burdock Blood Bitters have effected many a gallant rescue among the suffering sick. Thousands have escaped the miseries of dyspepsia and nervous debility through the use of this wonderful remedy. It is emphatically the best stomach and blood tonic in the world.

Cut the Tail off His Coat.

"One day," said this gentleman, "before harvest, I met a fashionably dressed person with a large handful of ears of wheat taken from my fields. I saluted him respectfully, and expressed my admiration of the beauty of the wheat. 'Yes,' said he, 'it is truly a fine sample, and does the farmer great credit who grew it.' I acknowledged the compliment, and asked him from which of my fields he took it. After he had pointed it out, he assured me that he always liked to take a good sample home, as it interested the ladies. Upon this, noticing with admiration the style of his coat, I asked him to allow me to look at the skirt. He readily did so, and I quietly took out my penknife and cut a large piece from the tail. The gentleman bounced and swore, but I told him I always took samples of cloth, as I found they interested my wife. I added that he had no more right to take my wheat than I to take his coat, and that I [illegible]

[illegible] word

SAFE

with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSRS. J. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles for $5.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS

—Best Purgative Medicine—

cure Constipation, Indigestion, Headache, and all Bilious Disorders.

Sold everywhere. Always reliable.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—[illegible]

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

[illegible]

Hiscox & Co.

[illegible]

[illegible]

detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.

Sell

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PLATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to

Very Resp'ly Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAM

BROWN McALLISTER & CO.,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

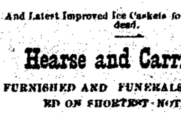
And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 311

CATARRH



ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. [illegible]

[illegible] CREAM BALM CO. Owego, N.Y.

[illegible]

[illegible]

Wm. B. Bowlin [illegible]
Giles S. Piper [illegible]

Dated Jan'y 5th 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

PURSUANCE of an order of Hon. [illegible] Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is given to all persons having claims against [illegible] Weller, late of the town of Volney [illegible] deceased, to present their accounts [illegible] vouchers thereof to the undersigned [illegible] dence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on [illegible] the 15th day of July 1883, or they will lose [illegible] efit of the statute in such case made and [illegible]

Orin V. Tapp [illegible]

Dated, Jan. 10, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO. Eudora Randall against James Randall. Action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's [illegible] within twenty days after the service of [illegible] mons, exclusive of the day of service; and [illegible] of your failure to appear or answer, [illegible] will be taken against you by default for the [illegible] demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 23d, day of January, 1883.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
Pl'ff's Atty.

Office and P O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you, by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 23d day of Jan'y 1883, and filed with the complaint, in the office of the clerk of Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. C. CROMBIE,
36w6 Pl'ff's Atty.

MORTGAGE SALE—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, [illegible] real property situated within the state of New York, whereby the power to sell has become operative, notice is hereby given that said mortgage which is dated the 18th day of May 1876, and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county of Oswego at Oswego, N. Y., on the 18th day of [illegible] 1876, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Liber 109 of mortgages page 210, was given by Helen M. Foster, mortgagor to Constantia V. Auringer, mortgagee, and [illegible] name of each assignee of said mortgage as follows: Orlando Howell. The sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is six hundred and forty-three dollars and eighty-six cents ($643.86.) The following is a description of the mortgaged property, contained in said mortgage: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the village of Fulton, county of Oswego and state of New York, specially described as seventy-four and seven-tenths (74 7-10) feet taken off from the north end of lot number four [illegible] block number twenty-eight (28) as laid down on the printed map of said village, and being sixty-six [illegible] feet in width on Oneida street and seventy-four and seven-tenths 74 7-10 feet deep. Pursuant to the power of sale contained therein, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the said mortgaged property, or a part thereof at public auction at the law office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, county of Oswego, New York, on the 2d day of June, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated, and subscribed at Fulton, N. Y., this 7th day of March 1883.

Howe & Rice, Attys, ORLANDO HOWELL. Assignee.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK to Hiram Spencer, Colborne, Ont. Canada; Nelson Spencer, Van Wert, Decatur Co., Iowa; Newton Spencer, Van Wert, Decatur Co., Iowa; King [illegible] Geer, Oronogo, Jasper Co., Missouri; Dorliska Dixon, Kappa, Woodford Co., Illinois; Mary Allen, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Elijah Spencer, Oswego, New York; Emma Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Mattie Beat, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Jane Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Charles L. Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; George Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Addie Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Albert Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., New York; Mary Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Addie Brown, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Eva Wood, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Adelle Bernasky, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Dennis Spencer, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Russel Spencer, residence unknown, and all the heirs and next of kin of Eunice A. Spencer late of the town of Schroeppel in the county of Oswego, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas Charles L. Spencer of the town of Schroeppel in the county of Oswego, has lately made application to our Surrogate of the county of Oswego, to have a certain instrument in writing relating to real and personal estate, duly proved as the last will and testament of said Eunice A. Spencer deceased; therefore, you and each of you are hereby cited, and required personally to be and appear before our said Surrogate, at the office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, in said county of Oswego, on the 6th day of April next, at [illegible] o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend to the probate of said instrument as the last will and testament of said deceased.

And if any of the persons interested be under the age of twenty-one years, they are required to appear by their guardian, if they have one, or if they have none, that they appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in event of their neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate, to represent and act for them in the proceedings.

In Witness Whereof, we have caused the seal of office of our said Surrogate's Court of the county of Oswego, to be hereunto affixed

[L. S.] Witness, Timothy W. Skinner, Surrogate of the said county, at the village of Mexico, in said county, the 14th day of February in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

The above citation is published by order of Surrogate. GEORGE M. BENNETT, Clerk of the Surrogate's Court of Oswego County.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONNTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

New York Safety Fund.

New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York, Assets, over $2,400,000.00

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,062,568.19

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO., NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

Of Boston, Mass. Assets, $1,271,369.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	New York.
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of		"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN of		GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

NOVELTY MILLS.

Custom Grinding

[illegible]

IN ADVANCE

TIMES.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

[illegible] Block, First [illegible] House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO., Publishers.

TERMS—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name or a private guarantee of good faith.

Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job printing of all kinds attended to promptly and [illegible] reasonable.

Entered at the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

WANDERING JEW AGAIN.

He Discusses the Leading Metropolitan Topics—The Salvation Army—The East River Bridge—Business and Amusement.

NEW YORK, March 16—Old Prob. has raised Ned in New York, for the past three weeks. Some snow, a little rain, pleasant day and then a blizzard. At the present his resources seem to be exhausted and the consequences are every one is pleased. The weather for a few days past has been remarkably fine; the signs of approaching spring, are numerous; the small boy on the sidewalk with whip top and marbles; the green grass, and the appearance of the markets. I took a stroll

THROUGH WASHINGTON MARKET

Saturday night. I noticed some strawberries in a glass case, and of course I wanted to know the price. To my timid inquiry the man said "one dollar a berry and scarce at that." I asked him if I could smell of one for fifty cents, but he paid no heed to my request. Washington market is a place in which one could pass two or three hours very profitably. The stall men and butchers are dressed in white and take much interest in their appearance. The best side of everything is exposed to public view and vegetables and meats are arranged with much taste and skill. The market on Saturday evening was well stocked with meats and vegetables and fish are also very abundant. The first run of shad came in last week and are selling at from seventy-five cents to one dollar and a quarter. New Yorkers are now enjoying "the first roes of summer." Other fish (some never seen outside of New York market) were plenty and the prices were reasonable. Porterhouse steak was sold at thirty, surloin at twenty-five, round at eighteen and mutton chops at twenty-five cents. Three firms have a corner on poultry and have about all there is in the market, on ice.

THE PRICES NOW ARE

for turkeys, twenty-five, geese, sixteen, ducks, twenty-five, and chickens, sixteen. Asparagus sold at two dollars a bunch, tomatoes at two dollars for six quarts. Best butter was forty-three and others in proportion. Garden sauce is abundant and prices low considering the season. I don't want you to think that I am any advance agent of a market, for I mentioned the prices for you to compare them with those in Fulton.

THE GOVERNOR'S VETO of the Five Cent Bill has caused some harsh talk in New York. Of course the people here were directly interested in the bill and its sudden death has created a disturbance. Some condemn the governor's vêto while others uphold it. Anyway, the only hope for cheap rates now is in the leniency of the directors of the road, but as "the investment is not a paying one" and they are so poor there is no doubt but what the poor clerks, the tired workingmen, and the shop girls will have to reach down and get an extra nickle, to keep the poor directors from starving.

In company with Dave I went to the barracks of the Salvation Army in Brooklyn. That was last Sunday. During the week a war cry, issued against the devil, had been spread broadcast through the city and so we went to see the fight. The barracks were over a stable and when we reached the place the army was drawn up in battle array, on the stage. The exercises were opened by a short prayer, and then "Company A" gave what is called a knee drill, to the exquisite music produced by a bass drum, cymbals and a six keyed flute. The dance, for such it was, reminded me of the antics of amateur minstrels. Singing followed and then a captain began to speak. He did not [illegible] long, however, for he talked so loud and fast that he sank exhausted to the stage. Then a comely young woman came forward and told a very simple earnest story of redemption that [illegible] of anything that [illegible] that afternoon. Dave [illegible] the army right away, so [illegible] the song book for the [illegible] thing appeared [illegible] as far as I can see [illegible] good. Their [illegible] some pleasant [illegible] the heads of [illegible] to join.

[illegible] drays, steamboat and railroad companies, with more business than they can manage, and money plenty in the markets, and then again the drummer smiles as he stalks through the land. A drummer's smile usually means business. Theatrical people are all busy and there seems to be a genuine demand for talent. Every theatre in the city is filled nightly. Several pieces are on the boards that will run through the present season. "Silver King" at Wallacks; "A Russian Romance" at the Union Square; "Young Mrs. Winthrop" at Madison Square; "McSorley's Inflation" at Harrigan & Hart's Theatre Comique and the "Count of Monte Christo" at Booth's. The other theatres are filled with traveling troupes and are playing to good houses.

WANDERING JEW.

Thin hair may be thickened, weak hair strengtnened, and the color restored to faded or gray hair, by using Ayer's Hair Vigor.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

Their Work in New York City—How They Operate.

Thursday's Oswego Post publishes the following account of the workings of the Salvation Army in New York:—

We find in the New York Journal an account of the workings of the Salvation Army in that city and Brooklyn. They appeared in the gray dawn of the morning in twenty-five different detachments, and marched to the Fulton ferry, where they were conveyed to Brooklyn. They were a thousand strong and a third of a mile long. There were a half a dozen drum corps and brass bands and five amateur cornet players. The women in the ranks played guitars and thumped banjos. A few dejected old men sawed fiddles. The effect of all this mingled melody was simply indescribable. Half the warriors were Amazons. A part of the rest were children from six to ten years old. They were headed by Maj. Moore. The army marched up Fulton street and halted on the steps of the city hall, and sang 200 exactly similar verses of a song containing the information that they would wear a crown. "Kneel and pray," commanded Major Moore. "Kneel and pray," shouted a hundred bootblacks on the top of the steps. A crowd of 4,000 soon assembled. The worshipers, while on their knees, looked up to see what appeared to be a fall of manna. It was a shower of handbills advertising gargling oil on one side and a dime museum on the other. When the women had expressed their religious convictions with sufficient fullness by jingling their banjos, every soldier sang from the top of his voice and waved his handkerchief over his head.

Ticket speculators stood at the door of the Washington street barracks, and two bands played inside. To the banqueting hall on the second floor the army went by detachments, and after being served with viand returned flush with the feast. The cohorts of redemption again mustered at 7:30 in the evening and marched down Myrtle avenue to the rink, the bands playing "The Golden Slippers," and "Marching Through Georgia." The legions filed into Dr. Fulton's large building and planted their eagles in front of the pulpit. The officers, the bass-drum and thirty sisters with "trimbles" took place on the platform. The different corps sang:

H'I want to be h'a n' angel,
H'and with the n'angels stand
H'a crown upon my fore'ead
H'and h'a 'arp within my 'and A'men! 'alleluyer!!

Major Moore said that the small campaign which would be next undertaken by the army would be the conquering of the whole world. Twelve months ago the army had but five stations and only twelve officers were supported by public contributions. The circulation of the War Cry was 3,000 copies. Now there were twenty-eight stations, 20,000 War Cries were issued and sixty-two officer's were supported by the offerings of poor drunkards and blackguards. God was doing a wonderful work in Switzerland. The Salvation army there had been marched over the frontier, Earl Granville demanded their restoration, and now they will go back, waving their palms above the heads of the constabulary.

At the close of the sevices there was a torchlight procession to New York. A jubilee meeting continued all night at each of the army barracks in New York and Brooklyn.

ALL ADMIRE A HANDSOME FACE.

A pure, clear shin will make any face handsome. Manifestly anything which strengthens and enriches the blood will directly affect the whole person. All eruptions of the skin disappear when Burdock Blood Bitters are employed. They are a vegetable remedy of inestimable value.

A C[illegible]

A Buffalo man died a few days ago who was worth [illegible] of money. He had a high-tempered wife and his [illegible] "I leave all my money to my wife on condition that she shall marry again. I wish to be regretted after I am dead, and I am certain whoever marries her will [illegible] so long as he lives [illegible]"

[illegible]

[illegible] Stuyvesant [illegible]

To the [illegible]

NEW YORK, March 1[illegible]—St. Mark's is the name of a modest and unassuming church at the corner of Second Avenue and Stuyvesant streets, facing the south. Its history is perhaps more closely connected with that of the city than any other. Two hundred and thirty-six years ago, lacking a month, Peter Stuyvesant, the fourth in order of the Dutch governors, landed on the island to take charge of its affairs. Although the people were few in number his task was not an easy one, for the lax administration of his predecessor had left the colony in an [illegible] and [illegible] condition. Independence and great force of character were the qualities that marked the official career of Stuyvesant, and the Dutch government were very fortunate in their selection of him, as events afterward proved. He was a man of quite aristocratic notions and a lordly mien, as will be seen from the following extract of a letter, written by a complaining member of the commonwealth to the mother country:—

"During the inauguration of the new magistrate, the people were kept standing in the open air with uncovered heads for more than an hour, while he wore his tasseled chapeau as if he were the Czar of Mercury."

At the close of his speech he remarked that he should govern them as a father governs his children; so we see that Peter was not the imperial Czar that this complaining member would have us believe. During the twenty years of his administration, the city was incorporated, surveyed, its streets named—some of which were paved, and a citizenship was established. The last four years of his life were spent on his farm or "Bowerie," as it was called, which covered all that portion of the city now situated between 3d and 14th streets, and Second Avenue, and Broadway. It is supposed that from this word "Bowerie" is derived "Bowery," the present name of the street extending south from Cooper Union. His house, a good sized one, two stories in height, stood near St. Mark's church, on the present site of which was his chapel, built at his own expense. After his death his remains were placed in a vault underneath this chapel, where they still lie, not having been disturbed when the present church was built. A stone slab may be seen on the outer wall of the east side of the church bearing the following inscription:—

In this vault lies buried
PETER STUYVESANT, late Captain General and Governor in Chief of Amsterdam, in New Netherlands, now called New York, and the Dutch West India Islands.
Died in A. D. 1671½ aged 80 years.

St. Mark's church has become an object of peculiar interest to the visitor within the last few years. It will be remembered that from the church yard was stolen the body of the millionaire merchant A. T. Stewart.

Speaking of Stewart reminds me that on this same farm of Stuyvesant's stands the once famous Stewart building, which has recently changed hands and been re-painted. When this building was first built its owner never imagined that some day the grandeur and beauty of the marble would be destroyed by the elements and when such was the natural result, it was a thing much regretted by him to be compelled to call in the aid of the painter and change its outward appearance. There are numerous other large and costly buildings on the Governor's farm to which we may have occasion to refer hereafter.

Broadway, its western boundary, as is well known, is the busiest and liveliest thoroughfare in the city and 14th street, its northern boundary is the busiest cross street, except perhaps 23d street. Along the eastern half the farm runs the Manhattan R. R., and through other parts are various surface roads.

What would the Governor think if he knew Fields' R. R. ran across his farm? Would he have vetoed the five cent fare bill? Would he take much "stock" in the proposed new city charter if he were in the chair to-day? are the questions which suggest themselves to GILL FUDDY.

Two Queer Bets.

Two curious wagers were made and decided in the Bingham House reading room within an hour the other day. One of the party of the gentlemen who were watching the passing crowd proposed to bet that 90 per cent. of the men who would pass within fifteen minutes would wear moustaches, and he was promptly taken. The result was a count of 213 men, 193 moustaches, and the payment of $10 to the winner, who at once offered to make another bet that of the next 100 men who would pass the window three-fourths would have on Derby hats. The loser promptly covered his wager; and in a few moments paid over another $10 to his friend, 79 Derby hats showing up from the 100 men.

A Funny Young Man.

[illegible]

[illegible] quite plain and single breasted.

Polonaises made of the new light weight woolen stuffs are bouffantly draped.

Linen band collars for wearing outside the collar of the dress are now very neat.

Velvet bodices are made with jockey basques instead of the round cuirass shapes.

Satin cords in various designs are sewed on the fronts of basques to imitate a vest.

Percales are brought out in plaids, stripes and figured patterns; colors are very bright.

Large plush balls suspended by silk cords fill up the spaces between tabs and points that edge overskirts.

Dressy wraps for the coming season will be of brocaded satin heavily trimmed with spanish lace and made very long.

Young ladies with low, well shaped foreheads turn the hair back all around in loose waves, with here and there a curl; they may also wear side parting.

A little poke bonnet is a novel design for breastpins. It is made of tinted gold, and blue or red enamel is arranged like a ribbon around the minature crown.

Strawberry buttons, imitating the fruit in shape and color, are used for trimming red dresses, and there are blackberry buttons of jet for black, blue and green dresses.

☞ The Scarlet, Cardinal Red, Old Gold, Navy Blue, Seal Brown, Diamond Dyes give perfect results. Any fashionable color, 10 cents.

How the Doctor Laid for Him.

The late Dr C., of Ashtabula, used in the early days to take long rides through the wilds of Ohio. One day he stopped at an old fashion tavern and called for dinner.

Among the homespun dainties was a glass of whisky beside his plate which he did not trouble. After dinner when paying his bill the landlord said:

"Twenty-five cents for whisky."

"Which I did not touch, and never do," said the Doctor.

"Well, it was there, and you could have had it," replied the landlord.

The Doctor said no more, paid his bill and left.

Calling again not long after it was noticed that the Doctor, upon sitting down to dine, placed his medicine case upon the table. However, nothing was said at the time.

When he [illegible] to pay his bill he brought in $1 for medicine and advice.

"But I have had no medicine," said mine host.

"Very well," replied the Doctor, "it was on the table, and you could have had it, and I also gave you good advice all the while I was at the table."

The [illegible] host squared account.

POSTMASTER SAM'L A HEWITT,

Of Monterey, Mich., delivers himself in this wise: "For colds, burns, sore throat, and rheumatism Thomas' Eclectric Oil [illegible]. I say keep it up as the standard and it will satisfy the people. I shall send for another supply soon."

Bob Burdette's Wife.

One night at a theatre in Philadelphia the writer saw a pale and earnest man making his way to a private box with a delicate, clinging woman in his arms. Her girlish face was full of pathos that passes description, but was wonderfully pretty. And strangely happy, too—filled with a full content. Every-body made way for the little lady, and her great tender eyes seemed to send thanks to every gentleman who moved aside in courtesy. It was Bob Burdette and his invalid wife. This is an index of his treatment all the time. He has literally encompassed her with his love. The temptations of the world, the dazzle and glitter of the society that has welcomed him—the converse with brilliant men, the club, the theatre, wealth, fame —and either of them failed to win his heart away from the little woman who sat at his fireside and lived on his love and sympathy. [Atlanta Constitution.

On Thirty Days'Trial.

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltanic Belts and Electric Appliance on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with nervous debility, lost vitality and kindred troubles guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and make manly vigor. Address as above—N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days trial is allowed. 35y1

A Pension Decision.

The Syracuse Journal says: "A recent decision by Judge Merwin, of the Supreme Court, will prove of interest to pensioners of the government. The case before him was that of a soldier who had received a pension and with it purchased real estate. Being heavily in debt and fearing that his creditors would be enabled to secure judgement against him, which would hold good against the property, he transferred the same to other parties, the conditions of the transfer being the support of the pensioner and his family for life. The Judge decided that the transfer was void [illegible] that the property was exempt from [illegible] in substance [illegible] property purchased with pension [illegible] by the [illegible]

The man or woman who neglects his or her own health may be pardoned, as the consequences fall upon the individual alone; but the parent or guardian who permits the inroads of disease upon the innocent ones dependent upon him for protection, is criminally liable in the sight of God, however he may appear in the eyes of men. There are, however, parents that intend to care for their children, but, who through carelessness or the urgency of other duties, permit them to become the innocent victims of disease. Such parents may be guiltless of intentional wrong, but the disastrous results upon their children are just as great.

Thes are truths which must be manifest to every worthy parent and especially in a vicinity where the unknown effects of the atmosphere, the water and the general tendancy to malaria are so great. There are many families in this locality who have been called upon to mourn untimely losses, even when the greatest care was exercised; but the experience of one only will be given: it is that of the late W. O. Thomas. The children were almost promising, but for some unexplained reason their health and strength seemed to gradually lessen until their friends feared they were the victims of consumption. One by one, they sickened and died until three had departed and two of the surviving brothers were also taken ill. Their names were Hermon and Edward. Hermon, however, seemed the stronger of the two; and, while his younger brother was confined to the house constantly, and to his bed much of the time. Hermon was able to be about but in so weak a condition that he had no desire to play. Eddie's symptoms were terrible! He found difficulty in retaining food upon his stomach, was restless and irritable, and out of his head frequently. At various times three different physicians visited him; and each one told his friends he could not live. He finally got so low that death was only considered a matter of a few days. At that critical time his elder brothers, aroused almost to the pitch of desperation by the three deaths that had so recently occurred, and the other one staring them in the face, resolved to take the case into their own hands. They accordingly did so, and secured a remedy that was then [illegible] used, and began giving it to him. Its effect at first was slight, but any improvement was considered a good symptom. By degrees his strength returned; he was able to eat with a relish, then walk about the house; and finally he regained complete health and strength. The boy was so rejoiced over his recovery that, accompanied by the editor of this paper, he went before justice Charles K. Miller and made oath to the facts above related, and that he was restored to perfect health by the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. Now, Edward Thomas' parents, while they lived, undoubtedly, provided faithfully for the wants of all their children; and yet the seeds of disease had taken deep root. Their care in one direction had been counteracted by unknown carelessness in another, Their love was sincere, but wholly misdirected. They should have known that children are just as liable to kidney and liver diseases as grown up people; and that the fatality of Bright's disease of the kidneys is just as great among little children as with adults. This is a serious subject. Heriditary traits: the after consequences of measles and scarlet fever, diphtheria and the passing troubles which so easily become chronic, all demand the greatest care and caution. No case of cholera infantum, scarletina, or diptheria was ever verulant while the child's kidney's and liver were healthy. It would simply be an impossibility. These important organs of the body are just forming within the child ann growing with its growth; and they can be trained to strength and health as readily as the little mind can be trained to truth and uprightness.

The importance of carefully watching the slightest troubles of the child, and especially those affecting the kidneys and liver, cannot be too strongly emphasized. Children respond so readily to the proper remedies and are so sensitive to disease, that it is a sin to deprive them of one at the risk of incurring the other. By a judicious treatment these essential organs can be developed so that a strong constitution, able to resist the inroads of disease through coming years, shall be the result.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of self-abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back [illegible] Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave. TRADE MARK

[illegible] particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. [illegible] The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
[illegible] Buffalo, N. Y.
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. Snow & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

DIAMOND DYES.

[illegible]

[illegible] Favorite Remedy [illegible] only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. G. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 89

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 8 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

KIDNEY WORT

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.

PILES. This distressing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed. [illegible]

PRICE $1. [illegible]

Acts at the Same Time on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY WORT

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.

Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

A First-Class line of

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lower Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

[illegible]

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 14 weeks begins on Monday March 26th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English, Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY

THE MOST

Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight-page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST!! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, illustrated, is the chef-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary, it also contains all the usual tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrases, etc., American Geographical Names with definitions and Significations. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc., Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries, Interest Tables, 4 to 20 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 63 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 13 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionary.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and enclose 21 green stamps. If not delighted, you can have your money back. Club of five, $2.75; ten, $5.

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all free for a paltry 63 cts. Send now. Address,

Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Community	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
ONEIDA	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fish Creek	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Bay	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cleveland	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bernhard's Bay	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Constantia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
CENTRAL SQUARE	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Fulton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
OSWEGO	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie Ry. Ar	3.35	10.30	[illegible]	[illegible]
" N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	3.10	.....	11.30	.....
MIDDLETOWN	5.30	8.15	3.10	[illegible]
Winterton	5.08	7.52	2.47	[illegible]
Bloomingburgh	5.06	7.45	[illegible]	[illegible]
Wurtsboro	4.49	7.29	[illegible]	[illegible]
Summitville	4.40	7.08	5.16	[illegible]
Fallsburgh	4.03	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hurley	3.53	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty Falls	3.40	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Liberty	3.35	.....	[illegible]	[illegible]
Parksville	3.29		[illegible]	[illegible]
Livingston Manor	3.08		[illegible]	[illegible]
Rockland	2.53		2.27	[illegible]
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	[illegible]
East Branch	2.18		1.40	[illegible]
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	[illegible]
Walton	1.12	3.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.30	2.42	10.58	.....
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	.....
Guilford	11.32	12.55	.....	.....
Oxford	11.14	12.30	.....	.....
NORWICH	10.55	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.50	7.55	6.05
North Norwich	*10.36	11.10	7.44	5.45
Smyrna	10.26	10.50	7.36	5.35
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.26	5.05
Randallsville	10.08	10.02	7.15	4.45
Eaton	9.56	9.36	7.05	4.35
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.54	4.10
Munnsville	9.38	8.35	6.40	3.30
Community	9.17	7.55	6.27	3.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	.....	5.34	12.40
North Bay	8.36	.....	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	.....	4.51	11.35
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	.....	4.45	10.55
Constantia	8.07	.....	4.32	10.37
Central Square	7.46	.....	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	.....	3.32	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	.....	2.45	7.30
	a. m.	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	6.00	1.25	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	6.04	1.30	7.20	2.35
Homowack	6.09	1.44	7.15	2.21
ELLENVILLE	6.26	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	8.45	11.00
Hamden	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
DELHI	5.10	9.00	[illegible]	[illegible]

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.31	8.14
Mount Upton	5.46	8.06
Holmesville	6.15	7.38
So. New Berlin	6.26	7.26
NEW BERLIN	6.55	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. † Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.

J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't.
J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pass'r. Agt.

C. A. HILL,
VETERINARY SURGEON,
(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 8, 1883.

Agents! Agents! Agents! Wanted for the New Book, "Our Lost Explorers." A full and authentic account of the

JEANNETTE

By Official Permission and other [illegible]
Profusely Illustrated [illegible]
Portraits [illegible]
Get the best [illegible]
E. [illegible]

20 copies a day sold by five [illegible] circulars, terms, and [illegible] publishers, [illegible]

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEE[illegible]

An Overcoat or a Heavy Su[illegible]

The weather demands it, and the only question th[illegible] remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, [illegible] who have ever patronized in this direction need no in[illegible] formation on the subject, but to others we would si[illegible] ply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that [illegible] inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will pr[illegible] of interest and profit to all who will take the ti[illegible] look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter [illegible] for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply [illegible] dimensions, and all that is desirable [illegible] manship. [illegible]

[illegible] with the [illegible] says the present [illegible] The Sun [illegible] advocating it.

Pennsylvania [illegible] cremation [illegible] has passed a law prohibiting the burning of dead bodies in the state.

The total number of enlistments during the rebellion was 2,780,178; of this number 718,757 were re-enlistments, leaving 2,066,391 as actual individual enlistments.

Anti-Monopoly leagues are being formed in all parts of the country. The organization seems to have been overtaken by a sudden boom and thousands are rallying to its standard.

The city of New York pays seven million dollars for religion, annually, and twenty-two million for drinks, and the Rochester Post Express solemnly remarks that New York people are having more fun in this world than they will in the next.

A Government office in London was shattered with dynamite last week, an attempt being made the same day to blow up the London Times office with similar explosives. It is supposed to be the work of characters similar to those which informer Carey communed with.

Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun takes life easy. He has purchased a site in an eligible and fashionable portion of New York city and will build a magnificent residence. The Sun is one of the best paying journals in the United States and also one of the newsiest. It shines for all, though principally for Charles A. Dana.

The Delevan house, Albany, had a narrow escape from burning Friday morning. A fire broke out in the kitchen at 3 a. m., and the whole building was quickly filled with smoke. There were 180 guests in the house and no injury resulted to any one. A repetition of the Milwaukee horror was averted by the promptness of the hotel authorities.

It is never safe to say a man is politically dead until he is interred. Ex-Gov. Sprague of Rhode Island a financial and political bankrupt, known by reputation to the whole country, has been nominated for Governor by the Independents and has been endorsed by the Democrats. Instead of going down as rapidly as some would have him he is steadily coming up and to the front.

By the postal telegraph line, which is in operation between New York and Cleveland, and will soon be extended to Chicago, a test was made last week under which a message was sent from Cleveland to New York at the rate of 1,426 words per minute. The economy of the system consists in the fact that one wire can take thousands of messages every hour as fast as they are prepared by the operators.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature providing for a jury trial of the question of a person's insanity, forbids cruel treatment in asylums, exempts patients from involuntary labor, and provides for free visitations by and interviews with any physician or attorney, or such other persons as may be selected or chosen to visit or correspond with them. Such a bill should become a law without much debate. Sane people would not be confined for any length of time in a mad house with such a law in force.

Teachers' Examination.

A joint teachers' examination will be held at each of the following places on the dates named, examination commencing at 9 a. m.

Pulaski, Friday March 16, 1883.
Fulton, Tuesday, March 27.
Central Square, Thursday, March 29.

All persons desiring to teach during the coming summer are requested to be present, as no private examination will be given.

Board of Com. { C R Parkhurst, H D Nutting, Jay B Cole,

WHEN LADIES ARE ATTRACTIVE.

All ladies know their faces are most attractive when free from pimples. Parker's Ginger Tonic is popular among them because it banishes impurities from blood and skin and makes the face glow with health. 42w4

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging irritation, inflamation, all Kidney and Urinary Complaints, cured by "Buchu-paiba." $1.

Pianos and organs sold on monthly payments at Bristol's. Go in and examine the new and elegant designs.

Go to your druggist for Mrs. Freeman's New National Dyes. For brightness and durability of color, are unequaled. Color from 2 to 5 pounds. Directions in English and German. Price 15 cents. 6y1

If any groceries bought of J. Cooley Tucker [illegible] do not prove as represented [illegible] give satisfaction, you are cordially requested to return.

J. Cooley Tucker sells as good a tea for [illegible] as you can find in [illegible] 48

[illegible]
Amount appropriated [illegible]	[illegible]
Amount of tax levied		[illegible].00
" " assessed		[illegible]
Total		$[illegible]5.25

RECEIPTS

There has been collected	$8287.66
Poll tax	90.00
Licenses	112.70
Case & Bradshaw for bridge	41.86
C P Tucker & Son for crosswalk	26.46
Mrs J H Townsend ab't'g nuisance	25.00
S B Whitaker crosswalk	16.44
County order	291.14
W S Nelson & Co	200.00
Last year's levy	1200.00
Total	$10299.40

The following amounts were disbursed for general expenses:

Orders drawn on the old board after last report	$175.69

HIGHWAY FUND

Order 10 R R Dodge		377.80
" 32 "		354.61
" 56 "		101.44
" 95 "		470.54
" 101 "		46.44
" 110 "		338.67
" 109 Jennings for gravel		86.36
" 116 J H Cavanaugh tile		119.85
Dodge bill for October		187.54
" " November		180.36
" " December		36.64
" " January		29.36
Joseph Lalonde		3.45
G D Jennings for gravel		17.50
Total		$2215.68
Am't of fund	$2000.00
From crosswalks	242.12
From poll tax	90.00
Total	$2332.12

CROSSWALK FUND

23 Dodge labor		$24.00
24 Willard Johnson lumber		64.66
48 F M Wilson for stone		136.33
53 R R Dodge labor		93.48
54 A Laws labor		29.00
171 Dodge		11.41
Total		$357.88
Am't of Fund	$600.00
Balance to Highway fund		242.12

HOSE FUND

Order
25 American Hose Co.		$516.44
Am't of fund	$500.00
Amount overdrawn		$16.44

LAMP FUND

Order
13 John Cavanaugh		$33.37
16 " "		33.37
20 John White		125.20
28 John Cavanaugh		4.00
52 " "		41.33
87 John White		108.51
94 John Cavanaugh		40.72
108 " "		40.72
116 John White		91.00
119 John Cavanaugh		40.75
133 " "		92.39
166 " "		41.10
J White gas		110.00
179 John Cavanaugh		41.19
186 J White gas		127.40
190 John Cavanaugh		41.19
Total		$1002.43
Am't of fund	$1100.00
Balance of fund	97.57

FIRE FUND

Order
14 S B Mead		$200.00
89 "		300.00
123 "		150.00
177 "		200.00
Total		$850.00
Am't of fund	$1000

COURT ROOM FUND

Order
79 J J Stephens		$13.00
117 "		13.00
168 "		13.00
Total		$39.00
Am't of fund	$52.00

PAVING FUND

19 T A Paddock		$59.58
31 35 "		180.55
49 "		161.50
77 "		100.00
78 "		100.00
84 "		100.00
85 "		160.63
90 "		137.38
55 Commissioner Dodge labor		200.00
Total		$1199.58
Am't of fund	$1700.00
Balance transferred to Bridge fund		$500.47

BRIDGE FUND

Order
36 C R Clark	$19.39
37 James Sweet	15.75
40 R Slater	12.75
41 M Birdsall	12.75
42 Sheridan & Baker	8.40
43 Joe Lalonde	4.15
44 J E Miller	2.25
46 J H Merton	7.54
50 J H Woodin	7.60
57 William Patterson	6.00
58 S B Whitaker	39.46
59 C P Tucker	25.62
60 Henry Hubbard	14.55
61 [illegible]	14.11
62 A R [illegible]	6.00
[illegible]	[illegible]

Total		[illegible]
Am't of fund	[illegible]

[illegible] FUND

30 H [illegible]		$14.00
62 A [illegible]		[illegible]
B J Kimball		[illegible]
Total		$100.00
Am't of fund	$100.00

CLERK FUND

30 L H Patterson		25.50
131 "		9.00
134 "		16.00
159 "		25.50
Total		$76.00
Am't of Fund		$100.00

INCIDENTAL FUND

Old Board W J Pentelow	25.00
" James Sweet	2.50
" G D Ball	75.00
" Fulton Times	17.80
" J J Stephens	13.00
" R R Dodge	10.00
" J Cavanaugh	33.67
" B J Kimball	14.00
" Dr D Pardee	102.00
" Board of Health	12.00
" Thos VanBuren	4.21
11 S B Mead for hall	25.00
9 C Morgan park	10.50
15 "	5.00
18 T A Paddock expenses	12.23
21 H E Nichols Laduke suit	101.00
27 P Cullen cleaning jail	5.00
29 W D Patterson whitewashing	13.00
30 Wm Caffrey	1.50
32 John Cavanaugh	5.00
33 E E Schenck	5.02
34 Geo Johnston	30.85
36 James Sweet	3.75
45 D A Waterman	1.50
47 C S Eggleston	4.40
57 M C Highriter	2.00
83 F H Conners	1.50
89 M A Howe	2.00
98 L H Patterson order book	9.00
102 G D Ball surveyor	275 00
111 L H Patterson expenses	4.90
113 Bartlett Lamp Co. globes	14.85
114 C S Eggleston journal	7.00
115 J H Cavanaugh coal for jail	28.04
116 J White gas for jail	8.75
120 Bonnett Bros. printing	20.50
122 A Rice Justice fees	11.5
126 E E Schenck lumber	2.16
127 M F Crahan p'nti'g band house	28.33
145 John Bogue for jail	0.50
144 Pooler & Wilson coal	3.30
140 R R Dodge board of health	3.00
139 James Sweet janitor	3.00
135 R Brown special police	2.00
134 Morrill Bros printing	2.00
169 Geo Johnston for office	1.40
168 John White gas for jail	8.05
165 C C Fuller extra police	2.00
164 W C Stephens Dodgson suit	36.32
162 Miller & Whitaker oil	.90
160 James Sweet janitor	4.00
157 G H & W D Patterson jail	200.00
183 D Pardee board of health	30.00
184 J H Cavanaugh coal for jail	19.64
185 F M Wilson interest on note	21.39
187 J White Gas for jail	6.65
189 W. Hill gravel for streets	6.00
191 W C Stephens Attorneys fees	75.50
Total	$1411.95
Total amount expended	10,229.43

RECAPITULATION

Amount collected	$8287.66
Amount uncollected	777.69
Received from other sources	804.74
Overdrawn	777.69
Total	$10,229.43
The amount uncollected	777.69
Overdrawn funds	359.34
Amount outstanding	$1137.03

THE PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The money expended the past year has otherwise than from the general expenses been for permanent improvements. The work has been well performed. Crosswalks have been replaced with stone and as far as the limited amount would allow I would recommend the use of stone. The litigation commenced last year has not yet been brought to trial, the necessary witnesses being out of the state at the time of court. The bridge over the race on First street will require new timbers the coming season and I would recommend that they be replaced by those of iron. The extremely low price of iron makes it a desirable substitute.

The proposed water works company is a step in the right direction and should receive the support of every resident of the village. It would add materially to the sanitary condition of the village as well as protect and furnish with water many places entirely destitute of that much used article. I would recommend that a meeting of the taxable inhabitants of the village be called as soon as the company has been formed and can guarantee the performance of the work.

There are many of our streets that require to be repaired quite extensively and the highway fund has not been sufficient to work all of the many miles of streets. The expense of the Oneida street bridge exceeded the estimate but is a permanent structure and I would ask that the sum of five hundred dollars be raised to balance the fund. All claims have been paid with the [illegible] [illegible] sufficient for the [illegible] of the village for the [illegible]

This Space is Reserved for

ROSENBLOOM

The Clothiers.

—AT— [illegible]W YORK STO[illegible]

[illegible] We have purchased at great sacrifice from an impor[illegible] [illegible] assorted in 20 different shades, all fashionable colors [illegible] by one of the most Celebrated Manufacturers in France. Nos. 12, 16, 22 and 30 we will sell at 15cts per yard. This price is less by one half than the cost of importation. Never was such a bargain offered in Fulton and cannot be duplicated.

E. B. FAY.

Boarding and Livery Stables

BOWLER'S! BOWLER'S.

Farmers coming to town and wishing a safe and comfortable place to hitch their horses will find it at

BOWLER'S NEW SHEDS.

Horses and Carriages at all times.
Trusty Drivers when desired.
Hacks, Hearses and Carriages For Funerals.

35 N. Bowler.

Report of The Condition OF THE CITIZENS' NATIONAL BANK

At Fulton, in the State of New York, at the close of business March 13, 1883.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$285,105 50
Overdrafts	2,168 19
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	165,100 00
U. S. Bonds on hand	200 00
Other stocks bonds and mortgages	8,5 6 60
Due from approved reserve agents	22,842 62
Due from other National Banks	81 06
Due from State Banks and bankers
Real estate, furniture and fixtures,
Current expenses and taxes paid	957 00
Premiums paid
Checks and other cash items	1,519 95
Bills of other Banks	2,070 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and pennies,	77 86
Specie	700 00
Legal tender notes	5,000 00
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer 5 per. cent. of circulation	7,478 50
Total	$452,978 62

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$165,100 00
Surplus fund	45,000 00
Undivided profits	16,371 34
National Bank notes outstanding	147 859 00
Individual deposits subject to check	64 431 68
Demand certificates of deposit	9,769 94
Certified checks
Due to other National Banks	2,279 16
Due to State Banks and bankers	270 73
Bills payable	700 84
Total	$452,978 62

State of New York, County of Oswego, } ss

I Solon F. Case, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Solon F. Case, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 20th day of March 1883. Geo. Kellogg, Notary Public.

Correct—Attest:

Thomas W. Chesbro,
J. W. Pratt,
Jno. H. Case, } Directors.

Real Estate! Real Estate!

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure,

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

We offer for sale the house and lot near the end of 2nd street, now owned and occupied by Chas. Easton.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.

Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south-east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 3 on Block 54—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 8, Block 54. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

To business men—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!
IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St., A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 3½ to 235 acres.

F. S. [illegible], JR.,
Real [illegible], 10 First St.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.
Lathrop's are of magic power,
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
[illegible] on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.
Full of sentiment or wit
[illegible] fun or grit
[illegible] they'll hit—
[illegible]

WAIT FOR THE BEST

—:o:—

AMBURSKY'S CLOTHING HOUS[illegible]

Will open in Fulton about April 1st in the Townsen[illegible] Block in store now occupied by J. Bailey & Son.

NEW GOODS,
NEW PRICES,
NEW STOCK

Everything Cheap, Substantial and Satisfactory. The Leading Styles in

Hats, Caps and Gents Furnishing Goods.

No more going to Syracuse for Stylish Goods.

My clotning will be equal to any Custom Made Goods in regard to make and fit.

Wait for the Grand Opening.

STAMPING DONE AT THE BAZAAR.

—:o:—

WHITE SHIRTS

—AT—

THE BAZAA[illegible]

Only 47 cents, Worth 60 cents.
" 73 " " $1.00
" 97 " " 1.25

Look at them before you buy.

All the latest things in Ladies' Collars Just Received!

NEW LOT OF RIBBONS AND LACES,

This Week. A Bargain in time. Also new things in JEWELRY.

Respectfully

C. D HUBBARD

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE, STOVES, SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

[illegible]

We are Receiving LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Eg[illegible]

Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for [illegible]

[illegible]

ERN R. R.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on [illegible] street, in lower Oswego Falls, [illegible] blocks from the lower bridge. Large [illegible] and good well on the premises. Enquire of W. C. WHEELER, Fulton Times Office.

Next Sunday Easter.

George Ney, for many months an invalid, is but little improved.

John Burke is home after an absence in Chicago of about three years.

John Hall of New York is in town to attend the funeral of Patrick Murphy.

School closed Friday in the Emory district. Mr C J Rappole made a most efficient teacher.

Palm Sunday brought to the household of Mr Alfred LaPorte a little daughter. Long may she live.

Paul Roderick has purchased the Garlock house, corner Fourth and Erie streets, and will make it his residence.

Dame Rumor says Luman T Richardson will receive the appointment of Superintendent of Section 2, Oswego Canal.

Mrs Margaret Martin has purchased the Crombie house, corner Highland and Second streets and will occupy it after April 1st.

Samuel Smith and family of Granby will leave to-day for Dakota. He has [illegible] a car and will take with him [illegible] and seed.

The Grand Republic Allegory and Tableaux in Stephens Opera House Thursday and Friday evenings. Reserved seat tickets for sale at Watson's drug store.

John Harrison of Vernon, Oneida Co., has been spending a few days in town. Mr Harrison has hundreds of friends in this vicinity who are always pleased to see him.

Telephones have been placed in the residences of E W Ross and and W G Gage also one in Dexter's meat market. Stoneburg, the Broadway grocer, will place one in his store April 1st, The Fulton telephone exchange is spreading out.

Our thanks are due Wood & Thompson Oswego Falls for a case of their sparkling and refreshing soda water. This delightful temperance drink is meeting with a large sale and during the coming season the firm will endeavor to meet all demands.

Druggist W. J. Watson is busy supplying the market with his "Liquid [illegible]," for chapped hands, lips, etc. He is presenting photographs of prominent people and actresses to jobbers as advertisements. A choice selection [illegible] THE TIMES sanctum.

Miss Bullis, a pupil of Prof. Evans of [illegible] has been solicited to form a [illegible] this village for the culture of the [illegible] voice. She is spoken of as a lady [illegible] attainments. She is a sister of Mrs. Rev. A. U. Hutchins and will remove with the family to Syracuse.

Little Maud Scouten, aged six years, daughter of George and Nancy Scouten, died in New York last Tuesday, after [illegible] days sickness with membraneous [illegible]. Her remains were brought to [illegible] Friday and funeral services held [illegible] from the residence of William [illegible], Rev. Dr. Bruce of the M. E. church officiating. The body was placed in the receiving vault in Mt. Adnah.

On the evening of the 11th of April, [illegible] of Chicago will deliver a lecture in Nichols hall on "The [illegible] Side of Prison Life." Chaplain [illegible] was for a long time an inmate [illegible]. His lecture sparkles [illegible] and is a graphic [illegible]. It will [illegible] Fulton G. A. [illegible] fund.

[illegible] Peck died at his residence [illegible] Friday, the [illegible]. Mr. Peck was [illegible] Co., N. Y. [illegible] eleven children [illegible] the latter [illegible]

Cattle—[illegible]

Sheep and [illegible]

Poultry—Dr. R. M. [illegible]

Tickets and Gates—[illegible]

Buildings—Orin [illegible]

Grand Stand—Willard [illegible]

Domestic Department—Mrs. A. H. S. Gardner and Miss Florence [illegible]

Floral Department—W. Parkhouse.

There are other departments to be filled at the next meeting. The Secretary, Arvin Rice, was instructed to revise and prepare premium list and present it at the next meeting. The time for holding the next fair was not announced.

There was no official action taken in regard to the sale of intoxicants on the grounds during the fair. One of the leading officers of the [illegible] informed THE TIMES that no privileges would be granted or sold to any person to sell any manner of drink during the fair of 1883.

Pathmasters For 1883.

Following are the pathmasters for 1883 of the town of Volney, this day appointed by the Commissioner of Highways:—

Dist.	Dist.
No 1 Geo Chapman	No 39 W H Owen
" 2 C B Baldwin	" 40 Chas Briggs
" 3 Henry Weiler.	" 41 Virgil Rowlee
" 4 D W Gardner	" 42 Arnold Foster
" 5 G A Rappole	" 43 Chas Owen
" 6 G W Thomas	" 44 N Rumsey
" 7 Geo Baker	" 45 N Salisbury
" 8 W H Blakeman	" 46 Wm Howe
" 9 Geo Washburn	" 47 Heny Harding
" 10 Wm F Ingell	" 48 J H Church
" 11 A G Morse	" 49 Benj. View
" 12 H C Hitchcock	" 50 O Baldwin
" 13 Ovid V Taft	" 51 I Ives [enen jr
" 14 Jerome Melvin	" 52 F D VanWag-
" 15 W C Baldwin	" 53 Geo E Coe
" 16 L D Streeter	" 54 C Howard
" 17 G G Ives	" 55 W C Newton
" 18 Delos Durphy	" 56 J C Vanburen
" 19 James Trask	" 57 Giles Hawks
" 20 C Percival	" 58 Chris. Kerfien
" 21 O Densmore	" 59 A Baldwin
" 22 J S Markham	" 60 Otis J Allen
" 23 Henry Crouch	" 61 Jas Connors
" 24 A L Beardsley	" 62 Ed Vanburen
" 25 John Weed	" 63 S Dickey
" 26 Walton Adams	" 64 D Vanburen
" 27 L B Babcock	" 65 A K Hill
" 28 L W Distin	" 66 Geo Ingamells
" 29 G F Sherman	" 67 Peter Kline
" 30 M Whitney	" 68 Geo B Kellogg
" 31 H Chamberlain	" 69 J. Vanburen
" 32 Andrew Baker	" 70 Job McCarthy
" 33 O Brown	" 71 George Ives
" 34 Michael Mullen	" 72 Ora Phillips
" 35 Frank Dalton	" 73 Oren LeRoy
" 36 Louis H Drake	" 74 H Rowlee
" 37 Delos Distin	" 75 Joel Parkhurst
" 38 L LaDue	" 76 S Sherman
	77 Albert Clark

AMOS H. BALDWIN,
Com'r. of Highways.

Village Charter Vetoed.

The proposed new charter of the village of Oswego Falls has met with the disapproval of Governor Cleveland. He sent the following to the Assembly Friday in relation to the bill:—

To the Assembly:

Assembly bill No 135, entitled "An act to amend chapter two hundred and thirteen of the Laws of eighteen hundred and sixty-six, entitled 'an act to incorporate the village of Oswego Falls, and the several acts amendatory thereof, is herewith returned without approval.'

This bill does not appear to have been drawn with the care which is necessary to make its provisions plain, simple and certain of execution.

Among other things, it serves to make the expense of repairs of side walks, the removal of snow and ice, and the abatement of nuisances, charges against the village, and also provides that such expense shall be collected from the parties owning or occupying the premises in front of or adjoining which the work is done.

The bill further amends the charter of the village by adding thereto a new section, which shall be known and designated as number forty-nine. The charter now has a section numbered forty-nine, which contains important provisions, and which by the bill under consideration is not and ought not to be abrogated.

I am also informed that the authorities of the village who at first appeared anxious for the passage of the bill, have changed their minds since its introduction, and are now quite willing that it should not become a law.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Important to house keepers. Great reduction in the price of Crockery, Glassware and other House Furnishing goods at Tucker's crockery store. 43

The Original Spanish Students.

This company will appear in the Opera house next Monday evening. The troupe consists of rare talent. The Buffalo Courier says:—The attraction at Whale's Opera House New Year's afternoon and evening was the troupe of skilled musicians known as the Spanish Students. They are identical with the troupe which first came to America under that name, and made so unique a success in the metropolis, and elsewhere. Their American experiences have not lessened the finished character of their work, it seems, for the music is still [illegible] not discordant or [illegible] minutest detail, [illegible] refined and [illegible] quent.

Republican [illegible]

[illegible] will [illegible] to succeed [illegible]

The [illegible] meets this evening [illegible] E. Goodjon, on [illegible]

By the will of [illegible] Gardner the Gilbert [illegible] church will receive $50 [illegible]

The Dakota fever is spreading all over this state. In April and May thousands will leave for that country.

The Amity Social Club will give a dancing party in the Opera House Ball Room next Tuesday evening.

Leon Lou[illegible] for some time a clerk in Watson's drug store, contemplates journeying to Dakota on a prospecting tour.

Sixty-four copies of THE TIMES were sold at Ney's Newsroom last week. Extra copies may be found there at all times.

Murphy Bros. have removed their meat market from Cayuga street to the store recently occupied by Mrs. Montague as a fish market, opposite the Midland depot.

Oral examinations will commence in Fulton Union School to-morrow morning and continue until Friday noon. Parents and friends of the school are earnestly invited.

With its last issue the Skaneateles Free Press entered upon its tenth volume. The Free Press is one of the newsiest weekly exchanges that finds a place on our table. Its circulation is increasing and deserves to.

Master William Royce has taken a position in the postoffice and as soon as he becomes sufficiently conversant with affairs, Jesse Morrill, the present deputy, will resign. John Morton will be promoted to deputy postmaster. Fulton has a well conducted postoffice.

Sunday was warm and mild the thermometer registering fifty degrees above zero and Monday was cold and windy, mercury dropping to two degrees above zero. This has been an exceptionally cold, lengthy and stormy winter and appears not to be entirely done with yet. To date there has been one hundred and twelve days of continuous sleighing. At 7 a. m. to-day the thermometer registered 2 degrees above zero.

The Gunnison (Col.) Review of the 13, inst has the following in regard to Martin Crahan a former Fulton boy:—

The happiest man in town to-day is Mart Crahan. We met him on the street and noticed that his face wore an unusually broad grin. We asked why this was thusly. He approached us rather cautiously and putting his arm confidingly around our neck, he whispered soft and low: "It's a boy, 'leven pounder; mother and child doing well." He passed on with that same smile, humming a tune with which we are all familiar, and the recollections of the past come with astonishing rapidity to the father.

Amos H. Baldwin, Commissioner of Highways, who was hurt the 3d inst by a runaway team, is injured more seriously than at first supposed. His right hip is dislocated. He is at the residence of his brother-in-law Timothy Salmon in Oswego Falls.

The room occupied by Mr. Baldwin is almost made a bower of beauty by the presence of endless tracks of wax plants and English ivies that cross and recross the room in a serpentine manner, flanked on all sides with verbenas and scores of choice and fragrant house plants. Mr. Salmon and his family are as careful and watchful of Mr. Baldwin as they are of cultivating choice domestic and exotic plants.

Patrick Murphy, who for more than thirty-five years was a resident of this village died at his home on South First street Monday morning a few minutes before eleven o'clock. He was born in Ireland in 1815 and was 68 years of age the 17th inst. He was a sufferer from rheumatism for many years but his end was accelerated by repeated shocks of paralysis. He was well known in this locality as "Boss" Murphy having earned that cognomen by his continuous and faithful service as a foreman on public works during the enlargement of the Oswego canal and since. Mr Murphy was a frank, generous man; a kind and obliging neighbor and his many kindly qualities of heart will long be remembered. A widow and three sons and three daughters survive him. Of the sons, Jeremiah and Richard reside in New York and James in Fulton. The whole family will be present at the funeral which [illegible] this afternoon at the church of Immaculate Conception. Rev Father Kennedy will officiate.

Buy your Clothing of the New York Clothing Co. [illegible] First street, [illegible] 39

[illegible]

[illegible] will be surrendered. Who holds it?

Regents' Examination.

The result of the Regents Examination of the present term of Fulton Union School prove to be more than satisfactory. There were passed, 44 preliminary and 61 advanced academic papers and are now in Albany being acted upon.

Returned to Fulton.

Rev Lyon who was arrested in this village and taken to Elmira to answer to a charge of forgery has returned. He was arraigned on the original indictment pleaded not guilty, and was released on $500 bail until the June term of court. He is holding services in the Ontario street school house and will preach there this evening at half past seven o'clock.

A Benefit Social.

The friends of Rev L. Golden will make him a farewell visit, for his benefit, at his residence on 2d street, Wednesday evening March 28. For the convenience of any business men who would like to avail themselves of the opportunity, supper will be served from six to ten o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all. BY ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

Fulton, March 21.

Grand Allegorical Tableaux.

Hager's Grand Historical Drama, Allegory and Tableaux will be presented at the Opera House Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. It is under the auspices of Post Schenck G. A. R. and some three hundred school children will participate. Scenes from the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers to date will be deliniated. Messrs John C. Cullivan, William Hardy and Herman Lang have kindly consented to assist. Reserved seat tickets at Watson's drug store.

Business Failure.

A notice posted on the front door of the undertaking and furniture establishment of David Hendrick this morning announces that his goods will be sold at sheriff's sale Tuesday, March 27, 1883, at 10 o'clock a. m. Mr. Hendrick has been in business in Fulton since the spring of 1880. He did business in Pulaski, Sterling and Hannibal at different times before coming to Fulton. He is closed on an action issued out of the Supreme Court in favor of Willard Johnson amounting to $270.00.

Somewhat of an Error.

A correspondent writing from Palermo to the Oswego Times and Express of yesterday says:

The remains of Mrs Elizabeth Hancock of Oswego Falls, formerly a resident of Palermo, and an adopted daughter of Rev Wm Peck, were interred in the Sayles Corners cemetery yesterday by the side of her former husband, Mr John Mason, who died of starvation and neglect in Libby prison.

Mrs Hancock is living and in good health at her home in Oswego Falls and whether the above was penned as a joke or otherwise friends ask that the Times and Express make the necessary correction.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton. Oswego County on March 21, 1883.

Miss Flora Allen, Peter Hamilton, Mary J. Lybolt, Miss Maud Nims, Lewis Phelps, Miss Minnie Rogers, Mrs. Mary Wells, Clark Wildan, Mrs. Jane Wyre.

DROPS.

Mrs. Kate Chappel, Mrs. Wm. Dyson, Mrs. James Mack, Melos Merritt, Anna Mahar, Adelia Miller, John Muller, Abram T. Moss.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

Cornell House Changes Hands.

Manly B Clark, better known as "Tip" Clark, has purchased the Cornell House and will immediately assume its management. Mr Clark is a genial and popular man and will make an excellent landlord. No pains will be spared to cater to the wants of the public.

Mr Cornell has purchased a new hotel in Baldwinsville, erected by Payn Bigelow, and will move to that village and take charge of it. Mr Cornell has conducted a first class hotel in Fulton and has met with a deserving patronage. He has not only made an excellent landlord but an equally good citizen and we are sorry to lose him. Baldwinsville may rest assured of having a thoroughly first class hotel.

Mrs. Catherine DeLong died in Fulton Thursday at the residence of her son John, on the Flats. She was 95 years of age. The Oswego Palladium says Mrs DeLong was born in Kingston, Ont., and lived in Oswego until eight months ago when she removed to Fulton. She was the mother of 27 children, 16 of whom are still alive, a number being residents of that city. Her grand-children and her great grand-children are said to number about 150.

[illegible] you can buy teas, coffees and [illegible] J. Cooley Tucker [illegible] goods.

[illegible] of Rochester [illegible]

[illegible] has an arrival in his family. A little daughter.

Appropriate Easter services at Zion Church Sunday morning.

Mrs. R. L. Richardson has gone to Michigan for an extended visit.

The juiciest cuts of western beef are being sliced at Wilcox's meat market.

James Stevens has removed to his new residence on First street in Oswego Falls.

The Board of Excise met Monday evening and granted druggist R. E. Phillips a license.

William Sweeny the clothier, will occupy the store to be vacated by Hendrick, after April first.

An infant child of Fred and Cora McCulloch died at their residence on Utica street Thursday morning.

E. G. Hubbard is associated with J. J. Bonney in the feather bed renovating business in Baldwinsville.

Mrs. Sarah Warner, preceptress of the Phœnix Academy, is spending her vacation with her parents in this village.

Miss Lottie Royce has accepted a position as instructor in the public schools at New Rochelle, Westchester Co., N. Y.

Raleigh Mosher is reported as sick at the residence of his aunt Mrs. Esther Scribner Oswego. His mother is with him.

Asa Phillips, father of R. E. Phillips, has purchased a small farm near Granby Centre, and will remove there about April 1st.

Will Tucker, son of J. C. Tucker, is filling a position of train despatcher on one of the elevated railroads in New York City.

Mrs. Mary E. Montague was married December 27, 1882, to Lyman Bennett. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are residing on Buffalo street.

W. S. Taft and John Sharp gathered in a red fox Wednesday in the northern part of the town, the largest ever seen in this county.

The Spanish Students will give a concert in Stephens Opera house next Monday evening. Tickets for sale at Watson's drug store.

Rev. A. U. Hutchins will remove to Syracuse about April 1st. and we shall lose a useful and much honored clergyman and citizen.

J. Bailey & Son will remove their stock of clothing to the store underneath THE TIMES office and remain until their new store is built.

Martin Eckhart, the injured brakeman whose right limb was amputated, is doing nicely. Conductor Stewart is at his home in Notwich also improving.

Herbert G. Lyttle of New York has been a guest of Dr Daniel Pardee for a few days. His many friends in this vicinity will be pleased to learn that he is enjoying a lucrative practice in that city.

The President of the village of Oswego Falls submits the estimates for the coming year as follows:—Assessor's fund $25; clerk $50; office rent; $25; lamp fund $300; printing fund $25; cross walk $200; tannery bridge $300. Total $925

There will be Easter services at the M. E. church next Sunday evening. A beautiful programme has been prepared for the Sunday School, supplemented by declamations, short addresses and appropriate music. An invitation is extedded to the public.

The Royal Hand Bell Ringers gave a most excellent exhibition in Stephens Opera house last Wednesday evening. It was one of the best musical entertainments ever produced in Fulton and should they return they will be greeted with a house commensurate with their merits.

Albert B. Ostrander will leave this evening for Mexico. He occupies the position of superintendent of the water service of the Mexican construction company, with headquarters at Chihauhua, Old Mexico. He is on a railroad that is being built from El Paso, Texas, to the city of Mexico.

Rev A U Hutchins will conduct next Sunday at Phœnix an Easter service, morning and evening. The society are corresponding with Rev Mr Roblin of Canton, with a view to a settlement as pastor of that society. Rev Mr Roblin preached four Sundays in the Jefferson street church during his vacation.

The only place in Fulton where you can be sure of finding genuine Old Government Java, Rio, Mocha and Maracaibo coffee is at J. Cooley Tucker's crockery store.

STAVE BOLTS.

Cash paid for WHITE and RIM ASH [illegible] heading bolts. [illegible] will call at [illegible]. D. E. MA[illegible]

Fulton, Jan 27, '83.

[illegible] whole territory [illegible] depends in [illegible] force of the enemy. Collections are usually taken at every service.

A Live Business City.

Syracuse is noted for the progressiveness and business spontaneous willingness to assist and encourage any kind of legitimate business to anchor in its midst. As a result of this liberal spirit it finds itself to-day a lively manufacturing city and its population and business gradually and satisfactorily increasing. The Board of Trade of Syracuse has published its annual report by which it appears that the city has 28 incorporated manufacturing companies, 60 hotels, 27 printing and publishing establishments, 18 newsrooms, 30 jewelry shops, 25 dry goods houses, 17 fancy stores, 11 gentlemen's furnishing stores, 31 furniture stores, 30 livery stables, 70 meat markets, 29 drug stores, 100 boot and shoe stores and shops, 18 coal dealers, 50 builders, 8 merchant tailoring shops, 34 music teachers, 65 cigar manufactories, 9 architects, 110 dressmakers, 300 grocers, 300 saloons and restaurants, 110 lawyers and 140 physicians. There are about 2,800 business houses, representing three hundred branches of trade. Of the leading industries, the manufacture of salt furnishes employment for the greatest number of men, the manufacture of cigars ranks second in this respect, and clothing third. In the manufacture of iron and wood, thousands find employment throughout the year. In 1882 over 29,000,000 cigars were made, on which the government tax was $185,650.80. The eight incorporated banks and banking companies, have $1,499,000 capital, $598.000 surplus, and $4,168,000 deposits, besides two savings banks, with $1,795,000 surplus, and $9,750,000 deposits. The total business of the city last year was over $70,000,000, and $25,206,000 was employed in transacting it. The four railroads brought 756,825 tons of freight and carried 1,048,681, while the canals brought 451,098 tons and carried 430,283. The Western Union Telegraph Company handled 599,612 messages during the year. Syracuse employs about 400 commercial agents to represent its various trades and industries.

Of church edifices Syracuse has 48, of which the Baptists have 3; the Congregationalists, 1; the Disciples, 1; the Jews, 3; the Lutherans, 6; the Methodists, 13; the Presbyterians, 4; the Episcopalians, 7, including a mission and chapel; the Reformed Dutch, 1; the Roman Catholics, 7; the Unitarians, 1; and the Universalists, 1. These church buildings have together a seating capacity of 40,000.

H. & A. Rosenbloom, the Clothiers, have secured the services of an experienced cutter from Rochester. They will be in readiness about April 1st to receive orders. A perfect fit will be guaranteed in all the latest styles.

That Husband of Mine

Is three times the man he was before he began using "Wells' Health Renewer." $1. Druggists.

Buy only the best. Cheapness in price means cheapness in quality. Sole agency for Estey, Mason & Hamlin, Sterling, organs, Weber. Fisher. and other first-class pianos at Bristol's

A WARNING TO FARMERS!

Farmers coming to Fulton before buying a dollars worth of Clothing be sure you read the sign carefully New York Clothing Company, as some dealers have been trying to palm off inferior goods on our name and merit. Remember the place, 31 First St., in the Stevens confectionery store. All goods not satisfactory taken back and money refunded.

New York Clothing Co.
39 WM. SWEENEY, Manager.

For The Ladies.

Miss H. P. VanBurn cordially invites the ladies of Oswego county and vicinity to call and investigate the Dressmakers' Magic Scale. It is not a model or chart, but a Square of inches. With it we cut for the smallest child or largest woman. Our charges complete, including System, instructions, and instruction book is but $5.00; thereby placing it within the reach of all. Any lady wishing to purchase the Magic Scale, Advanced Studies, Measure Books, Tracing Wheels or tape lines will please call on Miss VanBuren at the residence of Martin VanBuren First street Fulton. Or address by mail P.O. Box 583 Fulton N.Y.

YOU CAN NOW

Obtain 5 yards handsome ribbon for 30 cents, or 5 yards wider at 50 cents. Where? at

F. E. BACON'S.

WE HAVE IT!

But do not expect to have it long It is the Choicest Black Silk at $2.00 per yard we have ever shown in Fulton.

F. E. BACON.

These never "stick peel or crack" rubber circulars at F. E. Bacons are a success. We have a sufficient quantity for [illegible] [illegible] THIS [illegible]

[illegible] secretary. It was voted to pay $1.50 per 100 pounds for making.

Oswego Palladium.—The next annual session of the Northern New York conference will be held in the State street Methodist church, Watertown, commencing April 5 and continuing about a week. The number of changes among the ministers of the district will be larger than usual. About forty pastors have served the full term of three years in their respective charges and will be assigned new places.

Park Wheeler, of Syracuse, formerly treasurer of Onondaga county, was sentenced to fifteen years imprisonment in Auburn in 1877, for forgery, and was pardoned by Governor Cleveland Thursday and returned to citizenship on the condition, however, that he abstain from the use of intoxicating drinks for a period of five years. Wheeler committed the forgery while under the influence of drink. He is an able man and the action of the Governor meets with approval wherever the circumstances attending his crime are known.

McCULLY & CO

Sell the Randall Harrow. 44

Of all the comforts of this life,
My doting heart could bring her,
There's nothing ever pleased my wife,
Like that machine the Singer.

Buy one of Bristol.

For twenty-five to thirty-five cents you can get as good teas at J. Cooley Tucker's store as are sold in Oswego county for fifty cents.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, March 20, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, a full board, except Trustee Johnson.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The finance committee reported the following bills correct, and orders were drawn for the amounts:

R R Dodge, highway	$77 58
" Hardware	9 00
L. H. Patterson, salary	25 00

Mr Herrick was made a committee of one to arrange with Mr Stephens for license at the Opera house with power to act.

On motion of Trustee Herrick a vote of thanks was tendered the President and Clerk for the efficient manner in which they have presided at the meetings of the board.

Board adjourned to March 27, 1883, at 9 a. m. in Nichols hall.

Charter Election.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the village of Fulton, will be held at Nichols hall, Tuesday March 27, 1883, for the purpose of electing a president in the place of Francis M. Wilson for one year and two trustees in place of trustees Herrick and LaLonde for three years, whose terms of office expire on that day. Also to raise the necessary amounts for the general expenses of the village for the ensuing year, and such other business as may come before the meeting.

The polls to be open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

F. M. WILSON, President,
W. D. PATTERSON,
WILLARD JOHNSON,
J. F. HERRICK,
J. H. CAVANAUGH,
J. LALONDE,
L. H. PATTERSON, Clerk. Trustees.

McCARTHY'S
CHINA HALL,
OSWEGO, N. Y.

Great Spring opening of over $50,000 worth of new crockery, china, glassware, lamps, chandeliers, silver plated ware, baby carriages, tin, wooden willow and fancy ware wares. house furnishing goods, etc. to retail below any chinaware establishment outside of New York city. It will certainly pay the people of Fulton and vicinity to visit McCARTHY'S great wholesale and retail Palace China Hall, No. 31 Jefferson Block, Oswego, N. Y. JAMES McCARTHY.

431y

CONSUMPTION.

It is said that 70,000 people die annually in the United States alone from this disease. This can and should be avoided; our people are too careless about an ordinary cough or cold, and other symptoms of throat and lung affections that lead to this disease. Two or three doses of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup will relieve an ordinary cough or cold. It does not dry up a cough like many preparations, and leave the disease behind it but acts directly on the throat and bronchial tubes, removing all the phlegm and morbid matter that accumulates in the throat and lungs. It allays all irritation, and renders the voice clear and distinct. Trial size free. Sold by M. M. Williams.

PILES.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, particularly at night. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the Tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure, where all other remedies have failed. Do not delay but try it and be cured. Price 50 cents. Sent prepaid on receipt of price. Address, The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, Ohio. Sold by M. M. Williams.

[illegible] Cows [illegible]

Having [illegible] through the [illegible] dairy Cows, at my farm [illegible] and one-half miles [illegible]

43t3 JACOB [illegible]

For Sale.

I am about to leave Fulton and would like to dispose of many varieties of choice house plants, a mocking bird, furniture, and many articles of household use. REV L. GOLDEN.

Fulton, March 14, 1883.

Rooms To Let.

The rooms in the Pratt block, formerly occupied by Watson & Read, over Robinson & Langdon's store. A fine suite of rooms. Connects with the Lewis House. Enquire of JOHN W. PRATT.

Fulton, March 14, 1883.

For Sale.

The very valuable property on First Street and running back to Second, well known as the Hull place. For sale cheap. A great bargain for capitalists. Will be sold as a whole or in parts.

Enquire at F. D. VANWAGENEN'S,
Real Estate Agency, No. 10 First St.

For Sale.

One hundred bushels of Late Beauty of Hebron potatoes. Price $1.00 per bushel. It has all the fine table qualities of Early Rose and will yield very much more on ordinary light soil. For common farm cultivation it has no superior. They please everyone.

Address, E. D. CHAPMAN,
44t5 Oswego Falls, N. Y.

Eggs For Sale.

WYANDOTTES AND LEGHORNS.

Persons wishing eggs for hatching from my premium stock of Brown Leghorns and Wyandottes can get them at my yard on Third street upper Oswego Falls at $1.00 per setting of 13 for Brown Leghorns; $1.50 per setting of 13 for Wyandottes. CHAS. B. GUILE.

44tf Oswego Falls, N. Y.

FOR SALE OR EHCHANGE.

A fine mill property and private fish pond, a few miles east of Fulton. The mill has a capacity of sawing from 3 to 5 thousand feet of lumber per day, and from 5 to 10 thousand shingles. The best watered farm around. A great bargain for profit and pleasure.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.

HAMMOCK
Twines [in balls,]
Rings and Hooks,
—ALSO—
Hammocks, any Size and Style, on hand or made to order at WATERMAN'S.

DON'T BUY
Any Fishing Tackle or Repair Supplies until you have called at WATERMAN'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO. W. BELL,
The only Graduate in Oswege County.
VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,
(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)
has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in
Fulton Every Saturday.
His Headquarters will be at the
LEWIS HOUSE BARN,
where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.
Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.
All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.
Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.
Telegrams and communications addressed to Foucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to.

You are invited to call and inspect the large stock and new styles of wagons and carriages at Bristol's.

SPRING STOCK
CROCKERY, GLASS,
SILVERWARE, &C.
[illegible]

[illegible]

...READING MATTER [illegible] A YEAR FOR $2.50

[illegible] more than 18,000 lines of choice literature [illegible] equalling the contents of a [illegible]

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

will be mailed, postage free for six months for $1.25, or three months for 75 cents. Sample copies sent when requested. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 8 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that the The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol, 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of

Political News

[illegible]

[illegible]

Hemorrhages. [illegible] Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT	50c., $1.00, $1.75
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S
VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (3)

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS.

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffalo, N.Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald.

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

The Utica Herald, in both its daily and weekly editions, has long been universally recognized as the best newspaper published in Northern and Central New York. [illegible] in the home circle as in the office and workshop. [illegible]

[illegible] whiskey and cod liver oil that ma is taking for her cough. I put some on my pancakes and pretended to taste it, and I told pa the syrup was sour and not fit to eat. Pa was mad in a second, and he poured some on his pancake and said I was getting too confounded particular. He said the syrup was good enough for him, and he sopped his pancake in it and fired some down his neck. He is a gaul durned hypocrite, that's what he is. I could see by his face that the cod liver oil was nearly killing him, but he said that syrup was all right and if I didn't eat mine he'd break my back, and by gosh I had to eat it, and pa said he guessed he didn't have much appetite and he would just drink a cup of coffee and eat a doughnut. I like to dide. But I felt sorry for ma. Ma ain't got a very strong stummick, and when she got some of that cod liver oil in her mouth she went right up stairs, sickern a horse, and pa had to help her, and she had nooralgia all the morning. I eat pickles to take the taste out of my mouth, and then I laid for the hired girls. They eat too much syrup anyway, and when they got onto that cod liver oil and swallowed a lot of it, one of them, a nirrish girl, she got up from the table and put her hand on her corset and said 'Howly Saints,' and went out in the kitchen, as pale as ma is when she has powder on her face, and the other girl who is Dutch, she swallowed a pancake and said, 'Mine Gott, vas de matter from me,' and she went out and leaned on the coal bin. Then they talked Irish and Dutch and got clubs and started to look for me, and I thought I would come over here. The whole family is sick, but I guess they will get over it. Pa and I are going to Chicago next week, and I'll bet we'll have some fun. Pa says I need a change of air, and I think he is trying to lose me. It's a cold day when I get left anywhere that I can't find my way back." [Milwaukee Sun.

THUNDER IT DOWN THE AGES.

That for lameness, for rheumatism, for aches, for pains, and for sprains, Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil can be purchased of any druggist.

Wanted an Understanding.

An Illinois merchant, who was taking baking-powder in bulk from a Chicago firm, called at headquarters the other day to say that there was something wrong with the goods.

"I don't think so," was the reply, "we make the best article sold in the West."

"I think we ought to have a more perfect understanding," continued the dealer. "Now, then, you adulterate before you send to me; then I adulterate before I ship; then the retailer adulterates before he sells, and the consumer can't be blamed for growling. I want to see if we can't agree on some schedule to be followed."

"What do you mean?"

"Why, suppose you put in 10 per cent of chalk; then I put in 20 per cent. of whiting; then the retailer puts in 30 per cent of flour. That gives the consumer about 40 per cent. of baking-powder, and unless he's a born hog he'll be perfectly satisfied. You see, if you adulterate 50 per cent. on the start, and I adulturate as much more, and the retailer adulterates as much more as both together, it's mighty hard for the consumer to tell whether he's investing in baking-powder or putty. We must give him something for his money, if it's only chalk."

CAN'T SAY ENOUGH.

"I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters; they have been a great blessing to me. Cured me of biliousness and dyspepsia from which I had suffered for years." Mr. J. Marsh Bank of Toronto, Ont.

A Big Business in Dressed Meats.

The business in dressed meats has grown to enormous proportions in Chicago. More than 7,000,000 hogs, and 2,000,000 hogs, and 2,000,000 head of beef cattle have been slaughtered there in a year. These are conveyed to the stock yards by eighteen different railroads. The killing is now usually done by shooting the animal just back of the ear, and machinery does nearly all the work of dressing. It is only three to five minutes from the time a bullock is shot until he is quartered, ready for the ice box. The furnishing of fresh beef to the eastern market began only a few years ago, when our firm undertook to send choice cuts to several hotels near Chicago, and found that the plan worked well enough to prove the feasibility of shipments to more distant points. There were delay and losses at first, but a suitable refrigerator car was soon invented and now there are no difficulties in the traffic. After the best parts of the carcass are shipped, the coarse meat is canned or made into sausage, the blood dried, and the bones ground for fertilizers, the horns sold to comb-makers, and every scrap turned to account in some way.

DESERVEDLY POPULAR.

Unless it had great merit Parker's Ginger Tonic could not be so popular. Its sale has spread remarkably everywhere, [illegible]

[illegible]

J. B. SMITH,
18 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take

BLUE PILLS

or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

IT IS Dangerous!

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."
Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,
MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."
159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."
Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.
JOSEPH WALDEN."
Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."
Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

[illegible]

KIDNEY-WORT

LINCOLN [illegible] HOOF HOLDER.

[illegible] into a dwelling or house on the premises for his own comfort without the intention to permanently annex it, he may remove at any time before the expiration of his lease. This would include such things as cupboards, shelves, coal bins, and even a stairway has been held to be within the rules. All trade fixtures and temporary structures, whether frame or brick, and without regard to their size may be taken down and carried off by a tenant who erected them. Even a dwelling house is not a part of the fealty, if the right to remove it is reserved. All the landlord can legitimately demand is to have his property restored to his possession in as good order as received by the tenant, ordinary wear and tear excepted. Whatever a tenant puts in of a movable nature he may take away, but his carpenter work must not injure or permanently alter the property. All these decisions concur that these removals of fixtures must be made within the term of the lease. All that is on the land after the lease has expired reverts to the landlord."

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Railroad men, mechanics, commercial trevellers, baseballists, farmers and others who labor out of doors, are peculiarly liable to accident and injury. Thomas Eclectric Oil for bruises, burns, bites and sprins, is one of the finest applications yet devised.

Scared by a Fiddle.

A very amusing scene, which illustrates the superstition and ignorance of the colored people on the peninsula, occurred in the kitchen of a hotel at Milford, Pa., a few nights ago. A lad had been playing a few tunes on an old violin, and the others had been dancing to his music in a merry mood. When bed time arrived the boy hung his fiddle near the window, and all were in the act of retiring when low strains were heard to issue from the fiddle, which was untouched by human hands. There was a general stampede from the house into the snow, and cries that the fiddle was bewitched. One colored man said it was the ghost of Samuel Mason, who was murdered a few weeks since at Milford, and another declared that he had recognized the shades of his dead father. Finally the bravest peered into the kitchen and heard the fiddle still making the mysterious sounds, and, getting a pole, he knocked it from the nail and burned it, just as our Puritan fathers of New England punished witches. But none of the colored people would sleep in the house that night. It is, perhaps, unnecessary to add that the current of air was playing upon the violin.

HONESTY THE BEST POLICY

In advertising a medicine it is best to be honest; deception will never do; the people wont stand it. Let the truth be known that Burdock Blood Bitters cure scrofula, and all eruptions of the skin. This medicine is sold everywhere by druggists.

Good Grounds For Divorce.

There is a gentleman out West who has applied for divorce for good and sufficient reasons. He declares in an affidavit that while he does not care to make a more definite charge against his wife he would like an order of the Court prohibiting the indiscriminate use of the flat iron. He says that the aforesaid useful implement has on several occasions whirled through the domestic atmosphere of his house with alarming force and such close proximity to his head as to be very suggestive. Such is the fearful tyranny of a woman's will that unless he obeys an order instanter, if he hesitates a moment to reason about the matter, this offensive missile begins its gyrations, and, skilled as he is in dodging, he cannot hope to be always successful. Unwilling to fill an early grave he beseeches the Court to drop a line to his wife that there are husbands in the world who prefer to die of old age. He further admits that he knew before marriage that the lady's temper was rather stronger than a zephyr; but when he entered the marriage state he had no idea that he would so soon be struck by a cyclone. [N. Y. Herald.

UGLY AND HATEFUL,

but I couldn't help it. Everything went wrong with me, and I thought I hadn't a friend in the world, dyspepsia caused this and for months I couldn't eat anything and just suffered in misery till I used Sulphur Bitters, three bottles cured me. [D. Lewis, 25 Bowdoin St., Boston.
42w2.

A Hunter's Yarn.

There is a man in the mountains who says that once upon a time he was chasing a deer and falling over a precipice, his head struck in a sharp rock so that he could not extricate it. He at once took out his hunting-knife, cut off his head, picked up his body and hastened home for his wife who returned with him, secured his head, put it back to its right place, and the two went on their way rejoicing. The deer escaped.

Why continue the use of remedies that only relieve, when Ely's Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in head, [illegible]

[illegible] the word SAFE with picture of an iron Safe, on black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

Rev. Father Wilds'
EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSRS. J. C. AYER & Co., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles for $5.

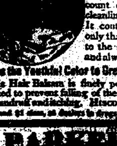
AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS

—Best Purgative Medicine—

cure Constipation, Indigestion, Headache, and all Bilious Disorders.

Sold everywhere. Always reliable.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.



This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION! [illegible]

FLORESTON

[illegible] Hiscox & Co. [illegible]

COLOGNE

[illegible] If people who [illegible] without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls.

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to

Very Resp't'y Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAN.

BROWN MCALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14*th Street*

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51t

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. [illegible] by mail [illegible] ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

[illegible]

Wm. B. Howard [illegible]

Dated Jan'y 5th 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDI[illegible]

In pursuance of an order of Hon. [illegible] Surrogate of Oswego County, notice is given to all persons having claims against [illegible] Wilber, late of the town of Volney in [illegible] deceased; to present their accounts with vouchers thereof to the undersigned at [illegible] dence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on or before the 15th day of July 1883, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Ovid V. Ta[illegible]

Dated, Jan. 16, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF [illegible] Eudora Randall against James Randall. Action for a divorce. [illegible] named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's [illegible] within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, [illegible] will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 23d. day of January, 1883.

WM. C. CHURCH[illegible]
Pl'ff's At[illegible]

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co. [illegible]

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you, by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 23d day of Jan'y 1883 [illegible] filed with the complaint, in the office of the clerk of Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. C. CHURCH[illegible]
Pl'ff's At[illegible]

36w6

MORTGAGE SALE.—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage of real property situated within the state of New York, whereby the power to sell has become operative, notice is hereby given that said mortgage, which is dated the 18th day of May 1876, and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county of Oswego at Oswego, N. Y., on the 18th day of [illegible] 1876, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Liber 109 of mortgages at page 210, was given by Helen M. Foster, mortgagor, to Constantia V. Auringer, mortgagee, and the name of each assignee of said mortgage [illegible] Orlando Howell. The sum claimed to be due on said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is six hundred and forty-three dollars and eighty-six cents ($643.86). The following is a description of the mortgaged property, contained in said mortgage: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the village of Fulton, county of Oswego and state of New York, specially described as seventy-four and seven-tenths (74 7-10) feet taken off from the north end of lot number [illegible] block number twenty-eight (28) as laid down on a printed map of said village, and being sixty-six feet in width on Oneida street and seventy-four and seven-tenths 74 7-10 feet deep. Pursuant to the power of sale contained therein, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the said mortgaged property, or a part thereof at public auction at the law office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, county of Oswego, New York, on the 2d day of June, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated, and subscribed at Fulton, N. Y., this [illegible] day of March 1883. ORLANDO HOWELL, Howe & Rice, Att'ys, Assignee.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK to Hiram [illegible]er, Colborne, Ont. Canada; [illegible]son Spencer, Van Wert, Decatur Co., Iowa; [illegible]ton Spencer, Van Wert, Decatur Co., Iowa; [illegible] Geer, Oronogo, Jasper Co., Missouri; [illegible] Dixon, Kappa, Woodford Co., Illinois; Mary A[illegible] Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Elijah Spencer, [illegible]wego, New York; Emma Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Mattie Best, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Jane Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Charles L. Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; George Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; [illegible] Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Albert Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., New York; Mary [illegible]ery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Addie Gr[illegible] Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Eva Wood, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Adelle Bernacky, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Dennis Spencer, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Russel Spencer; residence unknown, and to the heirs and next of kin of Eunice A. Spencer late of the town of Schroeppel in the county of Oswego, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas Charles L. Spencer of the town of Schroeppel in the county of Oswego, has made application to our Surrogate of the county of Oswego, to have a certain instrument in writing relating to real and personal estate, duly proved as the last will and testament of said Eunice A. Spencer deceased; therefore, you and each of you are hereby cited, and required personally to be and appear before our said Surrogate, at the office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, in said county of Oswego, on the 6th day of April next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend to the probate of said instrument as the last will and testament of said deceased.

And if any of the persons interested be under the age of twenty-one years, they are required to appear by their guardian, if they have one, or if they have none, that they appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in event of their neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate, to represent and act for them in the proceedings.

In Witness Whereof, we have caused the seal of office of our said Surrogate's Court of the county of Oswego, to be hereunto affixed

[L. S.] Witness, Timothy W. Skinner, Surrogate of the said county, at the village of [illegible]ico, in said county, the 14th day of February in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

The above citation is published by order of Surrogate. GEORGE M. BENNETT,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court of Oswego County.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY,
NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY
New York. Assets, over $2,400,000

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,062,585.1[illegible]

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000
Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS'
FIRE AND MARINE
INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASS.
Assets, $1,271,[illegible]

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
46 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of Hartford
PHŒNIX " [illegible]
CONNECTICUT " [illegible]
FIRE ASSOCIATION of Philadelphia
NIAGARA " New York
Liverpool, London and Globe of [illegible]
COMMERCIAL UNION of [illegible]
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN [illegible]
LONDON and LANCASHIRE [illegible]
HAMBURG, BREMEN of [illegible]

Office Cor. Second and Oneida [illegible]
Fulton.

—NOVELTY MI[illegible]

[illegible] Grist [illegible]

—AT THE—

[illegible]

[illegible] of rest, as you,
[illegible] much of it, never can
[illegible] surely, I never have worked in vain,
[illegible] the spring to the golden fall;
[illegible] harvest has ever brought waving grain,
[illegible] enough and to spare for all.
[illegible] when in the evening, freed from care
[illegible] at my farm house door
My wife and little ones waiting there.
Oh, what has the millionaire more!

[illegible] children may never have hoarded wealth;
Their lives may at times be rough;
But if in their homes they have love and health,
They will find these riches enough.
The only land they will ever own
Is the land that the strong right arm,
And the patient, fearless heart alone
Can till to a fertile farm.

I have nothing beyond my simple wants
And a little for cloudy days;
[illegible] no grim spectre my homestead haunts,
Such as silver and gold might raise.
Around me are eyes that with sparkling mirth
Or with placid contentment shine—
[illegible] no wreath-clogged lord upon all the earth
Has a lot more blessed than mine.

Oh, yes, I'm laboring all day long,
With the mind and the muscle, too;
But I thank the Lord, who has made me strong,
And given me work to do,
For what indeed is the idle drone
But a vampire on the land,
Eating fruit that by others was sown,
And not by his own right hand!"

Far more valuable than those golden apples of Hesperides are the life, health and beauty of Womanhood. Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restores and preserves all these.

A Letter on Boat Building.

Editor Fulton Times:

CANTON, St Lawrence Co., N. Y.—As I have been sojourning in the northern part of the state a few weeks, I would like to give your readers a brief description of boat building as carried on here. I visited the establishment of Mr. J. H. [illegible]ilton, and was shown around by him. He is a young man of energy and enterprise who has established himself in business for the manufacture of various kinds of boats, consisting of sporting boats, canoes and Barnegat sneak boats for hunting, fishing, trapping or pleasure.

The main building is three stories in height and is 30 x 80 feet the wing being [illegible] by 24 feet. Fifteen men are given employment. For material is used white and Spanish cedar, mahogany, black walnut, oak, elm, cherry, pine, ash, birch, spruce, basswood and soft maple. The fastenings are principally copper, some brass and on the cheaper boats iron.

METHOD OF CONSTRUCTION.

An improved lap streak or clinker; [illegible] keel 1 by 1¼ inches (may be of any other dimension) rabited to receive the lower edge of the garboard—first on the [illegible] streak. These are all fitted with [illegible], chisel, rasp, and sand papered till the garboard streak, when in place will make a perfect joint. From six to [illegible] streaks on each side are used according to the size and model of the boat, each pair for opposite sides are shaped and beveled more or less to make a per[illegible] joint where the streaks lap. The [illegible] of the joints depend upon the [illegible] of the workmen who bevel the [illegible] and nail them together, one inch [illegible], when the ribs are in, with copper [illegible] iron nails that are carefully [illegible] on an iron block. No lead is [illegible] to make tight joints. Ribs of red [illegible] by ½ inch (larger ones at the row [illegible]) half round in shape, are, after [illegible] steamed, next put in 1½ inches [illegible] and when gunwales, decks and [illegible] have been added the same weight [illegible] can be used in no other manner to give equal strength. [illegible] of an accident if necessary a [illegible] streak can be cut out and [illegible] inserted without injury to [illegible], and with the addition [illegible] be as good as new [illegible] are three-sixteenths to [illegible] an inch thick. In finish[illegible] shellac and a high [illegible] or best Brooklyn [illegible] His boats vary [illegible] in length, thirty [illegible] 17 to 24 inches [illegible] from 10½ to 13 [illegible] Their weight [illegible]

[illegible] by the [illegible] buildings are away from the high water mark. Out beyond this place, though, the destructive work of the tides is plainly visible. The day was pleasant and the cool breeze was blowing in from the ocean. The waves cames came in, in regular, unbroken lines and quietly receded to make room for those behind them. A few sailing vessels were in sight and dark lines of smoke in the distance told of the speeding in and out of port. The beach was nearly deserted and we enjoyed our walk in silence. We saw in the distance twenty members of the spinning along on the hard sand almost in the breakers. They had an unbroken surface as hard as a floor which extended for some miles, and their dark suits in contrast with the glittering sand formed them all into an animated silhouette. Occasionally a loving couple would come into view, and move along the distant beach as one person. "The world forgotten but not by the world forgot," said Dave as he levelled his field glass at them. We crossed the barren strip that connects West Brighton with Hotel Brighton and continued our walk to the pavilion. It is right here that the tide has done its best work. The promenade in part of the hotel is gone and the foundation of the pavilion is warped and twisted out of place while the floor looks like a plowed field in the spring. Beyond the pavilion is the station of the Marine Railway. The building is still there but no traces of the road remain. The waves have beaten over the breakwater and washed the very foundation from under the road and left in its place a big ditch filled with water and wreckage. In some places the breakwater is also gone. This road, during the summer is one of the most profitable investments known. It extends along the very edge of the water, for about a quarter of a mile and connects Brighton with Manhattan beach. The rolling stock consists of three small engines and ten open cars. It is impossible to reach Manhattan by any other way, for the directors have fenced the beach and back of the station is an impassable marsh. Thus all comers are obliged to drop the willing or unwilling nickel into the company's till. We walked beyond Manhattan as far as the

GREAT OCEAN STEAMSHIPS

NEW YORK BICYCLE CLUB

U. S. LIFE SAVING SERVICE and stopped. The building is a light, trusty structure and everything about it is clean and inviting. One of the men explained the use of the different apparatus and after talking on the current topics of the day we bid the men adieu and started on our homeward jaunt. As we picked our way among the broken docks, timbers and buildings, Dave said a person would not recognize the place if he was to come down two weeks hence. All the rubbish would be cleared away, the buildings repaired, painted, the railroad rebuilt, and with the sunshine and the crowds Coney Island will again look, in the eyes of New Yorkers, a perfect paradise. Active preparations are being made for the coming season. New builings are being put up, the new piers (as solid as ever) are being repainted, and all the "hotels" are being refurnished. The seaside photographers are burnishing up their instruments, the showmen looking up new specialties, the bunko steerer thinking up new schemes to trap the unwary and all the merry-go-rounds are being repainted and the machinery put in order. Shortly the steamers will begin to ply between the Island and New York and then every one can again enjoy the delightful sail down the bay, the fine music and what is better than all, a dip in the cooling ocean. The ocean has over the beach this winter, but soon the tide of humanity will be again surging over the disputed territory in waves of brightness and beauty. Scenes are witnessed at Coney Island that cannot be seen elsewhere, and as the season progresses I will try to [illegible] them to the best of my ability. [illegible]

HELD UNDISPUTED SWAY

[illegible] was the ship that made the passage in three weeks. Cultured travelers from Europe were shocked at the rawness and procivilism everywhere prevalent. Opera all but unknown. The danseuse was an immoral spectacle. Negro minstrelsy had just commenced its career in the shape of a single burnt cork performer at the circus. His popular melody was "Jump Jim Crow." Popular sentiment still handed down from the war of 1812 was bitter against England. City landlords sat at the head of their own tables and carved the beefsteak. In religion liberalism was heretical. In no pulpit was there any compromise allowed in matter of eternal punishment. The locality for lost souls was then a clearly defined fire and brimstone reality. Preachers of different sects waged bitter war against each other. Presbyterianism frowned on Methodism. In country towns Catholicism meant the dreaded dominion of the Pope, and the burning of all Protestants at the stake, if possible. "Stocks" and high shirt collars were then the fashion for gentlemen's neck wear. Beards and moustaches were not respectable. Gentlemen did their own shaving. Pantaloons were strapped under the boots. All boots were "Welingtcn's" and had legs. The general school system meant the "District school" system and the Academy a consumptive and irritable Connecticut teacher, a "box stove," filled with wood, and a Pike's Arithmetic. Party feeling was far more bitter than to-day. The old Federal and colonial families who'd held office since Washington's time, and deemed office theirs by a sort of divine right had just been ousted, and they never forgave Jackson, the ouster. The militia were armed with flint-lock muskets. A militia general was then a man of mark. Everybody chewed Mrs Anderson's or Miller's fine cut tobacco. The spittoon found its place even in the family pew at church. A visit to New York by the villager resident 200 miles distant was an event to be talked over for months. The man who had seen Europe was a marked man for the remainder of his days. The doctors dosed with "bluemass," black draughts and the lancet, yet people occasiona'ly recovered in spite of them. Good butter was a shilling a pound and eggs dear at 18 pence a dozen. Few men took over one daily paper and this often served more than one household. Democrats were know as "locofoes," to whom were opposed the "Whigs." All the elders stood bolt upright in church during prayer. Deacons with red noses were more common than to-day. The ministers were not averse to a glass of toddy during a parochial call. Pillars of the church and of society sometimes walked home from their business offices rather unsteadily about 5 or 6 o'clock. Such habits were more overlooked than at present. The yearly-expenses of the Federal Government was not much over that per annum of the city of New York to-day. Rum was the popular drink; brandy next. How times have changed since the Jacksonian era.

"How are we ever going to get through our spring and summer's work? We are all run down, tired out before it begins." So say many a farmer's family. We answer, go to your druggist and pay five dollars for six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This is just the medicine you need, and will pay compound interest on the investment.

Fashion Notes.

Little collars with hem stitched edges are very fashionable.

A very large quantity of tinsel is to be used on spring hats.

The Bernhardt gloves of silk will be much in vogue during the spring.

A favorite shape for spring hats is quite a large spoon shaped poke bent into an upward point in front.

Spiders in the center of webs swung between two branches are one of the newest designs for ladies hat pins.

Some of the newly imported Jersey jackets are considerably beaded, which gives them an old fashioned look.

[illegible] much used again, not only on evening dresses, as [illegible] through the winter [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] again and again and finally the boy said;

"Yes, it is reported that we had burglars over there. O, you needn't pull that string any more. I heard you was setting a trap for me, and I put a board inside my pants, and thought I would let you exercise yourself. Go ahead, if it amuses you. It don't hurt me."

The grocery man looked sad, and then smiled a sickly sort of a smile at the failure of his plan to puncture the boy, and then he said:

"Well, how was it? The policeman didn't seem to know much about the particulars. He said there was so much deviltry going on at your house that nobody could tell when anything was serious, and he was inclined to think it was a put ub job."

"Now, let's have an understanding," said the boy. "Whatever I say, you are not to give me away. It's a go, is it? I have always been afraid of you, because you have a sort of decayed egg look about you. You are like a peck of potatoes with the big ones on top, a sort of strawberry box, with the bottom raised up, so I thought you would go back on a fellow, but if you won't give this away, here goes. You see, I heard ma tell pa to bring up another bottle of liniment last night. When ma corks herself or has a pain anywhere she just uses liniment for all that is out, and a pint bottle don't last more than a week. Well, I told my chum, and we laid for pa. This liniment ma uses is awful hot and almost blisters. Pa went to the Langtry show and did not get home till 11 o'clock and ma and my chum decided to teach pa a lesson. I don't think it is right for a man to go to the theatres and not take his wife or his little boy. So we concluded to burgle pa. We agreed to lay on the stairs, and when he came up my chum was to hit him on the head with a dried bladder, and I was to stab him on the breast pocket with a stick, and break the liniment bottle, and make him think that he was killed. It couldn't have worked better if we had rehearsed it. We had talked about burglars at supper time, and got pa nervous, so when he came up stairs and was hit on the head with the bladder, the first thing he said was, 'Burglars by mighty,' and he started to go back, and then I hit him on the breast pocket, where the bottle was, and then I rushed by him, down stairs, and I said in a stage whisper, 'I guess he's a dead man,' and went down cellar and up the back stairs to my room and undressed. Pa hollered to ma that he was murdered, and ma called me, and I came down in my night shirt, and the hired girl she came down, and pa was on the lounge and he said his life-blood was fast ebbing away. He held his hand on the wound, and said he could feel the warm blood trickle clear down to his boots. I told pa to stuff some tar into the wound, such as he told me to put on my lip to make my moustache grow, and pa said, 'My boy, this is no time for trifling. Your pa is on his last legs. When I came up stairs I met six burglars, and I attacked them, and forced four of them down, and was going to hold them and send for the police when two more, that I did not know about, jumped on me, and I was getting the best of them, when one of them struck me over the head with a crowbar, and the other stabbed me to the heart with a butcher-knife. I have received my death wound, my boy, and my hot southern blood, that I offered up so freely for my country, in her time of need, is passing from my body, and soon your pa will be only a piece of poor clay. Get some ice and put it on my stomach, and all the way down, for I am burning up.' I went to the water pitcher and got a chunk of ice and put it inside of pa's shirt, and while ma was tearing up an old shirt to stop the flood of blood, I asked pa if he felt better, and if he could describe the villains who had murdered him. Pa gasped and moved his legs to get them cool from the clotted blood, he said, and went on:

'One of them was six feet high, and had a sandy moustache. I got him down and hit him in the nose, and if the police find him his nose will be broke. The second was thick set, and weighed about two hundred. I had him down and my boot was upon his neck when I [illegible]. The third [illegible]

[illegible] a deacon in the church, [illegible] came in and sat down on the counter, over the darning needle, and as the grocery man came in with the coal, the boy pulled the string and went out doors and tipped over a basket of rutabagas, while the deacon got down off the counter with his hand clasped, and anger in every feature, and told the grocery man that he could whip him in two minutes. The grocery man asked what was the matter, and the deacon hunted up the source from whence the darning needle came through the counter, and as the boy went across the street the deacon and grocery man were rolling on the floor, the grocery man trying to hold the deacon's fists while he explained about the needle, and that it was intended for the boy. How it came out the boy did not wait to see.—Peck's Sun.

WORKED WONDERS.

"My daughter was very bad off on account of a cold and pain in her lungs. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured her in twenty-four hours. One of the boys was cured of sore throat. This medicine has worked wonders in our family." Alvah Pinkney, Lake Mahopac, N. Y.

"Take the Tame Heifer."

Constable Gray held an execution against a farmer, and when he called for a settlement the agriculturalist took him into a big pasture and pointed out a wild st[illegible] as the property to be levied upon. Gray chased the steer around the lot for awhile and then sat down, and taking out his book began to write.

"What are you doing there?" asked the granger.

"Charging mileage," replied the constable without looking up.

"Do I have it all to pay?" gasped the rancher.

"Of course."

"Then take the tame heifer here I can't stand any such game as that."

2 BIG THIEVES 2.

Dyspepsia and debility are two big thieves; they creep in and steal our health and comfort before we know it. Let us put a stop to their invasions with a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, to be had at any drug store.

The Growth of Children.

A table prepared by a Freheh Savant gives the following data on the growth of children: During the first year after birth the growth in stature is about seven and a half inches; from two to three it is from four to five; from three to four, an inch and a half; from four to six, two and a quarter inches annually; from seven to eight, two and a half; from eight to twelve, two inches; from twelve to thirteen, one and eight-tenths; from thirteeen to fourteen, two and a quarter; fifteen to sixteen, two; sixteen to seventeen, nearly two. After this, though growth continues [illegible] twenty one, and sometimes for yea[illegible] te: its rate diminishes. Increas[illegible] strides shows weakness of constitu[illegible] or imperfect health, ow is a o owns prohibi-

rah E. to res-
nalities.
od fruit n be du-ery fine
In 1875
ng were as kept rease of burst of

"MY GRANDFATHER'S CLOC[illegible] Was once a very popular song, bu[illegible] many other sentimental tunes it d[illegible] wear well. Dr. Thomas' Eclectri[illegible] will wear; it will wear away all a[illegible] sprains, and pains, and repay its [illegible] chaser a hundred fold.

A good whisky sling—Sling the [illegible] out of the window.

An aeronaut, after inflating, his balloon, highs him away on his trip.

The evil that men do lives after them. Cows don't give oleomargarine until they are dead.

What is that which you cannot hold ten minutes, although it is lighter than a feather? Your breath.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Very few Jacks will become dull boys if left to themselves.

Humorists are not necessarily dark-eyed, but we have seen a good many practical jokers with black eyes.

"Define a gentleman," you say! Well, yes, I think I can!
He's as gentle as a woman and as manly as a man. [London Truth.

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION

Read, ponder and profit thereby. [illegible] Balsam for the throat and lungs [illegible] by all who have used it [illegible] as a [illegible] throat and lung healer. All persons afflicted with that dreadful disease [illegible] will find speedy [illegible]

[illegible] Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY, Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 8 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, Jeweler and Silversmith, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 19

KIDNEY-WORT

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF

CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a

Time on [illegible]

Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

first of April to October, and pl[illegible] snipe from April to July. T[illegible] decoys or bough houses is forb[illegible] a distance greater than twe[illegible] from the shore. The open se[illegible] woodcock and squirrels will be [illegible] ring the months of August, Sep[illegible] October and November. Ruffe[illegible] or partridge may be killed onl[illegible] months of September, October [illegible] vember. And any person found [illegible] cock or grouse cover during t[illegible] season shall be deemed guilty o[illegible]

Best Dyes Ever Made.

FOR SILK, WOOL, OR COTTON.

DRESSES, COATS, SCARFS, HOODS, YARN, STOCKINGS, CARPET RAGS, RIBBONS, FEATHERS, or any fabric or fancy article easily and perfectly colored to any shade. Black, Brown, Green, Blue, Scarlet, Cardinal Red, Navy Blue, Seal Brown, Olive Green, Terra Cotta and 20 other best colors. Warranted Fast and Durable. Each package will color one to four lbs. of goods. If you have never used Dyes try these once. You will be delighted. Sold by druggists, or send us 10 cents and any color wanted sent post-paid. 24 colored samples and a set of fancy cards sent for a 3c. stamp. WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

GOLD and SILVER PAINT.

Bronze Paint. Artists' Black.

For gilding Fancy Baskets, Frames, Lamps, Chandeliers, and for all kinds of ornamental work. Equal to any of the high priced kinds and only 10cts. a package, at the druggists, or post-paid from WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.

——A First-Class line of——

[illegible]

Board and Tuition [illegible]
Board and Tuition (short week)..........36
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday March 26th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY

THE MOST

Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight-page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, Illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary, it also contains all the usual tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrrees, etc., American Geographical Names with definitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc, Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries, Interest Tables, 4 to 20 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY—the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 63 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 13 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionory.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $1; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT OUT This offer, and ecclose 21 green stamps. If not delighted, you can have your money back. Club of five, $2.75; ten, $5.

THINK of a 700-page, 1,400 column, cloth-gilt Dictionary, and a standard family paper all free for a paltry 63 cts. Send now. Address,

Banner Publishing Co.,
Hinsdale, N. H.

CUT THIS OUT.

WARRANTED	WARRANTED
The best and cheapest Cough Cure in use.	to give satisfaction or money refunded.

Price 25 and 50 cents.

This positive cough cure is placed at the moderate price of 25 cents, within the reach of all classes; and is guaranteed to produce the desired result, where sufficiently thorough trial is given it, to prove its intrinsic merit. For coughs, Colds, and all diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes, it [illegible]

[illegible]

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6.
GEO. J. EMENY,
H. H. GRIDLEY.

CONSUMPTION.

It is said that 70,000 people die annually in the United States alone from this disease. This should be avoided; our people are too careless about an ordinary cough or cold, and other symptoms of throat and lung affections that lead to this disease. Two or three doses of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup will relieve an ordinary cough or cold. It does not dry up a cough like many preparations, and leave the disease behind it, but acts directly on the throat and bronchial tubes, removing all the phlegm and morbid matter that accumulates in the throat and lungs. It allays all irritation, and renders the voice clear and distinct. Trial size free. Sold by M. M. Williams.

PILES.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, particularly at night. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the Tumers, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure, where all other remedies have failed. Do not delay but try it and be cured. Price 50 cents. Sent prepaid on receipt of price. Address, The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, Ohio. Sold by M. M. Williams.

PAPER HANGINGS!

——FOR THE——

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

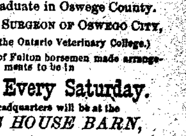
And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

SCHENCK & FOSTER.

VETERINARY SURGEON



DR. GEO. W. BELL,

The only Graduate in Oswego County.

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to.

STONEBUGRH,

Asks Your Attention!

——:0:——

He has Removed
into His New
Store,—Corner of
Broadway and First St.
and has a New, Fresh and
Enlarged Stock of

General Merchandise.

Everything to be found in a

General Assortment Store.

[illegible]

[illegible] with the carpet [illegible]

[illegible] that the Democrats have grasped firmly all [illegible] within its reach [illegible] control of this State.

[illegible] a million of people have petitioned to President Arthur to pardon [illegible] who is serving a sentence in the [illegible] penitentiary for shooting at [illegible]. Mr. Arthur says Mason is a [illegible] and should be treated as such.

The treasurer of the State of Arkansas is short $114,000. He speculated in cotton; had no bondsmen and imprudently informs the authorities that if his system of financiering is distasteful to them to appoint another man. This is the fourth treasurer of a Southern State that has been published a defaulter within three months.

LADY FLORENCE DIXIE who claimed to have been assailed by Fenians, is no doubt a crank. Witnesses who saw her at the time of the alleged assault are trying to prove her untruthfulness. Lady Florence has been contemplating entering the lecture field and has only been trying a little American sensational advertising on British soil.

No surer index of the arrival of Spring is wanted than the announcement that the Indians have decided to resume the war path. The government clothes, houses and feeds them during the winter and chases them all summer to repeat the generous act. An Indian may not know much but they know enough to come in when it's cold.

THE Southern States are gradually granting pensions to ex-Confederates. Tennessee allows $10 per month to every one who lost an eye in the war and North Carolina has voted a pension of $75.00 per year to all maimed and disabled Confederates within her borders. Bills are now pending in nearly all Southern Legislatures to grant pensions.

FRIDAY'S telegraphic columns in the daily papers were freighted with notices of defalcations, robberies, embezzlements and thefts, by trusted employes in different parts of the United States. It is said by many that the commission of crime is not so great as ten years ago, but the telegraph and telephone are omnipresent and are particularly active in voicing the baser side of nature. Good deeds rarely find their way to the front in the telegraphic columns of daily papers on account of their nonsensational character.

THE village board of Brockport N. Y. are in mud knee deep. The cause is the decision of Judge Dwight in the case of Stods vs. trustees of Brockport. Last spring a little daughter of Mrs. Stods was shot in the neck with an air gun, which was being used on Market street, with a license from the trustees; the wound resulted in partial paralysis for life, and Mrs Stods commenced suit against the board for damages. Judge Dwight gave judgment in favor of plaintiff for $2,500, against the trustees individually,

THE Senate last week voted to amend the game law so as to permit fishing on Sunday but the Assembly very properly refused to assent to the change. This same Senate passed a bill that made a libel case triable in any county in the State where a paper circulated. The Assembly very properly applied the knife to this bill and what life the Senate had given it soon passed away. If the public has the patience to read the proceedings of the Senate of the State of New York, daily, they will undoubtedly conclude with us that that body is a peculiar one in many particulars.

OHIO wool growers are indignant at Congress for reducing the duty on wool. A large meeting was held in Columbus Friday and Congress was roundly denounced. Resolutions were adopted declaring that only those who recognize the rights of wool growers should be supported for office. Candidates who had their speeches prepared lauding congress for reducing the duty on wool have been obliged to rewrite them to suit the temper of their constituents. A hole that is too small for a politician to crawl through will not admit much air.

A CORRESPONDENT of a Portland newspaper visited a large jam producing factory, in which he found the work going bravely on, without the aid of fruit at all. Jams of currant, plum, apricot strawberry, raspberry and gooseberry were produced before his eyes, yet neither fruit was in the building—turnips alone were used. The flavoring matter was extracted from coal tar, and resemblance to raspberry and strawberry was perfected by mixing the boiling compound with small seeds of [illegible] [illegible] back. A [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

— B. C. [illegible]

J. Cooley Tucker sell as good [illegible] for fifty cents per pound as you [illegible] in Oswego county for 75 cents [illegible]

NEIGHBORING NEWS.

Neville and Cavanaugh, who walked out of the Oswego jail, are still at large.

Warren Woolson of North Bay a spiritualist lecturer known in Fulton, is dead, aged 60.

Wm Stevenson one of the old residents in Hannibal died Thursday evening aged 88 years.

Merrick Stowell, ex-county clerk, has been admitted to the bar and will practice in Oswego city.

Hop raisers in Madison county are paying from $28 to $33 per month for help for the season.

The late Delos DeWolf had $31,966 insurance on his life which has been paid over to his family.

The amount of shortage of S. Wright Gilbert the absconding cashier of the Lake Shore road in Buffalo has been definitely placed at $20,000. His bondsmen will have to make the deficiency good.

Joseph Vickery died in Phoenix Sunday evening of paralysis. He was the first white man born in the town of Schroeppel and resided there for seventy five years. He was widely known and leaves a large family.

Auburn millers are said to be well to do men, and why not if the Weedsport Chief is truthful when in says a farmer was driving rapidly out of Auburn when he met a neighbor who hailed him, saying, "Neighbor, what's your hurry?" "Oh, I just took a grist to mill and lacked one sack of having enough to pay the toll and I am going home after it."

A Coseo of Martville has sold his milling property to Bowering Bros. of Pennsylvania' who takes possession April 5th. Mr. Coseo will give his attention to remodeling old Flouring Mills on the Hungarian Roller System at which business he is an expert. His son A. J. Coseo remains with Bowering Bros. to manage the grist mil.

[Fair Haven Graphic.

Mrs. Langtry as "Rosalind" in "As You Like it" in Weiting opera house in Syracuse Monday evening was a tame presentation of the character. The Standard said the performance was undoubtedly the poorest presentation of the play ever witnessed here. The audience seemed chilled. But very little enthusiasm was manifested through the entire evening. The company is uneven, and decidedly weak. It was said that Mrs. Langtry is in ill health. The Jersey Lily has had her day.

Palermo.

PALERMO, April 3—The roads are almost impassable.

The annual meeting of the Palermo Centre creamery and cheese factory was held Wednesday and D. H. Trimble agreed to make the cheese for 1 2-5 cents and the butter for 4½ cents a pound. J. W. Rigby was chosen secretary and D. H. Trimble salesman.

Reuben Hanchett died at his residence last Tuesday evening. Mr. Hanchett was an old landmark of this town. He has been a life-long democrat and has held the office of justice of the peace for four terms. He was aged 75 years The funeral services were held Friday.

You are invited to call and inspect the large stock and new styles of wagons and carriages at Bristol's.

Apportionment of School Money.

Following is the correct apportionment of the school money for the town of Volney, for the fiscal year, ending Sept. 30, as filed in the town clerk's office :—

Dist No 1. $659.10 ; 2 $1,726.81 ; 3 $114.81; 4 $107.44 ; 5 $123.33 ; 6 $97.39 ; 7 $92 09 ; 8 $90.91 ; 9 $97.41 ; 10 $225.17 ; 11 $94.56 ; 12 $109.54 ; 13 $86.52 ; 14 $103.37; 15 $107.14 ; 16 $84.06 ; 17 $101.96 ; total $4,010.81.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE.

A fine mill property and private fish pond, a few miles east of Fulton. The mill has a capacity of sawing from 3 to 5 thousand feet of lumber per day, and from 5 to 10 thousand shingles. The best watered farm around. A great bargain for profit and pleasure.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.

C. E. Sackett is making Special Prices on Bleached and Brown Cottons.

Whitewashing and Paperhanging.

I am now prepared to execute all orders for whitewashing or paper hanging. Carpets or furniture need not be removed. Work first-class. Leave orders at Dexter's meat market or James Otis' restaurant. [illegible] OTIS.

Fulton, April [illegible]

[illegible]

To Commence Saturday, March 17th. We have [illegible] 100 Pieces of Rich Watered Ribbons, assorted in 20 [illegible] colors made by one of the most Celebrated Manufacturers in France [illegible] we will sell at 15cts per yard. This price is less by one half than the cost of importation. Never was such a bargain offered in Fulton and cannot be duplicated.

E. B. FAY.

Corner loafers are numerous.

J. T. More of Buffalo is in town.

Mrs David campbell is quite low.

Mr J. C. Gillispie improves slowly.

Mr P. F Conger and son will leave today for Dakota.

Harry DeForest is home on a vacation from Cornell University.

A little daughter has arrived in the household of Seward Green.

Miss Miss Minnie Golden has returned to Vassar College at Poughkeepsie.

Dr W.B. Shaw of Council Grove, Kansas, is expected in Fulton this week.

Fulton Union School opened Monday morning with an excellent attendance.

Jno H. Case has an incubator that is turning out myriads of little "chicks"

Rev J. S. Riggs was presented with a bicycle last week by a number of his gentleman friends.

Dr. Dewing jr. of Oswego was in Fulton yesterday in consultation with Dr. N. H. Haviland.

☞Skaden has been receiving an immense assortment of crockery. If you want a bargain consult him.

There is a call for a few reliable, energetic men, in another column. See advertisement "Men Wanted."

Miss Lizzie Lee, daughter of Dr C. M. Lee is home from Oberlin, O., where she has been attending school.

Highway Commissioner Amos H. Baldwin is now able to sit up. He is at the residence of Mr Salmon yet.

Mrs Ida Withey who has been in Syracuse for some time undergoing medical treatment, is alarmingly ill in that city.

There will be something of interest to all at the next Sunday afternoon temperance prayer meeting and every body is invited.

The Montague perjury suit has been adjourned until April 10th. A further hearing will be held before Recorder Bulger in Oswego.

Dr I. C. Curtis pushes gracefully through the streets mounted on a tricycle. It is the first one ever owned in Fulton and attracts considerable attention.

Work on the Betts' building will soon be commenced. A brick addition will be built on the west end of the session room and the two buildings will be used as a livery stable. Jerome Moyer and Clark Gooley of Palermo, will run the stable. A two story brick block will be built reaching from the stable to First street.

Chaplain McCabe will lecture in Nichols hall Tuesday evening April 24th, instead of the 11th as heretofore announced. The change in date is made in order to allow the public to attend the McGibney Family entertainment the 11th inst. Chaplain McCabe's subject will be "Bright Side of Life in Libby Prison."

Have you had our 50c tea. Can not be beat. D. C. SKADEN.

[illegible] for a few days at the [illegible]use. Their goods have already [illegible] Syracuse where he will go the [illegible]part of this week.

[illegible]he short residence of Mr. Hutch[illegible] he has gained the respect of our [illegible]s and his departure will leave the [illegible]ry of a Christian gentleman. May [illegible] attend him wherever his lot may [illegible]st.

Dr. Bruce will close his labors as [illegible] of the M. E. church next Sunday, [illegible]ave for conference Tuesday. There centu their Unio heart succe his h visit reput tion, eveni now proc in co

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

SPECIAL MEETING.

FULTON, March 28, 1883.

Board met pursuant to call of the president.

Present, a full board.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The acceptance and oath of President James F. Herrick and Trustees F. D. VanWagenen jr, and Joseph Francis were received.

There being no further business the old board adjourned.

President Herrick called the new board to order. Present, a full board.

An informal ballot was taken for Clerk.

Result—L. H. Patterson, 4; W. J. Pentelow, 1 O. K. Yates, 1.

Formal ballot—L. H. Patterson, 5; O. M. Yates, 1.

On motion L. H. Patterson was unanimously appointed clerk.

For Jailor Patrick Callen received six votes and was appointed Jailor.

On motion THE FULTON TIMES was designated as official paper of the village of Fulton at a compensation of $100 for the ensuing year.

Dr. Daniel Pardee was elected health officer, and Joseph [illegible], [illegible] F. [illegible] and George D. [illegible], Members of the Board of Health.

The office of [illegible] was declared vacant and the [illegible] appointed policemen for the [illegible]

[illegible] appointed C. C. Fuller; Trustee [illegible] appointed [illegible] Murphy; Trustee [illegible] Ray; Trustee Johnson [illegible] Trustee Francis appointed [illegible]

The [illegible] committee reported the following [illegible] were drawn for the [illegible]

[illegible] for office $1 20

[illegible] 4 65

[illegible] Village Attorney and Street [illegible]

Minutes of last meeting read [illegible]

[illegible] April [illegible]

[illegible] Clerk.

[illegible]

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to [illegible] & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Wanted.

A competent girl to do general housework. Good wages. Inquire of Mrs. S. E. LINCOLN, No. 55 Oneida street.

A Grand Bargain.

The very beautiful house of Mr. Ed. Breads on Fourth street is offered for sale. Whoever wants the best need look no farther. F. D. VANWAGENEN.

For Sale or Rent.

House and Barn and one-half acre of Excellent Garden Land in Fulton. Possession given first of April, 1883. Enquire of N. H. MCCRACKEN,

At E. B. Fay's Dry Goods Store.

45tf

Cows For Sale.

Having more cows than I care to keep through the season I will sell ten Good dairy Cows, at my farm in Granby, one and one-half miles west of Battle Island.

43t3 JACKSON REYNOLDS.

For Sale or Rent.

The W. W. Straight place just east of the village on Oneida street. Good house and barn. Plenty of good fruit, water, etc. Enquire immediately of

F. E. GOODJON.

Fulton, April 4, 83.

Rooms To Let.

The rooms in the Pratt block, formerly occupied by Watson & Read, over Robinson & Langdon's store. A fine suite of rooms. Connects with the Lewis House. Enquire of JOHN W. PRATT.

Fulton, March 14, 1883.

For Sale.

The very valuable property on First Street and running back to Second, well known as the Hull place. For sale cheap. A great bargain for capitalists. Will be sold as a whole or in parts.

Enquire at F. D. VANWAGENEN'S,

Real Estate Agency, No. 10 First St.

For Sale.

One hundred bushels of Late Beauty of Hebron potatoes. Price $1.00 per bushel. It has all the fine table qualities of Early Rose and will yield very much more on ordinary light soil. For common farm cultivation it has no superior. They please everyone.

Address, E. D. CHAPMAN,

44t5 Oswego Falls, N. Y.

Eggs For Sale.

WYANDOTTES AND LEGHORNS.

Persons wishing eggs for hatching from my premium stock of Brown Leghorns and Wyandottes can get them at my yard on Third street upper Oswego Falls at $1.00 per setting of 13 for Brown Leghorns; $1.50 per setting of 13 for Wyandottes. CHAS. R. GUILE.

44tf Oswego Falls, N. Y.

PHOSPHATE For ALL CROPS $25.00 per Ton.

A TRIED AND VALUABLE FERTILIZER.

IT IS A SUPER-PHOSPHATE AND NOT ACIDULATED S. C. ROCK.

It Contains no Dirt or Sand.

Its Analysis is Guaranteed.

It Contains the Elements of Plant Food.

It Gives Good Results.

PRICE $25 PER TON OF 2000 LBS.

ON CARS OR BOAT IN PHILADELPHIA.

Guaranteed Analysis on each Bag.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR. ADDRESS

BAUGH & SONS,

SOLE MANUFACTURERS,

20 South Delaware Ave., - Philada.

HAMMOCK

[illegible]

Real Estate! Real Estate!

—:o:—

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure,

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

We offer for sale the house and lot near the end of 2nd street, now owned and occupied by Chas. Easton.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.

Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south-east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 3 on Block 54—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 54. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

TO BUSINESS MEN—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!

IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St., A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 2½ to 325 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,

Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best ones go,
Danger in delay you know,
Go to Lathrop's high and low—
Buy a Valentine.

G. C. LATHROP,

22 First Street—Opposite Lewis House.
Fulton Feb. 1st, 1883.

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN

AT ONCE FOR YOUR

50 & 60 CT. FINECUT

BEST IN TOWN

GUARANTEED!

ALL GOODS WAY DOWN TO MEET REVENUE REDUCTION.

Boarding & Livery Stables

[illegible]

Farmers coming to town and wishing [illegible] comfort[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] SON

TO THE FRONT!

We are now ready to receive orders for SPRING SUIT!

From the Finest and Latest Material Manufactured.

PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED.

Rosenbloom's

STOCK OF

READY-MADE CLOTHING

AND GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS AND HATS, was never larger, and prices lower than ever.

[illegible]NCIPLES, THE SAFEGUARDS AGAINST FRAUD!

[illegible] the credit system prevails, a tradesman can rely upon a certain number of customers--no more. Each store has its friends, and competition rarely ever becomes fierce and aggressive [illegible] [illegible]ute a full profit on his merchandise, enough to cover losses that are sure to be sustained. It behooves you and everyone to know that so far as the energies of the proprietors [illegible] [illegible] 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse, are concerned they will not be wasted in trying to find out who is and who is not worthy of credit, but all their energies will be used to sustain [illegible] [illegible]ard dealers, a reputation that can only be made by working as much in the interest of workingmen, mechanics and all other people as for themselves. Strictly One Price, low [illegible] [illegible]ommodating spirit—the truth—all these are auspicious characteristics at "The Famous," and whose stock for Men's Boys' and Children's Clothing is no where in Central New York

ESTERN R. R.

DIVISION.

as follows:

.....8:05 a. m.
.....12:30 p. m.
.....5:06 p. m.
.....8:06 a. m.
.....8:03 p. m.
.....6:24 p. m.
Express.....8:39 p. m.

to the Night Express

W. B. Phelps, Supt.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A desirable corner house and lot on [illegible] street, in lower Oswego Falls, [illegible] from the lower bridge. Large garden and good well on the premises. Inquire of W. C. Wheeler, Fulton Times Office.

Trouting season.

General moving day is over.

The river is almost free from ice.

Howard Case is home from Cornell University.

Mr. H. E. Nichols will return from his western trip this week.

H. C. Colgrove is in town. He resides in Perryville, Madison Co.

The house on Second street vacated by S. S. Morrill has been rented by the M. E. Society for a parsonage.

W. J. Lovejoy has the agency of the Norwich Fire Ins. Co., of England. His office is at the Fulton Savings Bank.

North Volney has enjoyed 123 days of continuous sleighing and indications are that it will hold out five or six days longer.

Michael O'Brien is receiving the congratulations of his friends on the advent of a weighty little son—a ten and a half pounder.

Adelbert Decker of lower Oswego Falls is home from Cornell University on a brief vacation.

M. B. Schenck was in town over the Sabbath. He is engaged in the manufacture of his patent trucks and castors at New Haven, Conn. He returned yesterday.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Louise Willard of Oswego Falls to Mr. Dudley Miller of Oswego, to be solemnized April 12th, at the Broadway Tabernacle, New York city.

A physician who visited Mt. Pleasant yesterday says the snow in the roads in many places is six feet deep and the sleighing excellent, with the exception of innumerable pitch holes, Frank A. Summerville has entered the employ of Thompson & Byington, Syracuse, as traveling salesman. The firm deal in hats, caps and straw goods. His route lies through the southern part of the State.

The McGibeny Family were in Lockport Monday evening and over five hundred reserve seat tickets were sold. They will be in Fulton Wednesday evening, April 11th. Reserved seats for sale at Watson's.

On Tuesday evening, March 27th, Mr Wm C. Druce of North Volney, and Miss Clara L. Summerville were united in marriage by Rev D. L. Phelps of Granby Centre at the residence of the lady's parents in West Granby.

James Smith of Hannibal left Monday for Colorado where he will engage in raising cattle. Mr Smith has from time to time favored THE TIMES with interesting letters descriptive of Western life which he will continue.

William C. Crombie, Esq., has formed a partnership with George E. Tarbell at Marathon, Cortland Co., for the practice of law and has removed to that place. Mr. Crombie will make a valuable acquisition to any community and is deserving of success.

George Brown a young man who has been subject to epileptic fits since he was a small boy, was removed to Utica Saturday by Mr. H. V. Spencer at the request of his father who acted upon his physician's advice. The young man consented to go. He is now 22 years of age. Of late his mind has been visibly [illegible].

Dr. Geo. W. Bell, veterinary surgeon, [illegible] a veterinary infirmary in [illegible] side in the Park [illegible] already occupied by Rufus [illegible] will employ assistants and [illegible] fully supplied with all [illegible] in modern practice. [illegible] by telegraph or telephone [illegible]. Dr. Bell will [illegible] Saturday at the Lewis [illegible]

[illegible] Post has [illegible]

Mrs Margaret Martin from Broadway and Third street to Crombie house on Second street.

Patrick Cullen from the east end of Utica street to the Abial Loomis house on Erie street.

Mr H. B. Rorke will occupy the Pardee house on Oneida street, vacated by Rev E. C. Bruce.

Alexander Ramage from rooms over Bristol's music store to rooms over Phillip's drug store.

S. S. Morrill from near corner of Second and Buffalo to corner of Highland and Second.

R. N. Hoff from the Conger house on Second street to Thomas Chesbro residence on First street.

E. G. Hubbard and family will occupy a portion of the Dr. Haviland residence on Oneida street.

R. E. Phillips from [illegible] house on Utica street to the old J. S. More place on Cayuga street.

R. McCully has purchased a house on the corner of Broadway and Park street and will remove there.

Mrs Isaac H. Ketcham will occupy the residence on the north-east corner of Fourth and Utica streets.

Theodore J. Crosby of Granby Centre has moved into the house on East Utica street vacated by Patrick Cullen.

William Sweeney, the clothier, is moving into the Richard Hubbard house at the foot of Seneca street.

Mrs Earll from J. A. Foster's Fourth street to northeast corner Fourth and Cayuga streets in Anderson house.

Luther Robertshaw from the Crombie house on Second street, corner of Highland, to "Tip" Clark's house opposite.

Thompson Hart from Mrs Thos Keeler house on First street to residence vacated by Mrs Margaret Martin on Broadway.

Thomas Ferris will move into the house vacated by S. W. Rose on Seneca street adjoining the residence of R. T. Jones.

J. Bailey & Son, have removed their stock of clothing and gents furnishing goods to the store underneath THE TIMES office.

J. D. Foster has moved from the Richard Hubbard house on Seneca street to first house west of S. N. Dada's on Rochester street.

James F. Herrick, will remove to the Osborn house east of the Presbyterian church on Cayuga street, instead of corner of Broadway and Fourth street as reported in THE TIMES of last week.

Mt. Adnah Cemetery Association.

A meeting of the Mt. Adnah Cemetery Association was held in Howe & Rice's law office Monday evening to choose three trustees in place of Wm. G. Gage, Geo. M. Case and Samuel Crombie. The above named gentlemen were chosen as their own successors. The report of the treasurer, Mr. Geo. M. Case, shows a cash balance on hand of $1,520.09. Mt. Adnah Cemetery was incorporated in 1858, the first body interred being that of Russell Case. There are now about three thousand bodies resting there, a number nearly equal to the population of this village. For the year ending March 31, 1881 there were 21 interments of deaths by consumption; ending March 31st, 1882, 14, and ending March 31, 1883, 9, which shows a marked falling off in the dreaded disease.

REPORT OF MOUNT ADNAH CEMETERY ASSOCIATION FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 31ST, 1883.

Total income	$920 99
Expenditure	526 51
Balance to Treasurer	394 48
Due As'n by note & book acct	682 65

CAUSES OF DEATH.

Paralysis,	5	Old Age	7
Scalded,	3	Still born,	3
Spasms,	1	Pneumonia,	1
Consumption,	9	Cancer,	2
Inflam'at'n Lungs	3	Dropsy,	3
Cerhosis of Liver	1	Blood poisoning	1
Measles,	1	Fits,	1
Marasmus,	1	Malarial fever,	3
Drowned,	1	Typhoid neum'a	1
Suicide,	1	Cholera Infant'm	4
Nervous exh'stion	1	Kidney affection	1
Heart disease,	3	Congestion brain,	1
Inflam'n of bowels,	3	Billious fever,	1
Typhoid fever,	1	Rheumatism,	1
Accident,	1	Diabetes	1
Croup,	1	Brights disease,	1
Unknown

Total number of interments 67

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. PARKHOUSE,
Superintendent.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego County on April 4, 1883.

Mrs T. B. Dore, Thomas Dewanny, Mrs Goddord, Mack Hall, Thomas Lardner, Catherin Loomis, Mrs Ida L. Putman, James L. Smith, Ella Rebotham, Mrs J. G. Wayner, Eugene Ward.

DROPS.

Louis Robertshaw, Chas Ward.

HELD FOR POSTAGE

Miss Flora G. Waugh, East 8th street, Oswego, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above please say "advertised."

N. H. GILBERT, P. M.

GREAT SALE OF LADIES' [illegible]

[illegible] with a [illegible]

Hope [illegible] and are now selling [illegible]

There are [illegible] bodies in the vault at Mt Adnah awaiting interment.

THE [illegible] has again been chosen [illegible] of Fulton.

Mrs. Dr. Fay, mother of E. B. Fay is quite low. She is with friends in Canandaigua.

The Knights of Labor will hold a social party in Whitaker's hall Friday evening of this week.

George Fassell will appear in next week's TIMES with an advertisement. He is pushing things at his marble shop.

The pulpit of the Baptist church will be supplied next Sunday morning and evening by B. E. Dow of Madison University.

Wood & Thompson are fitting up the old David Austin residence at the guard lock, Upper Landing, for a small beer manufactory.

Mrs. D. Sheridan left for Guelph, Ontario, Monday, to attend the funeral of a daughter. James E. Sheridan and wife accompanied her.

Wiggins says April will be liberally supplied with thunder showers. Most every one has an opinion of Wiggins' ability as a prophet.

W. A. Putman and Leon Lottridge left Fulton yesterday for Bismarck, Dakota. They left Syracuse with a colony at 1:40 p. m. yesterday.

John Satterlee of Meridian, Cayuga Co., will open a barber shop in the basement of the Huggins block, corner Broadway and First street.

Oswego is to be connected by telephone with Pulaski and Mexico. That will give Fulton an opportunity to converse in those villages also.

Rev. L. Golden goes to Clinton, Oneida county, where he will preach on trial next Sunday. The reverend gentleman has not decided where he will locate.

Married, this afternoon, April 4th, at the residence of the bride's father in Granby, Rial Strickland of Ottawa, Ills. and Miss Maria C. Dutton, by Dr P W Emens of Syracuse.

Mamie Draper, daughter of D. C. Draper, attained her 10th birthday Friday and a number of her little friends spent the afternoon with her. They were handsomely entertained.

A young man named Wilson from Meridian, Cayuga Co., is fitting up the store vacated by Stoneburgh, near the corner of First street and Broadway for an ice cream, confectionery and tobacco store.

An adjournment term of the court of oyer and terminer will be held in Oswego, commencing April 10th before Judge Vann. Joshua Gifford will be tried for the murder of his wife at this session of court.

Edward Waugh, son of William Waugh, has accepted a position with the paper warehouse of L. C. Woodruff & Co., Buffalo, and has entered upon his duties. Mr Waugh has charge of the city trade and also in charge of the trade in the towns and cities adjacent Buffalo. Mr Waugh is an active and honorable young man and will undoubtedly meet with the success he deserves.

Rev. A. U. Hutchins and family are remaining for a few days at the Johnson House. Their goods have already gone to Syracuse where he will go the latter part of this week.

In the short residence of Mr. Hutchins here he has gained the respect of our citizens and his departure will leave the memory of a Christian gentleman. May success attend him wherever his lot may be cast.

Rev Dr. Bruce will close his labors as pastor of the M. E. church next Sunday, and leave for conference Tuesday. There is an almost unanimous request by the members of the church that he return to Fulton but he most respectfully declines, as he has no doubt concluded to withdraw from the ministry for the present. Mr. Bruce has purchased a residence in Syracuse and has removed with his family to that city to be near his son who is a student in the medical college connected with Syracuse University.

For pure Borneo ginger call at J. C Tucker's crockery store. 43

Of all the comforts of this life,
My doting heart should bring her,
There's nothing ever pleased my wife,
Like that machine the Singer.

Buy one of Bristol.

JOBBER AND BUILDER.

W. S. Taft is prepared to do all kinds of job work and repairing in masonry. Mortar for sale at all times. Enquire of John White, at the Gas House in Fulton or at my residence in Oswego Falls. [illegible] W. S. TAFT.

[illegible] N. Y. Chewing [illegible] at this office.

Slander Case Settled.

The case of Anna R. Moss against Geo L. Smith for slander has been settled, by Mr Smith paying a portion of the judgment found for plaintiff and settling the costs.

Attention Comrades!

All members of Post Daniel F. Schenck are requested to meet in the Post rooms to-morrow at 1 o'clock p m., to attend the funeral of Comrade Peter Green, which will occur at 2 p m, from his late residence.

By order of Commander.

H A HARRIS, Adjutant.

Another Bigamist.

Robert Charles Hunter married a lady in Ilion on the 28th of May, 1881. In May, 1882, he deserted her. Friday evening Robert Charles Hunter appeared before Rev. J. S. Riggs at his residence and asked to be joined in matrimony with a woman accompanying him who was introduced as Mrs Bisbo. Robert Charles Hunter took his oath that he had no lawful wife living and otherwise complied with the regulations of the law and Rev Riggs married them. Robert Charles Hunter's first wife was living in Oswego Falls and Saturday he was arrested charged with bigamy. He claimed to have a divorce procured in Illinois last August. He was held in default of $500 bail and is now in Fulton jail. Last night he was quite sick and was delirious and begged of the jailor not to allow his enemies admission to the jail.

Robert Charles Hunter is a man about thirty-five years of age and managed a rag cart for Fisk of Syracuse.

W. C. T. U.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Oswego county was held at Howe's hall, Oswego Falls, last Friday afternoon and evening. Representatives from various parts of the county were present. The reports showed a membership of over 200 members in the county who have under their immediate charge in bands of hope, juvenile unions, industrial schools, kindergartens, etc., about 500 children, who are being regularly instructed in temperance intelligence, strengthened in temperance principles, and taught how to do temperance work.

The routine of business was followed by a discussion upon the subject. "What is woman's part in the temperance work." This was opened by carefully prepared papers upon the following heads: 1st. What is woman's duty in temperance work in the home, a paper read by Mrs. M. L. Bullock of Fulton; 2d. Duty as a teacher, by Miss Juliet Cook of Oswego; 3d. Duty in temperance politics, by Mrs. F. Dilts of Fulton. Mrs. L. McCully read a poem entitled "A Single Head of Wheat" which closed the afternoon session. In the evening the Band of Hope of Oswego Falls gave some interesting exercises followed by an address by Rev. G. Grafity of Oswego. The W. C. T. U. is doing a good work and is growing in numbers and interest.

The Celebrated McGibeny Family.

They will favor the people of this vicinity with one of their popular concerts in the Stephens Opera House, Wednesday evening, April 11th. There are eight children and each one is a finished musician. Crowded houses greet them every evening and they may truly be called the musical marvels of the 19th century. There is a loud clamor for their services from various parts of the Union and Manager Stephens deserves hearty support for his determined and successful effort in procuring them for his house of amusement. This family visited Fulton last season and left a reputation that presages a warm reception, on their return next Wednesday evening. Watson has reserved seats now on sale and if you are anxious to procure a desirable sitting lose no time in consulting the diagram and purchasing your tickets.

Buy only the best. Cheapness in price means cheapness in quality. Sole agency for Estey, Mason & Hamlin, Sterling, organs, Weber, Fisher, and other first-class pianos at Bristol's

CLOVER

—AND—

TIMOTHY

SEED!

—AT—

Miller & Whitaker's.

WALL PAPER.

[illegible] in this month.

[illegible] and family moved [illegible]

Geo E. Pratt is home from Fort Plain where he has been attending school.

The original "Dan" Rice will be in Fulton this summer with Nathan's circus.

Rev Stebbins Pardee of Seymour, Conn is a guest of his brother, Dr Daniel Pardee.

Rev John W Lyon is holding revival meetings every night in the Ontario St school house.

Mrs. Maggie Cullen is in Syracuse attending the spring opening at the Millinery stores.

Harper's Bazaar says, the young lady who wears "ox blood hair" will be the most popular and stylish this summer.

The N. Y. O. & W. railroad will run an excursion to New York Tuesday the 17th. Tickets for round trip $7, good for ten days.

Mr. John J. Peck who has been an invalid for years, and who resides at the residence of his son J. N. Peck, is somewhat improved of late.

Amdursky will open a full line of ready-made clothing on Saturday of this week in the store formerly occupied by Bailey & Son. Give him a call.

Peter Green, who has been an invalil for many years, died yesterday, aged 38 years. Funeral will be held from the house to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev A. M. Roe will officiate.

Mrs. J. N. Peck has joined her husband in Delhi, Delaware Co., and will remain there during the summer. Mr. Peck is meeting with unexpected success in the feather renovating business.

We hear some flattering remarks from business men in regard to the season's prospects. The glad hour is near when the gentle springtime shall open up the shutters and let in the rays of light on another season of life and activity,

Percy, an infant son of David and Libbie Reid, died in Venice, Erie Co. Ohio, Friday March 23d 1883, of diphtheria aged three years. Mr. and Mrs. Reid formerly resided in Fulton where they have many friends who sympathize with them in their bereavement.

By the removal of Wm C. Crombie to Marathon a vacancy occurs in the office of Justice of the Peace. The town board appoints his successor and as that body is composed of three republicans and two democrats the republican candidate Mr. G. M. Yates of the law firm of Piper & Yates was yesterday appointed to fill vacancy.

Rev L. Golden and wife left Fulton yesterday. Mr Golden has been pastor of the Baptist church since August 14, 1878, and his administration has been satisfactory; during that time there has been fifty additions by baptism, twenty-two of them being the present year. Mr Mr. Golden is a scholarly and pleasant gentleman and whereever he goes he will be pleasantly remembered by the warm friends he leaves behind.

In the Kalamazoo(Mich)Telegraph, of of the 22d. inst., we find the following mention of the marriage of a lady well known in Fulton, and where she has a number of relatives residing;—

Married, at No 519 Elm street, March 20th, 1883, by Rev. S. M. Fowler, Mr. Nathaniel C. Harlow of Blanco, Manono county, Iowa, to Mrs. Sarah E. Caywood of Kalamazoo. Mr. Harlow is a fine appearing man, a farmer who owns his farm, and an earnest Iowa prohibitionist. All who knew Mrs Sarah E. Caywood-Harlow knew her but to respect her for her many good qualities.

The present outlook is for a good fruit year, and if the year of 1875 can be duplicated, we shall have some very fine fruit and an abundance of it. In 1875 the first two months in the spring were cold and the sap in the trees was kept down, and when a gradual increase of warmth came and finally a burst of temperature, there were no killing frosts to follow and kill the first fruits of the too often treacherous warmth, The Delaware peach crop of 1875 was 12,000,000 baskets, and it has never been beaten since. If the first half of April continues cold, a crop of abundant and juicy fruit is predicted.

A WARNING TO FARMERS!

Farmers coming to Fulton before buying a dollars worth of Clothing be sure you read the sign carefully New York Clothing Company, as some dealers have been trying to palm off inferior goods on our name and merit. Remember the place, 31 First St., in the Stevens confectionery store. All goods not satisfactory taken back and money refunded.

New York Clothing Co.

30 WM. SWEENEY, Manager.

STAVE BOLTS.

Cash paid for WHITE and RIM ASH Stave bolts and black ash heading bolts. Parties wishing to contract will call at office. D. E. MASON.

Fulton, Jan. 23 83.

The only place in Fulton where you can be sure of finding genuine Old Government, Java, Rio, Mocha and Maracaibo coffee is at J. Cooley Tucker's crockery store.

Second Assistant—[illegible] McCulloch,
Fire Wardens—L. B. Post, and Alfred Seymour, Delegates—Jesse Wright, Ed Schenck, James Green.

STEAMER NO 2.

President—F. C. Mosher,
Vice-President—M. Crahan,
Foreman Steamer—James Briggs,
First Assistant—E. Oliver,
Second Assistant—T. Cavanaugh,
Foreman Hose—F C Mosher,
First Assistant—F VanValkenburg
Second Assistant—Ed Briggs,
Treasurer—Wm Heathington,
Secretary—W J Lovejoy,
Property Clerk—R Stow,
Wardens—James Briggs and F C Mosher.
Delegates—William Heatherington, D Roach and Robert Stow.

HOOK AND LADDER

Foreman—C W Streeter,
Assistant Foreman—Frank Sears,
Secretary—Walter Bradley,
Treasurer—Seward Green,
Wardens—C W Streeter and Seward Green,
Delegates—E R Redhead, Frank Sears and Walter Bradley.

The election of a Chief Engineer and two Assistants will take place to-morrow at 2 p. m.

OSWEGO FALLS.

The Oswego Falls Observer has completed its first year.

The project of a saloon in Lower Oswego Falls has been abandoned.

Burglars broke a window in Howe & Dexter's store Sunday evening and helped themselves to a number of hats and other small goods.

Mr and Mrs Sidney Dunton of Oswego Falls wish to return thanks through THE TIMES to the kindness of friends in their recent bereavement.

George N Cook of Oswego Falls and Ada Barry were united in marriage March 25th by Rev. L. Golden at his residence on Second street.

Frank W. Betts and F. G. Maguire late of the co-operative store have opened a grocery and provision store in the Betts store, opposite Stoddard's hotel.

Foster Bros., Knife factory in Oswego Falls will be ready to commence work about May 1st. Orders are already being sent in by parties who have used their wares.

Mrs John Fuller of Fulton has opened a millinery and fancy good store on First street. She invites an inspection of her complete and fashionable assortment of goods.

Married, at the residence of Mr. J. P. Streeter, on Utica street, April 2d, 1883, by Rev. L. Golden, Mr. Albert E. Back, of Fulton, N. Y., and Miss Nettie Milligan, of Oswego Falls.

John McCarthy of Oswego Falls received a pension Thursday the back pay of which amounted to $800. On Monday he left for New York and sails to-day for Ireland, where he will revisit the scenes of his boyhood. He will be absent about two months.

Mr. E. K. Jefferds of Oswego Falls placed on THE TIMES table a copy of the London Daily Telegraph containing an account of the explosion in the government office and with a well executed and inteligent map showing the location of the shattered building and surroundings. It was sent to Mr Jeffords by his son, Mr M. R. Jefferds who is in London on business.

Of Interest to Sporting Men.

The game law as just amended by the legislature protects duck from the first of April to October, and plover and snipe from April to July. The use of decoys or bough houses is forbidden at a distance greater than twenty rods from the shore. The open season for woodcock and squirrels will be only during the months of August, September, October and November. Ruffed grouse or partridge may be killed only in the months of September, October and November. And any person found in woodcock or grouse cover during the close season shall be deemed guilty of violating the law protecting the birds named. The trout and salmon trout season is from April 1st to September. The open season for black and Oswego bass opens July 15 instead of on the first day of that month as heretofore, except that bass may be taken in the Clyde, Seneca and Oswego rivers and in Lake Ontario as early as May 20.

A Card of Thanks.

To our many friends in Fulton, who, from the beginning to the close of our Christian labors among you, have in many ways contributed to the pleasantness of our work and sojourn in your midst, and who have especially in these latter days, endeared yourselves to us by kind words, friendly visits and generous offerings, we desire to return our most sincere thanks.

MR. AND MRS. L. GOLDEN.

Fulton, April 4, 1883.

New Seedling Potato.

Peter D. McIntyre has a new seedling potato for sale that commands the attention of agriculturalists. They are excellent yielders; but few small ones; are light colored and cannot be beaten for cooking in summer or fall. The undersigned have tested McIntyre's seedlings and cheerfully recommend them: J. Wallace VanVliet, F. Hudson, A. C. [illegible], C. Rose, Chas. Whitaker, [illegible] and John D. Foster. [illegible]

[illegible] nearly [illegible]

ONE HALF THE PRICE.

Can be had of

A. W. PALMER,

THE POPULAR CLOTHIER.

15 and 17 So. Salina Street,
Syracuse, N. Y.

Great Spring [illegible] worth of new crockery, [illegible] lamps, chandeliers, silver plated [illegible] baby carriages, tin, wooden [illegible] fancy ware wares. House furnishing goods, etc. to retail below any [illegible] establishment outside of New York. It will certainly pay the people of [illegible] and vicinity to visit McCARTHY'S great wholesale and retail Palace [illegible] Hall, No. 31 Jefferson Block, Oswego, N. Y. JAMES McCARTHY. 431y

Rheumatic

SYRUP.

The Greatest Blood Purifier Known!

A positive cure for Rheumatism, in all its various forms, viz: Chronic, Acute, Inflammatory, Sciatica, and Muscular Rheumatism. Neuralgia and Gout.

An infallible remedy for all diseases of the Skin and Blood, such as Tetter, Ringworm, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scrofular, Pimples, Blotches, &c., &c.

It restores the diseased Liver and Kidneys to healthy action, and dissolves and expels from the blood all the acrid Poison or "urate of Lime" contained therein, which is the sole cause of all Rheumatic and Neuralgic Pains. Manufactured by RHEUMATIC SYRUP CO., Rochester, N. Y. For sale everywhere. Send for circular.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.: BUTLER, N. Y., March 10, 1883.

Gents—I take this opportunity to express my gratitude for what your Rheumatic Syrup has done for me. After suffering over one year with the Rheumatism in my shoulders, so I could hardly get my coat on without help, a friend induced me to try one bottle of Rheumatic Syrup. After taking it I could see such a decided change that I continued its use a short time and it cured me. DANIEL ROE.

STAMPING DONE AT THE BAZAAR.

—:o:—

WHITE SHIRTS

—AT—

THE BAZAAR

Only 47 cents, Worth 60 cents.
" 73 " " $1.00
" 97 " " 1.25

Look at them before you buy.

All the latest things in Ladies' Collars Just Received!

NEW LOT OF RIBBONS AND LACES,

This Week. A Bargain in time. Also new things in JEWELRY.

Respectfully
C. D HUBBARD.

SPRING STOCK

CROCKERY, GLASS, SILVERWARE, &C.

GREAT SALES!

Having a much larger and better assortment of House Furnishing Goods than ever in Fulton, consisting of John Maddock & Son's, Bootes & Co's., and other First Class Ware I am ready to offer better prices and larger inducements than ever before.

Do not forget to call and examine stock and prove that we will not be undersold. It is no trouble for us to show our goods. We have only the bese at bottom prices.

D. C. SKADEN

WAIT FOR THE BEST.

—:o:—

AMDURSKY'S

CLOTHING HOUSE

Will open in Fulton about April 1st in the [illegible] Block in store now occupied by J. Bailey & Son.

NEW GOODS [illegible]

Everything Cheap [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] NEW YORK MERCURY [illegible] for six months for [illegible] cents. Sample copies [illegible]. Address,

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No 8 Park Row, New York City

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1888.

[illegible] The Sun during the year [illegible] than ever before since it was first [illegible]. No other newspaper published on this [illegible] has been bought and read in any [illegible] men and women.

[illegible] informed that people buy, read, and [illegible] the Sun for the following reasons, among [illegible]:

Because its news columns present in attractive [illegible] with the greatest possible accuracy what [illegible] for mankind; the events, the [illegible], the wisdom, the philosophy, [illegible] the solid sense, the improving [illegible] all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1888 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1888.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humerous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol. 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone [illegible]

The Weekly Herald.

[illegible]

[illegible] News

[illegible]

[illegible] Dandruff, Sore [illegible] for the [illegible] Burns, Scalds [illegible]

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT......50c., $1.00, $1.75.

Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

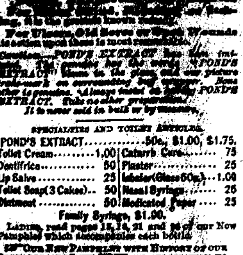
Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 14, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

"All the above preparations displayed in Pond's Extract Co's. Show Case Sold at W. J. Watson's Drug Store."



Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND,

Is a Positive Cure

For all those Painful Complaints and Weaknesses so common to our best female population.

A Medicine for Woman. Invented by a Woman. Prepared by a Woman.

The Greatest Medical Discovery Since the Dawn of History.

☞ It revives the drooping spirits, invigorates and harmonizes the organic functions, gives elasticity and firmness to the step, restores the natural lustre to the eye, and plants on the pale cheek of woman the fresh roses of life's spring and early summer time.

☞ Physicians Use It and Prescribe It Freely ☜

It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach.

That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use.

For the cure of Kidney Complaints of either sex this Compound is unsurpassed.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, and give tone and strength to the system, of man woman or child. Insist on having it.

Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. Sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3ct. stamp. Send for pamphlet.

No family should be without LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS. They cure constipation, biliousness, and torpidity of the liver. 25 cents per box.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (1)

Dr THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

NFW ADVERTISEMETS.

FITS! A Leading London Physician establishes an Office in New York [illegible] EPILEPTIC FITS. [illegible]

THE SUN EVERYBODY LIKES IT.

THE SUN'S first aim is to be truthful and useful; its second, to write an entertaining history of the times in which we live. It prints, on an average, more than a million copies a week. Its circulation is now larger than ever before. Subscription: DAILY, (4 pages), by mail, 55c. a month, or $6.50 a year; SUNDAY (8 pages), $1 20 per year; WEEKLY (8 pages), $1 per year.

I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher, New York City.

DIVORCES.—No publicity; residents of any State. Desertion, Non-Support. Advice and application for stamp.

W. H. LEE, Att'y,
[illegible] N. Y.

[illegible]

[illegible] raising a breed of cattle, or cultivating hops, tobacco or even rhubarb. The general management of a farm should be planned once for all, it only being subject to those changes that an improvement in agricultural methods suggests. The work of a farm should go on regularly from year to year, so that even in mid-winter the farmer may make his arrangements, and complete his scheme of work for the whole season. The man who is trying to sell his farm, has his heart in some other locality or business and he who is ready to devote his energies to some new crop or method, is seldom on the highway to success. It is well to try that which is new, but not by giving up old and well tried methods.

[Scientific American.

Don't lie awake nights and cough! Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will relieve the cough and induce a good night's rest.

A Sect of Flagellants.

The Hermanos Penitente, a religious sect, numbering about 2000 persons, in the territory of New Mexico, who believe in the periodical atonement of sin by inflicting on their bodies agonizing tortures, were originally with the Roman Catholic church, but Archbishop Lamy shocked by the barbarous cruelties, promulgated a decree banishing them from communion. The members have greatly thinned out since, and they now inhabit principally but four counties in the Territory. Great care is taken to prevent the discovery of their identity by the inspector, and all are masked while conducting their annual penance. The devotees often travel hundreds of miles to undergo the prescribed tortures.—Los Griegos, a small Mexican village near Albuquerque, boasts of the great body of penitents. On Saturday morning the ceremonies were inaugurated by an introductory procession containing about 30 men and women. The process of purification by torture began at 10 o'clock. Five men, naked to the waist, barefooted, and wearing black robes and hoods completely concealing their identity, were seen to issue above the lodge-house of the sect, led by master of ceremonies, who carried the veritable cat-of-nine tails. Two huge wooden crosses, weighing 250 pounds each, were placed on the naked shoulders of two of the self-torturers. The sharp edges cutting into the naked flesh caused the blood to spurt out and drop to the ground. One penitent produced a sharp goad which he thrust into the flesh of his fellow sufferers from time to time, while the procession moved up the street to a wild chant in Spanish. Halting once the crosses were transferred to the other's shoulders, the attendants applying their rawhide whips mercilessly, each blow taking off the skin and bits of flesh. The procession took its way to the goal, a half a mile away. During the march not a groan was heard or a word spoken, but, just before reaching the goal, a small abode or hut, the ordeal ended.

THE TRAVELING SALESMAN

Is an irresistible fellow, brim full of stories, jokes, courage, self-assurance and grit. He is very taking withal. Burdock Blood Bitters are a very taking medicine; they take everywhere, and are sold everywhere.

Egyptian Habits.

The ordinary inhabitants of the towns passes his life in a simple and uniform manner. Before sunrise he leaves his couch, performs the morning ablutions enjoined by his religion and repeats his early prayer. To say his morning prayer after sunrise is forbidden by the ordinances of his religion, and to allow the sun to rise over one's slumbering head is regarded as prejudicial to health. He then drinks his cup of coffee and smokes his pipe either at home or in the public coffee house. His breakfast, which he takes after the coffee, or sometimes before it, consists of the remains of his meal of the previous evening, or of cakes and milk, or for a trifle he procures from the market the ever-ready national dish of ful, that is, stewed beans. He then engages in his avocations, buys, sells, writes, works or moves about, all in the most comfortable, quiet and deliberate manner. "What is not done to-day must be done to-morrow," in Arabic, "to-morrow, if God please," stands written on his forehead in large letters. There is really nothing for which the Egyptian mechanics can be said to be famous. The things in which they used to excel are rapidly being forgotten. The fine masonry of the older mosques would be thrown away on the architectural tastes of the present day, and hence the race of skillful masons is becoming extinct. The colored glass which used to be made in great perfection for windows and lamps is the product of a forgotten art, and most of the glass and china used in Egypt—even the National coffee cups—are imported from Europe. The same fate has come to the [illegible] who used to make beautiful latticed window screens; people now prefer glass and lattices being no longer required, turners are forgetting how to make them. [illegible]

[illegible] her health would be so [illegible] recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla [illegible] a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. H. SMITH,
[illegible] Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take

BLUE PILLS

or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous

Don't Wait!

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use

Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the VIGOR is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

MR. C. P. BRICHER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. BOWEN, proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Enquirer, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The VIGOR is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated "Fairbairn Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which fleeting time procureth, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

MRS. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from 18 Elm St., Charlestown, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the VIGOR, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

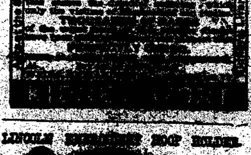
Sold by all Druggists.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

[illegible]

LINCOLN [illegible] HOOF BUILDER.



[illegible]

[illegible] as good as new. [illegible]

A Character often Encountered.

Fogg was at the opera and sat in front of a young gentleman who showed his musical knowledge by humming the airs as they occurred. At the close of the first act, Fogg turned around to say, in a voice sufficiently loud to be heard by a score of others: "I am very much obliged to you, sir, for the little concert you have been giving me; you are very kind, but, to tell you the truth, they made so much noise on the stage that I didn't enjoy it nearly so much as I ought." The young man said nothing, but he looked volumes. During the second act he omitted his obligato, and the stage people had to get on as best they could without it. [Boston Transcript.

."A fair outside is but a poor substitute for inward worth." Good health inwardly, of the bowels, liver and kidneys, is sure to secure a fair outside, the glow of health on the cheek and vigor in the frame. For this, use Kidney-Wort and nothing else.

An Engineer's Bravery.

Engineer James Church runs between Chicago and Louisville. Like other faithful veterans of the throttle he is known as "Old Reliable." When Church's midnight express, bound north, reaches a point near Bainbridge, it must switch off to make room for a south-bound lightning train. On a recent Sunday all went well with Church until he was within about a mile of the switch. Then while running at the speed of thirty-five miles an hour, the side-bar of the driving wheels snapped in two, leaving stumps on each wheel. The middle portion of the bar was thrown against the cab, wrecking it and killing the fireman, Amos Thorpe, and throwing the engineer back on the coal in the tender. In the meantime the stub of the bar attached to the rear driving wheel was pounding the cab to pieces as the train continued at increased speed, the throttle having been thrown wide open by the blow. The engineer was struck in the chest and face, but staggering under the pain in the chest and almost blinded by blood, he succeeded, at the risk of his life, while the cab was being pounded to pieces by the flying stub of the side-bar, in shutting off the steam and applying the air-brakes, bringing the train to a stand still. If Church had not stuck heroically to his post the runaway train would have met the oncoming express with appalling velocity.

AN ELMIRA, (N. Y.) LADY.

Mrs. H. L. Clark, 304 E. Clinton street, declares: Burdock Blood Bitters are a medicine I admire. Best remedy for dyspepsia in the world. Keep house supplied with it.

A Checkered Career.

Five years ago this spring Ex-Senator Tabor of Colorado was a poor man keeping a small store in a gulch near Leadville. Two acquaintances, one of them a shoemaker, persuaded him to a mining partnership. Tabor was to furnish the "grub stake," that is, a few tools and provisions, and the two other men were to do the digging. The shoemaker and his friend went up the hill a little way and began work. Tabor thought the spot selected for operation unpromising, and threatened to withdraw from the combination; but his partners had the tools and provisions, and kept on digging. They very soon found ore, and Tabor bought them out. In six months he had sold between $300,000 and $400,000 worth of ore. The mine thus opened is known as Little Pittsburg, and was the basis of Tabor's fortune, which is said to amount to $10,000,000. In 1879-'80, he served as lieutenant governor of Colorado, which was his first political honor. Then he became ambitious to go to the United States senate as the successor of Henry M. Teller, who went into the cabinet, but the prize eluded him on account of the scandal which was caused by the suit for maintenance brought by his deserted wife who was true to him during the twenty-five years they spent in humble circumstances. The court, it is pleasant to know, decreed that she should be supported in a manner suited to her husband's wealth. Tabor finally got into the senate for the term of one month as the successor of Secretary Teller. The Ex-Senator married Mrs. Lizzie M'Court, of Oshkosh, Wis., in Washington a few days ago.

BE CAREFUL OF THE BABIES.

If your children are threatened with croup or any throat difficulty, apply a few drops of Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It is the nicest medicine for the little ones we know of.

Congressman Flower, of New York, has returned to the treasury $458.50 of his salary to cover the time when he was absent from duty. Would it be out of place to remark that the time when the country can best afford to pay for is the time when Congressmen are absent from duty. [Louisville Courier.

INVIGORATING FOOD

For brain and nerve is what we need in these days of rush and worry. Parker's Ginger Tonic restores the vital energies and brings good health and joyous spirits quicker than anything you can use. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] do [illegible] deceived [illegible] see that the word

SAFE

[illegible] of an [illegible] Safe, [illegible] black wrapper [illegible] white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me. Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN."

148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

☞ All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. P. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882: "Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles for $5.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—[illegible]

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON COLOGNE

[illegible] Hiscox & Co. [illegible]

[illegible] detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp'tly Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

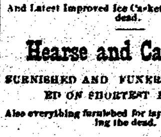
EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 911



CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Dated Jan'y 9th 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

[illegible] of an order of Hon. [illegible] Surrogate of Oswego County, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against [illegible] Wilson, late of the town of Volney, in said county, deceased, to present the same with the vouchers thereof to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on or before the 30th day of July 1883, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Orvis V. [illegible], Executor.

Dated, Jan. 10, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO. [illegible] Randall against James Randall.— Action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.

Dated this 22d, day of January, 1883.

WM. G. CROMBIE,
Plff's Att'y,

Office and P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co. N. Y.

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you, by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 22d day of Jan'y, 1883, and filed with the complaint, in the office of the clerk of Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. G. CROMBIE,
38w6 Plff's Att'y.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the state of New York, whereby the power to sell has become operative, notice is hereby given that said mortgage, which is dated the 13th day of May 1876, and is recorded in the office of the clerk of the county of Oswego at Oswego, N. Y., on the 16th day of May, 1876, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Liber 109 of mortgages, at page 210, was given by Helen M. Foster, mortgagor, to Constantia V. Aurlnger, mortgagee, and the name of each assignee of said mortgage as follows: Orlando Howell. The sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is six hundred and forty-three dollars and eighty-six cents ($643.86). The following is a description of the mortgaged property, contained in said mortgage: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the village of Fulton, county of Oswego and state of New York, specially described as seventy-four and seven-tenths (74 7-10) feet taken off from the north end of lot number four (4) block number twenty-eight (28) as laid down on the printed map of said village, and being sixty-six (66) feet in width on Oneida street and seventy-four and seven-tenths 74 7-10 feet deep. Pursuant to the power of sale contained therein, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the said mortgaged property, or a part thereof at public auction at the law office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, county of Oswego, New York, on the 2d day of June, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated, and subscribed at Fulton, N. Y., this 7th day of March 1883.
ORLANDO HOWELL,
Howe & Rice, Att'ys, Assignee.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK to Hiram Spencer, Colborne, Ont. Canada; Nelson Spencer, Van Wert, Decatur Co., Iowa; Newton Spencer, Van Wert, Decatur Co., Iowa; King S. Geer, Oronogo, Jasper Co., Missouri; Dorliska Dixon, Kappa, Woodford Co, Illinois; Mary Allen, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Elijah Spencer, Oswego, New York; Emma Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Mattie Best, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Jane Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Charles L. Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; George Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Addie Annett, Centerburg, Knox Co., Ohio; Albert Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., New York; Mary Vickery, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Addie Gregg, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Eva Wood, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; William Spencer, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Adelle Bernasky, Phœnix, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Dennis Spencer, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.; Russel Spencer; residence unknown, and all the heirs and next of kin of Eunice A. Spencer late of the town of Schrœppel in the county of Oswego, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas Charles L. Spencer of the town of Schrœppel in the county of Oswego, has lately made application to our Surrogate of the county of Oswego, to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to real and personal estate, duly proved as the last will and testament of said Eunice A. Spencer deceased; therefore, you and each of you are hereby cited, and required personally to be and appear before our said Surrogate, at the office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, in said county of Oswego, on the 6th day of April next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend to the probate of said instrument as the last will and testament of said deceased.

And if any of the persons interested be under the age of twenty-one years, they are required to appear by their guardian, if they have one, or if they have none, that they appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in event of their neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate, to represent and act for them in the proceedings.

In Witness Whereof, we have caused the seal of office of our said Surrogate's Court of the county of Oswego, to be hereunto affixed

[L. S.] Witness, Timothy W. Skinner, Surrogate of the said county, at the village of Mexico, in said county, the 14th day of February in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

The above citation is published by order of Surrogate. GEORGE M. BENNETT,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court of Oswego County.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

New York Safety Fund.
New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets, over $2,400,000.00

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,000,000.00

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY
Of Boston, Mass.
Assets, $1,271,760.00.

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

—NOVELTIES.—

Custom [illegible]

[illegible]

One of [illegible] Qualities of [illegible]

[illegible] the full[illegible] have their [illegible] They become masters of the [illegible] dictate prices, establish values; [illegible] they build expensive yachts in which to traverse every ocean and stream in journeys around the world; they drive trotting horses which throws the dust in the eyes of all competitors; they erect dwellings on [illegible]

[illegible] through the mails of the United States mails. It is said of Jay Gould that his standing orders are that every letter which bears the mark of genuine suffering shall be submitted to him for personal action, and that only those who bear undoubted evidence of having been written by wild lunatics or visionary men with impractical schemes shall be consigned to the waste basket. "Mr Gould," said a gentleman very close to him, and who has access to his mail, "Is naturally of very generous impulses. The outside world judge him harshly, because they see him mainly in heavy transactions and criticise him only as a speculator in enormous values. They think because he controls $90,000,000 of railroad, telegraph and steamship securities, and refuses to part with them, except at a profit, that he is a gambler on a heavy scale, and of necessity must stop his ears to the wail of suffering. With speculators, who lie awake nights to devise schemes for his overthrow, Mr Gould has no sympathy, and he wastes no charity upon them when they cry for quarter, because with the tables turned they give none."

"Is Mr Gould's daily mail large?"

"He receives scores of letters a day on various subjects and from all quarters of the globe. About a year ago there appeared in the Star a carefully written article on our 'Our Wall Street Nabobs,' in which the men worth one million and over were mentioned, and since then Mr Gould has received fully a hundred letters. Only a few days ago one came from Switzerland, in which an impecunious dressmaker wanted him to aid in establishing her in Paris, where she might cut into Worth and break his 'corner' in the dressmaking art. An ambitious Stuttgart student recently asked for a small sum to enable him to open a studio and compete with his more fortunate rivals, and a London soldier in the Queen's Own wanted money to enable him to reach this country and buy a farm."

"What becomes of these letters?"

"Many of the cases are investigated, and if the writers are learned to be worthy of charity they are not left empty-handed. Mr Gould gives away many thousands of dollars a year for charity's sake, not ostentatiously, but in a quiet way, where it will do the most good. Frequently he receives letters from men who have gone down in the many Wall street upheavals. If their failures were due to natural causes, and the applicants are worthy they frequently receive aid from an unexpected quarter, little realizing that Mr Gould is their benefactor. If he should send money to every person, male and female, who applies by letter or in person, Mr Gould would be kept busy writing checks."

Mr C. P. Huntington, who is christened Central Pacific Huntington because he is president and master of the Central Pacific railroad, is probably worth fifteen millions. He is also in receipt of begging letters. His letters are from all portions of Europe and the United States, and containing requests based on every imaginable, scheme. The bulk of his appeals come from the Pacific coast from men who are sure if they only had a few of Mr Huntington's dollars, they could soon develop mines of untold wealth, make western prairie lands blossom like the rose or fill their ranches with the cattle upon a thousand hills. Mr Huntington, his friends say, is not much given to charity, and tosses begging-letters away without reading them very closely.

Henry Clews, another ten millionaire, is beset with appeals for money mainly from public institutions. Men who lost their fortunes [illegible] by a single [illegible] act have often found in Mr Clews a friend full of sympathy, and there are plenty of operators in Wall street to-day the foundation of whose fortunes were laid with the assistance given freely by Mr Clews. "The wealthy men of Wall street," he said to a reporter, "as a rule are lavish in their gifts for charitable purposes, very few being [illegible]"

"Do you have many applications by mail for aid?"

"Scarcely a day passes that I do not receive letters asking [illegible]

[illegible]

Wall street. No questions were asked and most of the men spoken to gave $5 or $10 each, and enough money was raised in fifteen minutes to put the fellow on his feet. Wall street has sins enough to answer for and is certainly entitled to credit for the noble deeds of charity it is constantly engaged in."

Russel Sage is not credited with 'throwing money away," as he terms it, and brokers generally observe:—"A man with $10,000,000, who will wait in his office over half an hour to catch the five cent trains on the elevated road, must be too poor to give money away for sweet charity."

James R. Keene, his friends say, receives scores of begging letters every day, and Cyrus W. Field is the recipient of more than any other man in Wall street circles. He gives away $50 a day for charitable purposes, his intimates assert, and generally answer correspondents who solicit alms, if he thinks it charity worthily bestowed. He told the writer during a recent conversation that while sometimes money sent to unknown correspondents who seek aid may be misplaced charity, it was a consolation to know that some of them, at least, were taught the valuable lesson that the world is not as dark as it is painted, and men of wealth are not always insensible to the necessities of their less fortunate fellow-citizens. [N. Y. Star.

FADED hair recovers its youthful color and soft, silky texture by the use of Parker's Hair Balsam 45m1

A Large Pension.

David A. Smith of Fredonia N. Y. received a gunshot wound in the thigh and is totally blind from the effects of it. His back pay in the Syracuse pension office amounted to $6,584, which is $2,500 more than any other man in this district has received, and his rate of pension is $72 a month. He was a private soldier. It is probable that Smith would give up this money and more too, if he had it, to have his sight restored.

Wedding Anniversaries

The following table gives the date and name of important wedding anniversaries:

First	Paper Wedding.
Second	Straw Wedding.
Third	Candy Wedding.
Fourth	Leather Wedding.
Fifth	Wooden Wedding.
Tenth	Tin Wedding.
Twelfth	Linen Wedding.
Fifteenth	Crystal Wedding.
Twentieth	Floral Wedding.
Twenty-fifth	Silver Wedding.
Thirtieth	Pearl Wedding.
Thirty-fifth	China Wedding.
Fortieth	Coral Wedding,
Fiftieth	Gold Wedding.
Seventy-fifth	Diamond Wedding.

A ROPE ABOUT OUR NECKS.

A weak stomach or enfeebled circulation is likd a rope about our necks. We are strung up and unstrung alternately till existence becomes unbearable. Burdock Blood Bitters will arrest all this misery. Burdock Blood Bitters are a boon to the sick. Let us remember this fact.

A Pleasing Incident.

Pleasant stories illustrating the President's kindly nature are plentiful, One of the latest is told by the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Record, who writes:

A dainty little girl of eight or nine, with dangerous big eyes, appeared in the library of the White House the other day when it was full of great men of one sort and another, and quietly waited her turn to speak with the tall gentleman with the gray whiskers and hair and the sober face and the courteous manner down by the bow window in the south end of the room. By and [illegible] stepped forward modestly but bravely, and with a "good morning, Mr. President," told her name and proffered her request. She was a niece of Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock, and she wanted a few sweet flowers from the executive conservatory for the Easter decoration of a little Episcopal church. She smiled brightly as she [illegible]

[illegible] has suddenly become a feature of the temperance cause, began in Lincoln, Neb., and two years ago the whole State adopted the plan. The City Council of Lincoln originally raised the price to $1,000 a year under the impression that no licenses would be called for and opponents of the measure believed that surreptitious sales would go on. There were twenty saloons, and the proprietors of six met the heavy fee, the rest going out of business. At once these six men, who had paid so heavily for their privileges became practically special officers to see that no one sold without a license. There was much resistance to the new idea, especially in Omaha, where the 195 saloons became 80 after the right to sell was so expensive, but the remaining dealers paid into the city treasury $80,000, instead of the $16,000 formerly received.

☞ A pint of the finest ink for families or schools can be made from a ten-cent package of Diamond Dye. Try them.

Mottoes of the States.

Maine—Border State. "Dirigo." I direct or guide.

New Hampshire—Granite State. No motto.

Vermont— Green Mountain State. "Freedom and Unity."

Massachusetts—Bay State. "Ense petit placidam sub liberate quitem." With the sword she seeks quiet peace under liberty.

Rhode Island—Little Rhody. "Hope."

Connecticut—Land of Steady Habits. "Qus transtulet sustinet." He who transplanted, still sustains.

New York —Empire State. "Excelsior" Higher-

New Jersey.—No Motto.

Pennsylvania—Keystone State. "Virtue, Liberty and Independence."

Deleware—"Liberty and Independence.

Maryland—"Crescite et Multiplicamini." Grow and Multiply.

Virginia—Old Dominion. "Sic semper tyrannis." Even so to tyrants.

West Virginia—"Montana semper liberi." Mountaineers are always freemen."

North Carolina—Old State. No motto.

South Carolina—Palmetto State. "Animis opiquesque parati." Prepared in mind and resources: ready to give life and property.

Georgia—"Wisdom, Justice and Moderation."

Florida—Peninsula State. "In God is our trust.

Mississippi—No motto.

Louisiana—"Justice, Union and Confidence."

Texas—Lone Star State. No motto.

Arkansas—"Regnant populi." The people rule.

Tennessee—"Agriculture and Commerce."

Kentucky—Corn Cracker. "United we stand; divided we fall."

Ohio—Buckeye State. No motto.

Michigan—Wolverine State. "Si quæris peninsulam amœnam circumspice." If thou seekest a beautiful peninsula, behold it here.

Indiana—Hoosier State. No motto,

Illinois—Sucker State. "State Sovereignty, National Union."

Missouri—"Salus populi suprema lex esto. The welfare of the people is the supreme law.

Iowa —Hawkeye State. "Our liberties we prize, and our rights we will maintain."

Wisconsin—Badger State. "Forward."

Minnesota—"L'etoile du nard." "The Star of the North."

Kansas—"Ad astra per aspera." To the stars through difficulties.

California—Golden State. "Eureka." I have found it.

Oregon—"The Union."

Nebraska— "Popular Sovereignty, Progress."

Nevada—"Volens et potens." Willing and able.

Colorado—"Nil sine Domine." Nothing without God.

SOWING WILD OATS.

How many [illegible]

[illegible] Eggleston's Book [illegible] left.

Taking the Board Along.

Two Irishmen came to a guide post of a wide and desolate plain. It was getting dusk and the unfenced trails were scarcely distinguishable. "Five miles to Glenairlie," read one of them putting his face close to the board. But which uv them goes to Glenairlie, shure?" asked his companion, looking dubiously at the two trails. After a few moments' meditative silence, the first Irishman replied, "We can try wan uv thim and then the other." But how will we find the way back uv we get lost?" Shure, we will take the boord along wid us," replied the first. And so the two pilgrims lighted their pipes and marched cheerfully away with the guide board between them.

[Burlington Free Press.

Mr. GEORGE DODGE SPEAKS.

This gentleman lives in Emporinm, Pa and says, 'Ond of my men, Sam Lewls, while working in the woods sprained his ancle so bad he could hardly hobble to the house. Used Thomas' Eclectric Otl and was ready for wook the next morning, I have never yet seen so good a medicine.

On Thirty Days' Trial.

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltanic Belts and Electric Appliance on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with nervous debility, lost vitality and kindred troubles-guaranteeing speedy and complete res, toration of health and make manly vigor. Address as above—N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days trial is allowed. 35y1

THE WONDER OF HEALING!

Catarrh. The Extract is the only specific for this disease, Cold in Head, &c. Our "Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, contains all the curative properties of the Extract; our Nasal Syringe invaluable for use in catarrhal affections, is simple and inexpensive.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured so many cases of these distressing complaints as the Extract.

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly, It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT……50c., $1.00, $1.75.

Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 16, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

"All the above preparations displayed in Pond's Extract Co's. Show Case Sold at W. J. Watson's Drug Store."

[illegible] Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

[illegible]

[illegible] CONSTIPATION. [illegible] PILES. [illegible] KIDNEY-WORT

Fulton Business Cards

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 83

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N.Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO W. BELL,

The only Graduate in Oswego County.

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 3 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to [illegible] Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to.

[illegible] & GRIDLEY

General Jobbers in [illegible]

[illegible] AT THE [illegible]

Only 47 cents, Worth [illegible]

" 73 " " [illegible]

" 97 " " 1.25

Look at them before you buy.

All the latest things in Ladies' Collars Just Received!

NEW LOT OF RIBBONS AND LACES,

This Week. A Bargain in time. Also new things in JEWELRY.

Respectfully

C. D HUBBARD

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE, STOVES, SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

CUT THIS OUT!

ABSOLUTELY THE MOST Wonderful and Liberal Offer Ever Made.

The Famous Old, Original, and Reliable Favorite Family Paper.

The Star Spangled Banner.

Established 1863, began its 21st year Jan. 1883.

It is a large eight-page, forty-column Illustrated Paper, size of Ledger. Every number contains charming Stories, Tales, Sketches, Poems, Wit Humor and Fun; Illustrated Rebus, Numerous engravings, Sketches, Poems, etc.; 500 jolly good laughs; also the "Rogue's Corner," known the world over for its exposure of Frauds, Swindlers, and Humbugs. We desire to double our circulation, and to do so we have secured a special edition of the entirely new 700 page American Dictionary, complete and unabridged. It contains as much matter as any $1 Dictionary, and it is exactly as represented.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS!

CHEAPEST! LATEST!! BEST!!!

THE NEW AMERICAN DIAMOND DICTIONARY, Illustrated, is the chief-d'œuvre of book-making. An elegant book of over seven hundred pages. Defines and pronounces over thirty thousand words. It is "up to the times" and is based upon the best American and English authorities. "Fourteen hundred columns" of definitions—a book for ALL. Besides a complete dictionary, it also contains all the useal tables, forty columns of Abbreviations, Phrses, etc., American Geographical Names with definitions and Signification. Popular Names of States and cities. Abbreviations used in writing and printing. Tables of the various Languages, Languages and Alphabets of the World, Facts in regard to Man, Tables showing power of Man, Horses etc, Statistics of Light, Sound, etc., Population of the World, Religions of all Countries, Interest Tables, 4 to 20 per cent., the Metric System, Language and Lexicography, Complexion of the Human Race, the Ocean and much other valuable and instructive matter. REMEMBER this is not a trashy imported book, but is a new, fresh and perfect Dictionary, printed from new type on fine paper, with new engravings, containing over seven hundred pages, superbly bound in fine cloth, embossed sides, with full gilt back and title. Every student, teacher, every man, woman and child needs this invaluable standard work.

BEAR IN MIND The above DICTIONARY —the best, cheapest, most valuable and desirable book ever printed—is sent prepaid as a Free Gift with our large eight page illustrated Ledger size Family Paper for a whole year, and all for only 58 cents in postage stamps, cash or money order. Now is the Time.

THINK AND ACT! Though worth double the price, yet we offer our large, reliable, and popular national paper for only 50 cents a year; and to at once secure 50,000 new subscribers, we now offer this new and elegant 700-page Dictionary in substantial cloth-gilt binding as a free gift to all who send 50 cents for the Banner one year, and 13 cents to part pay actual cost of postage, etc., upon the Dictionary.

UNDERSTAND That we mean what we say; have 50,000 Dictionaries contracted for; that our paper is worth $1 year, and Dictionary contains as much as any one sold at $3; that you can have both by return mail; and that we guarantee satisfaction in every case.

CUT THIS OUT This offer, and enclose 21 green stamps. If [illegible] you can have your money [illegible]

STONEBURGH Asks Your Attention!

He has Removed into His New Store,—Corner of Broadway and First St. and has a New, Fresh and Enlarged Stock of General Merchandise.

Everything to be found in a

General Assortment Store.

HIGHEST CASH PRICE paid for all kinds of country produce.

Drop in and see what we keep for sale.

In connection with his grocery a

Meat Market

is now open. Fresh meats cut and delivered anywhere in Fulton and Oswego Fal's.

STONEBURGH'S.

C. A. HILL, VETERINARY SURGEON.

(Formerly of Cortland, N. Y.,)

Has opened an office in Fulton over Pruyne's Harness Shop, and wishes to inform the public he can be seen and consulted regarding Treatment of diseases of all Domestic Animals. Horses and Cattle a specialty. Calls promptly attended to night and day.

Dr. Hill has had fifteen years experience.

References can be seen by calling at his office.

C. A. HILL.

Fulton, Jan. 3, 1883.

PHOSPHATE For ALL CROPS $25.00 per Ton.

A TRIED AND VALUABLE [illegible]

IT IS A SUPER-PHOSPHATE AND NOT ACIDULATED S. C. Rock.

It Contains no Dirt or Sand.

Its Analysis is Guaranteed.

It Contains the Elements of Plant Food.

It Gives Good Results.

PRICE $25 PER TON OF 2000 LBS. On Cars or Boat in Philadelphia.

Guaranteed Analysis on each [illegible]

SEND FOR CIRCULAR [illegible]

BAUGH & SONS,

SOLE MANUFACTURERS,

[illegible]

[illegible] estimated cost of the capitol [illegible] is estimated to be $25,- [illegible] will take several millions of [illegible] finish it. Ex-Governor Robinson [illegible], when he branded the [illegible] "a public calamity."

[illegible] small-pox scourge is in Topeka, [illegible]. The disease has become epidemic and there is widespread suffering. [illegible] is entirely suspended. People [illegible] stricken, municipal funds are [illegible] and the authorities are powerless to arrest the scourge.

[illegible] the lead of prominent physicians, the abrogation of the custom of [illegible] the head at funerals is likely to [illegible] place. The uncovering of the head [illegible] grave and in the church, is the [illegible] cause of serious and fatal ailments [illegible] there is reason is doing away with [illegible] custom.

WILLIAM SPRAGUE was defeated for Governor of Rhode Island by Bourn, republican, by 8000 majority. Sprague was [illegible] a dissipated bankrupt and just why the democracy of that state essayed to foist him into the gubernatorial chair is hardly tangible. The democracy do strange things outside of Rhode Island also.

THE selection of postmaster general by the President, outside of the circle of applicants and aspirants, seem to give unusual satisfaction. Walter Q. Gresham of Indiana, is said to be a man of thorough business qualifications and one who will not allow Star Routers to run riot under his administration. A first-class postmaster general will be a novelty.

SEVERAL dynamite fiends have been arrested in England and also places discovered where the murderous explosives were in course of manufacture. The dynamite party is happily small and will undoubtedly be easily and effectually squelched. No good can possibly result to the Irish cause from the course pursued by a few over zealous and imprudent men.

THE great East River bridge at New York is practically completed, and will soon be thrown open to public travel. It was begun fourteen years ago, and has cost $14,000,000. It spans sixteen hundred feet of water, and the approaches are nearly a thousand feet long on each side of the river. The entire length of the bridge is 5,854 feet, being more than a mile. It is a grand monument of American enterprise.

DELESSEPS, though bound to keep a proper distance away from the works on the Panama Canal, has procured the services of Engineer Dingler, as cheif of the works at a salary of $40,000 a year. We hardly see why Dingler need be in a hurry to complete the job so long as there is capital enough at his back. Austin Spalding, of Lockport, N. Y., has contracted to build seven miles of the Panama Canal for $7,000,000.

THE orange crop in southern California this year is so large that doubt is expressed if more than one-half of it will be picked. One man in Los Angeles has sold his entire crop of lemons and oranges as it stands upon the trees, on 60 acres, for the round sum of $25,000. Other fruits in the state except strawberries, promise a great yield. Thousands of emigrants are passing Dakota and other frigid localities and are locating in Southern Califarnia.

PETER COOPER, New York's greatest philanthropist, died last Wednesday, aged 92. His death is appropriately described in his own sentiment. He said, "My sun is not setting in clouds and darkness, but in a clear firmament lighted by the glory of God." Funeral services were held Sunday from All Souls' Unitarian church. Previous to the funeral the body was viewed by thousands of people as it lay in state in the church. Peter Cooper was father to ex-Mayor Edward Cooper and father-in-law of Abram S. Hewitt a well-known iron manufacturer and democratic politician.

CHICAGO MERCHANT'S EXPERIENCE.

[illegible] I had become almost skin and [illegible], with neither strength, appetite [illegible] ambition left, and the doctors [illegible] help me, two bottles Parker's [illegible] Tonic cured me completely. M. [illegible], Lamp M'f'r, Chicago.

46m1

CARPETS,
CARPETS.

[illegible]

[illegible] Latter Day Saints are [illegible] opposed to polygamy, and on this point only disagree with their Utah co-religionists.

The history of Mormonism is a strange and almost ridiculous one. Joseph Smith was a farm hand and laborer in Palmyra, N. Y., fifty-three years ago, in 1819, and while engaged in digging a well for a neighbor, he unearthed a curious stone. It was curiously shap d and resembled a child's foot. Smith cherished the stone, talked about it and dreamed about it. He finally looked upon it, as a magic stone, and claimed that he could see wonderful things by its aid. This idea was enlarged upon day by day, until he considered himself a revealer of hidden treasures and a prophet His seerstone became the talk of the country for miles around. Various miracles in the way of the finding of hidden money treasures were performed by Smith. The newspapers throughout the country heralded and ridiculed them. A few years later the wonderful Smith had a vision. He claimed that while at prayer an angel of the Lord visited him and promised to reveal to him at some future time, the true gospel of the Lord. Still later, in 1827, he discovered the metalic book, or engraved plates, which he exhumed from the earth and which afterwards was call the Book of Mormon. It was heralded abroad as the Golden Bible or Book of Mormon, and as the commencement of the new gospel dispensation. Why it was called the Book of Mormon is probably owing to the fact that the word Mormon is synonymous with "mormo," which, according to the definition Webster gives it, signifies a "bugbear," or "false terror." What followed the intense excitement over the discovery is well known. Smith gathered a number of his friends and followers about him; and on April 6, 1830—just fifty-three years ago the first Mormon church was established, and Joseph Smith was installed as "Patriarch and President of the Church of Latter Day Saints."

In 1832 Brigham Young joined them and the society was forced by public opinion to locate in a new country and chose Independence, Mo., as the place. They finally drifted to Utah and are now numbered by the hundreds of thousands. The dissenters or Latter Day Saints, are raising sad havoc with the present polygamous church and are branded as apostates, etc.

The McGibeny's to-night in Stephen's Opera House the evening.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.
Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, April 10, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. Present a full Board.

On motion of Trustee VanWagenen, Andrew Jones was appointed street commissioner for the ensuing year.

On motion of Trustee Francis Wm. C. Stephens was appointed attorney for the Village of Fulton for the ensuing year.

On motion of Trustee Hart B. H. Hulett was appointed a policeman.

On motion of Trustee Francis Willard Curtis and Charles Wilkinson were appointed policemen.

President Herrick named the following committees:—

STREET—Hart, Cavanaugh and VanWagenen.

LAMP—Johnson, Francis and Cavanaugh.

FINANCE—VanWagenen, Patterson and Françis.

ORDINANCE—Patterson, Johnson and Francis.

PARKS—Cavanaugh, VanWagenen and Hart.

SUPPLIES—Francis, Hart and Patterson.

A communication was received from the fire department asking the appointment of S. B. Whitaker Chief Engineer; Jefferson Bailey First Assistant and Charles R. Nichols Second Assistant, The appointments were made.

The compensation of the street commissioner was fixed at $2.00 per day; common labor $1,25 per day and team labor $3.00 per day.

Adjourned to meet April 17, 1883 at 7 1-2 o'clock p. m.

L. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Have you had our 50c tea. Can not be beat.
D. C. SKADEN,

PRESENTED WITH A WATCH.
An Opportunity of Which All Can Take Advantage.

Next to the clothes on one's back the most necessary article to a civilized person's outfit is a watch. A good time piece is no longer a luxury only to be enjoyed by the rich. The poor man's need of a watch is as great as that of Vanderbilt, and it is one of the results of a higher civilization that a canal driver, at all times and at all places, may be on a par with the railroad king in knowing the exact time of the day. The fact is that all in this vicinity—rich and poor—learned and unlearned—have now an opportunity to procure a first class watch without money and without price. "The Famous" Opera Clothing House, 2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse, N. Y., [illegible]

50 LADIES' [illegible]

At $1.15. Reduced from [illegible]. A Bargain in

BLACK AND COLORED SILK VELVETS,

For Ladies' dresses. Also another lot of those BLACK SILKS, which are Superior to any for the price ever shown in Fulton.

E. B. FAY.

IT WILL BE TO
YOUR INTEREST
TO BUY YOUR
BOOTS AND SHOES
AT THE LARGEST ONE PRICE SHOE
HOUSE IN AMERICA.
ROSENBLOOM BROS
COR. SOUTH SALINA AND RAILROAD STS.
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

D. McCarthy & Co.
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Unrivalled (even by the best New York Houses) as

ARTISTIC Decorators
—ALSO—FIRST HANDS
—FOR—Stylish Draperies
—AND—
Furniture Coverings

NOW DISPLAY

The Richest Stock
—OF—
Upholstery!
GOODS,

to which the attention of the public has ever been called.

FRESHNESS OF DESIGN,
Excellence of Work,
Prompt Execution of Orders,
AND
Reasonable Prices.
D. McCARTHY & CO.,
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

DIRTY LINEN
Is a Disgrace when
—WATERMAN—
is doing Laundrying so Cheaply.
43

Go to your druggist for Mrs. Freeman's New National Dyes. For brightness and durability of color, are unequalled. Color from 2 to 5 pounds. Directions in English and German. Price 15 cents.
47

NOW IS THE TIME.
GEORGE JOHNSTON
Is Ready to meet all demands for Roofing, Jobbing,
And all manner of Work in His Line. His Stock of STOVES, TINWARE,
CLOTHES WRINGERS and House Furnishing Goods
Is Full and Complete. Price Way Down.
If you want Good Goods or a First-Class Job go to
GEO. JOHNSTON'S.

ATTENTION!

FARMERS!—Do you want tough suits—suits that will stand by you in garden, field and forest? WE HAVE THEM; you cannot wear them out.

MECHANICS!—You especially need trustworthy clothing. You want coats that will endure the elbow movement, and pants that do not fringe at the bottom or give at the knees. WE HAVE THEM; you cannot wear them out.

TRADESMEN! Are you contemplating the purchase of good business apparel—something that will become you in your work and during your leisure hours as well? Do you desire to appear as gentlemen, yet not above your business? WE HAVE just what you want; we can please you.

PROFESSIONAL MEN?—Are you spendthrifts? Remember every penny wasted will assist in liftng you along to the poor house. Relations or friends may save you from complete bankruptcy, yet your career will be anything but a success. Economize now. Save money on your clothing—you can do it. We are offering a prodigious stock of men's and boys' wear at prices as low as any clothiers in America ever dared to name.

EVERYBODY!—Our new stock of Spring Goods makes our counters groan. It is large and magnificent. Of light Overcoats we have all conceivable shades and colors, beautifully lined and trimmed and bound in the very best of style. As you pass, call in.

Men's and Boys' Outfitters!
"THE FAMOUS"
Opera Clothing House
2 AND 3 [illegible]

[illegible] and Strangers

[illegible] invite you all to come to [illegible] in so doing we wish to [illegible] are prepared to give you a welcome that means something. And now as to what it means, it means that we shall show the most Elegant and Complete Line of Spring Styles—it means that you will secure Better Goods at Lower Rates than can be found in Central New York. These are not mere words but facts which we stand ready to demonstrate when ever you see fit to give us the opportunity. The cut and fit of every garment we guarantee will please the most fastidious, as we sell nothing but first-class goods and make it a study to furnish all our patrons with an artistic fit which will retain its shape af worn. By strict attention to the needs o our patrons, and close study of the goods in our line, we hope to keep constantly on hand a well-selected assortment from which we shall be able to meet your wants in such a way that you will patronize us again.

Regarding our stock of
READY-MADE CLOTHING
Hats, Caps and Gents' Furnishing Goods,

We have only to say that it is complete in every department and we are actually selling at prices far below those of all competitors.

Thanking our many friends and customers one and all for their past liberal patronage, and promising our very best efforts to merit such favors as you shall see fit to bestow in the future we remain sincerely yours,

E. & A. ROSENBLOOM.

[illegible]
April 11, 1883.

For Sale.

A [illegible] in good condition. [illegible] one door [illegible] mill. H. C. [illegible]
April 11, 1883.

Lost.

A Setter dog. Had on a collar with name "Newton Johnson" engraved on it. White and liver speckled with liver spot on back. Please return to THE TIMES office.

NEWTON JOHNSON.
April 11, 1883.

To Rent, With Board.

The pleasant double parlors overlooking the park; furnished or unfurnished; corner of Third and Buffalo St. Apply to Mrs A. T. Loomis.
April 11, 1883.

NOTICE.

The accounts of the late firm of Robinson Whitaker and Co. have been placed in the hands of S. B. Mead Esq for collection. All persons indebted to said firm are notified to call immediately and settle with Mr. Mead and save costs.

S B WHITAKER,
REUBEN BRADSHAW,
April 4, 1883.

A Grand Bargain.

The very beautiful house of Mr. Ed. Breads on Fourth street is offered for sale. Whoever wants the best need look no farther. F. D. VANWAGENEN.

For Sale or Rent.

House and Barn and one-half acre of Excellent Garden Land in Fulton. Possession given first of April, 1883. Enquire of N. H. MCCRACKEN,
At E. B. Fay's Dry Goods Store.
45tf

For Sale or Rent.

The W. W. Straight place just east of the village on Oneida street. Good house and barn. Plenty of good fruit, water, etc. Enquire immediately of
F. E. GOODJON.
Fulton, April 4, 83.

Rooms To Let.

The rooms in the Pratt block, formery occupied by Watson & Read, over Robinson & Langdon's store. A fine suite of rooms. Connects with the Lewis House. Enquire of JOHN W. PRATT.
Fulton, March 14, 1883.

For Sale.

The very valuable property on First Street and running back to Second, well known as the Hull place. For sale cheap. A great bargain for capitalists. Will be sold as a whole or in parts.
Enquire at F. D. VANWAGENEN'S,
Real Estate Agency, No. 10 First St.

For Sale.

One hundred bushels of Late Beauty of Hebron potatoes. Price $1.00 per bushel. It has all the fine table qualities of Early Rose and will yield very much more on ordinary light soil. For common farm cultivation it has no superior. They please everyone.
Address, E. D. CHAPMAN,
44t5 Oswego Falls, N. Y.

Eggs For Sale.
WYANDOTTES AND LEGHORNS.

Persons wishing eggs for hatching from my premium stock of Brown Leghorns and Wyandottes can get them at my yard on Third street upper Oswego Falls at $1.00 per setting of 13 for Brown Leghorns; $1.50 per setting of 13 for Wyandottes. CHAS. R. GUILE.
44tf Oswego Falls, N. Y.

New Seedling Potato.

Peter D. McIntyre has a new seedling potato for sale that commands the attention of agriculturalists. They are excellent yielders; but few small ones; are light colored and cannot be beaten for cooking in summer or fall. The undersigned have tested McIntyre's seedlings and cheerfully recommend them; J. Wallace VanVorst, F. Hutton, J. C. VanBuren, Q. Rust, Chas. Whitaker, Wm. B. Howard and John D. Foster. A sample may be seen at Berzee's grocery, Oneida street, Fulton. 46t4

HAMMOCK
Twines [in balls,]
Rings and Hooks,
—ALSO—
Hammocks, any Size and Style, on hand or made to order at WATERMAN'S.

DON'T BUY
Any Fishing Tackle or Repair Supplies until you have called at WATERMAN'S.

George Fassel
DEALER IN
Marble and Granite!
MONUMENTS & GRAVESTONES
Estimates furnished on all kinds of Marble Work.

Work Equal to Any.

Office and Shop, Second Street, Old Universalist Church Building.
47 1y

[illegible]

[illegible] R. R

[illegible] 7:15 a. m.
[illegible] p. m.
[illegible] a. m.
[illegible] 8:25 p. m.
[illegible] 11:04 a. m.
[illegible] 5:58 p. m.

[illegible]ERN R. R.
[illegible] DIVISION.
[illegible] as follows:
[illegible] 8:06 a. m.
[illegible] 9:25 a. m.
[illegible] 12:40 p. m.
[illegible] 5:58 p. m.
[illegible] 8:06 a. m.
[illegible] 8:03 p. m.
[illegible] 6:24 p. m.
[illegible] 8:30 p. m.
[illegible] to the Night Express
[illegible], Supt.

[illegible] to the McGilbeny's [illegible]

[illegible] Superintendent Richardson's office is [illegible] Morrow's store under the postoffice.

[illegible] is thought the canals will not be in [illegible] for navigation before May [illegible]

[illegible] Work on the interior of the Oswego [illegible] Congregational church is being [illegible]

Decoration day will be properly ob[illegible] here. W. H. Kenyon Esq., of Oswego has been secured to deliver the address.

By a vote of 377 to 66 Oneida has de[illegible] for water works. The question [illegible] water works in Fulton appears to [illegible] with approval.

Collector Bailey's warrant for the col[illegible] of taxes has been extended [illegible] June 1st. He has the amount lev[illegible] pretty well narrowed down.

John Barry, for many years salesman [illegible] Draper's grocery store is soon to be [illegible] to the position of head clerk, made vacant by the resignation of Frank Wilson.

Mary J. Wilson will sell at auction at [illegible] farm one and one-half miles south [illegible] Bowens Corners, Granby, Tuesday, April 17th, 1883, agricultural implements, [illegible] household goods, etc. Auction will commence at 10 a. m.

L. E. Montague has taken a position [illegible] First street for the sale of fish, oys[illegible] clams, etc., in the roadway leading [illegible] Herrick & Emerick's box factory. Or[illegible] taken and goods delivered anywhere [illegible] Fulton or Oswego Falls.

Hughes Bros, of Syracuse are making [illegible] arrangements to do some extensive work [illegible] the old Kellogg quarry in Oswego Falls. A thirty horse power engine [illegible] the Ames Iron Works in Oswego, [illegible] been purchased and delivered and [illegible] is being shaped to begin on a large [illegible] in a few days.

The lower quarry in Oswego Falls will [illegible] operated the coming season by Col[illegible] & McKay. A tramway is being [illegible] from the quarry to Wright's dock [illegible] shipping. About sixty men will be [illegible] employment. The firm informed [illegible] that orders were already in [illegible],000 worth of stone.

A pleasant marriage ceremony was [illegible] at the residence of William Haynes on Rochester Street Thurs[illegible] evening by Rev E. C. Bruce, the [illegible] parties being Charles W. [illegible] of Plainville, N. Y., and Miss Net[illegible] of Baldwinsville. The usual [illegible] cheer and congratulations followed.

[illegible] D. Wilson, formerly head clerk [illegible] Draper's store, has formed a partner[illegible] with G. A. Leonard in the livery [illegible] under the firm name of Leonard [illegible] Wilson. These two gentlemen have [illegible] the 'bus line of M A Hatch [illegible] will give it their personal supervis[illegible] The firm is a good one in every [illegible] and intend doing business in a [illegible] first-class manner.

[illegible] Board of Trustees of Oswego Falls [illegible] 2d and made the following [illegible]: street commissioner, [illegible]; jailor, Tilton Coe; clerk, [illegible] Parker; policeman, Fred Al[illegible] Roberts, Freeman Craver, [illegible] Taft, Frank McCann and [illegible] Coe. Chas. Lilly was awarded [illegible] for lighting the lamps in Oswego Falls and T. H. Ackert in [illegible] portion of the village.

[illegible] convention held Fri[illegible] Whitaker was elected [illegible]; Jefferson Bailey First [illegible] Darrow Second As[illegible] some talk as to the [illegible] on account of a [illegible] A new [illegible] delegates re[illegible] convention held re[illegible] the above named [illegible] exception of Mr. [illegible] Mr. Chas. E. [illegible] Mr. Whitaker [illegible] from No. 1 [illegible] in order to [illegible] Every[illegible]

[illegible] were drawn to [illegible] among [illegible] neighboring towns:

Granby—[illegible], G H [illegible], J C Fuller, A [illegible], [illegible] Greenwood, Reuben Harris, Harrison [illegible], Hiram Dean, Oscar Peckham, Owen McGovern, George Carpenter, Henry C. Fuller.

Hannibal—Perry Camden, Wm Brown, G J Lockwood, Thomas Kalen, J W J W Wilson, Samuel Cook, Almon Bidwell, Benj White, Harvey Perkins, E. Crofoot, Wm R Tirusly, Samuel Crandell, Wm Tompkins, Seth Barrus, Noah Barlow.

Palermo—Geo Hanchett, W. A. Jennings, A Sutton, Franklin Kellar, D P Jennings, Delaney Copp, Ephriam Lord, G Barrows, Jas Hodges.

Schroeppel—L M Ostrander, Charles Green, J H Diefendorf, H D Fox, A W Scrutom, Elmer Patchen, James Ray, [illegible], Foster, Gilbert Brundage, Solomon Warren, Volney—Chas Simons, B W Hastings, S Parmalee, Frank Dilts, S McCoy, Stephen Buck, Fred Johnson, E. Fairbanks, Christopher Kerfler, J J Bonney, Horace DuBois, Ira Campbell, Albert Allen, Delos Diston, Chapman Percival, J A Evarts, M S Gates, Lewis Stearns, Patrick Hogan, W E Cook, Newton Johnson, Curtis Harding, L H Drake.

Street Commissioner.

Andrew A. Jones was appointed street commissioner by the Board of Trustees last evening for the ensuing year. There were several applicants named for the position among whom were Willis Ney, R. R. Dodge, James Back, Sylvanus Perry, Hale Curtis, Lewis Porter, and Thos VanBuren. In the meeting last evening but two of the above were voted upon. On an informal ballot Andrew Jones received three votes and R. R. Dodge received three; Trustees Johnson, Cavanaugh and Patterson, voting for Mr Dodge and Trustees Hart, VanWagenen, and Francis voting for Mr. Jones.

On a formal ballot Trustees Johnson, Cavanaugh, and Patterson, voted for R. R. Dodge and Trustees Hart, VanWagenen, and Francis, voted for Andrew Jones. The vote resulted in a tie and the president, Mr Herrick, cast his vote for Mr Jones thereby electing him.

Mr Jones has been street commissioner before; is a man of judgment; thoroughly understands the needs of the streets and will do the village excellent service.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore will deliver a lecture in Stephen's Opera House Tuesday evening, April 17th, 1883, subject, 'The Coming Man." This is regarded as the best of Mrs. Livermore's lectures. Rev. Joseph Cook says: "She is the queen of lecturesses—a lady whose eloquence has had a larger public recognition than that of any other woman in ancient or modern times." She will be introduced to the audience by Mrs. Dr. C. M. Lee. Every lady and gentleman in Fulton should attend this lecture as it will be preeminently superior to any delivered here for some time.

The Cleveland, Ohio, Leader says one of the largest and finest audiences that over welcomed a public speaker in this city assembled at the Tabernacle last week to enjoy the lecture of Mrs. Mary A. Livermore on "The Coming Man." Every seat in the building was occupied, and every occupant seemed pleased with the earnest and eloquent discourse of the evening. Aside from her acknowledged intellectual powers, Mrs. Livermore possesses all the rare qualities of a successful speaker, and during the course of her interesting lecture she was repeatedly interrupted by applause.

Seats now on sale at Watson's drug store.

ROD AND REEL.

"Here comes the trout that must be caught by tickling" [Twelfth Night.

Now the genuine sportsman begins to get together his traps for a day's sport among the speckled beauties. With rod and reel and fly, with basket and store, he seeks the solitudes of the mountain and forest streams, that his skill and cunning may be matched against the wary trout. He is deterred by neither cold nor frost, but gives himself up to the enjoyments of the chase with great zest and hearty appreciation of the highest meaning of sport. He will meanwhile envy Uncle Reub Wood his prospective chance at the gamey salmon in the waters of bonny Scotland. A rare hunt will these deadly foes of the finny tribes have for the choicest fishing grounds as posible, quite in contrast with those who searching for the best, the most reliable, the cheapest Clothing House in town, and finding at Kent & Miller's the full realisation of their quest, at once proclaim the fact upon the streets, in the office, at home—everywhere. They know, and therefore they tell, that the Choicest Spring Overcoats, stylish and trim; the most elegant Suits, well fitting and well made; the greatest amount and variety of Spring Clothing for Men, Youths and Boys is to be found at [illegible] 16 and [illegible] South Salina Street.

McGilbeny's to-night.

The [illegible] will not be made public until next week.

The Knights of Labor will hold another party in Whitaker's hall on the 20th inst.

The Midland railroad is to be relaid with steel rails. This is another sign of prosperity.

Chas. Blount was in Fulton over Sunday. Mr. Blount is renovating feather beds in Oswego and has quite a brisk trade.

D. Hendrick has accepted a position in an undertaking establishment in Erie, Pa., and will immediately remove to that city.

[illegible] Dow of Madison University occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday and will officiate again next Sunday.

Miss Anistacia Howe of New York city has been appointed as teacher in Fulton Union School. She is a niece of Dr. G. V. Emens.

Nathan F. Walrod of Wolcott, Wayne Co., and Miss Theresa E. Knight of Fulton were united in marriage March 22, 1883, by Rev. L. Golden.

Rev J. F. Shindler will exchange with Rev Dr Fisk of Syracuse, and the Dr will preach in the Universalist church in this village on Sunday evening the 15th inst.

Several ladies and gentlemen have in preparation a dramatic drama "Neighbor Jackwood," that will be produced for the benefit of the Methodist society in a few days.

Amos H. Baldwin has been removed to his home in Volney. He has been at the residence of Timothy Salmon in Oswego Falls since he was injured March 3d. He is improving.

A calf twelve hours old weighing 108 pounds attracted many to the stable of Mr. W. H. Owen, last Friday. It is of a grade Holstein. Mr. Owen resides in the Keller district south of Fulton.

The correspondent who wrote us for the address of W. H. Tompkins will find it recorded here: W. H. Tompkins, High Banks, Chippewa county, Wisconsin. It was furnished The Times by Mrs Hammond Gwyn.

Chas M. Sabin will go to Syracuse Monday and enter Andrews Bros, grocery as salesman. Mr Sabin has had many years experience in the grocery business and Andrews Bros, will find in him a valuable acquisition.

A ten days excursion will be run to New York over the N. Y. O. & W. railroad next Tuesday. Fare only $7.00; tickets good in returning up to and including April 27th. For further particulars enquire of Agent E. E. Johnson at Fulton depot.

"Last week we sold from our office over 200 copies of the PATRIOT in addition to those sent out to subscribers." [Fulton Patriot.

This is the time of year when papers are in great demand for pantry shelves, and to place under carpets.

The Knights of Labor gave a party in their rooms in Whitaker's hall Friday evening and it proved a most enjoyable affair. The rooms were nicely furnished and decorated. the best of order maintained and a surplus of several dollars added to the treasury of the society. The Knights of Labor are growing in importance and strength.

A very pleasant meeting of the young peoples' literary association of the M. E. church wat held at the residence of Mr. R. K. Harris, on Monday evening. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs Goodjon, Miss Eunice Sisson and Miss Susie Porter. Mr. Fred Schenck delivered a very interesting and instructive lecture on the Brooklyn bridge.

The committee appointed by the board of supervisors of Oswego county to negotiate for the sale of lands owned by the county under tax titles, will meet for that purpose at the court house in Owego city, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 24 and 25. All persons wishing to purchase any such lands are requested to meet said committee at said time and place.

The patrons of H. W. Smith's Fulton cheese factory held a meeting yesterday and voted to pay $1.25 per hundred for the manufacturing of cheese during the season. Mr. Smith was voted $25 to act as salesman and divide the funds next Monday. Mr F. D. VanWagenen and Amos Wolover are associated with Mr Smith as salesmen.

The Salvation Army is still encamped in Syracuse and create a great furore. Sunday night a crowd of boys and girls attracted by the salvation soldiers' strange garb, gathered in front of this place of worship and pelted them with [illegible] and other handy missiles. The police arrested three of the assailants and dispersed the crowd. The manner of procedure of the Salvation Army is a little peculiar to say the least.

[illegible]

A[illegible]FULTON.

Dairymen's Association.

The annual meeting of the Fulton Dairymen's Association for the election of officers and the transaction of other necessary business will be held at the Lewis House, on Wednesday, April 18th, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Half Fare Train.

A special half fare train will leave the lower D. L. & W. depot Saturday evening at 7:15, to go to Oswego to attend Lotta's farewell entertainment in the Academy of Music. For tickets and information apply to Mr E. F. Blanchard.

Sensible.

Under the above head the Oswego Times and Express of Saturday said:—The board of trustees of the village of Fulton, in deciding between the Fulton Patriot and THE FULTON TIMES as to which should have the official printing gave it to THE TIMES on the ground that it had the greatest circulation. That was sensible, and the reverse of the course taken by the board of supervisors last fall which decided to award the county printing to the paper having the least circulation.

No One Knows Him.

Saturday the following despatch was received in Fulton:

BAY CITY, Mich. April 6, 1883.
PATRICK CULLEN:—
Mike McNulty dead here. Sister married to butcher there. Find out. Answer soon. TIM FLOOD.

Mr. Cullen knew of no one named McNulty and repeated enquiries failed to throw any light on the identity of the man and telegraphed back the result. Nothing has been heard since Saturday.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego County on April 11, 1883.

Miss Lizzie Forsyth, Miss Lydia Monroe, Mrs Geo Nichols, Mrs Christeen Roberts, Miss Julia Applebee, Geo McCall, John Henry Johnson, Thomas Jones, Mr Isaac.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

C. C. Olmsted, Comunity, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

To Dairymen and Farmers.

The season of 1883 will find THE TIMES as heretofore replete with the latest doings of Little Falls, Utica and foreign cheese and butter markets and a correct chronicler of the doings of our local cheese association. We have arrangements that permit us of reproducing on Wednesday the latest transactions in the dairy world and everything of interest to dairymen and cheesemakers will be recorded. The Utica board of trade will organize the 23d inst. and the Fulton cheese association the 18th inst.

To be Inquired Into.

Frederick Allen, of Cleveland, Oswego county, came into possession of about $15,000 a year ago by death of relatives and it is alleged his time has been mostly spent in dissipation and riotous living since, until he has about $7,000 left. The Supreme Court has issued an order that a jury be empanneled and this supposed habitual drunkard brought before it and examined and have it determined whether he is incapacitated by reason of his habits of managing his own affairs. S. Mortimor Coon of Oswego is appointed commisioner. Deputy Sheriff Hulett has subpoenaed 24 reputable citizens of this locality to compose the jury and the case will be examined into in the Lewis house commencing to-morrow at 1 o'clock p. m.

Alexander Young of Syracuse a member of the "Salvation Army," now encamped in that city was in Fulton yesterday in uniform looking the village over. He said it was doubtful whether the Army would attack this place. His uniform consisted of a cap surrounded with a red band upon which the words "Salvation Army" is inscribed and the letter "S" in nickle upon each lapel of his coat. Mr Young is a brother of Alzada Randall the alleged perjurer in the Montague divorce suit and was in town on business connected with that case.

Buy only the best. Cheapness in price means cheapness in quality. Sole agency for Estey, Mason & Hamlin, Sterling, organs, Weber, Fisher, and other first-class pianos at Bristol's

CLOVER

—AND—

TIMOTHY

SEED!

—AT—

Miller & Whitaker's.

The McGilbeny's in Stephen's Opera House this evening.

Mrs Lizzie Delmage is a new clerk in F. R. Bacon's dry goods store.

A little daughter brings joy to the household of Mr James Flanning.

T. R. Wilde of Manitoba is a guest of his brother-in-law Mr. R. E. Phillips.

The Northern New York M. E. Conference convenes in Watertown to-day.

Mrs. R. C. Scott and daughter of Oswego are the guests of Mr Geo. L. Smith.

Dr Haviland was called to Hastings in consultation in a critical case Friday

Mrs Henry V. Spencer is dangerously ill with pneumonia at her home in Mexico.

Seth Dunbar and family of Baldwinsville will take up their residence in Fulton.

William B. Crouch an old resident of Gilberts Mills died Monday, aged 77 years.

The Baptist Literary Society will meet at the residence of Mr. E. Laycock, Wednesday evening April 18.

Dr. I. C. Curtis, president of the Fifth District Dental Association is presiding at a regular meeting in Utica.

Mr M. H. Brando is making preparations to remove with his family from Fulton to Providence, Rhode Island.

Mr and Mrs C. S. Osgood have been quite sick for some time. Their condition is somewhat improved this morning.

A gentleman named Chase from the Syracuse University will officiate in the M. E church Sunday morning and evening.

Ed Waugh returned from Buffalo Monday evening somewhat indisposed. He has been sick for a few days with a light fever.

Collector Bailey will cash school orders presented to him at his store in the Saunderson building, opposite the post-office.

Samuel Green officiated at the Free Methodist church Sunday morning and evening in the absence of the pastor, Rev. A. Smith.

J. B. Birdsall left for Chicago Monday to visit his brother Edward who is superintendent of an extensive candy manufactory.

A young lady residing east of and a young gentleman residing north-east of the village are soon to join the ranks of Cupid's victims.

Orren Miller, brother of James E. Miller, was again elected supervisor of Berryville township, Michigan last Tuesday. This is the fifth successive term for Mr. Miller.

Thomas Gale has been dangerously ill at his home in Syracuse for several days suffering from blood poisoning. He was reported yesterday to be convalescing.

Francis VanCamp aged 22, died in Syracuse Friday of pneumonia. His remains were brought to Fulton and funeral services held from the residence of Thos G. Pool Monday at 10 a. m.

Mrs. Alzada Randall, charged with perjury in the Montague divorce suit, was held to bail in the sum of $1,000 by Recorder Bulger in Oswego yesterday for her appearence before the next grand jury.

Avery Smith a prosperous and respected farmer living near the sixteenth school house died Monday after a short illness of pneumonia. Funeral will be held at 11 a. m. to-morrow from his late residence. Deceased was a cousin of Mr H. W. Smith of this village.

Ed. C. Wolcott, for many years salesman in the "Bee Hive" will leave next Monday for Denver, Colorado, where he will remain if the surroundings are agreeable to his taste. Mr. Wolcott is an ambitiou and worthy young man and his Fulton friends are unanimous in wishing him a successful future.

Frank McCarthy, of Oswego, has been in town introducing the Norcross furnace register, an invention which regulates the supply of heat and is a great economizer of fuel. Although late in the season Mr. McCarthy has placed several in position in Fulton and they are giving the best of satisfaction.

Minnie, wife of David Campbell died in this village Friday evening April 6th aged 19 years. The immediate cause of the lady's death was consumption of which she had been a sufferer for several months. Her funeral was held from her late residence on Cayuga street Monday at 2 p. m. Rev J. S. Riggs of the Presbyterian church officiating, hundreds of friends being present to pay their final respects.

STAVE BOLTS.

Cash paid for WHITE and RIM ASH Stave bolts and black ash heading bolts. Parties wishing to contract will call at office.

Fulton, Jan. 22, 83. D. E. MASON.

That Husband of Mine

Is three times the man he was before he began using "Wells' Health Renewer." $1. Druggists.

[illegible] the 14th N. Y. State Militia (better known as the "Brooklyn boys,") 22nd N. Y. Vols. 24th N. Y. Vols., 30th N. Y. Vols. and a battalion of the Berdan U. S. sharpshooters.

Our first brigade commander was General Keys, whom the boys loved and respected as they would a father. Toward spring, however, he was promoted to the command of a division, and General C. C. Augur assumed command, he being from the regular army. We being volunteers, things did not exactly "jibe" for a while; but after he found out that he had command of a body of men which were afterwards known as the "Iron Brigade," a name given to us by General Patrick, after we had made a forced march from Catlets Station to Fredericksburg, a distance of 38 miles in twelve hours—we had a better understanding and were sorry to see him leave us for a different field.

And here let me say one thing: Our brigade was the first to which the name of "Iron Brigade," was applied and the only brigade which was known by that name so long as it had an existence, which was up to the spring of 1863, it being composed mostly of two years troops, was dissolved and the few three years men who were left were assigned places in other regiments. After this the "Wisconsin Brigade," composed of the 2nd, 6th and 7th Wisconsin Vols. and the 19th Indiana and afterwards the 24th Michigan regiments took the name, when we had no further use for it, and carried it until the close of the war. Every few days I see extracts from Wisconsin papers telling this and that about the old "Iron Brigade, composed of the above named regiments. I make the above statement without fear of successful contradiction, and every member of the 24th N. Y. Vols. will bear me out in what I have said.

Our duties that first winter consisted in "guard" duty around camp, going on picket every third Sunday and going to Washington or Alexandria whenever we could get a pass. We performed our picket duty out about two miles from Falls Church. There was a pine grove where the "Reserve" stayed, composed of three or four companies, then out a little further was a smaller reserve, and extending each way i. e. right and left were the picket posts, generally in the edge of a piece of "timber" and from ten to fifteen rods apart. These posts would generally be back in the woods a few rods and protected from the "front" by pine boughs or boards (if they could be obtained) and three men would be placed on each post, one to stand on guard out on the edge of the timber, while the other two "kept house," cooked their rations, played cards or slept. Once in a while some of the boys would go out on a bit of a scout, not for rebels, but for chickens or honey, always managing to be "at home" when Capt. O. J. Jennings came around to see that we were on duty.

The grand reserve was the place where we took the most comfort while on picket. There were three or four places fixed each one capable of holding a whole company. They were made in the following manner: Four stout poles (say six inches in diameter) were fastened up to four trees horizontally, standing in as square a form as could be found, about fifteen feet from the ground, forming a square support running around the trees. This space would be about twenty feet square, then long, slim poles were leaned against these horizontal beams until the place was inclosed after which it was "thatched" with pine brush, cornstalks or straw. This protection, with a good rousing fire in the center, made it very comfortable.

Company "F" from Oswego, commanded by Captain Preston, were mostly Irish boys, and among their number was one who was a splendid singer. Every time we were on the grand reserve together, a lot of us boys would go over to Co. F's. "wigwam" to hear him sing. I do not recollect his name but so long as I live shall I remember his singing "Larry O'Brien" with that rich, Irish voice of his in the woods of Old Virginia. Company "F" felt proud of him and gladly welcomed us to their wigwam to hear him sing while on picket.

"Some time after my letter entitled "The Battle above the Clouds" was published in THE TIMES I received a letter from J. G. Caskey, of Akron, Ohio, from which I make the following extract:—

"I recently received a copy of THE FULTON (N. Y.) TIMES containing your letter headed "The Battle above the Clouds." I was there, and was near enough to Gen. Joe Hooker to hear him give his orders to members of his staff. He stood near Knapp's Battery, planted on Raccoon Point, directly across Lookout Creek from the enemy; when he saw his orders obeyed—our troops moving successfully, he would wring his hands and say, "that will work." Then, turning to Capt. Knapp would point to where he wanted to drop a shell, and to use his own words would say, "give them hell over there." I could write more of the above battle but will forbear."

That letter has been copied from THE FULTON TIMES by several papers throughout the North-west and so far as I have seen giving THE TIMES credit.

S. E. CHANDLER.

The Rev. Farley Porter of Rochester will preach in the church on Bristol Hill next Sabbath 15th inst at 11 O'clock A. M.

WHITEWASHING.

Joseph Marshall wants the public to understand that he does Whitewashing [illegible]

[illegible]

and SUITS for fine trade, nearly to custom made and for

ONE HALF THE PRICE,

Can be had of

A. W. PALMER,

THE POPULAR CLOTHIER.

15 and 17 So. Salina Street,
Syracuse, N. Y.

[illegible] Sole Retail Agency for [illegible]

McCARTHY'S CHINA HALL,

OSWEGO, N. Y.

Great Spring opening of over $[illegible] worth of new crockery, china, glassware, lamps, chandeliers, silver plated ware, baby carriages, tin, wooden willow and fancy ware wares. house furnishing goods, etc. to retail below any [illegible] establishment outside of New York city. It will certainly pay the people of Fulton and vicinity to visit McCARTHY'S great wholesale and retail Palace China Hall, No. 31 Jefferson Block, Oswego, N. Y. JAMES McCARTHY.

451y

MILTON S. PRICE'S

GREAT

DRY GOODS, CARPET & FURNITURE ESTABLISHMENT,

38 & 40 S. Salina AND 29, 31, and 33 Clinton Streets, Syracuse, N. Y.

The Largest and most Extensive Mercantile House in the State, the business of which is conducted in an immense five story building, covering nearly a whole block, where may be found the Most Extensive and Complete Stock of DRY GOODS, FANCY GOODS CARPETS, FURNITURE, CURTAIN DRAPERIES, ETC., ever offered to the public. The stock of Dry Goods and Fancy Goods is by far the largest, comprising a greater variety of novelties than ever before shown in this city.

THE ONLY PLACE IN SYRACUSE TO PURCHASE CARPETS where you can make selections from a stock more extensive and comprising a greater variety of patterns than in all the other stores combined.

The only reliable place where you can purchase first-class FURNITURE, at less prices than other dealers can afford to sell inferior goods.

In visiting this great establishment the customer can find everything necessary to furnish a house, thereby saving time and the annoyance of going to different places to make selections.

N. B.—OUR DRESS MAKING DEPARTMENT is the most satisfactory in the city, and is under the supervision of artists who have no equals as regards taste and skill. All orders for Suits and Dresses will receive prompt attention. Go to

MILTON S. PRICE'S,

The Old Reliable Establishment of Forty Years' existence, and make your selections for the Spring Season. Remember the place.

38 and 40 South Salina, and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets, SYRACUSE.

To make room for our extensive business in

ENSILAGE

—AND—

FODDER CUTTERS,

We will close out our Stock of

PLOWS, CULTIVATORS,

HAY RAKES AND LAND ROLLERS,

VERY CHEAP.

Call at once for we have a very few left

E. W. ROSS & CO.

Fulton April 10th, 1883.

Cornell House!

Baldwinsville.

When you go to Baldwinsville visit the Cornell House. Every thing comfortable for the accommodation of the public.

M. E. CORNELL, Formerly of Fulton, Proprietor. 47

SPRING STOCK

CROCKERY, GLASS, SILVERWARE, &C.

GREAT SALES!

Having a much larger and better assortment of House Furnishing Goods than ever in Fulton, consisting of John Maddock & Son's, Bootes & Co's., and other First Class Ware I am ready to offer better prices and larger inducements than ever before.

Do not forget to call and examine stock and prove that we will not be undersold. It is no trouble for us to show our goods. We have only the bese at bottom prices.

D. C. SKADEN

AMDURSKY

IS HERE WITH A LARGE STOCK OF

Mens', Boys', Youths' and Childrens

CLOTHING

Hats, Caps, and Gents Furnishing Goods.

My proclamation to the people of this vicinity is this:—That I have a new line of goods, no shop-worn, and no moth-eaten, and I do not intend to draw the people by blowing in the papers, but what I advertise I will fulfill. All I ask of the public is, to call and examine my stock and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

[illegible]

[illegible] ... SYRUP CO., Rochester, N. Y. For sale [illegible]

BUTLER, N. Y., March [illegible]

[illegible] opportunity to express my gratitude for what your Rheumatic [illegible]. After suffering over one year with the Rheumatism in my [illegible] hardly get my coat on without help, a friend induced me to [illegible] Rheumatic Syrup. After taking it I could see such a decided [illegible] it use a short time and it cured me. DANIEL ROE.

NEW YORK ONTARIO & WESTERN RAILWAY.

TRAINS MOVING NORTH.

	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.
New York, Erie R'y..Lv	9.00	4.30	......	......
" N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	8.00	3.30	......	......
MIDDLETOWN	11.40	7.15	12.30	6.00
Winterton	12.00	7.38	12.59	6.43
Bloomingburgh	12.08	7.44	1.00	6.58
Wurtsboro	12.12	7.51	1.07	7.07
SUMMITVILLE	12.30	8.00	2.55	7.35
Fallsburgh	1.00	....	4.08	9.00
Hurley	1.08	....	4.18	9.20
Liberty Falls	1.20	....	4.35	9.40
Liberty	1.26	....	4.45	10.10
Parksville	1.40	....	5.05	10.45
Livingston Manor	2.10	....	5.25	11.10
Rockland	2.27	....	5.45	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	P. M.	6.00	12.35
East Branch	3.00		6.20	1.40
Hancock	3.20	A. M.	6.35	2.25
WALTON	4.05	6.50	8.00	5.15
Franklin	4.38	7.48	8.56	......
SIDNEY	5.05	8.50	9.20	6.30
Guilford	5.29	9.30	......	......
Oxford	5.48	10.00	......	......
NORWICH ......Arrive	6.00	10.40	......	10.00
	P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
	P. M.	P. M.	A. M.	A. M.
NORWICH	6.05	2.05	6.55	8.36
North Norwich	6.17	2.26	7.07	8.47
Smyrna	6.30	2.47	7.23	9.15
EARLVILLE	6.38	3.05	7.30	9.36
RANDALLSVILLE	6.47	3.30	7.40	10.06
Eaton	7.05	3.52	7.51	10.30
Morrisville	7.11	4.10	7.58	10.50
Munnsville	7.25	4.36	8.15	11.23
Community	7.39	5.02	8.26	11.55
ONEIDA	7.50	5.15	9.16	1.10
Fish Creek	*8.06	......	*9.34	1.56
North Bay	8.14	......	9.43	2.13
Cleveland	8.30	......	10.05	2.50
Bernhards Bay	*8.36	......	10.15	3.03
Constantia	8.45	......	10.27	3.21
CENTRAL SQUARE	9.02	......	10.50	4.10
Fulton	9.35	......	11.38	5.38
OSWEGO	10.00	......	12.10	6.20
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.

	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
New York, Erie R'y.Ar	8.25	10.50	10.00	......
" N. Y. S. & W. R. R. "	9.10	......	11.50	......
MIDDLETOWN	5.20	8.15	6.10	5.50
Winterton	5.03	7.58	5.40	5.19
Bloomingburgh	5.56	7.48	5.33	5.10
Wurtsboro	4.46	7.39	5.23	4.58
Summitville	4.40	7.30	5.10	4.45
Fallsburgh	4.08	....	4.30	3.06
Hurley	3.53	....	4.18	2.54
Liberty Falls	3.40	....	3.35	2.33
Liberty	3.35	....	3.27	2.20
Parksville	3.23	....	3.06	1.55
Livingston Manor	3.08	....	2.48	12.48
Rockland	2.53	....	2.27	12.00
Cook's Falls	2.40	a. m.	2.08	11.20
East Branch	2.18		1.40	10.07
Hancock	1.54	p. m.	1.08	9.00
Walton	1.12	3.50	12.00	7.30
Franklin	12.30	2.42	10.55	......
Sidney	11.50	1.55	10.15	......
Guilford	11.29	12.55	......	......
Oxford	11.14	12.30	......	......
NORWICH	10.55	12.00	a. m.	a. m.
		a. m.	p. m.	p. m.
NORWICH	10.50	11.30	7.55	6.05
North Norwich	*10.38	11.10	7.44	5.45
Smyrna	10.26	10.50	7.33	5.25
Earlville	10.17	10.30	7.21	5.05
Randallsville	10.06	10.08	7.15	4.48
Eaton	9.56	9.25	7.05	4.25
Morrisville	*9.50	9.10	6.56	4.10
Munnsville	9.33	8.35	6.40	3.29
Community	9.17	7.55	6.23	2.40
Oneida	9.10	7.40	6.15	2.15
Fish Creek	*8.45	......	5.21	12.40
North Bay	8.37	......	5.11	12.15
Cleveland	8.21	......	4.51	11.35
Bernhard's Bay	*8.14	......	4.42	10.50
Constantia	8.07	......	4.32	10.27
Central Square	7.48	......	4.10	9.45
Fulton	7.15	......	3.22	8.35
OSWEGO	6.50	......	2.45	7.20
	a. m	a. m.	p. m.	a. m.

ELLENVILLE BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	p. m.	a. m.	p. m.
SUMMITVILLE	8.00	1.35	7.30	2.40
Phillipsport	8.04	1.39	7.20	2.36
Homowack	8.09	1.44	7.15	2.31
ELLENVILLE	8.25	2.00	7.00	2.15

DELHI BRANCH.

	NORTH.		SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.	a. m.	a. m.
WALTON	4.05	8.00	8.40	11.50
Hamden	4.41	8.35	8.08	11.16
DELHI	5.10	9.00	5.45	10.50

NEW BERLIN BRANCH.

	NORTH.	SOUTH.
	p. m.	a. m.
SIDNEY	5.10	8.40
Rockdale	5.31	8.14
Mount Upton	5.46	8.08
Holmesville	6.15	7.39
So. New Berlin	6.36	7.26
NEW BERLIN	6.55	7.00

† Signifies trains do not stop. ¶ Stops to leave passengers only. * Stops on signal. ‡ Stops for or to leave New York passengers only.

J. E. Childs, Gen'l Sup't. J. C. Anderson, Gen. Pas'g'r. Agt.

PILES.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, particularly at night. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the Tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure, where all other remedies have failed. Do not delay but try it and be cured. Price 50 cents. Sent prepaid on receipt of price. Address, The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, Ohio. Sold by M. M. Williams.

CONSUMPTION.

It is said that 70,000 people die annually in the United States alone from this disease. This can and should be avoided; our people are too careless about an ordinary cough or cold, and other symptoms of throat and lung affections that lead to this disease. Two or three doses of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup will relieve an ordinary cough or cold. It does not dry up a cough like many preparations, and leave the disease behind it but acts directly on the throat and bronchial tubes, removing all the phlegm and morbid matter that accumulates in the throat and lungs. It allays all irritation, and renders the voice clear and distinct. Trial size 10c. Sold by M. M. Williams.

FALLEY SEMINARY.

Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

A NOTED BUT UNASSUMING WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors :—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

Philadelphia, Pa. (3) Mrs. A. M. D.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Juandice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers every where.

Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffa'o, N.Y.

THE WORLD CHALLENGED

This liniment has been manufactured and used for twenty five years and our innumerable certificates of cure prove it to be an unparall l success. We do not offer it as an internal remedy, positively asserting that any liniment that can be taken into the stomach without injury can have little efficacy as a specific when externally applied. This being compounded of Oils, is readily absorbed into the system, giving prompt relief even in cases of acute pain caused by Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, or from any cause where a liniment is demanded. The oils are so penetrating that a thorough use of the Liniment will remove all stiffness of joints, lameness of muscles, or pain arising from inflammation or any cause. Even in chronic Spinal Disease, and Paralysis, frequent use of Oil Liniment will effect many cures. Finally for pain in any part of the body, use freely, with rubbing and warmth and we guarantee relief. You will find a trial of it the best certificate of its value. It is the only Liniment made entirely of Oils, and we challenge the world for its equal. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by dealers.

For Man & Beast

Try Dr Sawen's improved mandrake pills, they are mild and effective. Price 25 cents.

NEW ADVERTISEMETS.

[illegible]

THE SUN EVERY [illegible]

THE SUN'S [illegible] [illegible] DAILY (4 pages), by mail, [illegible] a year; SUNDAY (8 pages), $1 20 per year; WEEKLY (8 pages), [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the old man took his place behind the bar, which, with his own hands he had made, and every evening just at a certain time he closed his books and went home. No one ever engaged him in private conversation, because he would talk to no one. No one ever went to his home, a little cottage among the trees in the city's outskirts, because he had never shown a disposition to make welcome the visits of those who even lived in the immediate vicinity. His office was not given him through the influence of "electioneering" because he never asked any man for his vote. He was first elected because, having once been summoned in a case of arbirtation, he exhibited the executive side of such a legal mind that the people nominated and elected him. He soon gained the name of the "hard justice," and every lawyer in Arkansas referred to his decisions. His rulings were never reversed by the higher courts. He showed no sentiment in decisions, he stood upon the platform of a law which he made a study, and no man disputed him.

Several days ago, a woman charged with misdemeanor was arraigned before him. "The old man seems more than over unsteady," remarked a lawyer, as the old magistrate took his seat; "I don't see how a man so old can stand the vexations of a court much longer."

"I am not well to-day" said the Judge, turning to the lawyers, "and any cases that you may have you will please dispatch them to the best, and let me add, quickest of your ability."

Every one saw that the old man was unusally feeble, and no one thought of a scheme to prolong a discussion, for all the lawyers had learned to reverence him.

"Is this the woman?" asked the Judge. "Who is defending her?"

"I have no defence, your Honor," the woman replied. In fact, I do not think that I need any, for I am here to confess my guilt. No man can defend me," and she looked at the magistrate with a curious gaze. "I have been arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace, and I am willing to submit my case. I am dying of consumption, Judge, and I know that any ruling made by the law can have but little effect on me;" and she coughed a hollow, hacking cough, and drew around her an old black shawl that she wore. The expression of the face of the magistrate remained unchanged, and his eyelids dropped and he did not raise them when the woman continued: "As I say, no man can defend me. I am too near that awful approach, to pass which we know is everlasting death to my soul and body. Years ago I was a child of bright promise. I lived with my parents in Kentucky. Wayward and light-hearted, I was admired by all the gay society known in the neighborhood. A man came and professed his love for me. I don't say this Judge, to excite your sympathy. I have many and many a time been drawn before courts, but I never before spoke of my past life."

She coughed again and caught a flow of blood on a handkerchief which she pressed to her lips. "I speak of it now because I know that this is the last court on earth before which I shall be arraigned. I was fifteen years old when I fell in love with the man. My father said he was bad, but I loved him. He came again and again, and when my father said that he should come no more, I ran away and married him. My father said I should never come home again. I had always been his pride and had loved him so dearly, but he said that I must never again come to his home, my home, the home of my youth and happiness. I longed to see him! how I yearned to put my head on his breast. My husband became addicted to drink. He abused me. I wrote to my father asking him to let me come home, but the answer that came was, 'I do not know you!' My husband died—yes, cursed God and died! Homeless and wretched and with my little boy I went out into the world. My child died and I bowed down and wept over a pauper's grave. I wrote to my father again but he answered: 'I know not those who disobey my commandments!' I turned away from that letter hardened. I spurned my teachings. Now I am here."

Several lawyers rushed forward. A crimson tide flowed from her lips. They leaned her lifeless head back against the chair. The old magistrate had not raised his eyes. "Great God!" said a lawyer "he is dead!"

The woman was his daughter.

[Arkansas Traveler.

*For the delicate and complicated difficulties peculiar to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the sovereign remedy.

Have You A Good Title.

The carelessness existing in the transfer of real estate is alarming. In fact, to such an extent that we question if most persons owning real estate, know whether they have a clear and absolute title to the same. They will tell you that they have a warranty deed from [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] best wishes I remain, your true friend, SARAH C. WHITTIER.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is a skilfully-prepared compound, concentrated extract, by a process peculiarly our own, of the best remedies of the vegetable kingdom known to medical science as alteratives, blood-purifiers, diuretics, and tonics.

Sold by all druggists. Price $1, or six for $5. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

[illegible]

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers.

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro."
Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable. J. T. HAYES."
Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

YOUNG, OLD, AND MIDDLE-AGED. All experience the wonderful beneficial effects of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Children with Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, or any scrofulous or syphilitic taint, may be made healthy and strong by its use.

Sold by all Druggists; $1, six bottles for $5.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

As it is for all the painful diseases of the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS. [illegible]

At the Same Time on [illegible] Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

LINCOLN [illegible] SHOP BUILDER.

[illegible] is dry place; but the potato being simply a tuber has no such protection, therefore is very sensitive to light and variations of temperature, even though kept in a dry place. The potato is injured by being kept where it is too hot, too cold, or too dry. If it is kept too hot it sprouts badly, and thus loses its vitality, never again producing such vigorous stalks as come from the first sprouts. If kept where it is so cold as to chill it, it is worse than keeping it to warm, as it does not take much of a chill to prevent it from growing at all. The farmer in selecting potatoes to plant should ever keep in mind that he is dealing with tubers, and not with seed, therefore size and form are not so important as health.

As the potato when planted is simply a renewal of the old life, it carries with it many of the diseases which it may have gathered up, while a seed only carried with it the constitutional weaknesses of the parent. Thus the importance of selecting potatoes as free as possible from disease, and of keeping them where they will lose none of their vitality [Massachusetts Plowman.

By lack of open air, exercise and the want of sufficient care in the matter of diet, the whole physical mechanism of. to nbecomes impaired during the winter. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the proper remedy to take in the spring of the year to purify the Blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore the healthy tone and vigor.

The Electoral Vote.

The electoral vote of 1884 will be increased over that of 1880 under the new apportionment from 369 to 411. It will be divided among the States as follows:

Alabama	10	Missouri	16
Arkansas	7	Nebraska	5
California	8	Nevada	3
Colorado	3	New Hampshire	4
Connecticut	6	New Jersey	9
Delaware	3	New York	36
Florida	4	North Carolina	11
Georgia	12	Ohio	23
Illinois	22	Oregon	3
Indiana	15	Pennsylvania	30
Iowa	11	Rhode Island	4
Kansas	9	South Carolina	9
Kentucky	13	Tennessee	12
Louisiana	7	Texas	12
Maine	6	Vermont	4
Maryland	8	Virginia	12
Massachusetts	14	West Virginia	6
Michigan	13	Wisconsin	11
Minnesota	7
Mississippi	9	Total	411

To secure the Presidential chair, a cadidate must have 206 votes instead of 185.

GLAD TO HEAR IT.

"For several months I endured a dull pain thronh my lungs and shoulders; lost my spisits, appetite and color, and could with difficulty remain from my bed. My present healthful condition is due to Burdock Blood Bitters." Mrs, E. A. Hall, Binghamton N. Y.

A Philadelphia clergyman added a postscript to a marriage notice published in one of the papers: "No fee for the minister. Empty envelope dodge."

The Modern Argo says that "the only time when a man is generous in drawing the line between his own and his neighbor's property is when he shovels the snow off the sidewalk.

A visitor on calling at a friend's house during the session of the Legislature, was questioned thus by a little boy: "Where is your axe?" "What do you mean, little boy?" asked the visitor. "I heard pa say that the reason you came to town was because you had an axe to grind."

A BAPTIST MINISTER'S EXPERIENCE.

"I am a Baptist minister, and before I thought of eing a clergyman I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, forty years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured me. I was also troubled with hoarseness, and Thomas' Eclectric Oil always relieved me. My wife and coild had diptheria, and Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured them, and if taken in time it will cure seven times out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold, or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and half fill it with Oil, and then place the end of the spoon in one nostril and draw the Oil out of the spoon into the head, by sniffing as hard as they can, until the Oil falls over into the throat, and practice it twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clean it out and cure their catarrh. For deafness and earache, it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine dubbed patent medicine that I have ever felt like recommending, and I am very anxious to see it in every place, for I tell you I would not be without it in my house for any consideration. I am now suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like Thomas' Eclectric Oil."

Dr. E. F. Crane, Corry, Pa.

A Chicago clothing store gives a present of a coal stove with an overcoat. That is a great deal better than painting a fireplace on the tail of a coat or putting a coil of steam pipe in the back lining. Some of the ready-made coats need a furnace in them to keep a man warm. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, Catarrh, and all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood; expelling the blood-poisons from the system, enriching and renewing the blood, and restoring its vitalizing power.

During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and a weakened vitality. It is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier and blood-food that can be used.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.

"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE."
Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS."
River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD."
520 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

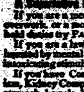
PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists; price $1, six bottles, $5.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.



This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION! [illegible]

[illegible]

Hiscox & Co.

[illegible]

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Headache, [illegible] double [illegible] kinds [illegible] ed Lackawanna Coal [illegible] they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
9m8

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing b siness at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp't'y Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN

BROWN McALLISTER & Co.,

STEAM

GRANIET WORKS,

Nos431 to 439 West 14th Street

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

[illegible]

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51t

[illegible] Wm. S. Howard [illegible] Giles S. Piper [illegible]

Dated Jan'y 5th 1883.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of Hon. [illegible] Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against [illegible] Wilber, late of the town of Volney, [illegible] deceased; to present their demands with vouchers thereof to the undersigned, at [illegible] dence in the town of Volney, N. Y., on or before the 15th day of July 1883, or they will be [illegible] efit of the statute in such case made and [illegible]

Ovid V. Tart, [illegible]

Dated, Jan. 10, 1883.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO. Andora Randall against James Randall. Action for a divorce. To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated this 20th day of [illegible]

WM. C. CROMBIE, Pl'ff's Att'y.

Office and P O address, Fulton, Oswego [illegible]

To James Randall:—The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Irving G. Vann, Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 22d day of Jan'y, [illegible] filed with the compla nt, in the office of the [illegible] Oswego County, at Oswego, N. Y.

WM. C. CROMBIE, Pl'ff's Att'y.

36w6

MORTGAGE SALE—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage upon real property situated within the state of New York, whereby the power to sell has become operative, notice is hereby given that said mortgage, which is dated the 10th day of May 1876, and is recorded in the office of the clerk of the county of Oswego at Oswego, N. Y., on the 16th day of May 1876, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Liber 109 of mortgages, page 210, was given by Helen M. Foster, mortgagor, to Constantia V. Amlinger, mortgagee, and the name of each assignee of said mortgage as follows: Orlando Howell. The sum claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is six hundred and forty-three dollars and eighty-six cents ($643.86). The following is a description of the mortgaged property, contained in said mortgage: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the village of Fulton, county of Oswego and state of New York, specially described as seventy-four and seven-tenths (74 7-10) feet taken off from the north end of lot number four (4) block number twenty-eight (28) as laid down on the printed map of said village, and being sixty-six (66) feet in width on Oneida street and seventy-four and seven-tenths 74 7-10 feet deep. Pursuant to the power of sale contained therein, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the said mortgaged property, or a part thereof at public auction at the law office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, county of Oswego, New York, on the 2d day of June, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated, and subscribed at Fulton, N. Y., this 7th day of March 1883. ORLANDO HOWELL, Assignee.

Howe & Rice, Att'ys,

MORTGAGE SALE—Mortgagor Nathan Rowlee mortgagee Harmon J. Rasons, mortgage dated March 3d, 1870, to secure four hundred and eighty dollars ($480) part of the purchase price, and recorded in the clerk's office of the county of Oswego May 2d 1872 in book 94 of mortgages at page 435. Said mortgage has been duly assigned to James H. Langdon of Oswego Falls N. Y., who is the owner thereof. The premises conveyed by said mortgage are described therein substantially as follows:

"All that tract or parcel of land situate in the "town of Granby, county of Oswego, and state of "New York, and being five acres to be laid off in a "square form as near as may be on the south west "corner of forty acres on lot seventy one in the old "military township of Hannibal, now Granby, and "bounded as follows: East and north by the original "line of said lot No seventy-one. South by the road "leading from Oswego Falls to Hannibalville, and "west by a line to run from said road leading as "aforesaid to the north line of said lot and parallel "with the east line of said lot 71, and at such a distance therefrom as shall include the said five acres "of land."

There is claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage at the date of the 1st publication of this notice the sum of one hundred dollars principal and interest thereon from October 1st 1881, which is the whole sum unpaid on said mortgage and no suit or proceeding in law or equity has been instituted to collect the same or any part thereof. Default has been made in the payment of the said sum of principal and interest due and unpaid as aforesaid and notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of said mortgaged premises at public auction, to the highest bidder at the law office of Wm. C. Stephens in the village of Fulton, N. Y., on the 6th day of July 1883 at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated, April 3d 1883. JAMES H. LANGDON, Assignee and owner of said mortgage.

WM. C. STEPHENS, Att'y Fulton, N. Y.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.

New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York. Assets over $2,400,883.2

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,082,583.1

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

NEW YORK. Assets over $1,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON, MASS.

Assets, $1,271,750.30.

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Relinble Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of		"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
HAMBURG, LANCASHIRE		"

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

Particular special attention called to our facilities for [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] & CO.,

[illegible] Cents a Year in [illegible] of 10 cents for postage [illegible]

[illegible] accompanied by a [illegible] evidence of good [illegible]

[illegible] made known on application [illegible]

[illegible] of all kinds attended to promptly

[illegible] in the Post-office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

The Old Deacon's Lament.

[illegible] of our church
High on to fifty year,
Walked in the way of dooty, too,
And kept my conscience clear.
I've watched the children growin' up,
Seen brown locks turnin' gray,
But never saw such doin's yet
As those I've seen to-day.

This church was built by godly men
To glorify the Lord,
In seventeen hundred eighty-eight;
Folks couldn't then afford
Carpets, cushions and such like—
The seats were just plain wood,
Too narrow for the sleepy ones;
In prayer we all stood.

And when the hymns were given out,
I tell you it was grand
To hear our leader start the tunes,
With tunin'-fork in hand!
Then good old "China," "Mear," and all,
Were heard on Sabbath days,
And men and women, boys and girls,
Jined in the song of praise.

But that old pulpit was my pride—
Just eight feet from the ground
They'd reared it up—on either side
A narrer stairs went down;
The front and ends were fitly carved
With Scripture stories all—
Findin' of Moses, Jacob's dream,
And sinful Adam's fall.

Just room inside to put a cheer,
The Bible on the ledge
(I'll own I did get nervous when He shoved it to the edge.)
There, week by week, the parson stood,
The Scripter to expound:
There, man and boy, I've sot below,
And not a fault was found.

Of course I've seen great changes made,
And fought against 'em too.
And first a choir was introduced,
Then cushions in each pew;
Next, boughten carpet for the floor;
And then, that very year,
We got our new melo-deon,
And the big handyleer.

Well, well! I tried to keep things straight—
I went to every meetin',
And voted "No" to all they said,
But found my influence fleetin'.
At last the worst misfortune fell—
I must blame Deacon Brown;
He helped the young folks when they said
The pulpit should come down.

They laughed at all these pious scenes
I'd found so edifyin';
Said, "When the parson rose to preach,
He looked almost like flyin';"
Said that "Elijah's chariot
Just half way up had tarried;"
And deacon Brown sot by and laughed,
And so the p'int was carried.

This was last week. The carpenters
Have nearly made an end—
Excuse my feelin's. Seems to me
As if I'd lost a friend.
"It made their necks ache, lookin' up,"
Was what the folks did say;
More lookin' up would help us all
In this degin'rate day.

The church won't never seem the same
(I'm half afraid) to me
Under the preachin' of the truth
I've been so used to be.
And now—to see our parson stand
Like any common man,
With just a railin' round his desk—
I don't believe I can!

Perfect soundness of body and mind is possible only with pure blood. Leading medical authorities of all civilized countries endorse Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood-purifying medicine in existence. It vastly increases the working and productive power of both hand and brain.

Fashion Notes.

Pale gray silk stockings are much liked with black satin boots or slippers.

White woolen costumes will be favorite for home wear during the coming summer.

China crape shawls, like point lace, never go out of style for matrons or elderly ladies.

Dark gray, hussar, navy blue and [illegible] green are colors deemed desirable for riding habits.

Small square buckles of Rhine pebbles are very coquettish looking on [illegible] of black brown or white satin.

[illegible] of bright currants, berries [illegible] grasses are grouped and tied on [illegible] waste baskets with gay colored [illegible]

[illegible] satin and pale blue velvet is a [illegible] much admired. Amber [illegible] usually constitutes the [illegible]

[illegible] bag covered with bright [illegible] a tiny humming bird just [illegible] It is very lovely, but its [illegible] in exact proportion to its [illegible]

[illegible] made of two strips of [illegible] together are liked for [illegible] Rhine [illegible] them, with [illegible]

[illegible] are fre- [illegible]

[illegible]

Bloomfield is a pleasant [illegible] place, and as it [illegible] whose style is not so antique as [illegible] I believe I never [illegible] while my worthy relative asks me to go to her. In fact there is one young lady at Bloomfield who has no [illegible] whatever to bestow, in whom I feel deeply interested—I cannot say whom I love, for aunty says I am too young to think of such things, and I try to think so. Aunt Rachel watches me quite closely, but I believe I have always acted in her presence just as she would wish.

Sometimes Aunt Rachel comes to the city, and then I have a difficult role; for we have many relatives and each tries to excel the other in pleasing our dear aunt. My mother is her favorite sister, and at our house she always domiciled herself when in the city. When here she has many things to look after and in all her jaunts I must accompany her.

A short time ago she was in the city, and during one of our rambles in the upper portion I inquired why she had led a single life. She spoke evasively for some moments, then said: "Well, Walter, I always intended you should know what no one on earth beside myself does know; and perhaps this may be the last time I shall ever have an opportunity to tell you; so I will give you my heart's history."

As we walked along an unfrequented street Aunt Rachel, with a faltering voice and an occasional sigh, continued as follows: "When I arrived at the age of eighteen I was a vain, giddy girl who thought of nothing but pleasure and admiration. My heart was given up to the vanities of this life and like too many of my sex, I was fond of trifling with the affections of masculine hearts. I never was very beautiful, but I have reason to believe I have fascinating manners; and having been well instructed in music and painting, for which I displayed a remarkable talent, I became quite an attractive personage at my native village. For a time the study and aim of my life was to gain admiration, and I almost forgot I had a heart until there came to Bloomfield a young man who soon became quite a "lion" in the village; for he had travelled in Europe, and was gay, handsome and polished.

Of course his coming caused a great excitement among the girls, and many a bitter feeling was nurtured in their trying to outshine one another in the eyes of the young stranger. I, among the others was dying to win the attention of Archibald Hardee, though I pretended to ignore his very existence, even when he sat and talked so eloquently to a crowd of pretty girls in our large parlor about a week after his arrival at the village.

When I first saw him I could not meet him with the self sufficient air with which I was accustomed to meet gentlemen, for there was something in his countenance which immediately told me I was in the presence of a superior, and, strange as it was to me, I hardly found words to answer his flattering salutation.

In a short time I found that I loved Archibald Hardee, and tried to deny the passion, even to my own heart, which would quiver at the sound of his voice. This was a new order of things to me, and when I tried to find enjoyment in the old manner of pastime, I found but discontent, even unhappiness.

For a time Archibald seemed to be wholly unaware of the feeling I bore him, though I was sure he could see them in my half closed eyes and blushing face. But at length he spoke to me of love, and told me he had loved me from the first evening we met. He spoke beautifully on the subject I had so yearned to hear him speak; yet while my heart answered every word he said, I pretended to listen with careless ear, and when he had finished I replied: "Mr. Hardee, I have heard these avowals several times in my life, and have learned not to rely on them, but if time can prove you unchanging perhaps I may consider it more deliberately; but for the present I cannot say I sympathize with these feeling."

These were difficult words to utter, but my old love of trifling and vanity came to my aid, and I spoke in quite a listless tone. He did not resume the subject, and when he bade me good night I acted as if I had entirely forgotten his passionate speech. He remained several months at Bloomfield, and as his visits became more and more frequent, I at last disclosed the secret of my heart. On the evening I confessed my feelings some good angel seemed hovering over me, directing my thoughts and words; for I felt so happy in revealing the secret which had so long lain in my heart.

Archibald seemed overjoyed and I was astonished to find that a man of so much mind could act so passionately as he did when he kissed my [illegible] at finding his love was reciprocated. I had seen the [illegible] love of [illegible] who had [illegible] to my [illegible]

[illegible]

In the [illegible] to visit some relatives in [illegible] he was to follow me in the [illegible] and there [illegible] All was well. I went to New Orleans in the Spring and remained until midsummer and then left for New York. On the day of my leaving, [illegible] spirit of [illegible] and teasing took possession of me and I acted most cruelly toward Archibald. I told him I had been mistaken in my feeling toward him, and thought it best to relieve him from his engagement with me. If a bomb had burst at his feet he could not not have looked more [illegible] only [illegible] As we drove to the boat in the carriage he had hired, I took the engagement ring from my finger and gave it to him saying: "You had better take it, Archibald; I might lose it—and perhaps you will find some one that will appreciate it more than I."

He took the ring and spoke not a word of reply, but I could see how my cruelty had chilled his heart. O, how wickedly I had acted toward the only man I ever loved!

We parted with a few words, and as he left the boat my heart swelled almost to bursting. I did not intend to give him up; oh, no, he was my hope of happiness. I knew he adored me, and would be in misery until he should hear from me. It was my intention to write immediately on my arrival at New York, and tell him the mood in which I had acted, and I knew that a few penitent words would place me in the position I wished to stand toward him. But how vain are all earthly hopes and designs! That parting has been the blight of my life. Thoughts of it hang over me like threatening clouds of wrath, and I have never been happy since he left me on the steamer that fatal day—so fatal to my heart's rest.

I had not been two hours in New York when I wrote to Archibald a letter full of love and contrition; but, alas! it was destined that he should never read it—never forgive me by pen or voice. My letter was answered but not by himself. His sister wrote, and oh, the words that were penned on those pages whose edges bore the ensign of death. Yes, Archibald had died of yellow fever. He had called for me constantly in his delirium, and died with the name of Rachel on his lips. He had asked his sister to return me the ring I had so heartlessly given back. He told her to tell me he had loved me even unto death.

That ring has been on my finger ever since the hour his sister handed it to me and it has ever been a rebuke to all earthly vanities. There are many lovely memories clustered around it which are painfully sweet, and it has also its bitter, for it tells the great wrong a woman's whim may do her heart. I loved well, but acted unwisely, and this one great lesson in the "school of experience" has swallowed up all the beauty, the hope and joy of my life. Let others learn by what I have been taught. When love enters the heart, leave trifling and vanity to the flirting fools whose natures comprehend nothing of the deep and holy passions of the human heart.

Aunt Rachel sighed and I saw her wipe her glasses a short time after she had concluded; but as I was lost in my own reflections, caused by her sad recital, I took but little notice of her until we had reached our destination, when I found her face pallid and tear stained. I concluded that time may soften the grief over lost love, but years can never erase the deeper feeling in our hearts.

Aunt Rachel appears cold and peculiar, like the majority of old maids; but, like many of her class, beneath an odd exterior she conceals the same sympathies and bright hopes and longings for future happiness that fill the breasts of other human beings.

DON'T BE FAINT-HEARTED.

If you are in trouble look up, hold on, give the blues good bye. If you are in pain, have a lameness, have an ache of any kind, go to the druggist and ask him for Thomas Eclectric Oil. It will do you good every time.

Arizona's Mineral Wealth.

It is but a few years ago that Arizona was looked upon as simply a worthless desert waste, useless alike for farming and stock-raising, while the owners of a few [illegible] mines which were known and worked labored under the great disadvantage of having to rely upon the slow ox and mule teams for the transportation of their supplies and products. Communication with the outside world was not only difficult, but the pioneer [illegible] such constant dread of Indian raids upon them that it was impossible to develop Arizona territory with much success or profit. But a [illegible] the Southern Pacific railroad across the territory, and although the railroad does not extend [illegible]

[illegible] COAL!

Have Removed their Office to C. S. Eggleston's Book Store where Orders may be left.

IT WILL BE TO

YOUR INTEREST

TO BUY YOUR

BOOTS AND SHOES

AT THE LARGEST ONE PRICE SHOE HOUSE IN AMERICA.

ROSENBLOOM BROS

COR. SOUTH SALINA AND RAILROAD STS.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

THE OLD PRISON PEN.

A Visit to Andersonville—The Place so Famous in History Is Now Only a Wayside Railroad Station.

Anderson is the name of a station on the South-western railroad about sixty miles from Macon, Georgia. It is nothing but a railroad station, and the only thing that characterizes the spot is the immense Union cemetery of some twenty acres over which floats the star spangled banner. The cemetery is constructed on the spot where the prisoners were buried, and the trenches were dug with such precision and regularity that the soldiers were not disturbed, but allowed to remain as their comrades interred them, working under the watchful eye and fixed bayonets of the Georgia home guards.

The cemetery is surrounded by a stout wall with an iron gate and is under the supervision of a superintendent who lives on the grounds. It is a plain spot. There is not much attempt made to ornament this city of our martyred dead. It would take a great deal of even such influences as plants and flowers possess to dispel the melancholy memories that haunt this hill in the pine woods in Southern Georgia.

Southerners shun the spot, but the cemetery is much visited by Northern travelers and the register in the superintendent's lodge contains many strange inscriptions besides the names of the visitors. One lady asks forgiveness of God for the murder of her brother, who sleeps in the cemetery.

Occasionally a man who was in the stockade turns up among the visitors. These men, whatever their natural temper, the superintendent says, can almost be distinguished by the effects of fear, dread and vivid recollections which comes back like a shock into their faces as they again stand on the now quiet and sunlight scene of their war experience.

In the cemetery the ground is of a general level and the graves of the known and unknown, properly seperated, range in rows, closely laid as far as the eye can reach. There is actually buried on this elevation 13,715 men. The soldier whose identity was preserved by his comrade is marked in his resting place by a white marble stone rising eighteen inches above the ground.

A square marble block with the word "Unknown," upon it is repeated about one thousand times in the cemetery.

Part of the stockade is standing. There are two rows of trees—one inside the other. The outer row has fallen down, save a few posts here and there, but a large part of the inner wall stands. Trees have grown up around the old pen, and a thick growth of underbrush now covers the site of the prison. No traces of the famous brook that ran through the stockade remain, nor the wonderful well dug by the prisoners. It is all now a mild and peaceful section of the country. [illegible] of the soldiers in the cemetery have handsome headstones lifted [illegible] by friends in the North. [illegible] made to have certain [illegible] with flowers and a [illegible]

Vennor on April.

Vennor gives us another grist for April as follows: The 5th and 6th will likely prove stormy in the lake regions and lower provinces, Newfoundland probably coming in for heavy gales. The 10th and 12th are probable dates for severe frosts. These were experienced in 1882. The 20th and 21st stormy and wet in majotity of sections. The month will end cold and stormy, and May day will be ushered in with snow and sleet in northern and western sections and cold rains at others.

Cultivating a Memory.

The late Thurlow Weed, in the course of interview, was told: "You seem to remember as well as ever." "Better than I did once, I hope," he answered. "If I had not cultivated my memory I should have been a dismal failure. I had to adopt a regular method, and I hit on one that was very effective. Some of my friends had thought I was cut out for a politician"—that is, I probably impressed my views strongly on those about me. But I saw at once a fatal weakness. My memory was a sieve. I could remember nothing. Dates, names, appointments, faces—everything escaped me. I said to my wife: "Catherine, I shall never make a successful politician, for I cannot remember, and that is a prime necessity of politicians. A politician who sees a man once should remember him forever." My wife told me that I must train my memory. So when I came home that night I sat down alone and spent fifteen minutes trying silently to recall the events of the day. I could remember little at first; now I remember that I could not then remember what I had for breakfast. Finally I found that I could recall more. Events came back to me more minutely and more accurately. After a fortnight or so of this Catherine said: "Why don't you tell it to me? It would be interesting, and my interest in it would stimulate you." Then I began a habit of oral confession, as it were which I followed for over fifty years. Every night, the last thing before retiring, I told my wife everything I could recall that had happened to me or about me during the day. I generally recalled the very dishes I had for breakfast, dinner and tea; the people I had seen and what they had said; the editorials I had written, and an abstract of them; the letters I had sent and received, and the very language used as near as possible; when I had walked and ridden—everything in short, that had come within my knowledge. I found I could say my lessons better every year, and instead of growing irksome it got to be a pleasure to run the events of the day in review. I am indebted to this discipline for a memory of somewhat unusual tenacity, and I commend the practice to all who expect to have much to do with influencing men.

One who knows says that in the country they blow a horn before dinner and in town they take one.

It is well enough to love your neighbor but flirting with his wife is both [illegible]

A [illegible] collection [illegible] friends call [illegible]

Real Estate! Real Estate!

—:o:—

The valuable property of H. D. Wells, situated on Emory street and consisting of a house, barn and five lots. Also his house and lot on Utica St. This property is on one of the best locations in town and is offered at a very low figure.

A parcel of 11 acres on Oneida Street, known as the Pardee lot—watered by a living brook.

A very desirable place of 4 acres on Oneida St. Good house and barn, just on the village limits and beautiful situation.

We offer for sale the house and lot near the end of 2nd street, now owned and occupied by Chas. Easton.

Lots 7, 8, 9, 17, Block 138.

Lots 1, 3, 5, 9, 11, 12, Block 146.

A golden opportunity is offered to purchase for a song the vacant lots remaining on block 116.

A farm of one hundred acres, one mile south east of Fulton. Buildings large, new, and in first-class condition. Farm is well watered, with 20 acres of fine young timber. A valuable piece of property.

Lot 8 on Block 54—one of the best building lots in the village. Also the house and lot on the south half of lot 3, Block 54. The above mentioned property will warrant special attention.

House and lot on Oneida St., lately occupied by Dr. D. Pardee—for sale at a very low price.

TO BUSINESS MEN—The best business site left in the village. Suitable for a row of tenement houses—on Cayuga St., first vacancy east of Second.

Four acres and eight acres on first St.

VACANT LOTS! VACANT LOTS!

IN FULTON! IN OSWEGO FALLS!

Village property to exchange for farms and farms in exchange for village property. Near the end of Second St. House and lot for $800, on Division St., A house and lot and a very desirable residence on Pratt St.

A piece of property in the business part of the village that pays seven per cent clear of its selling price.

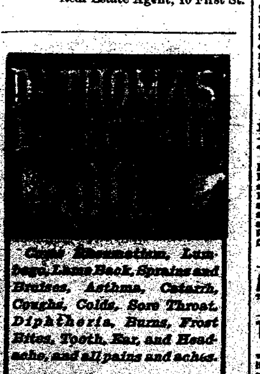
We offer many other properties at hard times prices, of country places ranging from 2½ to 325 acres.

F. D. VANWAGENEN, JR.,
Real Estate Agent, 10 First St.



DR. THOMAS' [illegible]

Cure Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

HOUSES AND LOTS FOR SALE. [illegible]

[illegible] in his Line. His Stock of [illegible] Clothing [illegible] and House Furnishing Goods In Full and Complete. Prices Way Down. If you want Good Goods or [illegible]

GEO. JOHNSTON'S.

EMENY & GRIDLEY,
(Lessee Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases, etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First-Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton, Sept. 6.
GEO. J. EMENY,
H. H. GRIDLEY.

—GO TO—

BOARDMAN

AT ONCE FOR YOUR

50&60 CT. FINECUT

BEST IN TOWN

GUARANTEED!

ALL GOODS WAY DOWN TO MEET REVENUE REDUCTION.

STONEBURGH,
Asks Your Attention!

—:o:—

He has Removed,
into His New Store
Corner of Broadway and
First Streets, and has a New
Enlarged Stock of

General Merchandise.

Everything to be found in a

General Assortment store.

HIGHEST CASH PRICE
paid for all kinds of country produce.
Drop in and see what we keep for sale.
In connection with his grocery a

Meat Market

is now open. Fresh meats cut and delivered anywhere in Fulton and Oswego Falls.

STONEBURGH'S.

NFW ADVERTISEMETS.

POPULAR TREATISE ON ELECTRICITY,
—AND—
ELECTRIC LIGHTING

The Arc and Incandescent system carefully and impartially considered from a commercial standpoint. Brief history of lighting by electricity, with full information concerning the different systems and practical advice about the best one to secure. Secondary batteries and the storage system reviewed. The dangers of electric wires fully explained. An interesting work for popular reading. PRICE 25 CENTS.

SENT BY MAIL, POST PAID, ON RECEIPT OF PRICE. Address

American Electric & Illuminating Co.
P. O. Box 5058. 20 School Street, Boston

THE ATTENTION OF INVESTORS

Is called to the shares of THE GREAT PLAINS LIVE STOCK COMPANY as a means for the safe and profitable investment of $10 up. The capital is 100,000 shares of $10 each, full paid and non-assessable. Company chartered by general laws of Colorado. Interest at the rate of 10 to 36 per cent. per annum, payable quarterly. The very best reference for character and qualifications of managers, with full particulars, sent on application to

The Great Plains Live Stock Co., Denver, Colorado.

AGENTS WANTED for MARK TWAIN'S latest book, "LIFE ON THE MISSISSIPPI." Address
WATSON GILL, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE SUN IS ALWAYS INTERESTING.

From morning to morning and from week to week THE SUN prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates and troubles. This story is more interesting than any romance that was ever devised. Subscription: Daily (4 pages), by mail, 55c. a month, or $6.50 a year; Sunday (8 pages), $1.20 per year; Weekly (8 pages), $1.00 per year.
I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher, New York City.

[illegible]

Lathrop's Valentine Song.

Ye who by blind cupid led
Hymen's flowery paths to tread,
Ye who wish to woo or wed—
Buy a Valentine.

Lathrop's are of magic power.
Purchase one, don't wait an hour,
Ere the fair ones on you sour—
Buy a Valentine.

Full of sentiment or wit
Full of pathos, fun or grit
Trade or character they'll hit—
Buy a Valentine.

Choose before the best ones go,
Danger in delay you know,
Go to Lathrop's high and low—
Buy a Valentine.

G. C. LATHROP,
22 First Street—Opposite Lewis House.
Fulton Feb. 1st, 1883.

D. McCARTHY & CO.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Unrivalled (even by the best New York Houses) as

ARTISTIC

Decorators

—ALSO—

FIRST HANDS

—FOR—

Stylish Draperies

—AND—

Furniture Coverings

NOW DISPLAY

The Richest Stock

—OF—

Upholstery !

GOODS,

to which the attention of the public has ever been called.

FRESHNESS OF DESIGN,

Excellence of Work,

Prompt Execution of Orders,

AND

Reasonable Prices.

D. McCARTHY & CO.,

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

VETERINARY SURGEON

DR. GEO. W. [illegible]
The only Graduate in Oswego County.
[illegible]
Fulton [illegible]
LEWIS HOUSE [illegible]

[illegible] BLACK [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Arthur and his party [illegible] enjoying a week of fishing in [illegible]. Everything moves [illegible] the accustomed ease at Washington during his absence.

The total land area of the United [illegible], not including Alaska, is 1,900,-[illegible] acres and the total amount in [illegible], according to the last census, 536,-[illegible] acres. The number of acres [illegible] by the government at the time [illegible] census was taken was 1,273,946,499.

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND has given the politicians another surprise by nominating John W. McCall for superintendent of the insurance department. Mr McCall was deputy Superintendent under Superintendent Fairman. His nomination is acceptable to all but defeated aspirants and their friends.

Two o'clock Sunday morning a meteor fell near Fort Worth, Texas, resembling a ball of fire, imbedding itself in the earth 100 feet and towering above the earth 70 feet. The fire ball struck a house containing five persons all of whom were buried beneath the ruins. Hundreds of cattle were killed by the concussion.

THEY are talking in New York of building a monument to Peter Cooper. He forestalled these postmortem honors. He built himself one. If any man with plenty of money wishes to leave a reputation more lasting than a monument let him emulate Mr. Cooper's example by trying to make his less fortunate brother's condition easier to bear.

IN Hartford, Conn., George Robinson ordered a telephone company to remove the wires from the roof of his block. The company refused and Robinson cut them down. Suit was brought by the company for damages. The Judge informed the jury that an owner exercised exclusive control over every part of his building and a verdict was declared for defendant with costs.

THE Star Route trials are drawing to a close. There is one reason,at least, for being thankful for the news. Attorney General Browster's estimate of the cost to the government of this and the preceding trial is thus far $522,000. That is a very expensive article of justice; and if it should miscarry this time as it did the last, the people will have sore cause to grumble, while the lawyers placidly pocket their enormous fees.

A NEW HAMPSHIRE man mailed a letter in July, 1873, to his son, who was then in Siberia. Three years afterward it was returned to him, his son having gone from there to China. He then sent it to Hong Kong, where it arrived a week after his son's ship had sailed. Last week the letter again returned and he remailed it to Alaska, where the ship will touch during the summer. The letter contains the notice of his mother's death and a lock of her hair.

THE proprietor of a ten-pin alley and saloon in the town McKinney, Tex., is compelled to pay a license tax of $1,000 to the State, $500 to the county, and $500 to the municipality. High licenses as a means of prohibiting the sale of liquors are not meeting the requirements of those who at first loudly advocated them. It proves that those who have the means to pay the license acquire a monopoly of the business while the smaller dealers are forced out of the business. Total and absolute prohibition rigidly enforced is the only sure method of exterminating a public evil.

"JOE" BRADY one of the murderers of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke, in Phœnix Park, Dublin, on the 6th of May, 1882, was found guilty Friday and sentenced by Judge O'Brien to be hanged May 14th next. The trial was held in Dublin. Never before were the closing scenes of a trial pushed with such rapidity. The Judge pronounced his charge to the jury; the jury retired for consultation, consulted, agreed, returned, and announced the verdict of guilty; the Judge sentenced the prisoner to be hanged; the prisoner's counsel moved for an arrest of judgment and argued his motion, which the Judge thereupon considered and then decided adversely. All this took place within two hours. The trial of others accused of complicity in the murder will be speedily pushed.

J. Cooley Tucker sell as good a tea for fifty cents per pound as you can find in Oswego county for 75 cents or $1. 48

Married, April 18, 1883, at residence of the brides parents by the Rev. A. M. Roe, Samuel L. Walton of Fulton to Miss Marie Grigson of Oswego Falls.

Byron Clark purchased a team of fine [illegible] horses of a Hannibal farmer last week for $800. Horsemen consider it a grand bargain.

[illegible] Barns' restaurant and refreshment rooms on Second street has been thoroughly overhauled and renovated and [illegible] manner of light summer beverages [illegible] in stock.

All kinds package and loose seeds at [illegible]. Fresh new onion, cabbage, [illegible] cucumber, beet, lettuce, [illegible] turnip, tobacco, peas, [illegible] timothy and clover [illegible]

[illegible] dropped a [illegible]

Charles W. Avery of Phœnix has been appointed county judge by Governor Cleveland in place of N. W. Nutting resigned.

William Henry Ostrander who murdered his brother at West Camden, December 26, 1880, has his case before the General Term in Rochester Saturday. The order of the lower courts has been affirmed and the murderer will be resentenced.

Chas. N. Bulger and L. Clancy will represent the Oswego branch of the land league at the National convention of land leaguers to be held in Philadelphia, commencing the 25th inst. Rev. Father O'Connell will attend but not as a delegate.

Oswego Palladium—We announced the other day that Drs. Coe, Acker and Tully had been appointed examining board for pensioners. It has been discovered that it is necessary to have the minority represented, and Dr. T. J. Green of Parish has been appointed in place of Dr. Tully. Dr. Green will make a valuable member of the board.

John A. Youmans died at the residence of his son Calvin, in Phœnix, the 10th inst. aged 91 years and 8 months. Deceased was father of Lewis Youmans of Fulton. The Phœnix Register says during his long and eventful life, to those who have known him best we need not speak. As a pioneer citizen, honorable in all his dealings and for nearly sixty years member of a christian church, we believe he leaves the world without an enemy.

At the General Term in Rochester Saturday the case of Samuel Williams, convicted last June of the murder of James Hall at Sodus Point, January 6, 1882, was acted favorably upon. The court decides that a conviction cannot be had upon the testimony of an accomplice unless it is corroborated by other evidence. The judgment and conviction is therefore reversed and a new trial ordered in the oyer and terminer of Wayne county.

For pure Borneo ginger call at J. C Tucher's crockery store. 43

West Granby.

WEST GRANBY, April 17.—This district has secured the services of Miss Tidd of Minetto to teach the summer school.—Mr W. Summerville raised three acres of tobacco which he sold for twenty cents per pound. The amount he received for the crop was nearly $670.—Mr Thomas Harrison who has been suffering from the effects of a cancer since the first of January, died last Wednesday. His age was about 42; he leaves a wife and 5 children. Mr Harrison was a smart and active man when well, but he had been complaining of poor health for some time. Rev Mr Armsby of Fairdale officiated, his remarks of sympathy to the family were touching. Messrs C. S. Chandler, A. Perchway, F. Kelsey, and O. Holcome, acted as bearers. His remains were taken to the Merritt Cemetery and interred, three miles south of here. Mrs Harrison's mother, Mrs Taylor, of San Francisco, Cal, is expected this week and in a few days the family will accompany her to the Golden City which they intend making their future home. May success and a safe arrival attend them is the wish of their many friends.

R. K. SINGLETON.

The anticipations and the prophesies of the the wiseacres were not realized "The Famous" Opera Clothing House 2 and 3 Weiting Block Syracuse, a.e doing the business, while many would be competitors are showing signs of rust and dissolution. In referring to the advertisment of Messrs VonFrankenberg & Co of "The Famous" we would simply say that those who have been familiar with the name and the place of the "Famous" will testify to the utmost righteousness of the gentlemen in question, to their strict business integrity and that the clothing they exhibit in prodigious quantities, show very plainly that they are made, cut, fitted, lined, by skilled workmen, in the most painstaking manner. After months of careful preparation "The Famous" extend a cordial invitation to be present during their formal spring opening, April 24 and 25, on which occasion they will present every visitor with an elegant souvenir. We don't know what this souvenir consists of, but are in consequence of their announcement, that it will be a seeming free lunch, sufficiently interesting and inquisitive to go the "Famous" on one of those days, believing the opening will be interesting, crowded full of fun and so entirely novel that no one will regret if he attend. Hundreds of people have already availed themselves of the opportunity of procuring a watch at "The Famous," all of which seem to be exceedingly good time keepers.

☞ For twenty-five to thirty-five cents you can get as good teas at J. Cooley Tucker's store as are sold in Oswego county for fifty cents.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.
Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, April 17, 1883.

Board met pursuant to adjournment

Present, president, Trustees Francis, Cavanaugh, Patterson, and Johnson.

Minutes of last meeting read.

On motion of Trustee Johnson the minutes were amended excluding the resolution fixing the compensation of the street commissioner, common labor and team labor. The ayes and noes were called Trustee Francis voted against and Trustee Johnson, Patterson and Cavanaugh for the resolution.

A communication was received from Giles S. Piper complaining of the condition of the jail.

Referred to committee appointed by the president, Trustees Cavanaugh, Hart, and Francis.

The president appointed Trustee Francis on the street committee in place of Trustee Cavanaugh.

Trustees Hart and VanWagenen came in.

[illegible] the minutes of last meeting was reconsidered and the minutes adopted as printed. The ayes and noes were called Trustees Francis, Hart and VanWagenen [illegible] the resolution and Trustees [illegible] The president declared the resolution [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] N. H. Granger P. M.

[illegible] Mrs. A. Covill, [illegible], N. Y.

Persons calling for the above please say "advertised."

N. H. GRANGER P. M.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Wanted.

Wanted, girl for general house work, call at DUNBAR'S Photo Gallery.
April 18.

For Sale.

An almost new phaeton wagon, or will exchange for a young horse.
April 11. FRANK. DILTS.

Wanted.

A situation by a young lady as bookkeeper or clerk. For further particulars address or inquire of J. COOPER, South Hannibal, N. Y.
Fulton, April 18, 1883.

To Rent, With Board.

The pleasant double parlors overlooking the park; furnished or unfurnished; corner of Third and Buffalo St. Apply to Mrs A. T. Loomis.
April 11, 1883.

NOTICE.

The accounts of the late firm of Robinson Whitaker and Co. has been placed in the hands of S. B. Mead Esq for collection. All persons indebted to said firm are notified to call immediately and settle with Mr. Mead and save costs.

S B WHITAKER,
REUBEN BRADSHAW.

April 4, 1883.

For Sale or Rent.

House and Barn and one-half acre of Excellent Garden Land in Fulton. Possession given first of April, 1883. Enquire of N. H. MCCRACKEN,
At E. B. Fay's Dry Goods Store. 45tf

For Sale or Rent.

The W. W. Straight place just east of the village on Oneida street. Good house and barn. Plenty of good fruit, water, etc. Enquire immediately of F. E. GOODJON.
Fulton, April 4, 83.

Rooms To Let.

The rooms in the Pratt block, formerly occupied by Watson & Read, over Robinson & Langdon's store. A fine suite of rooms. Connects with the Lewis House. Enquire of JOHN W. PRATT.
Fulton, March 14, 1883.

New Seedling Potato.

Peter D. McIntyre has a new seedling potato for sale that commands the attention of agriculturalists. They are excellent yielders; but few small ones; are light colored and cannot be beaten for cooking in summer or fall. The undersigned have tested McIntyre's seedlings and cheerfully recommend them; J. Wallace VanVorst, F. Hutton, J. C. VanBuren, Q. Rust, Chas. Whitaker, Wm. B. Howard and John D. Foster. A sample may be seen at Berzee's grocery, Oneida street, Fulton. 46t4

CARPETS, CARPETS.

We have an Elegant Line of New Spring Patterns,

And, selling as we do from Samples, we can give you

Lower Prices

Than any other House in Oswego county. We are selling

Hartfords and Lowels

Extra Super at 90c. Per Yard.

and lower grades at same rates from regular prices, at the

"BEE HIVE,"
FULTON, N. Y.

Bailey & Son

ARE STILL

Making Fine Suits

to Order cheaper than ever before.

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS
—AND—
READY MADE CLOTHING,
IN ALL STYLES.

Store in Saunderson Building,
Underneath TIMES office. 45tf

[illegible] A Bargain in
BLACK AND COLORED SILK VELVETS,
For Ladies' dresses. Also another lot of those BLACK SILKS, which are Superior to any for the price ever shown in Fulton.

E. B. FAY.

To make room for our extensive business in

ENSILAGE
—AND—
FODDER CUTTERS,

We will close out our Stock of

PLOWS, CULTIVATORS,

HAY RAKES & LAND ROLLERS,

VERY CHEAP.

Call at once for we have a very few left

E. W. ROSS & CO.

Fulton April 10th, 1883.

Cornell House!
Baldwinsville.

When you go to Baldwinsville visit the Cornell House. Every thing comfortable for the accommodation of the public.

M. E. CORNELL, Formerly of Fulton, Proprietor. 47

McCARTHY'S
CHINA HALL,
OSWEGO, N. Y.

Great Spring opening of over $50,000 worth of new crockery, china, glassware, lamps, chandeliers, silver plated ware, baby carriages, tin, wooden willow and fancy ware wares. house furnishing goods, etc. to retail below any chinaware establishment outside of New York city. It will certainly pay the people of Fulton and vicinity to visit McCARTHY'S great wholesale and retail Palace China Hall, No. 31 Jefferson Block, Oswego, N. Y. JAMES McCARTHY.
43ly

COMSTOCK'S
—NEW—
"TROLLING BAIT"
Cannot Be Beat.

Go and get one at
WATERMAN'S.

Sole Retail Agency for Fulton and Oswego Falls. 45t4

HAMMOCK
Twines [in balls,]
Rings and Hooks,
—ALSO—
Hammocks, any Size and Style, on hand or made to order at WATERMAN'S.

DON'T BUY

Any Fishing Tackle or Repair Supplies until you have called at WATERMAN'S.

George Fassell
DEALER IN
Marble and Granite!
MONUMENTS & GRAVESTONES
Estimates furnished on all kinds of Marble Work.

Work Equal to Any.

Office and Shop, Second Street, Old Universalist Church Building.
47 1y

Tuesday and Wednesday, April 24th and 25th,
GRAND
FORMAL OPENING
—OF—
SPRING AND SUMMER
CLOTHING,
—AT—
"THE FAMOUS"
2 AND 3 WIETING BLOCK,
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

On which occasion we will present to the visiting public during the hours of 10 and 12 in the forenoon, and from 2 to 5 in the afternoon, the most unique and grandest Souvenir seemingly a grand free lunch seldom ever indulged in by people in this section of the country; If you possibly can attend do so.

Remember our free gift of a handsome stem winding Waterbury Watch, which you can secure by buying $50 worth of Clothing from us between now and January 1st, 1884. Receipts of clothing given for any amount of cash purchases, if presented, to the face value of $50 will be immediately exchanged for a watch.

"THE FAMOUS."
2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse, N. Y.

In every detail the finest and most complete Clothing House in Central New York. Strictly one Price. The busy place, the cheap place—free from cobwebs and deception.

The Men, the Boys, the Children and Ladies are invited.

SEEDS
J. J. WRIGHT,
DEALER IN
HARDWARE,
Stoves, &c.

Also Agent for the Celebrated

Buckeye Mower and Reaper.

AMDURSKY
IS HERE WITH A LARGE STOCK OF Mens', Boys', Youths' and Childrens
CLOTHING
Hats, Caps, and Gents Furnishing Goods.

My proclamation to the people of this vicinity is this:—

That I have a new line of goods, no shop-worn, and no moth-eaten, and I do not intend to draw the people by blowing in the papers, but what I advertise I will fulfill. All I ask of the public is to call and examine my stock and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

We cordially invite you all to come to our Stores, and in so doing we wish to state that we are prepared to give you a welcome that means something. And now as to what it means, it means that we shall show the most Elegant and Complete Line of Spring Styles—it means that you will secure Better Goods at Lower Rates than can be found in Central New York. These are not mere words but facts which we stand ready to demonstrate when ever you see fit to give us the opportunity. The cut and fit of every garment we guarantee will please the most fastidious, as we sell nothing but first-class goods and make it a study to furnish all our patrons with an artistic fit which will retain its shape after worn. By strict attention to the needs of our patrons, and close study of the goods in our line, we hope to keep constantly on hand a well-selected assortment from which we shall be able to meet your wants in such a way that you will patronize us again.

Regarding our stock of

READY-MADE CLOTHING
Hats, Caps and Gents' Furnishing Goods,

We have only to say that it is complete in every department and we are actually selling at prices far below those of all competitors.

Thanking our many friends and customers one and all for their past liberal patronage, and promising our very best efforts to merit such favors as you shall see fit to bestow in the future we remain sincerely yours,

H. & A. ROSENB[illegible]

ERN R. R

7:16 a. m

8:23 a. m

No. 44 8:26 a. m

GOING NORTH.

3:03 p. m.

11:29 a. m.

No. 48 8:23 p. m.

NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Accommodation 8:06 a. m.

and Philadelphia Express 9:23 a. m.

and Elmira Express 12:40 p. m.

Night Express 5:06 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

and Oswego Express 8:06 a. m

3:08 p. m

Accommodation 9:24 p. m.

and Philadelphia Express 8:30 p. m

The 8:30 train runs Sundays.

Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express York and Philadelphia.

W. B. PHELPS, Supt.

---

rs H. V. Spencer is convalescing.

orepaugh's circus is coming this y.

L. Lewis of Binghamton was in wn Monday.

Ed C. Wolcott left Monday morning r Denver, Colorado.

H. D. Wells hands THE TIMES late les of the Salt Lake City (Utah) papers.

Patrick Coleman will build a residence n the south-west corner of Pratt and econd streets.

The Observer has been made the offi al paper of the village of Oswego Falls. ompensation $25.00.

Collector Dexter of Granby settled ith the county treasurer last week and turned uncollected only $134.

Dr. George C. Whitaker of Rodman fferson Co., was in town over Sunday guest of his brother S. B. Whitaker.

Dr. S. W. Miller of Lysander is re ving to Fulton for the practice of his ofession. He will occupy the Thos. ssler residence on First street.

Charles E. Cromley, a former Fulto-nian, son of James E. Cromley of Rich-land Springs, has been engaged to de- the Decoration Day address at agara Falls.

All orders for surveying, civil engin-ring, etc, left at the law office of H. E. chols will be promptly attended to by G. D Ball whose headquarters will at that place.

David Campbell wishes to return anks for the many kind acts of friends ndered during the sickness and burial his wife and also to those who sent oral offerings and to the choir.

The next regular meeting of Post Schenck, G. A. R. will be held Friday evening of this week. Comrade Adol-phus Bennett will relate some of his war experiences while in the U. S. navy.

Thomas Richards, for several months obliging salesman in Miller & Whit-aker's grocery has severed his connec-tion this week and resumed work at his trade in the flour mill of W. G. Gage & Co.

The prospect of the Syracuse, Phœ-nix and Ontario railroad being built is rather meagre. There is now a project foot to build a street railroad from racuse, to Liverpool and if proper couragement is given to continue it Phœnix.

Dr. M. L. Rossvalley, the Converted w, will lecture in Parish in a few ys. The Doctor is making money and is estimated he will take nearly ,500 out of Oswego county alone. His nversion did not wipe out his love for oney making.

Dr W. B. Shaw of Morris Grove, Kan-as, has been in Fulton. He left Mon-day morning for Elmira for a few days before returning home. The Doc-tor is taking an important part in poli-tics in Kansas and was the man who nominated Geo W. Glick for governor at Democratic state convntion in Em-poria, last fall. Mr Glick was elected a handsome majority.

The McGibeny family were accorded a reception in Stephen's Opera House Wednesday evening commensurate with ability as musical artists. There music in every member of the family the youngest is as proficient as the This is their third appearance Fulton and their popularity increases instead of diminishing and a return to Fulton will find a hearty reception.

The jurors empaneled for the Gifford trial when being examined as to qualifications to act as jurors on are invariably asked in what they read the account of the mur-der. Nearly every one has, answered referring to the Oswego Times or the Oswego Palladium, evidences the thorough circula-tion two papers have throughout [illegible] Neither one of these jour-claim to being the largest in the Perkins will remain in town a [illegible] and may be found at Goodjon's store, Tuesdays, and Saturdays. Those corns should improve the [illegible] desiring it can be [illegible] When not left at Goodjon's store.

[illegible]

[illegible] by a system of [illegible] which are [illegible] being furnished [illegible] lamps. The ordinary [illegible] period of incubation [illegible] weeks and the artificial incubator re-quires three weeks of careful, patient watching and attendance.

Pulling out the drawer several curious looking creatures were walking out of their shells while scores endeavoring to see the light for the first time had their bills protruding the shell. The drawer presented an animated and grotesquely funny picture with white, black and mottled chicks each anxious to outdo the other in coming to the front. They were removed from the drawer and placed in a cushioned box beside a fire and then commenced a chorus of little chirps that gradually loudened into a deafening chorus. This chirping was the first evidence of life,nature or chick-ons. The temperature of the incubator is kept at an average of 103 degrees.

"Step right this way" said Mr. Case, "and I will show you the brooder; an arrangement of Mr. Kendall's for fool-ing the youngsters—to take the place of a mother."

The brooder is in the north-east cor-ner of a lot adjoining his barn and hen house. The brooder is cunningly de-vised to fool the chicks and make them believe they are resting quietly under the spreading wings of a mother. It consists of a covered box about 3x5 feet imbedded in the earth with a hole at one end to admit chickens. It rests at an angle of about forty-five degrees. To the inside of the cover is fastened an undressed sheep hide into which the in-nocents crowd and huddle the soft wool pressing gently upon their backs.

It was growing late and THE TIMES man took his departure with a promise to call around in a few days and witness the entree of white leghorns with which the incubator will next be filled.

Leave your measure for your spring suit at H. & A. Rosenbloom's.

Joshua Gifford Attempts Suicide.

